Highway Dep't. Believes In This County PEOPLE ARE STILL FOR TRADES DAY, MANY IN TOWN WEDNESDAY

ROAD WORK MAY COMMENCE SOON

DEPARTMENT ADVERTISING
FOR BIDS; JUDGE LOWE
IN LENGTHY STATEMENT

That the State Highway Department at Austin has confidence in the people of Donley county was proven this week when they advertised for bids on Highway 5 work in the county, before the tax payers have signed whether or not they will agree to the county commissioners plan for the issuance of warrants and the re-payment of the $15,000 loaned this county by the department.

Judge Sam W. Lowe, in a trip to Austin this week, received assurance that the work of grading the drainage on the county's main artery, from here to the Hall county line, would begin soon, providing the people fell in line with the commissioners proceedings and offered no protest to their plans of re-payment.

Judge Lowe says, "To those who are not familiar with all matters concerning these procedures I offer the following information:

"In 1932, Donley County, through its commissioners' court, accepted a proposition made by the Texas State Highway commission to purchase a right-of-way through the county, the commission to construct and complete the road. In addition to these provisions, the highway department proposed to appropriate $15,000.00 to assist the county in the purchase of this right-of-way. The loan was to be paid back at the rate of $5,000 per

In Last Minute Efforts To Gain More Votes Candidates Go Into Home Stretch; Then They'll Rest

With the primaries a little over a week away candidates for state, district, county and precinct offices are putting on last minute sprints in drives to secure votes throughout the state. With their campaigning done, they themselves will go to the polls July 28, vote and then relax, many of them for the first time in several weeks, knowing that on Monday, July 29 they will have no speaking engagements to fill.

The candidates for the governor's chair are especially active this week and face a strenuous schedule for next.

James V. Allred, Wichita Falls, attorney-general, spoke in the shadow of the massive dome of the state capitol at Austin Tuesday night, at which time he made, what was said by his admirers to be the best speech of his current campaign. Wednesday he fills engagement at Granger and Temple. His Austin talk was broadest.

The Panhandle's candidate, State Senator Clint Small spoke in Sherman Tuesday evening, following speeches earlier in the day at Honey Grove and Bonham. His speech was also broadcast. Small's backers are planning rallies for him throughout Texas this week and next.

Edward K. Russell, of Red River county, made Hadley, Hillsboro and Itasca in his tour Tuesday and at each place outlined his platform to his listeners, stating again that he advocated strict adherence to the state prohibition law and the abolishing of gambling.

Donley County Boys Assigned To CCC Camps

Seven Donley county youths have been assigned to Civilian Conservation Camps throughout the country, following their examination and acceptance at the Army recruiting station in Amarillo, several days ago.

They are: Quinby Robertson, Doyle Adams, Charles Nidiver and W. E. Osbourne, all of Clarendon, J. A. Bullard and A. G. Black Jr. of Hadley and Paul Wood, of Lelia Lake.

They will remain in the government's service six months and will work at the rate of $30.00 per month, five-sixths of which will be sent to the worker's dependents back home. The government furnishes food, clothing, lodging and the other essentials.

Scout Troop Will Be Hosts To Boys

Hubert Day, scoutmaster of Troop 37, announced Tuesday that beginning next Monday the Boy Scouts would entertain future scouts from the ages of 5 on up to 12. The entertainment will be in the form of stories, stunts and games and will be held at 5 o'clock each Monday evening on the courthouse lawn.

Every real red-blooded boy in Clarendon of those ages are invited according to Day and he especially urges the parents to bring their children around at that hour for an evening of good clean fun.

COUNTY AGENT IS LIONS SPEAKER

T. R. BROUN IN ENLIGHTENING
TALK ON BANKHEAD
BILL AT LUNCHEON.

In their new place of dining, the basement of the Antro Hotel, the Lions Club at their regular weekly luncheon Tuesday noon, heard T. R. Broun, Donley County agricultural agent explain the Bankhead Compulsory Cotton Control Act and its far reaching effects as far as the prosperity of the signer is concerned.

Broun, who is conducting a series of meetings throughout the county for the purpose of explaining the intricacies of the bill to the signers, said that his course of instruction was divided into three sections as follows: 1. Instructing the committeemen in each community who are helping him with the adjustment of the exemption problems. 2. Answering questions which the farmer who has affixed his signature to the bill wants to know. 3. Answering questions asked at random by non-signers of the bill, who are interested in its effects on the welfare of the county in particular and the country in general.

In explaining the purpose of the Bankhead Act, the speaker said that it was instituted for the purpose of doing away with the "chiseling" which was so evident following the passage of the voluntary act by congress last year. He cited the case of a farmer down state who flatly refused to sign the voluntary act

Dwelling Burns, Three Families Made Homeless

Three families, consisting of sixteen persons, were made homeless early Wednesday morning when the two story frame building one block west of the college was completely destroyed by fire. The house, owned by a Detroit, Michigan, loan firm, was the former residence of Dr. G. S. Slover and was moved from the campus to the site where it burned, several years ago. All the household furnishings of the families which occupied it were lost.

The alarm was turned in about 2:15 a. m. and although the fire department made a record run to the scene, the blaze was beyond control when they arrived.

The blaze spread to another home near-by and for a time threatened to destroy it, but was extinguished by the fire boys.

Occupants of the building, were Tom Melton and family, Mrs. H. H. Gibbs and family and Cleo Martin and family.

The local relief agency and the Red Cross were at work Wednesday gathering clothing and providing shelter for the destitute families.

According to Jack Killough, who had charge of the building, insurance was carried by the owners.

Absentee Voting Said To Be Heavy

Up until noon Wednesday 33 absentee votes had been cast in the Donley county clerk's office and 5 had been received through the mail, according to information released by that department day afternoon. Many more absentee votes are expected in through the mail prior to the closing of the voting period, July 25.

So far the absentee vote in Donley county has been far greater than two years ago, according to Miss Helen Weidman, of the local office.

FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN ACT

LARGE NUMBER ATTENDING
MEETINGS BEING CONDUCTED OVER COUNTY.

County agricultural agent T. R. Broun, who is conducting a series of meetings throughout the county for the purpose of instructing Donley county farmers in the signing of the Bankhead allotments, reports good attendance and the manifestation of much interest at each meeting.

This week's series of meetings closes with the one to be held here in the courthouse at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Monday, according to Broun, he will begin another series, to be held throughout the county.

Assisting him are twelve committeemen appointed in the various communities and three appointed for the county in general. The three county committeemen are M. M. Noble, Goldston; E. L. Lewis, Lelia Lake and J. G. McDougal, Hadley.

The community committeemen are W. H. Gray, Goldston; W. A. Bailey, Ashton; Edwin Bailey, Clarendon; Nollie Simons, Sunnyview; R. W. Moore, Crammerlain; O. L. Jacobs, Windy Valley and Hudgins; G. F. Leach, Lelia Lake; Nelse Robinson, Naylor; Clyde Bridges, Hadley; A. E. Ransom, Smith and Giles; B. A. Kyser, McKnight and Bray; Gordon Thomas, Skillet and Whitefish.

