Washington, September 30—AAA officials said Thursday the flow of federal benefit payments to 6,000,000 farm owners, operators and tenants will begin early in October, but that only one farmer in twenty or thirty will receive his check before election day, Nov. 3.

"We have had many appeals, especially from drought states, to expedite payments and we are going to do everything we can to see that they are promptly paid," said H. R. Tolley, the farm administrator. "We hope to be able to get somewhere between 2 and 5 per cent of the total payments out next month."

Other AAA spokesmen said the total to receive a share of the $470,000,000 to be paid out under the 1936 Soil Conservation-subsidy program will be about 1,000,000 larger than the number who received benefits under the (Continued on Page Eight)

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin.—As the 44th legislature began its special session to raise revenue for payment of old-age pensions, other significant developments regarding pensions were in the making in Austin and Washington this week. Whatever funds the legislature may raise, it is becoming increasingly apparent that the cost of pensions under the present liberal Texas law, is going to be many millions annually more than the early estimates ran. Paralleling this is the virtual certainty the state is going to have to foot all or nearly all of the bill by itself, unless the law and its administration are drastically tightened up.

There are now around 80,000 approved pensioners, drawing an average of nearly $16 a month. A hundred thousand additional applications are yet to be acted upon. Approvals ran 80 per cent of the first hundred thousand applications, which included 40,000 persons on relief rolls. Orville Carpenter, pension chief, hopes the percentage may be reduced to 50 or 60 per cent of the second 100,000 applicants. His latest estimate is 140,000 ultimately on the rolls. To pay these $16 a month will cost $26,880,000 annually. Total federal funds for matching state pension money this year is $85,000,000. Observers here regard it as absurd to think the federal government is going to allocate to Texas, with slightly over 4 per cent of the total U. S. population, nearly one sixth of the total pension fund. Texas is now drawing matching federal money at the rate of 14 per cent of the total. Pension workers throughout Texas are already under orders to reclassify all pensioners, deducting from present pensions value of food, lodging or other aid rendered by relatives or others. If the present session raises funds to pay pensions another six months, most observers here believe a real battle will follow in the January session, to determine a permanent pension policy, and finance it.

HIGHWAY PROGRAM

The most comprehensive future program of highway construction ever developed in Texas, designed to utilize federal-state highway funds for three years, and to close gaps enough in the joint system to give Texas an additional 1800 miles of completed federal highways, was submitted last week-end to the highway commission by its engineers.

The Most Unkindest Cut of All

By IRVIN S. COBB

ON THE stage of a music hall in the East End of London a memory wizard with a pronounced cockney accent was offering an exhibition of his skill. In response to questions from the audience he gave, off-hand, and promptly, the dates of historic events, the distance from the earth to the moon, and other facts and figures without limit. It was quite evident from the language of some of his statements that the performer was a most patriotic Briton. Invariably, when mentioning a great Englishman or a great English achievement, his voice rose exultantly.

Sitting well down the front were two Americans. They figured that the wizard must have accomplices in the house to ask him questions prepared beforehand. To find out whether or not the performer did have the powers of memory he boasted and with a view also to arousing his patriotic fervor to a still higher pitch if possible, one of the Yankees called out:

"Professor, please tell me what memorable event occurred on July the Fourth, 1776?" Without a moment's hesitation the professor shot back his reply: "A h'infarnal h'outrage, sir!" he shouted.

CLAIM VICTORY

A total of 16 pledged votes in the new Senate, meeting in January, in favor of ratification of the federal child labor amendment, is claimed by officials of the State Federation of Labor here, who have been campaigning actively for the amendment. The house has ratified several times, but the senate has always blocked ratification in Texas heretofore.

LIFE CONSERVATION

Tomorrow, in Texas, 331 babies will be born. But 36 of them will not live to see their first birthdays. And 73 mothers in Texas die for each 10,000 live births, while 72 babies out of each 1,000 die at birth.

