Hear Capt. Nusbaum in Clarendon next week.

We haven't heard of a robbery since the street lights were turned on.

Good health, good minds, good morals are followed by good homes, good lives and good roads.

Community Service Week in Clarendon begins Tuesday evening of next week. Be there early and get a running start.

The Santa Fe railroad announces that they will spend over forty-three million dollars in 1922 for extensions and equipment—a much larger sum than they have spent in years. Big business is preparing for a great year this year—that means better times for everybody.

It very often happens that we are able to do a favor for some person who has done us a real personal injury somewhere back in the past. It takes genuine character to do the favor.

Remember that the programs of the Community Service Week to be held in Clarendon next week are presented without admission. There will be a free-will offering—if you are pleased you will do the right thing—if you are not pleased you ought not to pay a dime. Come and see.

Men have much to say about the style and cut of women's clothes but it might be observed that some of the sterner sex would be willing to expose their persons, too, if they really had anything charming to expose. In other words, there are male nuts like there are female nuts.

Clarendon needs a tax on transient peddlers and hawkers so high that they wouldn't even come into this city. Our merchants, who invest their capital here, who support our institutions and who pay the bulk of our taxes deserve this much consideration from the authorities. A dollar spent with this riff-raff who float in here one day and out the next, is gone forever and oftentimes leaves little value for the cash collected. Stick the tax to them.

And now Jim Ferguson bobs up again as a would-be candidate on the Democratic ticket. We really think too much of the Republicans to wish that he had announced as a G. O. P. candidate—that shows how much we think of that bird. Jim will never be satisfied until the people prove to him just how little they think of him.

The citizen who is not willing to assist in every good movement in the community of his residence fails to grasp the full significance of citizenship. Let's buckle up our belts a notch and step into it for 1922. A more alert citizenship means a better city.

The News is hoping that every citizen in Donley County will try to attend the Community Service Week in Clarendon next week, beginning Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The programs will be given in the auditorium of the Methodist church, and the Chamber of Commerce, who is sponsoring the programs wants it distinctly understood that it is being held in the Methodist church because it is the largest auditorium in Clarendon and not that it has any denominational significance at all. Come and bring your family. The programs will be spicy, entertaining and uplifting and should be worth thousands of dollars to the people of this county besides the great social advantage we may reap from it. The Nusbaum party are nationally known and from the reports coming from points where they have been, they are all they claim to be and worth the money.

The Donley County grand-jury recommend that the accounts of the county officials be audited by a competent auditor, "for the protection of the officers and the general information of the citizens of the county." That is well and good and as our officials are competent and honorable men The News is certain that no irregularities will be found, but the point we wish to bring out is that the law is being violated in that the financial condition and statement of the county is not being published quarterly as provided by law. County officials sometimes excuse themselves for this negligent violation by saying that there is no penalty attached to the law and that it is therefore merely directory, but such a reasoning might result in disaster for the county should every law be ignored that carried no direct penalty. The best means of creating respect for law is for the officials to obey the law themselves. Publicity is becoming the people's most potent safeguard. The grand-jury is right—the law is right.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE

The development of the average West Texas town is due principally to the unification of forces of civil progress in Chambers of Commerce. From the mediocre little hamlet, to the village, town and city the ubiquitous Chamber of Commerce or an organization functioning in a similar way, is found. It has come to the attention of Chamber of Commerce officials over the country that perhaps no other as thinly settled section of the United States has so many Chambers of Commerce as West Texas. Casting about for a reason for this condition many of these officials believe that the successes of such bodies have been appreciated and communicated to other growing towns where they are adopted.

In some small towns of West Texas such organizations have been formed, hired secretaries at salaries of from $200 to $300 per month, are studying every angle of endeavor to advance quickly and effectively the city whose cause they espouse. The organization of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce a few years ago has brought about a state of development in the West which has been the wonder and admiration of the United States. It encourages rather than discourages the organizing of community and town chambers of commerce, realizing that if the community can be put to work building itself up, the process will serve individually to bring about a metamorphosis over the West. And with but a very few exceptions these community, town and city chambers are supporting members of the parent organization. In fact, there is such a close connection in the work performed by both that frequently the parent organization sends men into the community to facilitate co-ordination of community plans of endeavor.