In the local office, under the supervision of R. C. Land, recently appointed allotment adjuster, extra help is being worked in order to get the allotment applications typed.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Boykin and sons, Jim, Ber., and Ed and Miss Harvey Lou Strawn left Saturday for Colorado, where they will spend several weeks fishing and camping.

ROBERTS RITES HELD SATURDAY

DAUGHTER OF REV. B. M.
STEPHENS, FORMER PASTOR
METHODIST CHURCH

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist church here Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Ella Roberts, 68, who died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Womack in Memphis.

The rites were conducted by Rev. Ira F. Key, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Marshall. He was assisted by Rev. E. D. Landreth, Methodist pastor, of Memphis. Interment was in the Odd Fellows' cemetery here.

She was the mother of Mrs. Luther Butler and S. S. Roberts, both of Clarendon.

Mrs. Ella Roberts was born in Sparta, Tenn., January 3, 1866. In 1883 she was married to J. H. Roberts at Clarksville, Tenn., and in 1886 moved to Texas, settling in Dallas county.

She moved to Clarendon in 1887, where she lived until 1922 when she changed her place of residence to Amarillo.

Mrs. Roberts was the daughter of Rev. B. M. Stephens, a pioneer preacher of Tennessee. He was a former pastor of the Methodist church at Clarendon, for which Mrs. Roberts served as organist for several years. Mr. Roberts died October 1, 1919.

Besides her two children of this city, Mrs. Roberts is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. W. W. Ballew, of Amarillo; Mrs. A. Womack, of Memphis; Mrs. H. A. Warner, of Amarillo.

Canning Plant To Be Installed In Donley County

Those on relief rolls in Donley county will benefit this winter through the construction and operation of a canning plant in this county, approved by the State Relief Commission recently. No definite date has been set for the opening of this plant, beginning of construction on the plant, but it is likely that it will be immediately following the arrival of the district home demonstration agent, who will supervise the installation of equipment.

The plant will be operated by relief labor and the canned goods will be stored for distribution to persons on the relief rolls during the winter months. Vegetables and meats will be furnished by farmers of the county in exchange for a certain percent of the canned goods.

It has not been announced just where the establishment will be located.

Phillip Wolfe Was In Town Saturday

Phillip Wolfe, of Pampa, candidate for the Legislature from the 122nd district was in Clarendon Saturday in the interest of his candidacy.

Wolfe said that everything was looking "mighty favorable" toward his candidacy. The 122nd district takes in Donley, Collingsworth, Clay and Wheeler counties.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Martin and sons, Clint and Clyde attended the funeral of W. E. Moss at Shamrock Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Moss is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

Mayor J. W. Martin Builds Model Of The First House Erected In Panhandle; Called Exact Replica

J. W. Martin, mayor of Clarendon, completed last week, the building of a small model of the first residence built in the Panhandle, the old ranch home of Colonel and Mrs. Goodnight, erected in 1876. Built in the mayor's spare moments, the replica is said to be a masterpiece in its line and almost exactly like the original, old timers of this section declare.

The dimensions of the model are, length 44 inches, width 12 inches and height 10 inches. The floor plans were furnished by J. T. Christian, of Claude, who lived in the house several years following the moving of the Goodnight's to the JA Ranch headquarters in 1879.

The model has four rooms, 3 fireplaces and six windows. It is made out of cedar wood and red clay, procured by Mayor Martin at the place where the ruins of the old home may still be seen. On the doors are small latch strings, which raise or lower a wooden bar on the inside. The windows are exact replicas of the small panes brought by Goodnight from Pueblo, Colo., the only part of the house that was not made in the canyon.

Around the small old time pickets in the pic-at the top is lashed to the pickets with rawhide.

"The only difference between the model and the original home," Martin said, "is that I used nails in the place of wooden pins and made the chimney of cement instead of rock."

Those coming with Colonel and Mrs. Goodnight from Colorado and assisting in the building of the home were a Dave McCormack and a Silas Sheek, half-brother to the pioneer rancher.

Mayor Martin is said to have been more closely associated with the colonel than probably any other man living today. He went to work for him at the age of 20 and later married the rancher's niece.

Reports were circulated some time ago that a dug-out found in the canyon served as the ranch headquarters. Martin, however, discounted this, saying that he had conclusive proof that the original building from which he constructed his model, was first residence built in the Panhandle and that it followed its original location as a replica of the original house built in the canyon.

BEST OF FRIENDS ARE DIFFERING

In the present political battle neighbors and the very best of friends differ in their choice of candidates, and it is even rumored that not every wife will vote exactly as their husbands vote.

Well, there is nothing so strange in that. There would be very few friends, indeed, if the two had to see "eye to eye" on every subject, and if there could be no white difference in opinions. It is a healthful condition when we see men and women differ on candidates and principles, and yet maintain the same cordial, friendly relations in spite of such differences.

After all, if everybody in Donley County voted for just one candidate for governor and that candidate happened to be defeated, who would be able to "approach the throne" down at Austin, next year and get favors that we might need up here.

It's a pretty good thing to be strong Allred men, loyal Clint Small men, enthusiastic Hunter men, bull-headed McDonald men, rarin' Witt men, etc. We've got to have representation at Austin, and we've got to have friends of the administration no matter who sits in the governor's chair.

We Allred fellows will do our best for the hard-headed rest of you, when and if we win, if you will do the same for us if we happen to lose.

PRESUMING ON IGNORANCE

One of the boldest pieces of presumption on the ignorance of the people has come to light in the present campaign in Senator Small's effort to make people think that the attorney-general's office is charged with the enforcement of all ordinary laws, and he is daily charging Attorney-General Allred with neglect in enforcement which is designated by law as the sworn duty of District Attorneys, and even County Attorneys.

The Attorney-General of Texas has discharged his duties in a remarkably efficient manner and his collection of millions from the great corporations is the thing that is hurting certain interests and certain people so badly.

You can't fool the people. They know that the Attorney-General's department is judicial and not executive.

AIR CONDITIONING ARRIVES

All over the United States people are taking to air-conditioning like ducks to water. They are learning that it is possible to be comfortable in the hottest weather if you can afford it—or if the theatre, hotel and restaurant owners can afford it. One enterprising manufacturer offers an "air-conditioned bed canopy" that looks very much like the familiar mosquito canopy with a small refrigerator sitting beside it. You slide under the canopy, or do whatever you may denominate your way of getting into bed, snap a switch and you're sleeping in a made-to-order cool air.—Childress County News.

THEY LEVY BUT DON'T PAY

I have before me at this time a certified copy of the list of members of the Texas legislature of a few years ago, and the last one was possibly a little different, and the list was checked in the comptroller's office officially, and forty members paid no tax of any kind. Forty legislative paupers, most of them young lawyers, "tax reformers," "court reformers," and votin' on appropriations of millions for the great corporation, the sovereign state of Texas.—Wichita Banner.

GUESTS

Did you ever stop to think that people read newspapers because they want them? The newspaper is not forced on anyone. People pay for it regularly. Whole families await it eagerly and quarrel good-naturedly over it. Each praises and criticizes the other members of the family. The newspaper is a definite part of the family. That is why its sales force is immeasurable. Door to door handbills are an intrusion upon the privacy of the home, but the newspaper is invited in. Its messages are read avidly and its advertisements are considered a part of these messages. The newspaper is so definitely a part of the people, so much an accepted member of the family that its pages constitute the finest advertising medium yet devised.—Dunkirk (N. Y.) Observer.

