Seventy Firms Here Show Blue Eagles

PETITION FILED ASKING FOR LOCAL OPTION ELECTION AUGUST 26TH

CITIZENS EAGER TO JOIN BATTLE

GENERAL MASS MEETING WELL ATTENDED, COURT HOUSE MONDAY NIGHT

Approximately seventy NRA re-employment agreements with President Roosevelt had been signed and the signers had received their "blue eagle" insignia up to this morning, according to Postmaster Chas. H. Bugbee through whose office the supplies for the campaign were distributed.

Letters from the President setting out the plan and the agreement and addressed to every employer, were received by Clarendon employers Saturday. On the following Monday night a general mass meeting, called by the Chamber of Commerce, was held at the courthouse. It was attended by practically all of the business men of the city.

President Bill Ray, of the Chamber of Commerce, called on O. C. Watson, hardware man, to explain the agreement which each employer had been asked to sign. He showed a clear understanding of the subject, giving particular attention to the intent and spirit of the agreement which, he said, is not meant to inflict an impossible condition on any employer, but which seeks to enlist his determination to go the limit in meeting its general conditions.

In every line of business the organization representing it is working out a code which can be generally applied to all in the same line of business, he pointed out. Pending the working out of these codes, each employer was urged to sign his agreement with the President at once. "The first clause of the agreement, Mr. Watson said, 'gives each line of business or trade until Sept. 1st to perfect and have approved a code. The code that is approved will be such as will not be impossible to those employers all over the nation whose problems are similar to yours here in Clarendon.'

At the completion of his talk and his answers to questions, the various lines of business reported progress already made. Several meetings of the various groups were called to meet at once. Each was asked to name a representative who will deal with the central committee which, in turn, will be named by the Chamber of Commerce under instruction from the national NRA administration, Gen. Hugh Johnson. The sincere wish of all employers at the meeting to cooperate in every way with the President was very evident. Particularly will they welcome an opportunity to add more employees as soon as the codes of the various organizations are put into effect and the rise in buying power begins to materialize.

County Agent Broun Receives Wire Donley Farmers' Contracts Approved

County Agent T. R. Broun received a wire this week from the Cotton Section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration that all contract-offers of Donley county farmers which had been mailed up to July 19th, inclusive, had been approved for payment.

A total of 842 contracts had been mailed from the county committee's office to the Chamber of Commerce up to the date named. Since that time 83 additional contracts have been mailed to Washington.

Mr. Broun states that his office is awaiting receipt of notices

COMMITTEE NAMED ON NRA WORK HERE

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS ASKED TO NAME LOCAL MEN AS LEADERS

Acting under instructions from General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the National Recovery Act, the board of directors of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday the appointment of a central NRA committee, composed of J. R. Porter, James Trent and Joe Goldston.

Full details as to the responsibilities and powers of the Central Committee have not been announced, but it is known that all matters relating to the operation and enforcement of the provisions of the re-employment agreements, between President Roosevelt and individual employers of Clarendon will be handled through this committee.

The men who compose the committee were chosen because of the qualifications they possess that fit them for tactful, judicious and practical handling of any difficulty incident to the adjustment of all lines of business to the new order of industry and commerce. They were not eager to accept the duties laid on them. On the contrary they expressed a wish to be left off the committee. But under the urge of patriotic duty they accepted the responsibilities. Every citizen of Clarendon with whom this committee may have to come into contact should bear in mind that they are rendering an unpaid public service and have no wish to deal out anything other than a full measure of justice whenever a ruling may be necessary.

Under the administration plan each local line of business should name a committee which will represent it before the Central Committee. This arrangement will promote the fair adjustment of the majority of questions which may arise from time to time. If any question arises which the Central Committee is unable to pass upon it will be passed on the proper authorities for disposition.

Several lines of business in Clarendon have already perfected tentative organizations and have named representatives who are empowered to deal with the central committee in behalf of their lines of business. Among those who have been so empowered are O. C. Watson, who will represent the hardware and furniture men; Rhea Couch, the grocery men; Arch Dyer, the cafe men; E. T. Pope, the dry goods, clothing and shoe men.

Full instructions and needed supplies will be sent to the Central committee as soon as advice of their appointment is received at Washington.

of acceptance of the contracts mailed in before releasing for execution the "certificates of performance" which must be sent to Washington. In the meantime, inspection and measurement of acreage which has been plowed under is under way by local committees and farmers, in order that the final certificates may be prepared as quickly as possible on receipt of the notices of acceptance.

Approximately $250,000 in cash will flow into Donley county in the form of payments for plow-ice under 21,000 acres of cotton.

Cafes Decide On Wages And Hours

So far as The News is able to learn, the cafes of Clarendon were among the first lines of business to come to a definite and unanimous agreement on a scale of wages and also on hours of opening and closing. They also worked out other agreements looking toward the elimination of unfair competition among themselves.

Great satisfaction over the present state of affairs in their particular line of business was expressed by the cafe men. "We feel that the details that we have worked out should be approved by the NRA administration," one of them said, "but if it is necessary we stand ready to make whatever changes may be required of us."

MEASUREMENT SHORT ON PLOWED-UP COTTON

One of the local cotton acreage reduction committees has reported to County Agent T. R. Broun that out of nine plots measured on as many farms, six showed up short of the acreage reported. One tract measured out approximately correct and one was a over about six acres.

Mr. Broun states that the best way to measure land is by steel tape or surveyor's chain, or by exact counting of the revolutions a measured cultivator wheel.

Advice was received from Washington today that 1,200 clerks are working day and night, in 8-hour shifts, and are turning out about 5,000 closed contracts per day. They have over a million contracts to handle and the gigantic nature of the task is very apparent.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

In addition to the regular services Sunday morning, a special service has been arranged for Sunday evening, to which everybody is cordially invited.

A play will be presented which has been carefully prepared and which will be of unusual interest.

Ralph Andis, Allen Bryan, Rhea Couch, Van Kennedy, J. E. Teer, Walter Lowe, Nolie Simmons, T. D. Nored, Bill Ray and H. Mulkey went to Wellington Friday night to hear Past Grand Master T. C. Lively, and Wilbur Keith, secretary of the Masonic Service Association of Texas who are making a speaking tour among Texas Masonic lodges.

