THE OLD PROBLEM AGAIN

Vacation time is with us again even as it has been year after year since full nine-month schools have been in vogue in this republic.

With vacation comes the problem over and over again as to what shall the youngsters do with their time, and in recent years this problem has been more vexing than usual on account of the low level of economic demand for labor in all lines.

The problem is here again in all its perplexities, and is worthy of our best thought. What to do? Not simply, just how to spend the three months of time in lazy idleness.

What our young folk need of vacation brings its toll in some sort of occupation that will train them in some kind of useful work, whether or not it is gainful for the present. Such a vacation spent in some office, factory, store, ranch or farm may be the beginning of a career and avocation that will prove of life-long benefit, even if not a dime is received for the effort.

Pick out something you are interested in young man, young lady, and turn your time and talents to it for the next three months, pay or no pay. You may mark down such a vacation period as the most gainful and worth-while on your life span.

THE BONUS OUGHT TO BE PAID NOW

The News is among thousands who have changed attitude on the soldier bonus payment question in recent months. We formerly thought that the bonus should not be paid until its maturity, and from a strictly legal standpoint that may well be true.

But since the government has been casting about for ways and means of pumping money into the channels of trade, adopting so many that have little or no merit, it has forced us to the conclusion that it is a rather puerile piece of quibbling that would deny the soldier boys the balance due them on the bonus.

Very few measures could be conceived that would put a larger percent of the funds involved into immediate circulation than the payment of the bonus. We hope it will be paid, and paid quickly.

There is just one reservation, however, that we should like to see embodied in the bill, and that is for every veteran that is paid his bonus balance, to sign a quit-claim release to the government, pledging himself never to join in any movement asking congress to pension or further appropriate funds to any survivor of the world war. The bill ought to be paid, once and for all.

RAINS FALL WITH A NEW WILL AND TEMPO

For the past six or seven years the rainfall in the South and Middle West have been fitful, sporadic and local, with a consequent decline in reserve moisture and crop production. The rains just didn't seem to "click."

In the past week over the entire middle section of the nation, and particularly in the Southwest, persistent, soaking, drenching rains have fallen in volume from four to six inches. There has been a new feeling in the rains, and man's long disturbed outlook has been restored and set to rights. Rains seems to have come with a new purpose and a new tempo, which is a harbinger of a new cycle in the prosperity and attitude of the people.

The weather cycle has changed—and better times for man and beast are upon us.

Quite a few children wouldn't be so bad if it weren't for the parents they have to live with. Other children wouldn't be so bad if their parents would stay home long enough to live with them.

Speaking of competition between the radio and the press, did you ever see your name in print in radio?

AN OLD ROMAN PASSES

There has grown up a custom to speak of any well-known prominent citizen of this country as "an Old Roman," when he has come to his late maturity.

Such a character was the late T. D. Hobart, who passed away at his home in Pampa Sunday morning. Here in the Southwest his name had become synonymous for all the fine strength of the pioneer who brought law and order out of the chaos of the frontier days in this section. He was a strong man, a cultured man, a kindly man, a foremost citizen in a country where high citizenship is the established standard.

The Panhandle country will never pay its debt of gratitude to the life and work of T. D. Hobart, truly "an Old Roman."

TIDE RISING AGAINST BUREAUCRACY

There is a wave of sentiment rolling up throughout the nation expressing the opinion that business should be freed from the deadening hand of politics and government competition in order to speed recovery and employment in a normal manner.

The landowner is becoming frightened by the enormous liebt burden and tax bills that are blanketing homes and farms.

Industry is terrified by growing tax bills, a multiplicity of regulatory and restrictive laws, and subsidized government competition with private enterprise.

Investors, who include all classes of citizens, home owners, farmers, industries, banks and insurance companies, are beginning to realize that savings and capital will be destroyed by tax exempt government competition with highly taxed private business.

One has only to read the proceedings of the Forty-Ninth Annual Convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association just closed in New York, the recent statement of the National Association of Manufacturers which comprise all branches of industry, and the opinion expressed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to see the growing sentiment for greater encouragement of industry and investments, and a lessening of the dole idea and bureaucratic domination of business and individuals by government.

The people are afraid of the extension of socialistic policies when they understand a trend that way.

This is a very healthy indication of serious thinking by our people who wish to maintain constitutional ideas of government and drop socializing plans patterned along European lines, which force the citizen to exist for the State rather than the State to exist for the citizen.

The gradual swing back toward constitutional safeguards is not a political issue; it indicates a desire of citizens to maintain liberty of thought and action, freedom of News Review, and to preserve private enterprise.

It might help a little bit if all our readers would understand that a journalist is not a detective, a policeman or a moral censor.