WILL TOMORROW BE WHAT IT SHOULD?

"It is not a question of getting back yesterday, but of taking care that we make tomorrow what it should be, that confronts the people of our great nation now," says William G. Everson, D. D., of Portland, Oregon.

"During times of unrest, subversive movements of all kinds to thrive. That is to be expected. What should not be expected is that schools and churches use their influence to stimulate them—a thing that has occurred time and again during the past few years.

"Using religion and education as a cloak, some teachers and ministers have consistently attacked American principals. They have sought, directly or indirectly, to destroy our traditions, and to change our fundamental democratic system of government. They have contributed nothing to the work of recovery—nothing to making the future a happier time for the great masses of the people. Their schemes, if followed, must inevitably bring us to disorder and chaos.

"Change in this country comes through rationalized, orderly progress. We must not lose sight of the great achievements of the past, and the principles which made those achievements possible."

A KISS FOR THE WIFE

Longview News: Those Oklahoma City husbands who formed a Husband's Gratitude Club seem to have struck upon a pretty sound idea for promoting happy marriages.

Each member took this pledge:

"I solemnly pledge myself daily to embrace my wife, kiss her and tell her I love her.

"I promise to compliment her at least once each day on some particular part of the menu she prepares.

"I promise to perform at least one kind and unexpected deed for her daily."

Reducing it all to a formal pledge may sound a bit odd, of course. But it does set forth a course of action which points, most decidedly, in the direction of a successful marriage.

SCIENCE NOT TO BLAME

The idea that science takes away jobs or in general is at the root of our economic and social ills, is contrary to fact, is based on ignorance or misconception, is vicious in its possible social consequences and yet has taken an insidious hold on the minds of many people. Conscious of the fallacy, productive scientists have taken little or no part in the discussion of the subject.—Karl T. Compton, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Be Careful of What You Eat on Picnics

Austin, Texas, July 19.—Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, warns those going on a vacation or picnic, to be careful about their food and the water they drink if they want to avoid unpleasant after effects.

"As to foods," Dr. Brown said, "First, be sure that what you take is perfectly fresh. Second, take things that won't spoil. During the hot muggy weather that prevails at this time of year, it is hard to keep any kind of food in good condition, as every housekeeper knows. Rich perishable food taken off the ice and carried around for several hours before using will spoil quickly."

"It is better to avoid rich salads and indigestible combinations and to stick to the simpler things. Sandwiches—of which an infinite variety can be prepared—cake, the simpler kind—and plenty of fresh, ripe fruit, are usually safe and satisfying and should form the principal part of your menu. Whatever you take, don't overeat and don't indulge in all sorts of queer mixtures. If you do, the day after the picnic is not likely to be a pleasant one for you."

"And as a third precaution: Take your own drinking water, unless you are sure that the water supply at the place where you are going to spend the day, is free from contamination. Thermos bottles, thermos jugs, fruit jars, can all be pressed into service. It may be more trouble to carry water from home, but it is much safer than to drink water from a source that may be contaminated with disease germs, especially those of typhoid fever."

Sparker—Has Jones an automobile? Carker—Not a bit of it. He hit a telegraph pole yesterday.

ALLRED GAINS IN CLASING WEEK

"COULD GO INTO RUN-OFF WITHOUT MAKING ANOTHER SPEECH."

Temple, Texas, July 18, (Sp.)—Attorney General James V. Allred and his progressive program for Texas government apparently were far ahead of the field as the race for governor swept into the last lap of the first Democratic primary.

Less than a week intervenes between Texas voters and the ballot boxes that will be brought out July 23.

While other candidates grabbed at straws, claptrap, baseless charges and empty promises, forgetting to mention their own qualifications for the office of governor, Attorney General Allred steadily argued his plans for a wiser state government through the campaign field.

A few of his supporters were ready for a premature celebration of victory. Jimmie Allred is so well thought of by the many Texans who believe in him that he could go right into the run-off without making another address, said one observer here. "Every time he speaks now, his lead is increased that much more. The voters can't hear him without wholeheartedly endorsing his form and looking program."

Allred, at a stand to the first plank in his platform which declares he will try to solve the problems of the government, lengthened his speaking schedule in order to appear before as many groups of citizens as possible.

Expressions of confidence in his victory were shown on Allred by telegraph, telephone and letters from all parts of the state this week. A prediction in the public mind that Allred's election will mean regulation of utilities, suppression of crime, organized taxes, a government representative of the people rather than monopolies and a broader concept of official duty, was easily discernible.

Allred unfurled his banner with a resounding snap before a homecoming audience at Wichita Falls last week. Local newspapers described his appearance at Wichita Falls as unique in the political history of North Texas. One of the largest crowds that ever attended a political rally in that section gave him a tremendous ovation. Scores of listeners swarmed over the speaker's platform, and all but carried the Attorney General off on their shoulders at the conclusion of his two-hour address.

Allred himself, silently happy, broke the reticence to make predictions that marked his campaign thus far. Declaring that the future of Texas was more at stake than his own political fortunes, Attorney General Allred said:

"It's not my way to make predictions. But I can say that I've never seen things looking more favorable. Even in my last race for Attorney General, when I was given more than 600,000 votes, there was nothing to compare to widespread endorsement given my program in this campaign."

Following his address here Wednesday night, Allred was scheduled to speak in Tyler Thursday, at Eden and Longview Friday, at Mount Vernon and Clarksville Saturday. However, he probably will make additional speeches not now on his schedule.

AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH There Is Always Worship — Fellowship — Service

Some one has said that the best way to break a bad habit is to drop it. Absenting yourself from your church services is a bad habit. It is bad not only for you, but for your family, your church and community. Drop that habit next Lord's day and attend the services of your church. Keep the windows of your souls so clean that the light of hope and joy can shine in. Think how much the church does for you, your children and your neighborhood. What are you doing for the church? Who supports the church for you? How long would the church last if all her members were like you? How many preaching services would we have if all went home after Sunday School like you? How many evening services would we have if all went in for an evening of pleasure like you? Give your soul a chance. Be faithful to your church.

J. Perry King, Pastor. "Our first baby was a girl, and the second was of the contrary sex." "Oh, then you have two girls."

WHITEFISH (By Vida D. Byerly)

The Literary Society met Friday night. An excellent miscellaneous program was rendered by various members of the society. The program was opened with an essay on "Man," by Mr. Lionel Ward. Mr. Ward very cleverly introduced himself to the audience with the letters SA pinned on his shirt. Another popular number was a male quartet which rendered "De Camp Town Races." Members of the quartet were Gordon Thomas, Alvin Long, Monroe Byerly and D. W. Turner. The audience received a number of good laughs from a dialogue staged by Messrs. Albert Miller and Alvin Long. Forgot To Pay For Gas; In Jail

Aubrey Bradley, of Amarillo, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hubert Day Monday for petty theft, pleaded guilty and received a $5.00 fine and costs. He is held in the county jail in lieu of payment.

