I will think—talk—write . . . Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be . . .

THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL AT DALLAS

Dallas wins the Centennial Celebration in 1936. In competition with Houston and San Antonio, both shrines of Texas history, Dallas was awarded the celebration on the basis of financial resources offered, which included the Texas State Fair plant and grounds.

There is general disappointment in Texas over the decision, yet the committee could do nothing else under its instructions—it was a cold-blooded business matter and Dallas with the State Fair ground as a standing start won by over a million dollars.

The fault is not to be charged to the committee or to Dallas. The reason why the Centennial is not to be held in the historic grounds of Texas is because the legislature set the procedure and requirements which the committee followed to the letter.

It is unfortunate Texas' visitors will have to travel from two-hundred and fifty to three hundred miles to see San Jacinto and the Alamo, but the 1936 Centennial is to be a commercial project and Texas patriots will have to get what comfort they may out of the situation, sympathizing all the time with Dallas in the role she must face—a role not of her own choosing.

LEGAL RACE TRACK GAMBLING MUST GO

In line with the widespread and vehement sentiment against the evils that have come to Texas because of legalized race track gambling, the state Democratic convention at Galveston passed a demand for repeal of the law under fire so we may confidently expect the next legislature to follow the voice of the people and the convention by putting an end to the disgraceful cloak of legality for this pernicious vice.

There will be those who will argue that gambling will continue in some form or other, and unfortunately that is true, but no state or nation can afford to legalize gambling, nor become accessories in wrecking homes and characters, by collecting blood money from its operation under protection of the law.

Legalized race track gambling in Texas must go.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED

Study of the statistics reveals that a majority of the 756,500 automobile accidents in the United States in 1933 occurred on straight, dry roads in clear weather, and involved cars in good condition driven by persons with a year or more of experience. Over 75 per cent of these drivers were persons of mature age—from 25 to 64. The majority of the 30,000 deaths and 850,000 injuries must be attributed to blunders.

A recent analysis by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters shows what the blunders were. There are eight in all.

1. Drove too fast for conditions—this accounted for approximately three-fourths of all mishaps in 1933 assigned to driving blunders.
2. Failed to slow down at intersections.
3. Failed to keep to the right.
4. Tried to pass another car going in the same direction when view was obstructed.
5. Failed to slow down on approaching pedestrians.
6. Passed on the right of a preceding vehicle.
7. Ignored important traffic control devices.
8. Parked at dangerous spots.

If drivers will obey the eight common sense rules suggested by these violations, the annual accident record can be reduced to a negligible figure.

Quite a few children wouldn't be so bad if it weren't for the parents they have to live with. Other children wouldn't be so bad if their parents would stay home long enough to live with them.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Many of our readers read and enjoyed "The Raven" by Marquis James when it first came out about four years ago. Recently I had the pleasure of a little trip through South Texas, and I suddenly realized that I was in the land of "The Raven" when a sign, "Cafe Raven," appeared near Huntsville. We had planned that as one of our brief stops because my sister had graduated from Sam Houston Normal there long years ago when it was the only Normal School in Texas. In a little nearby park we ate lunch under a great spreading pecan tree, then went to explore a little story and a half white house near by—and discovered that all unwittingly we had strayed into one of the most loves shrines of Texas History—we were in Sam Houston's home. The house is built in the style of that period—a wide open hallway dividing it, from which a stairway led to the low upper rooms. Two or three chairs with cowhide bottoms were in the hall, and an old desk at which we were pleased to think that Houston had perhaps written some of the things that have become history. One of his pictures with which we have become familiar in Texas Histories hangs in this hall, as well as a picture of the spreading pecan tree where we had lunched. No caretaker was available, so we could only go through the halls and peep in the windows of the bedroom and living room, or parlor—on the first floor. Both were furnished as you would have expected. What I suppose was the kitchen was a short distance away. The old well with the "sweep" balanced in the limb of a tree with rocks tied on one end and the bucket on the other, was at the edge of the yard. A fish pond with its gorgeous water hyacinths and water lilies was no far away, and winding walks almost hidden among the dense growth every where, led in every direction. A museum was also locked, and only a little glimpse through the door revealed old guns and things of that kind which would have been so interesting. I came away so impressed with the thought of how little has been done to preserve our Texas shrines or to make them accessible to the people—and thinking what a tremendous task lies ahead of us for the Centennial in 1936. Again I thought that when on another day we ate lunch beside the statue of Houston in a park in the city which bears his name—and the feeling came with renewed emphasis when we drove over San Jacinto battle ground. So poorly is the road marked that we almost failed to find it. The Daughters of the Texas Revolution have made a beginning here, but it remains for a patriotic people to give it real significance. I felt that surely a marker would show Vince's Bridge—but I didn't find it. And I visualized Sam Houston as he lay wounded under the live oak and watched the approach of Santa, and thought surely that tree must be shown somewhere—but I didn't find it. But in imagination I lived it all over. And that brings me to the thing I started out to say—if you haven't read "The Raven," do so—and get ready for the Centennial.

