Bronchos Earn Second Place In Canyon Rotary Tournament

The Clarendon Bronchos basketball team played two of their best games of the year last week before dropping a nail-biting 56-55 loss to Class 4A Hereford Friday in the final game of the Canyon Rotary Tournament.

Clarendon's record falls to 12-3 with the latest loss that garnered them second place in the tournament which attracted five 3A, 4A and 5A teams.

"It was a good tournament," Bronchos head coach Jimmy Avery said. "We got a lot of good out of it. I think we competed well and saw what we could do as a team."

The pool play tournament began on Dec. 27 when Clarendon faced Dumas and Canyon in 4-minute quarters, instead of the typical 8-minute periods for seeding purposes.

Clarendon played both games in a four-hour span. The Bronchos coasted by Dumas 43-27. Clemmie Smith had 13 points. Lorenzo Moore and Roy Williams each contributed 8 points apiece.

A 2-point third quarter was the downfall for Clarendon during their first contest with Canyon Dec. 27. The Bronchos led 21-19 at halftime, but turnovers in the third quarter hurt their chances of pulling out a win.

Both teams scored 9 points in the final quarter for the 40-32 win by Canyon in their home tournament.

Smith was high-point man with 10 points, and Williams contributed 7. Williams exploded in Thursday's rematch with Dumas as he went to the bucket for 29 points, including two treys. Moore had a three-pointer of his own as he racked up 15 points, and the Bronchos had no trouble dismantling Dumas, 65-47, as they returned to regulation play.

The Bronchos led 17-9 at the end of the third quarter and 36-18 at halftime.

"Our defense played well," Avery said. "We just kept pounding away at them and wore them down."

Scoring for the Bronchos were Smith, 8; Dean Stanzione, 5; Mark Barefield, 4; and Drew Jeffers, 4.

Avery changed the Bronchos' strategy Thursday night against the Canyon Eagles.

"We went to a four-corner stall for most of the game because we had just played a couple of hours earlier. Canyon was fresh because they hadn't played that day."

"But the stall really frustrated them," Avery said. "They (Clarendon players) spread the ball out and then would look for a chance to penetrate to the bucket. It worked well."

Clarendon led at halftime, 19-17, behind Moore's 6 points and Williams' and point guard Kareem Abdullah's 4 points apiece.

Both teams chipped in 12 points in the third quarter, as the Bronchos held onto a slim 31-29 advantage going into the final quarter.

With 45 seconds remaining and behind by 2 points, Stanzione brought the ball down and dished off to Moore, who was waiting in the wing to bust a three-pointer to win the game.

Canyon had two more chances to win the contest.

Donley County EMS Elects Officers

New officers were elected at the monthly meeting of the EMS. Kyle Hill was elected president, Stan Couch, vice president, Sandy Jones, secretary/treasurer, and Eddie Hankins, reporter. These officers were elected for 1996.

The EMS will be holding a Blood Pressure clinic on Friday, January 19, 1996, for the Howardwick Friendship Club at the Howardwick City Hall at 7:00 p.m. The clinic is open to all Donley County residents free of charge.

During this time of year one of the most dangerous killers is carbon monoxide. Carbon monoxide is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. You need to have your gas furnaces, chimneys, or unvented heaters checked for CO emission.

For further information, you may call the EMS at 874-3139.

Ukrainian Dignitary To Visit United States As Guest Of Clarendon Firm

Clarendon will be playing a role on the international stage this month with arrival of Dr. Validimir P. Zotov of Ukraine.

Dr. Zotov is coming to the United States on Jan. 7 through Jan. 21, 1996, as a guest of OEISI, a Clarendon based Texas corporation dealing in European affairs. Michael Tibbets, political science chairman at Clarendon College, will be Zotov's escort during his stay in Texas.

Dr. Zotov is the general director of Medicine-Ecology, a Ukrainian scientific production firm. He works with hospitals and doctors in Ukraine to try to improve the standard of living in that country. Part of the area he covers includes Chernobyl, the site of a devastating meltdown of a nuclear reactor several years ago.

During his time in the United States, Zotov will be seeking donations of cash, short-date medicines, medical supplies, and used medical equipment. He will also be attempting to establish some commercial trade contacts for Ukraine.

Mr. Tibbets will escort Dr. Zotov to meetings in Dallas, Clarendon, Amarillo, and Albuquerque.