To cut down this appalling waste of human life, the state health department this month, in co-operation with the State Medical association, is holding throughout Texas a series of clinics, at which local physicians are instructed on latest developments in pediatrics and obstetrics by leading specialists in these medical branches. By such organized campaigns, a Tennessee county cut the maternal death rate from 63 to 47 for each 10,000 live births, and Chicago, in 10 years, reduced its infant death rate from 74.7 to 40 for every 1,000 live births. Texas healthers claim as much can be done in Texas through intensive educational work.

Odd But True . . . . . By Anderson

Contractor's Son Carts Bantam Flock Along To Provide Eggs For Family

Twelve-year-old George Samuel Sloan of Ruidoso, N. M., drove through here recently with a flock of 20 bantam chickens and a diminutive rooster named Big Boy.

The flock was carefully caged in a trailer, and the chickens, globe trotters in a sense, being the muchly traveled variety with an ever changing roost.

The oldest hen in the lot—a four-year-old bird with feathers on her legs, has traveled 13,000 miles, which is believed to be good mileage for a bantam of her size, according to young George, who says that she still lays an egg a day on her way when she is not "shedding."

"My dad is a builder and a painter who builds and contracts in out-of-the-way places in the desert country and in the mountains," said young Sloan. "We work in New Mexico, Arizona, and Colorado, and carry our chickens with us and have eggs three times a day when we want 'em that often."

The young poultry fancier explained that when they pitched camp the poultry are allowed to run at large and roost regularly on the axle of the trailer. When the bantams become accustomed to a camp they venture out and roost in nearby trees, but never fail to return to the trailer when it's moving time.

Every bird is named. They have been gathered in Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, and Arizona, and their names are significant. Those gotten in New Mexico sound Spanish. There is Cl... Mesa Questa, Arena, Luna and Chaparrito, all hatched in the Sunshine state. Those from the Sunset state include Hopi, Apache, Navajo and Tucson, which pipped the shell in Arizona, while Goldie, Little Red, Big Red, Red Speckle, Big Boy and Wild Bird are just plain Texas bantams.

LIBRARY NOTES (By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

The response to my call for used magazines is being generous and a few buyers have come, so I am hoping the plan may prove successful in the two ways hoped for—placing the magazines in the hands of those who will enjoy them at a bargain price, and making a little money for new books for the library. I have some very worthwhile bargains, 25c and even 35c magazines which I am offering for 5c.

The most sensational success of this year in a novel is Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With The Wind"—which I do not have in the library, but which I'm going to tell you about, anyway—and perhaps I may have it later—perhaps someone may generously donate us a copy. MacMillan reported that the book sold more than 50,000 copies in one day exactly one month after publication.

So popular has it been in Dallas that Fitch-Goettinger have presented Evelyn Oppenheimer in reviews of the book, on several days in succession, while Sanger Bros. have presented Pauline Wright in similar reviews which were repeated at the noon hour in order that business people might hear it. One critic calls Margaret Mitchell's "superb novel of our own Southland of the Civil War and Reconstruction Days." The New Yorker says, "Not bigger, but better than Anthony Adverse—most romantic novel of the year." The Washington Post says "Best novel ever to come out of the South" and the New York Times says "Surpassed by nothing in American fiction."

The author, Margaret Mitchell, was born in Atlanta and has lived there all her life, and her parents were born there, also, while her grandparents had cotton plantations in the vicinity of Atlanta before the town was built. Her father is a lawyer of considerable prominence in Georgia, an authority on Georgia and Southern history, and president of the Atlantic Historical Society, while her brother is editor of the Atlanta Historical Bulletin. In 1925 she was married to John R. Marsh, a Kentuckian and former newspaper man, who is now manager of the advertising department of the Georgia Power Company. She began the story in 1926 and practically completed it by 1929.

"I chose the Civil War period to write about," she says, "because I was raised on it. As a child I listened for hours on Sunday afternoons to stories of fighting in Virginia and Georgia. And I heard about Reconstruction. In fact I heard everything except that the Confederates lost the war. When I was ten years old, it was a violent shock to learn that General Lee had been licked."