Of Course You Want Your Boy to Win

If any one told you that you were making it needlessly hard for your boy or your little daughter to get on in school you wouldn't believe it could be true.

But are you giving your child, or your children, the good light they need for their home studying?

In many of the schools light is still poor, so it is especially important to provide good light where children's home work is done.

See that the lamps they use are of sufficient wattage to give plenty of light and that there can be no glare in their eyes, either direct or reflected.

Poor light makes concentration difficult, brings on fatigue and drowsiness quickly, is damaging to young eyes, and is often responsible for faulty posture, which is a danger to be guarded against.

Let our home lighting consultant tell you how to light your home for your children's benefit and for your own comfort. This is a free service. You have only to write or 'phone us to obtain it. Take advantage of this service before school begins. It will pay dividends in higher grades.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

Marvin Jones Says Situation Met By Action

FROM SPEECH DELIVERED BY MARVIN JONES AT AMARILLO SEPTEMBER 6

The program of the Administration has meant a great deal to Texas and to the Panhandle during the strenuous times through which we have been passing. The worst depression we have ever known, coming at the same time with the worst drought in our history, made the situation in our section very grave. Farm and city homes were being foreclosed by the thousands. There was no money and no credit.

The new Administration met these conditions with a program of action.

Among other things, this included a loosening of our credit structure.

It included a home owners' loan system that has saved thousands of homes in Texas and the Panhandle.

It included a farm mortgage bill which prevented the foreclosure of many thousands of farm homes in Texas and the Panhandle.

It included an agricultural adjustment program which has brought more than one hundred million dollars in wheat and cotton benefit payments to the farmers of Texas, and fifteen million dollars in such payments to the people of the Eighteenth Congressional District of Texas. In addition, it has caused a great increase in the prices of these commodities.

It included a crop production loan system which, by making emergency loans, has made it possible for the farmers of Texas and out section to plant their crops.

It included a beef and dairy cattle program which enabled the people of this section to cull their herds and carry through the remaining portion of their herds in better condition.

As chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, it was my privilege to handle much of the legislation concerning which I have spoken. The people of this section have been generous to me, and I was happy to be in a position to assist in making this program possible. I have at all times fought for the interests of the people of the Panhandle of Texas.

A phase of the program which seems to have merited some criticism has been the special road program.

It was my privilege to assist in planning and drafting this original program. Some $2,600,000 was set aside by the Public Works Administration as a grant for the payment of 30 percent for materials in the road building program in the drought area of the Panhandle, the Midland section, and some few counties in the storm area of South Texas. This money was to be matched by the Relief Commission out of the general relief funds, not to exceed $6,000,000.

For several months this program was held up, apparently because of the fact that Texas authorities were unable to agree on the division of expenses or as to who would handle the program or for some other reason.

Meanwhile, the relief funds out of which the 70 percent of the program was supposed to have come were expended, and while some of these funds were spent in the Panhandle of Texas, not anything like adequate amount of them was spent on the road program to carry out by any means the original purpose. However, at Kansas City Mr. Hopkins agreed to make $400,000 per month available out of new relief funds for the purpose of carrying out the initial program.

