Breedlove Praises Barbecue Crew And All Helpers For Success

The final figure on the crowd fed on the Fourth of July for the barbecue is around seven thousand. H. M. "Flip" Breedlove in charge of the barbecuing said that he had a wonderful crew and the entire crowd went through the lines in fifty minutes.

The men helping Breedlove with the barbecuing were Pete Land, Sid Dodson, Hubert Rhoades, John White, Homer Bones, Royce McCluckey, Clifford Decker, Lloyd Reid, Tommy Selmon, Tom Jinks, Homer Estlack, Billy Land, Joe Ritter, Jimmy, Pud, and Regan Bain. There was a bunch of others who came and helped for a short time off and on during the night. The wood hauling committee was Carl Naylor, Gordon Mann and Frank Hommel. Bob Head was in charge of hauling the barbecue pits.

We wish to especially thank the following bakeries for the 528 loaves of bread which were donated for the barbecue—Meade, Cook-Book and Bunny. That's a lot of bread when you get to counting the slices and we know everyone appreciated this gift.

Pud Bain and Regan Bain did a wonderful job in setting up the serving tables and then taking them down after the barbecue. The captains who got their crews together for the serving were Basil Smith, Kathleen Yankie, Ruth Richerson, Conrad Ryan, Carlie Bennett and Red Estlack. For the colored people Collier Gilmore was in charge. There were fourteen lines in all and a total of one hundred and fourteen people assisted with the serving. Sandy Sandifer made his name more famous for the wonderful beans and peaches he cooked. He is now the bean and peach champion of the southwest.

Every one who helped in any way with the celebration is to be complimented for their hard work. Pete Kunz did a wonderful job on the finance for the barbecue and also assisted with the cooking and serving. Breedlove wishes to thank all that helped in any way and with this kind of cooperation it will be better in 1957. Thanks also to the commissioners court and the county judge and the city officials of the City of Clarendon for their help because without their assistance the job would have been much harder. It was a lot of fun for every one and let's all try to make next year the biggest in history. Everyone who came by enjoyed the sour dough biscuits of Cicero Turpin and the chuck wagon fly loaned the group by W. J. Lewis Jr. furnished plenty of good shade.

• PLATFORM IN PRACTICE—Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, during a two-day rest from state-wide campaigning, checks a field high in crimson clover on his farm near San Augustine, Texas, with his daughter, Ann, atop the family pet, Buton. tificate of a child will show his age and prove that he is a child of the person on whose social security record a claim for benefits is being filed. Since the law requires anyone claiming retirement benefits to have reached age 65, some evidence is needed to show that the person is actually that old.

While the social security office does have a responsibility of protecting the old-age and survivors insurance system against unjustified claims, the purpose is not to try to keep those rightfully entitled from getting their benefits. Our advice to the families of those working persons whose tax contributions go towards making up the social security trust fund is this: Obtain proofs that may be needed before they are needed. Find out if your marriage is actually on record and see if the births of your children are recorded. Get some evidence of your age. Be armed with this information when the time comes to file a claim for benefit payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION

We who handle claims for social security benefits sometimes find cases where real hardship results because people who believe they are entitled to old-age and survivors insurance benefits are not able to prove their entitlement.

If you were to write the social security law and regulations, I believe you would require that certain conditions of entitlement be met before benefits would be paid. Many employed or self-employed people pay into the social security insurance fund and regulations must be observed to protect the fund from those who would not rightfully be entitled to benefits.

If it is a widow claiming benefits, it must be established that she is actually the widow. A marriage certificate is the logical proof to be expected. A birth cer-

AUSTIN—Politicians are waving their banners. Party leaders seek to rally their cohorts. But right now Texans are far more concerned about water.

Farm and city dwellers alike are hard hit. Years of drought have added up. Sizzling summer temperatures, unabated since the last of May, have finished off crop prospects for 1956 in many areas.

Few expect relief before the end of summer. Most despaired some time ago of rains that would "really break" the drought.

In Austin and elsewhere attention focused on the often-bitter scrambles for dwindling streamflows. Prolonged and frequently heated testimony has been heard by the State Board of Water Engineers on water rights from the proposed Canyon Dam in South Central Texas.

