WHY CONFINE YOUR DOG?

by Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority

Contrary to the belief of many dog owners, a confined dog does not necessarily mean an unhealthy or a discontented dog. In fact, a properly confined dog is not only a happy dog, but is also likely to make his owner a happier person.

The advantages of confinement are many. The confined dog does not annoy neighbors

Dog of the Week:
BEDLINGTON TERRIER

Average weight, 23 lbs.; shoulder height, 16 inches; coat, thick and not wiry, about one inch long; has a topknot trimmed to taper gradually toward the nose, narrow fringes on ear tips; color, blue-gray, blue-gray with tan markings, liver-brown with tan, sandy, or sandy with tan.

by prowling around their property, soiling lawns, digging up flower beds, or trampling tender shoots.

He does not run the risk of injury by chasing cars or by getting into fracas with cats. Postmen, delivery men or visitors can come and go without fear of assault or too friendly advances.

The dog's health may be improved, because he does not have the opportunity of scavenging for food in undesirable places, of getting in-between meal snacks from well-meaning people, or of coming into regular contact with stray dogs from whom he might pick up diseases.

All in all, the confined dog is generally better mannered, better trained, and a greater source of pride to his master.

The character of the confinement will, of course, vary with the dog. The small dog may be quite happy indoors, provided he is given daily exercise in company with his master.

The larger dog can be given the run of the yard or a pen, or can be hitched to a wire, so that he has some freedom of movement. The yard or pen must, of course, be kept in sanitary condition.

Feeding Tip: Fats and oils in the diet of your pet are used primarily for energy. Too much fat will tend to make your dog over-fat; too little fat may cause him to be thin, if he is a hard-working dog. By giving him a balanced, all-purpose dog food such as Friskies, you can be sure he is getting adequate supplies of fat in his diet.

Smith - Phillips Nuptials Solemnized In Church Ceremony

The First Baptist Church, Clarendon, Texas, was the scene Saturday, September 14, of the marriage of Miss Jean Harlene Smith, daughter of Mrs. Bert Smith and the late Mr. Smith, Clarendon, and Mr. Clifton P. Phillips, son of Mrs. C. P. Phillips and the late Mr. Phillips of Ashtola, Texas.

Rev. W. F. Vanderburg, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with plumose fern, tiered candelabra, and floor baskets of white gladioli. Family pews were marked with sprays of fern and white satin ribbon. Roger and Gale Smith, nephews of the bride, lighted the tapers. Mrs. Weldon Altman presided at the bride's book.

wore orchid with purple accessories. All carried nosegays of white carnations.

Attending the groom as best man was Weldon Altman. Groomsmen were Ralph Harmon and Charles Cosper. Ushers were Owen Johnson and Chester Mann.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Donald Smith, was attired in a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle, designed with a strapless bodice, and fitted jacket of lace. The long sleeves terminated in points over the hands. The jacket buttoned to a small round collar at the neckline. The bouffant skirt was of lace and tulle circled at the waist with a full gathered flounce. Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a half hat studded with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of feathered carnations centered with an orchid and streamers with carnations tied in the love knots. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings. All of the traditions of something old, new, borrowed, blue and a penny in her shoe were carried out.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, wore a dress of blue accented by rose and black accessories. Mrs. Phillips, the groom's mother, wore gray with black accessories. Both wore a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and a nosegay of white carnations. The tiered wedding cake was decorated in white and orchid and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Presiding at the table were Miss Ellen Murphy and Miss Joyce Eddings. Mrs. Bill Williams entertained throughout the receiving hour with appropriate piano selections.

MR. AND MRS. CLIFTON P. PHILLIPS

A nuptial prelude and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Bill Williams, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Monty Smith of Amarillo, Texas as she sang "Because," and "Wedding Prayer."

Miss Nadine Murphy attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Paula Skelton and Miss Marion Martin of Amarillo. Their street length, sheath dresses were identically styled with a cummerbund and a full panel to the back. The maid of honor wore purple with orchid accessories while bridesmaids

For the wedding trip, Mrs. Phillips wore a blue-gray suit complemented by black accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Phillips is a graduate of Clarendon High School and attended Clarendon Junior College. Prior to her marriage she has been employed by Harlan's Flower Shop. Mr. Phillips attended Estelline schools and has been engaged in farming near Ashtola. The couple will make their home at Ashtola.