In addition, the Texas Highway Commission in distributing the $24,000,000 that was allotted to Texas last year under the

The Log of a Pirate

A shining, yellow, steel school bus was presented to the schools near Clarendon. If you see something very large and extravagant with "Ashtola School Bus" written on it you will not blame the Ashtola children for being so terribly proud. Let us all join in with a united effort to take the best of care of our precious possession—so that those to follow us in school may enjoy it as we do. A very wise decision was made in selecting the driver. Tendal Gregg is driver and three cheers and good luck to him.

Las Piratas will be unable to hold regular meetings from now on. Greetings to sister pirates and brother pirates wherever they may be.

Present officers in lodge are as follows:
Great Captain—Dola Gregg.
Captain—Ruth Warrick.
Guard—Alma Gregg.
Secretary—Vera Barker.

If possible, Ashtola school will run one month before cotton picking starts.

A Pirate meeting was held at the Ashtola auditorium Friday night. Eleven members were present. Everyone please hope for "Slecks" rapid recovery from a "mysterious beating." Present officers for Pirate lodge are:
Great Captain—Buster Warrick.
Captain—C. P. Jones.
Sea Hawk—Robert Graham.
Secretary—Frank Hardie.

The eighth grade organized their class last Thursday. The following officers were elected:
President—Inetha Collier.

The road program failed to follow literally the provision that in administering it preference should be given to closing the gaps in the federal highways.

However, those who are keeping up with the program here assure me that both the Texas Highway Commission and the Texas Relief Commission are now in accord and are willing to join in seeing that the original purposes of the plan are carried out.

I expect to join with the committee from this section in presenting this matter in Washington within a few days. Neither Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Kirkpatrick, nor Mr. Westbrook of the Relief Administration, nor Mr. MacDonald nor Mr. Harrison of the Bureau of Public Roads can have any excuse for not making the balance of the funds available. I do not believe any of them will refuse, but if they do, we will know where to place the blame and where to make the effort.

It is but fair to add in this connection that all of the activities which I have discussed are paying their own way except the relief program. The wheat and cotton programs which have meant so much to Texas are self-supporting and have not cost the government of the United States any money. This will be largely true of the farm mortgage and home owners' loan measures.

I believe the American people want work instead of a dole, and whatever provision is made should be made in the form of an opportunity for work. This is in accord with American principles and traditions.

Sec.-Treas. and Reporter—Mildred Barker.
Sponsor—Mr. Dillard.
The class flower is a rose; colors are red and white, and the motto: "Life is Short—so Improve each Moment."

The school was pleased to have Mrs. Major Eanes as visitor Monday morning.

Ruth doesn't flirt or coo?

Ashtola School News

Although we did not have church services Sunday, there was a fair attendance at Sunday school and B. Y. P. U.

We have our new bus and are we proud! It's so large and comfy and in Ashtola colors, too. Say, but tis a regular knock-out—even lights inside so if it takes until night to get us all delivered we won't be in the cold silent dark. A swell looking driver and—well, who could wish for more?

Miss Inetha Collier spent Sunday night with Marie Morris.
Mr. Willard Cook and Miss Thelda Parker and Mr. Marvin Baker and Miss Viola Barker spent Sunday afternoon motor-ing and kodaking.

Miss Othello Poovey has returned from Majena and will attend school at Clarendon.

Miss Wila Poovey spent Friday night with Kathrine Brown.

Mr. C. P. Jones spent the week-end in Memphis.

Paul Ledbetter and Clyde Barker spent Wednesday with Carl Barker and family.

Dola Fay Gregg visited with Athylen Drennan Sunday.

The Coming of Transportation. The new bus that we have been looking forward to has at last arrived. Everyone left home happy this morning because of its presence.

When school first began the people and trustees of Ashtola met in a special meeting to discuss the buying of a new bus for the school. Although we were out a considerable sum of money we are proud of it. No wonder, it is a 'wayne' all steel body on a Ford chassis 'V-8, has soft leather seats, three electric lights in the top, has a beautiful coat of orange paint on the outside, and the most convenient thing about the new bus is that it carries 56 people, and has all the latest safety devices.