San Antonio sought permission to take 100,000 acre feet of water annually from the dam. It is the only way, said San Antonio officials, that the city can meet its future water needs.

Guadalupe Blanco River Authority strenuously opposed the request. Joined by citizens of some 20 small towns in the area GBRA contended that the city allocation would not leave enough for downstream users, nor enough to operate a hydro-electric plant.

Testimony is expected to continue for several weeks. Ultimate decision probably will set a precedent for future controversies.

Farther South, the Rio Grande reached its lowest point since it stopped flowing completely in 1953. Falcon Dam was shut down, and a watermaster was appointed to ration the dwindling supply among Valley cities.

Legislators making up the state water resources committee came out with an idea for the future. They proposed a $100,000,000 Texas Water Development Fund. Controversy over whether to finance water conservation by an ad-valorem or water-use tax defeated the program last session.

This new approach of financing through bonds would bypass the difficulty, said proponents. But it would take a long time. First, legislative action; then a constitutional amendment by the people.

Meanwhile farmers are leaving their parched fields and looking for work in town to support their families.

LABOR UNIONS ARE ACTIVE

Members of Texas' labor unions are working hard to place Liberals in control of state and party offices. And, a politically-confident tone prevailed among some 1,000 delegates at the State Federation of Labor convention, here.

Union labor leaders, who played a mighty important part in ousting the conservatives from control of the Democratic party, have openly announced they will campaign to: 1. Elect Ralph Yarborough governor; 2. Elect legislators friendly to labor; 3. Defeat Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey; 4. Gain control of the state Democratic convention in September; and 5. Elect Liberals to the State Democratic Executive Committee.

LABOR LAW DECISION PENDING

Texas right-to-work law now awaits state Supreme Court ruling, possibly July 11.

Opponents and backers of the law clashed sharply in final arguments before the court. Union attorneys declared that the Texas case parallels a Nebraska suit in which the U. S. Supreme Court recently voided that state's right-to-work law in the railway industry. Railroad attorneys objected strenuously. They declared the Texas case presents much broader issues.

Said Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepherd, in behalf of the Texas law, "The issue before this court is the right of any Texas citizen to work in his chosen occupation without being forced to give allegiance to any organization which might be against his personal beliefs."

NEW HIGHWAY POLICY

An important new step in state policy has been announced by the Texas Highway Commission, for administering the new Federal highway aid program.

If and when the state provides it more money, the commission will begin to assume part of the heavy cost of right-of-way—now borne wholly by cities and counties. This for highways of the primary state system not included in the new federal interstate system.

LEADER CLASSIFIEDS GET RESULTS.

Study Fixes Pattern For Duck Flight

AUSTIN — Preliminary charts from a random survey of Texas hunters indicate the main migration route for southbound waterfowl last fall skirted the eastern Panhandle edge, nicked the Dallas-Fort Worth area and swept southeastward toward the upper Gulf.

The purpose of the studies, conducted by the Game and Fish Commission, is to locate duck and goose movements, pin point any population trends, gauge the hunting pressure and determine harvest total, according to the Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration.

He said the survey results indicated no startling changes but added that hunter replies to the form questionnaire distributed last January had not yet cleared up the whereabouts of an estimated 1,200,000 redheads that mysteriously disappeared from their accustomed lower coast habitat early last fall.

Tentative tabulations by Biologist J. R. Singleton show that more waterfowl were harvested in Harris County (Houston) than in any other Texas county. Several counties in that southeastern Texas area reported comparatively high duck and goose bags. Coastal counties dominated the first ten counties listed in the preliminary totals. Randall county in the Panhandle was eleventh.

Concerning the mystery fade-out of the huge concentration of Laguna Madre based redheads, the Assistant Director said futile efforts were made last fall to locate the fleet ducks and that spring observation failed to pick up their northward movement.

He said destruction by the drought of fresh water supplies doubtless prompted the redheads to flee.

The redheads' plight pointed up the waterfowl status in the Valley where Cameron County, scene of a heavy duck and goose harvest in 1954-1955, failed to make the first thirty counties listed in the random survey.

HEALTH NOTES

Texas State Dept. of Health

AUSTIN—Fox rabies epidemics in several West Texas Counties have apparently been controlled for the rest of the summer, State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle reported today.