EVERYBODY'S BATTLE

Attention of our readers is directed to the full page ad in this issue of The News. It develops the fact that employers are not the lone soldiers in the President's War on unemployment.

Re-employment must be made possible by increased buying by the consumer. And all consumers are going to be asked to enroll and help the employers. General Hugh Johnson said recently: "We are making neither promise nor boasts, but we can tell you one thing very surely and definitely—employers want to do this thing harder than they ever wanted to do anything together and in one big strong pull at any time in this country since the war."

Employers really want to put more men to work. They want it badly. Consumers must do all they can to make it possible. They must expect reasonable advances in prices, though they need not stand for unreasonable prices. Our ad also appeals to the loyalty of all wage-earners for the same reasons. But turn to the ad and read it.

Revival Location Shifted to Church

Night services of the revival to be conducted by Evangelist G. K. Wallace will be held on the lot adjoining the Church of Christ on the west side, according to announcement this week.

Comfortable seats are being placed in the open air for the first service, which will be held Friday night, August 4th. The public in general is invited to attend the services. Day services will be held in the church building.

STRANGE MALADY IS ATTACKING HORSES

W. A. Pierce, farmer living three miles due south of Chamberlain school, is making desperate efforts to identify a strange malady which has attacked three of his horses during the past three weeks. County Agent T. R. Broun, as well as others whose advice has been sought, has been unable to identify it.

The horses are stricken with a sort of partial paralysis in their hind legs which become weak and wabbling and entirely out of control. The animals retain good appetites, but slowly waste away as though starved. The disease is not rapid, none of the affected horses having died although Mr. Pierce expected the first victim to die Wednesday or Thursday.

It is likely that an ear from one of the horses will be sent to the laboratory of the State Sanitary Commission at Ft. Worth for blood examination in the hope of identifying the disease. Two similar cases were once observed near Lelia Lake, it is claimed. A hog on Mr. Pierce's farm seems similarly afflicted, although it has not been sick long enough to know positively.

The progress of the disease will be closely watched by County Agent Broun to avoid spread if it proves to be infectious or contagious.

Dave Williamson of San Angelo has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Barcus Antrobus.

MRS. HOMER ELLIS IS BURIED SUNDAY

CAR LEFT HIGHWAY AND CRASHED; BODY FOUND TWO HOURS LATER

Funeral services were held here Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for Mrs. Ione Ellis, whose dead body was found in her overturned car, near the highway about ten miles north of Hot Springs, N. M., on Wednesday morning, July 27th.

It is believed that she was killed instantly and had been dead about two hours when found. The car was not badly damaged, as it could be driven under its own power, but Mrs. Ellis' body was badly crushed. It was taken overland to Albuquerque where it was prepared for shipment to Clarendon for interment by the side of her husband, Homer M. Ellis, who died March 1, 1931. The auditorium of the Methodist church was practically filled with Mrs. Ellis' host of friends who were shocked by the news of her tragic death. The altar and casket were literally banked with beautiful floral tributes to the love and affection in which she was held.

Following music by the Methodist choir, of which Mrs. Ellis was a valued and beloved member during her residence here, Mrs. J. L. McMurtry and Miss Anna Moores sang the beautiful "Sometime, Somewhere," as a duet.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor of the church, who was assisted by Rev. B. N. Shepherd, pastor of First Baptist church.

Ione McVane was born at Ft. Worth on Dec. 7, 1900, moving with her family to Lelia Lake when she was thirteen years old. At fourteen years of age she became a member of the Methodist church, her membership being in the Clarendon church when she died. On July 3, 1916, she was married to Homer M. Ellis, also of Lelia Lake, and was a loving and devoted wife to him until his death at El Paso, where he had gone in search of health.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. H. D. Burris, her step-father, H. D. Burris, and their two children, Marjorie and Sterling C. Burris; John H. Clark, of this city, her uncle, and C. H. Ellis, her father-in-law, and his family, who mourn her loss as they would one of their own number.

Pallbearers were M. P. Gentry, Chas. Trent, Selden Bagby, F. W. Taylor, John Blocker and Mick Clarke.

Mrs. Everett Clark, of Groom visited over the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lane.

OVER 250 NAMES ARE ON PETITION

COMMISSIONERS COURT WILL CHECK PETITION AT CALLED SESSION

Over 250 names were signed to a petition to the Commissioners Court, asking it to order a local option election to be held on Aug. 26, co-incident with the state-wide election on constitutional amendments. The petition was filed Monday with County Clerk W. G. Word.

It is likely, according to County Judge S. W. Lowe, that the Commissioners will meet in a called session to check the names of petitioners as to their qualifications to vote, as is required by law. Their next regular session will be held on Aug. 14th.

Only 181 names of qualified voters to such a petition are required in Donley county in this particular election, under the provision enacted by the Legislature which ordered the Constitutional Amendment election. It stipulated that if a number of qualified voters, equal to ten per cent of a county's total vote for governor in the last general election, petitioned a commissioners court for a local option election, it should be ordered, provided the petition is filed not less than ten nor more than twenty days before Aug. 26th.

SHERIFF LODGES YOUNG BANDIT IN JAIL HERE

Sheriff Guy Pierce returned last Thursday afternoon from Carlsbad, New Mexico, with the young bandit who held up a Pampa man in his auto, on the streets of Clarendon, about two weeks ago. The bandit states that his name is Claude Weaver and that his father, a minister, lives at Batesville, Ark. When first apprehended he gave no name other than that of "Mexico Kid."

Given a ride by a traveling salesman, he poked a pistol into the salesman's side when they reached Clarendon, ordering him to drive on to Amarillo. There he put the salesman out of the car and left with it, later being apprehended due to efforts to sell it.

DUMUS CANNING CLUBS WANTS PRODUCE PRICES

Donley county farmers who have either fruits or vegetables for sale are requested to write direct to Mrs. V. R. Crabtree, Dumas, Texas, who is connected with the community canning plant there.

She has advised the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce that the plant is in the market for produce, and asks for special prices to canning clubs.

New Opening And Closing Hours Being Arranged By Merchants

Preliminary to the working out of codes by their trade associations, several of the groups of merchants in various lines of business are arranging new schedules of opening and closing hours.