The new bus was assembled in Oklahoma City, and was driven through to Clarendon Sunday. It made its first run Monday morning. The bus leaves Ashtola school building at 7:00 o'clock to make the south route, arrives back about 7:30, then leaves on the north route, and is due back by 8:15 at the school house, and then is due in Clarendon at 9:00 with Tendal Gregg driving.

This new bus is the most convenient thing Ashtola has ever had. Never before have the children been furnished a way to and from school.

Each and every pupil takes this opportunity to thank the people and trustees of Ashtola for the love they have expressed for us, and we will do our part and show our appreciation by studying hard, and taking excellent care of it.

More power to you—"Ashtola."

The Ashtola High School is putting on a play for the benefit of the boys and girls Manual Training Department.

The name of the play is "Fingerprints." One of the most up-to-date plays published. It is on of Bugbee's popular plays.

The characters are:
Buster Warrick—Hosey Hawks.
Charles Fifer—Ned Thorndyke.
Robert Graham—Jimmy Lee.
Vera Barker—Mignor Mocare.
Alma Gregg—Pocelin.
Frank Hardie—Roger Whitney Jr.

Lodema Mason—Mrs. Whitney.
Mildred Barker—Paulette Whitney.

Christine Knox—Pamina Thorndyke.
Ruth Warrick—Amelia.

We are planning 100 percent turn-out of our community at the play. Admission 10 and 15 cents. It will be at Ashtola school house in the very near future. Watch for date.

We are ready for work I guess, for that is all you can hear is basketball. The basketball has been ordered, and will be here in a few days. We hardly know how we are going to start playing ball this year, but we are going to try to push on. We only have two members of the old team left that will be able to play under Mr. Dillard's leadership, we are sure he will make one of the finest teams we have ever had. We could not do with out our basketball sponsor.

We hardly think how the Juniors boys are going to get along with their team this year. There are only four boys in high school.

Ashtola Literary Society
By Vera Barker

The entire school body met in the auditorium the last period Friday afternoon and organized a Literary Society. The society will meet twice a month with a varied program from time to time. The following officers were elected:

Christine Knox—President.
Buster Warrick—V. President.
Frank Hardie—Sec. & Treas.
Vera Barker—Reporter.
Alma Gregg—Sargeant-at-Arms.

Watch next weeks paper for a program.

The Manual Training Department has moved to the basement, and the shop will be reworked to make a home for our school bus. The department will be open to both boys and girls.

Mr. Dillard ordered the necessary chemicals and apparatus this week that are necessary to give our Laboratory Class a rating.

We are having to study harder as all our classes are 45 minutes long, with a double period for Science and Manual Training.

The Manual Training Department will receive its first equipment this week in the form of three regulation work benches.

There are 86 enrolled in school and all are striving to make Ashtola a better school. There are

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

By B. Powell.

