Chamber Of Commerce Banquet Is Event Of Unusual Success

150 Present To Hear Report Of Year's Work Of Local Organization And To Enjoy Address Of Hon.
Walter Cline, Of Wichita Falls

"An unqualified success" was the verdict generally rendered by all who attended the annual banquet of the Clarendon Chamber Commerce, last Thursday evening, January 25th, at the Anstro Hotel, when one hundred and fifty citizens and visitors assembled to enjoy the program of the evening.

Clyde J. Douglas was the very efficient toastmaster who guided the events of the program and from the invocation delivered by Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor of the First Methodist Church, until all joined in singing "America", there wasn't a dull moment.

G. L. Boykin, chamber of commerce secretary used a unique system to portray activities during the past year. Eleven young ladies, carrying placards with the names of the various activities of 1933 printed on them, passed in review, as Boykin explained why the projects were inaugurated and how they were accomplished. These young ladies were:

Zelda Ruth Nored, Ruth Cornell, Reba Nichols, Lottie Rolis, Pauline O'Neal, Earlene Pitts, Jean Piery, Ruth Hedgespeth, Frances Fowler, Virginia Butler, Margaret Kelley, Edna Thomas. "America threw a party" in 1929, suffered a headache so severe its throbs were heard 'round the world, but now, thanks to a capable physician, President Roosevelt, we are on our feet again and ready to return to work," said Walter D. Cline, of Wichita Falls, guest speaker of the occasion.

Cline, who is president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, declared America has never ceased going forward, socially and commercially, even during the height of the biggest depression in recent history. "Transportation and communication facilities have shown a remarkable advance since 1929," Cline said. "We shall reap the benefits from these major items of progress as time goes on. We, as a nation, have better health and more improved intellects than we had when we were riding the 'merry-go-round.'"

"The depression taught us all a whole lot, too," he declared. "In the happy-go-lucky days of 1927 to 1929, the children had to sit up nights to let Grandma in, but that's all changed now. More churches are being built because they are needed to care for the increased numbers attending church. We sustained a loss of material values only—we are much better off than we ever were."

"Some of our older people are schooled at the changes in government and policy, but we have to keep abreast of the times. Our constitution has been changed 21 times and every time it was to meet a demand. Our people demanded a policy and the NRA was given us. We don't know where it is leading us but we are at least a united people."

Mr. Cline cited where drouth relief money had gone. Twenty-one counties have been allotted about $5,000,000, but none of it has been received. The West Texas chamber of commerce sent a representative to Washington last week, but he has not located the money. He has found, however, that the original 21 counties authorized to receive money have been increased to 57 counties and the difference is in East Texas. He hopes to have a report on the whereabouts of the lost millions, he said.

The Hanna-Pope Dry Goods Store was awarded a silver cup for having the most attractive show window in Clarendon in 1933. This marked the third time this firm had been awarded the token in the past four years. The presentation was made by J. T. Patman and Winfred Gattis accepted the cup for Hanna-Pope. R. H. Nation of Amarillo gave

Local Directors In New Credit Body

A permanent organization was started last Wednesday afternoon by the formation of the Memphis Production Credit Association. Fifty-one organizations of this type are being set up in Texas. They should be completed and ready to start making loans by Feb. 15th, it was stated.

Donley County is represented in the organization by J. T. Sims, second vice-president and J. D. Swift, director.

The purpose of the organization is to make loans which are properly secured to farmers and ranchers for general agricultural purposes. This organization will serve four counties, Collingsworth, Childress, Hall, and Donley.

This week the pleasure of being in the service of a newspaper publishes this week the Hedley Inquirer, the death of publisher E. C. Boliver 30 days ago. Boliver, son, Edward, and daughter, are in Wichita, and a much needed rest following the strain of the weeks that preceded the funeral last Saturday at Hedley.

The type was set in the News office, but the press work was done at Hedley.

Mr. George Bagby and his mother, Mrs. L. S. Bagby, returned Saturday night from their pleasant and interesting trip to Monterey, Old Mexico.

