51,200 CORPSES

In the 18 months that ended June 20, 1935, 51,200 persons met death in motor crashes in this country. More than 1,300,000 were injured.

The bare statistics, though provoking as they are, cannot give an adequate picture of the horror of major automobile accidents. Figures cannot express broken bones—mangled bodies, crushed skulls—obliterated features—decapitated bodies—and all the rest of the results of fatal motor crashes. Nor can figures picture the tragedy of parentless children and broken-hearted dependents of the victims of recklessly driven cars.

In a recent article in Readers' Digest, F. C. Furness wrote: "A first-class massacre is only a question of scale and numbers—seven corpses are no deader than one. Each shattered man, woman or child who went to make up the 36,000 corpses checked up last year had to die a personal death."

That is worth thinking about next time you take the wheel of your car. Driving at excessive speeds may, if you get away with it, save you ten minutes in a 50-mile run. If you don't get away with it, it may mean your death, or the death of an innocent party. Passing on hills and curves, weaving through thick traffic and taking other chances may save you a minute or two more—or it may mean a crushed body on the pavement, its bones twisted and broken, its eyes staring and sightless.

It's up to you—to everyone who drives a car. Is recklessness worth its horrible cost.

OLD DOGS LEARN FAST

There is a familiar saying to the effect that you can't teach an old dog new tricks. But educational authorities have been teaching grown-ups under auspices of the WPA are beginning to believe that it is all wrong. Not only can an old dog be taught new tricks, they say—he can usually be taught faster than a young dog.

Dr. R. L. Alderman, educational director for the WPA, says his teachers have found that grown-ups learn five times as fast as children. This, incidentally, is the reflection of wide experience, for some 44,000 teachers were paid last year to conduct classes for more than 2,000,000 depression victims.

The discovery isn't hard to understand. A child usually goes to school because he has to, and lessons are something to be got through with as quickly as possible.

But when an adult goes to school, he goes because he sincerely wants more knowledge. He has an incentive for studying which the child too often lacks entirely.—Wichita Falls Record-News.

GREEN BOWL

No one looking at Northwest Texas now could believe that it was classed last year as part of the nation's dust bowl, writes Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of The News, from that part of the state. "That is just the way in West Texas," he adds. Old-timers in West Texas know that, but a good many others have not yet learned about the West's recuperative powers.

Some of the experts from Washington who went out to diagnose the West's case during the drouth thought that they were looking on permanent ruin. It set Rexford Tugwell to talking about the time when St. Louis will be twisted steel and shattered concrete covered by sand dunes. There were plans for a tree shelterbelt to run from the Canadian border to Northwest Texas. Somehow, not so much has been heard about the shelterbelt recently.

However, it is possible that Mr. Tugwell meant only half seriously what he said, and possibly Westerners ought to accept his warning after having discounted it approximately that much. If some of the brain trusters have erred in looking too intently at the gloomy side of the picture of Western agriculture, possibly Westerners err in looking too confidently at the bright side. When crops are good in the West, it is hard to believe that they ever will be bad again. But they will, and wise Westerners will do what can humanly be done to prepare against future disaster. That is the kind of work the Spur Agricultural Experiment Station is doing. It is learning its region's weakness as well as strength, studying the problem of eliminating as nearly as possible the one and developing the other. This is the big problem of West Texas, where a Jekyll-Hyde weather man can produce dust bowl one year and green bowl the next.—Dallas News.

MAKE FEED PROFITABLE

Colonel Frank Holland, publisher of Farm and Ranch in his lifetime and himself a successful farmer and stock raiser, used to say that no matter what the price of cotton, years when the yield of food and feed were large, were prosperous years in Texas. This of course was because the feed went to support the work stock and feed animals for market, and the cotton money did not have to be spent for grain or forage.

Texas this year has an unusually good crop of feed and foodstuffs. The grains have yielded bounteously in most cases, the women have preserved much food for winter, and there should be a corresponding season of greater prosperity than has been vouchsafed in some years. The greatest return from this feed crop is possible only by marketing it through feeding it to animals that later are sold for food or work stock.

