Donley's Fat Stock Show Here March 6

PREMIUM LIST IS COMPLETED

FAT STOCK SHOW WILL DRAW LARGE CROWDS; GOOD PREMIUMS OFFERED.

One of the largest County Fat Stock Shows in the Panhandle-Plains country will be held here Saturday, March 6, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., when the Donley County 4-H Club boys exhibit their calves and hogs as the culmination of a year's feeding. The show will be at the Harry Blair barns.

Started last year with unusual success, the Donley County 4-H Club Fat Stock Show enters its second year and will be held here annually.

This week County Agent H. M. Breedlove has been taking entries and together with the Fat Stock Show committee has completed the premium list. With the Chamber of Commerce leading the premium donations with a gift of $35.00, practically every merchant in Clarendon subscribed generously. The show committee consists of Clyde Gilbert, C. T. McMurtry, R. W. Moore, J. M. Hill and H. M. Breedlove, Mr. Moore is secretary-treasurer of the show.

"The boys will be cashing in on a year's hard work," County Agent Breedlove remarked this week. The youngest boy having an entry this year is eleven years old and the ages range to nineteen years. Twenty-six calves will be entered by youths who are solely responsible for the feeding throughout the year.

Marvin Land, bootmaker, subscribed to the premium donations, by offering a pair of $17.50 cowboy boots, which he has made, to the owner of the Grand Champion steer. A total premium of $147.00 was collected and will be awarded. The winner of the junior division and the first place winner of the senior division will be judged for the grand champion.

In the junior division calves weighing under 900 pounds, the first place winner will be awarded $10.00, second $9.00, third $8.00, fourth $7.00, fifth $6.00, sixth $5.00, and seventh $4.00. Sixteen additional steers in the junior division will be adjudged winners and the owners awarded $2.00 each.

Calves weighing over 900 pounds thereby being entered in the senior division will compete for a first prize of $10.00 and a second prize of $7.00. One other winning steer in the senior class will be awarded a $2.00 prize.

Fat barrows: First prize, $4.00; second prize $3.00 and an additional prize of $1.00.

Glits that have never farrowed: First prize, $4.00; second, $3.00; third, $2.00; and fourth, $2.00. Seven other awards of $1.00 each will be made.

Sows: First place, $4.00; second place, $3.00; and third place $2.00 with another premium of $1.00 offered.

Many out-of-town visitors will be on hand for the show and will be of town livestock authorities will

Ask Amendment To Exempt Students

At the Tuesday meeting of the Clarendon Lions Club a letter was read from Austin on the proposed amendment to the Texas social security act, which would exempt students who are working part time in order to complete their education, from counting against the stability of employment in any business.

Since a number of Clarendon business houses employ part-time help of college and high school students, the club unanimously voted to endorse the amendment and a suitable resolution will be sent to Senator Small and Representative Worley on the proposal.

A Lions Key for services performed was presented Lion Bob Land, and reports on the cafeteria at the Junior High School, sponsored by the Lions Club took up the allotted time for program.

School Cafeteria Fills Great Need

SIXTY KIDDIES ARE BEING FED

COMMITTEE NEEDS MORE SOUP BOWLS, SPOONS, AND UTENSILS.

Sixty underfed, underprivileged children attending the lower grades of Clarendon public schools were fed at the junior high school yesterday by the school cafeteria, a plan put into effect Monday through the co-operative plan of the Clarendon Lions Club and the school board.

Monday and Tuesday, approximately forty were fed and a large increase shown yesterday in the number who came to the school cafeteria, conducted by Mrs. Joe Terry, for a helping of soup and milk. A larger number of children will be visiting the cafeteria each day from now on to receive nourishing food which is essential to their mental as well as physical development.

Last week a call was issued asking Clarendon people to contribute soup bowls, spoons, glasses or tumblers, plates, cracker bowls, knives and forks. Although the response was ready and good, enough utensils have not been received to feed the group. Those who have not contributed items are asked to bring them immediately to Joe Terry at the Junior High School.

Last week letters were sent to parents in an attempt to check on the children who were financially unable to secure a noon meal. The grocers and market men of Clarendon have agreed to save their withered vegetables and soup bones and other products to donate to the cause.

O. W. Latson was employed to build benches for the children to sit on. Dewey Herndon and D. R. Davis furnished and installed the gas piping and installed the water heater.

The children are being fed rich, nourishing vegetable and beef soup with crackers and are being served milk. If the children bring a scanty lunch to school, they are given this food in addition to the amount furnished by their parents.

Charles Lowry, chairman of the committee appointed by the Lions Club, stated he believed the school cafeteria idea must be a permanent one, if many children are allowed to remain in school. "Little children cannot learn their daily lessons and the development of young minds will be retarded if their bodies are weakened from hunger," those connected with the plan said.

Cream Receipts For County Due For Increase In March

CREAM PROFITS GOOD IN COUNTY

CREAM SHIPMENT FOR FEBRUARY BRINGS DONLEY COUNTY $1,250.00.

More and more Donley County farmers are realizing the profit gained from diversified farming, as revealed from a survey made of cream shipment this month, at the office of the Railway Express agency here. Donley farmers have already netted more than $1,250.00 from cream sold to foreign markets this month, George Green, agent, reported. Farmers of this county ship approximately 65 cans a week and shipments this month have averaged near 250 cans. Most of the cans used for cream shipment are five gallon measurements while some ten gallons are used. Five gallon cans average approximately 20 pounds of butterfat to the can and at the present, Colorado, where most of the local cream is shipped, is offering 34 cents per pound for butterfat. However, the figures released by the express agent do not represent the total cream shipment for Donley County as a large portion is shipped by the Farmers Exchange truck and the Amarillo Poultry and Egg Company truck.