The first group to announce a new schedule was the dry goods and clothing group, composed of Hanna-Pope Co., Greene Dry Goods Co., Rathjen's Shoe Store and Bryan Clothing Co. These stores will open at 8 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m., except Saturdays, when they will close at 9:00 p. m.

The grocery stores group is composed of Clifford & Ray, Shelton & Sanford, Jitney Jungle, Sullivan Cooper, M System, Lowe's Store, Bartlett Cash-Carry Grocery and Piggly Wiggly. This group will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 a. m., except on Saturday night when they will close at 9:30 o'clock.

The hardware and furniture stores have also practically completed a new schedule. The Rexall store also announces a new schedule. All schedules have been made subject to later regulations that may be required by NRA rulings.

SIGN UP NOW AND ADJUST LATER

It was a serious group of men who met at the courthouse Monday night to start action on Clarendon's part in the President's war on the depression. There was an atmosphere that was reminiscent of the grave days immediately following the entry of the United States into the World War. There was a consciousness that each citizen who entered into the covenant with his President would be called on to make a sacrifice of more or less magnitude.

Voluntarily assuming an obligation to shorten working hours and increase wages, if under the minimum set out, involves most employers in a procedure which they would not have considered under any other circumstances. But the American people are intensely loyal under patriotic stress. They recognize the President's re-employment program as a declaration of war on unemployment, and they are rallying to the call to arms.

The movement has thus taken on a military atmosphere. And the citizen who displays the insignia of his compliance with the measures undertaken feels that his neighbor should do the same thing. But it must be remembered that the operating conditions of all businesses are not the same. Compliance with a blanket agreement is more difficult for some than for others, and no citizen should be hasty in criticizing his neighbor for seeming slowness in displaying the blue eagle. He is probably as patriotic as others, but more confused as to the best course to follow.

There is no reason, however, for delay in signing up for the NRA insignia. The first paragraph in the agreement is the saving clause that amply justifies every employer in signing up at once and setting in motion the procedure for later adjustment of the difficulties peculiar to his line of business. There are already indications that general requirements will not be as restrictive as at first indicated. This tendency will operate to bring about the adoption of trade codes that will be as fair to any Clarendon trade or line of business as to those of other towns and cities.

THE FINE ART OF CANNING

Are you old enough to know how little the average housekeeper knew twenty years ago about canning vegetables and fruits, as well as the countless little "tricks of the canning art" that make success practically certain? If you are, contrast what they knew then with what they know now.

Development and spread of this domestic art must largely be credited to the missionary work of home demonstration agents. The average housekeeper of those days was more than likely to follow the methods which had been used by her mother or other close relatives. She was distrustful of all other methods.

But with the coming of the home demonstration agents the new knowledge began to spread. The most alert women were quick to listen in on demonstrations. Trial of the new way of doing old things became the order of the day. Neighbor convinced neighbor that there was, after all, no dark mystery about successful canning.

And when the dark days of the past three years came upon us they found housekeepers, on farm and in the towns, ready to preserve fresh-grown foods for all-year use. There is no way of figuring what the new knowledge has been worth to American housewives. Give the credit to the home demonstration agents who pointed the way. They have saved American homes far more than they cost the taxpayers. And that goes for Donley county, too.

In due time County Agent Broun will begin the re-organization of boys' and pig clubs. Not only will that fine work be revived on a larger scale, but he states that he will give especial attention to the development of farm feed-lots among adult farmers. This is a phase of agricultural recovery that The News has advocated as peculiarly suited to Donley county. Excellent row crops are usually produced in abundance and at low cost. They can not be profitably sold for delivery elsewhere. But if fed to farm animals they will net their growers good profits. Production of finished beef cattle on Donley county farms is not an idle dream. It waits only on putting it to work. All the raw materials that beef production requires are to be had right here at home. And the whole United States is in the market for good beef every day in the year. Feed-lots on every Donley county farm will make Donley county farmers prosperous.

Last week it was rumored that a certain church in Clarendon was planning to restore its church bell in the tower. Later we learned that the idea was abandoned. It may be that few share our feeling that churches lost a vital influence when they became so "modern" that bells were considered out of date. But the voice of a church bell has always been an appealing and compelling one to us. It seemed to stir a laggard sense of duty into action. It seemed to say, "come, come, come to the church," whether it was "in the wild wood," or on busy city streets. Its voice reminded all who heard it, wherever they were, that the hour for the worship of God had arrived. It is not at all unlikely that when churches silenced their bells they hushed voices that had done much to turn men's footsteps toward God. And those who do not go to churches are not greatly concerned about them, nor about what they are trying to do.

"I SEE by the PAPERS"

Bits of news and editorial thought from nearby papers

A newspaper man is an optimist by Nature's endowment. He is continually looking for signs of improvement and talks about them when he sees them. He even talks about them when he can't see them. And the human mind is so constructed that it is affected by what it thinks about and sometimes the face in front of the brain, commonly believed to be the throne-room of the mind, reflects what the mind has in it. It is mighty pleasant to talk about pleasant things. And so it comes easy to newspaper men to write copy without "recovery," whether they write about the recovery of a sick citizen or the recovery of a nation from economic ills. And so it comes about that much we have seen in the papers this week has to do with the President's huge economic recovery program.

De-roit Times: Economic storm clouds that have hung over this nation for nearly four years are breaking up. With prospects of paying what they owe the banks from money received for plowing up cotton, farm families are looking forward to much better living conditions with money that is received from the remainder of the crop. New clothes, new implements, new furniture, maybe a new room or a new house, a coat of paint for the home, an automobile or a better span of mules. There will be demand for thousands of articles that our people could not afford to buy during the past three years. The merchant who is alive and on his toes with large stocks of merchandise, and who knows the value of printers ink will experience a most wonderful business. The time is not far distant, either the big push will be moving within less than 30 days.

Rockdale Reporter: The Government's cotton retirement plan is valuable for one thing, even if it fails as a whole: It will give the citizens of any given community opportunity to analyze the local situation as regards the actual income that is derived from cotton. Such an analysis will show just what the cotton crop is worth to that community, and in many instances will indicate the great need of casting about for other cash crops.