The high price of beef and hogs promises to continue because of the comparatively small number of the animals that will be on the market. The government reduction plan took many and there must necessarily be some time before this shortened supply can be increased when the government restrictions are discontinued. A farmer who has plenty of feed will likely find it profitable to buy a few animals if he has not already got them, and use his surplus feed in finishing them for market. The day of driving or shipping cattle to the north for finishing should be one of the things that used to be done but is not done any more.

Cattle and hogs can be finished in Texas just as well as anywhere else and this year's feed crop gives the producers the best opportunity in years to demonstrate this. Then the cotton money can be used for buying household needs and even some so-called luxuries.—Paris Morning News.

Right Out Of The Air

By R. F. SERVICE

Sigmund Romberg's return to the airwaves with his melody-laden program, which proved so popular last season, is being met with huzzahs at the loudspeakers. The distinguished composer-conductor will air his new series on Tuesday nights, commencing September 10, over the NBC networks from coast to coast at the same hour in which the operetta programs had previously been aired.

Deems Taylor, famed critic and commentator, will team with Romberg. Helen Marshall, Morton Bove, and George Britton will sing to the Romberg music.

Bernice Claire, who was a film star in Hollywood before she faced the microphone, has returned from London where she made a movie, and she's now heard on the air on two programs, one on Sunday and one on Tuesday nights. She could have stayed in the movies in England—but her radio contracts brought her back.

Nils Granlund has one of the most interesting of radio's guest star formulas for his Tuesday evening chorus girl revue programs.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce is the latest to appear on his program and swap reminiscences about old times in the show business.

Gogo DeLys, diminutive coast singing star, is going to have to leave radio for at least four weeks in the very near future. Her physician has told her that she must rest or face a breakdown.

Ruth Chatterton, the movie lady, has been signed to star on the Radio Theatre program broadcast Monday evening, Sept. 9. Miss Chatterton, who is one of America's most capable aviatrixes, will begin her rehearsals after completing her flying at the National Air Races in Cleveland early next month.

James Melton, radio's golden voice, is being starred in a movie in Hollywood, in which Pat O'Brien plays his manager. James is cast as a hotel baggage porter who can sing. Jean Muir, Jane Froman, Frank McHugh and Luis Alberni are also in the cast. While he is on the coast, Melton continues to sing on his James Melton Sunday night oil show over CBS in which he is featured with the Revelers.

Lionel Barrymore, Al Jolson, Victor Young, and Jack Stanton staged a card game during a recent Chateau program rehearsal. The game was "hearts" and as usual Vic Young, Al maestro, copped the cash.

Agnes Moorhead, "The Girl Next Door," who is heard with Barry McKinley on those Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday programs, "Dreams Come True," is now in reality the girl next door to McKinley. They live in adjoining apartments in Sutton Place in New York and can yell across the garden wall when they want to rehearse their scripts.

Miss Moorhead is also a noted mimic and often plays more than one voice with McKinley.

Fifty-four years and thirty of those years spent entertaining the public. That's the life story of Edgar A. Guest, heard in radio on Tuesday nights as the kindly editor of the mythical "Welcome Valley Chronicle" over the NBC blue network. Guest has a big following.

The Mills Brothers, who first sang for customers in a Piqua, Ohio, barbershop, then vaulted to national prominence with their harmony combinations, will be starred on their own Friday evening network feature, beginning in October.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

The John Newberry Medal which is awarded annually for the best contribution to literature for children and older children was this year awarded to Monica Shannon for "Dobry," the story of a Bulgarian peasant boy. Miss Shannon was formerly a librarian on the staff of the Los Angeles Public Library, and still lives in California where she made her start in literature nine years ago.

This Bulgarian peasant boy, Dobry, wanted to become a sculptor. His grandfather fostered his ambition and helped him to go away to an art school in Sofia. Much of the tradition, custom and folklore of the Bulgarian people baum. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Couch of Clarendon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tidrow. Bro. Briester filled his appointment Sunday, preaching both morning and evening.

is woven into the story, giving its chief value, but it is thoroughly human—it sounds like the story of a real boy.

According to some critics, one of the most important novels to be published this fall is Edwin Lanham's "The Wind Blew West". It is another Texas story, a story of the building of the T. & P. railroad, with much of the story taking place in Weatherford. It is said to be a valuable contribution to our Texiana. The author, Edwin Lanham, is the son of Congressman Fritz Lanham who has himself done some literary work of fame.

Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "North of the Orient" is being spoken of as a very readable book, the account of the flight that she and her husband made during the summer of 1931 from New York over Canada and Alaska to Manking. It is said to have humor and literary charm. We wish some of our readers would buy this book, read it, and then pass it on to the library, please.

A novel which has just been published and which is attracting much favorable comment is "Brothers Three" by John Oskison. I saw a copy of it the other day, and have been coveting it for the library since. It is one of the farm novels which are being so popular now. The background is an Oklahoma farm, settled by a pioneer father who came to Oklahoma from California and married the daughter of a prosperous and highly respected mixed Cherokee Indian family. Into this home were born three sons—"Brothers Three." The material of the story is capably handled and it is interesting to read. The details of farm and ranch speech and life are authentic. It often has a primitive quality which is never offensive. The story is largely biographical, one of the brothers being Mr. Oskison himself. Through him he pays tribute to Will Rogers who was his schoolmate when they were lads together in this Oklahoma country.

John Oskison, who as born on a farm near Vinita, Indian Territory, before the run of '89, was graduated from Leland Stanford, and later attended Harvard. For a while he worked on the New York Evening Post, and then on Collier's Weekly. He has written five books, including this last one. His first was "Wild Harvest", which was published in 1925. We have this on our shelves, as well as his fictionalized biography of Sam Houston, "A Texas Titan", which was published in 1929. This story is divided into three sections as follows: "In Tennessee; On the Arkansas; and Texas". Those of our readers who have read it have greatly enjoyed it.

Mr. Oskison is working on another story, a cattle story of Texas and Oklahoma. Before completing this he plans to spend several months on ranches in the two states. His picture shows a fine strong face surmounted by a shock of white hair.

CHURCH CHATS

"THE SHEEP THAT MUST BE GATHERED"

"And other sheep I have which are not of this fold: them also must I bring and they shall become one flock, one shepherd. John 10:16.

The utter absence of any form of sectarianism in the mind of our Lord is one of the secrets of his great influence in human life. Born among a people who believed themselves the particular objects of God's solicitude, Jesus saw beyond the narrow sheepfold of Israel and took all nations into His heart. He established His Kingdom on no arbitrary or sectarian doctrine or practice, but on the great universals of spiritual life. We truly follow Him only as we cultivate in our souls His catholicity, his freedom from all arbitrary exclusiveness and his sense of fellowship with all men who earnestly seek after God.

Sectarianism has been the bane of the church. Multiplied divisions have weakened her energies. A vast amount of zeal and power which should have been brought to bear on the conversion of the world has been expended in assailing and defending denominationalism. Christendom has often resembled a battle-field in which the several detachments of the same army, instead of combining in one aggressive movement against the common foe, have raised the shout of war against each other. The enemy, meanwhile, has exulted at the sight and not only been fortified in the belief that Christianity is a profession under which men drive low and selfish designs; but has strengthened his position in defying the armies of the living God.

There are some members of the church who are never found on the battle field except when the struggle is an unfortunate contest between sects. They revel in sectarian strife. A fight of this type stirs them to the depths. They are never found when needed to fight against sin. (Continued on Page Four)

At The First Baptist Church

THERE IS ALWAYS WORSHIP—FELLOWSHIP—SERVICE

Have you rightly estimated the value of your church? Do you realize that it is a place to find God, gladness and good friends? If you have and if you do, I am sure that you will be in your place next Sunday morning seeking to measure your life by the rules regulating righteous Christian living as set out in God's word.

Three hundred is our small goal for Sunday School attendance next Lord's Day. We lacked five having that number last Sunday. We ought to go far beyond that. The last Sunday in September is always promotion day in our Sunday School, but do not promote yourself. Your teacher and Departmental Superintendent will assist you in finding your new class after you have reported as usual to your old class. The assistant Sunday School superintendent is classification officer for the school. If there is any doubt as to where you are promoted see him.

Always remember as you start toward the church that it is our Father's house; a sanctuary of the Spirit; a training school for Christian character; a center of helpful service; a force for civic righteousness; a power for God throughout the world; a resting place for the stranger on his way; a temple of prayer and thought, of music and song and sermon. Delight yourself with the opportunity and privilege of making Sunday go to church day in your home.