Survey Shows Texans 'Accept' Fee Increases

AUSTIN—A survey by Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas indicated that Texas hunters and fishermen have embraced the new fee schedule with only sporadic grumbling, said Cecil Reid, SCOT Executive Secretary.

Fishing licenses were raised from $1.65 to $2.15, with salt water anglers required for the first time to buy licenses. Hunting licenses went up from $2.15 to $3.15.

The added revenue will go toward providing even better hunting and fishing for Texas.

"This long overdue readjustment in license fees to bring Texas closer to the national level has been met cheerfully by all good sportsmen," said Reid, whose organization supported the fee increases.

"What discontent we have heard come from people who do not understand how the cost of administering modern wildlife management affairs has kept pace with the upward spiral for everything else."

Reid said "salt water states" are observing success of the Texas adjustment as a precedent to be applied to all coastal areas where fishing licenses heretofore have been restricted to commercial operators.

"Our pioneering in this absolutely necessary function, now means that all states bordering on the Gulf will enact similar legislation because they, too, need to finance the high cost of marine management processes," SCOT's Exec. Sec. added.

Reid said some "inflammatory observations" were published in one coastal area where one anonymous elderly fisherman was ridiculed as saying the revenue from the salt water licenses would go toward raising salaries of game wardens in "inland areas."

More evidence of red legs also was disclosed. One rancher reported seeing a hatch of this been mainly of the meager $10 monthly types," said Reid. "Bulk of this added money will go toward paying for new coastal fish passes, high priority research and assorted installations."

"I wish it were only true that our wardens could receive a substantial salary increase out of the new funds. There are many worthy men on that force but I am sorry to report they will have to wait for deserved raises until the wildlife budget generally is brought up to date."

Panhandle Game Conditions Good For 1957 Hunt

AUSTIN—Hunting conditions in the Texas Panhandle are good, according to the Director of Wildlife Restoration, who spent most of last week surveying the area.

"There are lots of weeds, which will provide game bird feed and cover. The quail crop is excellent in some locations, and there is a fine second crop of young turkeys," he said. "Milo is turning brown right now and harvesting it will add to the feed supply."

He said apparently the doves already have started moving out. Ducks are coming in, however, and he saw several flights of bluewings and pintails. With other biologists, they survey conditions in the valley of the Canadian and Washita Rivers.

"Marsh elder and western ragweed are all seeding," he said. Both are staple winter food items for the quail of the Panhandle. "It'll be hard on the dogs because these weeds are waist high. However, bird hunters will probably find good shooting in some areas."

He said the turkey were plentiful, "about frying size." Deer and antelope both were found to be in excellent condition.

More evidence of red legs also was disclosed. One rancher reported seeing a hatch of this exotic bird transplanted into the Texas Panhandle. They are on game restoration areas and are protected from hunting under the law.

Mrs. A. G. Lane spent the week end with her son, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lane Jr. and family at Gruver. Mr. Lane brought her home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Morris of Berkeley, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morris and Donnie of Rodeo, Calif. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morris and other relatives and friends.

Lloyd Virgil Risley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Risley enrolled at the University of Texas last week where he is taking the pre-med course of study.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Estlack spent the past several days visiting relatives at Loveland and Greeley, Colorado. They returned home Wednesday accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Beach. Some time was spent in Estes Park where the snow had stopped further passage. They also visited in Greeley with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stevens and children, and Mrs. Mary Sue Longan and son Harley Dean Longan.

pointed by the Lion Boss. They were Basil Smith, Ggo. Weather-

all, Homer Bonee, and L. L. Wallace.

The Club was honored on the 17th with a visit from their District Governor, Bill Smith of Ralls, Texas. The District Governor pitched in a few eye-openers regarding Lionism. To-Wit: In size and service Lions International is the largest civic club in the world with more than 600,000 members with active clubs in 82 different provinces and nations of the world.

The Board of directors exhibited their enthusiastic interest in the youth of Clarendon at their last meeting by devoting the major portion of their time to receiving suggestions and arriving at conclusions to improve their aid to the Canteen activities for this year.

At the Tuesday Luncheon meeting this week Lion Gillham, representative of his F. F. A.

Chapter, and Lion Breedlove made reports to the club regarding their competitive exhibits at the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo.

