A BUSY AND JOYOUS 1935 TO ALL

In this No. 1, Volume 46, and the first issue of the New Year, The Clarendon News desires to extend its greetings and felicitations to its fellow-publishers and exchanges, as well as all our readers and friends.

It is our sincerest hope that all that is worthy, all that is good and true, will come to you in the twelve months of 1935, and that our dear State and Nation will bask again in the smiles of a Bountiful Providence, ordered by the Almighty—ordered because He is pleased with our actions—pleased by our conduct and attitude.

A Busy and Joyous 1935 to One and All.

LOTS OF DISAPPOINTMENT IS DUE SOME PEOPLE

To offset the great chorus of endorsement that has come up from every section of Texas urging the re-appointment of Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, to the Texas Highway Commission, there is now strong local effort with much publicity from a dozen points in the state backing some candidate, and in many instances insinuating that the appointment has already been tacitly assured.

If there should be such an eventuality as Judge Ely not receiving the "plum"—if it is a plum—then it would be our guess that none of the various candidates will take precedence over a certain Wichita Falls man, able and popular and a long-time friend of the new governor.

Anyway there is lots of disappointment coming up for some people—more bound up in the highway commission appointment than in any other post at Austin.

WHAT A YEAR IT WOULD BE

What a year 1935 would be if Clarendon people would intelligently and earnestly devote their efforts for the next twelve months to

- A Better Clarendon.
- A Better Donley County.
- Better Churches (not the buildings).
- Better relations with our neighbors.
- Better Boy Scout Troops.
- Better Camp Fire organizations for the Girls.
- Better Sunday Schools.
- A Better Lions Club.
- A Better American Legion Post.
- Better Art and Music.
- Better Homes and Farms.
- Broader Smiles and Warmer Handclaps.

What a Year 1935 would be, if we could improve in all the fundamentals of life, as listed above.

Isn't it worth trying?

Reily: "Did you hear about Pat O'Rourke gettin' drowned yesterday?" Flannigan: "Drowned, no! I thought he was a first-rate long-distance swimmer." Reily: "So he was, but you know what strong union principals he had. Just as he was about to reach the shore he heard the whistle blow and he quit work for the day."—Stilwater, Minn. Gazette.

The only people we know of who are as foolish as those who ridicule all new ideas because they are new are those who ridicule all old ideas because they are old.—Thief River Falls Times.

"Demagoguery is strictly entertainment. It uses a minimum of information, with a maximum of appeal to the emotions."—James H. Collins. And it should be added that the public always pays scalper's prices for the show.

SAINTS AND SINNERS JOIN HANDS

Under the above caption a lengthy article in "Thoroughbreeding," the official weekly publication of the Thoroughbred Breeders and Horsemen's Association of Texas, declares that "Saints and sinners in Texas have joined hands."

It declares that "The end to be attained is the destruction in this State of a great and legitimate industry, the potentialities of which are such that it will mean in the years to come a far greater degree of prosperity to all the people. In other words those paid lawyers and politicians in the organization seeking to repeal the pari-mutuel law in Texas are 'fronting' for one of the worst gangs of criminals and outlaws that ever infested Texas."

The argument has a striking resemblance to the warcy used in bringing about the repeal of the 18th amendment, when it was declared that "the bootlegger needs the 18th amendment more than anybody else and the prohibitionists and bootleggers have joined hands in making drunkards out of our boys and girls." Read the records of the courts today and see what repeal of the 18th amendment has done. It has made more bootleggers and the tax for revenue has made bootlegging more profitable than ever.

Legalizing pari-mutuel betting is directly responsible for the bookmaker, whose business has increased many times over what it was when the pari-mutuel betting machine was illegal. Outlaw the pari-mutuel machine and you have justified outlawing the bookmaker. But legalize it and the person who wants to bet on a horse race can not see any good reason why he should be forced to buy an admission ticket to the races in order to bet.

As long as pari-mutuel betting is legal in Texas, bookies will be placing bets outside race tracks because the average person knows that a bet is a bet, with or without an admission ticket to a horse race.—Childress County News.

HOW TO AVOID PRISON

Prisoners should have a pretty good idea how they might have avoided prison, so the questionnaire answered by 40 inmates of the Dallas county jail the other day should throw some dependable light on the subject.

Summed up, the rules for staying out of jail as given by the prisoners were:

1. Don't marry too young.
2. Don't stay out late at night.
3. Obey your parents.
4. Know the character of your associates.

There, you will agree, is a pretty sensible and safe pattern of conduct, sketched by a group of men who ought to know.

Evil companions probably lead more young men to prison than any other single factor. For that reason the prisoners' fourth rule is the most important. It might easily be combined with Nos. 2 and 3, since late hours and disobedience are the natural products of evil associations.