The result of the organization of numerous Chambers of Commerce has been to put forward in the public eye the merits of such places and to inspire confidence in the people at home. The slacker, or knocker is usually very limited in number in the average West Texas town. He appreciates the benefits that accrue from such community endeavors but is too selfish to share this part of the post of operation. The average commercial secretary in West Texas is experienced in a knowledge of things needed by his community.—Ft. Worth Record.

IT IS CHEAPER TO PAY THE SCHOOL TAXES THAN TO HAVE NO SCHOOL IN THE COMMUNITY

A little Vermont town once had a very troublesome old lady. She owned a fine large house and several small houses, on which, of course, she had to pay a tax every year. She was selfish and ignorant, although she did not know it. Every year at a time she talked a great deal about having to pay the bills of poor folks. She "didn't see why children had to have steam-heated schools and free textbooks." She had no children of her own, and if there had been no school her tax bill would not have been so large, she thought.

The principal of the school was a loyal citizen, and knew that if wisely spent, the more money used for the schools, the more safe and prosperous the village would be. But the old lady's influence was so great that he found it difficult to get money enough even to buy the books that were needed. The histories that the classes used ended with McKinley's administration. Half of the geographies looked as if the rats had made many meals from them. Finally the principal decided to try an experiment.

One of the cottages that the old lady owned was then empty. The principal rented this cottage, then drove back into the hills five miles from the village. He went to one of the families there and told them that if they wanted to live in the village through the winter they could have the rent of this house free. The family moved. Three months later a friend called on the selfish old lady and said: "What a queer family you have in that last cottage of yours. Half the windows are broken and stuffed with newspapers. The woodpile is in the front yard. The children act like little heathens. All the good families are moving away."

Much alarmed, the owner of the cottage sent for her automobile and was driven to the cottage. Just as they drew up in front of the gate, bang! went one of the tires, and the chauffeur reported a bad puncture. "The road's full of glass," he explained. "The boys wholive in the cottage evidently amuse themselves by breaking bottles in the street." The chauffeur rang the bell. An untidy woman opened the door, and looked at him insolently a moment. "I ain't got no time to talk with the likes of you," she said shortly, and banged the door in his face. As they drove away, the owner of the house saw three boys building a hen-coop in the side yard with boards which they had taken from the fence. In great indignation the woman sent for the principal. "I won't have heathens in any of my house," she said. "They are ruining it. It will cost at least a hundred dollars to put it in repair and fifty dollars for a new tire for my automobile."

"I'm sorry," said the principal. "But this family is one of several that live back from the village, where there is no school. I wanted the children to have at least one winter of the best that our village could offer. You see, boys and girls have a tremendous amount of energy. They must do something. School gives them plenty of work and plenty of play. Then they have neither so much time nor so much desire to smash things. Of course you know that in school they learn to obey rules. You would move out of this town in six months if all the schools should be closed. It is there that pupils learn the value of law and order. The boys in your cottage will learn in time. They probably never had to obey anyone until they came here. If they could only stay here for three years, I think you would not know them."

The old lady began to think. The only family that abused her property was the one that had had no schools for its children. Perhaps schools were worth paying for after all. When tax time came, she astonished the village by making no protest at having to pay for "poor children's education." She also sent the principal a check to help start a school garden. "Perhaps those awful boys will spend some of their energy hoeing," she said to herself, "instead of smashing my fences and windows."—Grace A. Turkington.

WISDOM OF THE EAST

The slant-eyed celestial exponents of the "no tickies—no shirts" system of hand laundering, probably never impress us Occidental folks that the Chinese are very keen, intellectual. But that is because we are disgracefully ignorant and indifferent to the really wonderful and beautiful literature of their philosophers and poets. Roy Chapman Andrews, in a talk recently before the Dutch Treat Club in New York, read the following collection of clever Chinese proverbs:

"If you bow at all, bow low."
"A man thinks he knows—but a woman knows better."
"Free sitters at the play always grumble most."

