EXPERIMENT STATION BILL PASSES HOUSE, SENATE COMMITTEES

An amendment to include Erath county among the counties in which an agricultural experiment station might be established in the sandy land cross timbers belt of this section was made at the hearing of the bill to establish such a station before the agriculture committee of the Senate this week.

Committees of both the Senate and the House reported favorably on the bill, and it is now on the calendars of both houses of the Texas legislature. In spite of the crowded calendars sponsors of the bill expect it to be passed this session.

Other counties included in the bill are Brown, Callahan, Eastland and Comanche.

Chester Harrison, secretary of Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, represented Brown county at the hearings. Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood introduced Mr. Harrison who presented the argument for the bill. Representative Courtney Gray made the argument before the educational committee of the House, to which the bill had been referred.

The vote to report favorably was unanimous in both hearings, and an emergency clause was added asking quick action. A majority of the committeemen pledged their support to passage of the bill.

Location of the station will be left to A. & M. College if the bill is passed. The state and federal governments will operate the station which will conduct experiments on best crops to be grown in the sandy land section and other experiments designed to aid farmers of this section.

As described by the United States Department of Agriculture, the West Cross-Timbers Sandy Land Area is 200 miles long, with an average width of 50 miles. Included in the area are all of Palo Pinto, Montague, Jack, Stephens and Eastland counties; about two-thirds of Brown, Comanche, Erath, Parker and Wise counties, and parts of Cook, Clay, Young, Hood, Shackelford, Callahan, Mills and Hamilton counties.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL ASKS CONTRIBUTIONS FOR WELFARE HOUSE

The Community Council issued an appeal this week for donations of articles needed at the Welfare House on Melwood avenue. The list of things needed was given as follows:

Fly swatters, pitchers, glass bowls, glass plates, scarfs, pie pans, sash curtains and long curtains, brooms, hot water bottles, ice caps, syringes, furniture polish, double light sockets, table linens, trays and wash rags.

Funds for the operation of the house are being furnished by the city and the county, and its government is under a board of managers made up of representatives of the Community Council, commissioners court, city council and other organizations.

Aged county indigents and needy persons convalescing from surgical or medical treatment will be taken care of in the home.

Since there are no funds available for buying equipment the Council requests that citizens who can donate either new or used articles do so at once.

COLLINS' PARTY FOR LEGION HELD MONDAY

J. A. Collins, past local commander of the local Legion post, and Alderman Carl P. Dietz of Milwaukee shared honors Monday night at a Legion party made possible by the keen trading ability of the two men. Dietz was unable to be present but was toasted by the guests.

The party, which was given in the club rooms at Memorial Hall, was made possible by a freak trade in which Collins sent an ancient Bennett typewriter to Dietz in exchange for two kegs of Milwaukee beer to be used as refreshments at a Legion get-together.

H. Miller Ainsworth of Lullin, State Legion Commander, was the principal speaker. M. J. Benefield of Brady, immediate past state commander, Mayor W. H. Thompson, C. P. Kitchen, Brownwood, state senior vice-commander of the United Spanish American War Veterans, and Collins made short talks.

Telegrams were read from Senator E. M. Davis, who is in Austin, and from District Committeeman O. H. Turner, commander of a CCC camp at Taylor.

John Garner And Sam Rayburn Believe C. L. South To Go Far

IF MAKING AN IMPRESSION on two of the most important members of the executive and legislative branch of the present administration is a recommendation for a congressman, the new member from the 21st Texas district Judge Charles L. South, ought to be getting somewhere in Washington.

"I think I have one of the best congressmen among the new members of the House," Vice President John Nance Garner said in a Washington interview last week of Judge South, who represents Uvalde county along with 26 other West Texas counties in the 74th Congress.

"South is tending to his business not trying to show off, his plenty of sense and has demonstrated to me that he has the courage to say 'yes' to his constituents," the vice president said.

