LEDRICK WELL TO START OPERATIONS AGAIN SOON

The News was informed the fore part of this week that operations of the Ledrick well would go forward again in the very near future. An order of steel tubing has been re-ceived at the site of the well and it is hoped that they may be able to make a producer of this hole that has been waiting for development for such a long time. The depth of the well and the attendant pressure has made it impractical to use the ordinary variety of pipe, hence the purchase of the steel tubing, which is stronger than the ordinary pipe. A CITY AUDITORIUM.

We believe that there is not another city in this section of, is the erection of a municipal auditorium. We have the hotel situation well taken care of, and we are all fixed for the entertainment of conventions, except for a place for assembly meetings, and public gatherings of the various kinds. This is where we fall short of what we should have. Lubbock know the conditions at home.

This would be a very good time to build an auditorium. It will have to be built some of these days and that within a very short time, and just at this time when other work is a bit slack, it would be a good time to put over these public works. It would be a saving in cost as materials are cheaper and more easy to get, laborers are more plentiful, and there is not such a rush for building so that contractors have more time to give to such buildings.

Lubbock needs a municipal auditorium, why not build it now?—Lubbock Avalanche.

ARE CLOTHES A BAR TO EDUCATION?

In California a young boy has been sent out of school because he wore overalls to his classes. The reason as given was that it was not the custom for larger boys to dress in overalls in school.

The Times is glad that Texas bases her school attendance requirements on things more consequential than the wearing of overalls to school. Texas and Texan educators and school administrators believe that a boy is just as presentable in overalls at his classes as if he were dressed in the best grade of the most stylish fabrics. THE PAPER AGE.

Few people realize the wonderful amount of paper used in the world today, because we have become so accustomed to seeing it and using it that we seem to take it for granted that it has always been made and used in abundance. People who dig through ancient history and still more ancient history tell us man has passed through a stone and bronze age into a steel age. We are passing into a paper age. If you have any doubt of that, think what would happen if some great catastrophe should wipe out all the paper that there is in the world. Civilization would be in utter chaos by tomorrow. We absolutely depend upon paper for every kind of purpose, particularly for business purposes, since probably 95 per cent of our business is done through paper and not through cash or actual exchange of commodities.

An official report on the manufacture and use of paper "Paper is now so cheap and abundant that we don't think when it was not and yet the memory of a great many men go back to that time.

FORWARD, PAMPA, SAYS CITY COUNCIL.

Action of the city council assures Pampa of the possibility of carrying to completion a public improvement program vitally necessary in a city of this size.

The city engineer and council are to be commended for providing for a city-wide proposal which will be adequate for the present population, and, when necessary, may be extended and enlarged as the community grows.

By investing along the lines of sound engineering principles, the entire city can be connected with the sewer, whereas, under the present system, the elevation automatically isolates much of the city.

By including the warrant refunding in one bond issue, the city may make a good saving and simplify procedure for the future.

The significant thing about the election proposal is that the bond issue will not raise the tax rate in Pampa. It will merely invest wisely the income which the growth of the is forced to work to keep herself and two children. STATE SECRETARY SAYS TIME IS RIGHT FOR ROAD WORK.

Austin, Texas, June 15.—"Not since the war has the time been so opportune for good road and street paving construction," says Arthur B. Shelby, Executive Secreod of contact with men from ev-tary of Texas Highway Branch of ery locality, conditions and walk of life, among whom they were ac-"both from the standpoint of meeting the increased needs of motor travel and the fact that construction costs for this class of work are stabilized at a highly economical level."

The enormous increase in commercial and pleasure motor travel demands a corresponding ex-tension of the road paving pro-gram, according to Mr. Shelby, if communities with dirt roads are not to become entirely isolated from this modern method of transportation.

Cities and villages have learned their lesson as to comparative property values on paved and unpaved streets, and property owners are clamoring for extensive paving programs in even the smaller towns.

"Public officials responsible for road and street construction," states Mr. Shelby, "should take immediate advantage of the present slow-up in building construc-tion which has released a large reservoir of labor now available for road and street paving. This labor is highly efficient and will enable contractors to handle road and street work more economically and street work more economically than at any time since the war.

"Even more important is the duty of public officials to release this class of construction for work during the summer months in or-der to provide employment for lab-or from other elements of the con-

or from other elements of the construction industry as well as the unemployed generally
"Also," states Mr. Shelby, "the outlet of construction funds for public work will go far towards stabilizing business conditions during the next few months which are, at present, being looked forward to with some anxiety by both laborers and business men."