Ukraine is a former republic of the Soviet Union, and living conditions there since the fall of communism are those of a third-world nation. The country was considered the bread basket of the Soviet Union and was also the Soviets' industrial center.

The medical facilities for the Ukrainian population of 52 million are especially lacking. Mr. Tibbets, who has traveled extensively in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, reports that most hospitals in the Ukraine do not even have hot running water and that last year they had several out-breaks of cholera.

Dr. Zotov is expected to spend most of his time visiting Clarendon College, churches, hospital facilities in Amarillo, and the U.S. Dept. of Energy.

Dr. Zotov will be in San Francisco during the first four days of his visit before heading to Texas.

A reception for Dr. Zotov will be hosted by Olsten Kimberly Quality Care and Clarendon College at the Bairfield Activity Center on Jan. 17 from 4 to 6 p.m. The public is invited and encouraged to attend this event.

Rep. Thornberry, Coalition Criticize Administration's Rural Health Care Policy

WASHINGTON, DC - In a strongly worded letter to the President, US Rep. Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) and 28 other members of the House Rural Health Care Coalition criticized the Administration for putting forward a Medicare plan that unfairly penalizes rural communities.

"Throughout the Medicare reform debate," the Coalition states in the December 20 letter, "we have been active proponents of provisions beneficial to the delivery and preservation of rural health care. After reviewing the Medicare plan in your seven year budget package, we were extremely disappointed with the lack of consideration given to rural beneficiaries, providers and facilities."

According to Thornberry, the Coalition's main objection to the Clinton plan was the Adjusted Average Per Capita Cost (AAPCC) payment formula. The AAPCC is Medicare's estimate of the average per capita amount it would spend for a given beneficiary who was not enrolled in an HMO and who obtained services on the usual fee-for-service basis. Under the current structure, AAPCC rates vary dramatically by region of the country. Counties with low utilization rates, generally concentrated in rural areas, receive low reimbursement rates, thus providing managed care firms little incentive to offer plans in low utilization areas. Congress wants to establish a floor for all AAPCC payments. The President does not.

In addition to this problem, Thornberry also criticized the President for excluding from his Medicare proposal other important provisions that would benefit rural communities, including:

- Bonus payments to rural primary care physicians practicing in health professional shortage areas.
- Congress increases payments from 10 to 20 percent. The President provides no bonus payments at all.
- Establishment of a new telemedicine grant program to encourage telemedicine in rural areas. Congress provides funding for this program. The President does not.

Funding for emergency Access Community Hospitals (IWACII). Congress extends current funding for EACHs and also ensures continued funding for EACHs in danger of being closed. The President eliminates the EACH designation entirely.

"The enrollment rate for Medicare is 28 percent higher in rural areas than in urban areas," Thornberry stated, "yet rural beneficiaries receive lower average Medicare payments than beneficiaries who live in urban areas. Congress made great strides this year to level the playing field. Most significantly, we increased payments to doctors who practice in rural areas, established a new telemedicine grant program, and secured funding for Emergency Access Community Hospitals. We also placed a floor on all Medicare payments as a way to draw more HMOs to rural communities."

"For some reason, President Clinton has rejected this approach and turned his back on rural communities. As negotiations on a seven year balanced budget plan proceed, I join with other members of the Rural Health Care Coalition in urging the President to accept the provisions passed by Congress so that we can begin restoring some balance for rural communities and their treatment in the Medicare system."

Extension Service To Hold Irrigation Conference, Jan 10

AMARILLO — Growers will have an opportunity to hear a diversity of topics ranging from irrigation well construction to no-till farming success stories on Jan. 10 at the annual High Plains Irrigation Conference and Trade Show in the Amarillo Civic Center.

Speakers will share their views and experiences with drip irrigation, chemigation, computerized climatic data collection systems, satellite remote sensing technology, and crop yield reports.

According to Leon New, Extension Service agricultural engineer, the demands for irrigation have been significant and in some cases could not be adequately supplied.

"At this annual conference, we try and analyze such situations to determine better ways of addressing water use and conservation," the specialist said.

Registration and trade show activities begin at 8:25 a.m. and the program at 9:25 a.m. Lunch will be catered and is included in the $7 registration fee. Three continuing education units (CEUs) will be offered to private, commercial and non-commercial applicators upon completion of the day's program.