Bradley, who was paroled here a few years ago for the robbery of the Army Navy store, drove into a gasoline station at Lulla Lake Monday morning and ordered Ben Williams, the proprietor, to fill his gas tank. Williams did so, to the extent of ten gallons and then at Bradley's request went into the station to get his customer a bottle of soda water. While he was gone, Bradley drove off without paying for his purchase. Williams notified local officers Guy Pierce and Guy Wright, who overtook Bradley at Claude and brought him to Clarendon where he was lodged in the county bastille.

Besides the fine and costs he was also assessed the price of the gasoline which he paid.

John Sturgeon Makes Address At Small's Rally

Spotted by delegations from near-by towns, a large crowd attended the Clint Small for Governor rally held here last Saturday.

John Sturgeon, Pampa city attorney was the main speaker at the rally, held north of the Antro Hotel. He was introduced by Judge J. R. Porter, of this city. The speaker, a former East Texan and an active campaigner for Clint Small four years ago, said that for the most important office of this state we need an important man, adding that that was the reason voters should go to the polls, July 28 to elect Clint Small governor.

"It is my appeal to you," Sturgeon said, "to vote for a man who has been reared in your immediate vicinity, for he knows your problems and troubles and will be in a better position to serve you, his neighbors and friends."

Odos Caraway and Homer Mulkey, local men, were co-chairmen of the rally.

Injured Youth Returns Home

Kennedy Davis, Clarendon youth, who was seriously injured in a car wreck, near Jericho last May, was returned home this week from a Dallas clinic, where he had been for the past few weeks, under treatment. His condition is said to be better although it is necessary that he remain in a cast for several months, after which he will be taken back to the clinic for further treatment of his injuries.

Young Davis' brother, Clifford and sister, Josie Mae, accompanied him back to Clarendon.

The News joins the lad's many friends in the admiration of his sheer grit, which physicians said has been one of the determining factors in his improved condition.

"MURDER AT THE VANITIES" TO SHOW HERE NEXT WEEK

"Murder At The Vanities," the Paramount film adapted from Earl Carroll's stage hit, and which combines, for the first time, a brilliant musical show and a murder mystery, will be shown at the Pastime Theatre, next Thursday and Friday, July 26 and 27.

Paramount brought Carroll to Hollywood to supervise the screen production and he took eleven of his famous New York beauties to Hollywood to appear in the film. After he arrived he then picked seven Hollywood girls to be with his eleven and the eighteen are featured with Carl Brisson, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle, Duke Ellington and his famous orchestra, Dorothy Stickney and Gertrude Michael.

The film opens with the premiere of an elaborate musical show. While the girls are dancing and singing, and while the audience is in tune with the frivolity of the evening, a mysterious murder takes place. Victor McLaglen, devious pal of Oakie, the theatre's press agent is called and he is no sooner in the theatre than a second and more mysterious murder is committed.

The musical show is permitted to proceed and the film audience sees, out-front, all the production numbers, while, backstage, the mystery is solved by the final curtain.

THEY MAKE MISTAKES IN WASHINGTON TOO

That they really do make mistakes in Washington was further proved this week, when T. R. Brown, county farm agent, received a sealed envelope from one of the many branches of government there, which when opened revealed—nothing.

Brown could give no explanation for this except to say that "they probably wrote the letter and then decided not to send it."

Fire Whistle Will Blow at Bean Time

According to H. C. Brumley, one of the "city dads," when you hear the fire siren shrieking at 11:00 each day, after and including Saturday, it will not be a fire alarm but only a blast to let the citizens know that it is "bean time."

But as Brumley said it is more than one blast it will be a fire, things which do happen sometimes right at noon.

Although no further information than that could be elicited from Brumley it is thought that the blowing of the siren at noon will be done because of the fact that so many here in Clarendon work until 'way after 12 o'clock.

County Relief Head Is Home

R. A. Baker, Donley county relief director, returned Monday from Austin, where he has been attending a special course at the state university for the past few weeks. The course which was given for the purpose of instructing relief workers in the ways and means of caring for the needy, proved a very thorough and beneficial one, according to Baker.

Out of a class of about 105, only 12 were administrators, the others being case workers.

Donley County should consider itself fortunate in having at the head of its relief agencies, a man who has finished a course completely covering the subject of rehabilitation, which is expected to be the main issue in state relief work during the next few months.

The World's Greatest Problem

Editor's Note—Following is a radio address, sponsored by a state corporation and which was broadcast May 29 in the form of a Memorial Day speech.

Good morning, my friends: Tomorrow is Memorial Day, bringing to our thoughts again flags and battles and the soldier dead, not of the Civil War only, but of all wars. Bringing, too, thoughts of the tragedy and futility of warfare, the world's greatest problem thoughts vividly emphasized by a contribution to our program from Georgetown in the form of a statement prepared by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University. He gives a startling picture of the cost of the world war which was, in figures, 400 billion dollars.

"With that money," he said, "we could have built a $2500 house and furnished this house with $1000 worth of furniture and placed it on five acres of land worth $100 an acre and given all this to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Ireland, Wales, Scotland, France, Germany and Russia.

"After doing this there would have been enough money left to give each city of 20,000 inhabitants and over in all the countries named a $5,000,000 library and a $10,000,000 university.

"And then out of the balance we could have still sufficient money to set aside a sum at 5 per cent interest which would pay for all time to come a $1000 yearly salary each for an army of 125,000 teachers, and in addition to this pay the same salary to each of an army of 125,000 nurses.

"And after having done all this, we could still have enough left out of four hundred billions to buy up all of France and Belgium and everything of value that France and Belgium possess; that is every French and Belgium farm, home, factory, church, railroad, street car—in fact, every-thing of value in these two countries in 1914."

I thought you would be amazed even as I was. And consider, side by side with that, the human cost of the war. We were horrified at the sinking off the Lusitania when it went down with 1500 lives at the outbreak of hostilities. If, however, a Lusitania had been sunk every week since Columbus discovered America in 1492, the total lives lost would not equal the number lost in the world war."

All of which not only amazes us; it terrifies us when we read in almost every paper and magazine that forces are in the making which seem to indicate the inevitability of another war. Why must this be when no one wants to fight except those who profit from it? Can it be that we forget so quickly the cruelty, and agony, and tragedy that take from war all its would-be glamor and glory?

Memorial Day! Armistice Day! It is fine, of course, to thus recall the sacrifices of those who gallantly died on the field of battle, but frankly, I want no more days such as these on our calendar. We could pay no greater tribute to these lads than to solemnly vow that war will never be again, not only to denounce it but renounce it as well.

I have a very special reason this year for making such a vow myself. A more potent reason than the arguments of the statesmen and economists and preachers. That reason is a little chap not yet a year old, my son. We call him Angle Bargle, although that's not his name. He does not know what it's all about, yet, but I suspect he would be a good soldier. But I do not want him to be a soldier. I don't want him to ever have to shoot to kill men now babies, too. I don't want him, twenty-five years from now, to be fighting about some issue that the generation before him was foolish enough to get excited over and then not settle sanely and intelligently. I don't want him to be hopelessly crippled by gas, or blown to bits. I don't want him to lie in a nameless grave, one of another 30 million lads who thought they were being martyrs to a great cause but were only victims of economic exploitation and infamous nationalistic propaganda. I covet for him a chance to play a heroic man's part in a world wherein the passion for peace and goodwill has forever eliminated the passion for war. It is my job to see that he has that chance. Yes, my friend, and yours, too. Who goes there, in the night? Across the storm-swept plain? We are the ghosts of a valiant war, A million murdered men! Who goes there, at the dawn, Across the sun-swept plain? We are the hosts of those who swear: It shall not be again!