An interesting sidelight on the questionnaire is that 27 of the prisoners had gone through grade school and two were college graduates. The preponderance of the under-educated suggests the thought that poverty of economic strain plays a rather large part in the creation of criminals. There are educated criminals, to be sure, but most incorrigibles have somehow missed their schooling.

Bread crumbs from stale graham bread as well as from white bread are on the emergency shelf of Mrs. Oscar Linman, food supply demonstrator of the Lakeview Home Demonstration Club in Tom Green county, who uses them for making whole wheat pancakes. Mrs. Linman says that one half graham bread crumbs and one half white flour makes a better pancake than either whole wheat flour or all white flour.

According to Mr. W. M. Forrest of Madison county, the 1933 cotton plowup increased his yield this year 42 bales. He powered up 350 acres of cotton last year and this land produced 60 pounds per acre more than did adjoining land. Those 42 bales netted Mr. Forrest around $290. He is working Trinity river bottom and which he did not think needed fertilizer, but is now convinced that some leguminous cover crop turned under on his land would be a profitable investment.

Through the cooperation of his tenant, his county farm demonstration agent and his commissioner, Mr. S. L. Johnson of Leonard in Fannin county was enabled to terrace his blackland farm for $2 per acre. The tenant said: "When the spring rains caused me to lose good seed and several days' work by having to replant, and then in the fall when my lint yield was about 80 pounds less per acre than the adjoining terraced farm, I became interested in getting my landlord to terrace."

At The First Baptist Church

There is always Worship—Fellowship—Service

As we stand in the dawn of the New Year we feel very much like one who has moved from an old house into a new one. The two emotions of joy and regret are found within the breast. Regret that one is compelled to leave a house whose rooms have held so much of progress and victory and have been the scenes of experiences carrying ennobling enrichments; regret that certain days were darkened by disappointments tending to make us hard and severe. Within that house of twelve rooms, called months, we shared in happiness, we were called upon to bid loved ones good-bye, we suffered defeats and made progress. The way we came, we discover, was pretty much the same as the way we had trod the year before. In some ways the house was better than that of 1933. In some ways it was worse, but somehow we feel like that the good overshadows the bad. With these mingling feelings we say good-bye to the old house and turn our faces toward the house of 1935, with its fifty-two weeks of challenge. As we open its doors we can be sure we shall have certain experiences in the New House that were common to the old, but on this threshold we are moved to make the dedication of this new house a deeper, holier thing than that of any other year. We welcome the New Year and accept its challenge for character building and service. From past defeats we shall learn to climb the ridge upon which we may stand with increased advantage over every enemy, and from past victories we shall learn to take a firmer hold on Christ and live alone through Him. We shall not fear tomorrow since we are assured its casket holds concealed ennobling gifts. Let us then open cheerfully and resolutely the mystic gates of the future, with a confidence in right and truth, and a firm assurance of the high achievements of goodness. Make 1935 the best year of your life.

Regular services at the Baptist Church Sunday, both morning and evening. You are cordially invited to worship with us.
J. Perry King, pastor.

No. 66

LIBRARY NOTES
(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

The first Christmas gift to reach the White House was a collection of two hundred books to be added to the President's library, these having been selected by a committee of authors, publishers and booksellers. Pearl Buck, author of "The Good Earth," and Hervey Allen, author of "Anthony Adverse" were on this committee. The discovery was made during the Hoover administration that the White House had no home library, and five hundred volumes of the best books of all time were presented by the booksellers.

In an article which I recently read on the influence of books in the lives of noted people the statement is made that the President and his wife, who have always been book lovers, have read widely in all fields of literature, but particularly in books on the social sciences since their advent into public life. It is said that the President's reading, added to his contacts with people in reform, laid the basis for the New Deal before he became President. Personally, he is very fond of books about the sea. The first book he reached for in the new recent collection was Alfred F. Loomis' "Yachts Under Sail."

England's Prime Minister, James Ramsay Macdonald, says Hugh Miller's "My Schools and Schoolmasters" most influence his earlier career, and he adds to this Brown's "Bible," a "Life of Christ," Scott and Dickens and Orr's "Circle of the Sciences" which he bought from a pawnbroker when he was still a boy. Einstein says that when he was only thirteen he was re-visited the fundamental impressions from Goethe and Schiller, and he places Shakespeare at the head of all literature. He says he has enjoyed Anatole France and Shaw. David Lloyd George names Dumas as his favorite author and mentions Stanley Weyman among modern writers.