Steve Monrow, a grower from Sunray, will discuss how and why he changed to no-till farming to conserve water and boost his operation. Tom Marek, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station engineer, of Amarillo will open the conference with a dis-ussion of proper irrigation well design and construction.

Conclusions and relationships between the 1995 crop yields and climatic data collected by weather stations will be addressed by Dr. Brent Bean, area extension agronomist.

New, who also serves as president of the Texas Agricultural Irrigation Association, will discuss how growers can receive and use daily crop water use information obtained through a network of computer-driven weather stations.

John McGillicuddy, southwest region agronomist, NC+ Hybrids, will share his experience using satellite remote sensing technology to manage crop production and irrigation. Jerry White, senior agricultural specialist, Rhone-Poulenc Chemicals from Canyon, will describe how he controls the boll weevil with chemigation.

Three years of research data showing production of top corn yields with drip irrigation will be presented by Dr. Steve Evett, soil scientist at USDA-ARS Bushland research station.

The trade show will include exhibits of the latest irrigation and chemigation equipment and associated components. The wrap-up session for completing required paper work for anyone needing CEUs will begin by 4 p.m.

Contact Leon New at (806) 359-5401 or your local county Extension Service office for more information.

"What's At Stake In The Budget Impasse"

By Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison

One wag in Washington says the national debt has been run up on the "American Distress Card: The card that pays your children back—in debt."

In 1994, Americans made it clear they're ready to cancel this card. They want government to live within its means. They want government to turn away from unending deficits, out-of-control spending and soaring debt. They want a balanced budget and family-friendly policies.

The budget Congress submitted to the President would achieve those goals, balancing the budget within seven years in a way that does not require enormous national sacrifice. Contrary to some reports, spending will increase on most federal programs under the congressional budget, but at a slower, more affordable rate. By 2002, finally, revenues will exceed spending.

• Spending on Medicare over the next seven years will total $1.6 trillion, increasing each and every year from $178 billion in 1995 to $294 billion in 2002—a 65 percent increase.

• Social Security spending would increase each and every year, rising from $333 billion in 1995 to $480 billion in 2002—a 44 percent increase.

• Medicaid spending would increase from $89 billion in 1995 to $127 billion in 2002—a 65 percent increase.

• Although some specific areas of the government would experience actual cuts in spending, because we are setting priorities (the way every household does), overall federal outlays would increase every year, rising from $1.5 trillion in 1995 to nearly $1.9 trillion in 2002—a 22 percent increase.

You may have wondered about the recurring debate over whether to balance the budget in seven years, and whether to enact tax cuts now.

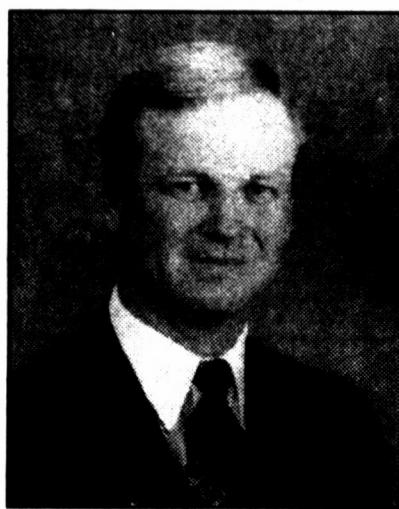

Balancing the budget in seven years is our best bet, because it is realistic—and it is achievable. To do so sooner would require us to make draconian cuts that could damage the economy.

too fast can slow consumer spending and business investment. We don't want to cause a recession.

In fact, the tax cuts we have included in the budget are aimed at offsetting the possible destabilizing effect of the reductions in spending because they are designed to spur spending, investment and savings.

The bottom line here—and it's literally a bottom line—is that the tax-cut proposal does not come at the expense of a balanced budget—it comes as the result of one. The Congressional Budget office reports that the budget proposal on the table meets deficit reduction targets and will result in a $170 billion "economic dividend" from the beneficial effects it will have on the economy.

We will have the best of all worlds: a balanced budget and a strong economy in which hardworking taxpayers are able to keep more of what they earn.

DPS Sets New Procedures For Stopping Motorists With Concealed Handguns

AUSTIN - Concealed handgun license holders who are stopped for traffic violations after Jan. 1 should let law enforcement officers know if they are carrying their weapons.

Department of Public Safety troopers will begin asking motorists whether they have concealed handgun licenses, whether they have their weapons with them and, if so, where the guns are located. Troopers will have the discretion to disarm license holders if they feel safety is at risk.