J. Perry King, Pastor.

John McClellan and Lu McClellan are in Benjamin, Texas, this week attending to business matters.

Church Chats—

(Continued from Page Three.) would rather defend a prejudice or sectarian doctrine than to rejoice over the salvation or the recovery of a human soul.

Our Lord's prayer for union could be answered at once, if all of His followers would give up whatever is of human authority and unite on the Bible and its eternal truths. The Bible only would make Christians only.

W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Texas.

Young Democrats—

It was further concluded that since the farms of Donley County are the county's principal source of income, the problem becomes more social in its aspect than individualistic. It was forcefully brought home to those present that unless some means could be devised whereby proper and sufficient soil conservation measures could be made available to the "broke farmer" and "worn out" farm, then Donley County must resign itself to seeing a large proportion of its erstwhile fertile farms deteriorate into desolate wastes. It was clearly illustrated by all speakers that the government program, through CCC camp operations, while a step in the right direction, is by no means adequate. Since this program requires the farmer to furnish the power it makes the entire program prohibitive to that farmer who is without adequate means.

Several farmer speakers stated that if they just had this power they would have no other difficulty.

A motion was carried instructing the president to appoint a committee of three members to act with the president and chairman of the county executive committee to study the soil erosion problem with a view toward assisting in any way possible.

The next meeting is to be held Monday evening, October 28, in the district court room at 7 o'clock and the subject for discussion is "What Is Constitutional?"

CORRECTION

In last week's issue of The News it was stated that Mrs. G. W. Antrobus won second place on knit socks in the domestic arts department of the Tri-State Fair. Mrs. Antrobus, it was reported this week, won first place on the socks.

P.-T. A. Show—

Last year the dogs and their masters paraded Kearney Street shortly before the show, but due to the fact that this arrangement proved unsatisfactory it has been dispensed with. Officials stated that only the band and several announcers will parade Friday afternoon.

Judges who will award prizes for first places and ribbons for second, third and fourth winners, will be Rhea Myrick, Ben Buck, Harry Ruddell, H. M. Breedlove and J. M. Hill.

A nominal admission fee will be charged.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lill and Mrs. Nell Lemons of Panhandle, and Mr. and Mrs. John Morris of Amarillo visited Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Lill also visited their granddaughter, Mrs. Tom Blasengame, and their great grandson, Thomas Blasengame.

"Steamboat Round the Bend," starring Will Rogers in his latest picture comes to the Pastime Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, October 2 and 3. A great star's greatest picture. In "Steamboat Round the Bend," he portrays what is unanimously acclaimed by critics to be his most engaging motion picture characterization. A role in which he never for a moment allows himself to be other than what he really is. Democratic, plain, wholesome, lovable, honest and sincere. It tops anything your favorite star has ever done before.

Much has been said during these first few weeks of school about the new and old students becoming acquainted. We believe that the school paper could help this situation more than any other agency in the school if everyone would co-operate. We suggest that the students on each bus elect a reporter to the Broncho Range. These reporters could turn in articles about topics of special interest and should turn in a group of personals each week. In this way names of those coming from the nearby communities would appear each week, thus helping out the progress of becoming acquainted. The personals in the Broncho Range have been criticized severely because of the fact they have usually been about the same students. Unless there are a number of "personals" reporters, this cannot be avoided, because it is impossible for the few who work on the paper to drop other more pressing duties in order to ask everyone in the school if he has been some place or if he has guests, etc. We believe that if the students coming in on the buses as well as other groups of students in the school will co-operate with us by electing a wide-awake reporter, who will turn in personals every week as well as special articles, we will be able to make the school page much more interesting as well as helpful for everybody in the school.

The staff of the Broncho Range has had a hard time getting the first few editions of this page into The News office on time, because of the fact that the reports are turned in so late. During the last two years, the staff has been a little too lax about making definite rules as to when articles must be turned in, and the result has been a mad scramble almost every Tuesday in an attempt to get the copy into the office on time. When we are late at the school, the staff of The Clarendon News is also delayed, so it is easy to see the general confusion caused by procrastination on the part of the writers. This is not a lecture or a sermon, but it is an appeal to all Broncho Range writers to turn their articles in to the editor or to Miss Headrick on Monday if possible, and not later than Tuesday noon. Appeals of this nature have been made before without much effect, but we hope that this time the contributors will try to help us this much.

