County-Wide Golf Championship To Be Annual Affair

Williams Tells

By Fred L. Williams

Only one week from Saturday until election day—the first primary—and a lot of office seekers are going to find just where they stand. Imagine it will be quite a relief, at that—even to the losers.

"Second First"—Speaking of primaries brings to mind a story I heard the other day. T. H. Peebles is credited with the inquiry, so the story goes, as to where the newspapers got the term "second primary." Mr. Peebles is said to have remarked that his understanding of the definition of the word "primary" was that it meant "first."

"And how," he wanted to know, "can there be a second first?" "It's a fair question, at that."

Shades of Isaac Walton—I saw Clyde Douglas standing in front of his drug store late one afternoon last week, and I'll bet two bits you can't guess what he was doing! Give up? He was fishing!

He had a brand new fly rod and reel, and was whipping 'em up for all he was worth.

People passing by in automobiles stared unbelievably at the dry land fisherman, and finally somebody, hollered and asked him if he was having any luck.

"Poor old Clyde," I said to myself as I started in the store to telephone the psychopathic ward. "The heat's got 'im."

But about that time he called me over and said he was just trying out a new rod to see how it worked.

Frontier Centennial—Fort Worth press releases state that the mammoth Frontier Centennial Celebration is in readiness for the grand opening Saturday, July 18.

It is pointed out that the most popular prices for the class of entertainment will prevail.

Fort Worth and Dallas are both to be commended upon the fact that they have held prices down in their celebrations. They will benefit greatly from this action, in that larger crowds will attend the celebrations.

Free Trips—The Fort Worth organization carries an advertisement in this issue of The News (page 8) which announces that free trips to the Frontier Centennial may be obtained. No particulars have been announced in this regard, but those interested may get complete information by clipping the coupon and mailing it in to headquarters.

Better Hurry—If you plan to take advantage of the $1-a-year subscription rate now being offered by The News, you'd better get the buck in pretty soon. The offer will be closed some time during the next two weeks, and will not be repeated soon.

Increase Is Shown In New Car Sales

Special to The Clarendon News. Austin, July 15—An increase of sales of new automobiles in Texas during June over the preceding month and the like month last year is reported by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from fifteen representative Texas counties show a total of 8,226 sales, an increase of 32 per cent over May and 64 per cent over June 1935. Aggregate sales in these counties during the first half year were 38,751, an increase of 23 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The percentage increase in sales of the lowest price group during June over the two comparable periods was greater than the percentage increase of all groups combined.

First Tournament To Begin Here Sunday, July 19; Over 30 Have Entered.

THOMPSON RALLY IS TO BE HELD IN AMARILLO JULY 23

HOMECOMING CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER.

Amarillo, July 15—A real old-fashioned political rally with "all the trimmings" of music, ice water and impromptu speakers from the crowd is being arranged here for Thursday night, July 23, as a homecoming celebration for Ernest O. Thompson and to let the rest of the state know that the Panhandle is "stronger than ever" for the red-headed fighter from the Plains who is chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The rally will be outdoors, on the lawn of the Municipal Auditorium where loud-speakers will be set up to insure everyone of hearing the program.

The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock with a concert furnished by the 142nd Infantry band, a musical organization widely known throughout the state and which has asked permission to participate in the rally as an honor to Thompson who recently was made a full colonel in the Texas National Guard.

"This is not an Amarillo rally," says Bill O'Brien, Panhandle rancher and banker who is giving his time to the active management of Thompson's campaign in this section.

"This is an event for the entire Panhandle. We are holding it here because Amarillo is centrally located and accessible to (Continued on Page Four)

BUSINESS HOUSES WILL MOVE TO NEW LOCATIONS SOON

BUILDINGS BEING REMODELED TO HOUSE LOCAL FIRMS.

The moving trend in Clarendon continues this week, with workmen busy remodeling the building on Kearney street, which formerly housed the O. K. Cafe and Gulf filling station, to accommodate the Thompson Hardware Company which is now located South of the West Texas Utility Co.

The remodeling will represent a cash outlay of about $2,000, it is estimated. The building will be completely modernized.

Another crew of workmen is renovating the Clifford & Ray Building on lower Kearney Street, next to the First National Bank. The grocery firm will move into the new building about August 1, according to W. E. Ray.