THEATRE BROKEN INTO SUNDAY A. M.

LEE CASEY ENCOUNTERS
MASKED INTRUDER ON
PASTIME SECOND FLOOR

Around ten o'clock Sunday morning Lee Casey, Pastime Theatre operator, went into the second floor office of the theatre and was startled as he opened the door into the store room to glimpse a masked figure standing there, and who struck at him with some sort of stick or weapon. The blow was arrested by the low door frame, and Mr. Casey felt little harm as he turned and ran down-stairs to call for help.

Willard Skelton in the confectionery ran over to the Baptist Church to call Sheriff Pierce, and in a few minutes the Sheriff with others began a search of the premises for the intruder. It was found that entrance had been made by smashing a window pane in the rear of the show, and after some search in which the mask was picked up, L. J. Bledsoe is alleged to have been found in the basement and under the influence of liquor.

Bledsoe was placed in jail and is being held under a $5,000 bond on charge of burglary and assault. He made a voluntary statement Monday morning which throws a very different light on the deplorable affair, which statement will be found in another column, and should be a warning to unthinking young men of this and other communities. Sheriff Pierce is very anxious that boys and young men of the county take warning and leave liquor and questionable company alone, lest it get them into trouble as the young man in question. The sheriff says "taking a chance never pays."

Billy Ralph Andis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Andis, was seriously injured when he fell from his bicycle early Monday afternoon. His condition has slightly improved.

Shoffitt's Bond Set At $10,000

At a preliminary hearing held in Justice of the Peace Hubert Day's court Wednesday morning of this week, the bond of Dr. G. W. Shoffitt, charged with assault with intent to murder was set at $10,000.

The bond has not been made and the defendant is being held in the Donley County jail. Dr. Shoffitt is charged with assault to murder growing out of the near-tragedy on the evening of Dec. 31, 1933, when after having his house searched by Sheriff Guy Pierce and Deputy Guy Wright, he is alleged to have opened fire on the two resulting in the loss of an eye to the deputy.

The case will come up in the March term of District Court.

METHODISTS RALLY AMARILLO FEB. 6TH

"THE CALL OF THE TRUMPET" IS EVANGELICAL THEME OF MEETING

Tuesday, Feb. 6th, will be a great day for Methodists of the Panhandle section when representatives from over twenty or thirty counties gather at the Polk Street Methodist Church in one of a series of great rallies held all over the connection, and advertised as the "most important inspirational event of the quadrennium."

Four Bishops of the church and three noted laymen will be in charge of the all-day meeting, which will be held in morning and afternoon and night sessions. The leaders are Bishop H. A. Boaz, Arthur J. Moore, U. V. W. Darlington, John M. Moore and Mrs. W. G. Cram and Elmer T. Clark, also Mr. G. L. Morelock.

Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor of the Clarendon Methodist Church is organizing a delegation from the local church to attend the sessions of the day, and he is hopeful of having at least fifty men and women from this church present.

The occasion is a challenge to Methodism to rise above temporary conditions—to shake off its lethargy—to claim again a new and greater passion for more missionary activity and evangelical effort. The hope is to engender a new faith and a new hope and above all, a re-dedication to God among ministers and laymen, alike.

There will be no registration fees at the Amarillo meeting, and a district Institute will be held in each district following the rally. In the Clarendon district the Institute will be held at Wellington on Feb. 17th.

SUBSCRIPTION DAY FOR THE HEDLEY INFORMER

Saturday at Hedley will be held a special Subscription Day for the Hedley Informer in appreciation for the long and faithful service of the Boliver family to that community.

Mr. Frank Kendall, who is serving this week as editor of the Informer in the absence of the Boliver family, will receive and receipt for the subscriptions at his harness shop, and it is hoped that several hundred loyal Hedley and Donley County citizens will drop by and pay up and in advance for the Informer.

The Clarendon News adds its word of appeal to make this the greatest single day any Donley County newspaper ever had for subscription collections. Go to Hedley Saturday and take a receipt from Frank Kendall for your money paid in this worthy cause.

