You'd Never Guess—They're Twins

You'd wager your last dollar that this pair of jolly little sailors couldn't even be brothers, but you'd lose, for they're TWINS. Rudolph Rios, left, is a true brunet, while his twin, Umberto, is a pure albino. The boys, born of Mexican parentage on Santa Catalina Island, have aroused world-wide scientific interest.

DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS FOR BIG WORKS PROGRAM WILL BE ESTABLISHED IN BROWNWOOD

Brownwood has been made district headquarters for administrative and operating units of the Works Progress Administration. It was announced from Washington this week by Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator.

Under the new program, the nation has been divided into 397 separate work relief districts to carry out the administration's four billion dollar public work program.

Texas was divided into 29 districts. Brownwood is to be headquarters for district 14, which will include Runnels, Coleman, Brown, and a number of other West Texas counties.

No information was available locally as to when the district headquarters would be established here.

Kidnap Victim

Seized by kidnapers on his way home from school in Tacoma, Wash., George Weyerhaeuser, Jr., above, is held prisoner by kidnapers for $200,000 ransom. His father, John P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., multi-millionaire lumberman, is reported ready to pay the sum at once for the boy's release.

NEW LIGHT FIRM IS SIGNING CONTRACTS FOR LOCAL SERVICE

Solicitors were busy this week signing contracts with electricity consumers for service from the new Brownwood Public Service company, which was incorporated the first of the week by R. O. Mathews and associates. The company holds a franchise from the city to furnish electric light and power to Brownwood consumers.

Meanwhile, Mr. Mathews is completing final details incident to starting construction of a plant at the end of Malone street, next to the Santa Fe right of way. Bids on machinery were being tabulated this week, and Mr. Mathews expects to begin purchasing machinery next week, for immediate shipment.

The company was incorporated for $45,000, of which $35,000 has been paid in cash. Incorporators are Mr. Mathews, his wife, Hallie B. Mathews and his brother-in-law, L. P. Stark. Mr. Stark, at present a resident of Lamesa, will be manager of the plant. Mr. Mathews stated.

Mr. Mathews stated that the cost of the plant would be considerably in excess of the amount for which the company is incorporated. It will be so constructed that units may be added to it as needed.

While rates for service have not been announced, Mr. Mathews stated they would be 10 per cent under present rates for the city. The city at present is served by the Texas Power and Light company.

Last week the city council decided to abandon plans for the construction of a municipal light and power company through a PWA grant and loan, application for which was contemplated for a time.

Moving Fast To Get Experiment Station Started

A. & N. College Officials Going Ahead With Plans; Site Must Be Selected.

Plans for establishment of the cross timber sandy land agricultural experiment station are moving rapidly, although the law establishing the station will not go into effect until 90 days after adjournment of the legislature. A. M. Conner of College Station, director of Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations, has expressed desire to complete all preliminary work in the near future, so that the station could be established and actual work started as soon as the law goes into effect.

County Agent C. W. Lehmer and Chester Harrison, secretary of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, and H. G. Lucas Thursday inspected prospective sites for the station in Brown and Eastland counties. In their inspection Brown county sites they were accompanied by W. R. Chambers, I. A. Robinson and J. H. Buzbee.

At Rising Star they were accompanied by M. S. Sellers and others, whose company they inspected two sites near Rising Star. J. F. Robertson, secretary of the Rising Star chamber of commerce, was with them, but upon his return he will inspect and report on a large number of sites in Eastland county near Rising Star.

To Visit College.

Friday Mr. Lehmer, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Lucas, Mr. Chamber, Senator E. M. Davis, author of the act creating the experiment station; Representative Courtney Gray, who assisted in its passage through the legislature, and County Judge A. E. Nabors plan to go to College Station for a conference with Mr. Conner regarding the experiment station. The conference was called by Mr. Conner, who department will be in charge establishing the station and carrying on the work.

MANY VISITORS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY OF LOCAL CCC COMPANY

The celebration of the second anniversary of the organization of CCC Company 872, held at the state park at Lake Brownwood Saturday, was attended by many Brownwood and Brown county people. The program given for the entertainment of the guests included a baseball game, a picnic supper, boxing matches and a dance.

Visitors also took opportunity to inspect the work done by the CCC boys and were well pleased with the progress being made.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD FOR SOLDIERS BURIED IN COUNTY

Isham A. Smith, first Brown county boy killed in the World War, and other soldiers buried in Zephyr cemetery will be honored in memorial services to be held by the American Legion at Zephyr Sunday. Dr. Karl H. Moore, pastor of First Baptist church of Brownwood and local post chaplain, will speak at a service at the Methodist church at Zephyr at 3:30 p. m. After this service the soldiers' graves will be decorated and services will be held at the cemetery.

HOLC LOANS TO BE AVAILABLE AGAIN

Application for loans from the Home Owners Loan Corporation again will be received for thirty days, upon President Roosevelt's signature of the new $1,750,000,000 appropriation made for this purpose by Congress. Approval of the President is considered virtually certain.

Loans will be made only to home owners actually in imminent danger of losing their homes through foreclosure, and will be for sums not in excess of $14,000, and on homes of value under $20,000, according to terms of the appropriation act.

SUPERVISORS NAMED FOR CORN-HOG WORK

The corn-hog committee met Monday afternoon to name field supervisors of the corn-hog work. The men selected for this work are A. R. Spence, May; H. R. Nicola, May; W. C. Scran, Blanket; H. H. Black, Brownwood; Lawrence Sanderson, Bangs. They are to check the acreage of all corn and count the hogs on all farms where the owner is taking part in the corn-hog reduction program.