The accident occurred about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Hillman pasture. GASOLINE TAX REFUND

It is as plain as the nose on your face that any law by which the Panhandle profits a half million dollars every 12 months should not be repealed. For this reason it is important that this district stand unified in behalf of the Texas statute which returns the four-cent gasoline tax paid by farmers on fuel used for agricultural purposes.

Nothing would please East Texas politicians better than to make still another raid on West Texas. The plains region is the chief beneficiary of the law inasmuch as it is the biggest consumer of fuel used for farm purposes. East Texas readily sees that a half million would be added to the state's available funds if that sum were not refunded to the 26 Panhandle counties.

The amount was $552,793.22 for the year ending June 31, 1936. Sections where tractors and trucks are used extensively received the greatest portion of the rebate but every county shared in the "gift" with the amounts ranging from $9,097.85 in Wheeler County to $64,488.80 in Swisher County. Ochiltree received a rebate of $18,953.15. Carson, another motorized county, profited $61,004.84 by the law.

A fight to retain the law has been made annually by Senator Clint C. Small, its author. Small has called attention to candidates for state office, whose campaign speeches have proposed to reduce the gasoline tax which is divided between schools, highways and county road bond debts.

It is safe to predict that if the gasoline tax was reduced, a clamor would immediately begin downstate to collect from farmers the two or three cent tax remaining on gasoline. Such a reduction, also, would reduce the funds available for schools, much-needed highways in the Panhandle and would possibly result in thousands of dollars in county road bond indebtedness being turned back to individual taxpayers.—Ochiltree County Herald.

TO THE CITIZENS OF HALL COUNTY:

It appears that the frequent visits made to Donley County for the express purpose of advising our citizens how to vote for District officers, so the law can be enforced, so they say, are just a little presumptuous.

We the people of Donley County feel that we have as clean a citizenship as there is in Texas and as law-abiding, and see no cause for advice or dictation from our neighbors in Hall County.

We have the same district officers that Hall County has and we feel that if these citizens who are so interested in having us help them enforce the law would use as much energy in getting behind the present officers and cleaning up their own back yards they would not need our assistance.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin. — Coming down the home stretch toward July 25 election day, candidates this week were turning loose their "big guns" in a final drive for votes and jobs.

The governor's race, occupying top position in public interest, was to be decided largely on the issue of taxes and old age pensions. Gov. Allred, asserting he is the first candidate who raised his voice for old age pensions in Texas, by urging adoption of the constitutional amendment, pointed to the payment of pension checks to nearly 50,000 aged July 1, and praised the Texas law as one of the most liberal in the nation, meeting requirements of the federal social security act. He said few, if any new taxes are needed, and said he had reduced state levies on property.

His opponents continued to attack his pension program. Fischer hammered away at his 15-cent oil tax and $15 a month for all over 65; Sanderford asserted a 3-cent sales tax is the only way to pay pensions, and ridiculed Fischer as "an Oklahoma Republican who knows his oil tax plan would never pass the legislature." He rapped Allred as an opponent of the Centennial and a "ribbon-cutter."

Pierce Brooks, the Dallas real estate man, continued to ridicule Allred and urge free automobile licenses and abolition of the poll tax.

PRORATION BIG ISSUE

Whether the existing system of prorating the production of oil to conserve a natural resource, as advocated by Ernest O. Thompson, rail commission chairman, shall be replaced by a "wide-open" policy of turning wells loose, as urged by his opposition, was the main issue upon which the voters must elect a railroad commissioner. In this race, public school and university funds, which benefit from oil taxes and from lease and royalty payments on school lands, have become an important point of discussion. Thompson claims the commission's conservation policy, made effective by the vote of the chairman and Commissioner C. V. Terrell, constituting a majority, has doubled the income of the school funds, by maintaining a fair price for oil and stopping "hot" oil which pays no taxes. His opponents advocate throwing open production and reopening the "hot oil" refineries, which have been shut down by injunctions obtained by the attorney general for continued and flagrant defiance of the conservation laws. This policy, Thompson asserts, is not only forbidden by the state laws, but would immediately break the price of oil, and return to the chaotic days of 10-cent oil which marked the birth of the East Texas field, costing schools and state treasury millions of dollars.