With the approach of spring and the grass improvement, shipments will show more than one-third increase over this month, Mr. Green said. The outstanding markets for local farmers cream are in Colorado Springs, Trinidad and Denver, Colorado.

A RAY OF HOPE AND SOME STERN FACTS

People of the South who best understand the evils of tenancy are the most gratified over President Roosevelt's message to Congress on the tenancy problem, with recommendations on the beginning of a program to alleviate its evils. Along with this wholesale praise, comes some observations on the cause for so much squalor and discouragement in the agricultural empire of the Southland, which may well inspire the hope that the president's message may cause a national consideration of the problems that go along with poverty in the cotton producing states where tenancy evils are the more strongly entrenched. Pertinent and persistent is the voice of the Texas Weekly at Dallas, and Editor Peter Molyneux is in his best style when he reiterates that statement that the tariff policies of America are responsible for the plight of farmers—land-owners and tenants, alike—here in the South. He concludes as follows:

"... And the stubborn truth is that a continuance of the high-tariff policy must henceforth be more injurious to the cotton South than it has ever been in the past.

"This is an old story to readers of this journal. But inasmuch as there is no escaping its stubborn truth we can only repeat it again and again, especially when the condition which has been created by a national policy which the South has resisted for more than a century is being blamed by some on the leaders of the South. 'Why doesn't the South produce something else in place of cotton?' they ask. And by that question they imply that the people of the South are a lot of pig-headed fools who would rather produce cotton in poverty than to become prosperous by producing something else. And meantime, whether the American people realize it or not, by maintaining the high-tariff system they are not only dooming the cotton-producing South to further impoverishment, but are also setting under way a process which ultimately will reduce the standard of living of the country as a whole. But aside from this, there is no question about the effect a continuance of this policy must have on the people of the South. Three years ago, the editor of the Texas Weekly pointed out that if this policy is continued the economic and social problems of the South, including that of tenancy and all that it involves, will become hopeless of solution. 'This is so true, it seems to me,' he wrote, 'that no national policy, no matter how beneficial it may be even for a majority of the people of a country, can be squared with any humane conception of civilization, if it has consequences for one section of that country as inexorably destructive of the well-being of the people of that section as the policy of economic nationalism must be of the well-being of the people of the South. Not only should not the people of any section be expected, in the name of the national welfare, to sacrifice so much that is essential to ordinary decent living, but no nation calling itself humane and civilized should maintain a policy that requires such sacrifice by even a small percentage of its people. If the truth must be told, the South already has sacrificed too much in order that this policy might be maintained.' This would be true, even if the rest of the country was benefited by the high tariff system. But this is not the case. On the contrary, it is preventing the development of a good domestic market in the South for the goods of other sections. Retail sales in the ten cotton-producing States never amount to as much as 14 per cent of the total retail sales of the country as a whole, though more than 22 per cent of the population of the United States is in those States. This condition will get worse instead of better if the high tariff system is not abandoned. Not only that, but the submerged population of the South will become a growing menace to other sections in the form of competing cheap labor if the present condition is continued. Those who insist on maintaining the high-tariff system because of its fancied benefits are thus creating a Frankenstein monster which ultimately will destroy them.

"The President's program for dealing with tenancy ought at least to result ultimately in greater and more widespread understanding of the true nature of the condition of which tenancy is only a symptom and of its intimate and direct relation to the welfare of the American people as a whole. President Roosevelt at least recognizes that the problem is one which concerns the American people, that it is national in character. And we are quite certain that the more it is studied at first hand, the more this will become clearer that the real problem is that of the general economic condition of the farmers of the South, tenants, owners, landlords, and croppers alike, and that this condition has ramifications stretching over the entire country. And meantime, some good may be done, the lot of some individual tenants and croppers may be improved, and for the future may begin to take the place of hopelessness and sullen resignation among the submerged one-fourth of the South's population."

FILL UP THE BINS

"Fill up the storage bins now depleted by two years of drouth," is the order now emanating from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. No matter what may be said of the curtailment of production in the past, it is now admitted that if this country runs into one more season of drouth and crop shortages, conditions are going to be extremely serious.

Citizens of this community may not be aware that even now a shortage of some foodstuffs exists, but they are due to find it out in a short time through increased prices. Meat products are sure to rise. You can't feed hogs 75 cent corn and still sell them for what they brought when corn was a quarter a bushel. With pastures depleted after two seasons of drouth there is also a shortage of all other kinds of livestock.

From present indications food prices are due for a sharp upturn as the year advances, for it will be many months until another harvest can be garnered. That's something to think about, here on the eve of another planting time. Every dollar and every hour spent in raising foodstuff in the home garden will be money and time well invested this year. So wise is the man who has a patch of ground, no matter how small, who starts making his plans now to produce on it in the months to come something that can be used in sustaining human life.—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

ADVERTISE CONSISTENTLY

Consistent advertising is the biggest factor in successful advertising, according to Frank V. Birch, executive vice-president of Klau-Van Pieteron-Dunlop Associates, Inc., Milwaukee advertising agency.

Speaking before the Wisconsin Building and Loan League, Mr. Birch said: "You cannot expect to advertise in flush times and live on the memory of it when you are hard up. You can't expect to advertise when you are in trouble or about to be in trouble—and expect to get anywhere in that direction. Advertising is a day by day and hour by hour business."

He cautioned against spasmodic advertising, saying, "Don't throw your money away that way. If it is worth doing at all it is worth doing all the time."—Missouri Press News.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL
by MAX BERNIS

Our Own Choice

What was Washington's opinion of the government created by our Constitution? "This government," he said in his farewell address, "the offspring of our own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in the distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy, and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and your support."

"Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiescence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of true Liberty. The basis of our political systems is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government."

"But the Constitution which at any time exists, till changed (amended) by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people [as provided for in Article V], is sacredly obligatory upon all."