Bruce Lockhart in his "Retreat from Glory" says of the ex-Kaiser of Germany that he is and always has been a voracious reader, preferring books of travel, memories, and historical novels. His favorite English authors are Dickens, Scott, and Marryat, while his favorites among recent writers are Warwick Derping and P. G. Wodehouse.

H. L. Menckey says the single story that he likes best is "Huckleberry Finn." He still thinks it is the greatest story ever written in America.

While still in a Theological seminary, Yoseph Stalin was reading Karl Marx and Hitler, in his autobiography, mentions no literature except that of "that Jew, Marx," while Mussolini admits that his awakening came from reading Marx.

Eugene G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, says the text books of his University course were the greatest factor in preparing him for future opportunities, and he is still a keen reader of books on current happenings. In fiction he says he likes books with vivid characters, giving the experiences of families, such as the "Jalna" books by Mazo de la Roche, and the more recent "Dusk at the Grove" by Samuel Rogers.

That people are reading certainly cannot be denied when we see the statement that Hervey Allen's "Anthony Adverse," though containing over 1200 pages, has had 450,000 copies printed; that "David Harem" by Edward Noyes Westcott, has sold 1,200,000 copies; that Jack London's "Call of the Wild" has sold 1,412,000; that Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women" has sold 2,000,000; that Florence Barclay's "The Rosary," has sold over 1,000,000; that Lew Wallace's "Ben Hur" has sold over 1,500,000; that Hurlbut's "Story of the Bible" has sold 1,342,000; that Stevenson's "Treasure Island" has sold over 1,000,000; that Owen Wister's "The Virginian" has sold 1,454,000; that "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" by John Fox, Jr., has sold over 1,000,000; that Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" has sold over 1,500,000.

Some of you may not have read all of these "best sellers" through the years. We have them in our little library for your pleasure.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.
2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.
3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal.

A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour. All Ford V-8 cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 for 1935 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it—to drive it yourself. You will find it a new experience in motoring.

Sandstorm Turns Into Tornado and Amarillo Wins, 48 to 0

The Golden Sandstorm of Amarillo came out of the Panhandle of Texas like a raging Norther Saturday, to leave the Buccaneers of Corpus Christi grubbing earth to keep from being blown completely away. The final score was 48 to 0, the most lopsided score ever to occur in the finals of the high school championship. Knifing through the line like the teeth of the wind, Sandie backs ripped off nearly 500 yards of gain during the game, and stalwarts in the Amarillo line stopped Haas, star back for the Buccaneers, cold. The crowd of 21,000 who saw the game in Dallas will never forget the "unholy three" of the Amarillo backfield—Stidger, Harlow, and Bufkin, who carried the ball 56 times during the game and averaged an eight-yard gain every time. In the picture whiteclad Sandies prepare to mob Haas, the Buccaneer light that failed. (Texas News Photos.)

AMARILLO SANDIES DOMINATE ALL-STATE GRID TEAM

The annual Associated Press Texas Interscholastic League consensus football team includes four players from the champion Golden Sandstorms of Amarillo, two of the fighting Masonic Home semi-finalist team, and one each from Corsicana, Greenville, Ranger, Corpus Christi and San Antonio Thomas Jefferson.

The team selected by a composite vote of Texas sports writers, is well balanced in weight, speed and power. Bert Marshall, speedy Greenville star, repeated by landing the quarterback position. He was last year's popular choice for the signal calling post.

Even though he was completely bottled in the championship game in Dallas Saturday, Charlie Haas, Corpus Christi halfback, polled more votes than any other member of the mythical team to land the left halfback position.

The team: John Peterson, Amarillo, left end; Robert Cook, Masonic Home,

Division of Parity Payments Explained

College Station.—The proportion of the cotton parity payment due to the share cropper or share tenant on farms covered by cotton acreage reduction contracts in 1934 is that proportion which his share in the acreage grown to cotton this year by him bears to the total acreage permitted to be grown to cotton on the whole farm under the terms of the 1934 and 1935 reduction contract, according to information received here from Washington by F. E. Lichte, Senior Administrative Assistant, Cotton Production Section, Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Parity payment checks are being mailed out to farm demonstration agents direct from Washington at the rate of 20,000 per day and will be distributed by them to the producers as soon as proper form for receipts are received from Washington, Mr. Lichte said.

When the landlords receive these parity payments checks they sign an agreement which covers distribution to share croppers and tenants. They also agree to report within 30 days the distribution of the parity payment, including signatures of tenants and share croppers who were entitled to a share of the payment. Instructions on procedure are included in the forms which are provided at the time of delivery of the check.

"Parity payment checks amount to one cent per pound for each pound of lint cotton in the producer's farm allotment which is 40 per cent of the average production for the base period years 1928 to 1932," Mr. Lichte explained.