LAND COMMISSIONER

Campaigning vigorously as the windup neared, also was J. W. Hawkins, chief clerk and legal adviser to the commissioner of the general land office, who seeks to succeed his chief, Commissioner Walker, who is retiring. Hawkins, with 33 years experience in the department, hopes to carry on the tradition of promotion in an office where experience and familiarity with land records are regarded as valuable assets. His opponent, "Bill" McDonald, former clerk of Eastland-co, urges his youth and vigor as qualifications.

CAMPAIGN INCIDENT

The layman never ceases to be amused at the antics of the politicians and those who manage their campaigns. One candidate for state office strolled into his headquarters this week, wearing a white linen suit with a black shirt and bright yellow necktie—a fashion foible affected recently by night club habitués and college students. The campaign manager blanched, pushed the candidate into a back room, rushed out and returned with a white shirt and conventional black tie. When the candidate had put these on, the manager breathed a deep sigh of relief, wiped sweat from his brow and muttered.

"If any of our opponents had seen him in that outfit, he'd have been tagged as the 'jelly-bean' candidate all over Texas in 24 hours, and we'd have been beaten sure on that issue alone."

HOT RACE LOOMS IN 1938

Walter Woodward, Coleman lawyer, ex-senator and runner-up two years ago in the race for attorney general, was reported this week to be preparing for another bid for the latter office two years hence, following his election at Dallas as president of the Texas Bar association. Already as avowed candidate when Bill McCraw vacates it, is Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul of Houston. Clyde Smith of Woodville, former secretary of state, is also reported as a potential candidate, if he fails to unseat Congressman Martin Dies in this month's primary, and Gerald Mann, Dallas ex-S. M. U. football star and potent Allred ally, is still another rumored candidate. Politicians regard the attorney general's office as an excellent springboard from which to jump toward the governorship, hence its popularity.

PINWHEEL

More than 500 insane persons languish in Texas county jails today, awaiting admittance to overcrowded state institutions, members of the board of control declared at eleemosynary institution preliminary budget hearings. Many counties are refusing to hear lunacy charges, because there is no place to confine patients adjudged insane. Conditions in some of the jails are horrible in the extreme, and only largely increased appropriations can provide facilities for accommodating these unfortunates. . . . Wright Patman of Texarkana and Ewing Thomason of El Paso are the only two Texas congressmen who are unopposed for re-election this

ALLRED'S RECORD BASIS OF REQUEST FOR RE-ELECTION

IS HOLDING CAMPAIGN TO "ISSUES RATHER THAN PERSONALITIES."

Austin, July 15—Consistently holding his campaign on the plane of "issues rather than personalities," where he set it in his opening speech, Governor James V. Allred continued his campaign for a second term in office through West and Central Texas this week.

His record as governor is the basis of his request for re-election. Allred has told audiences already in North, East and West Texas. That same record will be cited by him to Central Texas audiences during the remainder of this week.

"The Allred record" includes: Inauguration of the first comprehensive social security program in the history of Texas, including of course, old age assistance payments which began July 1 to more than 40,000 of the state's aged needy; an actual ad valorem tax reduction of 15 cents on the $100 valuation that cut $4,787,400 from the tax bill of Texas taxpayers during 1935; advocacy of a natural resources tax increase, but limited so as not to handicap Texas products in the world market; establishment of a "clemency-by-merit-only" policy and of the voluntary parole board system as forward steps in convict rehabilitation work; highest appropriations for schools and rural aid in the history of the state.

In addition to citing the record of his past performances, Governor Allred also has pledged in speeches delivered during the last 10 days that the social security program will be broadened to include unemployment insurance and other phases of social welfare as well as old age assistance.

In his speech at Atlanta he assured Texas farmers that they will get their share of Federal agricultural benefit funds through a coordination of this state's agricultural program with that laid out in the Federal Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

Although a rising tide of conviction that Governor Allred will be renominated in the first primary apparently is sweeping the state, that question of course will not be definitely answered before July 25.

Considered as significant, however, by Allred leaders is the rallying to his banner of many political powers who in the past have opposed Allred, and the appearance of large crowds and general enthusiasm that attended his progress through Northeast purchased but they are not desired, and they must not be in foal); price, around $160 per head (a $5 premium will be paid for registered thoroughbreds or registered half thoroughbreds), must be gentle to handle and shown under saddle. A few three-year-olds will be purchased, but they must be superior horses, and very well grown out.