Can you imagine Roy Clayton being the recipient of a birthday celebration—especially before the advent of the natal day? Yes! just that occurred out at the Country Club last Friday night at the steak fry and picnic given the school faculty by the school board. Of course it was a complete surprise to Roy, and he came very nearly stealing the show from the teachers. A jokster went around telling the picnic members the celebration was in honor of Roy's birthday. WONDER when his birthday really is—or—does he still have them?—And speaking of the teachers—Misses—if you were there did you see any eyes cast around?—and of course we can't keep our mind off that feed, so we are going to lightly inquire around to find out who ate the most steak—Did you get scared Saturday afternoon when it started raining? Some thought another flood would drop in our laps, and gain us another front page writup all over the United States. On September 1, Clarendon was in the limelight without benefit of Kleig lights. One Clarendon resident visiting in South Texas last week on being introduced to another good Methodist, as from Clarendon heard this, "Oh—that's where the flood was"—And maybe when the Salt Fork fills up, steamships from the Gulf will come to our back door to make this the import center of the Plains—Of course, we meant the word Commerce, but who cares?—Member about five years ago when the Texas Legislature passed a law giving us a navigable stream, which was at that time DRY? Have you taken your cruise this summer?—While roaming around the other day we came across a watermelon patch. It was located right on the Court House lawn, and now we wonder who claims ownership, or who would do the shooting in case it was invaded in the middle of the night. Each member of the Court House family might claim a slice—at harvest time—but since the sheriff and his able deputy are the doomed guardians when the moon is hanging low—or high—we are inclined to lean their way—especially around watermelon eating time. NOW, are we going to get up a little argument—around the watermelon patch, or should we just leave it to Judge Love to settle all arguments? B'lieve we'll just do that rather than get our ear knocked down—Speaking of watermelons, we would like to know if during the flood they floated or did they float?—Could you eat a large melon, to see if you could hold a second melon of the same size? We once heard of a little boy of color doing just that, after being offered a quarter to consume a melon of large proportions—HE DID IT, TOO—Carl Parsons has been puffing and blowing for the past few weeks, and can not sit down to coast awhile, while he catches his breath. What has he been doing? Oh! nothing much, just keeping the golfing boys lined up and ready to tee off instead of going across the pasture to kill a dove or twelve. Carl deserves thanks for his work in this Golf Tournament—Are you going to be on hand and take a part in the Tri-State Fair Opening Parade? No, you don't have to take a bucket to help water the elephants, just take yourself right up to Amarillo early Saturday morning and step right into the Clarendon delegation. You don't have to give a pass word or high sign. And if you can't get in just try and find Wilbur Hawks, the affable President of the Fair. And folks, seriously speaking of the Fair, this is your Fair as well as ours. It is everybody's Fair. Exhibits will be there from all over the United States, and the Panhandle of Texas. It will well be worth your time to see. It is educational, and since this will be the greatest of the twelve Fairs your knowledge can be handed down from generation to generation. So-o-o lets all go to the Fair Saturday morning and stay through the 22nd—

In this year's "Broncho Range" will be instituted several radical changes of form. Instead of dividing the duties of the paper into twelve or fifteen small and relatively unimportant departments under each of the many reporters, will be divided as evenly as possible among the members of an editorial staff of five. There will be an Editor-in-Chief, Assistant-Editor, School-Activities Editor, Sports Editor, and Society Editor. Each of the last three editors will have a separate department under his or her leadership, and may have as many reporters in the department as necessary.

This plan has been adopted in order to give the editorial work of the paper to several different students instead of loading it all on the Editor and Assistant-Editor, as has been the custom. Also, there is truth in the idea that several heads working together will produce far more original and interesting ideas than one head that is overloaded with more than it can successfully hold.

Those who have accepted these important editorial positions are listed at the head of the first column. If the success of the paper depends upon the willingness of the editors and reporters, this year's paper will definitely be the best in the history of the paper, for all who have been asked to fill these positions have responded willingly.

The heads of the paper have been continually surprised during the last week by a virtual flood of volunteer workers. Heretofore it has been necessary to forcibly persuade reporters to contribute material, so such enthusiasm as this was wholly unexpected and heartily welcomed. Many of these volunteers have been given regular positions on the staff; for some of the others we have been unable to find a regular place, but we hereby extend an invitation to them and everyone else who is interested to contribute material at any time, and we hope that there will be a large number of volunteered articles turned in this year.

APOSTROPHE TO ASHTOLA

All I could see from where I sat
Was Treva and M. L., the teacher's pet; (in Ashtola)
I turned and looked the other way,
And there sat Slick and Viola Fay.
So with my eyes I traced the line
Made by Grace, Dola, and Katherine,
Straight around till I was come
Back to Wilma Lee and Dub Tomlinson;
And all I could see from where I sat
Was Keith and Mante in a friendly chat.
—Author Unknown (let's hope.)—

"They tell us, Sir, that we are weak, etc., etc." Harold Ham rhythmically droning as he gazes out of the Ashtola school bus window—H. W. Lovell, blushing and waving his hands artistically, singing French melodies—it must be, Viola Fay Barker, a perfect model of a lady like girl as she sits classical and erect by his side—Dola Fay Gregg's husky speech mingling with M. L. Baker's "Age of Innocence" voice is—well different to say the least—Mary Graham throwing an apple core at Athlyn Drennan—which reminds Katherine and Wilma Lee Brown of the time they got cheated when buying a bushel of apples that had air pockets in them—Slick Gregg putting in one corner and thinking of the gala football games he will probably miss—Norris Dewey trying to picture this same road and a "28" Chivvey in the days gone by—Grace Hardie, modelling in the front of the car, almost drowning out Othella Poovey's violent denials of a rumored matrimonial knot—Beloved Cookie, Willard Cook, some people call him, and C. P. Jones

