State deficit topic of senior seminar

Recent announcements regarding the $18 billion deficit has caused concern for many Texans, including senior citizens. They want to know which state agencies and services will be affected.

Addressing the current outlook for Texas and issues for seniors will be State Rep. John Smithee and Alan Abraham, Texas Silver Hair Legislator, at the Oct. 14 Senior Seminar. The hour-long program will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Texas AgriLife Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. W., Amarillo.

Although designed for senior citizens, this program will be of interest to most residents of the Panhandle, according to Sue Church, AgriLife Extension family and consumer sciences agent for Potter County. The general public is invited to attend this free seminar.

Star Photo of the Week

Hundreds of monarch butterflies stopped at the home of Larry and Lura Helms north of Lelia Lake on September 26. Their daughter, Christie Cruse, took this photo, and Lura writes: "These beauties chose one of our old elm trees to rest in for the night. There were hundreds and hundreds of them. They started gathering about an hour before sundown and left early the next morning on the next leg of their long, southward journey." For submitting our Enterprise Star Photo of the Week, Lura receives a free ClarendonLIVE.com t-shirt. Submit your photos at ClarendonLIVE.com, and you could be our next winner!

State reports higher local sales tax revenue

Local sales tax collections are on the increase, according to information released this week by Texas Comptroller Susan Combs.

The City of Clarendon's October allocation was up 17.91 percent over the same period last year with revenue of $23,694.06. That brings the city's sales tax revenue for the calendar year-to-date to $254,654.59, a 2.99 percent increase.

Hedley also posted an increase with an allocation of $335.03, which is up 33.82 percent over last year and brings the city up 23.67 percent for the year at $6,097.29

Howardwick's revenue was up 73.28 percent at $1,307.85 for the month and is now 8.54 percent ahead for the year at $11,293.59.

Statewide sales tax collections totaled $1.57 billion in September, up 6.8 percent compared to a year ago.

"This increase is significantly larger than recent monthly gains which have been in the 0 to 2 percent range," said Combs. "Sales tax increases were posted across almost all sectors including oil and gas, construction, manufacturing, wholesale trade, retail trade and restaurants."

Combs will send local governments $443.5 million in monthly sales tax allocations, a 6 percent increase compared to a year ago. So far this calendar year, local sales tax allocations across the state are still down 1.3 percent compared to the same period in 2009.

Combs will distribute monthly sales tax allocations of $300.1 million to Texas cities, up 6.1 percent compared to last October. So far this calendar year, city sales tax allocations are running 1 percent lower than the same time last year.

The state and local sales tax figures represent sales that occurred in August.

For details of sales tax allocations to individual cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose districts, locate the Monthly Sales and Use Tax Allocation Comparison Summary Reports on the Comptroller's Web site www.window.state.tx.us/taxinfo/allocsum/compsum.html.

The Comptroller's November local sales tax allocation will be made on Monday, Nov. 15.

Festival draws crowd

Hedley was a busy place last weekend as the 59th annual Cotton Festival provided lots of fun things to do on Friday and Saturday.

There were generally more things to do and more fun to be had than in recent years as organizers worked hard to build up the celebration.

The Lioness Club got things rolling Friday evening with a Chili & Stew Supper at the Lioness Den, which was followed by the Hedley Owls defeating the Lubbock Home School athletes for a Homecoming victory.

Blackie Johnston won all three divisions of the tractor show; and car show winners were as follows: first - Grady Milton of White Deer with a 1930 Model A, second - Redell Johnston of Howardwick with a 1966 Mustang, third - John Redmon of Amarillo with a 2003 Chrysler PT Cruiser Limited Edition, and People's Choice - Stephanie Wilkinson with a 1967 Ford Mustang.

Boss Lion Vernon Patton said he thought the Lions Club served about 275 people during the barbecue lunch.

Kiddie Parade and Community Parade results were not available at press time.

Among the drawings held Saturday, Bonnie Lesley won the quilt from the Lioness Club, Chuck Howell won the pistol from the Senior Citizens, and Dennis King won the wooden bench from Moffitt's Hardware.

The Hedley School Reunion was well attended with Nancy Mullins traveling all the way from Tennessee to be there. Nell Gray represented the oldest class present (1940), and the youngest class represented was 1980.

A street dance featuring Broken Jonez was also held Saturday night.