Specifications for artillery horses are as follows: Age, 4 to 7 years; height, 15.1 to 16 hands; weight, 1,100 to 1,300 pounds; breeding, good, breezy-looking horses desired; color, any solid color (no paints or greys); sex, geldings only. Must be gentle to handle and must be shown under saddle.

The communication states that the purchasing board will go out in the very near future, and asks that Mr. McMurtry furnish them with information as to the number of horses he will be able to show, and Mr. McMurtry urges that all who are interested in selling horses to get in touch with him at the earliest possible moment.

the people from all sections of the Plains country.

"Ernest is a home-town boy who has made good in a big way and who has done much for the Panhandle as well as for the rest of the state. He is the first state official from the Panhandle to be up for 're-election' since I can remember. I say re-election, because he is one of the few men in history chosen from the Panhandle to a state office and his first term as a member of the Texas Railroad Commission has been marked by such unusual efficiency and statesmanship that the Texas commission is now looked upon by the nation as a leader in this field. This condition was not by accident but because of the work and leadership furnished by Ernest Thompson. It is to recognize this leadership and to impress the rest of the state with Ernest Thompson's popularity in the Panhandle that the rally is being arranged."

Colonel Thompson will bring his campaign to a close with the Panhandle rally. His speech, to begin at 9 o'clock, will be broadcast over the Amarillo station and a state-wide hook-up. Speakers from numerous cities of the Panhandle will speak briefly.

Famous Driver Gives Rules For Driving

The safety and pleasure of any motorist's vacation trip can be increased many fold by the observation of a few simple rules according to Ab Jenkins, known as the world's safest driver. Jenkins, who holds more speed records than any other man in sports, has driven more than one million miles on all kinds of roads in every state in the union, without an accident.

Besides the well known and fairly well recognized rules about observing stop signs, not trying to beat traffic lights, not passing another car on a turn or a hill, Jenkins has the following advice to give on features of driving little thought about by the average motorist:

1. Read the road; that is, observe cars ahead and those directly behind because only in this way can you decide whether passing is safe. The car behind can do you a lot of damage and observing only the next car ahead is no insurance of safety.
2. Don't drive in a slouched position. Keep both hands on the wheel. Hands and arms should always be in a position to take care of the ever impending emergency.

Opportunity and opposition usually co-exist. The larger the opportunity the more perplexing the problems. One need not expect to solve a problem by running away from it. Opportunities neglected usually create more problems. Answers found to problems by solving and proving them creates strength of character, generates courage, provokes vim, vigor, and vitality. Opposition overcome makes life fascinating. Charming personality is possessed by those who dare to do the seemingly impossible. LIBRARY NOTES (By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Quite a number of new members as well as our old ones are enjoying our recent purchase of new books. In addition to those purchased several of our friends have recently made contributions of one or two books. These include Woodie Spencer, Ermagene Spencer, John Burton King and Mrs. James Trent.

The American selection for the all-nations prize novel competition is "Steps Going Down" by John T. McIntyre, which will be published in September by Farrar and Rinehart. This was the unanimous selection of the committee, and in case it does not win the international prize of about $19,000, it still will win the $4,000 as the U. S. winner. Mr. McIntyre was born in Philadelphia and still lives and works there. The story is said to be one of common life.

E. Phillips Oppenheim will have his 100th novel published this month. The title is "The Magnificent Hoax." His first novel was published fifty-nine years ago. Our readers enjoy the half dozen of his one hundred which are on our shelves, some of which are among his first and some among his last books.

Pearl Buck's "The Exile," the story of her mother's life, has brought many requests to know more of her father's life. In response to these requests she is writing his life under the title "Blind Angel: Portrait of a Soul." One can but wonder how she will handle it—and him. But the prediction can safely be made that however she does it, the result will be interesting reading. An editorial in a magazine recently says the past decade has shown a distinct change in our reading. "In short, we are demanding and are reading better books. The quality of our best selling fiction is improving." Many splendid things in literature have been brought again into popular favor by screen adaptations. These adaptations have sometimes gone so far from the original as to be startling, as when "Mr. Wiggs" reappears very much alive after Alice Hegan Rice had told us that he had long since "gone to heaven by the alcohol route." But the picture left us firm in the conviction of the truth of her statement that "Mrs. Wiggs had spent most of her life talking the dust off of her rose-colored spectacles." Our copy of this old favorite has been busy lately.