Sam Rayburn, chairman of the important Interstate Commerce Committee of the House and a contender for the speakership, said: "I like the way South is quietly demonstrating his abilities to the members of the House. He is not going off on side-track isms and is making a real impression on the conservative members of the House."

CATTLEMEN URGED TO PREPARE STOCK FOR INSPECTIONS

Dr. J. A. Phillips, in charge of inspection of cattle for tuberculosis in Brown county, urges that all cattle owners have their animals penned for inspection. Only a very small percentage of reactors have been found among cattle in this county.

A total of 7,339 head of cattle have been inspected in Brown county in the government inspection for tuberculosis in cattle. Dr. J. Phillips, head of the work in Brown county, thanks the people of the county for the splendid cooperation the inspectors have had.

He urges that owners have their cattle penned for inspection. Each owner is notified 72 hours before the inspectors arrive. He also stressed the importance of not letting uninspected cattle get with the inspected animals before the second trip is made to the herd.

If inspectors return and find uninspected animals in the herds it will mean that the herd will be placed under quarantine for 60 days until another inspection and vaccination can be made. This will mean the cattle can not be moved from the place and no other cattle added to them.

DE LEON YOUTH IS KILLED AS AIRPLANE BURNS AFTER CRASH

Cecil Cook, 19, was burned to death Sunday afternoon when the plane he was piloting crashed in a field two miles south of Brownwood. The plane burst into flames as soon as it struck the ground and the gas tank exploded before anyone could reach the wreckage. Three small boys who reached the scene soon after the crash reported that Cook was trying to get out of the cockpit when they arrived.

B. Kilgore, special officer, arrived within a few minutes after the explosion. He reported that the aviator had evidently been having trouble with the plane before the crash as he seemed to be planning a forced landing. In trying to land he lost flying speed and the plane pancaked.

Cook, whose home was in DeLeon, had lived in Brownwood until about six months ago. He was an employe in the Chas. Day garage here. While working for Day he began studying flying and he had been doing solo flying since last fall.

The charred body was removed from the wreckage as soon as it could be reached. The body was taken to Mitcham Funeral Home and later to the family home in DeLeon. Cook's clothing was burned from his body with the exception of a small portion of his trousers and shirt around his waist.

He is survived by his wife and parents, all of DeLeon. Funeral services were held in DeLeon at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

New Equipment On City's Fire Truck

Brownwood Fire Department's booster pumper truck, converted from the chemical truck which has been in use for several years, was returned from Dallas last week. It had been there a month while a 300 gallon water tank and a 200 gallon per minute pump were being installed. The work cost the city $1000.

The department also has 300 feet of new one and one-half inch hose to use with this truck and in addition has 250 feet of new two and one-half inch hose.

Farm experts say a 50 per cent formaldehyde solution sprayed over seed oats will prevent smut.

Vice President Garner thinks his district, which also is our own, has one of the best congressmen among the new members of the House. He said so in an interview in Washington this week, in which he expressed appreciation of the service being rendered the district by Charles L. South of Coleman, who represents the new 21st district.

We Think So, Too

Mr. Garner is not alone in his expression of appreciation. Sam Rayburn of Texas, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the House, and erstwhile candidate for Speaker, also likes the new Congressman. "I like the way South is quietly demonstrating his abilities to the members of the House," Mr. Rayburn says. "He is not going off on side-track isms and is making a real impression on the conservative members of the House."

Those who know Mr. South are not surprised that he has made a splendid impression on leaders at Washington. Previously, he had made a good impression on the voters of this district, who decided to send him to Washington. And his conduct in Washington has served to strengthen his popularity at home as well as at the Capital.

Not spectacular by nature, Mr. South did not make wild promises. When he went to Washington he began quietly and efficiently to study the problems before him, and to look after the interests of the people back home. Brownwood has had reason to profit by his ability already, through his effective work in helping to retrain the CCG camp at Lake Brownwood, after plans had been made to move it by April 1st.

