Muenster makes international friends...

Twenhovens given grand tour

A bridge of communication was established with our namesake city and a deeper understanding of Muenster's heritage gained by the citizens who participated in the visit of the Lord Mayor of Münster, Westphalia, in West Germany, Dr. Jörg Twenhöven and his wife, Monika.

Dr. and Mrs. Twenhöven are the parents of two sons and two daughters. He is presently serving the end of a five-year term as mayor of the city with a population of 250,000 people and has recently been re-elected for another term. He is also chief administrator over approximately 600 libraries which are owned by the Catholic church in the province of Westphalia and he holds a law degree.

A delegation of nine people from Muenster and Teddy Trept, chairman of the German Day In Texas program, were at Dallas Love Field Thursday evening to welcome the Twenhövens. Muenster's mayor, Ted Henscheid, presented Monika Twenhöven with a bouquet of yellow roses and Carol Henscheid presented Dr. Twenhöven with a stetson hat, a gift from the town of Muenster.

The two mayors and their spouses then enjoyed dinner at Steak and Ale before returning to Muenster. Ted and Carol Henscheid welcomed the visiting couple as guests in their home.

Gifts from the visiting couple to the Henscheids were a tie with Münster's crest, and the first copy of the press of a book on the history of Münster, Westphalia, a candy dish with German candy and a lovely silk scarf for Carol.

The Twenhövens and Henscheids were guests of Chas and Carolyn Bayer for breakfast Friday morning at Bayer's Kolonialwaren. Mrs. Twenhöven presented Mrs. Bayer with a dish of chocolate candy with an image of Münster City Hall.

Approximately 23 people participated in the bus tour which was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Tour guides were Daryl Ferber and Juanita Bright.

During the drive through the Muenster Park, the concept of Germanfest was explained to the honored guests. Mrs. Twenhöven was impressed with the idea of the Weinzapfel community gardens, but said Germany had nothing like it. She also commented that she found it odd that each home didn't have an apple or other fruit tree.

At the McKamy Ranch, everyone was treated to an exhibition of calf roping. Dr. Twenhöven accepted an offer to ride one of the cutting horses. Not realizing the soft touch required of a cutting horse, he reigned in too hard and took a tumble from the rearing horse. Unharmed, the lord mayor graciously offered to get in the saddle again.

Linda Hacker gave a tour of Hacker Brothers workover rig which was on location north of Muenster. She also presented the Jörg Twenhövens with engraved money clips and engraved pen sets. After this, the bus tour headed north to view the scenery north of Muenster.

During the stop at Fischer's

Feed Lot south of Muenster, the lord mayor took great interest in the ingredients of feed given to the cattle. Johnny Fisher was on hand to explain the process and answer everyone's questions.

A last minute addition to the tour was a stop at the old Paul Fisher dairy which is now operated by Brad Bass. Mr. Bass conducted a tour of the barn and lots and explained the milking operation. Paul Fisher was harvesting sweet potatoes from his garden when the tour group arrived. Jörg and Monika saw a sweet

Travelers untouched by quake

"We knew we were traveling to an area with predictions of an impending earthquake, but I guess you think it will never happen to you," Alvin Fuhrman reported by telephone early Wednesday morning from his dark hotel room at the San Francisco Hilton. He and his wife, Gracie, along with Bill and Terese Miller, were in San Francisco attending a telephone industry convention. Alvin and Gracie were in their hotel room and the Millers were at the famed Fisherman's Wharf when the devastating quake that has been the prime news item this week shook the San Francisco area during evening rush hour Tuesday. Fuhrman said there was a violent shaking of the building and the television nearly slid off its mount in their 12th floor room.

"We were told this is an earthquake-proof building but you could really hear the steel in the building groaning," he said. "We heard that the top of the hotel swayed as much as 8 feet, but we saw only very minor damage."

They started to evacuate down the stairway right away then stayed in the bottom of the hotel. Many who were out in the streets took refuge in the hotel lobby where the management was making all its resources and food available to those in need. Fuhrman said they later returned to their room when told it would be every bit as safe as where they were. Gas and electricity were turned off shortly after the quake and remained off when he called The Enterprise about 7:10 a.m. Pacific time.

Bill and Terese Miller were caught without transportation at Fisherman's Wharf and were forced to walk for two hours and eight miles back to the Hilton. There was a tense time of prayer for the families in Muenster until Bill got through the overloaded phone system to report they were all right.

Fuhrman said they barely felt the aftershocks in their location in downtown San Francisco. They were about 15 blocks away from the freeway approaching the Bay Bridge which connects San Francisco and Oakland, the double-decker which collapsed on rush-hour drivers. There was not much damage in the Hilton area and nobody in the hotel was hurt.

The Fuhrmans and Millers would have returned home early Sunday but now plan to leave as soon as they can.

Another safe report came Tuesday night from Teddy Gremminger, son-in-law of Mrs. Victor Hartman. He is in San Francisco on the job for Kraft Foods and had just got to his hotel room when the quake struck. He, also, was safe.

Green light given for antique street lights

The Texas Highway Department has given the "go-ahead" for immediate installation of the antique street lights which were delivered about two weeks ago as part of the $20,000 award Muenster won in 1986. The "Keep Texas Beautiful" Contest was won due to Gary Fisher's hard work and his organization of "Operation: Clean Sweep."

Three department engineers visited Muenster last week to review the proposed sites along Hwy. 82 and Main Street. Fifty fixtures are all that are available, however, over 50 sites were selected as potential installation points. If tenants or lot owners cannot install a fixture on the proposed sites, then the alternate sites can have a fixture. A number of local contractors have expressed interest in working on the installation project.

Each land owner or tenant who wishes to adopt a fixture to improve his business (or residential) property will be required to make arrangements for installation of the fixtures. Any local contractor can perform the task of installation which is relatively simple. The fixtures come pre-wired, and will require a level concrete base to which the fixture can be bolted. The base should have power provided to it which is controlled by electric eye and wired to a source which will not be interrupted. The wiring can be underground burial cable at a depth of 24 inches, with conduit being used for any portion which rises to the surface. An electrical outlet should be in the base for easy disconnect and future use for Christmas decorations. More detailed information on installation will be provided by the Muenster Chamber office.

The Centennial Street Light Project comes at a time when concerns about Christmas decorations begin surfacing. TU Electric has expressed concern that the traditional strings of lights over the roadway are no longer safe due to the higher loads being allowed, and the sets are worn out from the continuous use they have undergone since being purchased by the City in the early '60s. They may not be put up this year as a result. In addition, the ferris wheel which adorned the AMPI lot last Christmas was badly damaged when the May 16 winds blew it over, bending the frame.

As we approach the close of our Centennial year on Dec. 8, it is hoped the citizens rise up to meet the occasion with business and residential displays better than ever.

KCs honor Ed and Maudine Griffin

Eddie and Maudine Griffin are the 1989 "Good Neighbor" award winners announced by the Muenster Council Knights of Columbus on Sunday morning, Oct. 15. Grand Knight John Walterscheid made the presentation following the 8 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

Before introducing the couple, Walterscheid explained that the prestigious award is given annually to a non-Catholic member of the Muenster community who has shown the extraordinary qualities of a good neighbor. "A good neighbor," he said, "does not have to do any one thing spectacularly, but does the many little wonderful things that add up to more than is absolutely necessary or expected."

"This year, the Knights of Columbus have chosen for our Good Neighbors a partnership and team who exemplify the willingness to do that little extra. This partnership is that of a husband and wife, Eddie and Maudine Griffin." A carved wooden plaque was presented to the couple.

Eddie Griffin is the principal of Muenster High School, and is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce. His wife is also a member of the Chamber. They moved to Muenster in 1985 and became an active part of our community, said John Walterscheid. "One of the most significant reasons the Knights of Columbus chose this couple as our Good Neighbors is that we are well aware of the many, many times Mr. Griffin spent his own time after work, counseling and helping youth of the community. This Good Neighborly believes that an investment in our youth is an investment in tomorrow."

Eddie Griffin was born and raised in Electra and graduated from Electra High School. He moved to Hurst in 1956 and attended Texas Christian University where he earned a Bachelor of Music Education degree in 1960. In 1975, he graduated from Tarleton State University with a Master's degree in Administration. He has also continued graduate work at the University of North Texas and East Texas State University.

Maudine Griffin was born in Hamilton, Texas and moved to Fort Worth in 1949. She graduated from Amon Carter Riverside High School and attended Commercial College in Fort Worth.

They were married in Fort Worth on July 1, 1960. They have two children, a son, Leslie, age 28, of Arlington, and a daughter, Laura, age 24, of Grapevine; and a daughter-in-law and son-in-law and three granddaughters.

Griffin began his teaching career in Chico, Texas in 1960, and since then the Griffins have lived and worked in several Texas communities including Burleson, Copperas Cove, Waco, and Breckenridge. They came to Muenster in August of 1985 from Collinsville where he had been high school principal and Maudine was bookkeeper for the Sherman Independent School District. She assumed duties as the Executive Secretary of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce in November 1985, until resigning in May 1989.

Indications of the students' respect for Mr. Griffin have been demonstrated many times. One notable incident was the students' dedication of their outstanding District UIL victory in early 1989 to the Principal of MHS, while he was recovering from a serious illness.

Following the church service, a breakfast was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, with the Good Neighbor honorees and a number of their friends as guests.

The special speaker was Noel Wesley, past president of the Fort Worth chapter of Knights of Columbus.