Wheeler News-Review: The people of Texas will vote August 26 upon one of the most important governmental changes ever submitted to the Texas electorate—the County Home Rule Amendment. The significance of this measure has been somewhat submerged under the current controversy raving around the repeal of the 18th Amendment and the legalization of 3.2 beer. But it is nevertheless a measure the benefits of which to the people of Texas can scarcely be computed. It should have the earnest consideration of every voter.

The County Home Rule Amendment, if passed, will offer to the people of Texas' thirteen most populous counties, almost at once the direct control of their county governments, lessen their costs to taxpayers and increase their efficiency. It offers to citizens of the other 241 counties a chance to later come under County Home Rule if they so desire, and if the Legislature approves by a two-thirds vote. But neither a large county nor a smaller need ever adopt Home Rule if its people do not so desire.

Dalhart Texan: To me there is one word in the English language that is packed with much meaning vital to success and happiness and especially to organization success. That word is LOYALTY. I believe loyalty is more valuable than efficiency. In other words in an organization, if I had to choose between a man of unquestioned loyalty and only meager efficiency or a man of wonderful efficiency and no loyalty, I would take the first man every time.

In an organization or among my friends, when the matter of loyalty becomes a question of doubt, or I am certain they are not loyal, then the quickest exit is the best.

Loyalty should always be spelled in capital letters.

Good Banking
Stephenville Empire-Tribune:
Banks in Texas are stronger than in any other state, based on the percentage of re-opened banks since the banking holiday, according to the Federal Reserve Bulletin for June. The bulletin shows that 94.8 per cent of banks in Dallas Federal Reserve District have re-opened, which is more than 14 per cent higher than the average for the United States and nearly 6 per cent higher than the next highest district. State bank openings since the holiday hold as high percentage as Federal Reserve banks.

This, of course, shows that Texas people don't have a great amount of money tied up in defunct banks. It shows, too, that bank structure in the state is strong.

Theft of Reputation Vicious
Pampa Daily News: Nothing travels so fast and gathers as much "dirt" as a rumor of scandal. The more difficult to prove, the swifter it flies.

It is reported that the Gray county grand jury spent several days before adjourning in investigating rumors that involved the reputations and integrity of a few local peace officers. Few persons who frequent down-town centers of conversation had not heard the rumors. Some, always willing to

We Do Not Know All About the National Recovery Act As To Its Application

But we are willing to back the movement and

Do Our Part

The President's idea of bringing back prosperity is a good one, also his idea of fair trade or business policy is equally important.

In our larger centers competition ceased to be fair in a large measure and its influence has been felt in our smaller cities and towns. When one large firm or company sought to sell below cost of doing business in order to destroy his competitor, he not only hurt the competitor, but himself as well and most of all he spelled ruin to the producer.

For example: some large firm or corporation purchases a car load or several carloads of Concord grapes at a cost of 21 cents per basket. In order to deal spite with his competitor he sells them for 18 cents per basket. He not only hurts himself and his competitor but he ruins the market for the farmer who raises the grapes.

No farm commodity has escaped such treatment with the result that every one is hurt.

The firms whose names appear below believe in the President's policy of fairness to everyone. The type of store, whether it be a cash or service store, has not been mentioned and no agreement of any nature has been discussed except that we have agreed that unfair business policies should cease throughout our country and for this reason we have decided to observe business hours from 7:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m. on all days except Saturday, when we will close at 9:30 p. m. No Sunday opening at all. These hours will probably be changed when we get further instructions.

Home Rule Amendment Will Affect Larger Counties

Of the four amendments to the state constitution to be voted on August 26, the Home Rule bill is the most complicated and will affect the larger counties more than the smaller ones. There are thirteen large counties wanting this system and they believe that it will enable them to reduce their operating expenses.

Below we are giving some questions and answers prepared by the County Home Rule Committee of Texas as they appeared in a recent issue of the Fort Worth Press:

Q—Would County Home Rule increase or lower my taxes?

A—Its primary specific purpose is to lower them, through permitting taxpayers to adopt county charters to install more efficient county government at less cost; just as its primary general purpose is to enhance the powers of taxpayers to deal with local government. It could never be used to increase local taxes beyond present constitutional limits.

Q—Under Home Rule could the people of cities impose upon the people of counties the job of helping to pay off debts incurred by the former, or vice versa?

A—No, absolutely not. The amendment itself includes a rigid veto of any such proposals.

Q—Could adoption of Home Rule be forced by the voters of a city upon those of the surrounding county, or vice versa?

A—No. The amendment provides that in order for a county Home Rule charter to be adopted, a majority of those voting, each within and outside the cities, must approve it at the polls.

Q—Could consolidation of city and county, or the consolidation of city-county service, be forced by the voters of one unit upon the other?

A—No. If it is proposed that cities shall yield any of their powers to the county charter government, or vice versa, two-thirds of the city electors voting must be required outside the city. No proposal to cede powers to the county, or to consolidate city-county functions or services may be submitted as part of an original county charter. They must be brought forward as amendments, after the original county charter may be adopted.

Q—Is the proposed Home Rule for counties designed to set up the manager form of government?

A—Home Rule authority will not fix any particular form of government. Each county, by vote, would determine its own form of government, within the limits imposed by the proposed constitutional amendment.

Q—Would not county Home Rule result in confusion?

A—No. The larger cities of Texas have this authority and operate under Home Rule. Each has a somewhat different form of government, but there is no confusion.

Q—Would the Home Rule amendment require changes in any county not desiring change?

A—No. No change could occur in any county until that county voted to take advantage of the provisions of this amendment.

Q—What present evils could be corrected by the provisions of a charter established under this Home Rule amendment?

A—The fee system of compensating officers could be abolished in counties operating under Home Rule, department heads made responsible to the governing body, and overlapping departments could be reorganized to eliminate waste and duplication.

Q—What county departments could be consolidated?

A—The offices of district clerk and county clerk could be consolidated, with important economies; likewise the county assessor and county collector.

Q—What overlapping occurs in the collection of taxes?

A—The county has three tax collecting agencies. The county tax collector, the district attorney's office (with elaborate fees), and the commissioner's court employs a special attorney to make collection of delinquent personal taxes.

Q—What duplication or overlapping occurs in law enforcement?