STUDY WILL BE FEATURED, MEET

PART CHRISTIAN WOMANHOOD MUST TAKE IN WORLD EXPOUNDED.

A study of the part Christian womanhood must take in the new world order has been announced as the chief feature of the triennial meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Protestant Episcopal Church which will be held in Atlantic, N. J., next October. The Auxiliary is one of the most influential organizations within the Episcopal church. It has an active membership of approximately 500,000 churchwomen in all parts of the world and every baptized woman connected with the church is a potential member.

The president of the local branch is Mrs. L. L. Swan and the North Texas District president is Mrs. T. F. West of Lubbock. One feature of the work of the Auxiliary, aside from the spiritual leadership which will be brought to bear in connection with the proposed study, is its United Thank Offering, presented triennially to the church for missionary effort which, since 1889 when the offering was instituted, has contributed a total of five and three quarter millions of dollars for the promotion and support of missions. Scores of churches, schools and hospitals in the foreign and domestic fields have been built, and several hundred women workers are supported, through these United Thank Offerings. Seaman Hall, a college student center at Lubbock, was given to the Episcopal Church in this district out of the 1931 United Thank Offering, and Mrs. E. F. Page, Episcopal Student Counselor at Canyon, receives two-thirds of her salary from that fund.

The projected study of woman's part in the New Era is the result of conferences which have been conducted during the past three years by the Executive Board of the Auxiliary. The program will be built around the theme, "If we are His disciples," and will embrace a series of addresses on world topics by national leaders, following which, with these addresses serving as keynotes, the delegates to the meeting, numbering about 750, will divide into groups for discussion purposes. The findings of these groups will later be embodied in a message to the world membership of the Auxiliary and during the ensuing three years the organization will direct its work along the lines suggested in the findings.

The local treasurer of the United Thank Offering is Mrs. W. H. Patrick and the District Custodian is Mrs. L. L. Swan of Clarendon. The offerings from the dioceses and missionary districts which will be made at the Convention service on October 11th, will be laid by the representatives of each on the famous golden alms basis, and which has been used in this connection for all of the fifteen United Thank Offerings.

The total amount of the 1934 offering will be announced at a meeting in the Atlantic City Auditorium on the evening of October 11, at which Bishop Perry will preside.

Worley Speaks On Street Saturday

Eugene Worley, Shamrock, candidate for the House of Representatives, from the 122nd district, made a short talk on Main Street Saturday afternoon.

Worley, who is making his first appearance in politics, outlined his platform in his talk. "They tell you," he said, "that I am too young to hold this office. I answer that I am old enough to go to war and therefore far enough along in years to represent you in Austin." The 122nd district embraces Donley, Collingsworth, Gray and Wheeler counties.

Miss Josephine Murphy returned Sunday night from a two weeks' visit with her sister, at Jacksboro, Texas.

Misses Zula and Marguerite Bain visited relatives in McLean Wednesday.

Record Proves Efficiency In Sheriff's Office

In asking your support for Sheriff of Donley County, I have a few facts I would like to present. First, it is impossible for me to see each and every one personally to solicit your vote and I take this means of reaching you and asking each voter for his support. I am very thankful to the people for all past favors extended me. I have tried hard to merit your confidence. In the beginning when I announced, I said that I would run on my past record.

Just a few words as to that record—you will admit that crime in the State and nation has been on the increase and still is. Statistics will bear me out in this. Yet crime has decreased in Donley County fifty percent. This I will prove. Also expenses for the Court and Sheriff's office has decreased fifty per cent in the last three years. The records are here in the Courthouse to show anyone that cares to look at them. By keeping down crime, the expenses of the Court and Sheriff's office reduces itself. We have not lost a single case in two years and over fifty per cent of the cases tried have been pleas of guilty, where it did not take the expense of a petit jury. I was in a neighboring county a few days ago and that week they had five burglaries more than we have had in Donley County the last year. I have had one automobile stolen and taken out of the county in the last three years and it was recovered the next day. All I ask is for you to look around and see what other counties have done along this line.

When I first ran for Sheriff I said that I would do the job if it took twenty-four hours of the day to do it and what success I have had I lay to just two things—the backing of the people and being on the job. I spend all my time in Donley County, seven days and seven nights a week. I think by keeping down the little things you won't have the big things happening.

As to liquor, I think you all know how I stand on that. In talking to prisoners that I have had here in jail I have asked them why they did the things they did and they all answer, "I got to drinking and running with the wrong company." It seems that this is the best way to start getting in bad.

As to asking for a third term, don't you think that a person that has had a little training and experience, if he can prove where he has done the job, is more able to make you a Sheriff than a new man, regardless how good a man he is. I do not think a person rates anything a second term or anything else if he or she cannot do the job. Any professional in the world has to have training and experience before they can practice their profession. It seems to me that of all professions, the Sheriff's office needs trained men and I think I am better qualified now to sidestep mistakes and make you a Sheriff than ever before.

There was an article in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram about two months ago. This article was worked out by the Officer's Organization as to the rating of Sheriffs in Texas and standing of counties in their districts of 254 Sheriffs. Of these the SHERIFF OF DONLEY COUNTY WAS RATED SECOND, and Donley County was rated the cleanest in the Panhandle. This article was read by several citizens of the county. I didn't read it myself, but Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Johnson, Arthur Ransom of Giles, Mr. and Mrs. Pin Johnson and C. L. Kenzie of Hedley, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hickman of Clarendon did read the article.

There is just one thing I ask when you go to the polls to vote and that is, ask yourself who will make you and your County the best Sheriff, and then go vote for that man.

GUY PIERCE, Sheriff
Donley County.

HUNTER TALKS TO THOUSANDS

NEARLY 250,000 HAVE HEARD WICHITA FALLS CANDIDATE SPEAK.

Wichita Falls, July 11.—Nearly 250,000 Texas voters this year have heard Tom Hunter, of Wichita Falls, candidate for governor, present his program for a Texas recovery from the platform in a total of nearly 200 speeches he has delivered since his announcement of his candidacy early this year, according to records kept by his staff headquarters here. The largest crowd to hear Hunter was the one at a home-coming rally staged for him in Wichita Falls on July 2, when 20,000 assembled to greet him. A number of crowds ranging from 6000 to 10,000 persons have also heard him, while during the entire campaign his audiences have averaged more than 1200 persons. These figures do not include those who heard him recently when he spoke over a three-station radio hookup.

"To show you the enormous task confronting a candidate in a race for state office in Texas, however, let me call attention to the fact with the state's population now at six million people a candidate would have to make six hundred speeches each time to a crowd of ten thousand persons in order to appear before all the voters personally, "Hunter pointed out in discussing the race.