One cannot help but notice how the campus lawn, which was so beautiful year before last, has been neglected and allowed to return to its original state of being a weed patch. Of course, it is too late to do much about it this year, but it seems that something should be done to preserve the turf that cost so much originally. We hope that it will be restored to its former beauty next spring, and it does not seem that this is asking too much, for the labor and water that it would take to at least keep the grass alive would not cost very much.

Clarendon Bronchos Defeat Claude Team

The local eleven "popped" it to the Claude Mustangs Friday by a score of 6-0. The game was rather slow but as played nicely. The result probably would have been different had it not been for the numerous penalties drawn by the Bronchos. These may be contributed to the fact that it was their first game and that there are many new players on the team. After getting a touch of football Friday, these new players give promise of helping make the Bronchos a fast and furious eleven. Catching a long pass from Cornell in the final minutes of the game, Martin put the ball in scoring position. A line buck by Cornell placed the ball on the one yard line where Noble plunged it over on the last play of the game. These outstanding players for the Bronchos were Cornell, Holtzclaw, Martin, Strawn; Ralls also played a nice game and promises to show up well in following games.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis and son of Amarillo were Clarendon visitors Sunday.

Juniors Attend Tri-State Fair

Well, I guess everyone had a good time at the fair. I'm sure some of the Juniors wish they had not been seen because of the childish things they did. Reba Nichols was seen crying and when asked what was wrong, she said her mother wouldn't let her ride the merry-go-round, because she had already ridden it seven times. Margaret Kelly and Frances Fowler begged their escorts to let them ride the tiny ponies which all the children were riding. Truett Berhens must have enjoyed the small train most, because he kept exclaiming to his older brother, "Look at the choo-choo; pretty choo-choo." Oh, how Juniors can enjoy a fair!

If anyone has an extra pair of glasses (specks), please give or loan them to Charlie Murphy, as he loves to wear anyone's glasses in order to look dignified. The football game was swell, and the pep squad wasn't so bad, but wait until the girls get their new suits. They are certainly backing the football boys whether they have their suits or not.

A TO Z

This column is so named simply because it is not a sport column, a guess column, a society column, nor a mud slinging column between the classes and societies, namely the Palo Duro and the Alpha Delta Psi, but merely a column which as the name indicates will take in all of this, a lot of gossip and hokey from the hi ups and the low downs of C. H. S. and C. J. C. Now that I am introduced I will proceed. How did you like the football game Friday on Broncho field? I was beginning to think my chocolate soda had gone up salt creek along toward the last of the game when neither had scored and the time keeper was looking at his watch and fingering his gun, but I guess the boys saw him too, because it took plenty of hard hitting to crash over for a touchdown the last play of the game. Anyway 6 to 0 is better than a 0 to 0 game or letting them trounce us the very first game of the season.

You know those boys from Hudgins, Chamberlain, Lelia Lake and Martin are plenty green, but if some boys don't hustle they are going to find these boys playing in their places on the main squad because the country boys are corn fed and plenty touch and this boy Cheeves is also plenty fast if you noticed Friday. Looks as though it will take a plenty tough team to "go to town" on the schedule we have this year though.

Congrats, Coach Kerby and business men of Clarendon. Now we should always get a large crowd at our home games under the floodlights. And what's this I hear about a college F. B. team? If a college team is started here this year and they play a few games, I know a lot of boys who will enroll in C. J. C. next year instead of going off to college.

S'funny, Avis Lee's eyes look even bluer with her new glasses, don't they? You carry Claude's colors, Avis, blue and red.

Peek, I happen to have the info you desired about the little Dewey girl being engaged to the Dallas boy, but she is a pretty good friend of mine so I will keep mum.

Of course it's none of my business, but it looks like the Palo Durans are kinda getting ahead these days; what's the trouble, Alpha Deltans, can't you get moving?

Wonder what has happened to Chatterer, Socrates, Wee Willie and others who wrote last year; wake up, ye olde scribes. What's your pen name Campus Dirt? Well, I've written probably too much this time to get it all printed; so au revoir until next week.