Macon Richmond of Blanket was named county supervisor and W. B. Chambers of May was chosen computer and will check all contracts.

LEGISLATIVE WORK OUTLINED BY DAVIS

Senator E. M. Davis explained legislation passed by the 44th legislature to directors of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce at their weekly luncheon Wednesday. Senator Davis praised the work of the legislature, pointing out that more corrective measures were passed, and more vicious legislation killed than at any previous session. He briefly explained a number of laws that affect this district.

The directors adopted a resolution opposing the move for canalization of the Trinity River, after hearing arguments against the movement contained in a letter from the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, which is opposing canalization on the ground that it will destroy all distributing centers in West Texas except Dallas and Fort Worth.

The supreme court decision on the NRA was discussed at some length.

GOOD-WILL TRIP TO BANGS IS PLANNED

Plans were being formulated this week for the next good-will trip of Brownwood business men under sponsorship of the Brownwood Lions Club. The next trip, according to present plans, will be made to Bangs on Tuesday, June 25. D. C. Pratt, chairman, announced. The trips are being made once a month and the response from them is very good, Mr. Pratt stated.

Senator E. M. Davis was toastmaster at the supper served to Brownwood business men and their Grosvenor guests given at Grosvenor Tuesday night. This was the fifth of the good will trips. The outdoor supper was served by the Home Demonstration Club of Grosvenor to one hundred and four men.

Arla E. Hallford of Grosvenor welcomed the guests. James C. White responded. Short talks were made by a number of the guests. Music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Anderson Hounshell, Martin Hounshell, Mack Campbell, Bill Looney and Jim Crow. Mrs. Byrd, president of the Grosvenor Home Demonstration Club, and Mrs. L. E. Ruch of Grosvenor, chairman of the county club council, were introduced and expressed appreciation of the opportunity to serve the supper to the party.

CITY CONSIDERING REFUNDING BONDS

Mayor Thompson's proposed plan to refund $58,000 in five per cent city bonds and reissue the same amount in four per cent bonds was discussed at regular meeting of city council this week. Figures will be secured from a bonding company and the plan will be studied further. The plan is for the purpose of saving the city interest which is accruing on the bonds out at present.

A majority of the councilmen were against Mayor Thompson's proposal that an effort be made to get the federal government to take over the present indebtedness on Memorial Hall, $48,000 in bonds and warrants, instead of constructing a new armory here. Efforts are now being made to secure the construction of an $80,000 armory building by the federal government.

WATER BOARD VIEWS REGATTA WITH FAVOR

A delegation from Brownwood will go to Austin within the next few days to urge approval of a work relief application made by the directors of Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1, for clearing the district-owned tract of land just above the dam at Lake Brownwood. If the land can be cleared, plans will be pushed for holding the first annual regatta and boat races at Lake Brownwood August 3. The regatta is to be held under the direction of the Lake Brownwood Regatta Association, formed last week.

Directors of the water district expressed approval of the plans for holding the regatta at a meeting Tuesday night, at which a committee from the regatta association appeared. They are willing to cooperate in any way possible, but expressed doubt that the land could be cleared unless the work relief project is approved.

PROPOSED SITES FOR CCC SOIL CAMP ARE INSPECTED BY NAGLE

E. T. Nagle, state administrator of Emergency Conservation Work, was in Brownwood Wednesday to inspect two proposed sites for the soil erosion CCC camp to be moved here July 1. The two proposed sites are the city park near the city water pumping plant and the McCartney tract at Fourth and Low streets.

The sites were inspected last week by Captain Wadden and Galbraith of corps area headquarters at San Antonio. Definite selection of the site for the camp has not yet been made, but Mr. Nagle expressed a preference for the McCartney tract.

Mr. Nagle and County Agent C. W. Lehmer met all vocational agricultural teachers of the county Wednesday afternoon to outline the general plan of work to be put into effect upon establishment of the camp.

INTEREST GROWING IN J. S. L. PLAY

Many people have already made reservations for Junior Service League's presentation of "The Drunkard" to be given on the roof of Hotel Brownwood Thursday night, June 6. The play, a five act melodrama, is to be presented in a unique way which is attracting much interest. The roof is to be arranged like a night club with a stage for presentation of "The Drunkard" erected at one end of the room.

J. Edward Johnson will be master of ceremonies. He will act as host throughout the evening and will direct the programs between acts. The words of well-known songs will be printed on the programs and the audience will be directed in singing them by Mr. Johnson. Jimmy King's orchestra will play for the songs and furnish incidental music for the play. They will also play for a dance which is to follow the performance.

The cast includes eighteen people, many of whom are well known from past appearances in amateur performances. Tom Deeley is cast as Edward Middleton, a good man who falls into evil ways but who is rescued from the depths to become again a kind, loving husband and reliable citizen. Mary, his wife, is played by Mary Bess Sawyer.

Others in the cast include Mrs. Wilson, played by Mrs. Margaret Markes; Lawyer Cribbs, Herbert Lewis; William Dowton, Jack Broad; Agnes, William's half-witted sister, Leona McKie; and other parts played by James Henley, Delbert Storm, James Timmins, Robert Parks, Coralie Fain, Clay Carey, Bernie Hart, Ben Fain and Walter Nelson.

MUSICIANS ASKED TO JOIN SUMMER BAND

All musicians in the city are invited to attend rehearsals and play with the Brownwood municipal band this summer. Rehearsals will be held at the high school band room Monday and Wednesday nights each week during the 12 week summer season. Concerts will be given on Howard Payne campus each Thursday night. W. R. Parker is director of the band.