CWA NURSE NAMED IN DONLEY COUNTY

MRS. JEROME D. STOCKING
IS NURSE, MRS. MAE
WOMACK ASSISTANT

Announcement was made this week through the State Board of Health of the appointment of Mrs. Jerome D. Stocking as CWA nurse for Donley County. Mrs. Mae Womack was named as assistant. Both parties are well known throughout the county. The work is a part of the CWA program and will be carried out under the direction of the Civil Works Association. Mrs. Stocking who is an American National Red Cross nurse had a wide experience in relief work among the refugee camps in the Mississippi flood lands. She has also had a general experience in hospitals and was trained in nursing at the Charity Hospital, New Orleans. She was formerly connected with the Adair Hospital where she served as anesthetist and where she did general nursing.

Mrs. Mae Womack is favorably known as a private duty nurse who has worked professionally in Clarendon for the past eight years. She was trained in New York City and has specialized in the nursing of children. She worked at one time with the extension department of the State health board in a campaign for healthier babies.

The work of the nurses in Donley County will be one of instruction, supervision and demonstration under the direction from State Health Department and upon the advice of the physicians of the county.

BIRTHDAY BALL NETS AROUND $70

BENEFIT BALL FOR WARM SPRINGS FUND HERE
DRAWS GOOD CROWD

Tuesday evening Clarendon celebrated with the rest of America President Roosevelt's Birthday Ball. The Ball was to further benefit the Warm Springs Foundation Fund for crippled children.

The Ball was promoted by John W. Beard in Clarendon, starting at 9:00 o'clock. The orchestra was composed of several musicians from Clarendon and four from Wellington. At 10:30 the crowd listened to the President's speech which told of the numerous benefits of Warm Springs. There was an exceptionally good floor show put on by some attractive young ladies from Wellington.

Appreciation and thanks should go to all who made the Ball possible according to Mr. Beard. Approximately seventy dollars will be the amount netted to go to the good cause of The Warm Springs Foundation Fund.

Mrs. Ora Briggs arrived from Dallas last week to visit her sister-in-law Mrs. Ruth Teat.

EAST END WORK MAY SOON BEGIN

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ASKS
COUNTY TO RUSH R.O.W.
CONVEYANCES

In a letter to County Judge Sam W. Lowe, dated January 30th, Divisional Engineer W. D. Van London says that the grading and drainage on Highway 5 from Clarendon to the Hall County line has been tentatively approved as a NRWR project, and that if all right-of-way conveyances are in hand that there is a possibility of work beginning within the next five or six weeks.

Under the NRWR plan—federal government recovery project—the labor will be furnished through the Donley County Relief headquarters for all grading and the small drainage structures, but the major structures will be handled through contracts.

County Administrator Baker has been working quietly for some days on the plan of getting the work approved under the NRWR and now it seems it is about to be accomplished.

Since there are two units, one from Clarendon to Hedley, and from Hedley to the Hall County line, and since right-of-way is reported as complete on the East end unit, it appears that work will likely begin on the Hedley to Hall County line section first, with the other to follow quickly.

Every effort of the court is being bent to having everything in readiness for early procedure when the project is finally approved under the NRWR.

Miss Herlois Burrell returned home Wednesday morning from a pleasant two weeks vacation. Miss Burrell visited in Kansas City and Pleasanton, Kansas where she was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Price.

BUYING POWER IS HERE

Since proof from many sources indicate that there is lots of buying power present among the people of this section, it ought to follow that every business man should take a tip, and go after more business.

National authorities are urging that all lines of business increase their advertising and reap the rewards of pick-up in volume, and that advice is just as timely in Donley County as it is in New York.

There's money in the county and there's more business for everybody who will go after it in an intelligent, aggressive advertising campaign.

NEW CARS CROWD THE HIGHWAYS

Somebody has been lying about having no money—about the hard times that beset this country—that is if we are to believe our eyes in the number of new cars that crowd our highways and streets.