SPORTS

After a week of hard training, Coach Frank Stocking and assistant J. L. Kerby have added a more fundamental aspect to the bits of football knowledge being absorbed by the thirty prospective Broncho candidates who are now working out each afternoon at the College Park. Although it will be sometime yet until complete football togery will be issued, the 1934 Bronchos are already learning the art of blocking, proper execution of assignments, and the many other football tactics being so ably taught by the two mentors.

The present squad is a light but fast and aggressive crew who after a siege of hard training and a little more experience should round into one of the best offensive football machines the local school has ever produced. The team's defensive ability can be ascertained only when it has been tried under heavy fire. The same may be said concerning the development of their offensive strength for that matter.

The backfield men who are aspiring for regular places on the 1934 team are: W. Hudson, Cornell, Turnbow, Greene, Word, Helton, F. Holtzclaw, Jay T. Holtzclaw.

Linemen include: Powell, Martin, Strawn, Rogers, Easterling, Barrow, Boston, Butler, Gentry, Swift, Beverly, Jackson, Tucker, McGowan, Baxter, Merrit, McClenny, Sibley, C. Word, Lane and Cole.

Coaches Stockings and Kerby are being assisted by Carroll Hudson, Ely Watson, and T. J. Mann, ex-Broncho players.

A Senior class of sixty members from Clarendon, Ashtola, Chamberlain and other communities met and elected officers for the ensuing year on last Thursday. Students from Ashtola definitely reigned in the election with four of their number chosen to direct the affairs of the imposing Seniors. These were Mary Frances Dewey, president, Viola Barker, secretary-treasurer, Athlyn Drennan, reporter, and Foster Gregg, pep leader. Other officers are Billy Weatherly, vice-president, and Sarah McGowan, pep leader. Harpport activities for the Senior spirit activities for the Senior class, and Heavy Whitlock will be sergeants-at-arms.

The Seniors are beginning the term with unusual enthusiasm and with the desire of having the most successful class in history, both in scholastic and social activities.

Sponsors for the year are Miss Thornton and Mr. Allison.

NEW SCHOOL BELL

"School days, School days
Dear old golden rule days."
They are back again, and what could start them off better than chimes of an age-old bell that used to delight the ears of those enrolled in the college many years ago. The pupils who came to school on September 3rd were pleasantly surprised to hear the mellow tones of the old bell whose tongue had never before pealed forth its joyous greetings to the senior high school and junior college students. Indeed, everyone pauses to listen to and exclaim over the rich notes sent forth each morning over the C. H. S. and C. M. J. C. Campus. This bell has been in the building for a long time; however, due to the depression, it had never been repaired, and only a few of the students now enrolled were aware of its presence.

So we must thank the school Board for realizing how much the bell would add to the dignity of the school.

discussing the pride of Persian prayer rugs—Treva Carper's never failing smile turned toward angel face, Marvin Baker as our dexterous, Trendal Gregg brings "Ashtola Masterpiece" to a halt and Milton, Drewsella, and Emma Gene Mayo alight with, "Come up to see us sometime", "Drop us a card," etc. ringing from the cher-d'oeuvre.—Five minutes pass, the air becomes oppressively quite and still—a snicker and a giggle rise from somewhere and an uproar of unsuppressed laughter and nonessential jabber is reigning to pass away the heavy hanging time—again, a store and the dear old city of the hour, Ashtola, is seen in the distance. As "Ashtola Masterpiece" pulls to a final stop before the beloved Alma Mater—So end these musings written on the back of a school bus.

Student Activities

Dove hunting seems to be the pastime of this season. Friday several couples went hunting and shot several doves. The couples feasted from these last Friday night at the Powell home and reported that the doves were delicious.

Fred Jackson went to Memphis Sunday afternoon on business (he says.)

A. J. Smith, a former student in the Clarendon schools, is visiting here this week at the home of Drew Wilkerson.

La Verne McMurtry spent the week-end at the ranch home of her Aunt, who lives near Goldston.