John Walterscheid presented appreciation plaques to Robin

Hess of Lindsay and Nancy Sicking of Muenster, expressing the council's thanks for their work on the KC-sponsored T-ball summer program for children.

Walterscheid also thanked Mrs. Arnold Knabe for table decorations at the breakfast; and Mrs. Nellie Martin and Mrs. Hilda Sicking who catered the meal; and Lupe Evans for securing Boy Scouts and several girls who served the breakfast.

Lindsay to open bids on paving

by Elaine Schad

The Lindsay City Council will open bids Oct. 23 for a street paving project which will include Willow and Bezner Streets, and Community Drive in Community Estates.

The council hopes to award the contract around Oct. 30. The city consulted its engineer, Tim Morris of Sherman, who said there shouldn't be a problem with proceeding with the project this late in the year. "The only problem would be if we had an unusually cold winter, but that would only delay the laying of the asphalt," said Mayor Don Metzler. He said the work leading up to laying the asphalt could be completed. The contract would call for completion within 120 days of the start date.

In other business at their regular October meeting, the council appointed David Arendt and Manley Taylor to develop a plan to replace the bridge in the city park that was destroyed by spring flooding to present at the November meeting.

Council representatives will meet with the church council and with Weldon Bezner to discuss a plan for drainage that would involve those properties. The Soil Conservation Service has conducted a survey of the area which would provide better drainage for the city during the winter and spring rains. A proposal would provide for a small drainage canal across a 40-foot-wide strip that would take the water south and out of the town quicker and more efficiently.

SMALL BUSINESS ANGLE®

by John Sloan

CURES FOR HEALTH INSURANCE ILLS

As the cost of health insurance soars, a growing number of policymakers wants to solve the problem by shifting the costs to the public or to small-business owners.

The American Medical Association is one of the latest groups to back a law that would require all employers to provide health insurance for their employees.

Although the AMA tempers its report by urging that the government have mercy on small and new businesses, the impact would still be crippling. The AMA Board proposed options such as a phase-in period. Instead of dumping the health insurance burden on small businesses at once, the pain would be doled out slowly.

Two-thirds of small firms provide health insurance. According to a survey by the National Federation of Independent Business, which represents more than 570,000 small firms, most small-business owners who do not provide insurance say they would if they could afford to.

It is no coincidence that AMA's endorsement of employer-paid insurance comes at a time when many politicians are taking a second look at Canada's universal medical-care program. Universal care has proven successful at keeping down doctors' fees, not one of the AMA's goals.

Politicians like universal care because service is "free" to everyone. Citizens fund health insurance through taxes, which entitle them to unlimited use — or overuse.

The Canadian system is expensive. It costs the average taxpayer $1,200 per year. An average two-child family pays close to $5,000 a year for this public health insurance.

Since the Canadian system began in 1970, public expenditures for health care have grown at an annual rate of 9.4 percent. As health care costs rise, so too do taxes. Cost is not the only issue. The quality of care also suffers under universal health systems. Medical professionals spend less time developing new technology because there is less funding to support it. Government attempts to keep down taxes discourages innovation.

Jay Gardner, president of Risk Management in San Francisco, says, "The fundamental cause of the U.S. health-care crisis is that the normal rules of economics have been suspended as regard medical care. Buying decisions are made by the sellers — the doctors. A doctor tells you what you need and you agree in large part because you do not pay the bill, insurance companies do."

Neither government mandates nor universal care are the answer. The solution lies in helping the free market do what it does best.

Congress must accept the fact that health care should be rationed. Lawmakers must allow small firms to offer basic policies that cover major illnesses without providing frills, such as dental care and infertility treatment. This shift will force health care consumers to decide what they really need and to question health care providers more carefully.

In addition, Congress should allow the self-employed to deduct the full cost of health insurance, not just the current 25 percent scheduled to expire this year. A permanent 100-percent tax deduction would help four million self-employed business owners directly. It would also give them an incentive to insure their 22 million employees. Having made these changes, legislators must have patience and let the free market work.

"It is a vain hope, when planting an oak tree, to hope to soon take shelter under it. — Antoine de Saint-Exupery

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR STUPIDITY

By Edwin Feulner

Nothing is beyond the pale in the Entitlement Society. Bravo to congressmen Dick Armey, R-Texas, and Dana Rohrabacher, R-Calif., for finally saying "Enough!" to the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) after learning that taxpayers were funding pornographic exhibits under the banner of "art." Unfortunately, the deeper lessons seem to have been missed.

As expected, hysterics screamed "Censorship!" so a definition is in order. Editors are not censors when they reject articles or story ideas, nor is government a censor when it refuses to disburse taxpayers' money to would-be recipients. As every schoolchild should know—and many Washington blowhards could profit from some elementary education—censorship is denial of free expression, not denial of subsidies for expression. Nothing could be more absurd than the view that congressional refusal to fund pornography, or anything else for that matter, somehow constitutes censorship.

Reps. Armey and Rohrabacher did succeed in cutting the NEA budget by $45,000, which is what it cost taxpayers for the two pornographic exhibits in question. But the fundamental question that has been all but forgotten is this: What in the world is the federal government doing in the arts business?

Is it that naysayers such as Armey and Rohrabacher can't appreciate Art? I will spare you a list of NEA-funded projects that are "art" only if everything can be called art, in which case the term would be meaningless. My point is: Even if NEA had been funding creative geniuses, it's still not a proper role of government.

No one opposes art. What many of us oppose is taxing low-income Americans to fund exhibits and festivals that, however worthy, appeal chiefly to upper-income Americans.

Let art enthusiasts pay their own way. And if they're not willing to do so, perhaps their enthusiasm is actually just status-seeking.

Shakespeare will survive without NEA. There is no more justification—indeed there is less—for government to tax wrestling fans to fund Shakespeare festivals than there would be to force Shakespeare lovers to fund the next West-lemnia extravaganza.

Nor is government well-suited to discover and draw out the hidden talents of potential Shakespeares, Beethovens, and Calderes. NEA has turned too many potential poets, musicians, and painters into professional lobbyists who, instead of working at their crafts, devote their energies to filling out grant forms and cultivating connections at the right agencies, councils, and bureaus.

NEA funding has risen from $2.5 million in 1965 to $169 million today. Where's the artistic renaissance?

It gets more painfully obvious every year that whatever art America produces comes more in spite of NEA than because of it.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The often-used grudging concession of admiration for a politician with whom one usually disagrees, goes like this: "You may not like his position, but you know where he stands."

Attorney General Jim Mattox, reportedly running a distant third when he announced for governor last week, staked out firm positions on more issues than any candidate of either party.

Obviously aware that a little derring-do is needed to play catch-up, Mattox risked boldness while others rested on caution.

An unabashed, unapologetic liberal, Mattox said he:

- Supports a lottery to fund public school financing, and opposes any form of new taxes;
- Will veto any state income tax bill the Legislature passes;
- Favors the death penalty for heinous crimes and drug dealing; and
- Would use the Texas National Guard to seal off the Rio Grande border to drug smugglers and car thieves.

Does this platform sound liberal to you? Mattox, the arch-liberal, embraced several issues dear to conservative hearts. While other Democrats quietly discuss moving the party back to center, Mattox publicly put his leadership on the line.

Thus far, only Republican

Clayton Williams is as open and firm on any issue. His is the war on drugs.

Lottery Response

In response to the Mattox challenge, Gov. Bill Clements asked both political parties to put the lottery issue on the primary ballot.

The other major candidates declined to follow Mattox' strong lead on the lottery issue, and only Republican Kent Hance expressed opposition to one.

More Law Officers

Congressman John Bryant of Dallas, a candidate for attorney general, said Texas cities should hire 10,000 more police officers during the next four years to reduce their soaring crime rates.

Citing FBI statistics, Bryant said, "Texas has today become one of the most dangerous states in America in which to live."

Bryant said he would support city councils that raise taxes to bolster their police forces. But he said, "I don't expect any mayors to advocate this."

He also proposed that the state authorize the Department of Public Safety to hire 40 additional narcotics officers.

Insurance Lawsuit

Mattox said two insurance firms, Travelers Insurance Co. and St. Paul's Fire and Marine Insurance Co., have agreed to pay $500,000 and testify in an anti-trust lawsuit continuing against other insurance companies.

The two firms denied any wrongdoing, and the payments are not fines or penalties, but for investigative and legal costs.

Past Deeds Surface

Two state legislators and a former House member, all running to replace the late Houston Congressman Mickey Leland, blamed each other for checked reports of their pasts.

State Rep. Ron Wilson was chided years back for possible misuse of $16,000 in state funds, of which he paid back $2,000; Houston city councilman Anthony Hall was criticized for allegedly steering city business to a client/contributor; and state Sen. Craig Washington apologized for his assault on a woman friend six years ago.

Other Campaigns

- In the 17th state senatorial district, Bryan state Rep. Richard Smith announced for the Republican slate, and Ron DeLord, head of the state's largest police labor union, entered as a Democrat.

Meanwhile, former state Rep. Dan Kubiak, in Europe on a trade mission when incumbent Sen. Kent Caperton announced his retirement, is reportedly eyeing the race.

- State Rep. Keith Valigura, R-Conroe, will not seek re-election, opting to devote more time to family and business. He endorsed Dr. Bob Rabuck as his successor.

- Bob Munson, a veteran of Louisiana political battles, will take over state Sen. Chet Edwards' underdog campaign for lieutenant governor. Comptroller Bob Bullock, a veteran state official, is Edwards' opponent in the March Democratic primary.