Kwahadis to dance Friday

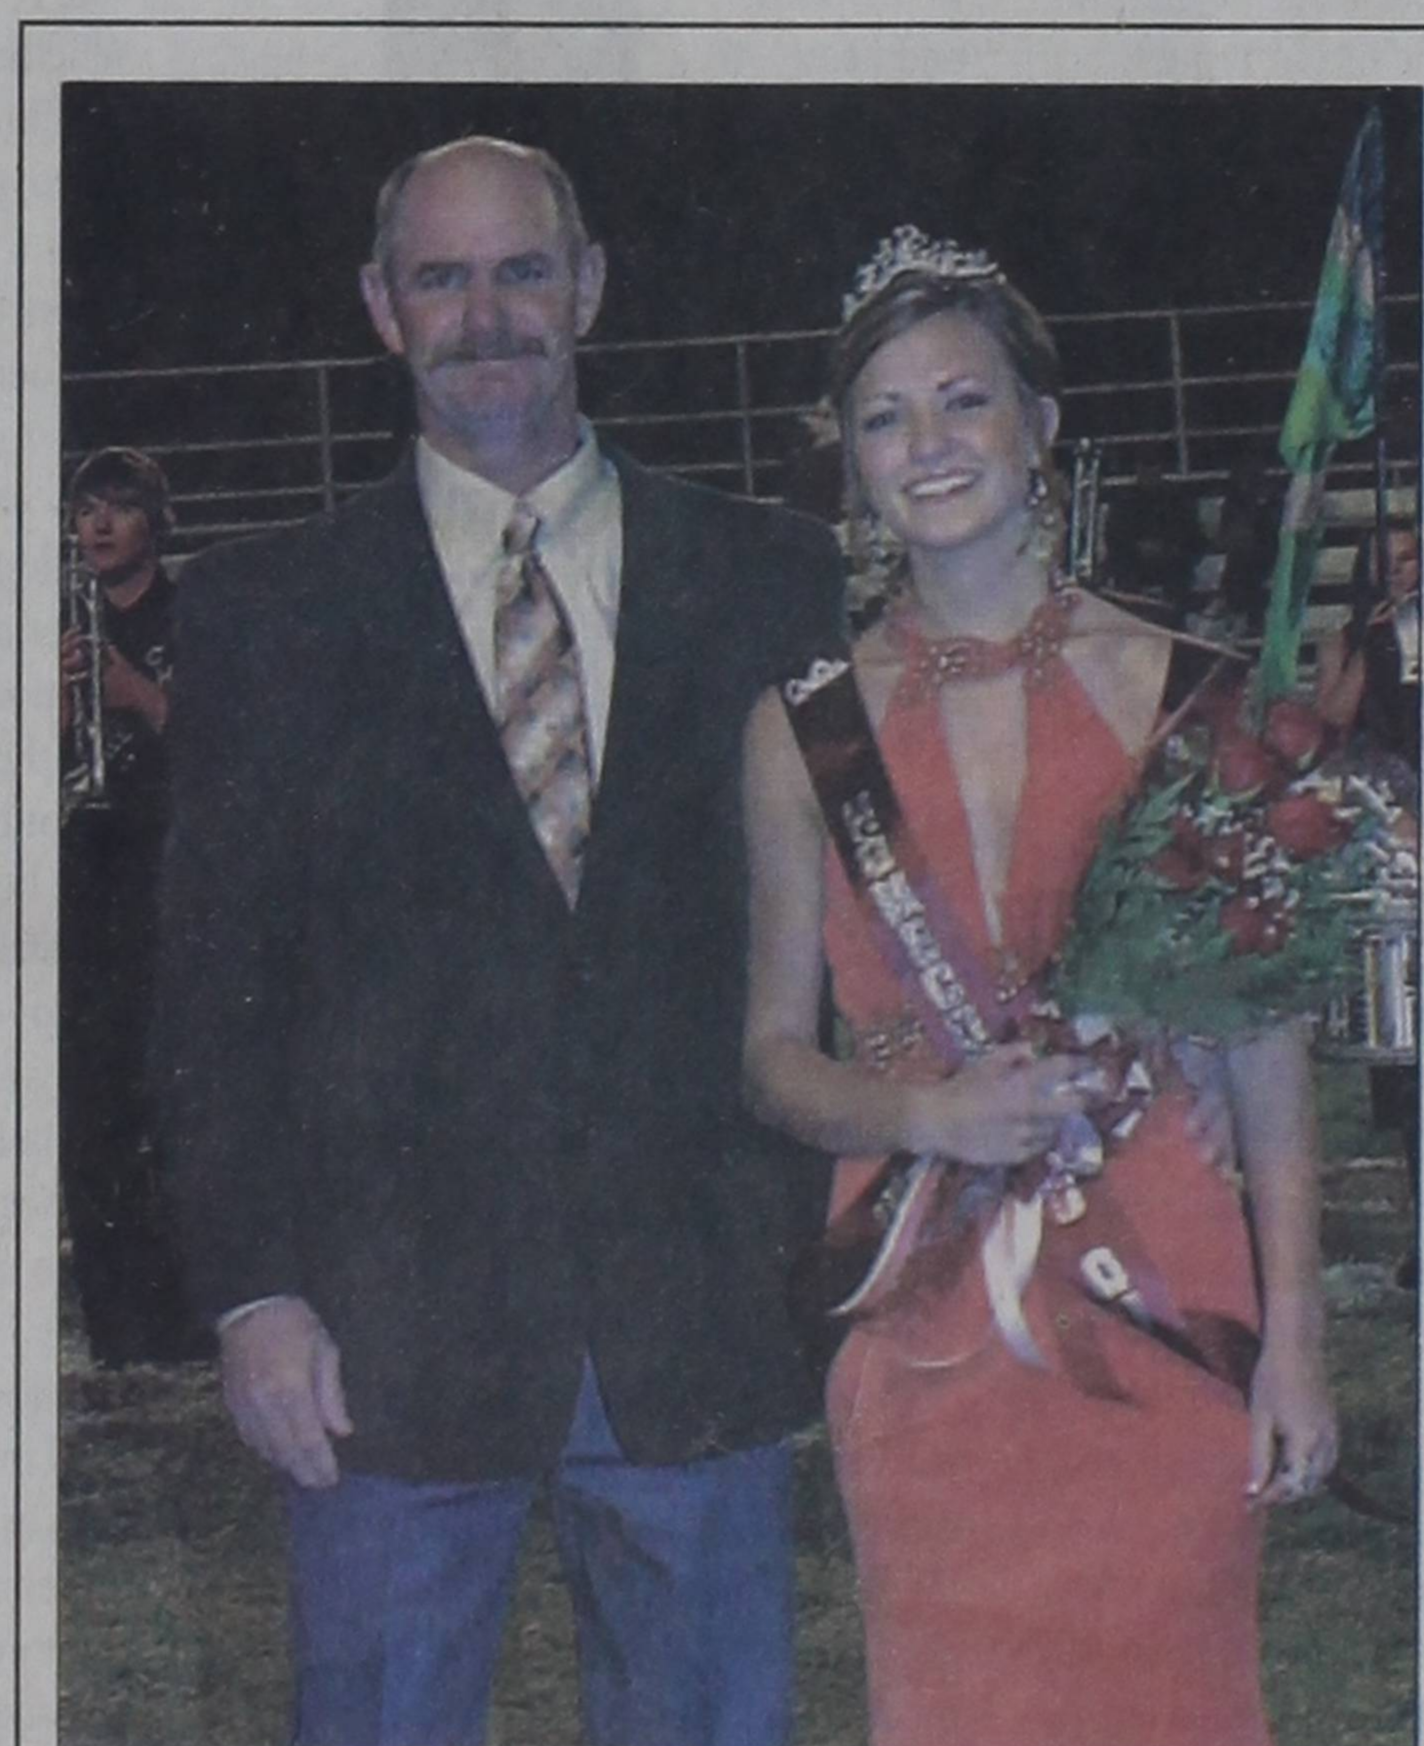

The Kwahadi Dancers will be performing on Friday, October 15, at the Bairfield Activity Center to benefit the Donley County Senior Citizens Center.

A meal will be served by the senior citizens at 5:30 p.m. The performance starts at 7:30 and will run approximately 90 minutes. Tickets at the door are $10.

Two Clarendon young people - Cire and Harley Jauregui - will be performing with the group.

The Kwahadis are a unique youth performing group. In addition to regularly scheduled public shows at the Kiva in Amarillo, the Kwahadis present their colorful pageant of song, dance, and stories of the American Indian for events, groups, and fundraisers nationwide.

The Kwahadis are officially Venture Crew Nine of the Golden Spread Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and over 1600 young men and ladies have presented over 3800 performances since 1944. They were honored by being given the name "Kwahadi" by the Elders of the Comanche Nation.