Colbert, MacMurray in New Film Romance

MAID OF SALEM

The romance of a Puritan maiden and a dashing Virginia cavalier in old Salem town, brings Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray together again in "Maid of Salem," a Frank Lloyd production which begins on March 3, at the Pastime Theatre.

The popular pair, who scored in "The Gilded Lily," and then triumphed again as the scrappy couple in "A Bride Comes Home," enact their latest love story in the period of American history when the famous witchcraft scare of 1692 broke out in Boston, spread to the adjoining colonies and before it was over was responsible for the execution of nineteen innocent women who were charged with being in league with the devil.

In "Maid of Salem" Miss Colbert is seen with a handsome stranger by some children. Later, she practices a gavotte step by herself and jocularly tells a boy who watches her that she is "dancing with a man." A short while later the witchcraft hysteria breaks out. Fear-stricken persons begin to remember strange things their neighbors did and this is used as evidence that the latter are "bewitched". When Miss Colbert is arrested and charged with practicing witchcraft, the stranger in the world and the "dancing with a man" episode is recalled and she is convicted on this testimony.

When the stranger, MacMurray, appears in the flesh and proves that he is a very human and romantic young person and not a devil at all, the folly of witch hunt is suddenly borne upon the population and the scare dies away as suddenly as it appeared.

The film romance, directed by Lloyd, the only director who won the coveted Academy Award three times, is based on actual occurrences which took place in Salem in 1692. A staff of over one hundred expert research workers was employed to dig into libraries and documents and letters to make the film authentic.

The huge cast of supporting players includes Harvey Stephens, Louise Dresser, Bennie Bartlett, Gale Sondergaard, E. E. Clive, Bonita Granville, Virginia Weidler, Rosita Butler, Beulah Bondi, Donald Meek and a host of others. It is lavishly and beautifully produced, with the entire village of old Salem, as it existed in 1692 recreated from old maps and charts.

Unemployment Compensation in Texas

Editor's Note:—Following are questions and answers prepared by R. B. Anderson, chairman-director of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, which is an interpretation in simplified terms of the various provisions of the recently-enacted Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. Further questions and answers in this series will appear in this paper from time to time.

How To Become Eligible
Question 8: "How do I establish my eligibility for benefits under the Unemployment Compensation Act?"

Answer: You must comply with a number of rules:

(1) You must register for work at a public employment office. Subsequently, we will discuss the establishment of those offices.
(2) You must make a claim for compensation or benefits according to the rules of the Commission. The law requires every employer to post these rules and regulations at a conspicuous place where you can easily see and study them.

(3) You must be able to work; and you must be ready to take work. In other words, you must be ready and willing—in case a call comes to you from the public employment office at which you have signed up.
(4) Between the time you lose your job and the time you get your first benefit check, there must be a "waiting period" of two weeks. You will receive no pay during those two weeks, but the public employment office will make every effort to find a job for you.

However, it is not necessary that those two weeks of waiting be one right after the other. If you have been unemployed any two weeks out of the thirteen weeks before you make application for compensation, then you can draw compensation right away.

(5) You must have had a job at least 13 weeks during the year prior to the time when you lose your job. The next article will discuss the exceptions to this rule, such as sickness, etc.

A Special Case of Eligibility
Question: "After I had been working for a considerable time and had built up my compensation credits, I lost my job. Right away I started a small business of my own. I kept this business going for a number of months, but finally I had to apply for unemployment compensation. But the law says that I must have been employed for at least 13 weeks during the last 52 before I became unemployed. My only job in the past 52 weeks has been in my own little business. Does this make me ineligible for benefits?"

Answer: No. In such cases as yours, you will be allowed to skip the time that you were working for yourself. You can start counting your time 13 out of 52 weeks in the time before you started your own business. Let's see an example:
First, you worked for wages during 1937. Thus you built up 13 weeks of possible benefits.
Second, you lost your job on January 1, 1938, and started in a small business of your own which you kept going for a year.
Third, your own business goes on the rocks and you apply for benefits in January 1939. In your application you go back to the time when you were working for wages, or in other words, to your 1937 record of employment.

This same treatment will be used for people who were physically or mentally disabled and therefore unable to work. This procedure will be used for people who have been working in businesses or trades, such as farming, which are not covered by the law. These occupations will be detailed in the next article.

Abilene, 1,106; Austin, 2,331; Rusk, 2,250; San Antonio, 2,550; Terrell, 2,368; and Wichita Falls, 2,200.

What Occupations Are Covered?
Question 10: "What occupations are covered by the law?"

Answer: The easiest way to answer that question is to list the occupations that are not covered. The unemployment compensation act includes all workers for any one employer who employs as many as 8 persons, except in certain specified fields.

The Act covers all occupations with these exceptions:

(1) State, Federal, county and city workers, and employees of all political subdivisions of any of the governing units named are exempt.

(2) If Congress has written a special unemployment insurance law covering your industry, you are exempt from the state law.

(3) Farm labor is exempt, and all domestic service in a private home.

(4) If a father works for his son, his daughter, or his wife, he is exempt. Likewise, children working for their parents are exempt. Likewise, children working for their parents are exempt.

(5) The officers and crews of vessels on navigable waters are exempt.

(6) Workers in a non-profit organization, such as a community chest, are exempt.

(7) Agents of insurance companies who are paid strictly on a commission basis are exempt.

If you have any questions concerning the operation of this law as it affects employers or workers, you can have your questions answered by writing to R. B. Anderson, chairman, Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, Austin.