Other Highlights

- Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower blasted the new pesticide board as a "flawed and clumsy beast" but vowed it will not turn back the clock on pesticide regulation. The Legislature last session took pesticide regulation away from Hightower and gave it to the new board.
- The U.S., Census Bureau reported 21 percent of the nation's Hispanic population lives in Texas. Some 4.3 million live here, up from 3 million in the 1980 census.
- State Rep. Terral Smith, the second Travis County Republican elected to the House in more than a century, announced he will not seek re-election in 1990.

potato for the first time. Ronnie Felderhoff was tour guide at Muenster Mill. He allowed all who were interested to sample a variety of grains. The Twenhövens likened barley to the Mueslix cereal that is common in Germany.

The final stop before lunch was Sacred Heart Church and Cemetery. Jörg and Monika Twenhöven were fascinated with the names in the cemetery. Mayor Twenhöven commented that it was here that he was "able to see where the roots of the city of Muenster were connected to Münster, Westphalia."

The bus tour ended at Rohmer's Restaurant where the mayors and their spouses were lunch guests of the Chamber of Commerce. They enjoyed a hamburger lunch.

David and Juanita Bright, Alvin Fuhrman and Ted and Carol Henscheid accompanied the honored guests on the tour for the remainder of the afternoon. They traveled in a van courtesy of Endres Motor Company.

Sacred Heart School was the first stop of the afternoon. Mayor Twenhöven remarked, "Sacred Heart Grade School looks just like schools in Germany."

They visited the Montessori preschool and visited almost all of the other classrooms. "The Montessori program originated in Europe," commented Dr. Twenhöven. "A town the size of Muenster is very fortunate to have such a program." He commented that he was fascinated that a town the size of Muenster could have two school systems.

During the tour of SH grade school, the group found a poster hanging in the hallway of Münster. Dr. Twenhöven pointed out the location of his home and the city hall.

As guests at the Sacred Heart Tiger Pep Rally, the visitors sat in reserved seats in the score box. The cheerleaders introduced them and the Twenhövens were presented school T-shirts. The school received a history book on Münster from the German couple.

At The Muenster Enterprise,

the tour included watching George Avery operate the linotype and Alvin Hartman run the Heidelberg Press. David Fette, publisher, explained how the paper is printed now that the offset press is used to print the paper.

To complete the afternoon, Alvin Fuhrman gave the group a grand tour of the Muenster Telephone Co. It was interesting to the Muenster people that in Germany the government owns the telephone companies and there is not a great choice in the type of phone that a person can have in their home. Dr. Twenhöven was made an honorary 15-year employee of the telephone company and presented with a tie-tac pin.

The City of Muenster hosted Jörg and Monika Twenhöven and about 40 guests at The Center Restaurant for dinner Friday evening. Jane Monday was mistress of ceremonies for the program.

Mayor Henscheid presented Dr. Twenhöven with a key to the City of Muenster. In return, Mayor Twenhöven presented Mr. Henscheid with a gold coin with an impression of the Münster City Hall. Juanita Bright, on behalf of the steering committee, made a presentation of a copy of the Muenster Centennial History Book, which was autographed by members of the history book committee and city council. A crest of Münster done in stained glass was presented to the city of Muenster by Jörg Twenhöven. Decorations for the dinner were done by Bertha Hamric.

Muenster vs. Valley View was the first American football game for the Twenhövens to watch. They were introduced to the fans during halftime.

As they were leaving the game, Dr. and Mrs. Twenhöven were introduced to many people and they recognized many Westphalia names.

The public reception held in the Bier Garten of The Center Restaurant was well attended. Andy Serna and Roger Endres played music for the occasion. Many German songs were sung. Joe Hoenig did a solo German song.

During the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Plogstra of Richardson brought the exchange student from Germany who is staying with them to meet Dr. and Mrs. Twenhöven. They boy, Kai, is from Münster, Westphalia. His parents are Dr. and Mrs. Partale. Dr. Partale is a veterinarian and is boarding the Twenhöven pet dog.

"The citizens of Muenster who had the opportunity to meet Mayor Twenhöven and his wife must have been as impressed with them as Carol and I were," said Mayor Ted Henscheid.

A visit to the Muenster Museum was first on the agenda Saturday morning. Mayor Twenhöven was particularly impressed. "It's really a fine museum for just starting this year," he commented. Münster is 1200 years old and the city just started their museum 10 years ago. Dr. Twenhöven was especially intrigued with the German Bible which belongs to Sacred Heart Parish and was used here 100 years ago.

At the museum, the Twenhövens were presented with a Centennial stein and stationary. Their gift to the museum was a candy dish with an image of the Münster city hall.

Muenster librarian Bobbie Jane Slater familiarized the visiting couple with the city library. The lord mayor donated a book on Münster, Germany to the Muenster Public Library. In turn, Linda Hacker presented each with a gift to the library. Please See MAYOR, Page 8

Tax meeting Oct. 25 in Gainesville

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced that a representative from his agency will be in Gainesville on Wednesday, Oct. 25, to answer questions about Texas taxes and assist taxpayers with paperwork and problems.

"I do not want to see state taxes turn into a burden for folks who cannot get to a field office. Our visits are a service we are happy to provide to Texas taxpayers," Bullock said.

Kevin Brogan, Enforcement Officer, Sherman Enforcement Office, will be at Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, 101 S. Culberson, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The public is welcome and there is no charge.

"I am sending my employees out to help people with questions, filling out forms, and working out problems on a local, one-to-one basis. There are some things you just cannot do as well over the phone or through the mail," Bullock said.

Gainesville area taxpayers who cannot attend the courthouse seminar can still get individual tax assistance by calling the Comptroller's toll-free number, 1-800-252-5555, from anywhere in Texas.

The Sherman Enforcement Office, headed by Linda Kissinger, serves Collin, Cooke, Delta, Denton, Fannin, Grayson, Hopkins, Hunt, Lamar, Rains and Red River counties.

Return to health by Kelly Cox is joyful news to local relatives

Although appreciation and gratitude have always been a part of the personalities of Janie Cox and her daughter, Kelly, age 17, learning to express those attributes eloquently is growing with each new phase of Kelly's return to health.

Janie and Kelly are daughter and granddaughter of Bertha and Bruno Fleitman. The Cox family includes the father, Frankie, and sons, Kris and Kevin. Their home is in Tomball, Texas.

After many years of illness and treatments, including two years of dialysis and hospital stays, Kelly has now undergone a kidney transplant donated by her mother.

Janie Cox explained, "Kelly was diagnosed with Focal Segmental Glomerulosclerosis (FSGS), a fatal disease that attacks the kidneys, and leaves them scarred and useless. Her disease was chronic, her kidneys were dysfunctional without a transplant. Her blood pressure was extremely high, and testing for the compatibility of eligible family member donors was long and trying."

Mother and daughter underwent the operations successfully. Now, two months since the operations, confidence in Kelly's renewed health is glowing, and possibility of rejection has faded.

Kelly is finishing high school in Tomball and looks forward gleefully to vacations and visits back in Muenster with her grandparents. Such visits were frequent in her childhood, ever since she was able to fly from Houston to Dallas and be met by relatives. Her mother is an employee of Continental Airlines in Houston.

Both mother and daughter expressed special thanks to relatives and friends in Muenster and to Janie's fellow employees in the Houston area for blood drives for Kelly's transfusions, for countless cards, phone calls, moral support and prayers, for Mass offerings and especially the attention of the Prayer Group of Sacred Heart Parish.

The show was held on the parking lot of the Cross Roads Mall. A special awards banquet was held to present winners with their trophies.

The Koelzers are members of the Studebaker Driver's Club International. They were joined in Oklahoma City by friends from Wichita Falls, Burkburnett and Electra.

Caregiver survival program scheduled

by Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent
Persons caring for a frail elderly spouse, parent, brother or sister, may feel alone and overwhelmed by the responsibility.

"Caregivers need care, too!" That's the focus of a program called, "The Caregiver Survival Guide," set for Wednesday morning, Oct. 25, at the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

Although a caregiver can't change the condition of a dependent family member, a caregiver can reduce stress and protect his or her own health by establishing limits, involving others, and asking for and accepting help. "Friends and family can also help by providing support and respect, a break in caregiving for the caregiver."

These subjects will be discussed at the program which begins at 9:30. The presentation, sponsored by the Strengthening the Family Committee of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is open to the public without charge. Mrs. Judy Warren, Gerontology Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service from College Station, will present the program.

To help start discussion, a media presentation called "The Dollmaker" will be shown. It tells the story of Alyce, whose health deteriorates as a result of the burden of caring for her husband, Ernie, and also the story of their daughter, Irene, who moves Ernie into her home.

Too many caregivers are like

Alyce; they try to do it all themselves. Others like Irene and David realize what caring for someone 24 hours a day is doing to them before it is too late.

The story told by the media presentation is designed to help those attending begin to identify ways they can better cope with caregiving. It is aimed at family members because relatives are providing most of the care needed by the frail elderly or disabled family member.

A publication, "Coping with Caregiving," will be available to persons attending the program.

To preregister or for more information, contact Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent, by calling 668-5412.

Even though you are not currently caring completely for an aging parent, if this possibility exists in the future, the program can answer questions and concerns which you may have.

Baptisms

Hartman

Dainah Leigh Hartman, daughter of Bobby and Sharlene Hartman, was baptized into the Catholic Church in a special ceremony held in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster on Monday, Oct. 9, 1989, at 6 p.m. Father Victor Gillespie officiated at the sacrament in which Dainah's cousin, Sandra Michelle Endres, was also baptized.