CHS Homecoming Queen

District court accepts two plea agreements

The 100th District Court handed down two convictions when it met in Clarendon last Monday, October 4.

District Attorney Luke Inman, assisted by Greg Buckley, prosecuted the cases for the State of Texas with the Honorable Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

A total of $6,000 in fines was assessed as a result of the pleas that took place on October 4.

Luis Alberto Garcia pleaded true to allegations listed in the State's Motion to Adjudicate Guilt of Defendant and was convicted and sentenced to eight years in the Institutional Division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

On July 29, 2009, Garcia originally pleaded guilty to the second degree felony offense of indecency with a child that occurred on October 19, 2008, in Donley County.

The State filed the motion to adjudicate on September 15, 2010, alleging six violations of community supervision. Garcia pleaded true to all violations contained in the State's motion and was sentenced to eight years in the TDCJ. Garcia is also required to pay $640 in court costs to Donley County, and a $4,000 fine.

Robert Arthur Bullock was placed on probation for a period of two years for the Class A Misdemeanor offense of driving while intoxicated 2nd. Bullock was convicted and sentenced to one year in the Donley County Jail, but the sentence was probated for a period of two years.

Bullock was arrested in Donley County for the offense that occurred on March 5, 2010, and later indicted by a Donley County Grand Jury on June 28, 2010.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Bullock is required to pay a $2,000 fine to Donley County, $140 restitution, and $558 in court costs.

As a condition of probation, Bullock must comply with all the requirements of conviction under Texas Penal Code 49.04, which includes county jail time, a driver's license suspension, drug and alcohol rehabilitation and other alcohol related conditions.

Think Pink

A Tea Party American Cheat Sheet

By Dr. Marvin Folkertsma

The Tea Party Movement, otherwise known as the Great Peasant Revolt of 2010, has been greeted by the country's ruling class with all the sympathy that Voltaire expressed toward the Catholic Church: "Kill the infamous thing!"

Although the American Revolution provides the inspiration for today's Tea Party Americans (TPAs), their opponents in government, academia, and the media have exhausted their warehouses of invective by reacting to this new challenge to old privileges the way the French Aristocracy regarded the Third Estate. Which means, in the aristocracy's view, that there must a Robespierre or Marat lurking within that rabble, waiting with guillotines raised, screaming the eternal cry of revolutionaries: "Off with their heads!"

But the truth is more humble and less dramatic. TPAs' real motives are better expressed with a banner that proclaims "Off with their tenures!" Members of America's Ruling Class (consult Angelo Codevilla's superb essay on this point) may keep their heads, thank you; indeed, they'll need them to get real jobs if the Tea Party movement succeeds in removing many of them from power, not by the guillotine but by the ballot box.

Now President Obama is not Louis XVI—for one thing, he's a lot better looking—and Tea Party leaders are not the Jacobins. Still, questions remain about exactly what newly elected officials motivated by TPA priorities would do if they gain power. For those bewildered by the flurry of complex legal expressions, such as "First, stop the madness!" the following short list may help:

First, keep your perspective, which means that a few dozen House seats lost or gained doesn't really mean that much in terms of the larger picture, especially for the party out of power. Think of it this way: a trifling 10 percent of the total 435 House seats nets you a grand total of 43.5 seats, an amount that current TPA enthusiasts think is revolutionary. But this rarefied region of mathematics also informs us of the downside, which is that the remaining 90 percent of the seats are still in the same politically geriatric hands that have managed for decades to hire and fire their own constituents using a magical process known as gerrymandering. If the French aristocracy had been so well entrenched, Louis XVI's progeny would still be constructing four-foot hairdos at the Palace of Versailles.

Second, restore the narrative. The larger public needs to be reminded that taking or regulating banks, health insurance, automobile companies, and (if the EPA has its way) nearly every pot, puddle, and breath of air in the country, is not in keeping with America's traditional understanding of constitutional boundaries. And yet, the ruling class, with its fits of labeling, launches into tirades against these Constitution-citing Americans, accusing them of fascism. Go figure.

The problem is that the political left has until recently maintained a unilateral grip on the American narrative and on the country's self-understanding. That perspective has been almost uniformly negative since the 1960s. TPAs need to continue to stress American accomplishments, generosity, self-governance, independence, initiative, and creativity—in short, American greatness—and debunk the Witch's Sabbath of imaginary evils that so obsess the country's elite, such as anthropogenic global warming and a host of supposed phobias and isms that apparently stalk the lesser minds of the great unwashed masses who cling to their guns and religion.

Third, think in the long run. Progressives have wanted to socialize the country since Edward Bellamy projected his utopian fantasies into Looking Backward in 1888; left-wing thought police have wanted to manage if not obliterate dissent since Woodrow Wilson's heavy-handed tactics during the Great War. Progressives have had to settle with the welfare state and political correctness, both accompanied by continuous scolding of what they regard as Americans' selfishness and bigotry.

The only part of all this that TPAs should emulate is the perseverance. This means setting a decades-long agenda that includes, for instance, reducing the size of the federal government, abolishing useless programs and departments, and demolishing the IRS and any tax scheme used for social engineering instead of raising revenue. Perhaps above all, exorcise the Reverend Wright-like hatred of America that poisons so many in the ruling elite; exalt American exceptionalism in every breath.

Will any of this work? Yes, if ordinary citizens refuse to ever give up. In the meantime, the next time Speaker Pelosi responds to a question about the constitutionality of an act of Congress by saying, "Are you serious? Are you serious?" TPAs and the vast majority of Americans may shout in unison: "Yes, we are!"

Medicare preparing for the Boomers

By Bob Moos - Southwest public affairs officer for the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

The first wave of Baby Boomers will turn 65 next year and become eligible for Medicare. Beginning Jan. 1, about 8,000 Boomers a day will join the ranks of the 47 million Americans already benefitting from the nation's largest health insurance program.

True to form, the generation that has gone through life believing it's invincible hasn't given much thought to Medicare. Indeed, research from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners says many Boomers are confused about the basics.

About two-thirds of those surveyed admitted they aren't familiar with the insurance program's options. That's cause for concern. Boomers who don't understand the fundamentals of Medicare won't be able to make informed decisions about their health care.

So here's the short course - Medicare 101, if you will - for the 76 million Americans born between 1946 and 1964.

Medicare comes in four parts. Part A covers hospital stays, skilled-nursing care, home health services and hospice care. You won't pay a monthly premium for Part A if you or your spouse paid Medicare taxes during your working years.

Part B covers doctor visits, preventive services, outpatient hospital care and medical equipment. You'll pay a monthly premium for Part B - $110.50 for new enrollees this year. If your income is higher than $85,000 as an individual or $170,000 as a couple, you'll pay a higher premium.