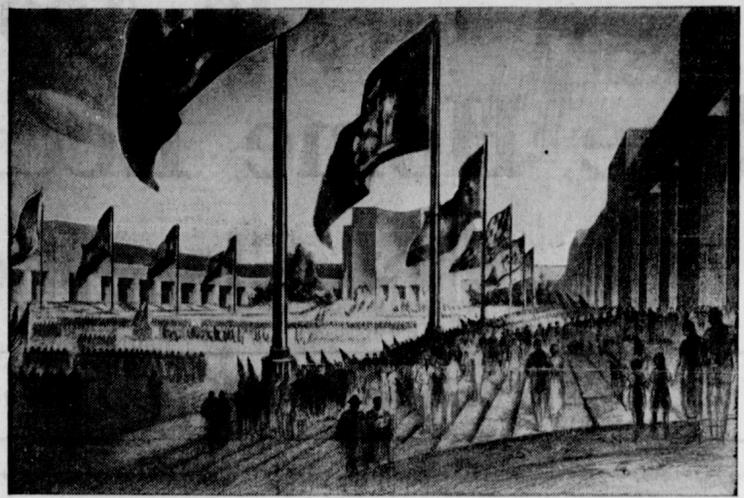

School Notes

(By George W. Kavanaugh)
COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. John W. Gunstream, our Deputy State Superintendent, completed the approval for State Aid of Donley County, Thursday, February 11. He expressed his regrets that our time was limited to such extent that it was impossible for him to meet all our school trustees. Since all State aid applications must be in Austin by the 15th of February, we were forced to complete Donley County as soon as possible.

Mr. Gunstream complimented Donley County on our splendid educational system whereby each child has access to good high schools and a two-year college education. The $10,400.00 aid

WHERE STATES MAY EXHIBIT AT NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK, (Special).—When in 1939 the residents of the several states and territories visit the New York World's Fair, they will find their official representatives and the "home" exhibits in the "Hall of States", shown here at the right in a first drawing of the "Plaza of Governments", ceremonial center of the $125,000,000 international exposition.

The quadrangle will be large enough to permit such exercises as the raising of the flags of the states or of the colors of the world—while tens of thousands of spectators watch from the vantage of the broad flights of steps which form one architectural feature of the many already planned by the Fair Corporation.
In the background is the proposed

which he approved is evidence enough that he is sincere about his opinion of the efficiency of our schools.

Let's hope that we may be fortunate enough to keep Mr. Gunstream to serve us in the future.

May I take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the teachers and trustees of our schools for the splendid response and co-operation in making preparations for our aid approval. I would like for each teacher, trustee, or patron of our schools to feel free to call on Mr. Gunstream or me for any services which may be rendered to increase the efficiency of our schools. I am sure you will find Mr. Gun-stream to be efficient, serviceable, considerate, and kind.

RUBBING a teaspoonful of sugar along with salt and pepper into a steak will improve the flavor. The sugar caramelizes on the outside holding in the juices which gives the meat added nutritional value.

When bottle caps, fountain pen tops, etc., stick try twisting a rubber band tightly around the part to be unscrewed. The rubber will not slide and you can get a good grip on the part to be unscrewed.

Enjoy Waterless Cookery With The Modern Electric Range

It reduces time of cooking . . . cost of operation . . . and more important, preserves the health-giving value of foods

● Imagine cooking ten pounds of potatoes in only one cup of water. That is all it requires if you cook electrically. Fresh carrots, beans, peas and many other vegetables cooked on a modern electric range do not need to be drowned in a fathom of water to cook them tender—thoroughly.

● Waterless cookery gives you nutritious, full-flavored food with all of its vitamins and mineral elements preserved—not poured down the kitchen sink due to cooking in an excess of water.

● Enjoy waterless cookery in your own home on the most modern range in the history of civilization. Its amazing speed, cleanliness, safety and consistently better results have captured the imagination of West Texas women.

The cleanliness of the electric range has forever banished "hand-biding"* for hundreds of West Texas women—only one of the score of its modern features.

*"Hand-biding" is a result of scouring blackened pots and pans.

Home economics is studied in the classroom and before gaining credit on the course must be satisfactorily applied in the home. A ten-month program has been added this year. 1/2 credit is given for the extra month of home project work.

We are having third year Home Economics added next year. During the thirteen years that Home Economics has been taught in Clarendon High School, more than 1,200 girls have been taught the fundamentals of home-making.

We are making this drive to raise funds to better equip the department in view of the addition of the third year course.

We Need—

New draperies for three rooms of the department.

In order that we can complete the Home Unit as required in third year Home Economics.

EDITOR'S CORNER

Members of the college sophomore class have been very busy the past week in preparation for the Style Show and Beauty Contest to be presented tonight, Thursday. The merchants of the town have been very co-operative in making arrangements for the show. It is hoped a very large attendance will be out for this presentation.

The tennis courts are certainly being "rushed" the past week. The students are showing a great interest and enthusiasm for the game this year. The courts are not in good condition, due to lack of moisture, but the tennis players crowd them every afternoon. Maybe the excellent weather we're having has something to do with it.

Oh, yes, we nearly forgot to mention the holiday last Monday. Students and teachers alike we believe, were very glad to observe George Washington's birthday by having no school on the 22nd. This is the first school holiday we have had on Washington's birthday for several years.

We would like to remind the students that this publication should be representative of the entire student body, and to be so more of the students should contribute articles, news items, or any write-ups of interest, to this page. If you are interested in writing for the paper please do not hesitate to hand your "copy" to some member of the staff.

DEBATERS WILL ENTER SPEECH TOURNAMENT

The high school debating team under the direction of Miss Headrick is making definite plans for entering the Amarillo Speech Tournament on March 20 at Amarillo. Extensive work is being done in preparation for this contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson of Amarillo are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson.

HOW OFTEN CAN YOU KISS AND MAKE UP?

NEW husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month. You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're wise and if you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

FAT STOCK SHOW WILL BE GIVEN HERE ON MARCH 6

The F.F.A. boys will show the stock they have been feeding in a stock show to be given here on March 6. Both Vocational Agriculture boys and 4-H boys are eligible to enter this livestock contest. The two classes of the show will be baby beef and hogs.