At the first opportunity, licensees should let officers know where their weapons are located. If asked for identification while carrying their handguns, they always must present their concealed handgun licenses along with their driver licenses or I.D. cards.

During traffic stops, citizens carrying guns should keep their hands in plain sight and cooperate fully with law enforcement officers to ensure everyone's safety.

License holders may begin legally carrying their concealed guns Jan. 1. As of today, approximately 1,200 licenses have been issued by the DPS. More than 170,000 people have requested application forms, and more than 35,000 have returned their completed application packet to the DPS.

Temple of Truth

By The Apostle

No dollar sent away or spent for an article that could be bought of your local merchant, ever paid a salary or helped an enterprise in your town or your rural community. Every one is justified in seeking to make one's dollars go as far as possible; in the case of most of us, it is absolutely necessary.

In the smaller towns such as we have in this trade territory, a policy of active and loyal support of the local merchant is nothing more than enlightened self interest. The local merchant gives employment to our citizens; he is a part of the town; he takes pride in it; he contributes to its well being in many ways; he gives of himself and his means to further every good cause. He is among the very first to be appealed to when disaster overtakes the individual in sickness, fire, loss, etc.

Remember this: your merchant is just as interested in building up your community as you are. His interests are yours. Before spending your money with an out-of-town firm, see if you can get it at home. You will be surprised to find the price lower in many instances; and, too, your local merchant cannot afford to sell you goods that will prove unsatisfactory because you can see him and talk with him in person. The average merchant wants to see you prosper. He helps build your schools, churches, roads and other public necessities. That's why he should be considered above the firm at a distance that has no interest in your welfare.

Sims Announces Intention To Seek Reelection As District Attorney

Randall C. Sims has announced his intention to seek reelection as District Attorney for the 100th Judicial District. He was elected in 1994 with 56 percent of the vote. "As a professional career prosecutor, I firmly believe in what the job stands for - protecting the community, helping people, assisting law enforcement, and seeking justice."

According to the press release from Sims, his plans upon taking office a year ago were to be a full time prosecutor who had no private practice distractions; reduce the backlog of stagnant cases while getting the best dispositions possible; aggressively and efficiently prosecute criminals; computerize and streamline the office; and improve and increase restitution and fine assessment and collection.

"I am very pleased with the overall progress made this year; however, there is still work to be done. In a district this size, one year has not been enough time to do all I would like even when routinely putting in thirteen hour days."

The press release also stated that for the year Sims has been in office, 69 cases had a penitentiary sentence imposed and 130 cases had community supervision imposed. That is more dispositions that have occurred in any of the three years previous to Sims taking office. Additionally, he prosecuted two jury trials with other awaiting dates to be heard. The number of active cases has been reduced by 43 percent without receiving a single complaint on a disposition. Over $130,000 in fines and over $138,000 in restitution have been assessed.

Sims also states in the press release that he has provided a trained victim assistance coordinator to assist victims, been selected by The Bridge - Children's Advocacy Center for child victims to help review all of its cases, been elected by fellow prosecutors to one of nine seats on the statewide board that oversees the Special Prosecution Unit, was instrumental in getting the district into the South Plains Auto Theft Task Force, and updated and toughened the conditions of community supervision.

"I will continue to be a full time prosecutor using my experience from 72 felony trials and ten years of full time prosecution to work hard to aggressively and efficiently prosecute criminals, try the cases that should be tried, reduce the backlog of cases, follow the law, and bring beneficial programs to this district. I would appreciate your support and vote so I may finish the job you allowed me to begin."

Human reason needs only to will more strongly than fate and she is fate.

Good news for you who prefer large-print books! Burton Memorial Library has just received a new supply, through the Texas Panhandle Library System, which will remain in the library for three months before they are rotated to another Panhandle library.

Among the large variety are various westerns: Ernest Haycox's Starlight Rider; Larry McMurtry's Bufalo Girls; Louis L'Amour's Jubal Sackett; Lewis Patten's Ride a Crooked Trail; and Robert McLeod's Ambush at Junction Road.

Well-loved veterinarian, James Herriot, presents another warm, well-told story in one of his newest novels, Vet in a Spin.

Two of several mysteries in the current large-print collection are What Mrs. McGillicuddy Saw by favorite writer Agatha Christie and Wilbur Smith's Shout at the Devil for those who prefer more intense action.