Baptismal sponsors for Dainah were her aunt and uncle, Monica and Jon LeBrasseur. Her christening gown was a treasured keepsake worn by her father, Bobby, and her sister, Shannon, on their baptismal days. The gown was made by her great-grandmother, Mrs. Tony Felderhoff, with lace and ribbons added by her grandmother, Mrs. Alvin Hartman. She also wore a holy medal from her Great-Grandmother Felderhoff.

During the baptismal ceremony, Dainah was presented with a white vest. She also wore a gold crucifix necklace and bracelet, gifts from her godparents, and was wrapped in a beautiful white christening blanket from her grandparents, Alvin and Joanie Hartman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Bobby Hartman home. A christening cake inscribed with "God Bless Our Baby Dainah" was served to guests. Gifts were opened and pictures made.

Among those attending the ceremony were Chris Pagel, and sister Shannon; grandparents Alvin and Joanie Hartman and Maurice Pagel; great-grandmother, Mrs. Victor Hartman; Glenda Russell and Lisa and Amanda; Phil and Marlene Endres and Lacy, Ricky and Kelley Endres and Troy Pagel; Ed and Clara Endres; Dora Henschid; David and Laurie Flusche and Katie.

Baptismal sponsors were David and Laurie Flusche. Sandy's christening robe was a treasured gown worn by Sandy's sisters, Lacy and Kelly, and brother, Ricky, uncles Troy and Chris Pagel, aunt Judy Pagel, and cousins Lisa and Amanda Russell.

She was presented with a white vest during the baptism. Sandy also wore a gold crucifix necklace given as a gift to her at birth.

Attending the baptism were Sandy's sisters, Lacy and Kelly; brother Ricky; Troy Pagel; grandparents Ed and Clara Endres and Maurice Pagel; great-grandmother Dora Henschid; Katie Flusche; Glenda, Lisa and Amanda Russell; Bobby, Sharlene, Shannon and Dainah Hartman; Chris Pagel; Alvin and Joanie Hartman; Jon and Monica LeBrasseur; and Mrs. Victor Hartman.

A reception followed at the Endres home with a barbecued chicken dinner. The christening cake was served, gifts were opened and pictures were made.

Martin

Phillip Michael Martin, infant son of David and Charlotte Martin of Denton, was baptized in Sacred Heart Church on Sunday, Oct. 15. Father Sebastian was celebrant of the Mass and administered the Sacrament.

Phillip Michael's godparents were an uncle and aunt, Allen and Debbie Fleitman of Gainesville.

In the special Liturgy, Amy Sturm and April Fleitman presented the first and second Readings. Katie Fleitman, Jeffrey Wilde and Kimberly Sturm carried Offertory gifts to the altar.

The infant wore the same christening robe as worn by his father, and his big brother, Randall. It was made by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Marge Clement.

Following the church service, a covered dish dinner was held at the home of the maternal grandparents, Eddie and Maryanne Fleitman.

Attending both events were Charlotte, David, Randall and Phillip Michael Martin; Marge and Sue Clement; Bill and Sue Martin and Summer, Zena and Sandi of Pioneer Valley; Billy Martin and daughter Pamela; Dale Martin, all of Gainesville; Julie Fuhrmann of Lindsay; Allen, Debbie, April and Katie Fleitman of Gainesville; Larry Fleitman of Shreveport, La.; Rachel Hurst of Nacogdoches; and the great-grandparents, J.P. and Hazel Flusche, and son Bill.

Six Flags expands the Fright Night schedule

Six Flags Over Texas has added a third weekend to its Halloween Fright Nights schedule in an effort to avoid crowding during the event.
Last year, more than 135,000 people visited the Arlington theme park over the span of two weekends.
The 1989 edition of Fright Nights began Friday, Oct. 13, adding three days to its run.
Elaborate Halloween decorations, including ghosts in the trees and goblins stalking the streets, set the scene for Friday nights.
A third haunted house walk-through is being added this season. Designed and operated by the March of Dimes, the new attraction will require a $1 donation with the proceeds benefiting that charity.

Back for the second year will be Six Flags' own chilling walk - through for adults and teens in the Texas section and a haunted house in Looney Tunes Land designed specifically for small children.
The park's popular Spelunkers Cave ride will become the Haunted Cave during Fright Nights, with assorted Halloween creatures lurking in the darkness.
A second magic and illusion show is being added. It will be presented in the Lone Star Theater. Last year's magical hit, Dr. Frite's Mystery Theater, will return to the stage of the Southern Palace Music Hall.
A Halloween musical called the Freaky Follies Revue will play to audiences in the Crazy Horse Saloon.
The park will be open from 6 p.m. until midnight on Oct. 13 and 27. Operating hours on Saturdays will be 10 a.m. until midnight and on Sundays from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m.
Fright Nights will run through Oct. 29. The park is on its weekends-only fall schedule which continues through mid November.

St. Richard's Villa News

Although some of the favorite activities at St. Richard's Villa were curtailed because remodeling was in progress at the building, work has progressed sufficiently to allow return to "almost normal."

The public is invited to come out and visit friends and loved ones.

September guests will be listed as soon as possible. We want them to know that we appreciate everyone of them.

Activity Director Rosina Kubis has returned after convalescing from surgery. She related that she was delighted with friends who visited during her hospitalization, to residents who prayed, and to fellow employees who took on extra tasks while she was ill, and to families of residents who sent gifts.

Baptist services were held throughout September, directed by Eddie Ramsey, assisted by Rita Richey on the piano. Ray and Mabel Sicking assisted with guitar music and singing.

Ray and Mabel Sicking made a return appearance on Sept. 8, much to the enjoyment of Villa residents. Mabel played Minnie Pearl and Ray played Uncle Nabob.

The September birthday party was held on the 7th.

Facials were given before the party by Shaunalee Chaney, Nancy Grewing and Jan Cain.

The birthday honoree was Vena Settle. Her birthday was the next day, Sept. 8, with cake and ice cream furnished by her daughter, Christene Hughes. Entertainment was provided by Mildred Lawson and her accordion. Helping Mrs. Hughes with serving were Opal Berry and Charlene Woods.

On Sept. 18, Golda Lones came to lead an arts and crafts program for residents. She taught them to make "paper clip-clothes pins" decorated to look like worms, to the delight of all. They are looking forward to her next visit.

Residents love all volunteers, young and old, and express their appreciation most sincerely.

Fish Hun going on 61!

Have a "hoot" at the Heritage Halloween Hangar!

Remember the Heritage Society's birthday ball last year? Ever wonder what happened to it? Well, a spell has transformed it into the Heritage Halloween Hangar Dance to be hosted by a variety of spooks. The bloodcurdling event will take place after dark (when else?) on Saturday, Oct. 28, from 8 p.m. until the witching hour of midnight at the Circuit Breaker's Hangar at the Gainesville Airport.

People brave enough to venture out are encouraged to dress in costumes, as a prize will be given for the best one. Beer, set-ups, and popcorn will be provided. The cost is $10 per person. Tickets may be purchased at the Morton Museum or from any board member. No tickets will be sold at the door. You must be 21 to attend and ID's will be checked at the door.

So, come and howl at the DJ as he spins the records! Dance to the "Monster Mash!" We'll be waiting for you!

Mayor of Münster visits Sacred Heart School

(Submitted by Sacred Heart School)

Dr. and Mrs. Jorg Twenhoven, accompanied by Mayor and Mrs. Ted Henschel and Mr. and Mrs. David Bright, visited Sacred Heart School on Friday, Oct. 13. The mayors and their party visited the preschool, elementary and high school. Several classes greeted the guests in German. The eighth and second grades sang the alphabet in German and several seventh graders spoke their favorite German phrases for the Münster mayor. Since German was introduced as a subject in the elementary school, this was the first opportunity for students to practice their skills with a native speaker.

At the high school, the mayors and their party were guests of honor at the Sacred Heart Homecoming Pep Rally. At the conclusion of the pep rally, head cheerleader Amy Walterscheid presented Dr. and Mrs. Twenhoven Sacred Heart T-shirts as souvenirs of their visit. Dr. Twenhoven presented Amy, for the school, a copy of a book about Münster, Germany. Dr. and Mrs. Twenhoven expressed their appreciation for the warm hospitality of the students.

Kiwanians plant "SEEDS" money

The Muenster Kiwanis Club voted last Wednesday to provide SEEDS with a starter fund for $50 to be used by the newly formed group. SEEDS, standing for Successful Elementary Education Demands Support, was formed by parents and teachers of the Muenster Public Elementary School who wished to provide for a broader educational experience for children in grades K through 6.

SEEDS hopes to raise funds to help in various ways ranging from purchase of special educational materials to recognizing students who perform above expected norms. State funding, which has been steadily falling over the last five years, has made it necessary to increase local taxes to compensate for the funding losses. In addition, programs which help provide students with a well-rounded education are just not possible without parental support through organizations like SEEDS. SEEDS provides parents who have students in grades K through 6 a forum for voicing concerns about the educational system, and an organization through which the parents can have an immediate impact on the classes their kids are attending.

Other school systems in our area have a distinct head start in programs like SEEDS. In Nocona, the citizens began an "Adopt a School" and "Adopt a Class" program which has resulted in great improvements in scientific equipment such as microscopes, computers, and experimental physics equipment. The same idea caught on in Gainesville, and the Muenster Kiwanis and SEEDS hopes it can catch on in Muenster.

