German Artillery Weapons Arrive At Aberdeen For Study And Exhibit

Three of Germany's best artillery weapons, two 231-ton guns and a 123-ton mortar, have arrived at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, after a long and difficult trip from Leipzig, Germany, according to a bulletin received today from Lt. Col. Robert L. Hardy, Commanding Officer of the West Texas U. S. Army Recruiting District, Lubbock, Texas.

Ordnance technicians will submit all three pieces to close scrutiny, and the weapons then will be placed upon exhibition in the Ordnance museum at the Proving Ground.

The two guns are a 28-centimeter K5-E and a 31-centimeter K-5 Glatt (smoothbore), both of Krupp manufacture. They are "cousins" of "Anzio Annie," the German super-range railway gun which threw 550 pound pre-rifled projectiles into the Italian beach-head from a distance of from 30 to 50 miles.

These monsters, measuring 70 feet, 8 inches in length and weighing 462,000 pounds each, were discovered at the Nazi railway artillery shops near Leipzig by a First Army Ordnance team. They have been uncrated, and Ordnance experts at Aberdeen are now carefully scrutinizing them for details of manufacture and performance.

The guns started on their way in June, 1945, but Nazi railways and bridges were in such bad shape that it required several weeks to get them to a port. Bridges had to be shored up all the way. Each gun with its accompanying equipment weighs as much as 300 American automobiles.

The rest of the time, between July and January, was spent in getting the huge artillery pieces from a port in Germany to Staten Island, New York, where they were unloaded, ferried across New York Harbor to the Greenville yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad and there assembled, repaired and adapted to operation on American railroad tracks.

The guns are accompanied by a special turntable, narrow gauge track which makes a circle 100 yards in diameter and weighs 110 tons; a car with an ammunition hoist; another which maintains the powder charges at constant temperature and two cars for projectiles and special equipment. The 28-centimeter weapon fires a pre-rifled projectile over 38 miles; and a rocket-assisted projectile over 50 miles with a muzzle velocity of 3,000 feet per second.

The third weapon is a monster mortar, known as "Thor." This 54-centimeter giant weighs 123 tons and hurls a projectile weighing 3,750 pounds approximately 5,000 yards. Known as Karigerat and mounted on a self-propelled carriage, it was used for the assault against the Russians at Sevastopol and Stalingrad. Special railway cars were designed to ship this enormous carriage by rail over the long distances to the Red Army fronts. "Thor" is 96 feet overall in length and has a 24-foot barrel.

Father of Eight Children Enlists

With an income of $4,700 per year from Uncle Sam, Staff Sgt. Anthony R. Schiavoni decided he would never make that much money as a civilian, so he reenlisted in the Army Air Forces.

The father of eight children, Sgt. Schiavoni said: "I like Army life and I think I can do best for my family by staying in the service." The 34-year-old aerial gunner flew 14 combat missions over Formosa, the Philippines and Indo-China.

His income includes $96 a month base pay, $200 for family allotments, 20 per cent additional pay for overseas service and 50 per cent more for flying time. His wife gave her approval of her husband's decision to remain in the service.

Our local Army Recruiting Officer advises us that benefits received from the Army by Sgt. Schiavoni are far more than the $4,700 income, in view of the free medical service available to the families of Regular Army men.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Anderson left last week for Philadelphia, Penn. to visit her parents.

The New Army

The following editorial has been furnished us through the Headquarters of the West Texas US Army Recruiting District, Lubbock, Texas, and is reprinted with the permission of the Dallas Morning News.

The old-time Regular Army used to be what we had left after we sent our fighting armies home. It was a skeleton framework on which we aimed to build our next fighting outfit. A division shrank to a regiment in size and a regiment looked like a battalion. A company was no bigger than a platoon and the platoon would barely make a real squad. A unit commander had to "simulate" men, weapons and equipment. We thought that was the way to keep the peace.

Things are all different now. If we have any peace in this world, we shall have to police it. It so happens that the only two countries with what it takes to supply a world police force are Russia and the United States. And when it gets down to the countries able to meet the pay roll of such a force, it may turn out that the United States is the world policeman, if the world has any at all.

This is how it happens that we know we must have an Army big enough, strong enough, skilled enough, mobile enough—and sufficiently available on short notice to go anywhere and do whatever needs doing. Now there is a vast difference between fighting a war and policing a trouble spot. Our men will have to be trained for this new job. Being Texas Rangers, so to speak, to all creation is a brand-new job. It is a big job.

The fact that our forces, very probably, sometimes will be under the command of an Icelander or a Peruvian named by the United Nations will make the job more difficult. The new Regular Army will be made up of technicians in maintaining peace in a raw and thin-skinned world. Men who can do that should have top pay, top training, top skill—and top advantages of advancement from the buck privates to five-star brass.

Pvt. E. D. Anderson of Camp Roberts is visiting his brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Bub Anderson.

Seeing is believing, but as often as wives see their husbands, they still don't believe them.

Observing J. Frank Dobie, Professor of English at the University of Texas, as he walked down Congress Avenue in Austin, a thoughtful old gentleman remarked, "There goes Texas".

Thousands of Texans would agree with this simple statement from Stanley Walker's March ESQUIRE article, "Portrait of a Texan." "For here sit a man," says Walker, "who finds no contradiction in being an aristocrat in tastes and a thoroughgoing democrat in manner and action. He looks Texan—that is, like the best of Texans. His eyes are blue and disarmingly honest. His wind-tanned skin is clear and firm. He is a short man, stocky, and he walks with a rolling gait, as do so many men who have been in the saddle. He smokes a pipe. His humor is dry. Innocent of pretense, he would be at home in any spot on earth, given a little time."

Eastern critics refer to Dobie's writings as literature. And in England Dobie's success as a professor was outstanding. Yet his soundest accomplishment, according to the ESQUIRE piece, is that he, more than any other man, discovered Texas for the Texans.

He taught that the coyote, to the Southwest, may have an importance as great as that which Reynard the Fox had to English life. The nine-banded Armadillo would repay study. Even the jackrabbit might have its charm. Texas flowers and shrubs were another absorbing field. Old stories, worn threadbare by retelling around the fireside, were often good enough to preserve.

Dobie appreciates the cold fact, the tall tale, the preposterous lie, for what they are, comments Walker. If he did not enrich the lives of a few of his students, then their lives were not worth enriching.

An historian, naturalist, teacher and critic, J. Frank Dobie demonstrates the finest qualities of the Lone Star State. He is a sort of symbol, a bridge between the old Texas and the new, concludes ESQUIRE's "Portrait of a Texan."

Attention! - - - All Veterans

The following bulletin has been received through the Headquarters of the West Texas US Army Recruiting District at Lubbock, Texas.

If mustering-out pay checks for separated enlisted personnel fail to arrive when expected, it may be that the separation center or station from which the soldier received his discharge papers does not have his latest change of address, the War Department announced today.

"Since regulations forbid the forwarding of Treasury checks beyond the address appearing thereon, they are returned to the place of separation if the address given by the soldier has been changed since the information originally given," Major General W. H. Kasten, Chief of Finance, U. S. Army, explained.

"Until mustering-out pay has been received in full," he emphasized, "it is imperative that the soldier keep the separation center or station informed of any change of address."

The General stated that at one installation more than six per cent of the mustering-out checks were being returned because of soldiers' failure to notify the place of separation of change of address.

Recruiting statistics indicate that more men enlist in the Regular Army for life time security—a good job and certain pay checks—than for any other reason.

Do not overlook the travel opportunities offered by the Regular Army. Three years enlistees may select their own branch of service and overseas theater of operation.

FAT STOCK SHOW

You young fellows are doing a mighty fine work in finishing off the best in Herefords, Hogs and Sheep. You offer proof of a possibility within the reach of most any stock farmer.