She goes on to say "If the novel has a theme, the theme is that of survival. What makes some of the people able to come through catastrophes and others, apparently just as able, strong and brave, go under? We have seen it in the present depression. It happens in every upheaval. Some (Continued on Page Seven.)

Passengers in the smoking compartment on my train were arguing about why railroad business is picking up.

A factory owner said it was because of this new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight. This is door-to-door service with no extra charge added to the freight bill.

A traveling salesman said it was because so many passenger and freight trains now run on faster schedules.

There was a school principal in the group and he said it was because train travel is so much cheaper for passengers. He said passenger fares are at the lowest point in history, with substantial reductions if you buy a round-trip ticket—and no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

One man, a farmer, said he liked something he could depend on, that's why he was traveling by train.

Another man, a newspaper reporter, said people were in favor of railroad travel because it is by far the safest. He quoted a lot of statistics from a book called, "Live and Let Live."

A banker we all know by name said railroad tax payments mean a lot in this state.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

Five line plays by Cornell, Holtzclaw, and Baxter gained 21 yards and two first downs. On the next play a bad pass from center lost Clarendon the ball as Clements recovered for Wellington. But the play was called back and Wellington drew a 5-yard penalty. The ball was resting on the Wellington 25-yard line. A pass was incomplete and two line plays by Cornell gained scant yards. Wellington again drew a 5-yard penalty for off-sides. Three plays failed to gain. Clarendon drew a 5-yard penalty for their backfield being in motion. Two passes from Cornell to Ralls were incomplete. Wellington gained the ball on downs.

Parker, Austin, Jackson and Estes picked up enough yardage for two first downs, then lost 34 yards on a lateral to Austin. Jackson kicked to the Clarendon 34-yard line as the quarter ended. Score, Wellington 0, Clarendon 0.

Second Quarter

Clarendon made one first down, then was held for three downs and forced to kick. The ball went out of bounds on the Wellington 25-yard line.

Cornell kicked but the ball was called back and Wellington drew a 5-yard penalty for ruffing the kicker. Again Cornell kicked, and for the second straight time Wellington was penalized 5 yards for blocking the kicker. Clarendon was given a first down because the penalty began on the line where the boy had been blocked. Two line plays failed to gain. Cornell kicked to the Wellington 40-yard line.

Wellington drew a 15-yard penalty for clipping. Jackson kicked to the Clarendon 30-yard line on a fake play.

MRS. FRED L. WILLIAMS, Editor

First Meeting of Season Held By Pathfinder Club Friday

The Pathfinder Club had a most auspicious opening for the year 1936-37 with a dinner party at the club rooms Friday evening, September 25, at 7 o'clock.

The seven retiring officers of the club occupied seats at a large lace covered dining table with a miniature ship at each end and centered with a bowl of beautiful roses.

Thirty members and one guest, Mrs. M. M. Noble, were seated at eight bridge tables, which had as their centerpieces small silver sailboats, carrying out the idea of crystal and silver service. The unique place cards were also decorated with a sailboat.

A most delectable three course dinner was served by the hostesses, Mesdames C. B. Morris, C. T. McMurtry, J. L. McMurtry, R. Y. King, and Misses Lottie Lane and Temple Harris.

A group of college girls, Misses Virginia Cluck, Sarah Virginia McGowan, Helen Louise Green and Mary Graham, acted as waitresses.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Thomas S. Barcus, and the following program was rendered during the dinner hour: Mrs. Allen Bryan delighted the audience with two piano numbers, "Narcissus" and "The Indian Love Call"; Margaret Weidman's poem, "Ship," was given by Mrs. U. J. Boston; two negro spirituals, "Lindy" and "Willie's Prayer" were beautifully and expressively sung by Mrs. J. H. Howze.