Even back in the so-called "good old days," there were few if any more new automobiles sold—at least it doesn't seem that way, which sets us wondering again if we are really as "broke" as we sometimes like to confess.

1934 is a good year, and with our eyes to the front let everybody lay his plans for a good, profitable business, a good profitable crop, a good profitable year in every life.

Let's go forward—and maybe those of us who are really short of cash will be able to ride in a new car before the year is past.

MAUDLIN SLOGANS

Whenever you run into one of these politicians who waves his arms and rants about "revenue and control of the liquor traffic," you don't have to scratch down very far until you find the same gent that a few months ago was howling about how "prohibition couldn't prohibit," and how "temperance would be helped by bringing beer back again."

The truth is that drunkenness has doubled in Texas—and everywhere else—since beer was legalized, and since the repeal of the 18th amendment made so many feel that it was time to throw all self-restraint to the winds.

Now as to revenue. How can these fellows who deliberately disobey the federal prohibition act, how can these fellows talk about "control" and "revenue," and "citizenship demands that we uphold the law?" Their words ought to choke them—such is their brazen effrontery. Revenue—there isn't a chance of a dollar profit in that account. With liquor the expense of orphan homes, insane asylums, prisons, hospitals, and enlarged court dockets, costs double the revenue brought in, not to estimate at all the homes wrecked, the lives lost, the bodies and souls wrecked.

There is no gainful recognition, or partnership possible with the liquor business now or ever.

AMERICAN HIGHWAYS A SHAMBLES

A recent release of the National Safety Council points out that laws to control pedestrians on streets and highways may be necessary, unless walkers themselves take steps to eliminate the pedestrian hazard.

In an average year, about one half of all automobile deaths are suffered by pedestrians. And, contrary to the general belief, the pedestrian is not an innocent bystander run down by a Machiavellian notorist. He is, in a great number of cases where death or serious injury results, solely to blame.

Larger cities, for the most part, have laws against jay-walking—the practice of crossing the streets against the signal bells or lights. Smaller towns may be called upon to pass similar legislation—pedestrian carelessness isn't limited to the metropolitan centers. Again, thousands of accidents are caused by pedestrians walking on the right on highways and roads, where they can't see cars coming up behind them. It is being urged that this offense be made punishable by a fine, precisely as fines are levied against an automobile operator guilty of driving on the wrong side of the road.

There is great need for unremitting, concentrated educational work against automobile accidents, modernization of driving laws, and law enforcement. The American highway is a shambles—over 30,000 killed in 1933—where the reckless, the incompetent and the careless menace the lives and property of us all.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Any doubt that any Texan may have held as to the financial success of the proposed Texas Centennial should be removed by the results of the Chicago Century of Progress, which had more than 22,000,000 paid admissions and a total income of exceeding $37,000,000 from gate receipts and concessions.

Visitors to the fair spent approximately $750,000,000 in Chicago, which went into every branch of trade in the city and suburbs. In addition to this huge sum, many millions were spent throughout the State by tourists.

While transportation lines, hotels, tourist camps and eating places received a large share of the greatly increased business resulting from the exposition, no business in Chicago and surrounding territory was so small that it did not profit from the fair.

According to a published statement, "The opening of the gates of the Century of Progress, changed Chicago in one day from the most depressed to the most prosperous city in America, renewing the courage and the faith of the people of Chicago and of the entire State.

Before the closing date, citizens of Chicago, concessionaires and others from all over the country began besieging the directors to open the exposition again in 1934 as soon as the weather conditions would permit. Three-fourths of those holding concessions stated that they were ready to sign new contracts for the 1934 celebration.

The United States Government and other foreign countries offered to continue their co-operation. Many states that failed to have exhibits in 1933 are already inquiring for space in 1934. Millions of those who have visited the fair have announced their intention of returning in 1934 for longer visits.

The 1934 Chicago Fair will afford Texas the opportunity to give the greatest possible publicity to the "See Texas Centennial" of 1936, and at a minimum cost. Exhibitors and concessionaires will then be in a frame of mind to take part in the Texas Centennial celebration, and will have nearly two years in which to get ready.