A parade of the baby beeves will be held at three o'clock through the business section of the town.

After the show is over, the livestock will immediately be taken to Amarillo for the "Fat Stock Show" there, which will be held the following week. One hundred and forty-five dollars have been donated for premiums to date.

DEBATE POSTPONED

The College Economics class failed to witness a very important debate on "The President's proposal to appoint new justices to the Supreme Court" on Tuesday when it was learned at the last minute that "Pete" Powell, a speaker for the affirmative, could not be present as she was practically down with the mumps. Woodrow Bull, other speaker for the affirmative, Lowell LaFon and Joy McCanne, negative speakers, were sorry to hear of this as extensive preparation had been made for a heated debate.

"M" System Occupies Modern Building

Home of the "M" System For Three Years

"M" SYSTEM IS MAKING REPAIRS

MR. AND MRS. R. E. DUNCAN MANAGE FIRM WHICH REMODELS THIS WEEK.

Ten years ago, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Duncan moved to Clarendon to open the "M" System and have experienced a steady growth which has enabled them to completely remodel their store this week.

J. W. Vallance of Memphis a business partner of Mr. Duncan, is connected with four grocery firms in the Panhandle which he has just completed remodeling.

Since moving to Clarendon to establish the "M" System, the store has occupied three buildings, first the Kerbow building, then the Bartlett building, and for the past three years has been located at the Latson building.

The store has been modernized to the extent that the interior appears to be a new firm. Modern display cases of the most attractive type, painted in white and black, are used throughout. The north display window has been remodeled and special display places made for drugs, school supplies, fruits and candies. The front window, north, has a vegetable table and counter for canned displays. The south display window was built especially for flour displays and a stand was constructed for the large assortment of potted plants which Mrs. Duncan keeps at the store. The entire interior of the building has been repainted and redecorated.

Mrs. Duncan has assisted her husband in the business since the firm was established, and will be on hand to assist in the large remodeling sale which the firm is conducting this week.

Mrs. Ross Beville and little daughter, LaFon, left Saturday for their home in Philadelphia, Pa. They will go to New Orleans en route, where they will visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Beville. Mr. Beville is connected as Reject Control Engineer with the Philco Company in Philadelphia.

Camp Fire Troop Entertains At Martha Washington Tea

Members of the Nettoppew Troop of Camp Fire Girls entertained their mothers and guests Saturday afternoon with a Martha Washington Tea at the Club Rooms. Guardians Helen Louise Green and Sarah Virginia McGowan and Cassandra Morris, president, stood in the receiving line.

Each member of the troop assisted in the entertaining and wore colonial frocks. The book where guests were registered was presided over by Miss Green.

The tea table was cleverly centered with a miniature cherry orchard, placed beside a reflector to represent a pond. Favors were unique, with a cherry bough, mounted on a blue card, with a red hatchet. "Mothers Tea, Nettoppew Troop, February 20, 1937," was written in white on the card carrying out the chosen scheme of red, white and blue.

Misses Annie Reed Porter and Naomi Morris presided over the tea services and the guests were served angel cake, topped with cherries, and nuts and coffee.

The affair was a seated tea and a program was presented. Miss Frankye Hommel gave a piano solo and the Camp Fire group entertained the guests with several vocal renditions. "How Grandmother Danced" was recited by Miss Helen Porter and Misses Betty Jo Bain and Vodell Armstrong danced the minuet.

Ashtola School News We are all glad to see some pretty weather after the bad sand storms we had last week.

Monday some of the pupils played softball while others played touch football. In the near future Mr. Stewart's room is going to challenge Mr. Estlack's room for a game of softball. Mr. Estlack's room may be large, but Mr. Stewart's room believes they can beat them anyway.

We had three new pupils Monday, Mildred Crise from Panhandle, who is in the seventh, and Nadine and James Dickerson from Goodnight. Nadine is in the fifth and James is in the second. We welcome them to our school, and hope they enjoy being here as much as we enjoy having them. Billy Ray Graham and Lanelle Beene are on the sick list. We hope they will soon be able to return to school.

Most everyone is studying and preparing for the county meet. Several already know their declamations, and others soon will have theirs prepared. We intend to take several first places, so other schools take notice. We don't want to slip up on your blind side.

LIBRARY NOTES
(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Can you give me the following magazines? May, June and December, 1936, Good Housekeeping; April and June, 1935, Cosmopolitan; June and September, 1936, Red Books; February, 1937, Pictorial Review. I need these for some customers. Our magazine sales are gradually increasing and each one sold mean a little for new books.

A few new books have recently been placed on our shelves as follows: "A Prayer For My Son", Hugh Walpole; "American Acres", Louise Redfield Peattie; "Drums Along the Mohawk", Walter D. Edwards; "An American Doctor's Odyssey", Victor Heiser; "Code of the West", Zane Grey; "Valiant is the Word for Carrie", Barry Benfield; "Years Are So Long", Josephine Lawrence; "Thunder Mountain", Zane Grey; "The House Without a Key" Earl Derr Biggers; "Come and Get It", Ferber; "Texas Man", Bennett; "Rocking Arrow", E. M. Bower; "Rangeland Justice", McCully; "The Singer Passes", Maud Diver.