Dr. Holle said his optimistic estimate of the worrisome situation in Presidio, Kinney, Brewster, and Schleicher Counties was based on a decrease in the number of fox heads coming into the State Health Department laboratory for diagnosis, and the fact that local health authorities in the counties have all reported "excellent" cooperation in county-wide rabies control campaigns.

Meanwhile, two South Texas counties—Starr and Hidalgo—are meeting dog rabies outbreaks head on.

Increasing incidence of fox rabies in the wide open spaces of West Texas began early this spring. Prior to that time the area had been practically free of the infection.

Human exposures to mad foxes have occurred, and livestock losses have been reported. Local health officials in the counties involved, acting under terms of the state rabies control law, declared emergencies as the threats to human health became acute. Each county invoked dog vaccination programs, stray dog pickups, and fox population reduction campaigns.

Dr. W. H. Stover, Presidio County health officer, in a report to the State Department of Health, said 350 dogs had been vaccinated in the county, and additional strays had been impounded.

"We have noted tremendous reductions in the number of foxes sighted," Dr. Stover said. Brewster County officials, in cooperation with local veterinarians, vaccinated 480 dogs, and a tentative report from Schleicher County indicates about 250 dogs vaccinated there.

Kinney County reported 515 dogs and cats vaccinated in a three-day period "with very good coverage" of ranches. Seven thousand poison baits were distributed to ranchers for use against foxes with "excellent killing results."

Meanwhile, a May outbreak of dog rabies in Starr County appears to be abating said Dr. K. D. Quist, a State Health Department veterinarian. Quist said the county had treated 1725 dogs against the infection.

Hidalgo County, preparing to fight a current epidemic has laid plans for a vaccination drive, Dr. Quist said. The local health department reported 15 persons were exposed to a single rabid dog earlier this month.

State Health Department animal morbidity reports indicate that more counties are involved in fox rabies outbreaks this year than last. The disease is epidemic

The Farmer's Best Market - Land

John C. White, Commissioner Texas Department of Agriculture

During recent years agriculture has been a notoriously bad business to get into. Crop prices have dropped steadily and net farm income is now the lowest in our national economy.

Yet, in spite of this farm depression, the farmer's chief investment—the farm itself—has risen in cost to about the same extent that prices for commodities have dropped.

There are several reasons for the rapid rise in land prices. The most important has been the need of farmers for additional land to off-set lower acreage allotments. Other farmers need more land to take full advantage of increased mechanical equipment and keep income up, despite falling prices, with added production.

Then too, business and professional men with plenty of money to spend have been investing in land. Some want a farm as a place to retire, and others buy small farms for homes and hobbies—and tax write-offs. Farm land prices in suburban areas have gone up most.

But despite this strong demand and prices up nearly 30% since 1950, farm sales have continued at a very low level. Those who could have held onto their land, either because of stubbornness and determination to stay put or else for higher stakes.

However, for those who are buying land or for those who are holding out for all-time high prices on that land they have for sale, a word of caution is advised.

Of course, it is sometimes hard to evaluate good land in terms of cash, considering what natural and human resources have gone into "making" a farm. But, practical matters considered, most current land prices are above levels that can be justified by present or prospective earning.

Farm operating costs are almost certain to go higher. Labor wages are on the upward trend, and so are transportation, machinery and other supplies. The cost-price squeeze shows little or no signs of easing. Refinancing credit is less plentiful, and interest rates are higher.

Also, there is no land shortage in sight, probably not for two generations, and even then per-acre farm output will have increased to such a level as to be more than plentiful for our population.

In short, unless there is a more rapid rise in farm commodity prices than now appears likely, it will take longer to pay out a farm on the present market than at any time in 40 years if the farmer relies solely on the sale of farm products. And that's about all they grow.

Hattie Caraway was the first woman elected to the United States Senate.

Do You Want Your State Representative To Stay In Austin All The Time

THE ONLY Representatives who live in Austin all the time are the few who attend law school and those who represent the Austin district. Elbert Reeves challenges any movement to take control away from the counties and move it to the capital. If the suggestion that the State Representative LIVE IN AUSTIN ALL THE TIME was feasible, it would be better to elect a resident of Austin, than a resident of the district.

What can a representative do in Austin when the Legislature is not in session? Would it be practical to send a child to school when the school is closed?