But before the Chicago exposition opens again in 1934, Texas must be ready with a definite program outlined or such attractions as may be desired.

While Texas would not want to duplicate the features of the Chicago show, and would have a celebration of its own conception—unique and different—it should profit by Chicago's experience in pleasing the public and in attracting the largest crowds—experience gained from 1933 and 1934.—Will H. Mayes.

ANOTHER FIFTEEN DAYS AND THEN—

Fifteen days extension has been granted on the limit of Jan. 31st, for the signing of cotton acreage contracts. Now those who have hesitated will probably sign in a hurry, for compulsory compliance is the next certain step. Voluntary signers will of course have the better of the argument.

The country needs honest well-reasoned opinion—not blind idolatry or partisan ranting on either side.—Industrial News Review.

Rosalyn Bass Entertains

Saturday night, Rosalyn Bass entertained with a candy-making party. After everyone had arrived, the entire party went to the kitchen where they were supposed to crack a cupfull of pecans; however, since most of the pecans were eaten as soon as they were cracked, few found their way to the cup. Then everyone played games until the refreshments, and successful date loaf were served.

Those present were: Misses Sarah Virginia McGowan, Virginia Cluck, Laverne McMurry, Helen Louise Greene, Anna Moores Swift, and the hostess, Rosalyn Bass.

Messrs Billy Walker, Carrol Hudson, Willard Hudson, Lawrence Whitlock, Sam Barrow, Arthur Chase.

Debate

The question for debate in the Interscholastic League this year is:

Resolved, That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation.

This question has the great advantage of enlisting the interest of pupils from the outset. Every body, almost without exception, is a radio fan, and the debate involves a discussion of the best use to which radio may be put. It is necessary to examine the various plans different nations have adopted in seeking to make radio of just as much social service as possible. England has one plan, Germany has another, and so on. The pupil who studies this question will have his vision enlarged by making a world-wide survey of radio control and operation and making critical comparisons with the method used in this country. It is a vital public question.

A debating club was organized in the high school on Tuesday of last week, and a number of students have shown an interest in this feature of Interscholastic League work. It is thought that Clarendon will have unusually strong teams to enter both boys' and girls' debating this year.

The following is a list of students who have signed up for debating: Mary Frances Dewey, Lola Bryant, Florine Goodson, Robert Nichols, Jimmy Bourland, Aubrey Brady, Wesley Powell, George Chamberlain, Bert Skipper, John Lott, and Wylie Buchanan.

SENIOR REPORT

Well, the Seniors are still alive even if they have not been heard from in a long time. They are busy preparing for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet and the Senior play. Mrs. Stocking, it is understood, has received the play and will start working on it immediately as it is to be given sometime in February. The Banquet also comes in Feb. It seems that the Seniors are very much wrought up over the fact that they have been re-seated in their home room. Because of so many vacant seats, Mr. Stocking has seated them alphabetically thereby filling the front part of the room instead of the back. In doing this, he distributed several play-houses.

ASSEMBLY REPORT

In continuation of the educational messages being delivered to the high school students, Dr. B. L. Jenkins spoke upon the subject of medicine Monday afternoon at assembly.

Dr. Jenkins talked upon the profession of medicine as to its opportunities and disappointments. He first gave the history of medicine, saying that it was the oldest profession known, dating back to 400 B. C. The speaker then gave the definition of a physician as one who gives his time and talent for the betterment of mankind. He further stated that the possibilities of gaining a fortune through the practice of medicine are very, very small, and that there are much hard work and years of expensive training connected with that profession. In conclusion, Dr. Jenkins gave the brighter side of the vocation by saying that if one is willing to give up pleasures and comforts in order to give service for humanity, one will re-

Interscholastic League

The Interscholastic Leaguers are showing unusual interest in the various activities this season. Sports are as usual overrun with candidates, but there are also many enrolled in the literary section.