The first concert was to be given this Thursday. Members of the city band include many of the members of the local public school and college bands.

Lt. Tolbert Takes Over Camp Duties

Lieutenant George Tolbert arrived last week from the Troy CCC camp to relieve Lieutenant Paul Ivanich, formerly stationed at the camp at Lake Brownwood. Lieutenant Ivanich has been promoted to position of assistant construction officer to build new camps in the Dallas area.

He is now a member of headquarters staff and will work under the direction of Captain Tom Martin, district construction officer. Lieutenant Ivanich has been second in command of the CCC camp here for several months.

East Texas Needing Help Of Red Cross

The local Red Cross chapter's quota for aid to be sent to the flood and storm damaged counties in East Texas was set at $115 by national headquarters. Chapter officers have announced that no active campaign will be held to raise the quota, but that they will gladly accept any volunteer subscriptions to raise the quota.

They sent $50 from the chapter funds as a part of Brown county's quota. Any volunteer subscriptions may be left with officers of the local chapter, according to W. A. Roussel, chapter chairman.

It was pointed out that the Red Cross helped in Brown county when the storm damage was done here two years ago and that this county should help other disaster struck counties whenever possible.

CHAMBERS AND LUCAS REPORT ON AAA TRIP AT FARMERS MEETING

W. R. Chamber stressed the necessity for cooperation between the business man and the farmer in a speech to a gathering of more than 250 farmers at Howard Payne auditorium Saturday afternoon. "We must tell the business man that we want to be his brother. We must attend luncheon club meetings and we must fraternize more with the business man. We must tell him that if we fail he will fail and if we succeed he will succeed."

The farmers meeting was called for the purpose of hearing reports of W. R. Chambers and H. G. Lucas on their recent trip to Washington with the delegation of farmers from over the United States. Following the reports Representative Courtney Gray and County Agent Lehmer spoke on the plans for soil conservation in Brown county.

Mr. Chambers described in detail the Washington trip, which was made by more than 7,000 farmers. In his description of the Texas banquet in which all Texas senators and representatives met with the Texas farmers he said that they assured the farmers that they were back of the farmers 100 per cent and would do all in their power to see that farm legislation was carried forward. In speaking of the interest of Texas congressmen in farm problems, Mr. Chambers especially commended United States Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard.

He also discussed the inequality between farm legislation and industrial legislation. He said the farmers themselves must overcome that inequality, as the industrialists have worked together for many years while all farm legislation has been carried forward without any organized work on the part of the farmers.

He declared the Texas farmer to be in position to help with the general improvement of agriculture in

M'COLLOCH VOTES RIGHT-OF-WAY BOND

McCulloch county citizens approved the issuance of $25,000 bonds to finance purchase of right-of-way for Highway No. 23 by vote of more than three to one Saturday's election. Options already have been secured on much of the right-of-way, and it is expected that the contract for grading and drainage structures will be let by the highway department this year.

Negotiations for the right-of-way were started following a recent announcement by Division Engineer Leo Ehlinger that improvement on Highway No. 23 from Brown to the Colorado river had been recommended as one of the first projects in the $5,000,000 federal relief road program.

Paving of the McCulloch county section in Highway 23 will give fully improved highway from Brownwood and points north to San Antonio.

The council officers are: M. Langford, T. I. M.; W. D. Wells, deputy master; T. E. Terrell, I. C.; James Ming, recorder; H. W. McGhee, treasurer, and Frank Howard, sentinel.

Cornelius Singers Attract Big Crowd

The Cornelius Singing convention at Howard Payne auditorium Sunday was attended by several hundred people, including people from May, Blanket, Bangs, Brooksmith, Winchell and other places. The program was under the direction of W. R. Chambers and A. L. Myrick, president and secretary of the convention.

The convention will meet next at Williams on the first Sunday in November.

The major basis upon which the Supreme Court held the National Recovery Act unconstitutional—that it delegated legislative authority to the President—precludes setting up of a similar agency to take over the functions of the recovery administration and makes difficult the announced plan of the Administration to avoid a return to the hectic times prior to its passage.

The End Of NRA

But it does not mean that Administration leaders will be unable to devise legislation which will continue the good effects of the NRA during its two years of life.

To many it was apparent from the start that the NRA legislation was unconstitutional. It generally was recognized as such by business leaders even though they accepted its terms and conducted their businesses according to its dictates.

As a matter of fact, the NRA had limited its scope of activity so greatly during the past year that in its present operations it little resembled the screaming Blue Eagle that took command of business in the summer of 1933.

There can be no question that the NRA, as a general stimulant to business at a time when it was badly needed, served a good purpose. Nor can it be denied that no legislation, no matter how skillfully it is drawn, nor how worthy its intention, can be applied to all manners of business in all sections of the country.

The effect of the Supreme Court decision on business is a highly speculative question, just as was the effect of the NRA as it began its task of stimulating business.

Unwieldy and impractical seems the tentative proposal of the Administration to submit a constitutional amendment giving the Federal Government authority to regulate labor conditions in industries, regardless of state lines.

More practical seems the plan to devise voluntary codes for different industries. Could such structures be set up, it is possible that the wreckage of the NRA might be saved, temporarily, at least.

All seem agreed that the good features of the NRA should not be lost through the Supreme Court decision.

Dallas has been suggested as the convention city for 1936 of the Democratic party, and a good suggestion it seems. That is, if Dallas feels in position to make a serious bid for the convention.

Another Texas Convention

There are many reasons that suggest Dallas as a suitable place for nominating Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner again. There is the fact that a Texas will be nominated for Vice President, and it would be appropriate that the job be done in his home state.