Elbert Reeves believes a representative should live in the area he serves, to become familiar with the problems of the people. He knows by actual experience that 90% of all letters, telephone calls, personal calls etc. are during the period the Legislature is in session because the people know that is the time new laws are made and existing laws are amended.

Elbert Reeves is mature, experienced, proven capable by an outstanding record of service. Your problems are his problems. You know he will represent you fairly and effectively.

"Flying Ants" May Be Termites

Take a good, close look at the "flying ants" that you may find glistening in the warm sunlight these days near your house or buildings. Chances are they are termites heading for a wedding in your woodwork.

Spring's mating call sends the ants and termites soaring on their frail wings, and it's only the royalty that flies. When they pair off, though, it means a new colony is beginning.

Look at the wings. If they are transparent with distinct, heavy veins, are tapered and only slightly longer than the insect's body, protruding from the sides of the body when folded, it is a winged ant with ambitions for an ant hill. If the wings are long and narrow with tiny, barely visible veins, and if they lie back parallel when folded, you are looking at a termite with designs on your doorsill.

FARM NEWS

from the County ASC Committee

WHEAT VOTE TO DECIDE VITAL QUESTIONS

How wheat farmers vote in the July 20 referendum on Wheat Marketing Quotas will actually affect only two parts of the 1957 wheat program. Whether or not quotas are approved, acreage allotments will remain in effect for the crop.

The two points at issue in the vote are (1) whether marketing quotas shall be in effect, with penalties on "excess" wheat from farms (with more than 15 acres of wheat harvested as grain) not in compliance with the acreage allotment; and (2) the level of price support available to those who comply with their farm acreage allotments.

If quotas are approved by at least two-thirds of those who vote in the referendum, the quotas and penalties for excess production will be in effect, and price support on the crop will be available at a level between 75 and 90 percent of parity to those who comply with the farm wheat allotments.

If more than one-third of the voters disapprove the quotas, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalties for excess production, and the available price support will drop to 50 percent of parity, as provided by law.

Whether or not quotas are in effect, acreage allotments will remain in effect for the 1957 wheat crop.

Voting places in Donley County are: Fraser Elevator - Boydston, and County ASC Office at Clarendon. Polls will open at 8:00 A. M. and close at 7:00 P. M. All wheat growers who will have more than 15 acres of wheat in 1957 should vote. There are ballots available for any producer who will be away from the county on July 20th.

COTTON MEASURED:

Some two hundred (200) cotton farms have been measured in the field at this time. Several Performance Reporters are at work. Some of them are doing an excellent job. Others are not doing satisfactory work. The farms measured by reporters failing to do good work will have to be re-measured. If a reporter comes back to your farm to re-measure your cotton acreage will you please help him? Tell him where ALL your cotton is planted. Show him where all the turn rows are and any other deduction such as a wash or draw or garden that should be taken off your cotton acreage. Be sure to tell him if you have any cotton field that has been replanted to feed or other crop at this time because of a loss of your cotton for any reason. Help the reporter and he will do a BETTER job on your farm.

SOIL BANK:

Thirty-eight (38) wheat farmers have signed up to place wheat acreages in the Soil Bank for 1956. Only two (2) cotton farmers have requested that their cotton acreages be placed in the Soil Bank for 1956.

Farmers are reminded that they must comply with "No grazing or cropping" provisions of the Soil Bank Acreage Reserve agreement when they designate land to be included under the Acreage Reserve Program. Both the legislation and the program regulations impose a civil penalty for knowingly and willfully violating the agreement.

Should a farmer wish to harvest a crop on land already designated for the Acreage Reserve, he should request the county committee to cancel or amend his agreement and this must be done not later than July 20th—the closing date for signing the Acreage Reserve Agreement.

scribed by Byrd Mock by the following toast:
A modern Eden built with water,
A paradise for Eve's fairest daughter;
Who eats the golden apple without sin;
A most unique place to sojourn in.
This same writer described Arkansas with the following toast;

