CLARENDON NEWS RETURNS TO FORMER OWNERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

Effective Tuesday, December 1st., The Clarendon News returns to its former ownership and management, by a re-conveyance of the property by Fred L. Williams to Sam M. Braswell. Mr. Williams has conducted the News since July 15th, 1935, and for the past year Mr. Braswell has been operating the Paducah Post at Paducah.

The Braswells will move back to Clarendon shortly and he will assume personal direction of keeping The News in the front rank of Panhandle journalism as it labors always for the best interests of Clarendon, Donley County and her fine citizenship, believing that the best era the town and county has ever known is yet to come.

Mr. Braswell expressed himself here this week as being happy over the opportunity to be again associated with the progressive people of Donley, and cordially invites the co-operation of all in the conduct of The News.

Mr. Williams and his charming family have not yet announced their plans but Clarendon people, generally, will hope they remain in the community where they have made so large a place for themselves.

NOTHING CAN STOP AMERICA

All indications point to 1937 as a year of still further progress in the rise of the nation out of the depression. Employment in manufacturing industries has risen steadily in the past year and is likely to reach or surpass the 1929 levels in the near future—possibly in the coming month.

General unemployment has fallen sharply and many economists believe that the census of the unemployed now being planned by the Department of Commerce will show two things: First, that those who are without work and are seeking work number less than 5,000,000; Second, that there is already an actual shortage of skilled labor in many trades, industries and communities. On this latter point no less an authority than Dr. Harold G. Moulton, head of the Brookings Institution, has already predicted that we shall have an actual shortage of labor within the next five years if industrial production recovers to the 1929 limit.

In other words, the emergency phases of recovery are past. The myth that we need such panaceas as the 30-hour week, federal fixing of manufacturing wages and hours and other arbitrary proposals emanating largely from professional labor leaders, has been exploded.

The need of the moment is leadership—wise and constructive leadership in business as well as government. The responsibility to cooperate in the complete restoration of employment and then to help stabilize jobs for the future rests alike upon industry and upon government.

The ancient truth that "nothing can stop America" still holds.

A Scrap of Paper

What prevents our Constitution from becoming "a scrap of paper"? In our Constitution, "we the people" give all law-making power to Congress. To protect ourselves we specify the matters upon which Congress may legislate, withhold any power to encroach upon man's inalienable rights and reserve all other powers to the people and the states.

In theory these safeguards should protect us. But history shows that without some more binding safeguard, Magna Carta, the Petition of Right, the Body of Liberties and other famous charters became mere "scraps of paper." Some additional check upon rulers and law-making bodies is needed.

This our Constitution also provides by making the Courts our agents to interpret our Constitution and the laws passed thereunder. But for this, a law-making body such as Congress might pass laws forbidden in our Constitution—it might lengthen its term of office or vote itself into perpetual office; abolish freedom of speech, assembly, press and worship; abolish trials by jury; tie the hands of the President or of the Courts; encroach upon the rights reserved to the states and the people.

In our Constitution, "we the people" not only limit the powers granted to Congress and the executive, but we also provide the Courts as our agents to see that our Constitution is upheld—that it is not converted into "a scrap of paper."

rights reserved to the states and the people. In our Constitution, "we the people" not only limit the powers granted to Congress and the executive, but we also provide the Courts as our agents to see that our Constitution is upheld—that it is not converted into "a scrap of paper."

CRYING FOR ATTENTION

BALANCING THE NATIONAL BUDGET

The recent announcement of Chairman Pat Harrison, of the Senate Finance Committee, that there "absolutely" will be no increase in taxes comes as a welcome assurance to Americans generally. Senator Harrison, one of two men charged by the President, with a congressional survey of the nation's tax structure, said the budget will be balanced in the 1938 fiscal year if Congress economizes and revenues continue to mount.

The Senator's forecast was bolstered by a continued improvement in the treasury revenue outlook. Informal estimates reveal the possibility that income from taxes may rise to $6,000,000,000 for the present fiscal year, as against $4,115,956,000 for 1936 and $3,800,467,000 for 1935.

Such assurance from a high administration official is doubly welcome to American industrialists. The nation's business leaders have long contended that a balanced budget and a clear cut stand on tax matters is a prime requisite to recovery. No business man can plan for the future with any assurance as long as the threat of confiscatory taxes and an unbalanced budget hangs over his head.

If the statement of the Senate Committee chairman represents the studied determination of the administration, America has taken another long step up out of the valley of the depression.