Both agriculturists made outstanding records for their county and schools as well as immeasurable benefits to the boys who were showing the results of their study and work.

Lion Breedlove gave a great share of credit for these successes to the members of the Lions Club, who in a large measure have, by sponsoring and financing the County Fair, made it possible to have the best of Donley County products available to enter in the Amarillo

Show.

No doubt about it! The ultimate in achievement should be credited to Lion Drennan, program Chairman. He succeeded in twisting Lion Gillham's arm until he produced a program and then avoided the absence of Lion

Allmond.

The best has been saved for the last. Directed by three surviving charter members of the Clarendon Lions Club, a program celebrating the Clubs 35th anniversary is being projected that appears to well be on its way to the greatest lady's night meeting ever held. Lions should mark their calendars or tie a string on their finger, or let their beards grow western style, in order to avoid scheduling any activity, social or otherwise that would prevent their attendance October 22nd.

Make it a great date—with a lion lady.

State Seed Certification Program On High Plains Shows Acreage Increase

AUSTIN—More than 68,000 acres of crops on the High Plains are under the state's Seed Certification Program, Agriculture Commissioner John White reported today.

White said field inspections of various seed crops are now being made by State Agriculture Department inspectors out of the Lubbock District Office.

Heading the list of crops are hybrid sorghums. Applications have been made for certification of 21,916 acres of hybrid sorghums, White announced. This compares with only about 7,000 acres last year.

Commissioner White reported a considerable increase in crop acreages under the Certification Program, pointing out that the seed is very much in demand. High Plains growers are producing top quality seed due to the efficient farming methods and the excellent climatic conditions, White said.

"In addition to the monetary value of the seed produced under the program, the effect of pure seed of high quality is felt throughout the state's agricultural industry" the commissioner stated.

Following is a list of acreages and crops under the Certification Program in the Lubbock district so far this year:

Small grains, 7,922; sorghums, 17,844; cotton, 16,994; hybrid corn, 18; grasses 670; alfalfa 246; peas, 160; millet, 2,340; sesame, 55; guar, 135; soybeans, 139; hybrid sorghums, 21,916.

"Diligence is the mother of Good Luck."
 "Good teachers cost more, but bad teachers cost most."
 Here it is another school year. We can hardly believe our eyes when we see that another year has gone by. It brings a thrill to all of us as we see the youngsters taking off for school at the beginning of the year. Mostly by next summer they will be dragging their feet.
 Speaking of bad teachers costing the most. They really do just that. A year comes and a year goes by and the thing that was or was not accomplished that year can hardly be overcome later. The influence for good or bad can hardly be erased completely. When we think that during the school term the teacher of our child has them under their influence more of their wide awake day than we as parents have them. A good teacher that knows her job is a very precious thing in the life of our children. A good teacher in the sense of setting the right example in honest upright Christian living becomes something priceless as we consider the job of rearing up our children.

 We hear argument that so long as a teacher does her job from 9 till 4 then we should have no further concern as to his or her private life. This is not true and can never be so. Their lives are too closely entwined into the growing period of little children. Not anymore can they be a bad example and not hurt the child than we as parents can live slack before our children and not be a bad influence.
 One of our favorite poems is the following. Like many many beautiful thoughts it has become lost from its author. It is called:
THE SILVER LINING
 There's never a day so sunny
 But a little cloud appears;
 There's never a life so happy
 But has its time of tears.

Yet the sun shines out the brighter
 Whenever the tempest clears.
 There's never a garden growing,
 With roses in every plot;
 There's never a heart so hardened
 But it has one tender spot.
 We have only to trim the border
 To find the forget-me-not.
 There's never a sun that rises
 But we know 'twill set at night;
 The tints that gleam in the morning
 At evening are just as bright.
 And that hour that is the sweetest
 Is between the dark and light.
 There's never a dream so happy
 But the wakening makes us sad;
 There's never a dream of sorrow
 But the wakening makes us glad.
 We shall look some day with wonder
 At the trouble we have had.