Stock feeding is an industry that affords a home market for both stock and feed, and employment for those engaged in the work. It is a "farm pay roll" that means success when properly handled.

Production Line Called The Nation's Greatest Hope For Holding Price Line

Fort Worth—"Day by day it is becoming increasingly evident that the only real hope of holding the price line is full speed on the production line," Owen M. Richards of Chicago, general manager of the American Dairy Association, told the Texas Dairy Products Association recently.

"It's as basic as the law of supply and demand," he told the state dairy leaders at the Texas Hotel. "Supply in relation to ability to pay fairly determines the price level. Capricious national price policies have discouraged production, encouraged black markets, and even forced foods and manufactured goods off the market."

This is as true of America's food factories—the farms—as of the nation's industrial plants, he asserted, adding:

"In rebuilding national reserves depleted by the war, we must remember that our sinews are in our soil. Economic planners tend to forget this. Farm incomes have lagged behind farm costs for a generation. Since the 1910-14 period, farm incomes have doubled, while factory wages have leaped up 400 per cent."

Farm Incomes Lagging

As proof that farm incomes are not keeping pace with incomes of industrial workers, Richards pointed out that the 1940 hourly wage paid factory workers would buy 1.4 pounds of butter; the 1945 wage would buy 1.8 pounds and the proposed 18-cents-an-hour boost for factory workers would make an hourly wage equivalent to 2.1 pounds.

"Similarly, the 1940 industrial hourly wage would buy six quarts of milk; the 1945 wage, 6.5 quarts; and with an 18-cent increase it would buy 7.5 quarts. This means farm incomes are not meeting farm costs, because the farmer must buy from the factory. Raising factory costs while ignoring farm incomes is like watering the leaves of your economic tree but leaving the roots dry. It makes a shiny picture, but your tree won't grow."

Eight million brides, millions of new babies, record savings of 125 billions, and a national income ranging above 150 billions, all hold promise of an unprecedented demand for goods and an undreamed-of standard of living, Richards said.

"But we'll never produce plenty if we follow the economic evangelists who preach only shared scarcity," he warned. "Income alone won't bring prosperity. Neither will rationing, allocation, ceilings or similar controls. Under such circumstances, the controllers soon find themselves controlling in a vacuum—without houses, without cars, without nylons, without butter. Dividing zero pounds of butter among 140 million people would still leave you zero butter."

In Texas, he pointed out, creameries that have been in the butter business for years are simply unable to compete for cream to make 46-cents a pound butter when the cream itself costs vastly more.

Situation Is National

"The identical situation obtains across the nation and throughout the dairy industry," he said. "One national study showed the profit for distributing milk was around one-third of a cent per quart. As far as the butter business is concerned, on the manufacturing side, there is no profit. So it goes for other dairy products. The price ceiling has been held so low, and manufacturing costs have gone so high, that the costs have simply burst through the ceiling."

"In the Corpus Christi area of Texas it costs the dairy farmer $5.71 to produce 100 pounds of milk that he is forbidden to sell for more than $4.70," Richards said, "and if you imagine this is mere marginal dairy land, let me point out that this same area contains one herd of 1,900 purebred Jerseys—certainly one of the largest dairy farms in the world. Other Texas areas experience like situations."

War experiences showed we have an industrial plant, agricultural energy and the raw materials to build such prosperity as the world has never known, Richards said, but he cautioned:

"Continued attempts to short-circuit the laws of supply and demand in the source of all our wealth—the products of the soil—might so distort our economy that we'd end up far less concerned about price lines and far more concerned about breadlines."

Richards urged the group to unite in a "business platform," through the American Dairy Association, by which farmers and their dairy industry can perform a fact-finding function to bring better public understanding of how both production and distribution of dairy products are being "economically strangled," with a resultant shortage of product. He concluded:

"Only a truly aroused public sentiment that will demand emphasis on production will enable us to hold a realistic cost-of-living line and save dairying, the nation's biggest industry."

Special Bulletin To Help Feed Buyers "Know Their Feeds"

College Station—Buyers of livestock and poultry feeds in Texas will be interested in "Commercial Feeding Stuffs," a bulletin by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station showing analyses of official samples of the product of various feed manufacturers doing business in Texas. This information will be helpful to buyers in determining the quality of feeds offered for sale on the open market.

This is Station Bulletin No. 673 and copies will be sent free upon request by stockmen and poultry raisers to the Division of Feed Control Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

Being the 40th annual report on the inspection of feeding stuffs sold in Texas under provisions of the Texas Feed Law, the bulletin covers analyses taken during the State's fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1945. During this time, 3,570 samples were subjected to the regular chemical feed analysis and microscopical examination by the Division of Chemistry, 3,432 of which were secured by Feed Control Division inspectors. In addition, 37 samples of feed were tested for carotene content. Twenty-nine samples of cottonseed cake were examined for hardness. Determinations of salt totaling 1,123 and 1,114 determinations of carbonate of lime in mixed feeds were also made.

Tables are given showing the average composition, digestible protein and productive energy of many feeding stuffs analyzed. An estimated total of 3,178,266 tons of commercial feeding stuffs were sold in the State during the fiscal year covered by this report.

Chemical standards for special purpose mixed feeds are shown together with additional information on the requirements of the Texas Feed Law and the composition of feeding stuffs.

Young French Farmers To Learn American Way

AMARILLO — Texas cooperative farmers have agreed to take a part of the 300 young French farmers that are coming to this country soon to study American farming methods, according to announcement made today by Donald W. May, educational director for farm cooperatives in the southwest area of the United States. The French government, working with the French cooperative movement, is paying the expense of these young Frenchmen to this country for a period of 4 to 6 months.

These farmers from France will be placed on American farms for the period of time they are in the United States to work and to observe agricultural methods, with the plan of adopting these practices to French agriculture when they return to their homeland.

The group is expected to arrive in the United States in time for the 1946 harvest. Plans are being made to place these young men in all types of agricultural areas where they will learn various crop methods including the production of grains, cotton, citrus, and dairying.

36th Division War Activities To Be Put In Book Form

AUSTIN—Texans soon will be able to have a pictorial history of the contributions made by their famous 36th Division to the winning of World War II.

Award of a contract for publication of the book to Newsfoto Publishing Company of San Angelo was made here recently by the board of directors of the 36th Division Association, H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling, president of the association, said.

Publication date is scheduled in June.

The book will depict the Fighting 36th's activities in from its entrance into the war to its march into Germany where it captured, among others, such Nazi big-shots as Hermann Goering, Kesselring and Von Rundstedt.

Farm Raised Youth Defies All Obstacles For High Honors

College Station—A rangy red-headed youngster from a Red River county farm who started early defying established educational concepts, is still going strong. He is Earl Wayne Grogan, first winner of the Borden scholarship award in Veterinary Medicine just established at Texas A&M College.

Grogan, raised on a farm between Deport and Bogata, Texas, started breaking precedents when he graduated from Bogata High School at the age of 14. He came to Texas A&M "too young for college" and "handicapped" by his rural school background. He further "handicapped" himself scholastically by taking on a couple of jobs to earn a large portion of his college expenses.

This defiance of the rules for scholastic attainment seems to have paid off. Grogan won the $300 Borden award this year by having the top scholastic record in his class during his first three years of Veterinary Medicine study. He has been a Distinguished Student during six of his semesters here, and holds a grade-point ratio within one-fourth of a point of perfection. In his spare time he also had served as a Cap-

Highway Dept. Issues Important Information

AUSTIN — The Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department today urged all Texas motor vehicle owners to see that the titles for vehicles to be registered in 1946 are in order. The law provides that before a vehicle may be registered, the owner must present to the Tax Collector the prior year's registration receipt and must have a title.