Cooke County College offers mini-courses

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County College has announced its fall schedule for community mini-courses.

The classes include a wide range of topics. Some of the classes are free, while others have fees ranging from $12 to $38. Most classes meet from one to three times, while a couple of classes offered meet six times.

Defensive Driving classes will be offered to teach licensed drivers to drive defensively. Some insurance companies award a 10 percent discount for three years on auto liability, collision and medical payment coverage for participants of this course. In some cases, the class may be taken in lieu of paying a traffic fine.

Tobacco use poses health risks for teenagers

A new Texas law is a step toward preventing drug addiction, lung cancer and other diseases related to tobacco use, according to the Texas Medical Association. Effective Sept. 1, the law makes purchasing tobacco products a crime for persons younger than 18.

That law, however, isn't enough to stop teenagers before they become addicted to tobacco products. Parents are urged to teach elementary school students about the dangers of using tobacco products and to enforce strict rules against tobacco use among teenagers.

Many factors contribute to tobacco use among adolescents. Peer pressure is the most important factor, although use by parents and other family members gives children a positive image of smoking even before they start school. Teenagers believe smoking makes them appear grown up.

Many teens don't take the health threats of tobacco use seriously because they believe they can quit whenever they want, thus reducing the health risks. The addictive power of nicotine, however, makes quitting extremely difficult. Studies show that 85 percent of teenagers who smoke two or more cigarettes completely - and overcome the initial discomfort of smoking - will become regular users.

Early adolescents are most at risk for starting the smoking habit. Studies show the tendency to smoke climbs steadily from 12 to 16 years old, then declines. Smoking rarely begins after age 20.

Tobacco is second to alcohol among the substances most used by 12- to 17-year-olds in Texas, according to a 1988 survey by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. Although the survey showed tobacco use has dropped slightly among Texas adolescents since 1980, five percent of high school seniors say they smoke more than half a pack a day. One alarming trend is the rising use of tobacco among young women, which has gone from half that of males in 1980 to the same level as males in 1988.

Smokeless tobacco, widely advertised in recent years, is not without risks either. Snuff users expose their mouth and gums to powerful carcinogens, and some researchers predict an epidemic of oral cancer by the turn of the century. Large amounts of sugar and sodium in smokeless tobacco also are associated with periodontic disease and high blood pressure.

The risks of tobacco use far outweigh any benefits. The Texas Medical Association hopes Texas' new law will begin to curb the problem among teenagers.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 116 component medical societies around the state. The Association represents 80 percent of the state's physicians, and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through the professional and personal development of members.

MAYOR

mayor with a copy of "In The Line Of Duty," by Lewis C. Rigler.

Mrs. Anna Henscheid delighted the Twenhövens by conversing with them in fluent German. She was able to explain to them why younger people in Muenster cannot speak German while the older citizens can speak English and German. She explained how war caused ill feelings among Americans towards Germans and that speaking German was discouraged because of this. Now we realize what was lost and that speaking a second language is useful, she explained, so the schools are again teaching German.

On the way to Fischerhaus for lunch, Ted Henscheid spied a penny wedged in the sidewalk. He decided to pry it up and keep it "for good luck." This made quite an impression on Dr. Twenhöven, who remarked, "A man who would not pick up a penny is not worthy of having a dollar."

After departing Muenster Saturday afternoon, a stop was made west of Sherman to tour the Felderhoff Brothers Drilling Rig No. 2 which was operating there. Al and Sis Felderhoff took the visitors on a tour of the rig and explained how it worked. Monika Twenhöven said that in Germany they do not have drilling rigs of that type. She said they have oil production from offshore drilling.

"The time Carol and I spent with Mayor Jörg and Monika Twenhöven will be carved in our memories forever," said Ted Henscheid. "We not only made lifetime friendships in a few days, but were able to discover knowledge of our ancestors and origin of roots of Muenster, Texas. One of my hopes is that I can gather this knowledge and put it to good use, keeping the very important doors of communication open. Both Carol and I want to express our sincere "Thank You" to the people of Muenster who participated in the many acts of kindness bestowed upon Mayor Twenhöven and his wife, which left them with a wonderful impression of Muenster, Texas."

"The people of Muenster are so nice, hospitable and friendly," said Dr. Twenhöven. He seemed very pleased with his visit and commented that Muenster was a fine place. He seemed very interested in everything he saw and took time to talk to people and especially seemed to enjoy the children.

"We are so glad that we had the Chamber of Commerce to help back the city," conceded Mayor Henscheid. "Without their help, it would have been more difficult."

The 27th Annual Pioneer Ball and Banquet was held Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Grand Kempinski Dallas in conjunction with the German Day in Texas celebration. It was preceded by a cocktail hour.

As honorary chairman of German Day in Texas 1989, the Lord Mayor of Münster, Westphalia, Dr. Jörg Twenhöven presented a speech in German and English. He was also made an honorary citizen of the State of Texas.

David and Juanita Bright were recognized as Centennial Koenig and Koenigen (King and Queen) of Muenster and as Mayor of Muenster, Ted Henscheid and his wife, Carol, were recognized.

Teddy Trept recognized Muenster, Texas as celebrating its 100th year Centennial. He made numerous complimentary remarks about Muenster.

Performing during the banquet were Dallas Town North Concert Band under the direction of Max Tunnell; Dallas Frohsinn Singing Society under the direction of Adron Ming; Soldiers Chorus of the German Air Force under the direction of Dan Wright. Dance music was by The Allan Reeves Big Band Orchestra.

There were 39 people attending the Ball from Muenster. All agreed that they had a wonderful time and many plan to attend next year. Comments were: "One event we'll never forget;" "Very impressed;" "Once in a lifetime experience, never again capture the feelings I had that night;" and "It was beautiful."

German Day has been established at the Texas State Fair to honor Texans with German heritage. On Sunday, Oct. 15, there was German food, drinks, song, dance and music available at the Bandshell from 11:30 a.m. until closing.

Through the efforts of Teddy Trept and Alvin Fuhrman, the Muenster Chamber of Commerce had a booth under the German tent. The banner sporting Muenster's Centennial logo was on display. There were pictures of the schools, churches, community center, cattle, oil wells, various Germanfest activities, the Muenster Bank, AMPI, Valenite, KC Hall, CofC office, and Muenster Telephone.

Volunteering time in the booth were Daryl Ferber, Rick and Micalae Matson, Dave and Wanda Flusche, Chas and Carolyn Bayer and Beth Trubenbach.

Among Muenster businesses displaying their products were Bayer's Kolonialwaren, H&W Meat, Structures, Endres Leasing, DI One Stop, Muenster Telephone, Muenster Milling Co., Muenster Enterprise, Chamber of Commerce, Muenster Bed & Breakfast, Rohmer's Restaurant, Fischer's Market and Farmer's Kitchen. Farmer's Kitchen donated two beautiful cakes which were sliced and served.

On Sunday morning, Dr. Jörg and Mrs. Twenhöven, accompanied by Mayor Ted and Carol Henscheid and Dr. Martin and Betty Kralicic, attended Mass at All Saints Catholic Church in Dallas where a Muenster native, Rev. John Endres, is an associate pastor.

After Mass, the three couples attended the State Fair where they toured the C of C booth. They lord mayor was very impressed with all the displays connected with Muenster and noticed that there were many things they had been unable to see.

A retreat ceremony was held at 5 p.m. at the Hall of State Terrace. The U.S. Marine Drum and Bugle Corps played the German National Anthem as the German flag was lowered and one cannon shot was fired. Following was the playing of the United States National Anthem as our flag was lowered and one cannon shot was fired. Adding to the impressiveness of the ceremony was the addition of many dignitaries present. Included were the Honorary Consul to the Federal Republic of Germany, Daniel O. Tomlin and his wife; Teddy J. Trept; the Soldiers Chorus of the German Air Force; Lord Mayor of Münster, Dr. Jörg Twenhöven and his wife; Muenster Mayor Ted Henscheid and his wife; and many other consuls to the US and Texas from foreign countries, as well as many German descendants of the area.

When it was time for the lord mayor and his wife to say goodbye to the Muenster mayor and his wife, Dr. Twenhöven said he regretted that the two towns couldn't be sister cities because Münster already has a sister city in the United States - Fresno, California.

Jörg and Monika Twenhöven's parting comment to the Henscheids was, "You must both come to be our guests in Münster. Our home will be your home."

Fuhrmanns promote ethnic theme for wedding receptions

Francis and Cathie Fuhrmann enjoyed a unique experience and an exciting week in Prescott, Arizona recently that culminated several months of planning and many long distance telephone calls.

Known professionally as "The Farmers Kitchen," Francis and Cathie are establishing a new business in the area by catering ethnic weddings wherever the event takes them. They are preparing to provide many ethnic themes such as German, Italian, Mexican, Oriental, and others.

and decorations, a menu of light, exciting foods developed from the heritage of the couple, or the destination of their wedding trip, and involving family and friends in the fun and excitement.

Cathie explained further that she lived in Arizona at one time, is acquainted there, and in past years has baked and decorated wedding cakes and shipped them from Muenster to Arizona by air. She said also that this was not the first time that the request came to act as counselor and provider of decorations and food for ethnic rangements, ranging from art work and decorations to foods, to both wedding cakes, to music for the dance, to the itinerary of the wedding trip. One pleasing result of this venture has been other requests to return for future weddings, which they plan to follow through.