You'll probably also buy a Part D drug plan from one of the private insurance companies in the business. The monthly premium, annual deductible, and other out-of-pocket costs will vary according to the particular plan you choose for your individual prescription needs.

Because Original Medicare usually pays for most, but not all, of a patient's health care costs, you may consider shopping for additional coverage or for help with the out-of-pocket expenses that Medicare doesn't pay for.

Under Part C, you can join a Medicare Advantage health plan sold by private insurers. In addition to the services that Original Medicare covers, Medicare Advantage plans usually offer extra benefits, like dental, hearing and vision care. Most include drug coverage. The plans may also charge a separate monthly premium on top of the Part B premium.

As an alternative to a Medicare Advantage plan, you can supplement your Medicare coverage by buying "Medigap" insurance. In return for a monthly or quarterly premium, the private policies fill many of the "gaps" for deductibles, co-payments, co-insurance and other charges not picked up by Medicare.

Besides mastering the ABCs and DS of Medicare, you'll need to know what to do to get your benefits. That'll depend on whether you're already collecting Social Security.

If you're on Social Security, you'll be automatically enrolled in Medicare's Part A and Part B. About three months before your 65th birthday, you'll get a Medicare card and letter in the mail explaining that your monthly Part B premium will be deducted from your Social Security check.

You'll have the option of declining Part B coverage. But unless you have health care coverage through your or your spouse's current employer, delaying enrollment in Part B could result in a penalty - in the form of a higher monthly premium -- when you do sign up later.

There's also a penalty for joining a Part D drug plan later.

If you're not on Social Security when you turn 65, you'll need to sign up for Medicare yourself. The Social Security Administration, which is responsible for enrolling most people in the health insurance program, says you can start the process about three months before your 65th birthday.

Don't fret. It's not hard. There's a new online application that takes less than 10 minutes to complete. Visit www.socialsecurity.gov and click on "Retirement/Medicare." Or, if you don't want to apply online, you can make an appointment by calling 1-800-772-1213.

And, by the way, happy 65th!

Voting reaffirms American freedom

Free and fair elections are an integral part of the fabric of our republic. Americans have fought and died to protect this right throughout our nation's history from Bunker Hill to Baghdad. On November 2, Americans will go to the polls to exercise their right to vote in this year's mid-term elections. When voters cast their ballots in November, the outcome will determine whether America stays on the same road or charts a different course on key issues such as spending, taxes, and health care.

The significance of the upcoming elections is clear. In the two years following the 2008 elections, our nation has witnessed sweeping increases in the size and scope of government. At the national level, the examples include the health care reform bill, the automaker bailout, and the implementation of President Obama's trillion dollar stimulus plan. This year's mid-term will determine if the president's agenda is validated or repudiated.

Historically, voter turnout in non-presidential election years has been relatively low. In 2006, the last mid-term cycle, only 37 percent of eligible Americans participated. In Texas, the number was just over 26 percent. In the 2008 presidential election, nearly 57 percent of the U.S. voting-age population went to the polls, and nearly 46 percent of those eligible to vote in Texas cast their ballots. The drop-off in the number of voters during mid-term years is significant and concerning.

This year, the entire U.S. House of Representatives and one-third of the U.S. Senate are up for re-election, along with dozens of governorships and state and local offices. The results of these elections will have a major impact on how the critical issues facing local communities, our state, and our nation will be decided.

And each vote counts.

Many elections are decided by the slimmest of margins. Voting has become more accessible than ever before, so there are few excuses for not participating. Citizens can vote early in person, by absentee ballot, or at their precinct on Election Day.

This right should not be taken for granted. So much has been sacrificed by so many throughout our history. Every election confirms our freedom. Every vote reinforces our founding principles. Whether a senior citizen or a college freshman, a stay-at-home mom or a deployed soldier, each American who casts a vote honors our nation's past and strengthens our future as a thriving democracy.

As President Reagan so elegantly said, we are "a shining city on a hill." Millions throughout the world look to America and are inspired by our open elections. Oppressed nations hope that they, too, will be free to go to a ballot box without fear and to cast a vote believing that it will be accurately counted. They hope their countries will be governed by elected officials who are fairly and rightfully chosen by voters and held accountable to the people. Democratic ideals are taking hold in some unlikely places around the world; some inspiring examples include the elections in Iraq and the courageous protests in Iran. By exercising our right to vote in America, we help fan the flames of democracy across the globe—and reinforce our constitutionally-granted freedom.

I urge my fellow Texans to vote in this November's election. Silence and apathy do not advance the cause of freedom. Let your voice be heard.

Mayor outlines need for administrator

I feel it necessary to respond to Mr. Steve Sell's letter posted in last week's newspaper. We are anxious to hire a new city administrator for many reasons. One of the most important reasons is to keep us in line with municipal government laws. One infraction could cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The city secretary and I are new in our positions and have much to learn. As much as I appreciate your confidence in the city council running the city, I believe someone who has been trained and can spend the time necessary to run our city would be a smarter choice. Would any good business owner operate their company without a manager?

The duties of a city administrator are getting more than grant writing and receiving low interest loans. The administrator will oversee all city operations including budgeting, financial management, legal advisor, and creating a contingency plan for the future of our city. We are fortunate to have good department supervisors, but we need someone to oversee the full operation and perform the job with strong leadership qualities.

We have interviewed our top candidates and will to the best of our ability choose the most qualified person that we feel will benefit our citizens and town the most. A good administrator will save the city far more than what they are paid.

I would like to encourage citizens to attend our open meetings on the second Tuesday of each month at the Burton Memorial Library at 5:30 p.m.

Carnival to be held at Clarendon Country Club Oct. 31 Senior Citizens profit from Cotton Festival

"In fourteen hundred and ninety two Columbus sailed the ocean blue, in the Niña, Pinta, and Santa Maria and discovered a new world." This was the chant I was taught in grade school, and it made such an impression I never forgot it.

Well, we now accept the fact that Columbus did not discover the new world. In fact, that would be like saying Neil Armstrong discovered the moon. Both were there. They just opened the door to the wonders those new worlds held.

To compare the journey both men took is a little difficult, but Armstrong and his crew were watched by the world while Columbus was making new paths across the oceans to places people in Europe did not know existed.

Much like the crew of the moon landing - Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins, the captains of the Pinta, Martin Alonzo Pinzon, and his brother, Vincente Yanez Pinzon, of the Niña are not as well known.