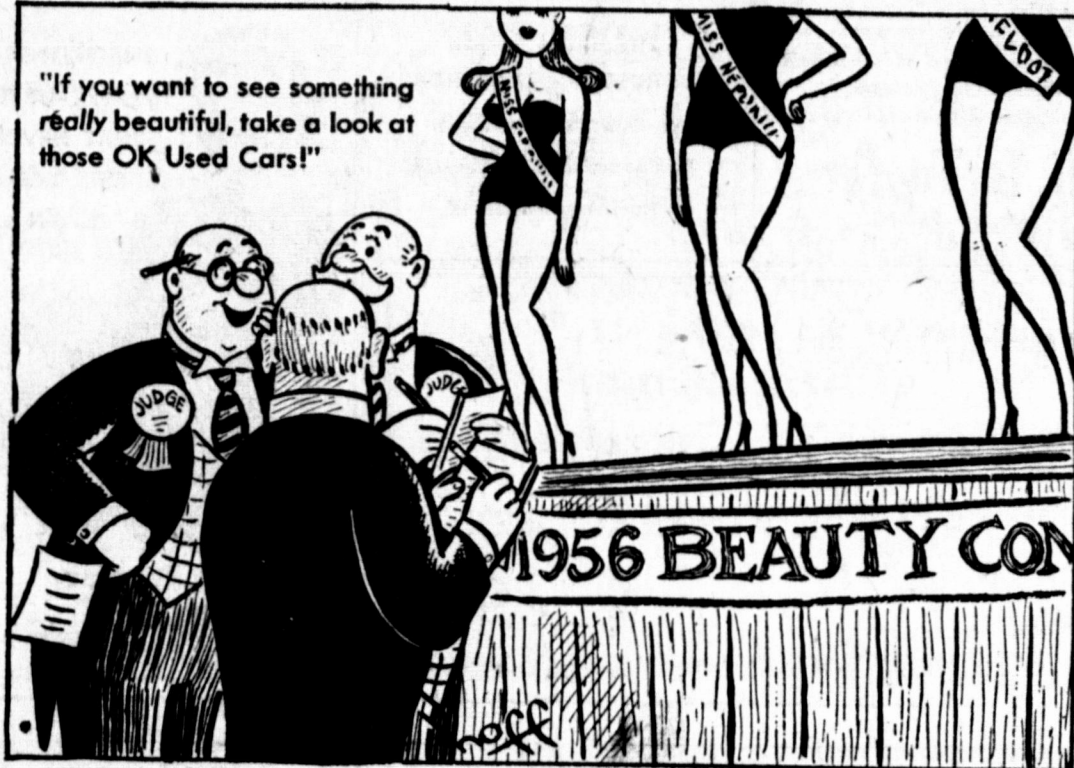

Arkansas, the land of pearls, Diamonds, peaches, pretty girls, Watermelons, apples, rice; Everything that's good and nice.
One of the nicest buildings in town is the Crescent Hotel. We stayed there. Actually, don't tell anyone, but we just stayed there about an hour while we watched TV in the lobby. Near this hotel is the little Catholic Church which according to the publicity is entered through the steeple.

This is true in a sense. You enter at the steeple, go down a long walk and then enter again at the front door. It is a beautiful church and has some striking stories about its beginning.
Near the city we find one of the most beautiful springs we have ever seen. These springs flow 38 million gallons per day of the same temperature water the year around. Years ago some engineer did some work and started a private water company. Now you pay a small fee just to look and it is beautiful. If it was as well advertised as Pike's Peak, folks would drive hundreds of miles just for this sight alone.

Next we stopped at Roaring River State Park near Cassville, Mo. Even though this was the one state we didn't buy a fishing license in, here we saw the most fish we have ever seen in our life. The state was keeping the Roaring River stocked with better than foot long fish and turning out just enough of them each day to keep the spirits of the fishermen good. Hundreds of thousands of fish a good foot long just being held ready to dump into the river. As the fish made their way down the first mile which consisted of man made waterfalls every hundred yards the fishermen went wild catching them. We're going back here someday and take our camping outfit. For 50 cents a day you can camp and fish just by paying your state license. It is one of those gushing mountain streams flowing about twenty feet or maybe more wide and a good foot deep as it goes over the falls. It was beautiful to behold. If we tried to tell the truth about how many and how big these fish were you wouldn't believe it.