Cathie said that the coming age is "Southwest" or "Santa Fe" themes. This is what the couple in Prescott, Arizona requested, following the trend that saw a departure from pastels, then to use of desert colors, and now to the use of deep, vibrant southwest hues of magenta, mauve, purple, turquoise and midnight blue.

The Fuhrmanns devoted much time to research and many more hours designing, constructing and conferring. With the wedding couple, they arrived at a "Southwest Desert Song" theme. The Fuhrmanns prepared or bought almost all supplies locally and moved them to Arizona in their van. They bought white pine from a local lumber company to build for the decor and enlisted the help of Paul and Susan Fleitman in sawing and building this white pine into figures of "Howling Coyotes," all in the desert theme, and dressed them with colorful bandanas in assorted Southwest colors. These were used in decorating the reception rooms of the club to lend a spirit of fun to the decorations; and they received enthusiastic response from the guests.

The wedding in this story was as unusual and distinctive as the foods and decor. It was held in the Prescott, Arizona area on Sept. 23, 1989 at 5 p.m. with 200 guests.

Guests were invited to gather at 4 p.m. at the Racquet Club of Prescott. There, they boarded chartered buses for the drive up into the hills to the exceedingly beautiful and environmentally natural Groom Creek Schoolhouse Amphitheater on Senator Highway, south of Prescott, and were seated there for the wedding ceremony.

Groom's cake

The Fuhrmanns served hors d'oeuvres and wine as guests disembarked the buses, and again after the ceremony, before they re-entered the buses for the return to the city. This menu included chili con queso, hot broccoli mushroom dip, ham rolls, fresh vegetable sticks, smoked oysters, cream cheese and lox (smoked salmon) served with bagels, hot tortilla chips, tiny barbecued sausages, assorted crackers and wine.

Back at the Racquet Club of Prescott on Kingswood Drive south of Iron Springs Road, a formal Southwest-style buffet reception at 7 p.m. followed the ceremony. This was also catered by the Fuhrmanns, whose menu included mesquite-grilled Chicken Ranchero, Paella (a combination of chicken, shrimp, rice and hot, spicy seasonings), red beans, homemade tortillas, fresh fruit and vegetable waterfall, including varieties of melons, nectarines, grapes, shrimp, olives, radishes and raw vegetables, grated cheese, jalapeno peppers, guacamole salad, chopped tomatoes, bananas in papaya juice, fresh strawberries, hot rolls and butter.

All decorations for both wedding cakes were handmade and edible. The bride's "Desert Song" white wedding cake was traditional and lovely, three-tiered and decorated with lovebirds on top, and a cascade of edible candy saguaro cactus blossoms, fresh mountain laurel, petunias, roses and violets in the vivid Southwest colors of turquoise, magenta, mauve, purple and pink. The pillared cake stood over a turquoise lighted fountain, surrounded with fern and fresh flowers and lighted votive candles, on a table covered in midnight blue.

All decorations and table covers were handmade by the Fuhrmanns.

The eye-catcher and "showstopper" was the Fuhrmanns' creation of the groom's cake. Large, square and chocolate, it was decorated with boy and girl "Howling Coyotes," wearing colorful bandanas, before a huge, bright yellow moon, with other edible candy saguaro cactus plants and flowers, and tiny violets matching the kerchiefs.

For the wedding, the bride chose a suede western dress with gold lame; bridesmaids wore soft, typical buckskin dresses. Mothers of the couple wore beautifully sedate western formal wear.

When the Fuhrmanns left Texas for Arizona in their van, they were carrying all their decorations, all their cake-baking equipment, all the supplies that were available in their hometown. Only fresh items were bought in Prescott.

In conversation this week, Cathie said they were excited over the press coverage they received in Arizona after the event, and the enthusiastic response from the wedding party and guests. What began as a venture into catering at a considerable distance, developed into an exciting adventure resulting in more requests to return to coordinate other ethnic weddings. She revealed, "One of our fondest dreams now is to develop a German wedding theme and capitalize on some of Muenster's best known products."

Cathie and Francis set up wedding cake

Their policy will be to use only homemade menus and homemade decorations with emphasis on originality, quality and freshness. Their specialty will be handmade flowers in foods and cakes and their original designs in decorations.

Cathie explained that long before the day of the wedding and reception or dinner they will be assisting with plans that involve a specific theme selected by the principals, coordinating preparations weddings in that area. She said, "In 1987, we were asked to do a French Basque wedding in the wilderness and pines of Williams, Arizona, but could not accept because of Francis' farm work."

When the request came from the couple in Prescott, Arizona this year, the Fuhrmanns consulted with them, and contracted to carry through, a "Southwest Desert Song" ethnic theme, to coordinate all wedding ar-

Eagles soar to victory over Hornets, 24-15

Valley View rode a big play offense and a quick, stingy defense to victory at Hornet Stadium Friday night. The victory raised the Eagles to 5-1 and handed the Hornets their first setback to make them 5-1 also. Valley View is 1-0 in district with Muenster dropping to 1-1.

The Hornets got on the board first as James Hennigan took the second play from scrimmage 71 yards for the score. "They really keyed on James," said Coach Bill Jump. "He still finished with 91 yards to raise his season total to 703 yards."

Valley View answered with a 79-yard option keeper by quarterback Carr in the 2nd quarter. "We had some missed assignments," reported Jump, "and they capitalized. We have gotten away with some mistakes in earlier games, but every time we made one Friday, they turned it into a big play." The Eagles finished the night with over 400 yards in total offense. The only bright spot for the Hornet defense was being able to keep them from scoring on several occasions where they had the ball deep in Hornet territory.

away from Valley View's effort, they played extremely well." The Hornets did have a few bright spots in the otherwise gloomy night. Defensive end Donnie Boydston recorded 3 sacks and several big hits on the enemy quarterbacks, and offensive linemen Brad McDaniel, Kelly Colwell, Michael Bierschenk and Keith Vogel all graded above the 75 percent target mark.

The Eagles were quick and swarming on defense and were able to corral the Hornet offense for the remainder of the half. The Eagles added 3 points late in the half on a 22-yard field goal and the half ended 10-7 in favor of Valley View.

"We felt like we could come back and take control of the second half," said Jump, "but, the kickoff play really hurt our intensity." The "kickoff play" referred to was a trick return executed to perfection by the Eagles. The return man ran up into the wedge and handed off to another man that found clear sailing down the left sideline to go untouched into the end zone.

The Eagles pretty much controlled the action from that point on. They added another score in the third on a 51-yard touchdown pass from Mills. The Hornets added to their total, late in the fourth, on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Brawner to Culp.

"We did not play with the intensity level we needed," said the coach, "but I don't want to take

The Hornets' next opponent will be the Hornets from Era in two weeks. "They are 6-0 and the best team around," reported Jump. "We must play lights out to have a shot at them, but don't count us out yet." ## JV Hornets tie game in last seconds!

Muenster's Junior Varsity Hornets had an exciting come-from-behind game against Valley View last week.

Down 14-0 the first half and a rough defensive battle the third quarter, the Hornets came back the final quarter. "It was Muenster's quarter," said Coach Brian Strother.

Kenneth Walterscheid scored Muenster's first touchdown on a 10-yard run behind the blocking of Jason Biffle and Doug Hennigan. The extra point attempt failed and the score was 14-6.

The Hornets' next drive started at the Hornet 40-yard line. With the clock running out the last minute of the game, Muenster was caught in a 4th down and 1/2 yard on the 11-yard line to go with no time outs to stop the clock. The Hornets picked up a first down and then threw the ball out of bounds to stop the clock with 8 seconds remaining. Kenneth Walterscheid ran the bread and butter play to score, with Valley View remaining in the lead 14-12 with 3 seconds remaining on the clock. The two-point conversion was a fake power play which left Doug Hennigan alone in the end zone to tie the game 14-14.

"All 13 players were instrumental in the win," said Coach Strother. Chris Kubis, Michael Hacker and Jason Biffle were noted for their fine line blocking. "Tony Perryman and Doug Hennigan did great lead blocking for Kenneth," added the coach. Walterscheid gained 125 yards for the Hornets. The JV have a 1-1-1 season record.

Tigers win!

The Sacred Heart Tigers won their opening district game last Saturday night in front of the large Homecoming crowd. The running attacks of Ryan and Chris Hess led the offense for the Tigers. Ryan picked up 247 yards on 22 carries for three touchdowns while Chris gained 114 yards in 13 carries, scoring two TDs and 2 PATs.

"Ryan and Chris had a great game," said Tiger Coach John Sims, "and Tony (Grewing) did an excellent job of blocking to make the sweeps to, I'm real pleased with the blocking."

Ryan started the action, booting the opening kickoff to the Warriors' 23-yard line. Lakehill moved the ball to midfield where 3 penalties for 30 yards halted their drive. The Tigers took over on their own 35-yard line. A big 25-yard run by Ryan on the Tigers' first possession was also called back by a clipping charge, forcing Sacred Heart to punt the ball back to Lakehill. The Tigers' defense held the Warriors to 3 plays and took the ball at the 50-yard line. Ryan then broke loose for a 48-yard run followed by a 2-yard touchdown run by Chris. Chris also ran the extra point and the Tigers led 8-0 with 2:30 remaining on the first quarter clock.

Lakehill attempted to start their next drive on their own 28-yard line, but the Tiger defense held again. The Tigers took over on their 35, moving into the 2nd quarter. Runs by Ryan, Chris, Tony and quarterback Stevan Nasche took the ball to the 1-yard line where Ryan crossed over for 6 more points. Chris kicked the extra point and the Tigers led 15-0.