Our tennis courts are full of eager boys and girls at every hour; those who have vacant periods are allowed to practice tennis during these school hours. Those who demonstrate extraordinary technique at the game are Lovie Beavers, Wilma Dee Smith, Sarah McGowan, Paul Green, Eley Watson and Wesley Powell.

The Broncholette's basketball team has defeated the strong teams of Lelia Lake and Chamberlain this week. There has been much interest aroused in volleyball, usually the most popular of all girls' sports in this league work. Volley ball practice was begun Tuesday afternoon.

On the track are many future champions among boys who are glad to drop the monotonous routine of physical education.

In literary training for honors there are numerous workers. Debating already has nine adherents. There are eight girls deeply interested in essay writing, and one girl is studying extemporaneous speaking. Miss Harris has a roomful of excellent spellers who expect to be able to send favorable contestants to the county meet this spring. State-furnished material has been put to work in these literary divisions, and with the help of the instructor-sponsors, the students are endeavoring to present good competition when put up against those students of neighboring schools.

JUNIOR HIGH REPORT

The Junior High students are still climbing the ladder to the hill of fame. Of course they are all like any other human beings; they have their bad days and they have their good ones. Some days they progress several steps up the ladder; other days they have to stand still. Once in a while they have to step back a step, but they always keep trying and it is sure that they will reach the top.

There are a few, who I am beginning to think, are almost there. Take J. D. Swift, for instance. He has become an expert preacher. I expect to hear him preaching from the pulpit of one of the churches any day now. Where are you going to preach. Let us know, as we should like to hear your sweet, musical voice again sometimes.

Truett Holtzclaw isn't far behind J. D. He is one of our excellent song leaders. Listen carefully, for you might hear his very harmonious voice over the radio some day.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right dose of a liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good.

A properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brings safe relief from constipation. It gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which all druggists keep ready for use. It makes an ideal family laxative; effective for all ages, and may be given for the youngest child. Notes From A Convenient Cuff

Well, I did something last week I had never done before. I was best man at the wedding where the tall and handsome ex-Texas University stude gave up the greatest gift of man—Freedom. Boy, oh boy, was I excited! The bride blushed adorably when the preacher pronounced them man and wife. They're a darned cute couple, too, if I may say so, and I wish to congratulate them both and wish them all the happiness in the world.

I am rather jealous of the bride. The curly-headed guy and I survived swimmin' holes and measles together and I am rather jealous of the young bride.

I have just finished "Forgive Us Our Trespasses," a book full of droll humor. The author possessed a a stire which smelled strongly of G. B. Shaw.

I'm all hopped up over the charity dance and think it is one of the most humane celebrations of an executive's birth date I have ever witnessed.

CHEMISTRY LABORATORY

The chemistry laboratory is progressing these days. To my knowledge there have been only three mishaps since the second semester began. But don't feel too good over this report, because Jack had to hide the glycerine today to keep Bob McKee from making T. N. T.

The first mishap of the laboratory was only a slight incident, and I don't think Miss Pratt suffered any from the sulphuric acid that Mr. Patman poured on her hand. However, Miss Bones grew quite serious when the careless Mr. Goodson spilled a deteriorating acid on her nose and oxford. Soda water was used to no avail.

Tiny holes were eaten in the nose of Miss Dunn as a punishment for mixing sulfuric acid and ammonium hydroxide too rapidly. Come on, you chemistry students, and keep the good work going. We want to please the Dean.

Vivid New Colors and Light Effects

The millions of visitors who saw the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago and who return to see the 1934 Fair will find radical differences in coloring and lighting effects. New buildings, new color and lighting schemes and many new exhibits will make practically a new Fair. The above picture shows a bit of the color and lighting effects along the basin leading to the Planetarium where myriad colored lights playing downward into the clear waters of the basin and on to the brilliantly colored pattern over which the waters flow create a veritable fairyland effect.

PALO DURO

China was the topic under discussion when the Palo Duro Literary Society met in regular session on Wednesday, January 24, 1934.