We have been well pleased with Mr. South's work for some time. But it makes us just a bit more appreciative of him to know that so effectively he has gone about his job at Washington that such party leaders as Mr. Garner and Mr. Rayburn take occasion to express the thought that Mr. South is one of the best of the new members of the House.

Owen P. White is at it again in Collier's. He has let off another blast against Texas, and while he writes about a situation that is not satisfactory to the State at the present time, he does so in such a super-critical, arrogant, mud-slinging and libelous a manner that he has done the State immeasurable harm, and no one any good.

Mr. White Pops Off

Mr. White is Texas Muckraker No. 1 at the present time. He deals, in an article in the current issue of Collier's, with the waste of gas in the Texas Panhandle, and goes at the subject from the standpoint of the special interests in such a way as to lead anyone unfamiliar with facts to believe (if, indeed, anyone would believe Mr. White) all Texans favor blowing all natural gas possible into the air, so that anyone living outside the border of the state could never use any of it.

We do not commend the actions of those who are engaged in stripping natural gas—that is, manufacturing gasoline from it, at a tremendous waste of gas resources. But we do realize that there is some argument, good sound business argument, to their position. Pipe line companies cannot take their gas, and as Mr. White points out in his article, all the gas is from a common reservoir under the ground. As a matter of protection, property owners feel they must market the gas under their land before it is all drawn out by the big companies. And as no ready and more profitable market is at hand, we do not criticize them too severely for selling the gas for whatever price they can get—even though some of it is wasted. To realize something from their gas is better, many property owners feel, than to have it all drawn from under their land by nearby wells owned by the big companies Mr. White pictures as so lily white.

Nor do we condemn Mr. White for presenting the side of big business if he finds it profitable. But we do feel that in attempting to make his story colorful, he has libeled Texas, has manufactured thoughts and words that did not exist, has pictured filth, corruption and ugliness because he can make money by so doing, and has drawn a picture almost wholly untrue, wholly unfair, and one which should not find a place in a reputable magazine.

An accountant and auditor of Burlingame, California, Charles C. Thompson, has made the suggestion that license plates for automobiles be issued for a three-year period.

Long-Time Licenses

The suggestion has some merit, and has attracted a great deal of attention. It is particularly interesting to Texans at this time, when many have stood in line at various collector's offices waiting their turn to buy license plates for 1935.

Mr. Thompson, in support of his plan, points out that State governments would save about $5,000,000 annually. New York State, he says, in 1931, spent $506,000 for the manufacture of 2,330,000 license tags. The total for the United States he estimates at some $6,000,000, with another $4,000,000 for distribution.

Many states, like Texas and Missouri, manufacture their plates in the penitentiaries, and the savings in this cost would be small. But most others pay approximately 10 cents a tag for their plates. Oklahoma has reduced the cost of plates through elimination of the front tag, but this is not entirely satisfactory.

The greatest objection to the plan, from the standpoint of the automobile owner, would be that he would be required to pay three years' license fee at one time, or else the State would lose much revenue. This undoubtedly would work a hardship on the motorist, to say nothing of the owner of an old car that he does not intend to drive for three years more.

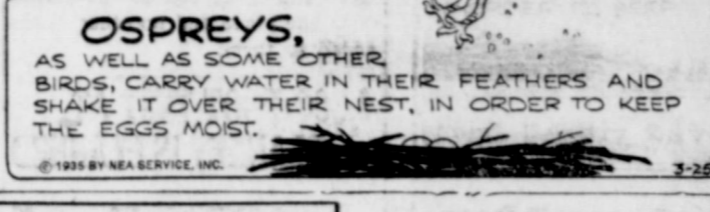

A better plan, it seems to us, would be to require a permanent license for each automobile sold. The estimated life of the average automobile could be determined, and the dealer required to add the cost of the license for this period to the cost of the car, delivering the automobile license-paid for life.