"I have seen not one who loves virtue as he loves beauty."
"Only imbeciles want credit for the achievements of their ancestors."
"The faults which a man condemns out of office he commits when in."

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 35 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

KEEP YOUR PROPERTY FULLY COVERED WITH INSURANCE

When times are flush there might be some excuse for one to carry little insurance but when things are different, the prudent person will see to it that all his property is protected. Many a man has had the accumulated savings of a lifetime swept away by fire or storm by being negligent or saving (?) in the matter of Fire and Tornado Insurance.

Our service is unexcelled and we suggest that you look over your insurance policies to see what sort of shape you would be in if disaster should come.

An Implement Shed

THE LIFE OF YOUR MACHINERY
MEANS MORE THAN DOUBLE

Say you have $1,000.00 tied up in machinery. If you leave them out in the weather in five years rust will make them practically useless. Depreciation costs you $200 a year. But it has been proved that protected from sun, rain and ice, when implements are not in use, increases their life two to three times. No matter what amount you have invested in farming tools, your best investment now is a SHED to protect them from destruction by weather. We can give you estimates and plans for several sizes of inexpensive implement sheds—and we believe we can save you money on the material. Ask us for prices and estimates on the well known CAMERON QUALITY.

A Handy Thing to Have in the House

No matter how well your cellar is stocked a few cans of good things always come in handy. There is no better way to provide for emergencies or running short, because food kept this way never spoils.

Just think how handy it is to bring out a can or two of salmon, sardines, tuna fish or lobster for the main dish. With that as a basis, the meal is half prepared. Only the best is today canned for use. And improved methods of putting up insure an exceptional flavor.

Hon. E. A. Simpson returned Friday from Austin where he appeared before the Court of Criminal Appeals representing Rich Hamlin in whiskey case appealed from this county. SHRINE CLUB FEED IS WELL ATTENDED

Tuesday evening at the Masonic club rooms the Clarendon Shrine Club was entertained by fourteen of its members and their ladies, with the ladies doing the major portion of the work—as usual.

The good things to eat were there in great abundance and after the tables were laden and groaning it was remarked by many that the affair, so far as the "eats" were concerned resembled more the log-rolling or infair dinners of the long ago than any similar occasion of recent date.

There were about seventy-five present, and all the guests were loud in their praise of the informal program of entertainment and the feast, as well as the social side of the occasion. The program was made up of piano solos, vocal solos, readings, and violin numbers, although some of the Nobles called the latter "fiddle pieces." Those to whom the attendance were indebted for the various parts of the program were Mrs. Cameron, Miss Anna Moores, Little, Miss Mary Joe Chamberlain, Miss Lorena Lewis, Little Miss Gwyn Youngblood, Miss Willie Scruggs and Nobles John Blocker and John Hunt. After the serving a number of impromptu talks were made by Nobles Dr. Reynolds, Eustace Allen and others.

The Clarendon Shrine Club is one of the strongest clubs of the city, having now about fifty active members and maintains a baseball club in season and a charity fund the year round. The steering committee of this occasion was composed of Nobles Youngblood, Bain and Cagle.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, DEMOCRAT

W. C. P. BRECKENRIDGE

Thomas Jefferson was in its loftiest sense a Democrat; he loved, he trusted, the people; he loved his race; he was indeed a man, and there was nothing human that was foreign to him. He defied man as man, and despised and feared all that could create classes or ranks. Man as man was free and capable of self-government, was the postulate of all his thinking. This was the starting-point of all his meditations. All men ought to be free, all men shall be free, all men will be free, was the conviction, the resolve, the hope of his life. His part was to assist in making America free. This was two-fold—one part was to secure such a government as would protect and maintain freedom; the other to establish a policy that would in the end embrace the continent. With such a government expansion was possible; neither the number nor the size of the states, nor the extent of population or territory, need cause alarm or change. If men are free—if governments are founded on the consent of the governed; if local governments are sovereign and federal governments can be limited by written compacts or constitutions, then the possibility and modification of mere forms become infinite. If the object of all governments is to protect these inalienable rights, and freemen can secure that protection by a union of states under one compact, then there is no permanent failure of free government possible except on the single hypothesis that man is incapable of self-government. Jefferson rejected this hypothesis

(Editor's Note—The articles appearing in the above space from week to week are taken from "Americanization" by Elewood-Griscom, Jr. This excellent volume, which is a collection of articles upon the general theme of patriotism and good citizenship, is presented to the schools of Texas by the Bodies of Scottish Rite Masonry in Texas.