Those three ships were very small the largest being the Santa Maria which was about as long as a yacht with four sails, the Niña and Pinta were much smaller with two sails and didn't have a deck. The Pinta was fastest and usually led the way.

The three vessels set sail early on Friday, August 3, 1492, from Spain, they reached the Canary Islands in September, and then they began sailing into the unknown. Can you imagine sailing on the ocean in those tiny ships, the only person on board who is convinced you will reach land is your captain who is keeping two sets of books, one with the correct mileage, the other shows fewer miles that is shown to the crew?

The weather is beautiful, the crew threatens mutiny, but Columbus calms them down and on the night of Thursday, October 11, Rodrigo de Triana spots land. The three ships have reached a beautiful island in what we now know as the Bahamas.

Columbus was the first on land and named it San Salvador.

After many adventures, the loss of the Santa Maria on Christmas day 1492, Columbus returned to Spain on March 15, 1493, bringing with him several slaves from the islands, many strange plants including tobacco, some gold and silver, and leaving behind 39 crew members after the loss of the Santa Maria.

Even though Columbus did not discover America; his trip came at the right time and opened a wondrous world.

Thanks Chris, I will always remember the little chant I learned in school.

Trick or treating will take place on Saturday, October 30, in Clarendon but keep your calendar open because the Country Club is planning a Halloween Carnival Sunday October 31 from 6-9 p.m.

There will be a spook house in the basement, Halloween carnival games upstairs and an eye ball hunt at 7:30. Wow, sounds like so much fun and will keep the kids out of trouble.

Plan to make that short drive to Howardwick and have a great time at the Halloween Carnival.

Senior Citizens profit from Cotton Festival

Kathy Spier - Director

The Senior Citizens had a very profitable Cotton Festival this year.

We sold hamburgers all day Saturday and held the Midnight Breakfast during the street dance. We raffled the "Judge" pistol, and Chuck Howell from Amarillo won it. We brought in about $5,100 just on the gun, so thank you everyone for supporting us.

With the hamburgers, gun, and breakfast we made nearly $6,500.00 for the Cotton Festival. We had compliments from everyone that the breakfast was wonderful.

At the ex-student reunion, Ernie Houdashell had an "elevation" made from an architect of what the new senior citizens might look like. It is a beautiful looking building. We need "Letters of Support" for our grant which we will get done by February 2011.

I put out some sign-up sheets where people who supported what we are doing could just sign their name, and we already have about 300 names, but we need more. If you support the Hedley Senior Citizens in getting a new building which will also be used as a community building please write a short and simple Letter of Support and send it to the Hedley Senior Citizens, PO box 216, Hedley, Texas 79237. We thank you in advance and send it all in with the grant in February.

Something else we would like to find out is are there any volunteers who would want to help the Senior Citizens during next year's Cotton Festival. We could use some "man" help cooking hamburgers all day or during our Midnight Breakfast. Maybe we could get a work schedule shift going so no one person will have to work so much during the time frame. We "old" people just need a little help!

If you know of anyone who might help a 501c3 nonprofit we could sure use some contact information. We want to take this opportunity to thank everyone for your support.

We have some new ideas coming down in the future like more specialty dinners and maybe movie and burger night. We are trying to get a big screen TV donated with a DVD player. If anyone has suggestions or wants to volunteer help, we would appreciate it. We can't do it by ourselves anymore so please, if you think you could volunteer during some of these fund raisers please let us know.

Hedley welcomed large crowd for Cotton Festival

The 59th annual Hedley Cotton Festival was a huge success. It was much bigger than the last few years. More people came, we had more activities to do, and it will grow in the future.

At this writing, I did not have all the information about winners, etc., so I will get with the Mayor and city manager this week to get all names down and put in the paper next week. We had a street dance Saturday night for the first time in years with the Broken Jonez band, and they were wonderful! (Love ya, Bubba Shields.) It is a very good local band. If you have not heard them, please find an opportunity to do so. They are wonderful.

The Ex-Student Reunion was a huge success. We had one come all the way from Tennessee (Nancy Mullins). We need to build up our ex-student reunion by making sure some of the younger classes show up. The youngest class there was 1980. Come on, younger classes! Come be a part of your home town ex-student reunion. The oldest class there this year was 1941 with Nell Gray. The class of 1961 will hold the reunion next year. Next year will be the 60th year, and we are planning big. Please put the Cotton Festival for 2011 on your calendar.

Again! Someone has dumped some kittens at the back of the Hedley Senior Citizens. If you don't want your animals to have babies, then get them fixed! I cannot afford to feed all of these babies, but I will, and I will expect a check in the mail to help me with food. You don't just throw away animals, especially

"Story Time" now offered Wednesday mornings through October

If your pre-school age children are not attending "Story Time" from 10:30 - 11:30 each Wednesday morning at Burton Memorial Library, then they are missing something from which they would benefit and really enjoy. If you have ever heard Mary Ruth Bishop present children's stories, you are aware of her excellent "storytelling" talent. During this month of October, she is presenting weekly "fun stories" to pre-schoolers. According to those who attended the first meeting last week, it was quite enjoyable. It is hopeful your young children can take advantage of this weekly beneficial time.

Now...what are you planning to check out for yourself this week? We all love and anticipate new books of which Burton Memorial Library has plenty. However, occasionally it is possible for us to ignore the "golden oldies," which hold equally as much adventure, mystery, humor, romance, emotion and other intriguing factors. Previously, you have heard me discuss the Williamsburg Novels, a seven-book series by Elswyth Thane. If you've never read novelist Elswyth Thane, you're missing something. Thane, wife of Dr. William Beebe, noted naturalist, explorer and author, has written fiction, nonfiction, and two plays which might interest drama readers. Her collection is located on shelves toward the back of the library.

Thane writes her fiction with a certain charm as she individualizes characters in a way which seems to make them come alive.

Each of the seven individual books provides interest on its own. However, historical fiction fans might receive more reading satisfaction if the books are read in chronological sequence since the novels involve several generations of the fictitious Sprague, Crabb, Day, and Murray families.

Dawn's Early Light is the first of the Williamsburg Novels and begins with the arrival of Julia Day in Yorktown, Virginia from Southampton in 1774.

Talented author Elswyth Thane creates marriages, families and suspenseful events through American Revolutionary years until a smooth transition is made into her second novel, Yankee Stranger. With increasing drama, the same families

check it out
by mary beth nelson are involved as the southern belle marries a northern soldier during the Civil War period.

Thane's two following novels are Ever After, beginning with Christmas 1896, and The Light Heart with a 1902 beginning.