The programs were pen and ink sketches of the ship "Pathfinder," designed and executed by the president, Mrs. Fred Rathjen, which, with the table appointments, carried out in a nautical way the idea of the Travelogue club is embarking on the coming year in its study course.

After dinner, the club was opened in the usual manner by the president. Roll call was responded to by some part of a ship or a nautical term. After routine business was disposed of, the historian, Mrs. Frank Bourland, read an interesting chronicle of the club's activities and accomplishments for the year 1935-36.

President Rathjen in an able and original manner then proceeded with the installation of the following officers in the order given: Mrs. J. L. McMurtry, historian; Mrs. C. E. Bairfield, parliamentary; Mrs. John Bass, treasurer; Mrs. B. L. Jenkins, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. Y. King, recording secretary; Mrs. J. W. Evans, vice president; Mrs. L. N. Cox, president.

Mrs. Rathjen thanked each officer in turn for the faithful performance of her duties and bade her present and instruct her successor. Mrs. Bryan played a march and the officer sought her successor and marched with her to the officer's table and there very impressively pointed out to her the duties of the office to which she had been elected. The new officer then responded in fitting manner and was seated at the officers' table.

Mrs. Rathjen, the outgoing president, delivered a very feeling address to the club and especially to her executive board, thanking them for their splendid co-operation throughout the year. She then sought and presented her successor, Mrs. L. N. Cox, with a few fitting words.

Mrs. Cox responded with an address full of enthusiasm and hope for even greater achievements for the Pathfinder Club for 1936-37.

The club adjourned to meet Friday, October 9, in the club rooms.

Budget Newlyweds in "Bride Walks Out"

Titian-haired Barbara Stanwyck and tow-headed Gene Raymond embark on a course of budget marriage in "The Bride Walks Out," Miss Stanwyck's RKO Radio romantic comedy. Robert Young, as a wealthy wastrel, hurls a snag into the newlyweds' course. Ned Sparks and Helen Broderick contribute their particular brand of hilarity. Coming to the Pastime Theater Sunday and Monday.

With a unique romantic situation as the storm center around which whirls a marital cyclone, "The Bride Walks Out" rates a prominent place on the weather map of screen entertainment.

Barbara Stanwyck is starred with Gene Raymond and Robert Young as her rival leading men, and Ned Sparks and Helen Broderick also have featured roles in character comedy parts.

The plot of "The Bride Walks Out" concocted for laughing purposes only, deals with the matrimonial theory of a young civil engineer who is convinced that two can live as cheaply as one on $35 a week, and who will fight anybody who disagrees with him—including his rebellious fiancée.

Church Societies

The Ladies Aid of the First Christian Church met at the church at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, September 30.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Leisberg. Prayer was led by Mrs. Robert Austin, after which 9 members responded to roll call. After a short business session, the president turned the meeting over to Mrs. Eva Humphrey for the devotional. An interesting lesson on "I Accept Christ As A World Saviour" followed.

It was announced that Mrs. McAdams would be leader at the next meeting of the society. The meeting was dismissed with the pledge.

Surprise Party For Mrs. Sims

The T. E. L. Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church honored the teacher of the class, Mrs. W. B. Sims, on her birthday Wednesday, September 30. Mrs. Sims had been suffering from rheumatism for several weeks so no plans had been made by the family for any kind of celebration, but her class felt they could not let such an occasion pass unnoticed. All arrangements were made for the members and a few invited guests to meet at the home of Mrs. R. R. Dawkins and proceed to the Sims home at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Sims was much surprised to be awakened from sleep on the living room lounge by the "Happy Birthday" song. She responded very graciously and all joined in singing, "God Will Take Care of You."

The class presented her with a lovely brown purse and the others gave flowers and handkerchiefs.