J. R. Bartlett started the discussion by making a few remarks on the geography of China. He was followed by Geraldine Pratt, who talked on the subject "Religion in China." Some Chinese Customs were enumerated by Fred Bourland.

WHAT DO MODERN YOUNG WOMEN KNOW ABOUT HOUSEKEEPING?

(Contributed by a College Freshman)

I associate three things with house, cooking, and sewing. In the term housekeeping—cleaning bygone days, even the small wealthy girls and their sewing classes, cooking classes, and had to take care of their rooms. This preparedness of this kind was advocated by the mother. It was in most instances, however, a case of necessity for the little girls to help in the home. But has this knowledge of housekeeping survived in the age of pampered children, women office workers, and men housekeepers?

I was leaning out an upstairs window one day thinking about what I wanted for lunch when a young couple emerged from their house nearby and started to their work.

"John did you sweep the front room?"

"No, I thought—"

"Oh, I knew you wouldn't when I told you. Well, did you put your house slippers in the closet?"

"No, I put 'em under the divan. I'll need 'em again tonight."

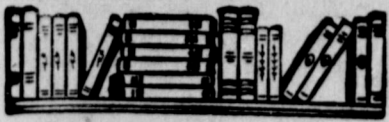

This typical young couple had not then lived in our neighborhood long, and I had not yet made my appearance on the scene. But before long we were visiting, and as our acquaintance grew, I enjoyed noticing the methods for quickly cleaning house that my friends used. Papers, shoes, soiled garments, and what not were piled in a heap behind the bed until occasion demanded their resurrection. Mr. and Mrs. cleaned out the dishes good, and while Mrs. was busy piling things behind the bed, Mr. wriggled a dishrag in the pan for two or three minutes. He then put them in a rack, poured scalding water over them, and left them to dry by themselves. I was always thankful for the scalding water.

I chanced to be in their home several times at mealtime. Mr. always made the bread and opened the cans. "The only things he can do about the kitchen," Mrs. explained. So Mr. would take down a box of prepared biscuit flour, add a little water, and there you were. While the bread baked, Mr. opened the cans and Mrs. seasoned and heated the contents. I was always served a delectable meal.

One morning I had run over to take back some of Mr.'s prepared biscuit flour I had borrowed. I arrived just in time to be audience to an elegant dress rehearsal of the family. Mr. and Mrs. were trading the results of their sewing ability. Mrs. was sewing suspender buttons on Mr.'s pants (he was in the pants), and he in turn was sewing up a tear in Mrs.' slip. I set the flour on the kitchen table and fled before I should be called in to demonstrate my facilities in the art of sewing. As I reached home, I wondered if all young Americans were like the couple I had just witnessed.

Library Notes

By MRS. C. A. BURTON

We have been gladdened by gifts of books twice within the last few days. Mrs. C. E. Griggs brought these:

"Legends Every Child Should Know"—Hamilton W. Mabie, "Her Infinite Variety"—Brand Whitlock. "The Valley of Silent Men"—James Oliver Curwood. "The Little Minister"—James M. Barrie. "Rezanov"—Gertrude Atherton. "The Young Professor"—E. B. Hatcher. "The Camp Fire Girls of Long Lake"—Jane L. Stewart. "Amarilly of Clothes-Line Alley"—Belle K. Maniates. Mrs. F. E. Chamberlain brought these:

"The Pride of Palomar"—Geo. Duston. "Pee-Wee Harris F. O. B. Bridgeboro"—Fitzhugh. "Tom Swift and His Wireless Message", "His Airline Express", "His Flying Boat", "His Air Glider"—by Victor Appleton. And the following of the "Bunny Brown" series by Laura Lee Hope:

"Bunny Brown and his Sister Sue Giving a Show", "At Aunt Lee's City Home", "Their Trick Dog, On Jack Frost Island, Their Shetland Pony, At Camp Rest-a-While, At a Sugar Camp, At Christmas Tree Cove, Playing Circus.

We hope others of our friends may remember us as these have done. Two hundred and seven books were checked out on last Saturday afternoon alone. This gives an idea how our people are appreciating and using the library.