Former dean W. A. Clark Jr. of Whittenburg was in town Sunday.

Kenneth Bain of Hedley attended freshman college classes Thursday, looking over the prospects for his further education, probably to begin the second semester.

Sue McHam, who has been visiting her cousin, W. M. for two weeks, returned to Wichita Falls Friday where she will be a senior in that city's school system.

Louise Smith is replacing Virginia Wisdom this year as office stenographer for the school.

Ruby Armstrong returned last week from a delightful vacation in Colorado mountains.

Press Club

For several years the students of the high school and college have enjoyed the privileges of a press club. Under Miss Headrick's leadership certain phases of journalism are studied at each bi-weekly meeting. The club will meet Monday for reorganization. All reporters and those interested in any newspaper work are urged to be in room 20 directly after school Monday, September 17.

ALPHA DELTA PSI

The Alpha Delta Psi Literary Society held the initial meeting of the 1934-35 school year around a camp fire at Salt Fork on Wednesday evening, September 5th. Although the disagreeable sandstorm was not encouraging, the thirty members and guests, sponsored by Librarian Willie Glenn Parten, succeeded in having an enjoyable time playing games on the bank of the river. Human croquet and other rough and tumble sports were enthusiastically played.

Weiners were plentiful, and a delicious picnic supper was informally disposed of. The summer President, Thayer Acord, then called the group to seriousness and suggested that a business meeting be called to order. Officers for the ensuing year were chosen, visitors were introduced, and several old and new members gave short talks.

Homer Estlack, an old member of the club, was chosen president from a list of popular nominees. A well known debator and orator, Robert Nichols, received acclamation to the office of vice-president. He accepted his position with an amusing story furnished with elegant bows and flourishes. Lu McLellan, who was a member of the Society several years ago and is attending college this year, was elected caretaker of the records and funds of the Alpha Delta Psi. A unanimous vote gave Wanda Mayfield the office of reporter. Need for a publicity agent was expressed, and voluble Billy Walker was installed as a capable manager of such affairs. For sergeant-at-arms and bouncer Thayer Acord was selected.

Those who enjoyed this outing and meeting were: Oleta Camp of Amarillo, Sue McHam of Wichita Falls, Louise Smith, Nellie Grady, Helen Lawler, Ruby Dell Scoggins, Sue Powell, Wilma Dee Smith, Rosa Lee Grady, Wanda Mayfield, Miss Parten.

Thayer Acord, Harold Hams, Marvin Baker, Billy Walker, T. J. Mann, Homer Estlack, Robert Nichols, Ely Watson, David

New Faculty Members

The high school and college have four new members added to their faculty this year. Mr. Drennan comes from the local Jr. High as the dean of the college and principal of the high school. Fortunately the school board has been able to reinstate the home economics department with Miss Berry at the head. There are also new foreign language and commercial teachers, Miss Hall and Mr. Kerby respectively. Although Miss Parten, the librarian, is a new member of the faculty, she is not entirely unknown as she has worked in the library before.

JUNIOR HIGH REPORT

There is considerable activity over in the South Ward this week. Mrs. Headrick's room made a memorable excursion to the City Fire Station Friday morning. The first grade reports a much larger enrollment this year than last. Book covering seems to be the chief occupation in Miss Mongole's room this week, while Mrs. Prewitt's room is making a special study of trees as their first project for this year. A secretive atmosphere prevails in Miss Steven's room. We hope the secret will be disclosed in next week's report. In the fourth and fifth grades the enrollment reaches about 140 students. The ball teams of these grades are organized and have started work.

In the Junior High all the students are settling down to work and are in fine running order. The sixth graders are behaving like surely-enough "grown-ups." Everybody welcomes the new math and science teacher, Mr. Bone. Eight grade pupils are also glad to have at Junior High, even though for just one period, their Latin teacher, Miss Harris.

McClesky, Bob Goodson, Wylie Buchanan, Lu McClellan, Wayne Estlack, George McClesky, Bob Boston, Hubert Reavis.