Lovely white cake, sandwiches and tea were provided by the Class and served to the following: Mesdames J. Perry King, W. A. Massie, W. A. Land, C. W. Reed, E. E. Houdashell, J. T. Warren, J. A. ### EDITOR'S CORNER

The seniors are now advancing plans for an Amateur night next Thursday. All you students and citizens at large who have ambition, here is your opportunity to show what talent you possess, and also a chance at the nice prizes offered the winners. You will remember that the Amateur Night presented by the Curtain Club last year was very entertaining and successful. Come out next Thursday and join in the fun.

The football game last Friday night was a fairly "good game" even though the Bronchos did lose. You must remember that only one of the teams can win the game. I for one, am looking forward to an upset tomorrow night, even if Wheeler did beat Wellington a few weeks ago. Bronchos, it is up to you to stop these Wheeler boys.

The high school students are using many new text books this year. These books, issued by the State Board of Education are quite interesting and attractive. Those books especially in keeping with the times are those in English, math, history, civics, and economics.

On entering the chemistry lab Monday I found the lab assistants busily engaged in unpacking a large shipment of chemical supplies that had just arrived by express. This list of supplies included flasks, test tubes, burners, condensers, retorts, beakers, graduate measures, drying tubes, and several articles which I couldn't identify.

This laboratory in C. J. C. is one of the best equipped and up-to-date labs for a college of this size in the state. It is complete in every line, and thus chemistry students can do the same work here that is offered in many larger colleges to first and second year students.

Work on the old girls' dormitory is still progressing slow but sure. As you possibly know, the interior of the old dump is being worked over and remodeled. The building when finished will be known as Clarendon High School; it is hoped the project will be finished by next fall. This improvement will be a very decided one in the school system, for there will be no conflicts whatever between the Junior College and High School then.

The Benefit Revue staged last week can be called a success, I believe. The program was quite entertaining, many of the acts being especially good. Considering

Seniors To Sponsor Amateur Hour Oct. 8th at College Auditorium

Thursday night, October 8, in the College auditorium an Amateur hour will be held under the sponsorship of the Senior class. This contest is open to everyone, the only restriction being that there cannot be more than five persons in any one act.

Amateurs in any field of entertainment who want to compete should register with one of the senior class officers by October 5. These officers are Pat Slavin, Joan Thompson, Lillie Jewel Barnes, Marian McCormack and Reba Nichols. The first prize is five dollars, the second three dollars, and three additional prizes of one dollar each. The acts will be judged by a committee.

The purpose of the senior class in sponsoring this entertainment is to raise money to publish an annual. The price of admission is ten and twenty cents. There is no admission charge and no entrance fee for participants.

THE RANGE RIDER

Coach Jones' charges have settled down to a week of hard work. Their objective is to beat Wheeler and atone for the defeat at the hands of the Sky-rockets. Instead of being disheartened, by their defeat, the boys are stimulated. Last week they were not in their best condition, but their action this week promises that tomorrow's game will be a sixty-minute battle.

The Bronchos played inconsistent ball at times, but for the major part of the tilt they played heads u' lall. Even at this it seemed as if they lacked that final punch that takes them over the goal. The Bronchos' passing attack was off last Friday. The blocking in the line was largely responsible for this. The necessary protection was not afforded. We all hope this is improved, but even at this the game tomorrow night will offer many thrills to the fans.

The Bronchos were not outweighed to any considerable amount, but they were outsped and outlasted. But did you notice how well McGowen played the position at tackle? McGowen is or rather was a guard and the position was new. Nobles (Capt.) at the other tackle played stellar football. Also "Slime" Rolls played veteran ball at right end as did his team mate, J. B. Cole. At the left wing, Cornell showed that he possesses all three threats running, passing, and punting. Grady showed that he has what it takes to hit with all he's got. The most amazing performance was turned in by P. Slavin who was in the first conference game of his life. He blocked and tackled with such viciousness that it looked as if he had done it all his life.

It's about time to acknowledge the Clarendon fans. The largest crowd in a long time was out to encourage the players. We feel that the spectators did not go away disappointed at the Bronchos' showing. Everyone come out again Friday to back the boys in the hardest game of the season. The one week spent in getting the Revue up, I think it was a good performance.