Thrilling Inmate Events And Added Attractions Planned For 26th Annual Texas Prison Rodeo At Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE — Inmate performers and fans alike have pledged themselves to go "all out" to make the 26th Texas Prison Rodeo the best in its colorful history.
 Held in the million-dollar prison stadium in Huntsville each Sunday in October, the thrilling event last year attracted upwards of 200,000 people from every section of the nation.
 Rodeo Director Albert Moore, the man who opened the first show back in 1931 before a handful of spectators said that the 26th Annual Rodeo will be planned to include more inmate events and several added "free-world" attractions.
 Since 1931, more than two million people have witnessed the prison rodeo, which during the past six years has brought the "WILDEST SHOW ON EARTH" new honors and has broken previous attendance records.
 Since many former inmate riders have been released from prison, rodeo fans will see a number of new faces in the lineup of the host of daredevil performers who risk their necks in an attempt to tame unbroken prison bulls and broncs during the fast-moving two-hour show.
 The main reason for the annual Texas Prison Rodeo is to raise funds for the prison's educational and recreational program for the benefit of some 10,000 inmates housed in 13 units of the Texas Department of Corrections.
 These and other necessary phases of the prison's rehabilitation program have never been provided by the Texas Legislature.
 One of the specialty acts this year not heretofore shown will be the cutting horse event. Also the world-famous Glenn Randall and his trained palominos, who is recognized as one of the world's greatest animal trainers. Other spectacular feats to be seen are trick-riding performances by the Lamb sisters, Ted and Betty, as well as that of Miss Virginia Robison, who is equally talented and noted from Coast to Coast for her rodeo trick-riding feats of daring. The Angelina County Quadrille will perform with their beauty and precision reminiscent of the Old West. Also included in the lineup of free-world celebrities are Joan and Corky Randall, with their presentation of dancing horses, which is believed to be one of the most entertaining acts in its field.
 Reserved seat tickets for any of the four Sundays may be obtained by writing Prison Rodeo Ticket Office, Huntsville, Texas. The price for individual tickets are $2.40 each. "Shady side" reserved seats sell at $3.75 and $4.40.
 The prison grapevine reports that the 26th Annual Prison Rodeo will be "the best yet." And that means it will be so.

Several new members and renewed memberships have been recorded this week. There is very little of interest to report.
 Our Double Day Dollar Book Club edition is one I had concealed the order of, but it was sent any way. A mediocre edition, but the writer is Dorothea Malm who has written for "Good Housekeeping", "The Ladies Home Journal" and other popular periodicals, and was once connected with the editorial staff of the Journal.
 "Look" and last week's "Saturday Evening Post" each possessed some worthwhile articles. Very few of the popular fiction books are worth one's time, according to the abridged editions, but we will order about two this week as we have at last paid our current accounts.
 We shall purchase a few Walt Disney Golden Books for the little people as they have used all our present children's books this summer, and we have over two hundred for children thru eight years of age. The better books are all about $2.00 and $2.75 for children.

DONLEY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Recently several farmers have requested assistance from the District which has illustrated the need for a plan of action in carrying out conservation measures on farms and ranches. Without a planned program, it is easy to do a practice, which in itself is good, but may have to be partly undone in order to complete another needed practice. One example of this is seeding alfalfa on land which needs the terraces rebuilt in order that valuable irrigated land below will be protected. In order for terraces to work properly, they have to control the water from the top of the slope down. Thus, the terraces should be rebuilt before the alfalfa is seeded. Like in any business, a farmer needs to plan his operations so that they will fall in the proper sequence, and thus avoid wasted effort. That is one of the Donley Soil Conservation Districts objectives when a conservation plan is developed on a farm or ranch. Soil Conservation Service technicians are available to assist the farmer in making his plan, but to be of value, the plan must be the farmers, not the technician's.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

FOREIGN POLICY CAPABILITIES OF THE UNITED STATES

The foreign policy of this country is fast becoming a Number 1 issue. Until recent years there was no great need for this country to worry too much about foreign policy matters. Of course, there has always been a need in the world picture for all countries to be concerned with foreign problems and the solutions thereof. This has been a primary matter in all European countries for many hundreds of years. Needless to say, those countries have become most skillful artisans in that particular political area. The United States being one of the youngest countries in the world, as well as the richest, and having progressed much faster than any other country in world history, occupied a rather enviable position insofar as foreign affairs were concerned. We not only had the resources and raw materials to make us self-sustaining, we also had the know-how to develop them. This is all well and good, but as civilization continues to progress, new discoveries and new developments gradually reduce the size of the world. Air transportation has moved forward beyond the most fantastic dreams of most people. The development of the intercontinental missile has everyone frightened. These and many other developments increase the great need for international understanding and for peoples of different nationalities to be able to live together and get along together in the world. All of this means that this country, as the leader in world progress, must assume its responsibility to its own citizens in being adequately capable in world affairs.