Looking out over the town, the courthouse, the churches, or even just the home it looks almost like a sea of wonderful and different flowers. It's unbelievable. Just about every kind of flower that can be grown in window boxes are found here. If you are ever near this beautiful town be sure and drive by just for this sight alone.
Back into Oklahoma and into the beautiful Cherokee Lakes country. Water and more water, lakes and more lakes. It looks like in a few years the fish population should get ahead of the fisherman population. Right now the fish were too smart for us. Anyway, we used our fishing license again but we didn't hurt any of the game warden's pet fish.

Want to miss in northeastern Oklahoma as you travel toward Tulsa is the old home town of Will Rogers at Claremore, Okla. Here in a museum built and maintained by Will's Indian relatives is one of the most wonderful collections of interesting things we have ever witnessed; most of it relating to the life of this beloved American. Here is the tomb of Will Rogers. Much of their furniture and keepsakes. It makes a lump in your throat as you look and think about this great man. All in all it was a great trip. Maybe we should let you rest awhile.

ALDERSON CHEVROLET
CLARENDON, TEXAS

While in town we were guests in a little cottage owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Roe. It was called Roe's Court but they did not have but just a few accommodations and we were in that lucky few. Mrs. Roe is a story by herself. What a worker she is as she and her husband build and make extra rooms and repair antique furniture. If I were handing out a prize for clean cabins and bed clothes I would certainly give the medal to Mrs. Roe. We would nominate her as having the whitest sheets in Arkansas. It was almost impossible to believe white could be that white. We liked it there.

Talking about charging a small fee; we visited a local private collection of relics which was called a museum. The ad said the admission was free. Once inside there was a pot for a free-will offering. The pay-off was this. Sitting beside the collection pot was one of the solemnest men I have ever seen. To have smiled must have been a catastrophe in his case. His eyes followed your every move as you looked at the trinkets and as you passed the collection pot, oh boy, his eyes followed your hand as it fished for some small change and as you tried to make it hit hard on the bottom. Anyway, I never had a dime and four pennies to make such little noise before.

We could spend pages writing about Eureka Springs but you'll want to go there for yourself some day and we must tell about the rest of the trip. It's some town to say the least. A town of four or five thousand people and half of them living in hotels and tourist camps and the most of them old and retired folks. Most every body with time on their hands; time to talk and visit. We are going back someday and just rest.

After we left this beautiful spot at the Roaring River State park we would be willing to deed Mr. Truman the most of what caught our eyes for the next hour or so's drive. Then, we came into the little town of Neosho, Mo. Noted mostly for its dairying and for some plants that make by-products of milk this seems only a quiet and neighborly little town. Some years ago it was noted for its springs but as the drouth progressed these dried up. Something seemed to be needed to revive the spirits of the townsfolk. A retired editor of a leading magazine knew of a New York Trust fund that would help towns with a beautifying project. The Trust was contacted and a committee decided among other clean up programs to start a window box contest. The first money was advanced by the trust. Today the town boasts 10,000 windows with a beautiful box of flowers in each

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Keep The Change"

If you've seen "Mac" Johnson this week, chances are he's told you his waitress story. For those who haven't heard:
"Mac" recently stopped at an out-of-town diner. He ordered the chef's special—and his waitress (brand new on the job) made every possible mistake. She confused the order, spilled the soup, dropped the rolls, brought him a wrong dessert.
Despite it all, "Mac" left a substantial tip. But she smiled and handed the money back. "Keep it, Mister—you've sure earned more than I have," she said.

From where I sit, that girl deserves credit for admitting her shortcomings—something not everyone is big enough to do. For instance, I'm convinced lots of folks know they're wrong when they deny me the right to a glass of beer with my supper... just because they happen to prefer some other beverage. They wouldn't like me ordering them to accept my choice.

Campaigning For Governor Is Family Affair

AUSTIN—When U. S. Senator Price Daniel campaigns for Governor, it's a family affair. Daniel's wife, four children, sister and brother are all playing an active role in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Mrs. Daniel, the former Jean Baldwin of Houston, is the great-grand-daughter of General Sam Houston, so her Texas political heritage runs a long way back. She has been helping her husband campaign since they were married on June 28, 1940, when he was in the midst of a race for re-election to the Texas House of Representatives.

This summer she has been with the Senator on many of his campaign tours, and on some occasions has had their four children along to meet the people and help pass out literature. The oldest son, Price Jr., 15, has an eye on a political future himself. The other Daniel children are Jean, 13, Houston Lee, 10, and John Baldwin, 8.