And, above all, 1936 is Texas Centennial year. It would be a fitting tribute to Texas to hold the Democratic convention in this state on its hundredth birthday.

On the other hand, several reasons that may prove a definite bar suggest themselves. Philadelphia, new convert to Democracy, is making a strong bid, as is San Francisco, the latter city feeling that the West Coast should be honored.

Again, the Centennial probably will prove an obstacle in that Centennial crowds will make it difficult to find accommodations for the convention visitors.

The City Council acted wisely in abandoning plans to give the Municipal Auditorium to the government for conversion into a National Guard Armory building.

Keeping The Auditorium

The building represents a big investment by Brownwood taxpayers, whether wise or not. It should be retained, and at some future date when funds are available, should be made suitable for use.

The auditorium is not suited to the needs of the National Guard. Their purpose can be served best through construction of a new building.

The whole proposition is based on the erroneous assumption that $80,000 is to be spent here on an armory. The amount, as set forth in the act, is $40,000 for one-company units; 60,000 for two-company units.

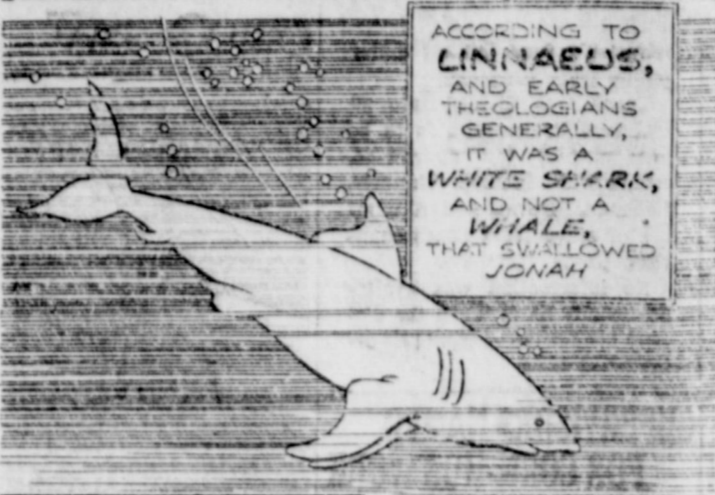

A National Guard Armory will be an asset to Brownwood; so would be a good Municipal Auditorium. An Auditorium revamped into an Armory wouldn't be so good.

True Ghost Stories

"Rita Welman is too strong-minded to have a ghost story," cautioned her husband.

"Beg your pardon," he added. "Come to think of it she does have a ghost story, a very real one. She has a knack of foreseeing things. Tell about your 'voltage story,' Rita."

Simultaneously, the author, her husband and I drew our chairs closer to the fireplace, above which burned dim lights from Chinese lamps, which she favors.

"Seven years ago," she began, "I read an obscure notice in the newspaper, about John Hulbert of Auburn, N. Y., an electrician, resigning as executioner at Sing Sing because he was being ostracized from society. At the same time he justified his job, saying he was only fulfilling his work as a servant of the state."

"I thought this was a grand idea for a story. I wrote a story about an electrician, who was ostracized by his family and friends, because they found out he was serving as an executioner and who eventually killed himself because of their actions, by seizing a high-voltage electric wire. I sold the story to a magazine."

"A few months later the editor called me to say that the owner of the magazine felt that my story was a plea against capital punishment and that he did not feel that his magazine should take issue on the subject. I should keep my check, but the story would not be published by them; I could resell it if I wished."

"One morning, two years later, my secretary handed me a paper. 'Look,' she said with amazement in her voice, 'Joins in death the 140 men he slew,' said the headlines. 'John Hulbert, by suicide, answers the question all who knew him asked.'"

"How I rejoiced that my story had not been published! I would always have been haunted by the thought that Hulbert had read my story and brooded over it, and had eventually committed suicide."

"In view of the strange finale of events, the magazine then published the story, and I rejoiced that I had been saved from that ghost."

THE RIGHT TO EAT

(Nolan County News, Sweetwater)

The human race has come a long way since primitive times when it was the custom to kill off the old and disabled of both sexes, to drown superfluous babies like so many kittens and in general to compel everybody to shift for himself regardless of his needs.

The modern world has been coming through the past thousand years, to a more humane view of the responsibilities of society to its unfortunates. The parable of the Good Samaritan and other teachings of Jesus Christ, have been a tremendous influence, even upon a world which falls far short of the Christian ideal in other matters.

We sometimes wonder, however, whether there is not a growing tendency to extend this Christianism too far. We think it is time to give consideration to the words of Saint Paul, in his Second Epistle to the Thessalonians: "This we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat."

We hear from all sides reports of men and women "on relief" who refuse to take jobs that are offered to them, preferring to live at the expense of the public rather than to make an effort to help themselves. We hear of others who quit jobs to "go on relief." We do not know how widespread this situation is, but from all accounts it is pretty extensive.

Nobody should be allowed to starve in free America, but nobody who is offered work and refuses to take it should be treated as if he had a right to hold up his head among honest, industrious workers. Such individuals have thrown away whatever right they had and ought to be regarded as what they are, objects of public charity and allowed only the barest necessities of existence.

Saint Paul saw clearly the problem which to many well-meaning persons today, is blurred by a low of sentimentalism.

Goliad—Herman Wehe of Berclair in Goliad county has found it a highly paying proposition to take his small, poor calves in the fall, put them on feed in December, and then sell them, according to county agricultural agent, K. J. Edwards.