Avid readers and admirers of syndicated columnist, Erma Bombeck, will delight in another of her collections entitled I Lost Everything in Post-Natal Depression. Just the title depicts typical Bombeck wit. As usual, readers will recognize an undercurrent of truth in the humorous experiences while relating to and enjoying another highly entertaining piece of writing that can be produced only by Erma Bombeck.

The Fannie Farmer Large Print Cookbook, edited by Marion Cunningham and Jeri Lauer, invites all of you "gourmets" to participate in 520 recipes for appetizers, salads, desserts, soups, casseroles, meats, breads, in fact, everything from Boston Brown Bread to Apple Pandowdy.

Four expert authors have combined their knowledge and talent in the writing of An Older Woman's Health Guide, a book dealing with physical, emotional, and social issues confronting today's older women. It carries an upbeat message of importance and appreciation that the last 20 years of life should be no less meaningful than earlier years. For women over 55, it approaches practical matters of coping with loneliness.

loss of loved one, health changes, legal issues, loss of friends, and emphasizes a more positive look at the aging process. A very beneficial, informative book!

Well-known journalist, Linda Ellerbee, who has worked for "NBC News" since 1975, cleverly and interestingly relates her television experiences in And So It Goes: Adventures In Television. Her book is praised highly by peers, Ted Koppel, Mike Wallace, and Connie Chung.

Janet Dailey's Difficult Decision; Phyllis Whitney's Feather on the Moon; Anne Hampson's Man of Importance; and Maeve Binchey's Copier Beach are also available in large print as well as works of other novelists.

Michael Blake's Dances with Wolves; My Turn by Nancy Reagan; and Devotional Book by entertainer, Pat Boone, offers more variety to this outstanding group of books.

Whether or not you request large print books, these are enjoyable for everyone. Remember, they're only here for three months. Why not check it out?

JV Bronchos Starts New Year With 4-Game Streak

Clarendon's junior varsity team is on a four-game winning streak after beating Lockney, 33-31, Dec. 21 in Lockney.

Their record improves to 4-7 with the win.

The Bronchos roared to a 13-5 first quarter advantage behind a balanced scoring attack from four Bronchos. Jason Archuleta led the charges with 5 points, and Blake Bass put in 4.

Nathan Koontz and Nathan Sears each contributed a field goal apiece.

Their offensive weaponry cooled in the second period when Bass put in 4 more points and Archuleta canned a basket for a 19-7 halftime advantage.

Archuleta posted 3 points in the third period, and Lockney slowly inched toward the Bronchos putting in 9 points.

Clarendon still led 22-16 heading into the final quarter.

The Longhorns got hot scoring 15 points, but Clarendon hung on and scored 11 points squeaking past Lockney, 33-31.

Scoring for the Bronchos were Archuleta, 14; Bass, 10; Sears, 6; and Koontz, 3.

The Clarendon junior varsity team travels to White Deer Thursday for an 8 p.m. match-up with Highland Park's J.V. squad in the White Deer Junior Varsity tournament.

Their participation in the tournament concludes Saturday at 1:30 p.m. where they will meet either Wheeler or White Deer, according to boys junior varsity coach Joe Sexton.

They open up district play Tuesday when they meet the junior varsity Memphis Cyclones at 5 p.m. in the Clarendon gym.

JV Lady Bronchos

The Clarendon Lady Broncho junior varsity squad came up short in a Dec. 21 match-up with Lockney, 30-25.

Holidays in ancient Rome were so numerous that by the A.D. 100's Emperor Marcus Aurelius had to limit them to 135 days a year.

Clarendon led for most of the game, but Lockney reeled off 16 points in the final quarter compared to the Lady Bronchos' 5.

Their record drops to 3-8 with the loss.

The Lady Bronchos were behind 8-7 at the end of the first quarter behind two buckets and a free throw by Marci Moore and a field goal by Jenny Roberts.

Clarendon's defense held the Lady Longhorns to 2 points, and the Lady Bronchos scored 5 points for a 12-10 halftime advantage.

A balanced scoring attack in the third period gave the Lady Bronchos a 20-14 lead entering the final quarter.

Roberts knocked off a trey, and Moore and Lindsay Green each contributed a free throw in the fourth quarter for a 5-point effort.

Five Lady Longhorns kicked in 16 points for the win.