Some of the above are outstanding in interest. "An American Doctor's Odyssey" has been a non-fiction best seller for months. Some of the comments by the daily press are: "Priceless and illuminating—should be passed from hand to hand in every printed language." "A most amazing human and thrilling record." "A book anyone would enjoy." The author, Dr. Victor Heiser, writes of his adventures in forty-five countries. He has spent his entire life, from the time he almost miraculously escaped as a boy in the Johnstown flood, to "selling" the idea of health to the out-of-the-way and forgotten places of the world. At the beginning of his medical career he was a medical officer in the United States Immigration Service, stationed in Europe to prevent the exodus of the unfit to this country. Then when the United States assumed control of the Philippines, he was appointed Director of Health, where he spent ten years helping these people to become a strong, healthy people instead of being plague stricken and fever ridden. Then he began his work under the Rockefeller Foundation which has continued for 20 years. All of the dreaded plagues of the world—cholera, smallpox, hookworm, leprosy—have had their dangers lessened through his efforts. His one mission whether in the Moro Hill country or the farther Orient, has been to dispel ignorance of simple sanitation with the light of health education. Of the remarkable progress he has witnessed, the exciting, humorous and dramatic experiences he has undergone he tells in this book.

Hugh Walpole is at his best in "A Prayer for My Son"—the story of Rose Glennell and little John with a present day background. Those who have read the "Jeremy" books by Walpole know with what charm he writes of children, and all his readers appreciate the rich distinction of his prose. Louise Redfield Peattie of "American Acres", is the wife of Donald Culross Peattie, the moth-

(By Mrs. M. W. Mosley)

Miss Snow Tollet and Mr. Barnes of Borger were married Friday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tollet of Hedley. They will make their home in Borger.

The community was grieved to hear of the death of the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Watson, who passed away at the Adair Hospital, Saturday night, after an appendicitis operation. Her appendix was ruptured. We surely do sympathize with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bridges entertained with a luncheon at their home Feb. 21, honoring their daughter, Mary Rains.

A group of classmates surprised Mary Rains by singing happy birthday as she returned from church. A color scheme of red white and blue was carried out in table decorations. Candles burned from silver holders. Place cards bearing a United States flag and a tiny hatchet on a red and white gumdrop cart. Those attending: Mary Rains, the non-oree, Virginia Watt, Eddie Mae Land, Johnnie Merl Pickett, Sara Ann Rains, Billie Bridges, Ike Rains, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rains, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rains, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bridges. A very pleasant day was spent, and each left declaring Mary Rains a charming hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wood have moved on the M. W. Mosley farm, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sanders has moved in our community on the Dr. Webb farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Browa left Tuesday for East Texas to make it their home. Don't blame them for getting away from sand storms.

or of three sons, and a descendant of an old pioneering family which dates back to 1620. This is a story of a deep rooted love for an American home as shown by the members of the Honeywell family, especially by Annie, the child of a pretty, frivolous expatriate mother, and of a soldier from the Honeywell home buried in France. In spite of all the influences brought to bear in the two worlds where her life is spent Annie's character points back to the time traditions of her American source. The theme of the story is an American's love for America.

Barry Benfield, who formerly hailed from Texas, and uses a trace of Texas background for all his stories, is responsible for the best seller, "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie"—a story which has already been screened. Of it Alexander Woolcott says, "Not since I yelled my head off for 'Lost Horizon' have I come upon any work of fiction which I think so many people would find to their liking. You, whoever you be, I don't care, an old professor of Greek or a little high school girl or an Iowa farmer or a manicurist in Atlantic City—you, I think, will find Carrie mysteriously warming to the cockles of your foolish heart."

"Drums Along the Mohawk" by Walter D. Edwards is a story of the forgotten pioneers of the Mohawk Valley during the Revolution. Of it the New York Times says, "The best work of its kind. Throbs with life upon a hostile frontier—touched with local color, lively with dialogue, bright with suspense." The Review of Reviews says, "This splendid historical novel is easily one of the outstanding works of fiction of the year—possesses permanent value as a part of the American story."

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Peebles, two of the most loyal friends of the library, brought us an armful of books lately. Among them is that splendid "Road to War" by Walter Mills.

Homer Mulkey returned last Wednesday from a business trip to Dallas.

Tennis season is nearly here and our courts need to be reconditioned. Everyone is urged to do his part in helping to fix them. The two baseball diamonds need to be dragged and hoed off. The bases will have to be measured off and set equal distances apart in order for us to enjoy playing. An interesting manual art exhibit will be held Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5, at the high school. At that time, the boys will display ironing boards, tables, desks, stools, magazine stands, and many other useful and attractive projects. From the items on display, the best will be selected and sent to Canyon, to be displayed there during the annual teachers' meeting, as was suggested by State Deputy Superintendent J. W. Gunstream on his visit here last week.

HOW I BECAME A RADIO STAR

By PHIL LORD

I've had the spirit of adventure in me as far back as I can remember. The wanderlust started working when I was very young, and my first ambition was to sail on a four-masted bark and explore the seven seas. My aspiration never did assume much reality until I was older, but that same feeling of restlessness, prompted me to try experiments in life I might never have dared.

I was born in Vermont, son of a minister, but most of my boyhood was spent in Connecticut where my father had his parish. Phillips Andover Academy beckoned to me for a chance at a secondary education, and I followed this up with four years at Bowdoin College in Maine. Then I took to school teaching and wound up as principal of a high school in Plainville, Conn.

Something occurred to me one night as I sat in a barber's chair which unquestionably captivated me on my present career. I heard a radio program which was reenacting the lives of folks in New England. They did a pretty poor job of it, and I detested the manner in which they dealt with Maine. So I sat down and started writing some radio scripts concerning the people of the Pine Tree State. Finally I sold one to a station in Hartford. It seemed to make a good impression on the air, and they asked me to write a weekly series. Officials of NBC heard of the idea, and soon afterwards Seth Parker was being brought to millions over the facilities of a nation-wide hookup.

Then an idea came to me to dramatize the files of the Department of Justice in Washington to reveal via the radio for the first time the stories behind the G-Man's activity.

A few years ago, I thought of a new radio program with which I could do little at the time. Finally, I was able to direct my attention to it, and formulated plans for presenting unusual experiences in the lives of everyday American citizens as told by the persons themselves—a real people's program. For the first time in the history of radio, a sponsor was to buy time on the air and turn it over to Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen to do with it as they chose. The result was the "We, The People" program heard every Sunday afternoon over the NBC-Blue network.