USES OTHER MENS' MONEY
"It is a mighty nice thing to be able to do business on the other fellow's money, but there are a few people who can do it," stated a merchant. "Probably the only business men who, as a class, are able to do this, are the mail order men in the big cities."

Did you ever stop to think, you who have ordered goods from a mail order house and there are probably few who have not done that at some time or other—that you are supplying the cash upon which the mail order man is doing business? You are well aware of the fact that your cash must go with your order if you expect to receive the goods, but have you ever stopped to think what that means? Do you realize that you are supplying the capital for a business that is running in direct competition with your home merchants, upon whose prosperity your and your fellow townsmen are dependent for a livelihood?

The majority of mail order houses do not carry large stocks of goods. They do not have to. When the mail order man gets your order, accompanied by the cash, of course, he can take a part of your money and go to the manufacturer or wholesaler and buy the article that is wanted. The rest of the money he can put down in his pocket after paying his operating costs, which are light when compared with those of the merchant who must carry a large stock of goods to meet the demands made upon them.

There is absolutely no other class of men who do business on the capital furnished by their customers. Even the retail store which sells for cash only cannot do this for he must carry a large stock and in most cases must pay cash for it in order to get prices that will enable him to make lower prices to his customers than can be made by the merchant who gives credit to his customers.

The mail order man doesn't need to have any of his own capital invested in his business—or any large amount of it, at least, in proportion to the volume of the business which he does. He does not have to pay interest to the banks on money borrowed to help him finance his business. The mail order man figures that about one-half of the amount he receives on any order goes to the wholesaler or manufacturer in payment for the goods ordered. Of the remainder a part goes for postage, printing, maintenance of office and plant, insurance, etc. What is left, which is by no means an insignificant part of every dollar re- holders in the mail order corporation. All this has been done without any capital other than that which may be required to pay office expenses.

Suppose, for a minute, that you did business with the local merchant on the same plan. Suppose that they did not carry any goods in stock, that when you wanted to buy something you should go to one of the home merchants, look in his catalogue, and pick out an article that seemed to be similar to what you wanted, hand over the price as shown by the catalogue and tell him to order it for you. The merchant would take your money and you would wait for your goods to arrive from a distant city. But the people who make up any community are not nearly as anxious to furnish capital to the home merchant—the man who helps "make" the town—as they are to the mail order man in the far distant city, who does nothing and cares nothing for the people who furnish him the cash on which to do business. They insist that the home merchant should carry a large stock of goods from which they can select what they wish, when they think it is to their interest to buy from him. They insist that he shall stand back of the goods and make good any defect that may appear in them. They insist that he shall sell them what they wish and wait for the money until they get ready to pay for it. They insist that he shall sell goods at the same prices or at lower prices than the mail order houses charge for goods of poorer quality. And, finally, they insist that the home merchant shall furnish the large amount of capital that is required to conduct a business on this plan.

The mail order buyer may say that he has the right to spend his money anywhere he pleases and he has, legally. But he probably has never stopped to reflect on the fact that he is supplying the capital for the operation of a concern which is in direct competition with enterprises in which he is directly interested, for every man, woman and child in a town is directly interested in the success of the business enterprises in that town. If these business enterprises are not prosperous the town cannot be prosperous. To supply capital to your competitor is not very good business.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Clarendon citizen says: Mrs. Ellen Andreas, E. 4th St., gave the following statement on November 29th, 1915: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results, getting them at Stocking's Drug Store. I advise anyone troubled with weak back or bothered with irregular action of the kidneys to try them. They proved satisfactory for me, and I don't think there is a better kidney remedy."

DONE FOR GOOD
On April 21st, 1919, Mrs. Andreas added: "I have not had any signs of kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

Electric Irons

Why quit using an electric iron because the service bill is above the minimum? It is true that it costs money to operate the electric iron. But it costs more to buy coal to keep the stove hot to heat the old fashion irons. You can easily waste thirty cents worth of coal trying to save fifteen cents worth of electric current, besides the waste of time and labor.