The feeds Wehe used were mostly home grown corn and cottonseed supplemented by some cotton seed cake. The calves fed last fall were worth $5 or $9 at the time they were put on feed, but they sold for $31.10 in a cooperative shipment in April.

Fleurig all home grown feeds at market price, the feed bill was approximately $13 per head, which left Wehe a good profit, according to the county agent.

Kerrville—Forty-eight dollars was made recently by the Kerrville Home Demonstration Club at a sales day at which aprons, children's clothing, quilts and pillow protectors, home made bread, cakes, pies, jelly, native ferns and cacti were among the articles sold.

All home demonstration clubs in the county contributed and cooperated in the sales and proceeds were turned over to the county home demonstration council to help fill the budget of $162.25 for the year.

Another sales day will be held June 22, in connection with the wardrobe achievement day, according to Miss Frances Wilroy, Kerr county home demonstration agent. Each club will sponsor one event until the full amount called for in the budget has been raised.

Plainview—"It's easy to make rugs from the threads of burlap sacks," says Mrs. O. E. Faver of the Stoneback Home Demonstration Club, according to Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Hale county home demonstration agent. "You pull three threads, twist them and thread your needle. That's much quicker than cutting one-fourth inch strips of material to use. Good burlap sacks are plentiful and easy to dye. They do not drink the dye as woolen materials do, so this makes them cheaper."

Mrs. Faver has sent one of her burlap hooked rugs to the Extension specialist in home industries for standardization.

Nacogdoches—A mattress cover of heavy material which will fasten at one end with snaps so that it may be removed and washed is being made by Zela Mae Johnson, Nacogdoches county bedroom improvement demonstrator, for her new 50 pound home made mattress, according to Miss Norma Stokes, home demonstration agent.

The mattress was made at a demonstration at Zela Mae's home supervised by Miss Stokes.

In taking care of the mattress, Zela Mae expects to sun and beat it every sunny day for three weeks. After she begins using the mattress she will turn it each day when she makes her bed and sun and beat it every week when possible.

Clarksville—From four and one-half to six tons of alfalfa per acre have been harvested by Martin Stiles of Annona in Red River county who has 21 acres in alfalfa, according to C. M. Knight, county agricultural agent. The lowest price paid for alfalfa hay, according to the county agent, is $20 per ton.

"This new feed crop almost eliminates the need of corn and other grain crops that are selling at such high prices. It permits me to sell a few bushels of corn that I would otherwise have to feed my livestock in order to finish spring farming operations," Stiles says.

Caldwell—A net profit of $31.15 for the month of April from her flock of 183 hens is reported by Mrs. Walter Dueswell of Burleson county, according to G. C. King, county agricultural agent. Mrs. Dueswell says that her hens laid 3756 eggs, or 313 dozen, which sold for $58.70. In addition, she sold three chickens for $1.50, bringing her total receipts to $60.20.

She bought 1100 pounds of mash which cost $20.45, and 460 pounds of rain which cost $5.05, making a total expense of $25.50.

Marshall—One hundred acres seeded with Bermuda and lespedeza in March, 1934, on the farm of Web Rogers of Harrison county is furnishing excellent grazing for 75 dairy cows, according to G. M. Morris, county agricultural agent. Mr. Rogers thought that the dry weather in the summer of 1934 would cause the grass and clover to die out, but it is up to a good stand.

CHAPTER 3
WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

...from the galleys afforded five year sentence for the loaf of bread, Jean, with revenge in his mind, stumbles into the home of the old Bishop Bienvenu with faith in the world and a willingness to trust an ex-convict. With renewed faith, courage and vigor he starts to conquer the world

The Road Back

...courage born of the bishop's Jean's progress in the next few days bordered on the miraculous. Under a new name, he has shed himself in a town in

"I have denounced you, sir, as an ex-convict."

...and step by step has worked his way up in the respect and admiration of the small community.

M. Madeleine, he has changed completely. There is a streak of gray in his hair, but otherwise he is as-shaven and is smiling, and good-humored. He has recently been successful in turning an absolutely bankrupt manufacturing firm into a thriving business organization. We find him in appearance of Javert has troubled and disturbed him.

It is shortly after that Jean actually buys little Cosette, daughter of Fantine, the proprietor of his factory, from the proprietor of the Sargeant of Waterloo Inn and his grasping wife to look after until her mother is well and able to take care of her herself.

Jean and Cosette are playing checkers on the floor. Cosette suddenly dives her hand on the board and makes an obvious move. Jean laughs:

"You win!"

"The two are the picture of contentment."

Javert Again

Toussaint, the old housekeeper, comes into the scene.

"M. Javert is here."

"Javert?"

"He wants to speak to you privately. I asked him if I could take a message, but he said it concerned you only. He spoke in such a peculiar way—"

Javert is not the calm, stoical, austere person one would expect. He is apparently under stress of emotion. He wipes the sweat from his forehead; his hand is trembling. He hears the noise of the latch and the two men come face to face.

Javert speaks in a husky undertone:

"I am sorry to disturb you at this hour, but I have a duty—an urgent duty to perform."

"Go on."

"As soon as I was sure—I had to act at once."

"Yes?"

"M. Madeleine, a criminal act has been committed."

Jean nods to him to go on.

"An agent of the government has committed a crime—a crime against a magistrate."

Jean is surprised and puzzled.

"Agent? Who is this agent?"

"It is I."

"And who is the magistrate?"

"You."

To Jean's surprise, Javert takes out his official police passport and puts it on the table, continuing:

"You must prefer charges against me. You have a right."

As Jean protests, Javert continues, his words tumbling over one another, brokenly, breathlessly.