Each week a committee of four people—a businessman, a schoolgirl, an automobile mechanic and a housewife—peruse countless letters from every corner of the United States to determine who shall be summoned to relate an unusual experience. We have welcomed such men as Edward F. Younger, the man who picked the Unknown Soldier, George Scadding, the miner who was entombed for ten days 160 feet below the ground in Nova Scotia, and Henrietta Giroux, young Massachusetts girl who was able to walk after more than fifteen years as a hopeless cripple. It's given me more pleasure than anything I've ever done to bring these men, women and children to their fellow-citizens via the radio.

1876 Blizzard Set Goodnight Location In Palo Duro Canyon

FRANK COLLISON
In the Amarillo News.

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series about tearfully day Panhandle ranches written by Frank Collison of El Paso, who lived for many years on the Plains.

Charles Goodnight is the most advertised cowman ever in Texas. I have no desire to take anything away from him or his operations.

The first time I saw Mr. Goodnight was in the fall of 1875 at Granada, Colo. He and the late S. R. Coggin of Brownwood had bought a herd of steers from John C. Chisum, which they received on the Pecos and drove to Granada and sold to Indian beef contractors, who went to fill contracts at one of the Indian agencies in South Dakota or the Red Cloud Agency in the northwest corner of Nebraska.

I knew Mr. Goodnight up to the time of his death. The last time I saw him to talk to him was at T. S. Bugbee's funeral at Clarendon in 1925. I worked for and was in partnership with Coggin Brothers 21 years—from 1878 to 1899—so here is what I saw and heard of the starting of the JA Ranch. I saw and read letters Mr. Goodnight wrote to Mr. Coggin in 1877, asking Mr. Coggin to help stock the Palo Duro Canyon. I read these letters in 1880 in Brownwood. I also went with Mr. and Mrs. Coggin to see Mr. Goodnight in 1897 and heard them talk of the Pecos-Granada drive.

I was hunting with a man, Jim Wilson. I had bought his partner out, who wanted to go back to Kansas. Wilson was an old frontiersman—had been over the old Santa Fe Trail, a government teamster and wagon master; had hunted in Kansas from 1868; came to Texas after the buffalo were killed off in Kansas. We hunted in partnership until the hunt was over. I went to the Pecos. He went north—was hunting buffalo—and he and all his outfit were killed by the Sioux Indians on Milk River, Montana, in 1881. He had been in the Palo Duro before this time and knew the whole country well. We were on Red River below the canyon in the summer of 1876; we were in the canyon in 1875; came down what was called then, and maybe yet, Box Canyon. There was a plain trail or wagon road made by Mexican hunters many years ago.

The last time I was in this canyon the road was impassable; washed out. There were no cattle in the canyon or any place west of Fort Griffin—only a herd on California Creek, west of Fort Griffin, owned by Mathews and Reynolds.

Up to the fall of 1874 it was out of the question to even try to hunt buffalo. The Indians were too bad. All you have to do is to read the account of Adobe Wall fight, General McKinzie's campaign and General Nelson Miles on the Wichita and McClelland Creek, General McClelland at Camp Supply, 1874—all working for the same end, putting the Indians on reservations, which they accomplished during the winter of 1874.

The first I heard of the Goodnight cattle in Palo Duro Canyon was from buffalo hunters who came south after the big blizzard of November, 1876. Their account was that the Goodnight outfit with 1,500 cattle were wintering on the Canadian above the mouth of Mustang Creek. After the storm was over part of the outfit came down the river looking for their cattle, which had drifted ahead of the blizzard.

There were several hunters camped at Tascosa, where there was a store. They were outfitting to follow the buffalo south. These men, Lee Dyer (who was in charge of the outfit), Walter Dyer and J. C. Johnson, asked when the cattle would be apt to strike the breaks again. Thomas O'Loughlin, a Kansas buffalo hunter, said: "I believe they will hit Palo Duro if they come down the river before turning out."

O'Loughlin said: "I am going there myself, and expect to stop on Mulberry Creek. I will show you the way. Go back and get your outfit and get back and we will start for Palo Duro."

They left a few days later. The snow had settled some so they could travel.

They found the cattle in the breaks on the north side of Palo Duro from the Falls to Chalk Hollow. O'Loughlin left them there and went east. Leaving Mulberry on the north and Palo Duro on the south he followed an old Mexican buffalo hunter's trail into the canyon and, according to the story, they took the wagon to pieces and let it down into the canyon with ropes. I have heard the Dyers and J. C. Johnson talk of it. They then went on down the river bed to where Box Canyon and Conyocita joined Red River, then on down about five miles to a spring that put in from the south side, and there they built a log house, which they called the Home Ranch.

This log cabin was burned down about 30 years ago, while Mr. Walsh, who was manager at the time, was sick in Clarendon. He built a lumber house and barn later and I believe it is still standing on the same site the old log cabin stood on.

Johnsons and the Dyers wrote Mr. Goodnight where they were and rode over to Tascosa and the was no post office, but hide haulers and freight teams were going to the A. T. & S. F. Railway in Colorado and Kansas.

The next spring—1877—Mr. Goodnight came to Fort Dodge and south to Camp Supply and to Fort Elliot, where he had Thomas O'Loughlin haul him up to where he had left the cattle the fall before.

At a trial for cattle stealing, tried in Clarendon, on a change of venue from Oldham county in 1897, I saw Mr. Goodnight and Thomas O'Loughlin. We met in Boschers' saloon in Clarendon and talked over that trip. It did not suit Mr. Goodnight a little bit and he got up and left.