Scoring for the Lady Bronchos were Roberts, 7; Moore, 6; Stephanie Smith, 4; Green, 3; Paula Jackson, 2; Mandy Weatheron, 2; and Tracy Hankins, 1.

Clarendon enters the White Deer tournament for Thursday and Saturday contests.

Their first district match will be Tuesday against Memphis at 4 p.m. in the Clarendon gym.

The Lions Tale

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its first meeting of this year at noon on Tuesday, January 2, 1996, at the Lions Hall. Thirteen members, one guest, and Jo Johnson were present.

A very good meal was enjoyed by the members and guest before the meeting was called to order by Boss Lion Johnson. Following the regular opening ceremony, Lion Allen Estlack introduced his guest, Russell Estlack.

The Boss Lion thanked the Lions who helped distribute the Christmas baskets. He also expressed his appreciation for the Lions family members who helped with the distribution. There were no other announcements and the meeting was adjourned.

Golden Spread Elect. Announces Generating Cooperative For Residents Of The Panhandle

Golden Spread Electric Cooperative has announced the incorporation of GS Electric Generating Cooperative, Inc., an affiliate cooperative which will operate as an exempt wholesale generator of electric power. The new cooperative intends to construct a 400 megawatt generating plant and sell the output to Golden Spread beginning in 1998.

Greenbelt Electric Cooperative of Wellington is a member of the Golden Spread system.

Golden Spread owns sites near Denver City and in Moore County south of Sunray which could be utilized for the project, which is estimated to cost $165,223,000. Golden Spread proposes to use the Denver City site.

Golden Spread President Robert W. Bryant said, "The plan proposed by Golden Spread will provide the lowest cost power supply for the 94,000 retail member/consumers served by the Golden Spread member systems. Golden Spread's studies show substantial savings for consumers compared to current rates paid for wholesale purchases from SPS."

"The retail customers of SPS will also benefit because SPS will not need to construct new generating plants to serve the Golden Spread loads," Bryant added.

Golden Spread also filed an application with the Texas Public Utility Commission seeking the approvals needed for Golden Spread to purchase power from its affiliate cooperative, and certification of the wholesale power contract between Golden Spread and GS Electric Generating Cooperative.

Golden Spread's actions follow years of study and evaluation to find the best means of serving the loads of its eleven member systems.

Because additional power resources are needed to meet area loads by 1998, Golden Spread filed a request on Sept. 15, 1994, for approval by the Public Utility Commission of a notice of intent to construct a 400 megawatt power plant. The Commission approved Golden Spread's notice of intent on April 17, 1995. However, the Texas Legislature amended the Public Utility Regulatory Act ("PURA") effective Sept. 1, 1995, to eliminate the need for a notice of intent. The legislature also amended PURA to allow exempt wholesale generators to sell power at wholesale in Texas.

As a part of its planning process, Golden Spread hired the consulting firm of R. W. Beck to conduct an all-source competitive bidding process and to independently evaluate alternative power supply proposals from other utility and non-utility suppliers. Golden Spread received proposals from 11 bidders offering multiple power supply options. Bids included 2,555 megawatts of supply-side capacity and 11 megawatts of demand-side load reduction. At the conclusion of the evaluation of proposals received, R. W. Beck ranked two generating proposals developed by Golden Spread superior to all other supply-side alternatives.

Because additional power resources must be in place by 1998, Golden Spread is seeking regulatory approval to go forward with its plan. However, Golden Spread has invited bidders Southwestern Public Service Co. of Amarillo, CSW Energy, Inc. of Dallas, and LS Power Corporation of St. Louis, Missouri to review Golden Spread's plan, and Golden Spread will consider revised proposals that offer better value for Golden Spread's members.

Planergy, Inc. of Austin and Southland Industries Services, Inc. of Lakewood, California offered demand-side proposals that could reduce load now served by Golden Spread's member systems through energy efficiency improvements. The Planergy and Southland proposals would not alter the amount of new generating capacity to be installed in 1998, but they offer long term value and are being pursued by Golden Spread.

Golden Spread intends for GS Electric Generating Cooperative to construct 300 megawatts of combined cycle generation and 100 megawatts of simple cycle generation. Natural gas will provide the primary fuel for the plant. Black & Veatch, a Kansas City based engineering firm, is expected to oversee the design and construction.