Junior Class

The Junior class held the first meeting of the year on Monday, September 10th. An official election was conducted to determine the leaders of the class for the following semester. LaVerne McMurtry was chosen as president, with Willard Hudson to act as chief helper in the position of vice-president. Allen Patman holds the combined office of secretary and treasurer. Capable Helen Risley was selected to report all social and business meetings and functions of the class members. To lead the pep squad representing the Juniors Eugenia Noland and Jo Vineyard were chosen. Sturdy Paul Greene will be sergeant-at-arms.

The Juniors plan to participate fully in the activities of the curriculum, and to help them realize their ambitions. They have chosen Miss Hall, foreign language instructor, as sponsor.

TIRE BUYERS!

Goodrich gives you MORE than a "printed" guarantee

A "PRINTED" GUARANTEE ALONE MAY PROTECT YOUR TIRE INVESTMENT—BUT HOW ABOUT YOUR LIFE?

Here's a tire guarantee that gives a new meaning to motoring safety . . . a guarantee that protects not only your pocketbook, but your life as well!

Goodrich, of course, guarantees the new Safety Silvertown passenger car tire, with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, for a full 12 months (business use, 6 mos.) against accidental damage due to cuts, bruises, blow-outs, rim cuts, faulty brakes, wheels out of alignment, and ordinary wear and tear as specified in the written Certificate of Warranty given with the purchase of every Goodrich passenger car tire. But, more, Goodrich builds the Life-Saver Golden Ply into every Silvertown.

This amazing invention makes you 3 times safer from blow-outs at high speeds. Racing daredevils proved this. On the world's fastest track they gave it everything they had. Not one blow-out! Similar tires without the Life-Saver Golden Ply failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run. And what's more, the Golden Ply Silvertowns kept right on eating up the miles!

No other tire manufacturer can duplicate this in full. Other tires may duplicate the Goodrich warranty. But only the new Goodrich Silvertown can guarantee you the exclusive blow-out protection of the Life-Saver Golden Ply.

—And A Guarantee That Really Means Something!

When you're buying tires, remember this: "paper" guarantees may protect your investment but they won't save your life when your tire blows out going 40, 50 or 60 miles an hour! Play safe. Get the new Goodrich Silvertown . . . the only passenger car tire in the world that guarantees you Golden Ply blow-out protection, plus a full 12 months' guarantee (business use, 6 mos.) DICK COOKE— (Continued From Page One)

Hampton erased Cooke's lead on the long 8 hole when he finally run one of his straight approaches into the cup for a birdie 3 while Cooke was in the regulation 4. Each went one over on nine with 5's as the Memphis ace dubbed a cinch approach to win the hole, after Cooke had experienced trouble in making his tee and second shot, thus the two made the out nine all halved.

Cooke hooked his short tee shot on No. 10 and then made one of the finest shots ever seen on the local course when he recovered with a 200 yard second from the rough to within 4 feet of the pin. Hampton made his par but went one down when Cooke dropped his put for a birdie 3. Both halved 11 with par 5's, and matched shots to halve 12 with regulation 4's. On the thirteenth Cooke's tee shot was eight feet away while Hampton was 10 yards off the sand. He latter tried desperately again with a dead approach that once more hung on the edge of the cup. Cooke sent his put spinning down for a birdie 2 and an advantage of 2 up. They halved the long 14 in par 5 strokes and also the short 15th in 3's, Cooke making a nice recovery approach after being off the sand with his tee shot.

Cooke and Hampton continued their regulation play with par 4 halves on the 16th, when the former again demonstrated his putting skill with an eight foot sink.

Faced with the score being dormie against him, Hampton staked his chances on a birdie on the difficult 17th, and proved his golfing heart when he whipped a tremendous drive 270 yards down the middle. Cooke chose to play regulation golf and was on in three while the Memphis entry reached the sand in two. The gallery suffered suspense as Hampton studied the sloping green and stroked his ball to the cup to have it roll around the rim and come to a halt ready to drop in. Cooke with a similar put, however shorter, proved his ability by sinking his for a halve and the championship with a two and one victory.

R. S. Greene of Memphis won consolation honors from Carl Parsons in the Championship flight.

George Carter defeated O. T. Nicholson of Shamrock for the second flight with Selden Bagby copping consolation.