A—There is overlapping in the duties of the constable's office with those of the sheriff; in addition the county attorney has special officers for law enforcement and there is a separate department of traffic officers, also juvenile officers.

believe scandal, may have given credence to the reports, although even hear-say evidence was remote from any attempt at proof.

It is not known exactly where the rumors started. If the guilty persons could have been found there would have been trouble for them unless they could prove their statements. If they had any basis for their claims, it was their duty to present their evidence to the grand jury, which was known to be in session.

This paragraph reflects the findings of the grand jury, and is taken from the jury's official report:

We find that and are glad to report the violations of our criminal statutes in Gray county are at less than minimum, which we want to attribute largely to the splendid work and efforts of our county officers and the district and county attorneys." It is a small pace from civic duty to the status of character assassin. Until there is other evidence, whoever started the rumors against the officers must be considered of the latter classification.

One For All

Shamrock Texan: One hundred and sixteen fewer idle hands during the slack season for farm families is in prospect for Wheeler county when the group of fifty-eight men, women, boys and girls of the county's demonstration and 4-H clubs return from the Farmer's Short Course.

It is doubtful if any other county in this section of the country sent as large a crowd to the farm sessions as Wheeler county, and, although communities nearer the college may have a larger number of representatives, it is safe to say that the group from this county will be all the more enthusiastic from having made the long trip.

Wheeler county club members and farm workers will bring back news of many farm activities; they will learn old facts but new methods of carrying them out. Everything from the raising of baby chicks to the making of hooked rugs will be demonstrated during the sessions of the Short Course and some one from this county will be present at practically every demonstration. Even if each one of the group came back incapable of speech the county would have gained fifty-eight better educated farm workers, but as there are countless notebooks and more receptive minds in the group of local people, the county will gain in more ways than that. A part of the work of the farm and home agents is to teach the joys of helping others, and they have taught it well. At club meetings, Stay-at-homes of nearby communities will hear repeated the teachings of Short Course specialists. They will follow the methods brought home and their gain is the county's gain.

BOY SCOUTS FORM KANGAROO COURT

MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT PASSES FORMAL LAWS FOR OFFENDERS

At a well attended meeting of the three patrols of the Clarendon Boy Scouts, held Tuesday night, a special committee presented to the Scouts for approval a code of laws for the guidance of the local organization. The law were passed unanimously.

Provision has been made for a "kangaroo court" which will investigate and assess penalties for any violation of a scout law. The special laws approved by the Scouts are as follows:

1. At least 75 per cent of troop meetings must be attended to qualify Scout for hikes.
2. Absences must be excused and accepted by the Kangaroo Court.
3. Each patrol shall have at least two meetings a month.
4. Scouts must attend half of the patrol meetings.
5. There shall be two officers, elected by the troop, that shall summons any Scout to Kangaroo Court for disobeying any Scout law.
6. These officers may be summoned to Court by any Scout.
7. Any Scout resigning cannot re-join without being recommended by the Kangaroo Court and voted in by the troop.
8. Scouts must obey all duly constituted officials.
9. The chief cook has the right to appoint any Scout as his helper.
10. No Scout may get up between Taps and Reveille unless it is necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Braswell returned Monday from a trip of about three weeks, during which time they attended the Lions International Convention at St. Louis and a meeting of the International Directors in Chicago. While in Chicago they also attended the Century of Progress Exposition. On their return trip they found Mr. Braswell's father, seriously ill at Mena, Ark., where he and Mrs. Braswell have been spending the summer. His father's illness made it impossible for them to return with their son, so they came home via train.

Mrs. John Grady and her son Ralph and Don, were hosts Sunday to a large party of about fifty persons at their annual chicken barbecue at Timber Lake. All the JA cow camps were represented among the guests in addition to friends and relatives from Clarendon and other points. Excellent and highly enjoyable music was furnished by Richard Bell violinist, and Mrs. Steve Hunter, accordionist.

Mrs. M. M. Beavers is visiting her son, Hall Beavers, and family at Hereford, and Miss Lovie Beavers is attending the summer camp for Methodist girls at Ceta Canyon, while the men of the family are away on a fishing trip in Colorado.

Miss Elgin Patrick and James Wall of Staunton, Ill., visited their brother and uncle, W. H. Patrick Sunday. Mr. Wall worked out on the JA ranch about 22 years ago and this was his first trip back since he left in 1912.

Mrs. W. H. Patrick, Mrs. Carroll Knorp, and Misses Katherine, Lorraine, and Elgin Patrick were Amarillo visitors Tuesday.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR PICTOGRAPHS

LIONS START MOVE TO SAVE INDIAN PAINTINGS ON CLIFFS IN TULE CANYON

Committee was named by the Lions Club at its Tuesday meeting to take steps toward the possible preservation of some remarkable paintings on cliff walls near the famous McKenzie battle-ground in the Tule Canyon country.

The interest of the club was aroused by J. R. Porter who told of the paintings, or pictographs—as they are called by students of prehistoric relics—in this country. J. T. Patman brought up the subject by telling of worthwhile scenic trips in the course of a description of or a recent trip over the newly opened road across Palo Duro Canyon, between Claude and Wayside. The road was constructed through the efforts of Pete Hamblen, of Armstrong county. "I have driven over most of the scenic country of Colorado," said Mr. Patman, "and I can recommend the scenery in Palo Duro canyon, on the drive mentioned, as the equal of anything in the Colorado country."

W. H. Patrick then told how the drive could be extended to equally beautiful country by going on across Tule Canyon, thence to Silverton and down the Schott Caprock road. At this point J. R. Porter told how to get to the McKenzie battleground, near which are located the white cliffs on which appear numerous painted pictures, said by archeologists to have been painted by Indians of long-gone generations.

"The last time I saw the 'pictographs' they were beginning to show the fading effects of time and the elements," he said. "I wish it were possible in some way to preserve them." His comments started a discussion of such a project, in the course of which W. H. Patrick stated that it was at least feasible to have really good photographs taken, expressing the opinion that the Museum at Canyon would be glad to obtain such large photographs. He added that he believed his friend, Floyd Studer, who is widely known for his intensive study and exploration of the prehistoric relics of the Panhandle country, would be glad to join him in an expedition for the purpose of photographing the pictographs and possibly working out some plan for their preservation.