The remaining three in the Williamsburg series are entitled Kissing Kin, This was Tomorrow, and Homing. They fictitiously continue through the years 1917 - 1941. The historical backgrounds of World Wars I and II, intermitted with peaceful years, contribute to the warmth of the characters and provide nostalgia to readers who actually experienced those years.

The Williamsburg Novels are only a sample of numerous earlier writings to provide additional reading pleasure which readers may have overlooked. Why not check it out?

CHS Homecoming sweeter with win

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos breezed through their Homecoming game against Gruver Friday night in Bronco Stadium with a 42-6 win before a huge hometown crowd.

The dominance by the Bronco team was undeniable, and the Greyhounds were left helpless throughout. Clarendon racked up 356 total yards to only 97 yards for a struggling Gruver team. The Broncos accumulated 223 of those yards on the ground resulting in four touchdowns.

Mike Crump got things rolling for the Broncos very early in the game when he scored from one yard out to give Clarendon the advantage. Brother Chris Crump then caught two passes for touchdowns from 28 and 33 yards respectively, and Mike Crump topped off the first quarter scoring with a 14-yard run. Mike Crump scored again in the second quarter on a four-yard run, and Wes Williams ended the scoring frenzy with a big 73-yard run that resulted in six. Coby Braughton added all the bonus kicks for the Broncos.