Lakehill made their move in one play, a 66-yard pass run and extra points made the score 15-8. "Lakehill ran a new, surprise offense that we never saw on the films," said Coach Sims. "Then we didn't tackle well the second quarter when they scored."

The Warriors held the Tigers on downs and took over on the Tigers' 40. Two penalties held them back, but didn't stop a 35-yard TD run. The Tigers broke up the extra point attempt and Lakehill closed the gap 15-14 with 5:37 remaining in the half.

The Tigers were held again, Lakehill taking over at midfield. Larry Switzer stopped that attack by covering a fumbled ball, but 2 plays later, the Warriors covered a loose Tiger ball and in two plays moved 63 yards for another touchdown. The extra point pass was picked off by Nasche and the Warriors took a 20-15 halftime lead.

During halftime homecoming activities, David Rohmer, son of Maurus and Pat Rohmer, was crowned the 1989 Sacred Heart Homecoming King. Amy Bayer, daughter of Claude and Mary Bayer, shared the honors, being crowned Homecoming Queen.

Sacred Heart received the 2nd half kickoff on their own 45. A hole opened up by the offensive line gave Ryan the room he needed for a 37-yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt failed and the Tigers took a 1-point lead, 21-20, with less than a minute and a half ticked off the clock.

Sacred Heart's defense took charge again, holding Lakehill to a forced punt. Darren Klement returned the punt to the Tigers' 42-yard line where runs by Ryan and Chris, topped by a 44-yard touchdown run by Ryan gave Sacred Heart a bigger lead. Chris ran for another two points, extending the score to 29-20 with 7:01 left in the third quarter.

Lakehill moved the ball on their next possession, picking up 3 first downs before Shawn Dangelmayr picked off a pass, stopping the Warriors' threat. But two plays later, Sacred Heart fumbled the ball back.

Lakehill was at a 4th and 3 stand starting the final quarter when a big defensive play by Jason Endres and Larry Switzer halted the Warriors and the Tigers took over on their own 34. Three runs by Ryan took the ball to midfield where Chris, with a good block by Switzer, ran a foot race 55 yards for another touchdown. The extra point kick was good, but a motion penalty made the Tigers try again and failed the second time. The scoreboard read 35-20 with 10:43 on the clock.

Lakehill moved to the Tigers' 10-yard line, threatening to score. A quarterback sack by Gregg Hess and Switzer put the ball back another 8 yards. The defense stiffened and the Tigers took over on their own 1-yard line. Quarterback Stevan Nasche slipped on the next play and gave the Warriors 2 points. Lakehill took the punt and moved inside the Tigers 1-yard line. Gregg Hess again sacked the Warriors' quarterback and Sacred Heart took over at the 11-yard line.

Lakehill took possession one more time, but an intercepted pass by Nasche on their first play stopped any notion the Warriors hoped of winning. The game ended with the Tigers on top, 35-22.

"The offense played great, except for one turnover," said Coach Sims, "and the offensive line played their best game."

The Tigers picked up a total of 373 yards and 16 first downs, with Lakehill gaining 350 yards and 13 first downs.

"Chris Hess played excellent defense, rushing the quarterback," stated the coach, noting that Jason Endres and Gregg Hess made big tackle plays with Gregg sacking the quarterback. The coach also congratulated Nasche and Dangelmayr on their interceptions and Switzer for covering a fumble.

Sacred Heart travels to Denton Saturday afternoon to tangle with Liberty Christian Warriors in a non-district contest. Liberty has only one loss and is a TAPPS 3A school. "The team's talented and fast," said Coach Sims. "They have 6-7 backs that can play, including their quarterback." Game time is 4 p.m.

Pirates raid Tiger Field

Sacred Heart Cubs came up against a second half powerhouse last Thursday when Collinsville's junior high hit the Tiger Field.

After a tough defensive first half, the visitors scored 28 points to take a 44-0 victory.

Jason Hofbauer booted the opening kickoff and the Pirates took the ball at their own 38-yard line. Two plays later, Collinsville ran 69 yards for a touchdown. The extra point was good and the visitors led 8-0 with only 50 seconds off the clock.

Chris Pagel and Jason Hess picked up only 7 yards, giving the ball back to the Pirates. On the next play, Collinsville ran for a touchdown, but a clipping flag called the ball back. The Cubs' defense held and Sacred Heart took over. The Cubs picked up a first down with a pass from Jason Hess to Hofbauer, but fumbled the ball the next play to end the first quarter.

The defense held again with the help of Weldon Bayer and Neil Berres who knocked the Pirates for a 6-yard loss, forcing the kick.

Chris Pagel picked up a first down on a 27-yard run, then the Cubs picked up only 9 yards and lost the ball on downs. The Cubs' defense held again, but fumbled the ball back on their first play. A 37-yard Collinsville pass gave the visitors another score the next play. The extra point was good and Collinsville led 16-0. The Pirates struck once again before the half, adding another 8 points giving Collinsville a 24-0 lead as the half ended.

The ball exchanged ownership as the third quarter began. A Sacred Heart blocked punt set up the next Collinsville score. The extra point attempt was no good and the visitors took a 30-0 lead.

The Cubs failed to pick up a first down going into the final quarter and punted the ball to the Pirates who drove 48 yards and scored again, 38-0.

The Cubs again came up a yard short and the Pirates took over at midfield. Nine plays later, Collinsville scored again, taking a 44-0 lead with 10 seconds remaining in the game.

The Cubs travel to Liberty Christian on Thursday, Oct. 19. Game time is 7 p.m.

Valley View Jr. Hi defeats Little Reds

Muenster Junior High was handed their second district defeat last Thursday to Valley View.

The Little Eagles took the opening kickoff and drove downfield to score. The 2-point conversion failed and the green team took a 6-point lead. Rodney Vogel took the next kickoff for 70 yards to score for Muenster. The Little Reds led 8-6. Valley View scored again just before halftime to take the lead 14-8. Midway through the third quarter, the Eagles scored to build their lead to 20-8. Starting the final quarter, Valley View scored their last touchdown 26-8.

Muenster's second string offense entered the game with 5:30 remaining on the clock. On their second possession, the team took the ball downfield. A 30-yard run by Cory Cain and a 2-point conversion by Tommy Joe Dankesreiter made the final score 26-16.

Next action is Thursday, Oct. 19, when the junior high team will host Saint Jo for a 6 p.m. match.

Lindsay loses second district contest to Era

There was no contest between Lindsay and Era on the football field last Friday. The Knights faced the unbeaten Hornets and ran into a brick wall.

Lindsay took the opening kickoff, gaining one first down before Era's defense shut the gate. The Hornets took over on their own 35-yard line. A 58-yard touchdown pass put Era on the scoreboard. The PAT counted and the home team took a 7-0 lead.

The Knights started their next drive at the 20 and moved to mid-field before being halted by the Hornets. The Knights' defense stiffened and Lindsay had possession for 3 plays when Era picked off a pass. Lance Sandmann moved into the play to stop Era on the 8-yard line. The play proved costly to the senior who sustained a broken collarbone and will be out for the remainder of the season.

them 34 points. Era attempted a field goal with their next possession but failed and Lindsay took over on their own 21-yard line. Era's defense put Lindsay in a 4th and 31 situation, but a roughing-the-punter call gave the Knights a second chance. Lindsay advanced to the 50-yard line, where Era covered a loose ball. The Hornets kept possession till the 3rd quarter began. Lindsay got off one play which was an intercepted pass, setting up Era's final score. With still 9:51 left in the game, the scoreboard read 41-0.

Combining the running efforts of Joel Metzler and Kevin Parsons, the Knights advanced to midfield. A 51-yard pass from Scott Hermes to Chris Hanks put Lindsay on the board, the first offensive score on Era this season. The PAT failed and with half the quarter gone, the score was 41-6.

Things got uglier in a hurry for Lindsay. Era scored early in the second period, taking a 20-0 lead.

The ball went from Lindsay to Era, to Lindsay and back to Era who scored again. Play continued and Era had a 27-0 score at halftime.

The Hornets took the second half kick, moving the ball 60 yards in five plays to score again, giving for 11 plays, then was caught on a 4th and 1 on the Knights' 14-yard line. Two clipping penalties on the Hornets called back two touchdowns. On 4th and 25, Fred Hughes stopped Era for a 7-yard loss and Lindsay took over the ball.

The Hornets got one last turnover as time ran out.

"Era's an older and experienced team with an excellent game plan," said Knights Coach Pat Benton, who credited Joel Metzler and Tracy Huchton for their fine tackling.

Era chalked up 394 total yards with two Hornets running the triple digits, Carlos Rodriguez with 137 yards and Chris Massengale with 125 yards and four touchdowns. The Knights picked up only 34 yards on 36 carries.

Chad Sandmann received injuries at Friday's game and will be out of pads a couple of weeks with neck strain. Lindsay hosts Petrolia Friday night. "We should have a good ball game against Petrolia," said Lindsay's coach. "They're big - 280 and so on the line. They play power football - throwing only when they have to."

Game time is at 7:30 p.m. with pre-game Homecoming activities. Statistics recorded by Bridgett Anderle.

Ladies win contest

The Football Contest continues to draw interest as 43 entered the sixth week's competition. Three games were thrown out of this week's contest. The Alabama vs. Tennessee game and North Carolina State vs. Crimson games were listed wrong and Saint Jo cancelled their game with Liberty due to injuries.