On motion of S. M. Braswell, a committee was appointed to carry out such a plan, Lions Patrick and Porter being named. Various activities of Lions were reported to the club. Odos Caraway stated that little Patty Sue Whittington and her mother were sent to Amarillo this week on the bus line, for another treatment for the little girl. Little Lindell Ragle will probably be taken up this week for another treatment.

Mr. Caraway also reported on the assistance given to the Camp Fire girls in getting to their camp. The grounds, he said, presented a more attractive appearance than in the past and looked larger on account of the clearing up being extended over a greater distance from the clubhouse. Much interest is being shown in the swimming and life-saving instruction which is being given by two young ladies from Amarillo. Miss Lorena Stegall, who is in charge of the camp, told Mr. Caraway that visitors would be welcomed at the camp. Special water events are planned, the date to be announced in The News elsewhere.

Sam M. Braswell made a brief talk on his recent trip to Chicago and several northern points, giving his observations on the attitude of the people toward the NRA program. He said that the general intention seems to be to sign up the President's blanket agreement and work out all adjustments later as provided in the agreement. "Government wants each industry to govern itself—or else be governed," he said.

"One of the most amusing things to me was the views in the north on the idea of plowing up cotton. They think that plowing up cotton is simply a misunderstanding how it could be a good thing to do," he said.

W. H. Patrick spoke on the proposed 850 million dollar issue of U. S. bonds which is soon to be launched, saying that indications point to a probability of using somewhat the same methods employed in financing the World War.

ON FISHING TRIP

Rev. M. M. Beavers and his son, Morris, left Tuesday afternoon on a fishing trip near Conejos, Colorado. They were joined at Plainview by another son, Milton, and at Hereford by a third son, Lama. They will be gone a week or more. Morris is a member of The News staff and promised to send the bunch a postcard with the customary greeting, "Nice and cool up here. Fishing fine. Wish you were here with us." And so do we.

Mrs. A. B. Blanton left this week for White Pine, West Va., where she will spend several weeks with her father, 90 years old, whom she has not visited during the past four years.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Stark have as their guest Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Stark, Mrs. Dr. W. L. Chambers and Mr. George Anthony, of Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Herbert Officer and children of Tulsa, Oklahoma arrived Tuesday for a visit with Mrs. Officer's brother, John Bugbee.

Goldston—Watters

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Dollie Watters and W. N. (Billy) Goldston which was solemnized Wednesday evening, August 2nd, in Childress, Texas. The young couple were accompanied by Lee Muse.

Mrs. Goldston is the youngest daughter of John H. Watters. She completed her Junior year in Clarendon High School this past June and was a favorite among her classmates.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Willie Goldston of Amarillo, formally of this city. He has been employed for the past few years in Caraways Cafe.

The News joins the friends of the young couple in wishing them many years of happiness.

Miss Jean Bourland Hostess To Group

Miss Jean Bourland was charming hostess to a group of her friends when she entertained with a Slumber Party Monday evening, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bourland.

The girls began the affair with a lime party at the Pastime Theatre after which they returned to Miss Bourland's home to enjoy a buffet supper and stunts by various members of the party.

After a slumberless night, a delectable breakfast was served to the following: Misses Carroll Holder, Elizabeth Kemp, Pauline Sanford, Melba Dell Warner, Lucile Andis and Virginia Gardenhire.

Junior Choir

After their rehearsal Wednesday at the Methodist Church, the members of the Junior Choir and Orchestra also the members of the Young Peoples Department climbed aboard a big truck furnished by Mr. Reavis' Sunday School Class, and journeyed to Sandy Creek.

When they arrived almost everyone went in swimming. This was very refreshing, but the exercise brought on an enormous appetite. Each one had fixed a picnic lunch and this was particularly enjoyed by the sixty young people present.

Surprise Party For Johnnie Beard

Mrs. Johnnie Beard delightfully surprised her husband on his birthday by having a group of their friends in to play bridge Tuesday evening.

A most enjoyable time was had by every one present and after several games of bridge, a delicious ice course was served.

To help Mr. Beard celebrate were Misses Lucille Yates, Zula Bain, Messrs H. A. Blanton, Perry Moore, Amos Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackman, and Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Bones.

Kneedle Klub Guests of Mrs. F. O. Wood

The Kill Kare Kneedle Klub spent a most enjoyable afternoon Thursday as guests of Mrs. F. O. Wood, at her home.

Fancy needle work and pleasant conversation furnished the afternoon's entertainment, with a delectable ice course being served by the hostess to:

Mrs. T. R. Broun, Mrs. W. B. Halle, Mrs. Hays Robbins, guests for the afternoon.

Mrs. Homer McCoy, Mrs. W. A. Land, Mrs. Eva Draffen, Mrs. W. B. Sims, Mrs. Van Kennedy, Mrs. H. C. Brumley, Mrs. Bus' Sanford, and Misses Ida and Etta Harred, club members.

Quilting Party

Mrs. A. T. Cole was hostess to an all day meeting of the Mother's Class of the Baptist Church, at her home Wednesday. About ten worked on a lovely quilt while others dropped in during the day to chat with them.

Mrs. Van Allen Kent and her brother, Mick Clarke, returned Wednesday, after taking Mrs. Maude Burrus and her son and daughter to their home at Plainview, following the funeral of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Homer Ellis, who was buried here Sunday afternoon.

Out-of-Town Guests Complimented

Mrs. Claudia Thompson and daughters, Misses Sarah and Ruth of Fort Worth and Mrs. George Reed and daughter, Miss Gertrude of Stratford, were honor guests at a breakfast given Tuesday morning by several of their friends on the lawn of the C. W. Taylor home.

Mrs. Taylor's lawn is one of the most unique and beautiful ones in the city and it was fitting that these former Clarendon citizens should be honored there.

Breakfast was cooked at the dutch oven in the back yard and, with the aid of several of the ladies, a most sumptuous meal was served.

Beside the honorees, those enjoying this were Miss Gertrude Shepherd, Mrs. A. T. Cole, Mrs. Mollie E. Gray, Mrs. Matt Bennett, Mrs. Jim Morgan, Mrs. W. B. Sims, Mrs. Eva Draffen, Mrs. George McCleskey, Mrs. Harry Brumley, Mrs. L. L. Cornelius, Mrs. W. A. Massie, Mrs. Zada Adams, Mrs. Lott Kimbriel, Mrs. W. C. Stewart, Mrs. R. N. Shepherd, Mrs. Joe Goldston, and Mrs. C. W. Taylor.