Golden Spread purchases more than 95 percent of its power requirements from Southwestern Public Service Co., the largest supplier of power in the Panhandle region. Golden Spread will continue to purchase a large block of power from SPS following the completion of the GS Electric Generating Cooperative's power project. Golden Spread also purchases power and energy from West Texas Utilities Co. of Abilene.

Golden Spread's member systems serve 94,000 retail consumers in the Panhandle and on the South Plains of Texas and in the Panhandle of Oklahoma.

Farm Bureau Now On Web

WACO — Texas' largest farm organization has opened a web site on the Internet. The Texas Farm Bureau launched its home page on the World Wide Web of the Internet on Dec. 5, 1995, after a two month test.

"The Texas Farm Bureau has pulled on to the 'Information Super Highway,'" said Bob Stallman, Texas Farm Bureau president. "We are very excited about the potential for communicating with the public and our members."

The Texas Farm Bureau Home Page on the World Wide Web is part of the American Farm Bureau Federation's "Voice of Agriculture" web site, which will eventually link the national organization with state and county Farm Bureau web sites. Eventually, the Farm Bureau sites could become the largest interconnected presence on the Internet. The Texas Farm Bureau Web Site can be found at http://www.fb.com/texas_state/texasfb.htm. The American Farm Bureau Voice of Agriculture Page is located at <http://www.fb.com>.

The Texas site currently has explanations of the organization and its mission, legislative information, news about agricultural and consumer issues, educational information for the classroom, Farm Bureau services and products and more.

Currently, three county Farm Bureaus also have sites of their own. McCulloch County Farm Bureau, in Southwest Texas, was the first county Farm Bureau in Texas on the World Wide Web - Cherokee County, in East Texas, and Cameron County, in the Rio Grande Valley, have since been added. Each of these county Farm Bureau pages can be accessed from the Texas Farm Bureau Home Page.

The Texas Farm Bureau Internet project is under the direction of Gene Hall, director of Information and Public Relations. "The great thing about the Internet is that it facilitates two way communication," Hall said. "We can get feedback on important issues and respond to questions and ideas much faster."

Hall pointed out that the potential for communicating with the public on the Internet is enormous. "The various audiences include our own members, teachers, opinion leaders and of course, the public itself," He said.

Hall said the state organization would be working with other county Farm Bureaus to develop web sites of their own.

"Night Fishing At Lake Meredith"

After the political tug-of-war in our nation's Capitol comes to an end, Lake Meredith will be re-opened, and anglers looking for a unique fishing trip can join the select group of locals who gather every evening (!) at the Lake Meredith Marina.

Launching a boat into the frigid waters is not necessary; in fact, local experts like J.L. Chatwell rarely find any need to leave the shoreline area just north of the heated crappie house.

"Bring a spinning rod, a reel loaded with 10 lb. Stren, a fanny pack filled with 1/4 oz. Fle-Fly jigs, two-inch white grubs, and some #5 or #7 silver Countdown Rapalas," suggests J.L.

Trophy-sized walleye, schools of hungry sandbass, and an occasional smallmouth are all attracted to the school of minnows that inhabit the well-lit marina area.

It helps if you are a little crazy because my most reliable sources claim that the fishing is best when a 'blue norther' with gale force breezes and snow flurries. Less hardy anglers can always retreat to the crappie house when the bone-chilling temperatures permeate your long johns, down vest, and snow parka.

The walleye fishing can be excellent because the big, pre-spawn females are cruising the shallow water areas checking out the prime spawning beds that will be used during the first full moon of March. Just prior to Christmas, a nine-pound walleye was caught between the boat ramp and the fishing pier.

As for night fishing during the passage of an Arctic cold front, I prefer those weather conditions for some outstanding snipe hunting on abandoned windmills with my Texas Aggie friends.

Tip of the Season: If driving on snow packed roads is in your future, the new cable devices are a vast improvement over the old-style snow chains. These new snow cables are super strong, ultra lightweight, and best of all, they are easy to install.

Buy two sets of snow cables, one set for your car and the other for your spouse. They are available at most auto parts stores.

Lady Bronchos Wipe Out Lockney, 55-34

Clarendon's Lady Bronchos went 2-1 over the Christmas break, dropping a game in the opening round of the Claude tournament against the host team.

Their record moves to 10-6 at press time.

Korey Knorpp scored 16 points, and Stephanie Floyd poured in 14 to lead Clarendon to a 55-34 win over the Lockney Lady Longhorns, Dec. 21, in Lockney.