"Yes, yes, yes, I tell you, you must prefer charges. I, who demand justice of others, must demand it for myself. You see, I denounced you to the prefect of police."

"As what?"

"A former convict."

"Well?"

"After that incident with the woman, Fantine, when you so oddly distinguished between the law and justice and refused to prosecute, I began to forget our past. I resented your interference with my carrying out my duty. I questioned your authority, so I went to work. Secretly I traced you. By studying the records of escaped criminals and those who had failed to report for parole and by an exhaustive process of elimination, I finally became convinced you were a convict named Jean Valjean."

"What was that name?"

"Jean Valjean."

"Ah. And what was his crime?"

"As an ex-convict he was ordered to report to the police at Pontarlier. He has never reported. He has been missing five years. I traced him to the Bishop Bienvenu. He stole silver, but the bishop would not charge. The trail ended there, and although I had no positive proof, I was so sure—I denounced you."

"Real" Valjean Found

"And—what—what answer did you get?"

"That I was mad. I must have been mad to make such a mistake—worse, I was a fool, for the real Valjean has been found."

Jean looks at Javert in amazement.

"Yes, they arrested him last week at Arras. He goes by another name, Champmathieu, but he was caught on my duty. I questioned his disappearance are identical with Valjean's record—witnesses will swear to him—a fellow criminal recognized him. Undoubtedly they have the man, Valjean."

"Well?"

"I made the mistake. I allowed a personal grievance to interfere with my duty. I must be dismissed."

Jean now takes a different tone and says:

"You did your duty—it is your place to suspect."

Now for the first time we learn something of Javert's creed. His confession is in a husky whisper, a man deeply and sincerely ashamed and broken by his failure.

"No. There is more to it than that. I, too, have my creed, M. Madeleine. They call me hard and brutal, but I am not—I am just. But I've always said to myself, 'Yes, you're hard, you're ruthless when you are in the right, but look out—one day you, yourself, will trip. Then will you be just?' I swore I would. That time has arrived. M. Madeleine, I have caught myself. I have committed a crime. I have been unjust from anger, resentment, jealousy—what you will. I stand for justice—I have failed."

Seeing Jean is about to protest, Javert goes on:

"What I have always demanded for others—the law, good or bad, but the law to the letter—I now demand for myself."

Jean looks closely at Javert and now it is Javert who is tormented and Jean who is almost consoling him.

"I make no charge against you."

"You must. If you don't, then I must."

"You have your creed, Javert; I have mine. As mayor, I refuse to accept your resignation. I order you to think it over."

Javert bows to authority.

"You are too lenient, M. Madeleine, but I will do as you say."

Jean moves to the door with him and stops.

"When and where is this Jean Valjean to be tried?"

"Arras, Monday."

"Tomorrow? There is no doubt about the case?"

"None. Everything is clear— he

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

It is not often that an older woman can find a dress as smart and wearable as this one is.

The slim, straight jacket is very kind to the more mature figure—as well as very practical. The scarf neckline should be of a fabric that is contrast to the dress—A fabric that is more important and interesting than the dress, if possible. In this way the fullness of the scarf is the eye attraction and takes the attention away from any heaviness of the hips.

This dress is very smart for silk fabrics now and later for linen.

This is a Butterick pattern and can be purchased at your local department store.

Bangs Exercises In New School Building

Commencement programs for the Bangs school were held in the new Bangs school combination auditorium and gymnasium building. Construction work on the $11,640 building was recently completed and accepted by the PWA, which advanced funds for the work.

Contract was let to Lemmons and Hedges of Bangs in January for $11,640, and work started on February 15. Thirty per cent of the funds advanced by the PWA is a direct grant and 70 per cent is a loan secured by bonds voted by the school district.

The building is of brick and tile, 50x100 feet in size. There is a stage at one end of the building and bleachers at one side. Chairs can be placed on the floor when the building is being used as an auditorium and can be removed when it is being used as a gym. Dressing rooms also are provided under the stage.

Mrs. Trapp Speaker At Santa Anna

Mrs. J. W. Trapp, professor of education in Daniel Baker College, delivered the address at the graduating exercises of Santa Anna High School Friday night. Others from here who were on the program were Miss Mae Branom, instructor in the fine arts department of Daniel Baker, Miss Marguerite Wilson and Mrs. W. D. McCulley of the piano department of Howard Payne College.

Bess Inez Shield delivered the salutatory address for the graduating class, and Beth Barnes delivered the valedictory. Diplomas were awarded to sixty-two graduates.

Others May Join In Radio Station Cost

If adjoining counties are willing to cooperate with Brown county in construction and operation of the proposed police radio station, construction work will start within a short time. Official permit for the station was received last week.

The call letters KNGW were assigned the proposed station, which will have 100 watts power and operates on a frequency of 2455 kilocycles.

WILLIAMS CHAPTER ELECTS DELEGATES

Buster Madison and Tillman Kingsbury were elected at a regular chapter meeting of the Williams Chapter to represent the Williams Chapter at the state convention to be held at Lubbock July 24, 25, 26.

In speaking of the state convention, Tillman stated: "It is my hope that the State F. F. A. convention will be the largest and best convention ever held by Future Farmer boys, and Buster and I will represent Williams to the best of our ability." The state convention was held at Huntsville last year.

The year has been successful for the Williams chapter. They completed all chapter objectives except two, and they are partly completed. The boys are looking forward to recreational activities this summer for Future Farmers, the most outstanding of which will be the Future Farmer encampment at Cisco in August. Fishing trips and picnics and ball games are other activities planned by the local chapter.