Everyone missed the Texas vs. OU game and only three correctly picked Muenster to lose, their guesses being only a two-point difference. Other games missed by the majority of contestants were: 39 missed SFA's victory over University of North Texas; 35 were wrong about A&M's win; Sacred Heart proved 34 wrong by defeating Lakehill; 30 thought Syracuse would win over Penn St.; 28 picked Windthorst over Petrolia; and 26 picked Atlanta's win over New England.

Correct guesses included everyone picking Baylor over

SMU and only one incorrectly picked Air Force to beat Notre Dame. Two missed Era over Lindsay and Gainesville's victory.

Bonnie Stoffels of Gainesville won this week's contest, picking 18 of 23 correct. Mickey Haverkamp finished 2nd with 17.

Four entrants had 16 correct, 10 guessed 15 and 11 had 14 correct.

One contestant entered twice, please note that Rule No. 1 states, "Only one entry per person per week."

Mickey remains in the lead for the season's grand prize with an 80.49 percentage correctly picked games: Bonnie follows with a 77.87 percent; Nick Stoffels, Mike Stoffels, Alan Hudspeth, Nick Walterscheid, Terry Walterscheid, John Bartush and Steve Fuhrmann are following with percentages over 70.

Winners picked up their cash at Endres Motor Company, last week's tiebreaker sponsor.

County Farm Bureau adopts four resolutions

The Cooke County Farm Bureau held their annual county convention Thursday, Oct. 12, 1989 at The Center Restaurant in Muenster. Invocation was offered by Billy Huddleston, District 4 Director, after which the members enjoyed a steak dinner.

Leonard Hartman, president called the meeting to order and welcomed guests and introduced the current board of directors present.

Alan Schneiderjan read the financial statement which was approved as read. Mike Bartush then gave the membership report and Ray Root gave the insurance report. It was announced that Mike Bartush had won the District 4 Young Farmer/Rancher Award, Farm safety stickers were also distributed.

Billy Huddleston talked about the growth of Farm Bureau and the improvements being made in the Tasco Division. He reminded the members that the District 4 caucus and breakfast would be held at the Hyatt Hotel at 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 26 during the state convention. He further advised that a political meeting would be held in Mineral Wells on Oct. 17.

Albert Zimmerer, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following names for board members up for reelection: Mike Bartush, Bill Bayer, Leonard Hartman, Tim Hartman, Robert Klement, Harold Nortman and Alan Schneiderjan. The vote was taken and the above were accepted by acclamation.

Nominations for officers were: president, Leonard Hartman; first vice-president, Bill Bayer; second vice-president, John Hargesheimer. Vote was taken and the above were accepted by acclamation.

The following names were then placed in nomination for delegates to state convention: Leonard and Emily Hartman; Martin and Nancy Krahl; Alan Schneiderjan; Mike Bartush; Tim Hartman; Bill Bayer; Albert and Imogene Zimmerer; Murrel and Almada Harrison; Taylor Vestal; Harold Nortman and Kenneth Riviere, delegates; and Kenneth Riviere and Gene Schumacher alternates. The above were accepted.

Bill Bayer then presented resolutions. He announced that no county/state/national resolutions were being presented; however, four internal recommendations to the TFB Board of Directors were presented as follows:

- "We recommend that the incentives to the counties and Tasco dealers be reevaluated."
- "We recommend that the salaries and all other benefits received by all Texas Farm Bureau management personnel be made available to all county presidents on an annual basis."

3. "We recommend that the Texas Farm Bureau Board of Directors adopt and enforce an internal policy which would provide that the total number of Texas Farm Bureau insurance agents in a county cannot attend a district meeting at the same time or that the county office secretaries be allowed to have a solicitor's license to enable them to legally give insurance rate quotes over the telephone or in the county Farm Bureau office. This applies to those counties with more than one agent."

4. "We recommend that the Texas Farm Bureau Board of Directors adopt a change of policy with regards to the handling of the turnover problem that exists throughout the state, which causes the loss of membership renewals, by too much emphasis being placed on the promotion of life insurance sales and not enough on customer service. This pressure takes away the agent's job security and therefore causes the agent to be unable to perform in the capacity that he is capable of for fear of losing his or her job. We need to be aware that people buy insurance because of the confidence they have in an agent rather than the insurance company itself on a whole. Our agents are important and should be praised when they excel in some line instead of being fired or asked to resign because they fail to get a certain number of life applications. We contend we are a full service company and therefore should fulfill our goals to that aim rather than strive to promote one segment alone."

Bill Bayer read a letter from the president of the Denton County Farm Bureau regarding Cooke County's assistance in presenting an internal resolution being presented by Denton County. Board members agreed to accept.

Mrs. Norma Leslie, office secretary, announced that a new towing discount program was being instituted to all members, with discounts on towing services, to be offered through Hunter Towing, Gregg's Chevrolet, and Endres Motors. A letter will be mailed to the membership, advising of this new membership benefit program. She also announced that the local office had been repainted and a new sign erected and invited everyone to come by and see the repairs that have been made after the recent hailstorms.

President Leonard Hartman thanked members present for their attendance and adjourned the meeting.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Frost Can Cause Prussic Acid Poisoning

Now that fall is officially at hand, frost will be hitting Cooke County before long. This could lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock if the county has had enough moisture to produce certain pasture grasses and forage.

While many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, the greatest culprits are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these that cause the highest mortality if livestock graze them after a heavy frost.

The most dangerous time for the grazing of these plants is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt.

Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely following three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

Prussic acid poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10 to 15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two to three minutes.

Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues.

The key to prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period of time has passed.

Dale Lovelace, Extension Forage Specialist, will be on hand to present a program on Hay Quality. Lovelace will also discuss other hay alternatives and forage varieties for North Texas.

The public is invited to the evening's activity.

Small Grain Herbicide Seminars

This fall has been very dry and little grain has emerged. With the dry weather, very few of our broadleaf weeds and grasses have started to infect area fields. However, with the onset of wetter weather, we should expect the grass and weeds to return.

Producers have many herbicide options available to them for control of both broadleaf weeds and grasses in small grain fields. A series of Weed Control Meetings will be held Wednesday, Oct. 25, at the following times and locations:

7:30 a.m., W.B. Hudspeth, Inc., Era

10 a.m., Cooke County Electric Co-Op, Muenster

1:30 p.m., Cooke County Fairgrounds, Gainesville

Extension Agent Craig Rosenbaum and Agronomist Jim Blalock will be at the meetings to present the program on Chemical Selection, Rates and Application Time. A special section will be devoted to Herbicides and Weedless Winters in Grain Sorghum Production.

Anaplasmosis Cases Reported in County

This past week I was visiting with Dr. Jim Neidhardt, one of our local veterinarians, and he brought to my attention the problems that they have been seeing throughout Cooke County with anaplasmosis. Anaplasmosis is a disease of cattle that causes destruction of red blood cells. Spread of the disease can be due to several infection methods. First of all, large bloodsucking flies, such as the horse and deer fly, or, in some areas of the county, ticks, can spread the disease. Producers can also infect animals through the use of vaccinating needles, dehorning tools, nose tongs, etc. In order for the disease to spread, an animal that has had anaplasmosis and survived the attack may become a "carrier." Blood is then transported from one of the carrier animals or infected equipment to new animals. Dr. Neidhardt offers the following suggestions for control of the disease:

1) Should you suspect an animal, consult your veterinarian and treat those infected animals for the disease. This treatment usually lasts for approximately 21 days.

2) There is a vaccine available to use prior to the insect season. There are some problems associated with this vaccine and you should consult your local veterinarian before using this in a vaccination program. Dr. Neidhardt has noted some disease problems in calves caused by using the vaccination program in the cow herd.

3) Producers can use a low level feeding of antibiotic during the insect season. This will help reduce or prevent the disease. Here again, success from this program would depend on the cows eating the feed containing the antibiotic.

As in all livestock health programs, your local practicing veterinarians are the most familiar with control methods and can offer expert advice to cattlemen for any control program best suited for your ranch or farm.

SWCD sponsors the purchase of low-cost trees

by Elaine Schad

Low-cost trees may be purchased for spring planting through a program being sponsored by the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District.

The Conservation Tree Program allows farmers, ranchers, rural landowners and suburban landowners to obtain trees at a nominal cost, officials said. The purpose of the program is to encourage all landowners to plant effective wind barriers which can protect life and property for 40 years or longer if properly maintained, officials with the USDA Soil Conservation Service in Gainesville.

The trees will come from the Lubbock forest service nursery and will be delivered Feb. 22, 1990. A wide range of tree varieties adaptable to this climate and topography are available. Officials encourage the public to order early, as some varieties are in shorter supply this year and some supplies are depleted faster than others.

Varieties of potted conifers available include Afghanistan Pine, Arizona Cypress, Austrian Pine, Ponderosa Pine and Red Cedar. There is a minimum order of 15 per species with price ranges from $1.25 to $1.50 each.

Varieties of bare-rooted hardwoods include the Bur Oak, Catalpa, Cottonwood cuttings, Desert Willow, Green Ash, Honeylocust, Little Walnut, Osage Orange, Pecan, Red Oak, Russian Olive and Sand Cherry. Minimum order is 25 per species with prices of $9 per 25 trees or $35 per 100 trees.

There are also wildlife packets available which include four species of 25 trees per species. These trees and shrubs are specifically selected to enhance wildlife habitat and provide food for quail, deer, turkey and squirrel. The 100-tree packets cost $35.

For more information, contact the Gainesville field office at 668-7794 or go to Room 204 of the Federal Building.