Sunday School Party

Mrs. J. M. Acord was hostess to her and Kenneth Fink's Sunday School classes last Thursday, at her home west of Clarendon.

Mrs. Acord's class arrived about ten o'clock and during the afternoon enjoyed a swim and different games. About four o'clock the boys came out and joined in the fun.

Later ice cream and cake were served to the happy youngsters. Those present included: Jane Kerbow, Mildred Attebury, Pauline Brown, Mary Winfred Kutch, Margaret Wilkerson, Maurice Lane, Allen Patman, Herman Gattis, Thayer and Randall Acord.

'Tis better to have LIVED one day than blinked and breathed a century.

In an interview with the "Boss" upon his return from the Century of Progress Exposition, I asked him what one thing impressed him most and this was his reply. "The lighting effects. There is much difference in those buildings in the daytime and at night as there is in the appearance of a girl with makeup and one without." So you see girls, the men are beginning to think that a little powder and paint is helpful. Hurrah!

Women declare they honor a good man, but given their choice, most of them would select one a little speckled.

The sight of a woman with a "shady" past trying to pose as a saint, is as diverting as to listen to a youth of twenty, who thinks he is "the devil among the women."

Life is real, but no longer earnest, save to those who have a goal to make.

J. H. Hurn had as his guest this week his brother, Frank Hurn, and his daughter Rosemary. Miss Hurn attended school here three years ago and has many friends who were delighted to see her again.

Mr. Hurn and his daughter live near Henrietta in Clay county. He has lived in Clay county all his life and has lived on the same farm, his father's old home-place, for the past 52 years. It is likely that Mr. Hurn holds the record for West Texas in this particular. He does general farming and in addition milks about sixteen cows regularly, which requires getting up "early in the mornin'." Mr. Hurn said that he managed to stay in bed until seven o'clock Tuesday morning, but didn't think he could keep it up long.

PUBLIC DOMAIN THROWN OPEN TO PUBLIC GRAZING

Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, recently directed that thousands of acres of the public domain in Arizona and New Mexico be thrown open to public grazing. Many miles of fencing have been illegally maintained by large cattle interests since the passage of the Act of February 25, 1885, which made the maintenance of enclosures a criminal offense, it was stated.

Such fencing in those two states was allowed in 1917 as an essential war measure based on the shortage of men to herd cattle. Actions against violators of the law were suspended by former Secretary Work on June 3, 1925. On November 21, 1927, he issued a further order directing that unlawful fencing erected subsequent to June 3, 1925, be removed, but that no action be taken against those who had fenced enclosures prior to that date.

Former Secretary Wilbur affirmed the two orders of Mr. Work and no instructions to the contrary were issued until those of Secretary Ickes on July 18, 1933. The orders issued by Secretaries Work and Wilbur permitted violations of the law to go unpunished for years and gave exclusive use of thousands of acres of the public land to the big cattle interests.

Library Notes

By MRS. C. A. BURTON

In July we checked out 1378 books. Of these 116 were books for tiny wee folks, 165 were boys' books, 122 girls' books, and 968 fiction, with the remainder a scattering of other subjects. We are often told that our selection of fiction is unusually good for so small a library—a fact which we appreciate.

Two books in a more serious vein and which are timely are "Your Money's Worth—A Study in the Waste of the Consumer's Dollar" by Stuart Chase and F. J. Schlink, and "Living With Our Children" by Lillian M. Gilbreth. Stuart Chase's place as a writer on economic questions gives value to his views in the first. With everything advertised as the best the consumer can only determine through the wasteful process of trial and error which is the best. He is under mounting pressure to buy with no means afforded for making intelligent selection in his buying. The purpose of the book is to help solve this problem. The first part of the book analyzes, with a great wealth of concrete data, the plight of the average consumer; the second part describes existing scientific agencies, such as the U. S. Government Bureau of Standards, for the impartial testing of available goods, and shows how untold billions can be saved if knowledge can be substituted for sales farcing through high-pressure advertising.

We have three new books of interest this week. "Abroad at Home" by Julian Street, was given us by our good friend, L. W. Chase; Mr. Chase has given good books to the library before. The other two are "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" by Lloyd C. Douglas, and "Obscure Destinies" by Willa Cather, both late books of fiction.

HEED THE CALL TO ARMS

Our President has sounded the "call to arms" against the foe of each of us—UNEMPLOYMENT. He has mapped out the battle for us. Every citizen has his part to perform. Success depends on each soldier, in whatever line of offense he may be.

Employers In Front Line

All employers have been placed by the President on the front line of offense. They are asked to raise wages and shorten working hours. A tough assignment, but American employers are walking up to the lick-log to do their part.

Shorter hours mean more purchasing power. Higher wages mean still more purchasing power.

Consumers Next In Line

Consumers, too, have their part to perform. Here in Clarendon you must expect to pay a little more for your necessities. Higher wages and more people on payrolls will make this absolutely necessary. DON'T GRUMBLE, don't complain, when you have to pay a little more. There MUST be a period of adjustment. Stick it out until new crop money begins to circulate in Donley County, and we'll soon have OUR battle won.

Loyalty In Employed Ranks

Are you a wage earner? Remember that your employer wants to go the full limit with you. Better pay and shorter hours. He's between a rock and a hard place. Be loyal to him. Give him your very best. Buy what you can afford to buy and whistle around the place if you can't sing. Better times are right at our very door if "We Do Our Part."

You Have An Important Part

Text Of Agreement Which President Asks All Employers Of U. S. To Sign

Every employer in Clarendon, in common with those of the entire United States, received last Saturday morning a letter from the President which read as follows:

To Every Employer:
1. This agreement is part of a nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment, and thus increase purchasing power and restore business. That plan depends wholly on united action by all employers. For this reason I ask you, as an employer, to do your part by signing.

2. If it turns out that the general agreement bears unfairly on any group of employers they can have that straightened out by presenting promptly their proposed Code of Fair Competition.