Twenty of the boys have made application for certificates of merit in either parliamentary procedure or tractoring.

The chapter hopes to be represented at the Farmers Short Course

Hollywood's latest guessing game centered on Max Reinhardt, top photo, famed film and stage impresario—whether he had married his ex-secretary, Helene Thimig, below, or was just carrying around the license he bought in Reno. The principals dodged questions, as Reinhardt's first wife reached California to seek a property settlement.

More Power
than in all the world's horses

Unfailing Electric Service is the Result of Unified Management

If you had 10,000 electric light bulbs in your home or business, you could turn them all on at once. "Of course," you say. But 30 years ago you couldn't.

If you wanted to build a factory here today to use heavy electrically-driven machinery, you wouldn't have to worry about power. There's more at your fingertip than you ever would need.

Should a manufacturer come here looking for factory sites, you can tell him this: "We can offer you unlimited power, at low cost. We are served by interconnected system power under unified management." No manufacturer can ask a better guarantee of efficient and limitless service than that.

In the past thirty years, unified management has developed the gas and electric utility business from feeble beginnings to what it is today. Unified management was responsible for bringing together scattered and isolated plants into systems, for furnishing them with the money to make improvements, for advising them on better ways to serve you. To the holding company, unified management, should go the credit for today's unlimited power at low cost.

Yet the holding company, and in fact, the whole gas and electric utility industry, is in danger now. A bill known as the "Wheeler-Rayburn" bill, now in Congress, proposes to destroy the industry as you know it, and toss the remainder into the lap of political control. It would wipe the holding company out of existence, and strip your company of the present connections it has for giving you dependable service.

If government can do this to the utility business, it can do likewise to all business. Such an attitude retards recovery. For recovery, business must have confidence in government, instead of fear as to its future because of government.

If you are in accord you can help by writing to your senators and representatives in Washington advising them you are opposed to the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Shaw and daughter, Miss Carolene, and Miss Maurine Lockwood and brothers, and Miss Blanche Dabney, all of Brownwood, were visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dabney Sunday. Miss Stannie Hobson of Gustine is visiting in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hobson, on Main Street. Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Lois Yantis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Price Yantis, of Robert Lee and Mr. Charlie Switzer of Brownwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Switzer of this place. The wedding took place in Goldthwaite May 10. This estimable couple have a host of friends in this community who extend congratulations. Mrs. Wilkerson, mother of Rev. Chester Wilkerson, left last week for Dallas to visit relatives. Misses Evelyn and Margaret Levisay have returned from attending school at Howard Payne College in Brownwood. Word has been received here by friends of the recent marriage of Miss Yuba Southerland to Mr. Edgar Hearne at the home of the bride's mother in Marshall, Texas. Mrs. Hearne at one time was a resident of our city and has many friends here who extend congratulations.

SIX SCHOOLS FROM DISTRICT ENTERED IN JUDGING MEET

Six schools from the Brownwood district were represented at the vocational agriculture judging contest at Stephenville April 6. Five of the schools took part in the state judging contest at College Station April 15. Probably no other phase of the vocational agriculture work is quite so interesting and educational to the boys studying vocational agriculture as the contests. The boys always learn a lot about agricultural work by taking part in the contests and also have the opportunity to make friends from all parts of the state, and find out what they are doing in vocational agriculture, and Future Farmer work.

In addition to the six trips to Stephenville and five to College Station, the summary report of the nine schools in the Brownwood district shows four trips to Brownwood to the district literary contest, four to Ballinger to tanning school, and three to Eastland on relief business. E. W. Scott is district reporter.

The total expense for the month of April was $449.51, or an average of $49.32 per teacher. The teachers traveled a total of 3,874 miles or an average of 659 per teacher during the month of April.

Soil conservation work still is in the lime light with vocational agricultural people, with a total of 255,865 yards of lines run, and 5,100 yards of terraces constructed, 32 outlets built, 216 acres contour-planted, 200 pounds of fertilizer used, amount of 22 acres.

It is interesting to note that 72 gardens were planted in April, 178 grape cuttings set out, 68 fruit trees set out, 41,900 sweet potato slips set out, 50 trees budded, 29 bushels certified cottonseed planted and five tomato crops pruned.

Realizing the importance of controlling insects and pests of plants, the boys have received practice along this line by spraying 16 gardens, and 16 trees.

The outstanding project note is that the boys fed out and sold 1093 broilers in April. Future Farmer activities are always of major importance in vocational agriculture. Four chapters entered district literary contests, one father and son banquet was held, 17 chapter meetings held, 3 visits to pecan schools, 4 school grounds improved by V. A. boys, one school elected officers, 3 chapters made tour of community, one fishing trip, 20 members applied for certificates of merit, and one chapter sponsored page of advertising to raise money for travel expense.

A total of 25 evening school meetings were held with an average of 42 present. Since A. A. A. work is part of the program of V. A., the teachers held three adult meetings, one group made up $100 to send delegates to Washington, four days were spent by one group studying material concerning A. A. A. Two schools sponsored C. W. A. work on school ground. Schools included in this report are Brownwood, Bangs, Coleman, May, Pioneer, Rising Star, Santa Anna, Williams, and Winters.

Three Brown County Girls Are Named To Offices At A. C. C.

Three Brown county girls, students in Abilene Christian College, were elected to student offices for next year at the annual spring elections. Vivian Day, freshman from Brownwood, was elected vice-president of the Kitten Klub, which is the women's pep squad. Vivian is a member of the Ellen H. Richards, home economics club. She was freshman girl representative in the annual Kitten Klub Karnation, being chosen for both beauty and popularity, and is to be assistant pep leader for the Wildcats for the 1935-36 term.