A recent addition to our library is a volume of unusual interest, especially in the Southland—"Mose Robert, Knight of the Confederacy" by James C. Young. Quite a little space is devoted to the ancestry of Robert E. Lee, showing that he came of a knightly strain. Probably the fact that his father, Light Horse Harry Lee was a soldier and left a soldier's library for the son, had much to do with Robert's choice of a profession. Briefly the Author tells of his student life at West Point, his share in the war with Mexico, his appointment as Superintendent of West Point, and then of his promotion to a Lieutenant-Colonelcy and assignment to service in Texas in 1855. Through these years we see him as the knightly young husband, the devoted young father, fond of children, particularly little girls, and of cats, dogs, and horses. In the long evenings, alone in his quarters, he read much from the classics, the Bible, and the Campaigns of Napoleon. His baggage never failed to include a few volumes of the Philosophers, and his pocket Bible was thumbed and worn. He read and re-read Napoleon's Campaigns.

But the mutterings and thunderings of the years were growing louder, the war clouds were thickening. Lee could no longer remain in the seclusion of Texas Army Posts. He was called to Washington and appointed Colonel of the 1st Cavalry. General Scott had repeatedly said "Robert Lee is a great soldier." He is now described as a great strong man in his middle fifties, who saw opening before him the vistas of war. He was the embodiment of military order. To take command of an Army—to pursue Indians or deepen rivers—was his vocation." The author tells of Lee's having been offered the command of the Union Army, and gives this statement from his letter of refusal, "though opposed to secession and deprecating war, I can take no part in any invasion of the Southern States." But the 19th of April, 1861, came, and we follow Lee in his bitter struggle to decide where duty lay. "For him to choose between duty and advantage had been no trial. But to seek his duty on either side of a chasm was to rack the man's soul." But the decision is made, and Lee becomes "the gray Knight of the Confederacy."

The story is well told. One follows with intense interest the tragic history of the next four years. Then we see the "Gray Knight" accept the result as God's will, take up life's duties again as President of Washington and Lee University, where he strove to put his own high ideals into the lines of the young men under his care.

I counted it one of my greatest privileges when in Virginia to enter the little chapel at Washington and Lee and stand beside the beautiful recumbent statue of Lee by Valentina, in front of the Crypt where his body rests.

VOLUNTARY STATEMENT BY L. C. BLEDSOE

THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF DONLEY

I, L. C. Bledsoe, being in custody of Guy Perce, Sheriff of Donley County, Texas, having been first warned by R. Y. King, County Attorney of Donley County, Texas, the person to whom the hereinafter set out statement is by me made, that I do not have to make any statement at all, and that any statement made by me may be used in evidence against me on my trial for the offense concerning which this statement is made, do hereby make the following voluntary statement in writing to the said County Attorney:

"I left Caraway's Bakery about sunup. I went up the street towards Lee Muse's. As I walked along I saw Handley upon the awning in front of the Picture Show. I stepped on the side walk across the street from the Picture Show. When he went in the window, I went around the back of Hommell's and climbed a telephone pole, I walked along on top of the building to the Picture Show and jumped off of the building onto the awning where I had seen Handley. Handley had raised the window and gone in, and I went into the picture show through the same window I went in the office of the picture show and hid. I found a mask on the floor as I went in. It was made of black cloth and I put it on. I found a stick picked it up. I intended to beat Handley up with the stick. I waited at the office door until some one opened the door. I supposed it was Handley and I struck at him with a stick. I did not know it was Casey at the time. When I found that it was Casey, I ran back to the back of the building and found the door locked. I then went downstairs into the basement and hid. I never did see Handley after I went inside the building. On the way to the basement I threw the mask down. I did not go into the building with the intention of stealing anything or taking anything, but simply to even the scores with Handley as we had some trouble about four months ago in Denver, Colorado. I had been acquainted with Handley for about the last three years. Handley comes through Clarendon every once and a while, I have seen him about five or six times during the last two years, but I do not know where he is now."