In order to meet this responsibility it will be necessary to give much attention to our diplomatic service. Many feel that we presently have a very inadequate and ill-equipped diplomatic service. Some feel this is due to the appointment of people to ambassadorial posts simply because they make substantial contributions to political parties. To say that such a practice has not existed is to refuse to acknowledge the truth. The truth is that many men have been appointed to ambassadorial posts in both Democratic and Republican Administrations who were not equipped by education or temperament to serve the best interests of this country. This practice is well known to foreign countries, and you may be assured they have taken advantage of these circumstances when dealing with this government.

Some people feel that our diplomatic service is not of the caliber it should be due to the fact that it is extremely difficult for young people to get into that service. There has been no concerted effort on the part of our government to train personnel for this service. It is most difficult to obtain information from any source, including the State Department, as to how one may enter such service. People in government have complained to me that these foreign service posts are filled many times by the relatives and personal friends of those in the service. Complaints have reached me that many, who are supposed to be representing this country in foreign countries, have been in those countries and in other foreign countries so long that they inadvertently represent the interests of the country in which they are stationed, rather than the interests of this country. In any event, we do know there is a great deal of room for improvement and that something should be done about it.

It was with this thought in mind that ten members of the House of Representatives, including myself, from states all over the nation, introduced a Joint Resolution to study the problem and to report to the Congress on ways and means of expanding and modernizing the Foreign Service of the United States. We shall continue our efforts until some good results are accomplished. What is needed is a massive transfusion of "main street of the smaller towns of the United States" into the arteries of our Foreign Service. Through this medium better and more complete understanding between the peoples can be accomplished.

LOS ANGELES—A letter addressed to "Dear Mr. Motorist" arrived at the Mirror-News.

"I am not writing this to you to remind you all over again," the letter said, "but to all motorists because school again begins."

"I want to prevent the tragedy that we have shared together—a mother and you, Mr. Motorist."

"That day three sun-tanned little faces smiled as they waved me a happy goodbye and so importantly went on their way to school. I wanted to call them back to tell them how lonesome it would be.

"Mr. Motorist, I wanted to kiss them once more - - - Then I saw you take that corner - tires screaming, car out of control."

"What was your hurry? Were you late for work? Were you angry at someone?"

"Surely not at my three. I am sure you would not want to run your screaming tires over their happy faces intentionally, erasing forever the smiles they had for me."

"But, Mr. Motorist, children are very forgiving in life and - I'm sure - in death. They would if they could, pat your hand and feel sad that because of one tragic moment you are left to live over and over again.

"I don't hate you any more. I feel sorry for you. I can still see those smiling little faces as they wave me goodbye."

The letter was signed. Under the signature this postscript: "Another year. And once again your flowers arrive. They are beautiful. Thank you."

The newspaper sent reporter Charles Neiswender to investigate. He talked with a close friend of the letter writer. She told him the letter was written four years ago on the first anniversary of the tragedy. It was written but never intended to be mailed to the man who was driving the car. The friend sent the letter to the paper, which printed it yesterday.

The motorist?
He still sends the mother flowers on each anniversary of the children's death.

And the mother?
She couldn't write a letter now. For in her mind she still waves goodbye to the smiling faces of her children.

The tragedy was too much. She is in a mental hospital, hopelessly insane.

Texas Press Association
AUSTIN—For the 72nd time in Texas, the Legislature will convene in special session Oct. 14.

Throughout the summer there was lively debate as to whether such a step should be taken. Gov. Price Daniel put an end to speculation by setting the date. Purpose: to enact laws in regard to lobby control, representation before state agencies, crime study and water development.

Calling special sessions has been more the custom of Texas governors than not. Of the 71 previously called since Texas became a state, 41 have fallen in the 46-year period since 1911—almost one a year.

Almost all Governor Daniel's predecessors in the past 30 years called lawmakers back at least once. (exceptions: Beauford Jester and W. Lee O'Daniel.) Gov. Dan Moody holds the record for keeping the Legislature busy. In 10 months of 1929 and 1930 he called five special sessions.