Azy Bones.

PALO DURO

A few members of the Palo Duro Society, who were not at the fair, gathered for a meeting Wednesday night, September 8, in the girls' dormitory. As there were so few present, the program on "epitaphs" which had been scheduled for that evening was postponed until a later date. The short meeting was given over to business, and discussion of initiatives. It was decided that the following meeting night would be initiation night. As there did not happen to be any of the new members present, a number of novel ideas were discussed by the old members.

LOCAL SCHOOLS VISITED BY STATE INSPECTORS

Visiting in the local schools during the first part of the week were Mr. J. D. Wilson, deputy state superintendent of schools, from Canyon, and Mr. Jeremiah Rhodes, head of junior school department of Texas schools. Mr. Wilson was representing the Southern association, and examining the member schools. He gave a very favorable report of the local school system, stating that library and laboratory facilities were exceptionally good. Mr. Rhodes was here as a visitor, attending classes in all of the local schools.

ALPHA DELTA PSI

The Alpha Delta Psi Literary Society met Thursday evening at 7:45 for their usual program. Although the attendance was somewhat decreased because of the large number of students who attended the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, those members present seemed to really enjoy the splendid program presented to them on this occasion. The program given at this time was both entertaining and educational. Miss Wilma Dee Smith entertained by playing several selections of popular music on the piano. Another enjoyable part of the program was the telling of several good jokes by our past-president, Homer Estlack.

After the social part of the program was completed, the problem of selecting a sponsor was discussed, and after a somewhat lengthy discussion, it was decided that we would ask Mr. Stults, the new chemistry teacher, to be sponsor of the society. There was some talk concerning the changing of the meeting date to Monday instead of Thursday evening as Monday is a more convenient time for the majority of the society to meet. Another issue discussed during the evening was that concerning the taking in as members of the society all high school seniors, and it was decided that all seniors interested in becoming members of the society would be urged to join at the earliest possible time. This is the first time in the history of the society that high school seniors have been allowed the privilege of belonging to this society, and it is the desire of the society that each and every senior show his appreciation of this favor by becoming a member.

Upon completion of all business matters the meeting for the evening was adjourned, and those members wishing to, remained and played various games as is the general custom of the society after each meeting.

All members and seniors in the high school are requested and cordially invited to be present at the next regular meeting next

CAMPUS DIRT

Spring is here. In spite of the calendar, several of the more air-minded high school girls are practicing each evening on the McMurtry lawn. They seem to be getting into the spirit of the Grecian Spring Dance by wearing leaves in their hair and by going barefoot. Several of the natives have turned rather pale at the sight of twelve husky girls tripping (don't take this literally) barefooted across a green lawn while the temperature falls steadily. Who ever saw a Grecian Goddess with fallen arches or corns? But then who ever saw a Grecian Goddess?

Poor Dorothy Phelps! Oh, Yeah! Since David has been gone, she has been keeping company with a boy who drives a Ford V-8 and comes into town from the west. It begins to look like David had better come home soon or it won't be of any use.

Since the boys have organized an Overall Club with Billy Howard, Turnbow, and Tommy Adkins as the leaders, they have looked so comfortable that several of the girls have cast wistful eyes at them and have expressed the wish that there was a Calico Club. Why not?

At the football game Friday, I noticed several boys who looked like they did not know what to do with themselves. Bob Word, Horsie, Buttercup, Barrow, and McDaniels, all ex-Broncho stars, were on the sidelines yelling for the team. Butler was also watching. Too bad Butler, we missed your playing, too.

Was Mary Frances burned up when she read Peek's remarks, or rather speculations as to her being footloose and fancy free. She turned a very red pink.

Nothing seems to have taken place about the organization of a college football team. What is the delay?

There seems to be quite a controversy over who shot the most doves when Robert and Mary Frances, Sarah and Harold, Nicky and Cluck went hunting the other afternoon. Anyway they took the

There's Something More

To Dry Cleaning than just removing stains and pressing. Putting new life into the garment, preserving its color, and sending the dress or suit back to the customer to fit as perfectly as before cleaned, are several of the "something mores" to Dry Cleaning.