There would be some objection from dealers on the score that this would increase the cost of the delivered automobile, but this would be offset by the relief the purchaser would feel in not being required to pay an annual license fee; by the opportunity to pay the fee in installments along with his automobile payments, and by the decreased cost of collection to the State.

True Ghost Stories By Famous People

By IRVING BERLIN Famous Composer Only the person who suffers from insomnia knows the ravages and terrors of the still night hours before the dawn of day.

Through the night lulling tunes and haunting melodies come to Irving Berlin, the famous composer; but sleep eludes him.

"Once during a hot summer night," Mr. Berlin related, "I was staying at a small Broadway hotel during the production of one of my first musical comedies.

"Tired out from the work of rehearsal, I could have fallen into a light sleep, but I was disturbed by the snoring of the man in the next room. I paced the floor. The snoring grew louder and wilder. It was uncanny. At four o'clock it stopped and I fell asleep for a few minutes, only to be awakened again by the regularity of the harsh notes. I slept by fits and starts.

"At six o'clock I remembered I was awake. "Frantically, I walked into the hall. The snoring man's door was open. I pushed aside the ventilating screen. An empty white-rock bottle caught my eye. I picked it up and, with one blow, brought it down with revenge upon the man's head. It shattered into hundreds of pieces. Blood trickled down the man's face. This was horrible.

"The next thing I knew a hand was grasping my arm. I could feel it, but could not see it. Was it the dead man's ghost? I tried hard to visualize it—was it the hand of a spirit detective?

"I reached up to push the hand away.

"Wake up," roared a bellboy, who was tugging at my arm. "You left a call for seven o'clock. Hope you had a nice night's sleep," he added, jauntily. "The man in the next room has complained that he dreamed he heard the noise of some one walking back and forth, back and forth, all night. Hope you didn't hear anything queer."

GOOD WORK, MR. ALLRED

(Stephenville Empire-Tribune) For one, this newspaper indorses the decision of Governor James V. Allred in bringing liquor law violators to task in the metropolitan centers of Texas. For several years it has seemingly been a habit of operators in the large cities to flagrantly defy the law, and at the same time laugh up their sleeves at the efforts of law enforcement.

If every county in Texas had a sheriff like Erath county, a district judge like the 29th judicial district, and a district and county attorney like the two now holding office here, there would not be any great amount of liquor law violations.

Perhaps it might be wise for Texas to repeal its present statutes regulating such traffic. It might be wise to put in force the benefits of local option, if any, to the extent that the counties of Texas could choose the program they desired.

But however that may be, the law of Texas says that it is illegal to deal in the sale of intoxicating liquors. Until that law is repealed no person can consistently say Governor Allred is wrong in sending State Rangers into any county in order to bring these violators to task.

And incidentally, what are the accusers of the governor, who so glibly paraded up and down the State last summer asking him why it was that gambling dens and illegal dealers were allowed to operate in the open, going to say now that he is doing the very thing they suggested? It seems that now is a fine time for those critics to get on the band wagon.

Britain's 'One-House' Government

Great Britain's "one-house" government refers to the fact that the house of lords, the upper house of the British parliament, has actually little power, since an act passing the lower house three times becomes a law in spite of the objections of the upper house. Actually there are two houses in the British parliament.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Bastrop—Twenty-seven ant hills were exterminated in February on the farm of Mrs. Bob Moore of Bastrop county by the use of five gallons of carbon disulphide, according to W. S. Millington, county agricultural agent. The dirt was scraped away from the center of the main town until a hole was found leading straight down. Thirty gallons of water were poured into the hole and this was followed by a mixture of two gallons of water and one pint to one quart of the carbon disulphide. The hole and all other openings were then covered and dirt packed over them. If any signs of ant life are observed the treatment will be repeated. Mrs. Moore said.