"This makes it more than ever evident that if the plain people want to help me win this fight I am waging for their interest against the great combines which are escaping their just share of taxes while real estate is compelled to bear a disproportionate load, they must, in the words of the great Governor Jim Hogg, saddle old Beck and carry the message to the neighbors.

"If we are to achieve contentment for the plain people of this state, if we are to accomplish the rehabilitation of the thousands on our relief rolls, if we are to make it possible for the thousands now out of employment to again find jobs, it is necessary that we adopt a recovery program that has in mind the making available of an easy credit, a program that provides for keeping open the channels of independent competition, and the retention as a buying power for circulation within Texas the profits and proceeds of our natural wealth now being exploited by the great financial combines and carried out of this state, never to return."

Hunter plans a vigorous drive during the remaining two weeks of the campaign to convey his recovery program to the attention of as many voters as possible, he said.

"Giving Christ a Square Deal"

"The Jews took up stones again to stone Him. Jesus answered them, "Many good works have I showed you from my Father: for which of these works do ye stone me?" John 10:31, 32.

The deed seems but to emphasize the vicious enmity of those who were acting in a cold-blooded, premeditated manner. They knew what they were doing. This was a repeated offense.

I. JESUS DEMANDS A SQUARE DEAL.

It is an easy matter to point a finger of scorn at the Jews and taunt them. But which of us are guiltless today. They lived in the time, to be sure, but their evidence was not the seasoned evidence of the centuries, which we today have. It is difficult for us to turn any way without seeing the good works of the Father. If we turn against Him, our sin is much greater than the men who stoned Him in His lifetime.

If they by their unfair attitude helped Him on His way to the cross of Calvary, do we not by being unfair to Him, dishonor in dealing with Him, virtually cry aloud, "Crucify Him?"

II. WE ARE DEBTORS TO GOD.

We enjoy the gifts which God has bestowed upon us. But we forget the giver. We forget the Father's will which is back of the grain, the mill and the sunshine. In the days of prosperity men are tempted to forget God. If you are a follower of Christ and your friends do not suspect it, if the world in which you live does not know it, are you not unfair to Him?

III. BUSINESS DEMANDS NO EXCUSE FOR NEGLECTING JESUS.

There are many people who expect to do a great deal for Jesus when certain pressing (?) demands of their time are removed. God did not wait for

ROBITUARY

MRS. ELLA S. ROBERTS

It has been my pleasure to know her for fifty-seven years. She was born in Sumner County, Tennessee in 1866. She was the daughter of Christian parents, her father being a minister of the gospel.

In 1883 she married J. H. Roberts and moved to Texas. In 1887 they came to Donley County and were among its early settlers.

She was preeminently kind and tender in her love for her children and charitable in her treatment of others.

No unfortunate wayfarer was ever turned away hungry from her door, and no cry of distress ever fell unheeded upon her ears. A fit epitaph for her monument would be—"She hath done what she could."

pressing demands to be removed before He came to help you. The idea of some people that God should get the life after it has been drained by other causes is hardly a courteous or sportsmanlike one. The dumb brute will lick the hand of the man who feeds him. Can a man act with less fairness toward God who has given him so many things.

You are the judge and jury. The testimony is before you summed up in these words: "Many good works have I showed you from my Father." From your decision there is no appeal. The verdict is in your hands. You can become more than an innocent bystander, for you will be giving encouragement to those who lift him up and crucify him. Won't you be honest and fair and just with Jesus. Won't you give Him a square deal and serve him faithfully.

Expert Believes Too Much Heat Caused Ice Age

A revolutionary theory of the cause of the great ice age, blaming this episode of earth history on more warmth than received from the sun instead of less, was proposed at a recent meeting of the Royal Meteorological Society in London, England, by the well-known weather scientist, Dr. G. C. Stapsion.

The theory also explains the succession of four ice ages and three interglacial periods during which the ice retreated, which geologists believe is what actually happened.

According to the new theory the ice age began about 1,000,000 years ago with a slight increase in heat reaching the earth from the sun. This raised the average temperature of the earth only very little, but did increase greatly the amount of water evaporated from the ocean. This caused heavier rains and snows all over the earth, including snows in the Arctic and Antarctic regions and on high mountains. The summers being too short for all this snow to melt, the first stage of the ice age came on.

Dr. Simpson supposes, however, that the slow increase of the sun's heat continued. Presently this was enough to affect the earth's temperature as well as to increase the evaporation of sea water. Accordingly, the accumulated ice and snow melted again and there happened a wet and relatively warm interglacial period.

As the sun's heat then decreased again, this cycle is believed to have occurred in the reverse order, creating another period when snow and ice accumulated and which ended when the sun's heat had decreased enough to stop the excessive evaporation of ocean water.

WOODUL IS SAID TO BE POPULAR

ACCORDED BIG LEAD IN MOST POPULOUS SECTIONS OF STATE BY EDITORS.

Newspaper editors of Texas, including at least one in every sizeable county in the state, give Senator Walter Woodul, of lieutenant governor, a lead in nearly to all his four opponents. They grant him 90 counties, to a total of 97 for all the others.

This fact was stated in a special story on Sunday's Houston Post by Ed Kilman, political staff writer, who has conducted the poll over the State. After sending ballots to every editor in the state he has received over 300 answers. Some did not give estimates on all the races.

The one race where opinion is overwhelming as to the outcome, he reports, is that of lieutenant governor. In one or two other contests favorites are clearly indicated, but in none is there such a weight of opinion as to the outcome as in the race of Senator Woodul. That the Harris County senator will lead in a majority of the counties seems certain, according to the polls, while he is almost universally granted second place in those counties where he is not conceded the lead.

A mathematical analysis of the poll, made on the basis of the voting strength of the various counties, indicates that Senator Woodul should have a clear majority in the first primary.

Senator Woodul first went to the legislature from Laredo, but has represented Houston in the senate for six years. He was president pro-tem of that body during the regular session.

She began working a short distance from the wagon when a fellow dressed like the other cowhands, came out and suggested that she might get a better view farther back. She said she thought the view from where she was sitting was okay. After considerable discussion about the distance, the "cowhand" introduced himself as Harold D. Bugbee, noted painter of JA ranch and Palo Duro canyon scenes.

COLEMAN MAN IN INSPECTION TRIP

WALTER WOODWARD, CANDIDATE FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL VISITS PEN.

Huntsville, July 11.—Following a militant, aggressive speaking tour in East Texas in interest of his campaign for Attorney General, Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman was to make an inspection trip through the State penitentiary here Sunday.

Monday he speaks at Bellville, Brenham and LaGrange.

Tuesday at Columbus, Hallettsville and Yoakum.

Wednesday at Gonzales, Victoria and Cuero.

Thursday at Beeville and Corpus Christi.

Friday at Luling, Lockhart and Bastrop.

Saturday at Giddings, Caldwell and Smithville.

"Elect a man Attorney General who has the harness marks of experience on him," Woodward urged at Lufkin Saturday night.

"The Attorney General represents the State in Civil cases which involves enough money to make the difference between winning and losing them amount to several cents on the State tax rate."

"I have worked up to the job this hard way by practicing civil law 25 years, serving in the Senate at small pay 10 years, and acting as Assistant Attorney General. Will McCraw of Dallas, one of my opponents, never tried a major civil case in his life."