The remains of Bond W. The deceased was sixty-four years of age, and is survived by his widow and three daughters. Mrs. B. L. Thrasher and Misses Carris and Beulah Johnson.

Mr. Johnson came to this county in the early days, and was at one time in business in this city; following this, he moved to Hedley where he resided until three years ago when he moved with his family to Houston. He was a brother of P. C. Johnson, of Hedley.

Mr. Johnson was a member of the Baptist Church, and has a host of friends who mourn his loss and extend to the bereaved relatives sympathy in this hour.

COMMUNITY SERVICES AND ROADS DISCUSSED BY LUNCHEONITES TUESDAY NOON

The themes discussed at the Tuesday luncheon of the business men were the community services of next week and the C. to G. Highway. Capt. Nusbaum and his company will be here next Tuesday, and it is the desire of the luncheonites to have all of the business men present at the next luncheon as at that time the initial steps will be taken toward the great community services which will be held each evening of next week. On account of the size of the auditorium, the services will be held in the Methodist Church. And on Friday the great community dinner will be held.

Capt. Nusbaum has many hard jolts for the mail order houses, and his work elsewhere has met with eminent success in bringing about a more thorough spirit of co-operation in the various communities.

Capt. Bernard McMahon, field secretary of the C. to G. Highway also spoke to the luncheonites on the plans for making the highway better in the near future; in many counties, in fact, the roads along which the highway lies are being hard surfaced.

EARTHY REMAINS OF MRS. BAREFIELD INTERRED FRIDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Wint Barefield, who died in this city Wednesday afternoon of last week, were held at the First Methodist Church Friday morning at nine thirty o'clock, being conducted by Rev. J. T. Griswold, and interment followed in the Citizens' Cemetery. The end came following a lingering illness during which Mrs. Barefield did not once complain.

The large attendance at the funeral services and the long procession were silent witnesses to the high regard in which Mrs. Barefield was held by her scores of friends.

Mrs. Barefield was born December 9, 1879. She was converted and joined the Methodist church in girlhood. In 1896 she was married to Wint Barefield, and to this union were born three children, Charles, Clarence and Lois.

Mrs. Barefield is survived by her husband, her three children, her mother, Mrs. R. S. Heizer, a sister, Mrs. Wheeler, and two brothers, Oma Scoggins of this city and Rev. Arthur Scoggins, of Wheeler.

A host of friends join in extending to the bereaved relatives condolence and sympathy in their hour of grief.

POLL TAX RECEIPTS FOR COUNTY SURPASS ALL RECORDS BY FIFTY PERCENT

The number of poll taxes receipts issued in this county for this year surpass all records by one-half, the total receipts being 2,210 and exemptions 40. The previous number has usually been between fifteen and sixteen hundred. As one candidate remarked, lots of people must be seen this year by the office seekers. This is a good indication, as it shows that the citizens men and women are taking a greater interest in public affairs; and consequently the offices should be filled with the best material.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO HAVE SOCIAL SATURDAY

The Epworth League will have a social Saturday evening at the Methodist Church commencing at seven o'clock. The nature of the affair will be a tacky party, and everyone is invited to come there looking his or her tackiest, and a good time is assured.

Miss Pauline Bell left yesterday morning for a visit with her friend, Mrs. C. A. Cadwallader, of Amarillo.

W. N. Martin, of Amarillo, has been in this city this week on business.

Mrs. W. C. Veazey returned Saturday from Childress where she had been at the bedside of her mother. At the time of her return her mother was unimproved.

NAYLOR ENTERS RACE FOR TAX ASSESSOR

B. F. Naylor this week authorizes the News to announce his candidacy for the office of Tax Assessor. Mr. Naylor has lived in this county for thirty-one years, and is thoroughly acquainted with conditions. He is making the race strictly on the merits of his old official records, and on that score solicits the support of everyone who can do so. With good will for everyone, Mr. Naylor enters the race and asks for the office that he has so capably filled in past years.