Mary Bell Timmins, junior from Zephyr, was elected vice-president of the Ellen H. Richards for next year. The Ellen H. Richards is composed of 50 girls studying home economics in the college.

Lucille Wilmeth, freshman from Ebony, was elected secretary of the Los Angeles Spanish club of Abilene Christian College last week at an annual election of officers.

Miss Wilmeth is a member of the Mission Study Club and the Ellen H. Richards Club.

PYROIL Increases POWER

Think of the power of plunging pistons... sufficient to move tons of rock up steep mountain grades. Yet the efficiency of pistons depends on the adequacy of the combustion chamber. Carbon-stuck valves, leaking rings, weaken the piston stroke and make motors lag and balk.

Pyroil increases power in motors because it seals rings and keeps valves carbon-free. Simply added to regular gas and oil. Supplies constant lubrication to the entire motor head where withering heat kills ordinary lubricants. Actually builds lubrication into the metal.

Pyroil deposits a patent-processed, heat-, wear- and dilution-proof element on all metal parts, building and constantly maintaining an actual self-lubricating surface. Bearings run freer, cooler. Power, endurance, are marvelously improved. Easily saves many times its small cost.

Ask at your filling station or garage for further details. Try PYROIL today.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jacobs are here from Sylvester visiting relatives.

Mrs. Bert Hise of Brownwood and Mrs. Ben Whitehead of Dublin were here last week, the guests of Mrs. Joe Dabney.

Mrs. Walter Sumner of Coconero, New Mexico, is here this week visiting relatives and attending commencement.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker of Bangs were here Sunday visiting relatives.

Mr. Melvin Hicks, president of the senior class, very delightfully entertained the teachers and seniors at his home last Wednesday evening, May 22. Progressive games were the diversion of the evening out of the class motto, "We build the ladder by which we climb." The refreshment course was served to the following: Misses Pearl Stone, Naomi Gleaton, Myrtle Bailey, Lillie Pearl Alcorn, Gyrllie Ingram, Linnie Mae Parsons, Madeline Blanton, Paenella Hicks, Evelyn Boler, Ollie B. ## IMPROVING THE LAWN

By PROF. H. R. COX
Rutgers University

What can a person do to thicken the stand of his lawn grass and improve its vigor?

Many lawn soils are too acid to support a vigorous growth of the ordinary cultivated grasses. The cure for soil acidity is a dose of lime.

If this material has not been applied to the lawn for several years, you will make no mistake in applying lightly one of the common forms of lime, such as hydrated lime or pulverized limestone. A dressing of either at the rate of from 25 to 40 pounds to 1000 square feet once every four or five years should largely correct this unfavorable acid condition.

Lawn grass also needs food, and the easiest and most satisfactory way of supplying plant food is in the form of commercial fertilizer. A "mixed" or "complete" fertilizer, having an analysis such as 5-8-5

In the middle of the lawn is not only poor landscaping, but the trees are apt to shade the soil too much to grow lawn grass effectively. In such cases one must choose between a good lawn and abundant shade.

Sometimes the trees and bushes may be thinned out; or the trees may be trimmed up from the bottom, to allow enough light to produce a good lawn. In fact, a certain amount of shade is better for lawn grass than full exposure to the sun, especially on a south slope.

Taking out some of the trees is better for the grass than trimming them up from the bottom, since trees compete with the lawn grass for drinking water.

Many lawns may be improved by reseeding certain areas. Although late summer in some localities is the best time for reseeding, many lawns may be improved by sowing seed in early spring.

One of the principal causes of or 4-8-7, furnishes the essential plant foods in about the proportion needed for lawn grass.

One of these fertilizer mixtures may well be applied at the rate of from 15 to 20 pounds to 1000 square feet in early spring at the time the grass starts to turn green. Make a similar application again in late summer.

It is essential that both the lime and the fertilizer be distributed uniformly. If the material is to be put on by hand it is well to divide it into two parts, applying one portion while going in one direction, and the other portion at right angles to the first.

The best landscape designs today call for comparatively open lawns with free and shrub plantings massed along the sides, as shown above. The old-fashioned custom of planting trees and shrubs lawn failures is the kind of grass seed used. You cannot be too careful in selecting seed. A fairly large proportion of the grass seed sold for lawns, besides being low in purity and germination, is made up largely of such temporary grasses as timothy, red top and rye grass.

The best grass seed mixture will vary with the locality. In the northeastern states, such ingredients as Kentucky blue grass, bent grass and white clover should constitute a considerable proportion of the mixture.

In other sections of the country there are certain other ingredients which should predominate in the mixture. You might write to your state college of agriculture, asking for a seed mixture which could be satisfactorily used on your lawn.

QUINTUPLETS

Since then, this most modern of refrigerators has been fully guarding their health with dependable food protection.

On May 28, 1934, the world was electrified by a message from the remote Canadian village of Corbeil. Quintuplets were born—living—for the first recorded time beyond the reach of civilization. The babies have received during the past year the utterly dependable food protection that only modern automatic refrigeration can provide. Forty-eight hours after orders were given in New York, a New Air-Cooled Electrolux operated with kerosene, was at work cooling the human milk rushed from Toronto and Montreal to feed these newborn babes.

This kerosene-operated Electrolux is the same nationally advertised refrigerator that is already serving more than half a million modern American families. In the cities it is run by a gas flame . . . in the country, beyond the gas mains, by a wickless glow-type kerosene burner. Listed at the left are some of the vital advantages of this most modern of refrigerators.