Now We Can Both SEE!

THIS wise father has put his reading lamp to double use. He found that when both he and his son shared the same light neither one could really see properly. So here's what he did: He bought a floor lamp equipped with an indirect lighting reflector. In the sockets under the shade he put 60-watt lamps for reading. In the reflector at the top he inserted a 300-watt Mazda lamp.

Now they can both see. Dad can place the lamp wherever he wants it without robbing the boy of the light he needs.

In order to be sure that you have the right kind of light, ask for the free services of our lighting expert. He will measure your light with the Sight Meter. Then you will know.

"Tune Up Before You Tour"

Is advice that, if followed, will do more than any one thing to make a motor trip a real pleasure.

Soon millions of motorists will take to the open road for vacation trips. Some will start with no preliminary preparation of their cars, others will make sure beforehand that all is mechanically well. The chances of enjoying a 100 percent pleasurable trip are strongly with those who tune up before they tour.

Miss Mantie Graves and Mrs. W. H. Price of Marion, Illinois, charmingly entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. T. Patman with a surprise birthday party in honor of the latter.

Garden flowers profusely decorated the entertaining rooms, and games of "forty-two" made the evening a pleasant one.

Little Miss Shirley Price, daughter of the hostess, presented

J. Frank Heath entertained his Senior Young People's Bible Class of the local Church of Christ with an enjoyable picnic at the Word Ranch on Monday evening. About twenty-five members and guests boarded a truck and cars and arrived at the lovely lake about sundown.

For fifteen years, Mrs. French has been prominently identified with Home Economics work, having conducted canning and cooking schools all over the country.

MRS. ARREVA FRENCH

Her connection with Extension Home Demonstration Agents, and her extensive club activities have fitted her specially well to advise housewives on their canning problems. Mrs. French has been in the Home Economics Department of the Ball Brothers Company for the last four years, during which time she has conducted exhibits and canning sessions all over Texas and Oklahoma.

Mrs. French is not only perfectly technically for her place, but she has a charming personality which claims her audiences' attention and admiration. Having had much practical and home experience, she is able to explain all the correct and economical methods of canning foods in glass containers so that her listeners understand every process.

Attendance prizes will be awarded.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Harcourt Brace & Co., publishers J. E. Neale's "Queen Elizabeth" which won the James Tait Black Memorial prize for biography this year. This same publishing firm announce that they will publish this fall a new novel by John O'Hara, whose "Appointment in Samarra" is in its fifth edition.

Christopher Morley, who came to America last year to arrange the screen version of "David Copperfield" has received a new honor. He has been accorded the title of Honorary Night Watchman of Columbia University Press because of kind words about University Presses in his latest book, "Hasta la Vista."

Daphne du Maurien is planning a biography of her grandfather, George du Maurien, author of "Trilby," the most sensational novel of its day. Her biography of her father, "Gerald, a Portrait," was published not long ago.

Portmoming book lists will contain biographies of three important women in three different phases of life. The authorized biography of the President's mother entitled "Gracious Lady: the Life of Sara Delano Roosevelt" by Rita S. Halle Kleeman will appear this fall. A biography of Jane Addams, written by her nephew, James Weber Lynn, is to be a complete history of this great woman's life. Margaret Deland's reminiscences of her own childhood in "If This Be I" also promises to be very interesting.

June 8 will be the first anniversary of the American publication of James Hilton's "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," that charming little story of which I told you not long ago, and which many of our readers have already enjoyed. On this date Little, Brown & Co., will issue a sort of commemorative edition containing an introduction by the author, and illustrations by H. M. Brock. A signed edition of six hundred copies will also be issued. The regular edition is now in its 132nd thousand.

Still Texas authors command more and more attention. Dr. John Potts of Fort Worth has recently published his book, "Know Thyself," a study of mental qualities conducted in the same fashion in which a physician studies the body—in terms of signs and symptoms. He is the author of a previous book, "Getting Well and Staying Well."

A pamphlet has recently been issued by the University of Texas Library which is a guide to the University's collection of the books and manuscripts of Percy Bysshe Shelley. It contains also a rather complete biography of Shelley, giving the backgrounds and events leading up to the writing and publication of the works of the great poet. This pamphlet may be obtained for a small sum from the University.

Robinson Jeffers' new book of poetry, "Solstice and Other Poems" will come out this fall.

The many lovers of Joseph Conrad's stories will be interested in the fact that his life written by his wife will be published in this country the latter part of the year under the title, "Joseph Conrad and His Circle."

CHURCH CHATS

"True Education" "And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds." Acts 7:22.

Moses was one of the most learned men of his time. His education embraced the whole range of Greek, Chaldee, Assyrian and Egyptian literature. There is much in his experience to commend the subject of education to all classes of people. In his education we see many lessons.