Many people do not understand the importance and value of the Title Act, and do not realize that the Certificate of Title Act was passed to improve the validity of titles on motor vehicles thereby making such title comparable to an abstract on real estate.

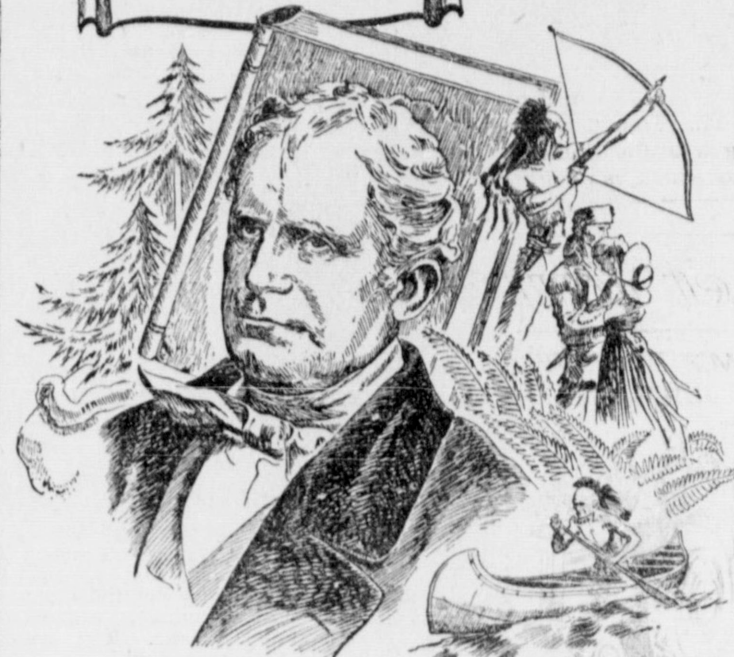

Motor vehicle owners who have acquired used vehicles, and who have received assigned titles from the previous owners, are urged to apply at once for their titles in order that the transactions may be recorded and the new owners shown on the title records of the Department. Motor vehicle owners are also urged to register their equipment by purchasing the 1946 license plates as soon as possible. It is a common practice throughout the State for owners to wait until the last week in March, thereby creating congested conditions and long lines of applicants in the various Tax Collector's offices. The County Tax Collectors are experiencing difficulty in obtaining temporary help, and you will be helping them and yourselves by obtaining 1946 license plates during February or in the first part of March and not waiting until the last day or days.

There are some persons operating motor vehicles with Out-of-State license plates who may legally operate under 1946 Out-of-State license plates, and these persons are cautioned to obtain such 1946 plates and apply same on or before the expiration of their present plates. There are others operating motor vehicles

Particular attention of the owners of trucks, truck-tractors, trailers, semi-trailers and buses was called to the fact that they must be prepared to furnish the Tax Collector with a complete description as to the size, type and serial number, et cetera, of equipment to be registered, and must be prepared to register for the actual weight of the empty vehicle plus the heaviest load to be carried, which under the law cannot be less than the manufacturer's rated carrying capacity. If in doubt as to the actual weight, the owners of commercial vehicles should have them weighed and present the weight certificate at the time of registration.

Texas History On Parade In Actual Scenes

AUSTIN — Far more stirring than reading or hearing about the deeds of Texans whose courage made possible the present celebration of the Centennial of Statehood is seeing actual scenes from "big moments" in the history of the state.

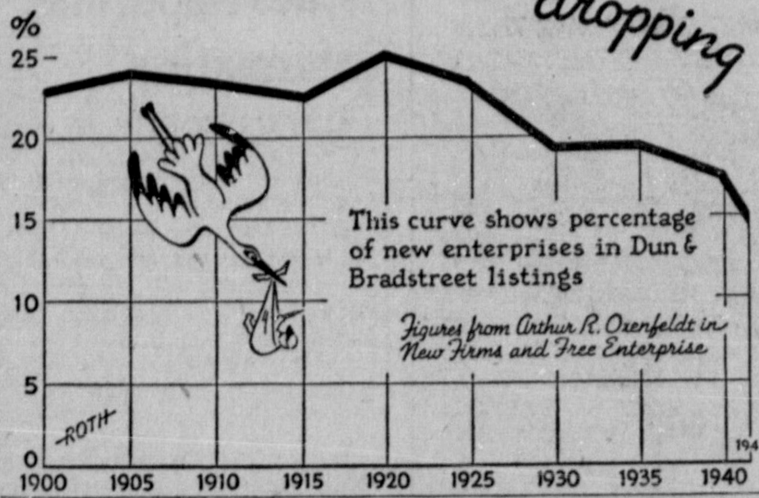

Texas citizens, including hundreds of school children, have their pride in their state renewed when visiting the Texas Memorial Museum on the campus of the University of Texas and viewing the dioramas actually showing how history was made. Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the museum states.

Modeled after a Texas ranger camp five miles south of Uvalde is a diorama of a frontier battalion of Rangers back in 1835, complete in every detail. The rugged life these men led is revealed in the mountainous terrain and their uncomfortable tent quarters, with mounts ready for action against Indians or other enemies.

"The Winning of the Cow Country" is the title of another scene in which the signing of the final and lasting peace with the Comanches is re-enacted at the ranch of Col. Charles Goodnight

BUSINESS BIRTH RATE

The more government has sought to help small business the more the birthrate of new business has declined—as evidenced by the above chart according to John W. Anderson, president of National Patent Council. Speaking on behalf of the smaller manufacturer, Mr. Anderson said: "We have heard much in recent years about the need for protecting the small business man against monopoly. But it has seemed instead that what the small business man often needs most is protection from his self-selected protectors."

in Palo.

Another event in the life of Texas is the diorama depicting Moses Austin requesting the Mexican authorities for permission to settle 300 American families in the state.

All of the bloody horror of the fall of the Alamo is shown in three scenes which immortalize the death of such heroes as Robert Evans, James Bowie, and David Crockett and his crew of hard-fighting Tennesseans.

Fort Griffin in 1876, located at Clear Fork of the Brazos, is the subject for another of these life-like dioramas. This fort was a key point in protecting the Texas frontier against the Kiowa and Comanche Indians.

"The Battle of Sabine Pass" where 47 artillerymen under Dick

Dowling blocked the move of Houston in 1865 by five Federal gunboats portrays another colorful chapter in the state's history.

Another scene shows one of the greatest triumphs of Houston's army—the capture of Santa Anna by three Texas soldiers three days after the battle of San Jacinto.

One of the lesser known but most heroic moments in the struggle for freedom is recalled in a diorama concerned with the Mier Expedition which ended in the execution of one out of each 10 of 174 survivors of the venture across the border. These men had escaped their prison at the Hacienda de Salados near Saltillo, Mexico, only to be recaptured after enduring days in the heat of the desert. Their Mexican captors devised the cruel punishment of forcing each prisoner to draw beans from a pot, with black beans the symbol of death before the firing squad. The cycle is completed with the scene in Austin of the annexation of Texas on Feb. 19, 1846, with President Anson Jones giving his farewell address. Visiting hours at the Museum are from 10-12 a. m., and 2-5 p. m. on week days, and from 2-5 on Sundays.