The White House, July 27, 1933.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

PRESIDENT'S REEMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

(Authorized by Section 4a National Industrial Recovery Act)

During the period of the president's emergency reemployment drive, that is to say, from August 1 to December 31, 1933, or to any earlier date of approval of a Code of Fair Competition to which he is subject, the undersigned hereby agrees with the President as follows:

(1) After August 31, 1933, not to employ any person under 16 years of age, except that persons between 14 and 16 may be employed (but not in manufacturing or mechanical industries) for not to exceed 3 hours per day and those hours between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. in such work as will not interfere with hours of day school.

(2) Not to work any accounting, clerical, banking, office, service, or sales employees (except outside salesmen) in any store, office, department, establishment, or public utility, or any other automotive or horse-drawn passenger, express, delivery, or freight service, or in any other place or manner, for more than 40 hours in any 1 week and not to reduce the hours of any store or service operation to below 52 hours in any 1 week, unless such hours were less than 52 hours per week before July 1, 1933, and in the latter case not to reduce such hours at all.

(3) Not to employ any factory or mechanical worker or artisan more than a maximum week of 35 hours until December 31, 1933, but with the right to work a maximum week of 40 hours for any 6 weeks within this period; and not to employ any worker more than 8 hours in any 1 day.

(4) The maximum hours fixed in the foregoing paragraphs (2) and (3) shall not apply to employees in establishments employing not more than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population which towns are not part of a large trade area; nor to registered pharmacists or other professional persons employed in their profession; nor to employees in a managerial or executive capacity, who now receive more than $35 per week; nor to employees on emergency maintenance and repair work; nor to very special cases where restrictions of hours of highly skilled workers on continuous processes would unavoidably reduce production but, in any such special case, at least time and one third shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the maximum. Population for the purposes of this agreement shall be determined by reference to the 1930 Federal census.

(5) Not to pay any of the classes of employees mentioned in paragraph (2) less than $15 per week in any city of over 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14.50 per week in any city of between 250,000 and 500,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14 per week in any city between 2,500 and 250,000 population, or in the immediate trade area of such city; and in towns of less than 2,500 population to increase all wages by not less than 20 per cent, provided that this shall not require (6) Not to pay any employee of the classes mentioned in paragraph (3) less than 40 cents per hour unless the hourly rate for the same class of work on July 15, 1929, was less than 40 cents per hour, in which latter case not to pay less than the hourly rate on July 15, 1929, and in no event less than 30 cents per hour. It is agreed that this paragraph establishes a guaranteed minimum rate of pay regardless of whether the employee is compensated on the basis of a time rate or on a piecework performance.

(7) Not to reduce the compensation for employment now in excess of the minimum wages hereby agreed to (notwithstanding that the hours worked in such employment may be hereby reduced) and to increase the pay for such employment by an equitable readjustment of all pay schedules.

(8) Not to use any subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of his agreement which is, among other things, to increase employment by a universal consent, to remove obstructions to commerce, and to shorten hours and to raise wages for the shorter week to a living basis.

(9) Not to increase the price of any merchandise sold after the date hereof over the price on July 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by actual increases in production, replacement, or invoice costs of merchandise, or by taxes or other costs resulting from action taken pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, since July 1, 1933, and, in setting such price increases, to give full weight to probable increases in sales volume and to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the consuming public.

(10) To support and patronize establishments which also have signed this agreement and are listed as members of N. A. R. (National Recovery Administration).

(11) To cooperate to the fullest extent in having a Code of Fair Competition submitted by his industry at the earliest possible date and in any event before September 1, 1933.

(12) Where, before June 16, 1933, the undersigned had con-

Colored Baptists Holding Revival

Both white and colored citizens of Clarendon are invited to attend a "great soul-saving meeting" which is being held at the Colored Baptist church by Rev. J. J. Johnson, of Pampa. The meeting began last Monday night. Subjects of sermons have been announced by the evangelist as follows, beginning tonight:

Thursday night, "Sleeping in a Dangerous Time"; Friday night, "Escape for Thy Life"; Saturday night, "From the Palace to the Pig Pen"; Sunday night, "Seven Words from the Cross"; Monday night, "Prayer Meeting in Hell"; Tuesday night, "Sin Against the Holy Ghost"; Wednesday night, "Death is God's High Sheriff and Hell is His Jail House"; Thursday night, "Wash and Be Clean"; and Friday night, "The Judgment."

(13) This agreement shall cease upon approval by the President of a code to which the undersigned is subject; or, if the N. R. A. so elects, upon submission of a code to which the undersigned is subject and substitution of any of its provisions for any of the terms of this agreement.

(14) It is agreed that any person who wishes to do his part in the President's reemployment drive by signing this agreement, but who asserts that some particular provision hereof, because of peculiar circumstances, will create great and unavoidable hardship may obtain the benefits hereof by signing this agreement and putting it into effect and then in a petition approved by a representative trade association of his industry, or other representative organization designed by N. R. A., may apply for a stay of such provision pending a summary investigation by N. R. A., if he agrees in such application to abide by the decision of such investigation. This agreement is entered into pursuant to section 4 (a) of the National Industrial Recovery Act and subject to all

LOCAL GOLFERS DEFEAT WOLFLIN

TAKE 25 OF 33 MATCHES WITH HELP OF MEMPHIS AND HEDLEY PLAYERS

Thirty-three golfers from the Wolflin club in Amarillo came to Clarendon Sunday to play invitation matches with Hillcroft members. Efficient reinforcements were rushed to the aid of the local golfers by Hedley and Memphis, and when the smoke of conflict cleared away it was found that the Amarillo men had won only eight of the 33 matches played. The feature match of the afternoon was played by G. W. Dodd, of Amarillo, and W. H. Cooke, ranking players. It was a closely contested match and went to the 19th hole where Cooke missed a twelve-foot putt and lost the match.

The results of the individual matches are as follows: W. H. Cooke lost to G. W. Dodd, 1 up, 19 holes; Frank Foxhall won from J. R. Farmer, 5-4; Thomas Hampton downed Gene Kidd, 5-4; Dick Cooke defeated Henry Reed, 5-4; Dr. L. M. Hicks eliminated Charles Horn, 6-4; R. S. Green won from N. D. Bartlett, 1 up; A. N. Woods downed Frank McLain