First, God's favor or testimony regarding education. By God's providence Moses was placed where he could enjoy all the advantages of a good secular education. God's will in favor of education is also seen in the school of the prophets, the teachings of the Bible, and in the capacity and cravings of the human mind. The education of the mind is a sacred thing.

Think of the great cost and value of education. Think on the cost of Moses' education, the sufferings of the Israelites, and the danger of the heathen court. Think of the increased power, that education gave him. By education, mental diamonds are polished, and nuggets of gold are converted into current coin.

Secular education is not in itself sufficient. We have a twofold nature—mental and moral. We should strive to educate both. Moses received a religious training first from his mother, and afterwards from God, in the desert. Moses received both religious and secular education that he might render service to God's people. He was mighty in words and in deeds. It is not enough to know, we must be willing to do.

Eminence in secular education may be combined with eminence in religious education. Moses was distinguished for both. Note also, Paul, Milton, Ruskin, and others. Intelligent piety is the best piety. We must learn how to worship and serve God in spirit and in truth. The Christian Church should seek to educate the masses. All educated minds should be consecrated to the service of Christ. It is our greatest mission to teach people God's will and desires.

W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Texas.

Collars becoming to round faces, long slender faces, and perhaps, square jaws and receding chins were made up and tried on.

To prevent motor damage when you

...you must have oil of high film strength!

DID YOU know that idling along at 10 miles an hour or picking up suddenly can cause as much motor wear as high-speed driving?

All three put extreme pressure on your connecting rod and crankshaft bearings. If your oil does not have enough oiliness and film strength to withstand these high pressures, your motor parts suffer damaging wear. That's why you need oil with the greatest possible oiliness and film strength.

Straight mineral oils have no more oiliness and film strength than they had 10 years ago. Some, because of over-refining, have less!

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has more oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than straight mineral oils! The Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly-refined, paraffin-base oil—puts into this oil more film strength and oiliness than any oil possesses naturally, no matter what crude oil it is made from!

That extra film strength and oiliness enable Germ Processed Oil to stay on the job and prevent wear under the most extreme pressure and heat. It helps Germ Processed Oil give long mileage with greater motor protection, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. Because it penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, it forms a "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and cuts down wear during the starting period.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the oil you need in this day of slow city driving, speed on the highway and sudden acceleration everywhere. It protects your motor and saves you money!

MOTORISTS WHO KNOW THESE FACTS WILL SAVE MONEY!

Motor oils refined by the usual methods have some oiliness and film strength, but they may form carbon and sludge, which lead to expensive motor repairs.

Other oils may form almost no carbon and sludge, but are so over-refined that they are robbed of oiliness and film strength they need to prevent motor wear.

Germ Processed Oil is refined to eliminate carbon and sludge troubles and then the Germ Process adds extra oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than any straight mineral oil, as tests on Almen and Timken machines have proved.

From the diary of a family who saw America

"The Conoco Travel Bureau at Denver sent us road maps for every state we visited, with our best routes and all road conditions marked—all free of charge!"

"Also travel booklets that told us the most interesting things to see, and hotel and camp directories that helped us choose places to stay."

"We stopped at Conoco stations along our way for many helpful free services. You can apply at any Conoco station for the same kind of free plan for your trip."

PUNCH AND JUDY SKIT TWITS LIONS

LION AND MRS. KERBY PRESENT MECHANICAL TAKE-OFF ON CLUB MEMBERS.

Short attendance was registered at the regular Tuesday luncheon of the Clarendon Lions Club, on account of many being in attendance of the Hobart funeral at Pampa, and other local reasons. However those present had an enjoyable program, and one out of the usual order. The program committee presented two musicians from the club ranks, in the persons of Lions Merchant and Lowe. Lion Merchant dedicated one of his harmonica numbers to Lion Hicks, and left the club wondering just what he meant. Lion Lowe played "Texas, Beautiful Texas," on a French harp and then to prove his diversified abilities played another rousing number on the old fashioned Jews harp. Lion and Mrs. Kerby were then presented and favored the club with an adaptation of Punch and Judy in a little skit that twitted such Lions as Dr. Hicks, Ira Merchant and President Patman. The work of the puppets was well done and earned much applause from the membership. Lion Carl Miller of Texarkana was introduced and made a short announcement concerning his work with the Federal Housing administration, and asked local business men present to remain for a conference after adjournment on setting up a committee of the FHA for Donley county. Lion Rathjen made announcement about the delegation to the Lions State Convention at Temple, for the committee named to select the club representation to that meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Connally attended the Grain Dealers Convention which was held Monday in Amarillo.