Banks, business men and merchants of any town or city, can well afford to get behind such a constructive agricultural program as outlined above. The hen is today the most efficient transformer of raw material into a popular finished-produce. A flock of bred-tolay hens on every farm in the county-will do more to bring about county-will do more to bring about general prosperity than any other form of development.

Just recently one of our best Texas agricultural papers, the Progressive Farmer, fostered a so-called "Master Farmer," propect. Heckard, formerly Miss Dollie Davis, in the fall of 1892. He leaves Mrs. Saunders and two sons, Horace, of Pampa, and Guy, of Panhandie, both of whom are in the lumber business. He is not known to have other relatives. His father was a whaler along the coast of Massachusetts, according to those who have heard him tell of changes, and now we have master se who have heard him tell of chanics, and now we have master He was well known over the Panhandle, his honesty and shrewd business ability having been his outstanding characteristics.

As a means of giving an impetus to the birth registration campaign instituted this month by the State Health Department, officials and employees of the vital statistics bureau have filed their birth certificates with the department, thereby establishing their legal status as citizens of the state.

The state registrar, Dr. C. E. Durham, and assistant registrar, Mrs. Laura E. Krebs, were first in the department to file their birth records, the certificate of the latter showing that she started her career in life as Laura Etta Foster in the city of Waco, McLennan County, and at a time when the state had no vital statistics law, and no births were reported.

married couples, on our farms, find themselves confronted with the problem—"What can I do to be assured a steady daily cash income, to keep me from going in debt too deep?" If you have a few acres of land, are willing to work every day, then K. A. Kolekamp's story as a "Master Farmer" should mean something to you. It should help you show the way. each year."

We are glad of the opportunity of presenting this story to our readers, for the simple reason so many of our young people are inclined to believe opportunities of farming in Texas to be very few and far apart. Surely as many op-portunities exist today as have any other time. May not the trouble be ther time. May not the trouble be the lack of grasping and making the best of the opportunities as they present themselves?

Today in Texas poultry keeping on the farm and in suburban places offer the most wonderful opportunities. Why not make the best of them?

We would like to present a few factors, learned from both experience and observation, that will mean much to develop farm poultry keeping along profitable lines. The most profitable farm flock consists of 200 hens or more. Less than this number is not an economical unit to work with. This talk of "50 hens on every farm" is largely based on enthusiasm and theory. It is absolutely wrong, because it

What's Doing in West Texas

Stamford—A sweeping victory which will this year be worth more actual cash to the people of West Texas than the entire cost of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce during the nine years of its existence has just been won by the regional organization of this great section. The victory was the favorable decision just rendered by the State Fire Insurance Commission denying the proposed five per cent increase in all fire insurance rates, which fight the West Texas Chamber of Commerce took up one year ago.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce took up one year ago.

In conducting this campaign, the West Texas organization kept out of its territory a duplicating agency which proposed to raise $50,000 to do no more than the regional chamber has accomplished without asking its towns for one extra penny above the membership dues. In prosecuting the fight to a successful conclusion, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce urged that Insurance of Commerce urged that Insurance Companies secure permanent relief by joining the chambers of commerce of the state in an effort to reduce losses, and the West Texas chamber announces that it stands ready to join insurance people at any time in a campaign to reduce fire losses.

Among many other accomplishments the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has put over within re-cent months are: preventing a five per cent increase in freight rates, which was not needed in this section by the West Texas railroads; win-ning the Gold Medal at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, and passage of a joint resolution by the Legislature providing for a scientific tax survey of Texas intended to relieve West Texas of its present unjust share of the State tax burden

Logging in Canada

F Canada's total area of approximately 3,600,000 square miles, about one third is covered by forests and of this approximately 20 per cent carries saw timber, 10 inches and upward in diameter. It is estimated that there is available in saw-timber, posts, cord wood, pulp wood, etc., nearly 250 billion cubic feet of hardwood and softwood in the timbered areas of the Dominion. In the forested areas, logging camps are found everywhere in the Dominion. In connection with wood operations, it is notable that the forests provide raw material not only for the saw mills and pulp mills, but in addition provide annually about 16,000,000 railway ties; 1,000,000 telegraph, telephone and power line poles; 14,000,000 fence posts and over 8,000,000 cords of fire wood together with round and square timber for use at home and for export.

Canada first shipped timber to Europe in the days of the French regime and these shipments consisted mainly of spars and masts for sailing vessels. From that time the industry developed steadily, until the total exports of forest products now reach a value in excess of $126,000,000 of which about $100,000,000 worth go to the United States.

Lumbering practices in the woods differ according to the area which is being "logged" but throughout the Dominion the lumber-jack as he is usually called, is a hardy, hard-working type of citizen who goes out into