Donley Men Return From Stockholders' Meeting at Houston

Mr. Rayburn L. Smith and Mr. J. B. Masterson have returned from Houston where Mr. Masterson represented the Donley County National Farm Loan Association as its official delegate at the stockholders' meeting of the Federal Land Bank of Houston on February 19-20. Mr. Masterson said that in the discussion of Land Bank and association affairs, President Sterling C. Evans of the Federal Land Bank reported that both the bank and the associations are in the most satisfactory financial position in their history. The Federal Land Bank of Houston is completely owned by the 144 national farm loan associations in Texas. Mr. Evans said, with $7,455,875 in capital stock and with surplus and legal reserve in excess of $32,000,000. Land Bank Commissioner W. E. Rhea of Kansas City, reporting for the entire Land Bank system in the United States, said that the farmers' and ranchers' long-term lending system now has had 28 years of experience during periods of "inflation and deflation as well as in periods of relative sta-

Don't Blame Your Dealer if You Can't Get G-E Appliances and Radios

It's not the dealer's fault. We don't think it's our fault. Maybe it's nobody's fault. But here's what happened:

Here's how fast G. E. and its affiliated companies were making and shipping things for you:

	OCT.	NOV.	DEC.	On hand Dec. 31, 1945
IRONS	60,440	67,564	85,968	2½ days' production
CLOCKS	181,998	177,681	256,038	2½ days' production
REFRIGERATORS	12,755	17,577	28,432	4 days' production
WASHERS	3,068	4,672	6,874	4½ days' production
RANGES	3,056	8,973	8,996	3 days' production
RADIOS	85	5,129	9,401	1½ days' production
TOASTERS		312	2,386	2698 (No shipments were made because production was inadequate to provide samples for dealers).

Out of the 2,485, 138 appliances manufactured in 1944 and 1945, General Electric shipped 98%.

AFTER the war ended, we weren't able to get back into production of some appliances as soon as we had hoped, and production rates weren't as high as we had hoped. A number of unforeseen things like material shortages made the job harder. But there were only 120 days between V-J Day and December 31, 1945, and in those 120 days we partly reconverted our factories from war to peacetime goods and got production started. During the year we turned out 2,313,791 electrical appliances. We shipped these appliances out practically as fast as made—so fast that at the end of the year more than

98 per cent of those we'd built since reconversion began were out of our factories. Most of them were in the hands of users. Then, on January 15, 1946, our plants were closed by the strike. Not a single electric home appliance has been built or assembled there since. And, because our warehouses are practically empty, your dealer won't be able to obtain any more until we can get back to making them. We want to get back to producing as fast as possible. The manufacturing organization is set up; the machines are ready, waiting to be set in motion. These factors will help us to do an even faster job than we did in the months before the strike. But we can't pick up production quite where we left off. Production lines are too complicated for that. A great many things have been dislocated by the strike. When the strike is over, and the refrigerators and toasters and radios you've been waiting for begin to come off the lines again, we'll get them into hands of our dealers just as fast as we can. They'll be competitive in price. They'll be General Electric quality. So, please don't be impatient with your dealer—or with us.

Tuberculosis Of Cattle Very Bad In Germany

Schenectady, N. Y.—"Tuberculosis of cattle is very bad in southern Germany," Dr. W. A. Hagan of Ithaca, N. Y., dean of the New York State Veterinary College, declared in a General Electric Farm Paper of the Air address here over WGY. Dean Hagan has returned from a three months' tour of the American zone of occupation. Describing his visit, he said: "In the slaughterhouses I saw more tubercular carcasses than I have seen in America in the last 25 years. Since very little tuberculin testing has been done there, no one knows how prevalent the disease is. Inquiries, and from what one could see in the slaughterhouses, lead me to estimate that probably half of the cattle on an average suffer from tuberculosis." "Incidentally," Dean Hagan continued, "I noticed more people in wheelchairs and with enlarged neck glands and with crippled leg joints in Germany than one will see in a lifetime here. Certainly many of these are the result of tuberculosis of the bovine type derived from infected milk." Germany has no large packing plants comparable to ours, the eminent veterinarian asserted. All slaughtering is done in small plants locally, he said. "A great deal of diseased meat, especially that affected with tuberculosis," Dean Hagan explained, "is not destroyed, under German rules, but is cooked and sold to the poor in special establishments attached to each slaughterhouse, known as 'freibanks.' These are operated under police control." He said that German cows are of the large, dual-purpose Swiss type. In addition to giving milk, these cows are used for much of the farm work, pulling plows and farm wagons, Dean Hagan explained. He mentioned that these animals always have done farm work, along with oxen and horses.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Ray

Where Opportunity Beckons

IN A DEMOCRACY, OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIVIDUAL PROGRESS ARE INHERENT. LARGE BUSINESSES OFTEN GROW FROM A SMALL STORE -- GREAT INDUSTRIES FROM A SINGLE IDEA. THERE ARE RISKS, BUT THERE IS ALSO PROMISE OF REWARD.

DURING THE WAR YEARS, AMERICANS HAVE SAVED MORE MONEY THAN THEY EVER SAVED BEFORE. THEY ARE PREPARED FINANCIALLY THROUGH THE MONEY THEY HAVE PUT INTO WAR BONDS, LIFE INSURANCE, AND SAVINGS ACCOUNTS -- TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE OPPORTUNITIES THAT LIE AHEAD.

The Unit and cooperating departments have maintained close relationships with the Texas Game Fish and Oyster Commission and other agencies, and since 1941 have concentrated attention on practical aspects of the work such as fur resources and game production. Some of the results of the work include:

A thorough study of the Att-water prairie chicken which determined the conditions for saving this vanishing species. The most important of these is the establishment of ample reservations.

The efficacy of small fenced plots for bobwhite quail was found to be questionable. Bobwhite quail populations in the woodlands of East Texas were found to vary with the food supply, being low just after cutting of timber and maximum about the eighth year after cutting, decreasing to a low point as the forest attained an age of about 15 years.

It was found that hybridization of the so-called Texas and Virginia quail does not lead to upset sex ratios.

Investigations were made of the food habits of the Texas beaver and the practicability of its restoration throughout its former hereditary range in the state established.

The problem of the Texas big-horn, a species threaten with extinction, was given attention, and it was shown that as the domestic sheep population increases the wild sheep numbers go down.

A color key to Texas waterfowl was worked out.

Studies of the gray fox in central Texas relieved the animal of primary responsibility for turkey shortage in that part of the state, assigning to depleted ranges the principal blame for wild turkey decrease and showing that of the predatory mammals skunks and snakes were probably the most serious, with horned owls, among birds, being implicated.

The serious surplus of deer in some areas was emphasized, with resultant die-offs through shortage of feed, parasitism, or diseases. In no case was the number of bucks found to be too small to properly service all does, but in some instances overshooting of bucks was found to prevent the bucks from growing up to be good trophy animals.

Wildlife Research In Texas

College Station—Funds totaling $128,773.58 have been made available in ten years by cooperating agencies for wildlife research and conservation through the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at the A&M College of Texas, it was announced by Dean C. N. Shepardon, chairman of the unit administrative committee, recently. The cooperating agencies interested in this work are the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, Austin, Texas; the Fish and Wildlife Service, United States Department of the Interior, Chicago, Illinois and Washington, D. C.; and the American Wildlife Institute, Washington, D. C. The College furnishes offices and participates in financing the Unit's work. The cooperating agencies are public and private organizations interested in furthering studies of wildlife conservation in Texas and neighboring states.

Unit objectives are to study and promote the conservation of wildlife and to work out the best methods for doing this in the light of the experience of other states, and to relate wildlife conservation in Texas and neighboring states.

Unit objectives are to study and promote the conservation of wildlife and to work out the best methods for doing this in the light of the experience of other states, and to relate wildlife conservation and increase to a balanced farm program.

The Unit has worked in close cooperation with the Department of Fish and Game in the School of Agriculture at Texas A&M College, with the Division of Wildlife Research in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and with the game management specialist in the Extension Service. Work has been done on many game problems in Texas and a number of publications have been issued.

Fat Stock Show Board Completes Plans For Entire Year's Work

The Donley County Fat Stock Show Board met in the office of County Agent H. M. Breedlove Saturday, Feb. 23rd and completed all organization for the board for the coming year. Those present were President Carroll Lewis, Secretary and manager H. M. Breedlove, Treasurer Bill Weatherly, Superintendent of spring fat stock show D. E. Leathers, Superintendent of Dairy show John Gillham, Superintendent of fall fair and horse show Joe McMurry, Forrest Sawyer, R. E. Drennan, E. S. Ballew, Floyd Crofford, C. L. Knight, Clyde Gilbert, and Frank Hermesmyer.