Another writer whose books our readers are enjoying with increasing interest of late is Rex Beach. It is said of him that he observes a more rigid routine of work than most writers. Whether he is in New York or Florida or wherever he may be, he goes to his typewriter at 8 a. m. and remains until 1 p. m. At his 200-acre Florida farm he raises celery, gladioli and calla lilies, and all the work of planting, cultivation and shipping he directs personally. And in between all these activities, he usually beats everybody at golf, shooting and anything else they want to try. One of his side ventures is raising prize hogs.

I think you will be interested in the following: An authority in the field of education says: "If fiction be good wholesome stuff, rattling good stories, exciting and interesting novels, purposeful, artistic studies of real life, then the more of it read, the better. I would rather my boy read a good story than spend the same time in a pool room."

James Russell Lowell once said "The better part of every man's education is that which he gives himself, and it is for this that the library furnishes the opportunity and the means."

Andrew Carnegie said, "A taste for reading drives out lower

TO THE PEOPLE OF DONLEY COUNTY:

It has been my happy privilege to serve the people of Donley County in the capacity of County Superintendent of Schools for one term. I believe there is no one but who would agree that the experience gained while in this position has better fitted me to serve you another term.

My previous training and experiences also qualifies me for the job which you have intrusted me. I served two years in the army during the World War. One year of this time in France in the Aviation Corps. After returning from France, I was employed as lease foreman in Ranger Oil Fields. I have taught school for ten years. One year at Goldsmith in Collingsworth County, one year at Parnell in Hall County and eight years as principal of Smith School in Donley County. I have a permanent life certificate to teach in Texas schools.

This certificate is based on college credit work done in Trinity University at Waxahachie, Texas and Park College, Parkville, Missouri. Since being your County Superintendent, I have taken extension work in curriculum revision and attended a school for County Superintendents at Texas Agriculture and Mechanical College.

During my administration of the school affairs in Donley County, due to the splendid cooperation of the patrons, trustees and teachers with the Donley County Board of Education and the County Superintendent the following accomplishments have been realized:

1. New school buildings have been completed and all school property has been kept in good physical condition.
2. Seven rural schools have been standardized.
3. Fourteen school buses have been purchased to transport pupils to their own local district schools and the high school pupils to affiliated high schools.
4. High school and Junior Col-

DUB Shots

(By DICK COOKE)

Once more the axe is about to fall! The golf club is about to be discontinued, according to club officials, who said this week that unless more interest is shown the grounds would be closed at the end of this month.

Consequently, interested members issued a call to the golfers and the few who rallied round the flag decided to go out with a final burst of glory. So now come forward members of the tournament committee and offer, for the last stand, the first annual Donley County Championship Tournament.

The tournament will be played under the city tournament rules. Qualifying will be this Sunday, July 19, and match play will continue all week with the finals on Sunday, July 26. There will be as many flights as players, with a good prize list for winners and runners-up in all flights, including the consolation.

The picnic, dance and Calcutta

Pool to be held at the Country Club Monday night, July 20, will be one of the main attractions of the tourney.

Although having never been considered seriously, it is true that a golf club should be a civic organization. Not considering the recreation furnished, imagine the reputation of a town as large as Clarendon being that backward.

Golf goes further to promote good will than would an everyday booster trip. There is not a man in Clarendon who, if he has played golf for as long as two years, does not have influential friends in every town in the Panhandle. And, if he becomes exceptionally good, and is fairly sporting, the friendships extend to all West Texas.

The popularity range of the poorer player is limited to his field of activities. If he attends a number of tournaments during a season, he makes a host of friends; men who may not especially admire his game, but have the kindred feeling of a fellow sportsman—the admiration which all red-blooded men hold for any player of a clean game of outdoor skill.

Archie Blanton who has been a mainstay in the Childress Golf and Country Club for the past ten years, is moving with his family to New Braunfels, according to the Childress Index. Blanton, a one-time Clarendon resident, is well known on the local course.