WITH THE JUNIORS

Deah, Deah, so the Juniors (as well as the Sophs and Seniors) got their "pitchers took" for the annuals. There was much giggling on the part of the girls and did we or didn't we see a couple of boys back slyly into a corner and give their hair a final touch? Tch, tch, boys! Homer Tucker declares he heard the camera crack when he posed for his photo.

Oscar Butler says his motto is: "No matter what you say, I still suit me!" Pretty good and certainly to the point.

We're getting pretty fed up with mud and rain, but we'd rather have that than (sh-h-h don't mention sandstorms!)

Wanted: Information regarding Jo Ann Thompson's nickname. It happens to be "Preach."

Well, did we have a football game here Friday night? Yours truly yelled myself so hoarse that even lemons and the Bronchos within three yards of the goal line couldn't help. Boys, you played a grand game and the Juniors are behind you one hundred per cent!

P. S. Will somebody please tell us why Gene Teat and Jane Kerbow were so tickled in the study hall the other day? They were so amused that big fat tears were rolling down their fair cheeks. Speak up, girls.

P. S. No. 2—Another nickname that has caused considerable wonder is Frances Grady's nickname "Coon." By the way, Miss Grady's sporting a Senior ring and she's just a Junior. What now?

WITH THE SOPHS

Those of you who saw "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town" will realize what we mean when we say that Neel Thompson is a nose-twitching doodler.

Heard in history class, "I have learned more history in the past week than in all the rest of the weeks put together."

The smallest, dynamic person in school: Billy Headrick. Napoleonic figure (short), Napoleonic temperament (short and funny), Mrs. Goodner, as a close second. Seen at the fair: Billy Patman, playing Beno; Ruthie McDonald and Raymond Hay just running around; ex-teacher, Mrs. Shelton, seeing the sights.

Bristol Boards at The News.

PITCHES FROM THE BRONCHO

The Tri-State Fair seems to have been the chief attraction last week. Practically everyone attended and had a good time. Joan Thompson, we understand, managed to see everything on a child's ticket. It pays to be small. Ethelyn Drennan and Jeanne McDonald didn't enjoy it very much, however, for they nearly froze. Jane Kerbow, Lalar Belle Wilkerson, Louise Russell, and Leota Rampey got their pictures on the front page of the Amarillo Daily as a result of their trip.

Did you know that we have a budding musician on the faculty in the person of J. L. Kerby? He is learning (?) to play (?) the xylophone.

The seniors shall soon have studied Webster's dictionary from A to Z if they keep up the present rate.

Pat Slavin is the heaviest loser of pencils in school. Mrs. McGowen profits by it, however, so maybe it's not so bad, after all.

Beatrice Hardin has a new P. M. (perfect man), but she doesn't know who he is.

Bobby Leathers must be the fastest person in school. He always seems to be going some piece in a hurry, his rapid-fire speech is the only one of its kind, and his piano playing is very individual and fast.

Junior High News

Highway patrolman Sergeant Schauer, made a visit to the Junior High School and South Ward Monday morning. The better points for safe driving were especially emphasized.

Other facts he stated were that six thousand people are killed every year in car accidents, which not only cost lives, but one thousand dollars a minute. Highway patrolmen all over the state of Texas have tested one hundred and forty thousand cars and thirty thousand of them had defects.

The talk was concluded with the statement, "Remember that we patrolmen are always your friend, and that we are always anxious to help you."

The members of the band and a large number of Junior High and South Ward students attended the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last week.

OUR BOOK SHELF

"The Long Night" by Andrew Lytle is the most fascinating book we have read in a long time. A tale of vengeance, it will hold the attention of even readers of Wild West stories.

The author was born in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, on the land given to the town by his Revolutionary ancestor, Captain William Lytle. "The Long Night" is his first novel.