The board voted to have a general manager of all shows to serve under president Carroll Lewis and County agent H. M. Breedlove was elected secretary and general manager of all shows. The board also voted to have a superintendent to serve for each individual show throughout the year. D. E. Leathers was elected superintendent of the spring fat stock show, John Gillham was elected superintendent of the dairy show and Joe McMurry was elected superintendent of the fall fair and horse show. Each of the individual shows was discussed for the year and it was decided to have horse races in the fall fair with prizes for the winners in each race.

Treasurer Bill Weatherly reported that $425.00 had been collected from business men and ranchers and farmers for the different shows throughout the year. There are several more to be contacted yet, and anyone wishing to make a donation to help out with the premium list can contact any member of the board and make his donation. The board went into a lengthy discussion of a permanent building for the show and the board voted to build a permanent building as soon as possible. A committee was appointed by Mr. Lewis to look for a suitable location (See SHOW BOARD, Page Eight)

Cpl. Bob Allison received his discharge Feb. 19 at El Paso, while enroute to Los Angeles. He visited his parents here a few days before continuing his journey to California where he will join his wife and make his home.

Mother of Local Man Succumbs

Mrs. Sue Kidd, mother of W. D. Kidd of this city, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. T. Low at Electra Friday, Feb. 22nd at 11:45 p. m. She was in good health, but a few days prior to her death, she contracted a slight respiratory ailment, and died a few days later as a result of severe coughing and a sudden heart attack. Mrs. Kidd has visited with her son and family here on several occasions and had many friends here. She had visited here only a few days prior to her death.

Mrs. Kidd moved to Iowa Park with her family in 1915 and lived there until a few years ago when she went to Electra. Her husband, Henry S. Kidd, passed away in 1923.

She left to mourn her passing, the two children mentioned above and a son, R. B. Kidd of Freer, Texas and a sister, Mrs. Sally Frazier of Petrolia, and fifteen grandchildren.

Burial was in Iowa Park cemetery under the direction of the Tanner Funeral Home.

JOHNNIE BLOCKER IS NEW CONTINENTAL OIL CO. WHOLESALE AGENT

The Continental Oil Company yesterday announced the appointment of Johnnie Blocker as their new wholesale agent.

Blocker is a native of Donley County. He served a year and a half in the Navy, seven months of which was spent aboard the airplane carrier, USS Lake Champlain. Before entering the Navy he was engaged in the cattle business.

The Leader takes this opportunity of wishing him success in his new venture.

Scout Movement Now Underway

The formation of a Boy Scout Troop, which was introduced in last week's issue, was put into full swing last night at a meeting of a group of men selected to head the organization.

A troop committee, a scoutmaster, and three assistant scoutmasters were appointed. Limited space prevents the names of the executives at this time, as well as details, but the movement is in full swing and the enlistment of eligible boys will begin in the near future.

Brooks Dry Goods Co. To Open For Business Sat.

The Brooks Dry Goods Co. will open their doors for business here Saturday in the building formerly occupied by Mellinger & Rosenwasser and located across the street from the Post Office.

The new business is owned and managed by Jack Brooks, formerly of Gonzales. His plans called for an earlier opening date but has been detained due to slow delivery of equipment and merchandise.

"Some of the equipment and merchandise that we had expected for our opening date has still not arrived to date but we are hoping it will arrive by Saturday" stated Mr. Brooks, but he added that he had a nice assortment of merchandise to select from anyway.

Turn to page six of this issue of the Leader and read their opening announcement for more complete details.

New City Water Pump Installed This Week

Mayor Cap Morris announced this week that a new pump had been installed recently in the main city well house, and is drawing 200 gallons of water per minute from the earth's subterranean reservoirs and pumping at this rate 24 hours a day.

Mayor Morris also stated that the City of Clarendon has acquired a sufficient amount of pipe to connect the new city well, which is located just north of Smith Bros. Gin, to the city's water reservoirs. This well will surpass the output of the old well's 200 gallons per minute by 100 gallons. The new pump and new well will greatly aid the water supply and provide a sufficient amount of water for the City of Clarendon under normal conditions.

Dr. B. L. Jenkins is at Dallas this week.

Weldon Warren To Open Amusement Hall Saturday

Clarendon will have another form of entertainment here for both men and women, when Weldon Warren opens his Amusement Hall for business this Saturday, March 2nd.

The New Amusement Hall will feature the best Bowling alleys that are available. They are factory built by Brunswick and were purchased from the Lubbock Army Air Field. They are the very latest type of equipment and have mechanical "Pin-Setters."

There are four alleys and plenty of seats for watchers. He also has a candy, cold drink and tobacco bar for refreshments while you are bowling.

Mr. Warren was born and reared here and only recently received his discharge from the service after serving over three years. His new business brings to Clarendon a good clean entertainment that is very enjoyable and healthful in the way of exercise that many of us need more of.

The Hall is located in the center block on main street on the east side where the old IOOF Hall used to be. It has been completely remodeled and painted.

HOMER BONES & PETE KUNZ ANNOUNCE FOR CITY COMMISSIONERS

According to information released by the City Hall, Homer Bones and Pete Kunz have filed their names as candidates for City Commissioners to appear on the ballot in the City election to be held Tuesday, April 2nd.

Globe-News Writers to Award Trophies Tonight

Duke Nelly and Frank Godsoe, both of the Amarillo News-Globe, will award trophies to winning teams and individuals of the Amarillo Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament of a few weeks ago. Nelly was the sponsor of the boxing event there; Godsoe is a News sports writer.

The awarding of the trophies will take place immediately after the boxing events in the local tournament being held here tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Darden from Lorenzo, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Darden and son Jo David of Ralls visited his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Darden Sunday.

Pens for the 1946 Donley County Fat Stock Show were completed today and the first of the pigs entered in the annual event were being brought in by members of the Clarendon Future Farmer Chapter and the Donley County 4-H Club. The remainder of the animals will be brought in early Friday. Pigs will be at the pens by 9 a. m. Friday, but the boys will be allowed until 10:30 a. m. to complete their fitting of their animals. Lambs will be brought to the pens by 9:30 a. m., and the baby heaves are to be in place by 10:00 a. m.

Seven calves fitted by Jiggs Mann, Jimmie Dean Howze, Billy Ray Armstrong, Jack Trussell, James Owens, and Tom Murphy will be exhibited. Following the local show the calves will be trucked to Amarillo, where they will be entered in the annual stock show there.

Lambs will be shown by Jack and Fred Clifford, Paul Huckins, W. T. Sullivan, Bill Porter, Buster Bain, Jerry Morgan, and Billy Waddell. Gilts in the annual chamber of commerce contest will be exhibited by H. Thomas, Gilbert Stewart, Billy Smith, Duane Littlefield, Kenneth Davis and Aubrey Rampy.

Ray and Royce Morris, Nelson and Drew Christie, Tommy Hodnett, Joe Shadle, Mike Smith, Donald Patterson, Keith Reid, Jimmie Owens, Bennie Darnell, are among the youths expected to enter fat pigs in that division of the stock show.

Ribbons for the event have been received and the premium list has been completed, and according to J. R. Gillham, local vocational Agriculture instructor, everything will be in complete readiness for Judge Roy Snyder to start placing the animals Friday morning.

Construction Well Underway On New Mooney Motor Co. Building

TEACHERS' MEETING MARCH 6

There is to be a Teachers' Professional Meeting Wednesday, March 6, at 7 p. m. at the College auditorium, County Superintendent, Miss Ruth Richerson, announced Tuesday.