Andrews—A ten month old Hereford calf, weighing 694 pounds, belonging to Eugene Walden, Jr., Andrews county 4-H club member, took first place in the class for calves at a local livestock and poultry show, according to H. L. Atkins, Jr., county agricultural agent. A liberal valuation of $15 put on the calf at the start of feeding, plus $10 spent on feed and labor were his only expenses, while the calf sold for 15 cents per pound and brought $10 in prize money. This gave him a profit of $19.10 on his feeding venture. The calf was fed chiefly on ground corn, ground Milo, mineral and cottonseed meal with 100 pounds of rolled barley during the last 30 days.

Seymour—More than 4000 feet of subirrigation tile were laid by 18 farmers in Baylor county in January and February of this year according to P. C. Colgin, county agricultural agent. In addition to the amount already laid, 2015 feet of tile are still in the hands of three local men who are making tile for sale and in the hands of three farmers who have not yet laid it in their gardens. During 1934, 10,500 feet of subirrigation tile were laid by Baylor county farmers.

Wichita Falls—Using parts of old clothes to hook into a gunny sack foundation, Mrs. Leon Rankin, home industries demonstrator for the Freberg Home Demonstration Club in Wichita county, made a top for a foot stool, according to Miss Bessie Lee Sikes, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Rankin made the foot stool from a piece of waste lumber and four discarded stove legs and a bit of left over black enamel. Her only cash expense was 10 cents for black upholstery tacks which she used to fasten the top to the stool.

Cooper—A candlewick bedspread has just been completed for 20 cents cash by Mrs. T. A. Moseley, member of the Enloe Home Demonstration Club in Delta county, according to Miss Mary Louise Ramsey, home demonstration agent. As a foundation, Mrs. Moseley used heavy feed sacks which were permanently crinkled and resemble homespun. The thread used for the embroidery was the kind used by milling companies for sewing up sacks. When this was doubled it was heavy enough. Mrs. Moseley's only expense was for the thread.

A design of interlocked circles 10 inches in diameter was used, and as the design was close enough to cover a large portion of the spread, the seams where the sacks were sewed together did not show. Falfurrias—At a cost of $3.75 for lumber and labor, Mrs. J. T. Sharp, 4-H pantry demonstrator of the Falfurrias Home Demonstration Club in Brooks county, put 21 feet of shelving in her kitchen to store her canned goods conveniently and systematically, according to Miss Louise Hogue, home demonstration agent. Although the canning season for vegetables has not begun, Mrs. Sharp has 108 jars and cans labeled with the 4-H pantry labels to place on her shelves. Of the 108, 61 containers were citrus fruit products made from the fruit of a few citrus trees in her own back yard and from two bushels of grape fruit given her. The cans are organized on the shelves according to the plan recommended by the Extension Service.

Still Chums After Clash on NRA

Still chummy, though on opposite sides of the fence, these two warriors who once fought side by side in the New Deal got together for a chat during the NRA probe in Washington before a Senate committee. There's no sign of a rift, though Clarence Darrow, left, had shot some stinging barbs at Donald R. Rieberg, right, "assistant president," among them one that "Don used to be a friend of the poor himself."

COUGHING, WEAK AND THIN AFTER FLU

"I nearly died from 'flu' last October, and it left me with a terrible cough. I saw Milks Emulsion advertised and started using it. It helped me right from the start. I had no appetite and my stomach was in bad shape. But 12 bottles have straightened me out entirely. I eat anything without distress, my cough is gone and I have gained back my strength and flesh."

Did Her Neighbors Say Plenty!

A startling sight indeed, to set a bold copper gogling and gasping as he peered cautiously over a Hollywood hedge! BOTH ARE STARS

Here are a couple of stars who scintillate in their respective sports, getting chummy at Seminole Driving Park, near Orlando, Fla. The smiling fellow is Joe Stripp, third baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The horse is Silver King, top-ranking 2-year-old trotting favorite for the tenth renewal of the $35,000 Hambletonian Stake at Goshen, N. Y.