In the book "Charles Goodnight" lately published, J. Everts Haley says Mr. Goodnight went to the canyon in the summer of 1876; had a Mexican pilot his herd there and went in down Tullia Canyon. If he had gone in at the mouth of Campbell's Creek—over 20 miles below the old Home Ranch on Palo Duro. He also says Mr. Goodnight got a partner of Bill Koogers to haul him to Dry Creek, which was the exact route Thomas O'Loughlin took him.

I knew Thomas O'Loughlin well. He had a nice ranch on Cantonment Creek where the troops camped before building Fort El-hot. I hear there is now a station on a new railroad called La Force for Perry La Force who ranched there a good many years. Thomas O'Loughlin later acquired a good big ranch on Red Deer near Miami, where he died. It is now owned by his son, Miles O'Loughlin, who was named for General Nelson Miles, a great friend of Thomas O'Loughlin.

Later Mr. Goodnight formed a partnership with John Adair, who put up money to start the first permanent ranch in the Panhandle, which is still in existence and at present under the management of Mrs. Adair's grandson, Montie Richie.

Mr. Haley barely mentions the first trip the Adairs made to Palo Duro. I saw them on Spring Creek in 1878. They had come from Fort Dodge in a big six-mule ambulance furnished by the fort commander and escorted by a sergeant and ten privates, thru courtesy to Mrs. Adair, who was the daughter of General Wadsworth, who was killed at the last Battle of the Wilderness during the Civil War, and also Colonel Richie, her first husband's father, who was on the staff of General Scott during the War with Mexico, 1846.

After this partnership was formed, Mr. Goodnight had unlimited money and credit which put him on a pedestal that few cowmen of that day could attain. No doubt but that he organized the first ranch that bought up land; also was the first to use wire fencing in the Panhandle.

The cattle Mr. Goodnight brought to Texas were Texas cattle driven by him to Colorado, and had a good shorthorn cross. At that time Mr. Goodnight and all the first men to drive cattle to the Panhandle in all probability had never seen a Hereford bull. There was not a carload of that breed in the United States in 1876, although that year some English exhibited a small herd in Philadelphia. They soon became very popular on all the Western ranges. Durham or shorthorn cattle were the popular breed in all the Eastern states.

Kentucky was the leading state for highbred shorthorn cattle; after the railroads were built from the Missouri west, Colorado and New Mexico were flooded with shorthorn bulls. I have no intention of writing a history of any breed of cattle, but from all account Brigham Young took shorthorn cattle to Utah when he migrated to that country in 1847. They still predominate in that state.

After the firm of Adair and Goodnight bought several heads of Texas cattle and good Durham bulls, by the hundred, so at the time Herefords became popular he had a good foundation stock of shorthorn cows to commence with. There is not the slightest doubt that the J.A.'s were the best large herd of cattle in Texas, for many years, filled many feed lots in the corn belt, and were "market toppers" wherever they went—either off grass or corn fed.

Mr. Goodnight was manager and part owner of the JA Ranch for 10 years. I have known all the managers on that ranch up to the present one. It is still a fine property and I for one hope it will continue to be so. It is mostly what would be classed as rough grazing land; now been in existence 60 years, and I never yet knew a die upon it, although I have not been there for 15 years. I believe there has been half a million calves branded JA during the past 60 years.

attained that honor. There was a carload that took the first prize two years ago, which were said to be Texas cattle from Big Bend. It was refuted by some, so I do not know, but the carload from the JA Ranch I saw them cut out and shipped from Claude.

From all I saw and heard during 1876 and 1877, I still believe Mr. T. S. Bugbee was the first man to drive cattle to an ordained destination in the Panhandle, which was on the Canadian River in Hutchinson county, Nov. 1876.

SUNNY VIEW

(By Cymantha Hester)

Are we enjoying this sunshine? I should say! We could hardly believe our eyes when Dame Sandstorm failed to be present at Sunday School Sunday. We were glad she stayed at home and hope she has to stay home next Sunday. Well, Dame Sandstorm, we had 45 present for Sunday School. We are planning to try a new plan Sunday in Sunday School. Each Sunday some one class will have charge of the opening exercises of Sunday School. We are starting next Sunday with Miss Lopez Whitt's class.

We had a very enjoyable time Monday at the school house. After the short program given by the pupils, the parents enjoyed playing several games under the direction of the pupils of Miss Lopez Whitt's room. The first game played was Bingo, which was enjoyed by all, especially by those who were lucky. Then, believe it or not, we really have some excellent artists. Why they can draw wonderful pictures in the dark. The credit of this honor, as being artists of the dark, was given to Mrs. Jim Cannon and Mrs. Iva Williams. They were given presents for showing their superiority along this line of talent. Another game which required quite a bit of skill, was the animal game. Those winning in this game were Mr. R. W. Bingham and Eugene Putman. First, while Mrs. S. T. Clayton and Mrs. Pete Riley followed close for second place. After playing many interesting games, everybody enjoyed the many sandwiches and drinks which were provided by the parents and teachers. Last but not least, as the old saying goes, the best comes last. Well, that is really what happened. Mr. G. W. Kavanaugh gave a very interesting talk, which was enjoyed by all. We enjoyed having Mr. Kavanaugh as our guest for the evening. Now, Mr. Kavanaugh, you must come again.

Remember, my good people, next Sunday night is singing night at Sunnyview and are we glad? We are looking for everyone to be present that really and truly enjoys good singing. Everyone is invited to come and be our guests.

If you had been at the school house Tuesday morning, you would have noticed that the eighth grade was all smiles. Would you like to know why? Well, I'll tell you. We received our first issue of the News Week, which is an interesting illustrated news magazine. Up until now, it has really been a problem to obtain current events for history; but now the problem is solved.

Have you forgotten what's going to happen Friday night, Mar. 5, at Sunnyview. Well, I feel I must remind you that is the night that we are going to have a pie supper. Listen, ladies, there will be a prize given for the prettiest decorated pie. Now isn't that something interesting?