This book is very well written. Lytle makes his readers actually feel the hate of Pleasant Melvor for the people who killed his innocent father. We admire Melvor's cunning and skill in the various ways he avenged his father's death.

"The Long Night" has been compared favorably with the current best seller, "Gone With The Wind." Some critics go so far as to say it is even better. Altogether it is a book we should not miss reading.

Attractiveness in make-up is the new policy announced by the editors of Scribner's Magazine and displayed in this gold-covered October issue.

In the center of the cover is an eye-catching four-color illustration. The art work, indeed, throughout the magazine to catch and to hold as well the attention of the reader. All the stories are illustrated according to their substance. Many photographic studies give a new depth to the magazine.

A new kind of paper makes reading easier and gives the type a more pleasing appearance. Instead of the rough paper formerly used, Scribner's is now printed on a slick, light cream paper.

The old readers of Scribner's should declare a new faith in this dressed-up form of reading matter. New readers, especially those people who are sensitive to illustrated reading matter, should be won.

THE DIRT DOBBER

Who was the handsome young gentleman escorting Anna Moores Swift at the fair Friday?

From all we hear, we would like to know why James Bartlett left the races so much Friday.

We wonder who got lost in Amarillo Tuesday night. Did you ever find the Nat, Marty?

Boys, do you know where Miss Berry got that wild cherry flavoring? What makes Miss Blair like her "after school" coffee so well?

We wonder where Charlie Murphy gets cold so easily. What made Sarah Virginia so angry last Wednesday? What do you know about this, Pete?

What three girls went to Memphis a few week-ends ago, and had to come home on the bus, and why?

Does Eloise like Phillips 66 Stations, or is it Dexter Todd? Hey, Baxter, how many cigars did you buy Sunday?

And last, but not least, people you never see without each other: Dorothy Phelps and David McClesky; Allen Patman and Marian McCormack; Pete Powell and Nickey Stewart; Bob Hamilton and Ouida Read.

Boys and girls, hold your hats, this column will be published each week, so be careful, because we see all, hear all, know all, publish all, and we could make up some.

BY DICK COOKE

The 1936 District 3, Class B football show got into full swing over the week-end but no upsets marred the tranquility of the host of eminent forecasters who had called last Friday's various games perfectly.

And while speaking of shows it looks like a three ring circus with Wheeler, Shamrock and Wellington as ring-masters, according to these towns' publicity departments. But don't forget that Memphis may stage a very good act and it's quite possible that McLean hasn't forgotten how to crack the whip as it did last year when they lashed everythink in the district.

While it's practically hopeless to look at the Clarendon Bronchos as the spirited Ponies we longed for, maybe they will be content to take a lesser role of, say, an animal act, and tear down quite a few unsuspecting trainers.

Personally we are taking a second look at the unheralded Memphis Cyclones. The orange and black boys from Hall County may sweep through the conference with tornadoic force, causing destruction to some of their lordly foes who are quite confident of their ability to withstand the expected light blast of wind.

And why are we picking Memphis to be a contender? Nothing but dope; dope, the most unreliable source of information one can glean. But we're passing on to you what we see in the bucket.

First, Memphis smacked Mobeetie around, 47 to 0, while McLean and Wellington were 10 points behind against the same club with 37 to 0 victories. Next, Memphis took Lakeview by a lopsided score while McLean won over Lakeview, 28 to 7. And last, Memphis knocked over a rugged, formidable Paducah club last Friday, 9 to 7.

Incomplete results of other conference games are Pampa 12, McLean 0; Shamrock 25, Erick, Oklahoma, 0; Shamrock 19, Lefors 0; Wellington 39, Community Center 0; Wellington 37, Mobeetie 0; Wellington 7, Wheeler 12; Wellington 13, Clarendon 0.

Even though Broncho Mentor C. C. Jones issues the statement this week that the Wheeler Mustangs will take Friday night's game, we'll also issue a statement, regardless of the consequences, that the Bronchos will have a better chance for a win than last week.