Clarendon's defense held Lockney to 3 points in the first quarter while exploding for 12.

The Lady Bronchos kept rolling in the second period racking up 14 points, including Knorpp's 8 points. Clarendon's defense held Lockney to 6.

Kasi Ashcraft got hot in the third period knocking off three field goals, and Floyd added 2 baskets for another 14-point scoring effort and a 40-18 advantage.

Lockney scored 16 points in the final period compared to Clarendon's 15.

Scoring for the Lady Bronchos were Knorpp, 16; Floyd, 14; Ashcraft, 11; Melisse Campbell, 5; Missie Butts, 4; Lindsey Eads, 4; and Kim Alexander, 1.

Clarendon got their second chance at Claude in 1995 during Thursday's opening round of the Claude tournament. The last time the two squads met was Dec. 8 in the Wheeler tournament.

Claude came out on top, 75-54, in the Wheeler tournament after Clarendon got off to a slow start. They were down 12-2 at the end of the first period in that game.

"We really didn't start off as bad when we played them at Wheeler," Lady Bronchos head coach Steve Schmidt said. "I guess we were more tired and run-down after the Christmas break this time we played them."

"They played such an up-tempo game on us. They pressed and ran all through the game."

Claude led 20-8 at the end of the first quarter. Knorpp and Campbell each scored a three-pointer, and Eads scored in a field goal.

"We got off to a bad start and got our confidence down and really didn't play," Schmidt said.

Claude put in another 28 points in the second quarter shooting 15 free throws and making 6. The Lady Mustangs shot 40 free throws for the game, making 21 of them.

Clarendon went to the line 26 times and made 16.

Eads and Knorpp canned three-pointers, while Nettie Wilson scored a bucket and a free throw, and Floyd put in two from the charity stripe in the second period as they trailed 48-21 at halftime.

Eight Lady Mustangs scored in the third period, putting in 18 points compared to Clarendon's 6.

Clarendon caught on fire in the final period, reeling off 19 points - 5 from Eads who finished with a team-high 10 points. Cindy Hearn put in four free throws.

Claude finished with 20 points in the fourth quarter.

Scoring for the Lady Bronchos were Eads, 10; Knorpp, 8; Campbell, 7; Wilson, 7; Ashcraft, 5; Floyd, 5; and Hearn 4.

Friday's game was cancelled because of bad weather, and Clarendon faced Adrian in the final contest.

Campbell opened up the tight match-up in the third quarter, canning five three-pointers and a field goal and giving Clarendon a 45-33 advantage heading into the final period.

Clarendon struggled early, leading 11-9 at the end of the first and holding onto a slim 24-20 halftime lead.

That's when Campbell entered her zone and reeled off 17 of her 19 points for the game.

Eads added a trey and a field goal for a 21-point third quarter effort.

"We went with probably one of our quickest line-ups - all freshmen and sophomores - and they put some man-to-man pressure on Adrian, and that turned things around for us," Schmidt said.

"The defense was good. It made it easier to score when they're turning the ball over. In the fourth quarter they didn't have any field goals. Our defense played much better."

Clarendon scored 17 points in the final period, holding Adrian to 4 points - all off of free throws.

They next meet Shamrock at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the Clarendon gym.

The Lady Bronchos open a tough District 2-2A schedule Tuesday against Memphis at 6:30 p.m. in the Clarendon gym.

Schmidt expects a much improved Lady Cyclone squad.

"They're playing better defense, and they're pushing the ball up the court pretty good with their speed."

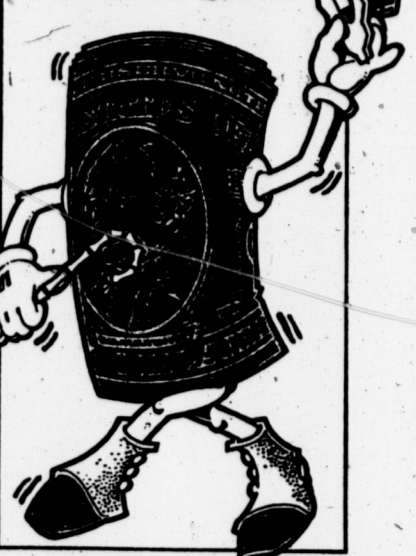

"It will be a good challenge to start district off with," he said. "We're similar in the fact that we have a little bit of size. Mainly it's our speed and outside shooting that's our strong point."
