

Beauty Brevities

When the eye tissues start to wrinkle and creases, use eye wrinkle cream. You'll find it in the shops now. If you prefer your own, use cocoa butter. It is good for the purpose. It is the meanest of the meanest. In the morning bathe the eyes with hot water, then with cold. Dry with a towel. Yes, ma'am, it makes the lids shiny and what they're prettier when they're moist-misty; somehow the surface puts a pretty glint on the lids.

Useful carriage is dependent on a properly poised backbone and comfortable shoes. To the woman a woman gives scarcely a thought, and you know what she does with her pedals, crowds them together that often are not provided. There are sensible shoes to be had. She has but to choose.

When the body is stretched tall, chest and the backbone will naturally come that nip-in at the waist that makes for the charming silhouette.

Everybody knows to a certainty that causes a superfluous hair to grow upon a woman's face, but the best guess is that it is produced by some ductless gland that is running true to form. There are various means of reducing these growths. The electrolysis is one of them. Inserted in the pore beside the hair, it burns the papilla, but it is handled by an expert.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

The dress sketched above is a particularly happy example of this new mode. Its sleeves are designed to give you that important broad look at the top. It's jagged closing and buttons down the side of the front are also noteworthy. If you make it in wool and edge the zigzag closing with velveteen in matching color, you'll have a really outstanding dress. This pattern may be bought at your favorite department store.

'Biggest Liar In Paterson'

For three weeks doctors who treated this "mystery girl" in a Paterson, N. J., hospital were balked in their efforts to learn her name. Then a visitor, seeking a missing sister, burst into tears when the "patient" proved not to be the girl sought. The tears brought a cure where science had failed. "I guess I'm the biggest liar in Paterson," said the "bedridden" miss, admitting she is Dorothy Juanita Kirby who had run away from her home in Washington D. C.

APPLES BRING IN MANY NEW RECIPES

Our friends the apple kin are back in the markets again. Big ones and little fellows—bright, crimson, and darkly purple-red. The towels of the fruit stand boys are flying. Each sphere, bursting with sweet juices, must shine like a mirror.

Apple pie, apple dumplings, apple cobbler, apple sauce, apple jam! What shall we make? All of them or any, but there is one way you must try. Caramel apples are luscious beyond compare.

Your tooth goes through the smooth, delicious candy coating, and there is the ripe fruit. Two taste sensations at once!

Caramel apples: Two pounds sugar, scant cup white corn syrup, 2-3 cups evaporated milk. Put sugar, syrup and 2-3 cup milk in a large, heavy kettle. Stir to blend well. Heat slowly until sugar is melted, then boil briskly to a thick syrup. Add remainder of milk slowly, keeping mixture boiling briskly and boil to firm ball stage (242 degrees Fahrenheit.)

Select small apples, free from blemishes, wash and dry thoroughly and stick on wooden skewers. Dip apples in caramel mixture. Twirl to get rid of surplus coating and make smooth. Stand apples in holes in heavy board or in some receptacle that will permit drying without marring coating. Be sure skewers fit tightly in holes. If coating becomes too hard for dipping add a little evaporated milk and reheat. The caramel should be kept quite hot so that coating will not be too heavy. Yield: Enough coating for 15 to 20 apples.

Children adore to help when the apples are dipped in the candy. You are warned, though, that your handiwork may never leave the kitchen. It may be devoured on the spot.

BECHAMEL MAYONNAISE

One cup chicken stock, 1 onion slice, 1 carrot, sprig of parsley, 6 peppercorns, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 cup cream, 1-4 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup mayonnaise.

Cook stock 20 minutes, with onion, carrot, parsley and peppercorns. Strain. Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and stir to a smooth paste. Add chicken stock and cream gradually, stirring constantly, and continue cooking and stirring until thickened. Add salt and pepper. Fold in mayonnaise. Serve with fricassee chicken. Makes two cups sauce.

POTATOES IN CREAM SAUCE

One and one-half cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1-4 pound cheese, grated, 4 cups cooked diced potatoes, 1 teaspoon salt.

Make a sauce of the milk, flour, fat and salt. Add the cheese, and stir until melted. Pour the hot sauce over the hot potatoes and serve.

It destroys all the disease-causing germs and worms and prevents these diseases. Also keep them free of Blue-Bugs, Lice and all Blood-Sucking Insects and have healthy egg-producing Fowls at a very small cost or your money back.

Farm Products Up 32%; Living Cost Increase 9%

WASHINGTON — Compilations submitted to the President by his executive council showed progress in the task of equalizing prices of manufactured products and farm commodities, of direct concern to the 40,000,000 dependent upon farm income and indirectly affecting the entire country. The figures show a 32 per cent increase in the price of products sold by farmers and an increase of 11 per cent in the price of goods the farmer has to buy. On the industrial side they disclosed that September factory employment recovered two fifths of its decline and income of factory workers recovered one fourth since 1929, while the cost of living rose 9 per cent since last March. The commodity price index passed 70 in September, a point last touched in November, 1932. It was 65.3 in September, 1932, and the low was 59.8 last February.

MECHANICAL COTTON PICKING

In recent experiments at both College Station and Lubbock with the harvesting of cotton mechanically, it was found that the cotton should be dry and practically free of green leaves and green unopen bolls, and the harvested cotton should not be placed on damp ground for any great length of time prior to ginning. Cotton which had not fully matured and which contained a high percentage of moisture in the form of green leaves and green unopen bolls when piled in the field was damaged by heating, the temperature in some cases being as high as 149 degrees F. This resulted in the destruction of the germinating power of the cottonseed and the fat content of the seed was lowered. Furthermore, the grade of the lint was lowered from 1 to 4 grades and the strength of the fiber was reduced as much as 35 per cent. Matured handpicked cotton stored in the field at Lubbock sweated slightly but apparently was not damaged by heating.

ROGERS PLAYS TITLE ROLE IN "DR. BULL"

"Doctor Bull," the Fox Film production of the famous novel, "The Last Adam," by James Gould Cozzens, opens at the Lyric Theatre and is scheduled to remain for an engagement of two days. It presents Will Rogers with what is reported as the outstanding role of his career.

In "Doctor Bull," the new title having been chosen by the star himself, Rogers is seen as a country doctor. He plays the role of a laconically shrewd philosopher who binds together a changing village and who views with distaste the conditions that turn his home from a "town to live in" to a "place on the highway." The role is said to be the perfect outlet for Rogers' original humor and keen philosophies.