Wellington played Wheeler all over the field, but 161 yards lost in penalties by the Skyrockets made a lot of difference.

Murals Portray Texas Life

Expressive of the four sections of Texas, their bountiful natural resources and historical background are the elaborate murals which adorn the walls of the $1,200,000 Hall of State, the dominating building of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas. At the top a section of one of the giant murals found in the great hall portray two of Texas' foremost natural resources, oil and cotton. On the extreme left may be seen the prow of a sea-going freighter, representing the vast shipping industry of East Texas and the lower Gulf Coast. In the center mural, which hangs in the North Texas room, Old Man Texas is the predominant figure. The lower is unmistakably typical of the hearty West. The paintings adorning the walls of the Texas Building's great hall are reputed to be the largest in the world. They portray the story of Texas, both in the days of the republic and after statehood.

Although opened but a few weeks ago, the magnificent Hall of State has won a place as one of the nation's foremost memorial edifices.

Library Notes—

people survive; others don't. What qualities are in those who fight their way through triumphantly that are lacking in those who go under? I don't know. I only know that the survivors used to call that quality 'gumption.' So I wrote about the people who had gumption and the people who didn't."

The following from Henry Seidel Canby, critic for the Book-of-the-Month Club, is a better discussion of the book than I can give, so I quote him at length. "This book has been waiting to be written for many years. One of the unanswered questions in American literature is why we have done so little with the tensions, the tragedies, the breakdown of cultures and the extraordinary exhibition of human nature at its worst and best, which was our Civil War." Then he criticizes briefly this first novel by the author, but goes on to say

"We are not concerned with greatness. What we have longed for is an adequate novel of the Civil War—as the beaten South knew it—a story that would have an authentic picture of the arrogant, provincial, very attractive life of the pre-war plantation South, and not be merely glamorous or sentimental. A story that would see the war as the women at home saw it. A story of the Reconstruction days. Only Russia in her Reconstruction offers a more dramatic theme than our South."

Miss Mitchell has written of it all. Her novel has the rise and dip and rise again of a story that unhesitatingly moves through the glamorous, the picturesque, the terrible, the sordid, the mean, the courageous, the mistaken, and her characters and her scenes are not unworthy of her subject.

The title sums up the story. It is all gone with the wind—Tara, the wrecked up-country plantation and its 'high spirited life; the dominance of a class, the culture of an agrarian civilization. In the book you see and feel how people, all kinds of people, black as well as white—lived in the plantation era; when Sherman marched through Georgia. Insensibly all upper Georgia changes under the shock of defeat, and all its people change with it.

The book needed to be written, and Miss Mitchell has proved herself a very satisfying novelist. She describes not a phase, but all aspects of the South in one of its typical areas, at the crisis of its history."

Now, that sounds kinda like I'm crazy, doesn't it, when we've already been beaten by Wellington, who was in turn beaten by Wheeler? But I'm basing that prediction on the fact that the Bronchos are ready. They're very decidedly pointing to the Wheeler game, and they believe they can beat them. And furthermore, they are due. Understand I'm not picking the Clarendon boys to beat 'em, but I wouldn't be surprised. And if anybody is going to beat them, I believe it will be the Bronchos.

Famed Characters Will Greet Pupils

Two famous characters from history and fiction will greet Texas school children who visit the Centennial Exposition in Dallas this fall. They are Alice in Wonderland and Queen Elizabeth. Alice, from the Tony Sarg Marionette Theatre, is seen here lighting Queen Elizabeth's pipe. Her Majesty rules over Merrie England where the Globe Theatre and Falstaff Tavern are located. Both Queen Bess and Alice have made special preparations to welcome Texas pupils from this district to the world's fair.

The amount paid out under the program was $1,500,000,000 (billion). The bulk of the payment is expected to be made in the latter part of this year and early in 1937, AAA executives said, because from one to two months is required to determine if the farmer has complied with regulations, and another month to write checks, audit them, and get them into the mails.