At Lufkin and Jasper he promised to defend independent merchants against illegal attacks by out-of-state chain stores.

"By chain I don't mean the home merchant who buys several stores, pays taxes and contributes to community welfare," he said.

"I mean out-of-state chains with their heads in Texas and their tails in New York such as the Saks Way chain which McCraw represents."

At Port Arthur and Beaumont he promised to create a special department in the Attorney General's office to aid labor.

"It will be of every assistance to Labor in obtaining its rights under State Law," he said.

YOU CAN'T WIN IN THE SLOT MACHINE RACKET

By Wayne W. Parrish in Literary Digest

Gambling slot-machines are said to exact a $25,000,000 toll every year from the gullible public New York City alone. In that metropolis the number machines has been estimated at 25,000 to 30,000 but at the very best these figures are only vague symbols of the immensity of the slot-machine racket nationally. The police testified in court recently that the income in New York City was as high as $1,000,000 a week.

In Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and other large cities the gambling slot-machine industry has become a large-scale racket. Hopelessly swamped by a flood of machines in recent years and handicapped by inadequate loosely-phased laws, the police and other public officials in many localities have resorted to a program of education. They believe that if the public really knew how the cards were stacked against it in playing slot-machines, the profitable gypsy trade would be dealt a death blow.

In order to give an ordinary slot machine a thorough test trial, Arthur Markewich, assistant district attorney of New York county, who has specialized in gambling cases, gathered 750 slugs together and decided to play as long as he could. Since this was a nickel machine his initial outlay would have been $37.50 had he used cash instead of slugs. Mr. Markewich played approximately 1,800 turns, using not only the original 750 slugs but all slugs won during the course of his playing as well. He ended with no slugs and a sore arm. Twice he won the jack-pot—the coveted prize which usually consists of $2 to $6 in cash or slugs—but both were won near the end of 1,800 turns. At no time was he ahead of the game.

Mr. Markewich said players have been known to lose $170 on a single machine. He believes the penny machines are the most vicious of all since children, lured by prizes of a few dollars, steal pennies in their vain quest of easy money. In the end the cash all goes into hidden channels of the racket. It is not uncommon for a player to lose an entire week's wages on a single machine. Police files in any community contain letters from wives and parents bitterly complaining about the losses of hard-earned money by husbands and children.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Few present day writers are more popular than Mazo de la Roche, author of "Jalna," "Whiteoaks of Jalna," "Finch's Fortune," and "The Master of Jalna"—all of which are in constant use by our readers. Of French, English and Irish ancestry, Mazo de la Roche was given the Spanish name of Mazo for a friend of her father. She is an only child, born in 1885 on a fruit farm in Ontario, near the Niagara peninsula, where her childhood was spent—a shy sensitive child—and here she began writing short stories. The beloved father died after a long illness, and the family was forced to sell the farm. Mazo, her mother, and an adopted sister spent the winters in Toronto and the summers in a little house by a lake in the woods where she continued to write short stories and plays—two of the latter winning first prize in 1925. Here she wrote three novels, one of which we have—"Possession." And here she began "Jalna." The influenza epidemic of 1918 took the mother, and financial difficulties made life hard. Still an intractable determination animated her long thin body with its powerful individual features—copper-colored hair, glowing brown eyes, tremendous beak of a nose—and she continued to write.

Then "Jalna" won the $10,000 Atlantic prize in 1927 for the most interesting novel of any kind, sort or description submitted by any writer whether born in London or Indianapolis. Eleven hundred manuscripts were submitted from all over the world. The story was translated into a number of languages and was done in Braille for the blind. Basil King said of it, "Jalna" is a real gift. In style, strength and amplitude it ranks with the best fiction in English. Most novels one reads and forgets—Jalna" one could never forget."

It is the story of the Whiteoaks, that vividly realized family—perverse old Gran, taciturn Penny, Eden the poet, self-indulgent Meg, earthy Piets, under-dog Finch and precocious Wakefield, with all the uncles, wives and children. In the early part of the last century Philip and Adeline Whiteoak came to Canada from India where he had been in the British army. They bought a thousand acres of land and transformed it into an English estate, and named it Jalna in memory of the station in India where they met.

At the opening of the story Philip Whiteoak is long since dead, and Adeline as Old Gran is still the head of the family, dominating it, and determined to continue to do so till she is 100—and she does. They are a family of strong personalities who live life to the full.

In 1929 she published "Whiteoaks of Jalna" a continuation of the story of this same violently individual family, and in 1931 "Finch's Fortune" was added to the family chronicle.

One might expect the reader to tire of the Whiteoaks by this time, but Gertrude Atherton says, "I wish Miss de la Roche would write a 'Jalna' book a year for the rest of her life. Such an interesting family was never conceived in the mind of any other author, and one can never get enough of them." Hugh Walpole said, "Finch's Fortune" is entirely enthralling to those familiar with her earlier stories, and shows Miss de la Roche at her very best." In 1933 she gave her public "The Master of Jalna"—Renny's story, Renny with his red-fox head, his fascination for women, his bluntness for men, and his deep loyalty for Jalna and the Whiteoaks. This is a story of the immediate present in which the family are making their fight with the rest of the world against depression and disaster. Renny appears more indomitable than ever, Finch more capable, Alayne and Phensant more tender and lovable. They are just Whiteoaks living in the same warm-blooded, quarrelsome affectionate way—a thoroughly human family. Mrs. W. H. Patrick and daughter, Elgin, returned from Amarillo Monday evening.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Clarendon for J. H. Hopkins, a farmer living 12 miles south of Pampa, who was killed by lightning there Thursday about 8 p. m. His death was a great loss to the community in which he resided.

Rev. G. E. Burton attended the orphanage meeting at Goodnight last Tuesday.

The Clarendon boys who joined the cavalry went to Claude last Friday to be Federalized.

A. A. Mayes, well-known manager of the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co., of Clarendon and family are visiting in Coolidge and other points in Central Texas.

G. S. Patterson spent the weekend here with his family.

J. E. Walker left Monday for Stratford, to vaccinate a bunch of calves on his ranch near there.

C. H. Dean formerly of the Blanchard Grocery Co., is now in the employ of the W. L. H. Fair Grocery.

Mrs. Cole, of Oklahoma, was

T. S. Kemp has resigned as manager of the local light plant and C. C. Cope has been appointed in his place.

E. W. Miller and family returned last Friday from Colorado where they have been for the past few weeks.

(July 17, 1924)

George Ballard Bagby passed to his final reward last Monday morning at his home in this city after an eight year struggle for life, following a stroke of paralysis. He had been a citizen of Clarendon for the last thirty years and has seen it grow and prosper until it now stands as it is today. A short Masonic service was held at the home Monday afternoon, following which the body was shipped to his old home in Clarksville, Texas, for burial.

Interest in the great and royal game of golf is being manifested on every hand as the members and their families are trying out the new course, east of the city. Almost every day there is a new man who goes out and tries his luck on the nine holes of the local course.

year for three years, at 4 per cent interest, the first installment to be made February 1, 1933, the same amount one year later and the final installment one year after the second, or February 1, 1935.