MIDWAY SCHOOL NEWS

(By Pearl Derrick)

Everyone enjoyed the box supper. Margaret Higgins won a box of candy for being the most beautiful young girl, and Adkins Mace got the turkey.

Wednesday some of our pupils went to Clarendon to sell tickets for Friday night. The turkey netted $17.80. We thank everyone for helping it succeed.

Our county rural parent, teachers banquet will be December 18.

We have some of our children out for cotton picking. We were out Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving.

Be sure and look for the date of "At The Sign of the Eel."

Miss Lelia Clifford of Pampa was a holiday visitor in Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Simpson and son Gordon visited friends and relatives in Clarendon last week-end.

At The First Methodist Church

Services at 10:50 A. M. and 8:15 P. M.

"What Did Jesus Teach Concerning Property?" This question will be the basis of the sermon Sunday morning at the service beginning at 10:50 o'clock. Holy Communion will be observed.

The evening service will begin at 7 o'clock and the pastor will discuss, "What did Jesus Teach Concerning the Family and the Social Order?"

Sunday school opens at 9:45 with a completely departmentalized and equipped school of religion, fitting the needs of every individual. Surely every adult and every child should spend at least this one hour in some Sunday School. Find your way to the church Sunday. Bring along the family. You will find a hearty welcome, a helpful service, a Scriptural and a Christian message.

Miss Jessie Ingram of Amarillo spent Thanksgiving here.

ARE YOU FAIRLY REPRESENTED?

Your printing must be considered as a force in your selling plans if you are to get the best results from it. No matter if it is just letterheads, or envelopes, or shipping tags, these things represent YOU and YOUR BUSINESS to someone, perhaps, who has never seen you; if they are cheap, unattractive, flimsy, your prospect or customer will get the same sort of impression of you from them.

It is certainly worth your while to give your printing your serious and undivided attention until it is planned and executed to represent you fairly.

Laughing Around the World
With IRVIN S. COBB

Where Higher Education Would Have Landed Him
By IRVIN S. COBB

SOME fifteen years ago there landed in New York a friendless and almost penniless Russian immigrant. He was of a likable disposition, and speedily made acquaintances who sought to aid him. One of them sponsored him for the vacant post of janitor, or shammos, to use the common Hebraic word, of a small synagogue on E side street.

But when the officers of the congregation found out the applicant was entirely illiterate they reluctantly denied him employment, inasmuch as a shammos must keep certain records.

The greenhorn quickly rallied from his disappointment. He got a job elsewhere. He prospered. Presently he became a dabbler in real-estate.

Within ten years he was one of the largest independent operators in East Side tenement-house property and popularly rated as a millionaire. An occasion arose when he needed a large amount of money to swing what promised to be a profitable deal. Finding himself for the moment short of cash he went to the East Side branch of one of the large banks.

It was the first time in his entire business career that he had found it necessary to borrow extensively. He explained his position to the manager, who knew of his success, and asked for a loan of fifty thousand dollars.

"I'll be very glad to accommodate you, Mr. Rabin," said the banker. "Just sit down there at that desk and make out a note for the amount."

The caller smiled an embarrassed smile.

"If you please," he said, "you should be so good as to make out the note and then I should sign it."

"What's the idea?" inquired the bank manager puzzled.

"Well, you see," he confessed, "I haf to tell you somethings: Myself, I cannot read and write. My wife she has taught me how to make my own name on paper, but otherwise with me reading and writing is nix."

In amazement the banker stared at him.

"Well, well, well!" he murmured admiringly. "And yet, handicapped as you've been, inside of a few years you have become a rich man! I wonder what you'd have been in this country by now if only you had been able to read and write?"

"A shammos," said Mr. Rabin modestly.

Thrilling Story Told By Hunters

How scientific refrigeration made it possible for Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson to stand the terrific heat of the Borneo jungles thus enabling them to make sound films depicting dangerous and thrilling adventures which included the capture of one of the biggest orang-outangs ever taken from its native habitat was told today by L. E. Thompson, of Thompson Bros. Co., Servel Electrolux dealer for this vicinity.

Information about the Johnson expedition was received here from F. M. Sellman, vice-president of Servel, Inc., who made available to the famous motion picture explorers two kerosene-operated refrigerators as part of the scientific equipment of the Borneo expedition.

"Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson have just returned from a year's sojourn in the jungles of Borneo where the climate is the hottest in the world," said Mr. Thompson. "The comforts and conveniences derived from their refrigerators are regarded as essential features in making the expedition a success, because without this refrigeration, the Johnsons say that they could not have withstood the terrific heat."

"Among the most interesting scenes photographed in the jungles are those in which the two kerosene-operated refrigerators appear. These pictures show natives eating ice cream made in the refrigerator that was installed in the grass dining hut. Other films show natives helping Mr. Johnson take development tanks from the second refrigerator installed on the rear veranda of the bamboo raft which formed

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Texas Society of Colonial Dames of America sponsored and secured passage March 7, 1901, of the law making it the State flower.

Q.—Why do Texans shoot fireworks at Christmas? T. W., Houston.

A.—In the South, fireworks symbolize the carnival and celebration spirit and to many no celebration seems complete without them.

Q.—How many men comprised the Army of the Republic of Texas? G. S., Rotan.

A.—A commissioner from the United States, in August, 1836, reported 2,000 in service, with possibly a total of 3,000 available. There were at that time about 30,000 Americans, 5,000 negroes, 3,500 Mexicans and 12,000 to 14,000 Indians in the Republic, according to his report.

Q.—Was Sam Houston ever a corporation lawyer? J. H., Wichita Falls.

A.—He was attorney for the "Galveston Bay and Texas Land Company," the first big corporation to enter business in Texas, about 1833-34, and said to have been his most profitable clients. The company was financed by New Yorkers.

Q.—Who was the first Chief Justice of the Republic of Texas? J. J., Cooper.

A.—James C. Collingsworth, a native of Tennessee, who had served Brazoria in the constitutional convention.

Q.—Where was Larissa Colledge, when was it established and what became of it. R. K., Roanoke.

A.—It was established in Cherokee County in 1846, opening in a log cabin; was taken over by the Cumberland Presbyterian church in 1855, and from that time to the beginning of the Civil War, was one of the leading schools of Texas, with splendid telescope, microscope, geological and botanical laboratories. The church combined Larissa and Chappell Hill Colleges into Trinity University in 1869.

Q.—What part of the cotton crop is grown and what part manufactured in Texas? S. A., Alice.

A.—Approximately 40 per cent is grown in Texas; the amount manufactured in the State is negligible.

Q.—What was the first public office held by Governor James S. Hogg? E. D., Denton.

A.—Justice of the Peace at Quitman, Wood County, in the early 1870's.

Q.—When does the Texas Legislature meet in regular sessions? D. F., Richland Springs.

A.—At 12 o'clock noon on the second Tuesday in January following each general election.

"Texas Empire Builders of '36"

Every man, woman and child in Texas should know the principal events of the momentous period of Texas history from March 1 to April 21, 1836—events that changed the shape and the destiny of the United States.

The facts essential to this understanding are briefly set forth in a 22-page booklet entitled "Texas Empire Builders of '36," telling of the stirring days which all Texans, native and adopted, are celebrating in 1936.

The booklet will be mailed postpaid for 10 cents. Send all orders to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

HEY, HEY! JOE E. IS BACK

Joe E. Brown comes to the Pastime Theatre Sunday and Monday in "Earthworm Tractors," a First National production that is said to be his most hilarious comedy to date.

The picture is based on a series of stories by William Hazlett Upson and which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Joe brings to life on the screen the hero of these comedies, that blundering, and in his own estimation, natural born super salesman, Alexander Botts, who somehow always wins out in the end despite his egregious mistakes.

Joe has two leading women in the picture, one of whom he loses to a rival when he leaves town and the other whom he finds is quite unwilling to play second fiddle when he stupidly tells her he would have married the first girl only he discovered that she already had become a bride.

The first love is played by Carol Hughes and the second by June Travis, whose love he finally regains by a series of mistakes in which he almost causes her death and then, playing the conquering hero, rescues her from a dynamite trap into which he had led her.

Not only does he win her back, but in a hilarious climax to the story, he sells her cantankerous father a flock of tractors.

Others in the large and talented cast include Guy Kibbee, Joe's father-in-law to be; Olin Howland, father of his first love who lived to regret he had forbidden his daughter's marriage to Joe; Dick Foran, Joe's rival for his love; Joseph Crehan, Sara Edwards; Charles Wilson, William Davidson, Irving Bacon and Stuart Holmes.

Raymond Enright directed the comedy from the screen play by Richard, McCauley, Joe Traub and Hugh Cummings.