The Senator's sister, Ellen Daniel, is a volunteer worker at State Campaign headquarters in Austin. She has also traveled with the family.

Their brother, former State Rep. Bill Daniel of Liberty, is chairman of the Senator's statewide Speakers' Bureau and has made scores of speeches and personal appearances in behalf of Price Daniel's candidacy.

WAVES are first enlisted as seaman recruits, USN, and are sent to the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., for nine weeks of recruit training.

DONLEY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The recent good rains in most parts of the District may make a grass seed harvest possible. On pastures with a good stand of sideoats grama or blue grama it may be possible for a seed harvest in three or four weeks. Of course, suitable weather for seed fill will be necessary. However, there is a good chance that if a pasture were deferred now it could be combined within a month or two. At the present time sideoats seed is selling for 75 cents to $1.00 per pound. It is possible that some pastures would make 50 to 100 pounds of seed per acre. Besides the native grass pastures, areas that have been seeded to grass may offer excellent opportunity for seed harvest. Sandlove grass, Indian grass, switchgrass, and weeping lovegrass are among the most likely possibilities here.

It is realized that grass seed harvest is new to most farmers and ranchers, and for that reason a chance to make a nice profit could easily be passed up. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Donley Soil Conservation District, will assist district cooperators in planning and carrying out a seed harvest.

Banded Dove Finally Shot

AUSTIN—Routine that marks modern-day wildlife studies was typified by the report on a mourning dove banded in Texas six years ago and reported bagged in Mexico recently.

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said the dove was banded near Midland by Game Warden Bob Evins, now of Junction, on June 26, 1950, soon after it hatched in a Chinese elm tree.

The report on the band was made by Julian Fejeda of Santa Maria del Valle, Jalisco, Mexico. He forwarded the number on the band which provided the key to details of the original nest marking.

In complying with the instructions on the band, Fejeda wrote: "The ring on the bird's leg had the following inscription (notify Game Comm., Austin, Texas, 20405) '60' I am pleased to do it and I hope you will be satisfy."

The Director said this cooperation across the border is "very important" since returns on the banded game is vital to studies by technicians concerning nesting, migrating and feeding habits of the game birds.

The Republic of Andorra is in the eastern Pyrenees, between Spain and France.

That sure makes Buick a whale of a lot of car for the money. And look:

Nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get the absolute smoothness and the electrifying performance of Buick's terrific new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Nowhere else can you get the obedient responsiveness of Buick's big and mighty new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. Or Buick's matchless new handling ease and ever-level ride buoyancy—or Buick's bold new sweep-ahead styling, and solidity of structure, and stretch-out roominess.

Add it all up and the answer comes out the same, any way you figure it: Now's the time to buy your 1956 Buick.

Will you come in—before another sun sets—and get set with your best buy yet?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

To Phillips 66 Dealers, "Hospitality on the Highway" means more than just filling your car's gas tank or checking the oil. Along with clean rest rooms, it means having your car brushed out, getting the windows cleaned... and special attention to your battery, tires and radiator. It means friendliness, courtesy, the desire to please you.

Your Phillips 66 Dealer believes that in the service he gives, as well as in the products he sells, "It's Performance that Counts." Drive in to his station soon.

IN SERVICE... IN PRODUCTS... IT'S PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS!

Buyer... vs. Seller

COPYRIGHT 1956 D. E. SCOTT

Most of us lead a double life.

One minute we're a BUYER. The next minute we're a SELLER . . . of goods, services, time, or talents.

Of course, there's some incompatibility in a Buyer-Seller combination. About like you'd expect in a dog-and-cat mixture.

Consequently, we sometimes get to playing our part as Mr. Buyer with such enthusiasm we forget that our other self, Mr. Seller, has to put dollars in our pocket before our Mr. Buyer self can spend them out of it.

And every time we, as Mr. Buyer, take one of those dollars out of circulation here by spending it out of town, we shrink Mr. Seller's market so it's a little harder for him to get us some more dollars.

It's too bad we don't get more teamwork out of our two personalities. When Mr. Buyer is cutting Mr. Seller's throat, we need to recall that they are both using the same throat.