Runners-up are Gov. Miriam Ferguson, who called four in 1933 and 1934, and Gov. Ross Sterling, who called four in 1931 and '32. Gov. James V. Allred called three in 1935-'36 and two more in 1936 and '37.

In those days a legislator had to keep his bag packed.

What were the issues that kept the lawmakers so busy in those days? Mostly, the same ones they're working on today.

In the day of Governor Moody's five calls, regular sessions were only 60 days, so a lot of routine business overflowed. But he also called their attention to special problems. Many sound familiar—improvement of the Prison System "along modern and scientific lines," regulation of securities sales, investigation of charges against a state official. At one time Governor Moody vetoed all the appropriation bills and told the Legislature to try again—within the budget.

Governor Sterling asked legislators to enact a program to conserve natural resources, particularly oil and gas, and to help farmers, hard hit by sagging cotton prices. Sterling also had a states rights vs. federal courts problem, in that the U. S. Supreme Court had negated Texas' oil production laws.

Mrs. Ferguson had to call lawmakers back again and again to wrestle with the "hard times" of the thirties. Relief bonds to help the unemployed and destitute were passed. In one of her calls, Mrs. Ferguson, with an eye for housewife problems, called on lawmakers "to make needed appropriation for refrigeration in the Governor's Mansion."

Governor Allred's special sessions dealt with some of the most stirring issues of the thirties. He asked for liquor selling regulations following the repeal of Prohibition and for a law banning pari-mutuel betting at race tracks. He also asked for money for old age pensions ($15 a month in those days) and for more taxes to get the general revenue fund out of the red.

In most cases, the governors got the laws they wanted passed—sometimes by calling one session on the end of another, sometimes in a session as short as nine days.

WATER PROGRAM OKAYED

In one area—water development—legislators have their work cut out for them.

A 150-member statewide water committee approved a three-point program proposed by the governor. It calls for:

1. Appropriating $1,024,000 to set up a planning division under the State Water Board.

2. Laws enabling the state to contract for water storage space in federal reservoirs.

3. An all-out push to rally support for passage of the $200,000,000 water bond amendment to be voted on Nov. 5. Harry Provenca, Waco editor, is chairman of the campaign committee. Lon C. Hill, Corpus Christi businessman, is co-chairman.

OFFICER HITS TRAFFIC LAWS

Texas is behind other states in traffic regulations and ahead on traffic accidents, says a Texas safety official.

C. G. Conner, assistant chief of the Highway Patrol, said Texas has one of the highest traffic death tolls in the nation. It's as much as three times as safe to drive in some other states where more up-to-date laws are being enforced, he said.

Texas had 250,000 accidents last year, Conner reported. He suggested more driver education courses for teen-agers, more traffic courts, more arresting of drunk drivers.

Human Failure, Not Mechanical Failure, Cause Most Accidents

"Most traffic accidents are the result of human failure," J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, made that assertion today as this month's Know and Obey Traffic Laws program was inaugurated by the Texas Safety Association.

"Accident records bear this out," Musick said. "In four out of five fatal traffic accidents, a driver violated some traffic law, sign, signal or warning. Since this is the case, the best approach to reducing traffic accidents is to eliminate our failures." Musick listed the six most frequent driver violations in fatal accidents as excessive speed, failure to yield right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line, driving under the influence of alcohol, improper passing, and disregard of an officer or traffic control device.

"The only solution to this problem is voluntary compliance by drivers and pedestrians," he said. "Most drivers and pedestrians do not knowingly violate traffic laws, but the 'well-intentioned but errant' ones outdo the small percentage of willfully reckless or indifferent drivers in keeping traffic accident figures mounting."

Musick offered the following rules for safe driving:

1. Know and obey all traffic laws.
2. Drive at a speed that is safe for conditions.
3. Never drive after drinking. Don't drink if you intend to drive.
4. When entering an intersection be prepared to yield the right of way to avoid an accident.
5. Never pass on a hill or curve or at an intersection and do not cut in sharply after passing.
6. Don't hog the road—stay in your lane.
7. Don't follow too closely. Allow plenty of room to stop.
8. Signal your intentions to turn or stop.
9. Read and heed the "Signs of Life."
10. Check your car for safety.