Much has been said about personal grooming and neatness. Without expert dry cleaning clothes would become drab and untidy after the first few wearings.

College To Present Series of Programs

The college is planning to put on several programs and plays during the year for the benefit of the college athletic fund. Miss Sarah Virginia McGowan assisted by Mr. Hubert Reavis is planning a program for next week which will probably include a one-act play and several individual numbers.

These programs are being planned by the college in order to raise money to send college athletes off to track meets, etc., next spring, so that it will not be necessary to ask the business men for the financial aid. A full-length play is planned for some time in the near future, and it is hoped that the public and student body will come. There will only be a small admission charge.

murdered fowls to Powell's house to fry them. They were slightly embarrassed to find Pete, LaVerne, Avis Lee, and Stopper there with napkins tucked in their collars and their forks in their hands.

"Twas a pitiful sight. Fred Esterling, Jelly McGowan, Jesse Cornell, and several other Bronchos stood and gazed wistfully at Mary Lois, Fanny McGowan, and Ruby Jewel Jones daintily tucking away several hot dogs and candy bars last Friday noon. When any one approached them, they growled out, "Can't eat nuthin' cep'tin' a poached egg and a glass of milk; Coach's orders." Heroes are made, not born.

PEEK-A-BOO

By PEEK

Irrelevant thoughts: Julia Earthman looking serious. Dorothy Phelps looking happy. Mrs. Goodner being well named. Dorothea Watson composing the Ipzy column. Ebery Watson's elegant dimples.

Miss Harris has been staging nothing less than a fashion parade this term.

Good old Peek felt at once welcome and unwelcome in Miss Headrick's sanctum in general science Friday because of the annual exam on Beoulf.

The chairs are the only things Peek has not heard criticism on. Those little metal jiggers certainly make the chairs easier to move. A few more such improvements and this old building will be a lazy man's paradise.

Lazy Bones, Peek pays high for information. Come around and maybe we can strike a bargain.

The "Overall Club" is some idea. One member of this club has confided to Peek that he feels more like himself in overalls; he acts more like himself anyway. He also informed me that the

Seniors Get First Shipment of Rings

At last, the seniors have their rings, that is the ones who paid a dollar in the spring. Everyone seems to like them immensely. They are rectangular shaped with a large C in the middle and an H and an S on the sides. At one glance, one can easily tell the high quality of the rings. The members of the class who have already received their rings are proud to have them so early in the year.

club, besides being an economy measure, will afford a lot of fun in picnics, parties, etc. They expect to organize real soon.

Information desired: Does that wedding band the glamorous White is wearing mean anything? Where is the source of the haughty Taylor's contemptuous silences? Why was Harold McDaniel carrying a bar of "Lifeboy" last Wednesday?

Miss Marie Thornton, who is now teaching in the Wellington High School, spent the week-end in Clarendon with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Thornton.

Bronchos Defeat—

unsuccessful. The score was 6-0. Clarendon.

The Bronchos looked exceptionally strong on the defense, smearing the Mustang backs for losses repeatedly. The passing combination, Cornell to Martin, and a quick opening play through tackle with Holtzclaw carrying the mail were the locals' best ground-gaining plays. Cornell's passing was exceptionally good. Every one of the several passes he attempted were "on the money" but several of them were dropped by the receiver.

Blocking by the Broncho backs, however, left much to be desired. The line's blocking was fairly effective, but ball carriers were afforded very little interference on end runs. If Coach Kerby can get his backs to blocking effectively he will be able to put an eleven on the gridiron that will do itself credit. Timing, too, is not all that it should be, but it is too early in the season to expect timing to be very highly developed.

Outstanding defensive work was turned in by Holtzclaw, Strawn, Noble and Martin. T. E. Noble also showed good form carrying the ball, and Cornell reversed his field beautifully on two occasions while returning punts and registered long yardage gains.

The Claude eleven provided stiffer opposition than was expected, and played a very good defensive game, although they were unable to get their offense to click. They never seriously threatened to score during the entire game.

Coach Kerby states that he is putting the boys through extensive blocking training this week, and hopes to have a better offensive machine when the Bronchos tangle with the Wellington Skyrockets under the lights in Wellington Friday night.