"Once again, our line did a great job for us," head coach Gary

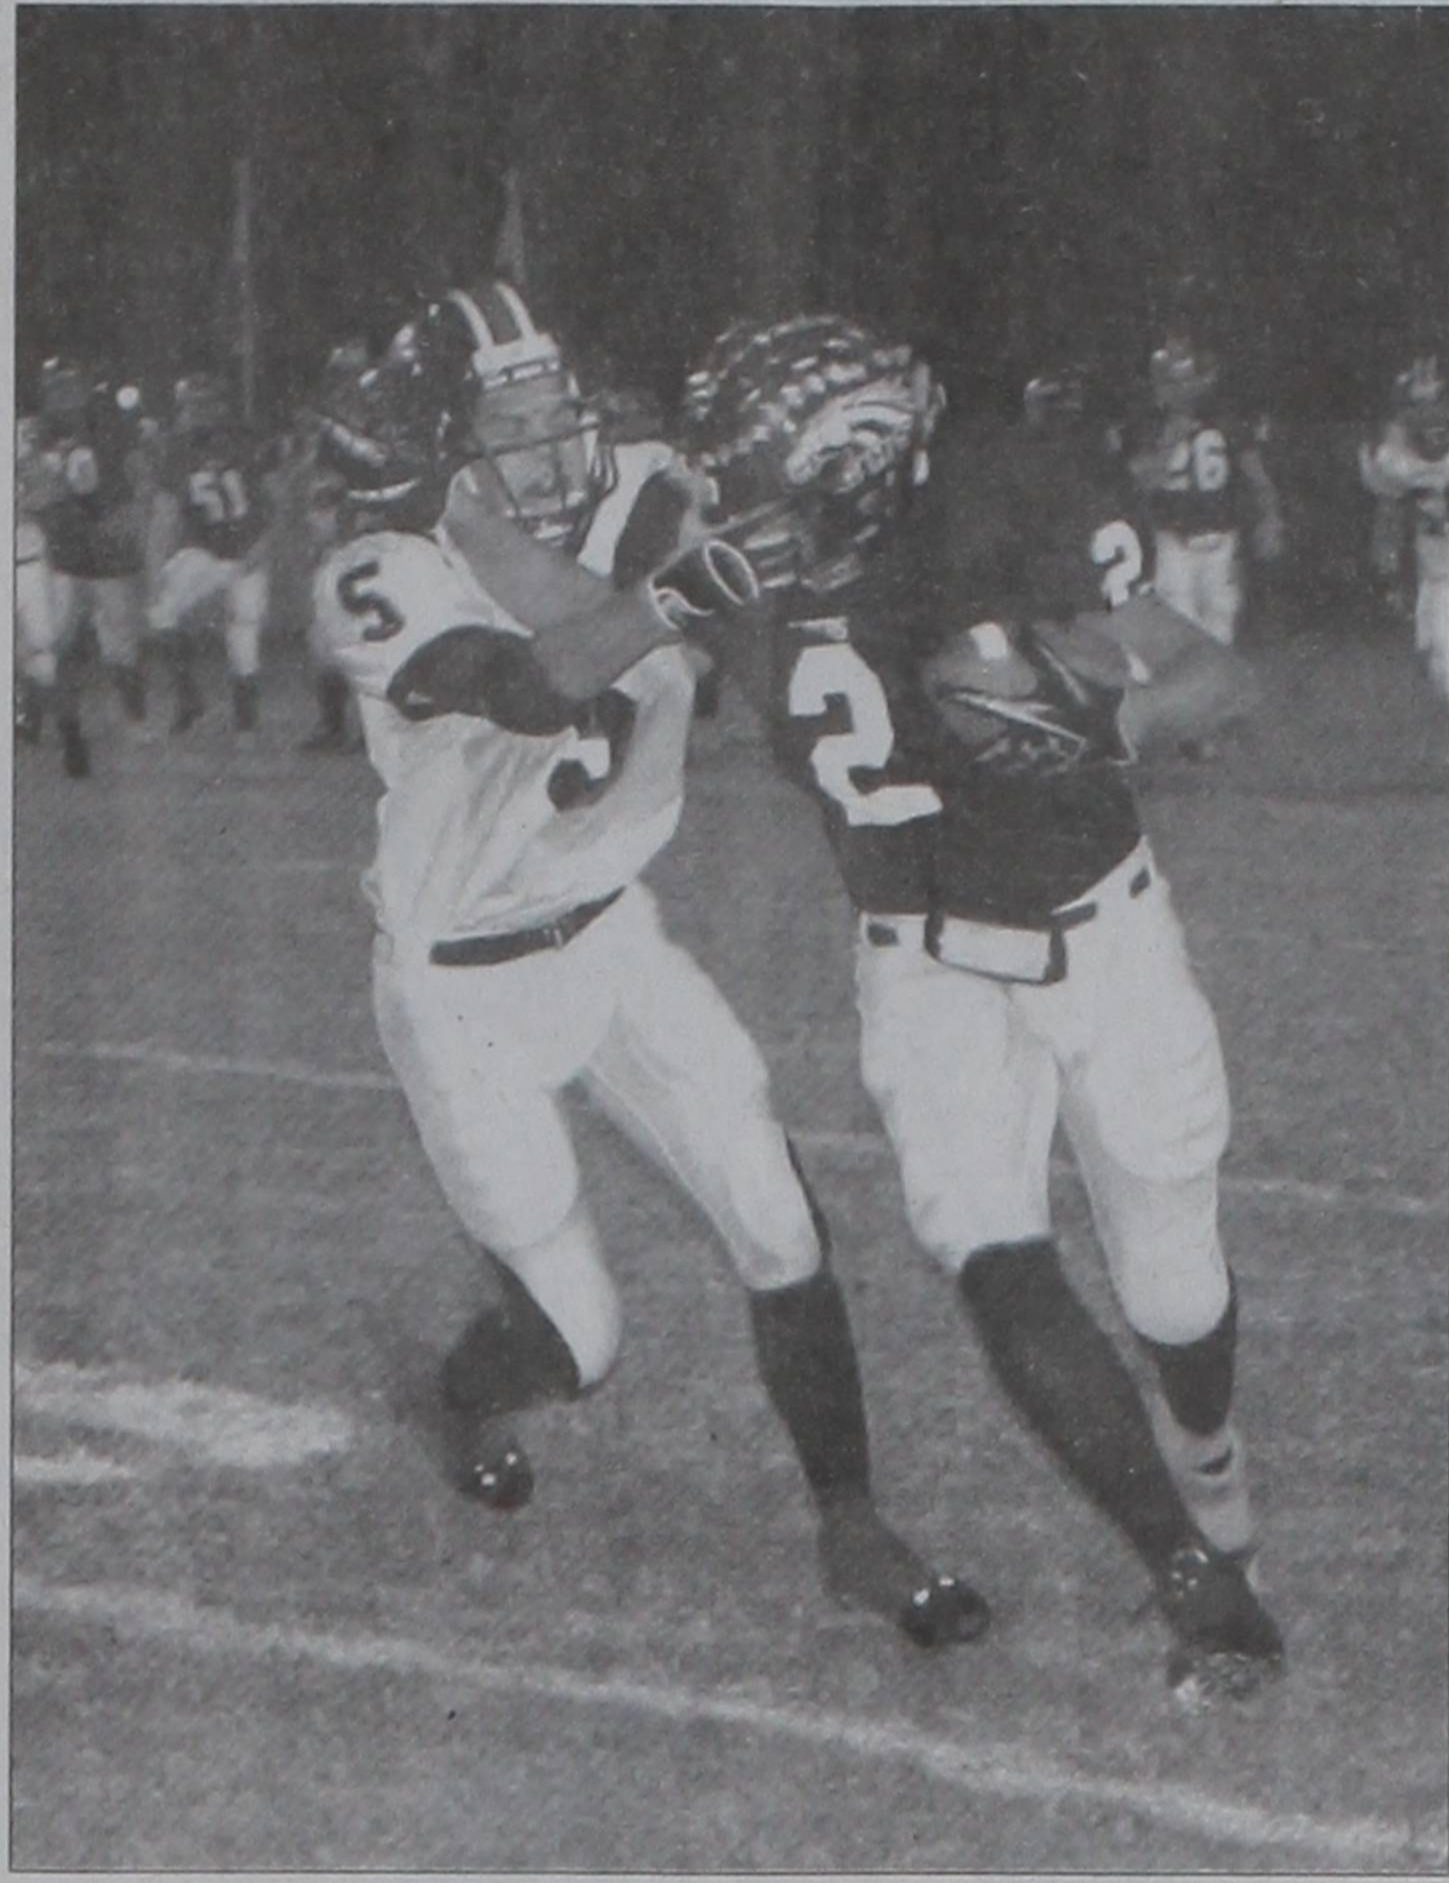

Jack said. "We did a lot of good things. Johnny (Gaines) threw the ball well. Bradley Watson made some good catches for us, and Mike (Crump) and Wes (Williams) ran the ball, too. Our defense did a good job and shut them out through three quarters."

The Broncos' controlled the game, which allowed the younger players to get playing time.

"Because of the lead we had, we were able to take our starters out in the second half and let some of the junior varsity players get in the game," Jack said. "And that helped us to stay fairly healthy."

The Broncos are definitely in the hunt for post-season play and are expecting to go deep in the playoffs. They have already fought through several tough opponents and after an open date this week are hoping to continue their dominance on the field with their District opponents.

"We had a good non-district run and went 6-1," Jack said. "And we'll play Quanah in our first District game at home. It will be the most challenging game of the District, and we're looking forward to it."

Daniel West is undeterred as he runs the ball for the Broncos last Friday night. Clarendon defeated Gruver 42 - 6.

Drugs in the News

Allergic Conjunctivitis Treatment Approved

For those who experience itching associated with allergic conjunctivitis, help is on the way. This condition involving the eye may now be treated with Lastacraft (alcaftadine) which was recently approved by the FDA. Lastacraft is called a histamine blocker. It is dosed once daily, for ocular allergy treatment. In a study called the Conjunctival Allergen Challenge, adult volunteers who tested positive to common allergens (tree pollen, cat hair, grass pollen, etc.) were treated with alcaftadine, olopatadine, or placebo. Participants experienced less ocular itching and eye redness in the alcaftadine group compared to the olopatadine and placebo groups. Over 20% of the US population reportedly suffers from allergic conjunctivitis.

This condition causes itching, burning, watery eyes, and swelling of the eyelid. Symptoms normally occur in both eyes and usually do not threaten long-term vision. The management of allergic conjunctivitis is aimed at treating two or more allergy symptoms. Some of the common drugs used to treat allergic conjunctivitis include: olopatadine, ketotifen, and azelastine.

By Tangela Copelin

The Hedley Owls hit the field Friday night with gusto, beating the Lubbock Titans 67 to 22.

Clarendon Church of Christ CREATION VS. EVOLUTION

A few years ago I offended someone because I expressed my beliefs about evolution. I do believe that it is the work of Satan and is one of his tools to confuse or pull people away from God. The one I offended, believe it or not, was a Christian. This person believed, as some, that the Bible's account of creation must be mythical or a story told by God. Let's look at just a few passages and see if the wording is ambiguous or if there is "room" in the Genesis account for evolution.

The first scripture in the Bible tells us: "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." That seems straight forward, either He did or He didn't. If He didn't then the God of the Bible was lying. Later in verse 11, God said: "Let the earth sprout vegetation, plants yielding seed after their kind, and trees bearing fruit with seed in them, after their kind; and it was so." It doesn't sound as if God is using figurative language there and as far as science goes, the trees and plants HE created were to bear fruit and seeds "after their kind." No evolution there.