Hawkins Stresses Guardianship of State School Fund

Special to The Clarendon News. Austin, July 16—When Texas taxpayers and parents awake to the importance of the state's most important trustee-ship—the office of land commissioner—they will demand only the highest degree of experience and proved competence from candidates for this position.

That was the theme which Major John W. Hawkins, chief clerk in the office, was carrying into his campaign this week for the office of land commissioner, which he seeks with the endorsement of the retiring commissioner, J. H. Walker.

"This $80,000,000 trust fund, built up for the cause of free education, must not be placed in inexperienced hands," Hawkins declared. "During the thirty years I have served the department as legal advisor and chief clerk I have watched it grow and had a part in its growth. I know that a single mis-slip in the trusteeship would affect every school in Texas.

"The land commissioner has one job that surpasses all others: the Guardianship of the school fund. It is my sincere desire, in my campaign, to stick by that single issue. The land commissioner has no concern with old age pensions, except in keeping Texas as prosperous as possible so there would be fewer needy aged persons. He has no concern with the labor used to drill wells, except to encourage the widest possible drilling of wells for the benefit of the school fund.

"Anyone who tries to tell you different is wholly wrong. He would be incompetent to handle the $80,000,000 school fund."

CLINT C. SMALL STRESSES NEED OF EXPERIENCED MAN

NECESSARY IN ADMINISTERING NEW FARM PROGRAM, SENATOR SAYS.

Senator Clint C. Small stressed the need for "experience and level-headed statesmanship" in administering the farm program when the AAA setup is turned over to the state in his campaign speeches this week, his friends here said today.

While he fired frequent blasts at his opponent, charging him with failure to offer a constructive platform and with conducting a campaign of "vilification", Senator Small devoted most of his time to outlining an agricultural program which he considers essential to farm recovery.

He reiterated statements that he approved a law which would require not only attorneys but all members of the two houses of the Legislature and all state officials, including the Governor of Texas, to file an affidavit as to their business connections in regards to representing special interests.

"I voted against one resolution in the Senate because I considered it discriminatory in that it included no one but attorneys," he said. "However, I immediately offered a second resolution which included all members of both houses and all state officials. It was passed in the Senate but was killed in the House."

Senator Small declared that he is in favor of legislation to protect the small business man and said he would propose a bill at the next session of the Legislature which will prohibit secret rebates and discounts allegedly made to national firms.

A whirlwind campaign during the next 20 days is in sight with friends still predicting a three to one victory for him. Small will speak in every county in the 31st Senatorial District, he announced.

Mrs. F. C. Tulloss of San Antonio is visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Peebles.

The recently re-organized Hedley Golf Club is expected to send a large delegation to swell the entry list before the deadline, Sunday at noon.

Fort Worth Ready for Gala Opening

The Last Frontier—Pioneer Palace—Jumbo—Casa Manana—Nude Ranch! Marvels of entertainment will go on parade in Fort Worth Saturday, July 18, when the Texas Frontier Centennial opens its gates to the world. But mere gates, closed during rehearsals, have not kept out the crowds. Bess Harris, for instance, boldly travels the "Sunset Trail" in a modern covered wagon, mustering into service Mr. Star, an Indian youth whose Hopi reservation is on the Centennial grounds, and pausing for refreshment at an old pump presided over graciously by Miss Yellow Spider. And below is Nikki Allen, who takes time out from rehearsals at Sally Rand's Nude Ranch to furnish a good reason for the crowds in the bottom photo.

Business Houses—

(Continued from Page One) were stored Monday until Clifford & Ray move their stock to their new location. The cafe will then move into the building now occupied by the grocery.

The Castleberry Market, which has been located in the Clifford & Ray Grocery for a number of years, will move to the Trent Building on Sully Street, which is also being remodeled. The market will be open for business in the new location Monday, July 20, according to Oscar Castleberry, manager.

Clifford & Ray will operate their own market in their new location, it was announced.

Motion picture newsreel men are now on the grounds making pictures of rehearsals and the vanguard of the parade of stars. Nothing but a major catastrophe can prevent the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial from opening as scheduled on July 18, Billy Rose said. "We set no date for the opening until we were positive that even the most minor details would be fully developed prior to the opening as it is poor showmanship to open a show before it is ready."