Mr. T. M. Trimble, First Assistant State Superintendent, of Austin, and Mr. E. H. Boulter, Deputy State Superintendent for District No. 1 will be on the program. All teachers, trustees, and all others interested in education are urged to come. Both officers are noted speakers and it is certain that they will deliver interesting addresses that you will want to hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Rhoades and daughters Kay and Helen visited at Memphis Sunday and Monday.

Construction is well underway on the new All-metal pre-fabricated building being put up for Bill Mooney, owner of the Mooney Motor Company here. The new building, located one block west of the City Hall, is 80 feet wide and 98 feet deep. It will have a concrete floor and the remainder of the building is constructed of steel and iron with the exception of the front and back—25 feet on each side. This will be constructed with brick and tile. Thirty five feet across the front of the building will be used for parts and display space and the balance of the building will be used for a garage and storage.

This is the first building of this type to be constructed here and when finished will be a great credit to our little city.

Mr. Mooney is the dealer here for the Dodge and Plymouth cars and Case tractors.

NOTICE

MEETING OF THE DONLEY COUNTY MEMORIAL COMMITTEEMEN

At a meeting in the Legion Hall, Clarendon, Feb. 25, committeemen from Giles, Goldston, Martin, Ashtola, Lelia Lake, Hedley and Clarendon decided to place before the people of Donley County the proposition of honoring ex-service men by placing a walnut panel in the Court House to contain all the names of the veterans of World War II.

The reason for this change of plans is the fact that the increase in prices in materials and in the number of names to be added would necessitate the raising of some three thousand dollars more funds in order to erect the concrete-marble outdoor monument as originally planned.

The following motion was introduced, seconded and passed unanimously:

"That after thirty days notice in the two County papers that we go on record as favoring an Honor Roll panel to be purchased and placed in the Donley County Court House; if sufficient funds remain after any persons not satisfied with this proposed change have been given a chance to withdraw their money in this effort to honor veterans of World War II."

Anyone who contributed to this fund and is not satisfied with the above plans may receive a refund of his money if called for on or before April 1, 1946. Those wishing their money refunded may call upon Mr. Clifford Johnson, Hedley, or Mr. Rayburn Smith at Clarendon.

Boxing Tournament Expected to Draw Large Crowds

A number of mighty fists will start banging away tonight to open the biggest boxing event ever staged here in Clarendon. The tournament will be held at the Jr. High gym and the first bout is scheduled to start promptly at 7:30.

Ticket sales have been moving right along all week and a full house is expected for all three nights. Seats have been installed whereby around seven hundred people may be accommodated, and after the seats are all filled the doors will be locked so that there will be no one standing to obstruct the view of someone else.

Over a hundred boys are expected to take part in the tournament. Lefors, Shamrock, Memphis and Wellington will bring full teams of 16 boys each, and Chillicothe, Estelline, Turkey and Wichita Falls will each have a number of good boys in the fighting. Calvin Zint of Estelline will spark the boys from down there. He is the winner of the 1934 golden Gloves at Childress and fights in the 135 lb. weight division. There will be plenty of talent from all the above named towns.

H. M. Luna of Pampa will do the refereeing and Judge McGuire, Pampa; Roy A. Long, Clarendon; George Close, Shamrock and Mr. Ingram of Wellington will alternate as judges.

Trophies will be awarded Saturday night to the winners of each division and to the runner-up of each division; also to the winning team and the coach of the winning team. There will be 16 weight classes in the event ranging from 70 lbs. through the heavyweight division.

General admission tickets for the tournament are on sale at all of the drug stores and at Lee's Cafe. Reserved seats are on sale only at the Norwood Pharmacy, and you can buy the same seat for all three nights if you want to as a number of persons have already done. The general admission ticket is $1.20 and the reserved seat ticket is $2.40. The price sounds fairly high but it costs plenty to put on an event like this, buying trophies at $10 a piece and building bleachers to fill the entire building.

And remember, this is not just for men—the women will enjoy it too. You will surely get your money's worth in good clean entertainment.

A few bedrooms are still needed to put some of the boys up for all three nights, so if you have an extra bed, call Bill Bentley or Shy Johnson.

If you have never seen any of these boys fight, come out just one night and you will want to see all the rest. If you are easy to get excited, just bring along plenty of chewing gum or peanuts and save the fellows hat or head who is sitting in front of you.

Don't forget the time—7:30. Be there on time or be sure and buy your reserved seat.

Kenneth Davis, local 100 pounder, will be defending his accomplishments at the Amarillo Golden Gloves recently and we will have several other boys in the matches who will give their opponents plenty to think about. Bill Bentley is the local coach and promoter of the tournament and is doing a mighty fine job.

LIBRARY NOTES

By Mrs. C. A. Burton

Gifts of books are appreciated. Recently the Book Club gave us "Poor Child" by Anne Parish, who won the Harper novel prize in 1925 with "The Perennial Bachelor." She has written eleven novels, but "Poor Child" is her first since 1941.

Mrs. Rundell brought us two which she had gotten to read on a recent trip—one by Faith Baldwin, "The Heart Remembers" and one by Kathleen Norris, "Dina Cashman." Both Faith Baldwin and Kathleen Norris are very popular authors, writing light, pleasant, easy-to-read stories.

Stuart Cloete, author of "Against These Three", has followed his books with a play called "Tropic of Cancer." The Theater Guild now has it. His three first books are "The Turning Wheels," "Watch for the Dawn", and "The Hill of Doves," all of which are on our shelves.

The Chinese educator, Dr.

James Yen, is planning to use movie films to help solve China's illiteracy problem. It was he who simplified the alphabet for his countrymen, making it possible for them to learn to read in a few weeks. He thinks now that by using the movie technique as much may be accomplished in ten years as would otherwise be done in a century.

Frances Perkins is writing her autobiography for the Viking Press.

From the daily press: The Russians have banned Thornton Wilder's 1938 Pulitzer Prize winning play "Our Town" in their section of Berlin on the grounds that the drama is too depressing and could inspire a German suicide wave. The play is now being produced in the American sector.

Charles Jackson, author of "The Lost Weekend," was surprised when a film company, for the first time, had the courage to film such an unorthodox story.

Frederick G. Melcher who established the Newberry and Caldecott medals for the most distinguished American books for children has been made an honorary member of A.L.A.

Fifty thousand dollars of the goal of ninety thousand has been raised for continuing operation of the American library in Paris.

Marshall Field, Chicago publisher, has offered $1,200,000 for Churchill's story of the War in a bid against Henry Luce, publisher of Time, Life, and Fortune magazines, but Mr. Churchill now thinks he will not allow the publication till after his death.

Josephus Daniels, newspaper editor and author of "The Wilson Era" was awarded the Mayflower cup recently in Raleigh. This award has been made annually since 1930—to a resident Tar Heel author whose book is judged the best of the year. Johnathan Daniels, son of this year's winner, enjoyed the same honor in 1938 with his book "A Southerner Discovers the South."

Mrs. Sam Power of Estelline and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore of Los Angeles, Calif. spent Monday here with relatives.

Luther Butler arrived home Thursday after a visit with his mother of Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brock of Goldston spent Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Chenault and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Lovelady of Amarillo spent the week end with relatives.

Herman Burfield of Chicago is a guest of his brother, T. E. Burfield and family.

H. P. Wood and family visited in Amarillo Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howard of Anton visited here with friends Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones of Amarillo spent Thursday here.

Mrs. Oma Baggett returned home from Memphis hospital Monday after medical attention there.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

By Cong. Eugene Worley

Almost daily I receive many inquiries from veterans who are being released from the service and returning home to Texas. Most of these questions concern their benefits under the G.I. Bill of Rights pertaining to educational privileges, procedure in securing loans for the purchase of houses, farms, or to enter private business. In addition, there are questions and problems concerning family allowances, government insurance, and a large number of other matters with which the average ex-serviceman is not familiar.