In verse 24, He says the same about animals. They are to reproduce after their kind. I'm not saying that God couldn't have used an evolution method, its just that the Bible doesn't support that notion. Evolution was created by some to remove God and morals from the picture. Once a population is convinced that we "just happened" and there are no absolutes in morals or anything else, then we can live by the jungle standard of "survival of the fittest."

The Bible and true science fit together like hand and glove. A true study of genetics will tell a person that a man and monkey are not even close. The same crowd that would foist the notion that we "evolved" from monkeys or a one cell "germ" would also have you believe that the earth "just happened" from nothing. It doesn't take a genius to know there had to be a creator and designer for the world around us. For the Christian who tries to "blend" the Bible and evolution, he will always have to cast aspersions or doubt on the Bible to "make it work."

Joshua told the children of Israel in Joshua 24:15 to choose who they would serve. Would it be Jehovah God or the "gods" their fathers had served on the other side of the Jordan. Make no mistake, evolution is a deity for those who don't love God and is a tool for Satan. People who mean well try to have it both ways to "get along" with everyone. Either the Bible is true or evolution is true. They can't coincide or live together in one's life.

In Genesis 1:27, God tells us that He created man in His own image. Later the scripture goes on to say that Man was created and that he was to have dominion over the animals. God distinguished between a man and an animal. By His very words He signified the superior being on earth and that was man.

Many call Charles Darwin the "father of evolution." What they won't tell you is the he was born to a minister and made to go to ministerial school that he grew tired of and dropped out. He wanted no more of religion. He needed to justify his actions by finding an alternative explanation for earth and its inhabitants. Yet, on one page of his book, "Origin of Species" he admits that the eye and all of its intricacies couldn't have just "evolved". There are several instances in his own book he cast doubts on his own hypotheses, yet he continued to adhere to them because he wanted no part of the "alternative."

There isn't enough paper and ink in the world to make evolution viable. It is a devious plan by Satan to "convert" people to a godless world and to live in a godless fashion. Everyone must make a choice, we can't serve two masters. Either Satan is right and we came from monkeys or germs or God was telling the truth and He created you in His image, a superior creature over all on the earth. Believe what you will, but as for me I'll choose God.

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE
On September 30, 2010, GreenLight Gas ("GreenLight"), in accordance with the Gas Utility Regulatory Act, filed an application with the Texas Railroad Commission to change GreenLight's city gate gas transportation rate for gas utility service to the following cities and nearby unincorporated areas: REVISED NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE
On September 30, 2010, GreenLight Gas ("GreenLight"), in accordance with the Gas Utility Regulatory Act, filed an application with the Texas Railroad Commission to change GreenLight's city gate gas transportation rate for gas utility service to the following cities and nearby unincorporated areas: Clarendon, Dodson, Dozier, Estelline, Hedley, Lakeview, Lella Lake, Lutie, Memphis, Newlin, Paducah, Samnorwood and Wellington. A revision to the application was filed with the Railroad Commission. The proposed rate is $2.628 per mcf. GreenLight proposes to recover rate case expenses through a $0.046 per mcf surcharge which will be in effect for three years. The combination of the rate plus the surcharge results in a rate of $2.674 which reflects an increase of $0.254 per mcf and is expected to increase GreenLight's revenue by about 2.7%. About 3,255 residential and 523 commercial customers would be affected. An average residential monthly bill (4.5 mcf) would see an increase of $1.14 per month. An average commercial monthly bill (31.3 mcf) would see an increase of $7.95 per month. This rate change requested by GreenLight, which is organized as a not-for-profit company constitutes a major increase as defined by Section 104.101 of the Texas Utilities Code. The effective date of this proposed rate change is December 1, 2010. Information concerning the application may be obtained from GreenLight's main office at: 116 South 6th Street Memphis, Texas 79245 Any affected person may, on or before November 29, 2010, file written comments or a protest concerning the application with: Docket Services Office of General Counsel Railroad Commission of Texas P.O. Golden Spread to develop Wind Ranch near Amarillo

AMARILLO –Golden Spread Electric Cooperative, Inc. of Amarillo has purchased Wildorado Wind Two, LLC, a company that holds the rights to develop a 78.2 megawatt wind generation project in Oldham and Potter Counties in the Texas Panhandle from affiliates of Cielo Wind Power, LP. The new wind project will be named the Golden Spread Panhandle Wind Ranch.

The Golden Spread Panhandle Wind Ranch will be comprised of thirty-four 2.3 megawatt Siemens winds turbine generators. When completed, the project is expected to generate as much as 350,000 MWH each year, enough renewable electricity to serve the needs of over 27,000 homes.

With the addition of the Golden Spread Panhandle Wind Ranch and the completion of the 168 MW Antelope Station Project currently under construction near Abertamy, Golden Spread will own or control over 1,000 megawatts of energy generation. Golden Spread's 2010 peak load was approximately 1,400 megawatts.

The Antelope Station Project will consist of eighteen 9.3-megawatt Wärtsilä reciprocating engine-generators. Each of these generators can reach full output in less than ten minutes.

Because these generators can start quickly, are energy efficient and use virtually no water, they are a perfect choice to supplement the intermittent generation that will be available from the Golden Spread Panhandle Wind Ranch.

"The Wärtsilä/wind combination demonstrated Golden Spread's proactive strategy for meeting its Members' current energy needs, as well as the energy growth demands projected over the next decade," Said Golden Spread President and General Manager Mark Schwartz. "Adding a wind energy resource to the Golden Spread electric portfolio will benefit Golden Spread's Members on many levels including hedging against potentially high natural gas costs and future carbon and renewable energy legislation and regulation.

In addition, Golden Spread's service territory is located in the heart of one of the richest wind-generating areas in the world, and Golden Spread supports the use of wind energy generation when it makes economic sense for Golden Spread's Members."

Golden Spread is a consumer-owned public utility that provides low cost, reliable electric service for its 16 rural distribution cooperative Members. Golden Spread's Member systems serve more than 213,000 Member- consumers located in the Panhandle, South Plains and Edwards Plateau Regions of Texas, and area covering 24 percent of the state, and in the Panhandle of Oklahoma and portions of Southwestern Kansas and Southeastern Colorado. Golden Spread's Members include the following distribution cooperatives: Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association, Big County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Coleman County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Concho Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc., Lamb County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc., Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc., North Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., Rita Blanca Electric Cooperative, Inc., South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., Southwest Texas Electric Cooperative, Inc., Swisher Electric Cooperative, Inc., Taylor Electric Cooperative, Inc., and Tri-County Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Cielo Wind Power, LP is the largest privately held wind energy development company in the Southwest United States and is based out of Austin. To date, Cielo has developed 16 percent of all installed wind generation capacity in Texas.