When the date of the first payment came, no survey had been completed, no deeds secured and no money advanced. It therefore developed that Donley County could not repay an obligation when it had received no money.

The first part of the loan was made in November, 1933 and the remaining portion in May, 1934. The money has been used in the purchase of the right-of-way and it seems now that the reasonable thing to do is to change the dates of the order to comply with the actual conditions, as they now stand. This will be no new obligation, merely the setting of future dates for the payment of an obligation that the county had previously made.

The law provides that the commissioners' court has no authority to issue such warrants without publishing notice and this explanation is made in this connection. The tax rate of the county will not be raised because of the issuance of the warrants. I might say further that the law would not permit an increase in county tax rates of more than .01 on $100 valuation. The county rate is now .74 and as .75 is the limit, it can be seen that no increase of the tax rate will be made.

The fact of the whole thing, as it now stands, is that the county owes an obligation of $15,000.00 to the State Highway department, which according to the minutes was due to be paid in three yearly installments, in 1933, 34 and 35 at 4 per cent interest. In this connection, the commissioners' court proposes to set the dates of payment to 1935, 36 and 37, at the rate of interest.

The State Highway department feels so confident that there will be no objection to this issuance that they have already advertised for bids on contracts of grading and drainage on Highway No. 5, from Clarendon to the Hall county line. I was authorized to make this statement by Judge W. R. Ely, of Abilene. He stated that bids had already been advertised based on the grounds that no objection would be raised in this county.

"Any additional explanation that I might be able to make I'll be glad to do so," Judge Lowe stated, in closing.

last year, thinking that his action would prove munificent to him in the long run. This year, however, those who do not sign will find themselves in a much worse shape than the signers because of the tax put on their cotton.

It was the speaker's opinion that Donley county would not be affected by this attempted "chiseling" as he farmers here are falling in line with this phase of economic recovery.

With a quota of 14,811 bales of cotton designated as tax free under the current act, Donley county still has 10 per cent of their production as decided by the State Board of Agriculture to fall back on, should drought or other difficulties make it so necessary according to Brown.

In closing the speaker stated that Donley county should consider itself fortunate that it is not one of the counties that are attempting to get on the drought relief rolls.

Lion Davis had change of the program for the hour.

Visitors were Mr. Whitfield Carhart, of Greenville, Texas, guest of Lion Chamberlain, and Carl R. Lamb, of the West Texas Utilities Co., guest of Lion Nored.

People—"Pass on."

Act II

Clint Small comes on the scene leading a race horse.

The people—"Sayest thou what?"

Clint—"This I sayest—It's up to you, O, voters as to who shall win the day, if elected I'll take horses off the tracks with gambling I'll do away, I can see as good as the next one, they say I can't see but half, but only honest workers will I put on my staff."

People—"Pass on."

Act III

Enter C. C. McDonald. "Ma" and "Pa" applaud. "Ma" first and "Pa" afterwards.

The people—"What do you say?"

C. C.—"I'll say—to you who cast your votes, my appeal's sincere and deep, I'll do my best as governor and faith with you I'll keep, I don't believe in nepotism, no kinfolks will there be upon my slate of workers if you will vote for me."

People—"Pass on."

Act IV

Maury Hughes comes on the scene wearing nothing. That is nothing special.

The people—"Speak."

Maury—"I speak—if you'll scratch all the names but mine, you'll be doing only right, I'll bring John Barleycorn from the grave and for your interests fight, I'll banish every dry club that's in the state right now, I'll make a darn good governor—and how!"

People—"Pass on."

Act V

On the scene comes Edgar Witt carrying a can of crude oil.

The people—"What's on your mind—if anything?"

Edgar—"This is on my mind—Oh hear me all you peepul, it's for your good I speak, if you'll only vote 'or me no illicit oil will leak, I'll stop this hot oil running or I'll go down a tryin', I'm the very man for who the state is cryin'."

People—"Pass on."

Act VI

Tom Hunter enters with a deck of cards.

The people—"What are you going to say?"

Tom—"I'm going to say this—All you voters know you need a new deal in this land, and when it comes to shufflin' you can't pick a better man, I'll lead you out of depression into the vale of better times and now where you've got pennies, with me you'll have dimes."

People—"Pass on."

Act VII

Edward Russell comes on the scene dragging a hoe, a rake, and a plow.

The people—"Who are you and what do you have to say?"

Edward—"This have I to say—Citizens of Texas let's go back to the soil, maybe I'm not 'The Man With the Hoe' but I'm a firm believer in toil, I don't believe in guzzlin' from the cup that runs red with wine and if I'm seated in that old chair, your interests will be mine."

People—"Pass on."

Act VIII

The candidates pass out (now don't get us wrong) followed by their press agents dressed as Roman gladiators and armed with typewriters. The other candidates file across the stage but don't say anything—maybe they don't know nothin'.

The people—"Oh, shades of departed rulers, who have governed our state of old, are these the best we're offered, on none of them we're sold, we'll scratch the names of six of those and then right quick we'll duck and as far as the rest of it's concerned we'll trust to blind old luck."

CURTAIN

Well at least we all should know how to spell Sand Francisco before this strike ends. Seeing it in the head lines so much.

Wonder why so many campaign promises are made in the month of Julie?

Sally Rand abandoned her ostrich fan we see by the papers and tried dancing behind a toy balloon at the World's Fair the other night. The balloon burst and Sal had to hunt cover. She told reporters that she thought some uncouth person with a pin stuck in the end of a cane bursted it. Yeah—either that or the heat.

Workers in one of those banks that were robbed this week, told officers that the bandits were short. They probably arn't now They got about $6,500.

It looks like maybe we oughta knagging on wood when we were bragging about the green grass and plentiful rain in Donley county.

In reading a sketch of Clint Small's life this week we saw where his room mate at college said that Small's failing while in school was rising out of bed in the morning, turning the alarm clock off and crawling back in. He's liable to get a lot of votes on account of that. There's a whole flock of us that will vote for a man that doesn't like sleep disturbers. He might pass a law against them.

We notice where some folks are predicting that the governor's race in Texas will wind up like the one in Oklahoma did. Now lets don't go wishing things worse than they already are.

"Old Tack" Will Speak Saturday

According to an announcement made by local supporters Thursday there will be a Clint Small meeting here on the streets Saturday, at which time Gene Howe, "Old Tack" of the Amarillo Globe-News will speak.

Ray Johnson, of Amarillo, one of Small's campaign managers will also be here for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Douglas are in Drake, Colorado this week enjoying the cool breezes and fishing.

School Merging Is Voted Down

Voters of Whitefish school district Saturday repudiated the proposal to consolidate their district with that of the Alanreed independent district by a vote proportioned at 2 to 1.

Opposition to the measure was based on contentions that it would increase taxes. Proponents of the measure claimed that it would insure full accrediting of the consolidated school with recognized scholastic associations and obviate the necessity of sending children away from home to attend high school.

Alanreed voters approved the move by a vote of 40 to 1, but in order for it to have been put in force, the approval of both districts concerned would have been necessary.

Misses Jeanne Bourland and Carol Holder returned this week from a few days' visit in Canyon with Miss Bourland's sister.