In an effort to be of help in answering these inquiries, Congress has authorized the publication of House Document No. 134 which is designed to give a complete picture of veterans' rights, benefits, privileges, etc.

For example, I quote several questions and answers from this pamphlet:

QUESTION: After a veteran has been discharged from the service, how may he secure information about his insurance?

ANSWER: By writing to the Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C. He should give his first name, middle name, and last name in full and should also state his insurance certificate or policy number and his service serial number or numbers. If his certificate or policy number is not known, to insure proper identification there should also be furnished the insured's rank, rating, or grade, and organization at the time of original application for insurance, his date of separation from service and his date of birth.

QUESTION: How does a veteran make application for a course of education or training under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944?

ANSWER: By filing an application, using Veterans Administration Rehabilitation Form 1950, with the Regional Office nearest his location or through the approved education or training institution which he has selected.

QUESTION: Who may borrow money under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944?

ANSWER: Any veteran who was in the active service, after September 16, 1940, and before the end of the war as established by Act of Congress, who served at least 90 days or was discharged for disability incurred in line of duty and who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

Most of the information contained in this pamphlet is in question and answer form and non-technical in nature. I have already sent out several thousand of these booklets and have bought a fresh supply. If you would like to have one, just drop me a note—Congressman Eugene Worley, Washington, D. C., which address is sufficient, giving your name and address, and I'll send one to you by the following mail.

THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

"Listening to reason," is merely letting the other fellow do all the talking.

The feminine gender of the "bachelor" is "lady in waiting."

This is a woman's world after all. When he is born they say, "How is the mother?" When he marries they say, "What a lovely bride!" And when he dies they say, "How much did he leave her?"

A perfume manufacturer is a fellow who makes money by sticking his business under other people's noses.

Reconversion is nothing new. It really began back yonder when your mother cut down your pa's pants to fit you.

The only people who enjoy listening to your troubles is the lawyer, the doctor and Mr. Anthony. They each get paid for doing that.

I know a woman who has had so many operations that when she dies they will have to carve on her tombstone "Gone to join her appendix, tonsils, adenoids and gall stones!"

Suicide blonds are those dyed with their own hands.

The term "ordinary liar" is a distinction gained by those who persist in detailing their personal achievements.

Every evil deed carries a round trip ticket, and always comes back.

KNOX-DENNY

Mr. and Mrs. Van Knox, Clarendon, Texas, announces the marriages of their daughter, Mary Charline, to Lowell Otis Denny, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Denny, Vega, Texas. The wedding took place February 24, at 2 p. m. in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Baugh, Hollis, Okla. The Rev. Frank Baugh read the double ring ceremony.

Altar vases of white gladioli and white candelabra formed a background for a fern-banked altar. The candles were lighted by friends of the bride, Misses LaRue Shadle and Wilma Henson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a lovely frock of sheer, white wool, with black and white accessories. Her corsage consisted of a dozen Taisman red rosebuds. For something old, she wore her mother's engagement ring. For something borrowed, she wore a lovely string of pearls belonging to Miss Shadle. For something blue, she carried a blue silk handkerchief. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Billie Jean Knox, who wore a brown suit with gold accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Wilbur Denny, brother of the groom, was best man.

The rings were carried on a white satin pillow by the bride's sister, Patricia Ann Knox, who wore a long dress of pink net.

Close friends and relatives of the couple remained for the reception in the home of Mrs. Baugh. Mrs. H. C. Shaw, Jr. presided at the bride's book. The lovely white cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Misses Wilma Henson and Wanda Denny, sister of the groom. Misses La Rue Shadle and Mozelle Shelton presided at the punch bowl.

The bride and groom left amidst a shower of rice for a short wedding trip through Oklahoma. Mrs. Denny was graduated from Clarendon High School and Clarendon Junior College and attended Texas State College for Women. She is a member of the Skellytown school faculty. Mr. Denny recently received his discharge from the U. S. Navy and is employed as a fireman at the Amarillo Army Air Field. The couple plan to make their home in Amarillo.

ASHTOLA NEEDLE CLUB

Secretary of War Pattersons Report On Overseas Tour

Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson has just returned from visiting the principal fields of Army activities overseas—Hawaii, Guam, Japan, Korea, China, Philippines, India, Egypt, Italy, and Germany. The West Texas Army Recruiting Office, Lubbock, Texas, today received the following report of Secretary Patterson's four weeks' visit.

"Everywhere, troops have reasonably comfortable quarters, good rations, good clothing. The sick rate is exceptionally low. Provision is made for welfare and recreation. But the fact remains that the soldiers are far from home and most of them have seen two or more years of service. They are willing to do their duty as soldiers, however, they believe they should be replaced with men who have shorter services. Everything possible will be done to see that these men with long service are replaced and brought home.

The effectiveness of our forces has been diminished. It could not be otherwise, with the departure of more than five million seasoned veterans since V-E Day. The hardest hit has been the Air Forces. The lack of trained ground crews is so severe that many planes cannot be kept in condition to fly. This condition prevails in all theaters.

We face the manpower problem for our Army in this critical period of transition from war to peace, the period while we are enforcing the surrenders and disarming our enemies and making sure they stay disarmed. We are reducing the wartime Army of 8,300,000 down to 1,500,000 officers and enlisted men on June 30th. By April 30 all enlisted men with 45 points or 2 1/2 years service will be discharged or on the way home, and by June 30 the same will be true of all enlisted men with 40 points or two years service. That schedule will be fulfilled unconditionally.

The continuation of Selective Service is a matter of vital concern to the men overseas. They feel that it must be continued if they are to get the relief they have earned. As many as possible will be obtained from voluntary recruiting. The problem will not be solved merely by getting the force needed on June 30. Estimates are now being analyzed as to the strength needed to do the tasks assigned to the Army for the year following June 30. There should be a gradual reduction in strength as our tasks become less extensive, the amount of the reduction being dependent on further stabilization in critical areas, on disposition of prisoners of war, on reduction in the number of displaced persons, and on the diminution of the surplus equipment to be cared for. On the other hand, those who have served over two years will expect to be relieved, and some of the one year enlistments in the Regular Army will expire. It will be necessary to get steady increments of new men, by further volunteering if possible. This matter is being thoroughly reviewed, and when completed, estimates and plans will be announced.

The responsibility for making sure that there is no recurrence of war from the defeated nations is one we must not evade. The failure to assume such a responsibility after the first World War aided in bringing on the second World War. We must not repeat the mistake.

Lt. Col. Robert L. Hardy, West Texas Army Recruiting Officer, in commenting on Secretary of War Patterson's statements called particular attention to the Secretary's mention of need of voluntary enlistments to replace overseas veterans. Lt. Col. Hardy urges all veterans and Civic Organizations to encourage eligible men to enlist and help bring those men with long service home to their wives and families. There are 17 US Army Recruiting Stations located throughout West Texas.

Post exchange privileges are available to the families of all men who enlist in the Regular Army at much lower prices than items can be obtained through commercial sources.

The Regular Army offers larger travel opportunities to the man enlisting at this time than ever before. For example: Special tours are made available for men stationed in Germany to see Switzerland, Norway, France, and other European countries.

Army Offers Educational Opportunity To Young Men of West Texas

Young men enlisting in the Regular Army are establishing an "educational bank account" that will amount to $6,986.67, if married, and $5,786, if single, when they complete a three-year enlistment, Lt. Col. Robert L. Hardy, West Texas District Recruiting Officer revealed today.

Offered under the liberalized GI Bill of Rights, this amounts to an accumulating savings of $194.07 per month for married men and $160.72 for single men during their enlistments.

"That's a fast-growing bank account for educational purposes," Colonel Hardy said. "It's astounding when you consider that every young married man is building up his fund at the rate of $2,328.89 every year, and $1,928.66 annually if he's single."

"There probably isn't one young man in this community—or anywhere else—who earns enough to save this much toward a college education," Col. Hardy said. "Thousands of young men throughout the United States, and many in the West Texas Area are taking advantage of this unprecedented opportunity. Particularly, West Texas State Teachers College of Canyon, Texas Tech at Lubbock, Amarillo College, Hardin Simmons, Abilene Christian and McMurry of Abilene, San Angelo Jr. College of San Angelo, Texas, as these colleges show for the spring semester, a remarkable enrollment increase of students who are former service men.

Young men serving three years, Colonel Hardy explained, are eligible for 48 calendar months of instruction at the university, college or trade school of their choice—at government expense. It actually amounts to five and a half regular school years, enough to acquire two college degrees, he said.

"Today, as never before, education is essential to the young man who hopes to establish himself in a good-paying profession or trade. This is the scientific age—an era of highly-competitive specialization, in which virtually all of the better occupations require thorough preparation," Col. Hardy pointed out.

"And that means college training in most cases, a prolonged expense that many young men and their parents cannot afford. And often these are the very persons who possess outstanding ability, but never develop their aptitudes because of financial circumstances.

"This opportunity for a government-paid education should be given serious consideration by every young man and parent. It is an opportunity that has never before been equal in the history of ours or any other nation," Hardy said.

The GI Bill of Rights, recently liberalized by congress, allows full tuition costs up to $500 per year and monthly allowances of $90 for married men and $65 for single persons for a maximum of 48 months.

"I urge all young men interested in the educational advantages the Army has to offer, to contact their nearest Army Recruiting Station. Army Recruiting Stations are now open in Abilene, Amarillo, San Angelo, Big Spring, and Lubbock, Texas."

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Whitlock and son Larry are visiting relatives here. "Heavy" received his discharge from the service recently after spending several months in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Cap Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Smith were Amarillo visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. J. R. Porter and daughters Helen and Anna Ree and son Bill were in Amarillo Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holland are visiting at Ft. Worth this week.

Jimmy Lumpkin from Manilla has his discharge and is at home.

Mrs. Linnie Cautchen of Memphis spent the week end with relatives.

Dr. J. W. Evans is in Ft. Worth and is quite sick.

A Short History of Chewing Gum

By Pat Flynn
 (Western News Service)

CHEWING GUM is coming back to counters, under chairs and in Junior's hair after serving with our forces overseas for four years. A curious reporter, hearing that chewing gum was a multi-million dollar industry in the Americas, and reading of how starved children on all occupied fronts beg for the chewing confection, launched a research campaign to learn the history of this popular pastime and seller.

Shortly before the Civil War, Santa Anna, an Indian possessing the title of Brigadier General and President of Mexico, was forced to flee that country. He went to New York and took refuge on Staten Island. There he met Thomas Adams of Jersey City. Adams noticed while in conversation with Santa Anna one evening that the latter broke off a piece of gum-like substance and chewed it with great enjoyment. Santa Anna told Adams that the substance was called chicle and was the sap of the "sapota" tree which grew in Mexico and Guatemala. Adams was enormously interested; his first thought was that he had discovered a substitute for rubber.

Adams obtained a small shipment of chicle and launched an experiment. His attempts to make a satisfactory substitute for rubber were unsuccessful, but he and his sons found chewing chicle to be very enjoyable. Adams then obtained more chicle, experimented with it in his family kitchen, and turned out the first batch of chewing gum, in fat chunks like taffy candy.

From this humble beginning rose the partnership of Adams & Sons Company, organized for the purpose of manufacturing chewing gum. The first flavor used was licorice. This is of interest because licorice-flavored gum is still popular today; licorice is used in flavoring for Black Jack gum, most popular through the midwestern states.

Thus chewing gum, as we know it, began with Adams. Its predecessors were the old paraffin gums. In 1850 the Curtis & Sons Co. of Portland, Maine, later acquired by the American Chicle Co., made five paraffin gums—licorice Lulu, 4 in Hand, Sugar Cream, Biggest and Best, and White Mountain; and four spruce gums—Yankee Spruce, American Flag, Trunk Spruce, and 200 Lump Spruce. Chicle supplemented all of these varieties.

From 1875 through today the American Chicle Co. has acquired many gum factories and formulas including Sapota, Yucatan, the first gum flavored with peppermint, Dr. Beeman's, California Fruit, Kis-Me, Sen-Sen, and a host of others. In the meantime Wrigley's and other gum factories hit the nation's spotlight through million dollar advertising programs.

There is no satisfactory substitute for genuine chicle. It is the basis of all good chewing gum. It is obtained from the Sapodilla Tree — Achras Zapota. Chicle flows from the cortex of this tree as a white, creamy milk called latex. When boiled, latex coagulates into gum. The Sapodilla grows in all tropical lands, but only on the Yucatan Peninsula may chicle latex be obtained in commercial quantities. Although there are several varieties of the Sapodilla Tree from which chicle is taken, only the red and white varieties are of commercial importance. The white is the highest yielding. The average yield of gum from a single tree does not exceed two and a half pounds at one tapping. After a tree has been tapped, six or eight years must elapse before it can be tapped again. Trees are not ordinarily tapped for chicle until they are about 70 years old; in fact, most trees now being tapped are vastly older than that. Many were probably standing when the Spaniards invaded Mexico.

The natives (Chicleros) climb these trees by means of a rope to a height of 50 feet, tapping them with long knives. The trees are tapped or bled by making connected criss-cross cuts around the tree trunks from base to top. The latex flows out, down through the channel thus formed, and is collected in a vessel tied below the mouth of the canal. The tree is drained six hours, and the latex is then poured into great pots and thoroughly boiled down into blocks weighing about 20 pounds. Finally, these blocks are wrapped and made ready to be shipped to the United States.

Modern factories and processing plants, kitchens and laboratories, take the raw material, flavor, treat and refine into the finished chewing gum we know today. The flavors are many. Dentists and doctors have urged the chewing of gum for varied reasons, based upon observations of the Eskimo to saliva production for athletes. Usually, however, gum is sold to those enjoying the taste of a popular flavor.

And this is the history of chicle, whether you call it chewing gum or wax.

tion for the building and Mr. Bill Weatherly was asked to get the prices of such a building. It was decided to have a steel structure and this building to be used for any activities in the county. The board said the building would be available for our registered breeders to hold sales, for all shows in the county and one of the important aims in the fall of the year and spring for a vegetable market for the marketing of vegetables to the people of the county. This would make it possible for the house wife to buy fresh vegetables direct from the farmer on certain days during the week.

The Board urges everyone to attend the Donley County Fat Stock Show to be held in Clarendon on the first of March this Friday. Mr. Roy Snyder of the Texas A&M College Extension Service will start judging about one o'clock in the afternoon and prize animals of F.F.A. and 4-H Club boys will be on exhibit. The show will be held on the vacant lot across from the Shamburger Lumber Co.

MRS. MILLARD WORD TO ENTERTAIN AMARILLO PHILHARMONIC CLUB

Mrs. Millard Word has been invited to Amarillo by the Amarillo Philharmonic Music Club to bring them a program in observance of Texas Music Day, March 4th. Mrs. Word will bring them a program entirely of her own original compositions to be sung by Mrs. E. D. Landreth.

The meeting will take place at the Federated Club Rooms in Amarillo and the Philharmonic Club will invite several other music organizations to hear Mrs. Word, guest composer, entertain. A tea will follow the program.

Mrs. Florence Hvass and daughter, Lucille of Lubbock, Mrs. T. G. Stargel of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Grant Mercer of Fort Worth visited in the home of Mrs. G. W. Antrobus over the week-end.
