VOLUME XLIV

MUENSTER COOKE COUNTY TEXAS 76252

JUNE 6, 1980

NUMBER 29

A recent news release from Senator Bentsen reveals that millions of dollars worth of usable furniture is scattered in 78 warehouses all over the city of Washington. Mounds of desks, chairs, couches, etc. are piling up in over 10.5 million square feet of space, which is approximately equal to the size of three Pentagon buildings...or 27 acres.

This accumulation results from the custom of maintaining a new look in thousands of official offices. Congress appropriates money on a yearly basis to the executive branch for the purpose of replacing worn out pieces of furniture or to buy newer, so-called "space-saving" furniture. During the past 10 years the appropriation for this purpose has averaged about $100 million a year, and this year the figure is set at $229 million. This money is made available to the General Services Administration, which determines how and where the money will be spent.

It's hardly necessary to point out that these purchases are based mostly on want and very little on need. The officials want to dress-up their places even though existing furnishings would serve the purpose just as well. This does not mean that we'd expect them to operate in shabby surroundings, but they ought to be satisfied with standards that are comparable to the average business office. In fact, the public's first wish is to have those people do a good job of administration, not to maintain a showplace to impress the visitors.

Another thought: is it really proper for the government officials to enjoy niceties which the people who pay for government can't afford for themselves? Our guess is that items purchased for government offices are top quality in the first place, and they are still good looking after a few years of use. Taxpayers could and should be spared the greater part of this expense.

As regards furniture purchases to "save space," the first question is how much space needs to be saved? Or is the real purpose to achieve a spacious look? The General Accounting Office maintains that the new "space-saving" furniture doesn't always save as much space or money as the General Services Administration claims.

To make matters worse, the government people sometimes hire professional design services to help as consultants. One such firm was hired for a fee of $107,000 and promptly ordered $7,100 worth of furniture for its own office, the bill going to us taxpayers, of course.

Next to the enormous waste of spending hundreds of millions for unneeded furniture is the enormous added expense of storing the replaced furniture. Senator Bentsen says none of the items in these 78 warehouse if for sale or re-issue. They're just taking up space and taxpayers pay the rent for storing them.

Our guess is that the situation could be relieved substantially by arranging to use this kind of furniture in the lower priority government locations or by selling it to the public. Considering the quality of original purchase, we are certain that many items would serve the purpose as well as a new purchase, or that the government could salvage a good portion of its investment by placing it on the open market. People who have to make their money stretch would surely be interested in buying it. Whether used or sold, it would also save millions of dollars worth of storage space.

State Votes Saturday In Democratic Run-off

The 1980 Democratic primary in Texas will end Saturday when a run-off will determine winners from front runners of the previous election.

To voters of Muenster it presents one local contest with incumbent Bill Pratt being challenged by Dan Tiller for the right to represent the party as nominee for sheriff in the general election.

The sheriff campaign this year is extra strenuous compared with other races. Whereas most other winners were determined in the first primary, this one needs two primaries, and then still faces a contest with the Republican candidate Kenneth MacFitts in November.

Another county run-off is for Precinct 1 Commissioner and does not concern Muenster voters. Outside the county the contestants are James Wallace and John Phillips for Place 1 on the Supreme Court, Mike McCormick and W.T. Phillips for Place 2 on the Criminal Appeals Court, and Tom Davis and Edith Roberts for Place 3 on the Criminal Appeals Court.

In Muenster the election will be held in the two usual locations, both from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Janet Fisher will be election judge for Precinct 17 in the VFW Hall. John Pagel will be judge for Precinct 18 in the public school.

New Industry Developing At Saint Jo

A new industry with 100 employees and a multi-million dollar new factory is in sight for Saint Jo, according to a report published Tuesday in the Gainesville Register.

The item tells that Southwest Foundry Co. has applied to Farmers Home Administration for a $6.1 million loan to construct a foundry at Saint Jo, also the Nortex Regional Planning Commission has approved and final approval is expected by FHA in Washington. It was also reported that a site has been selected and, if approved, construction can start almost immediately.

Mayor J.C. Donnell of Saint Jo estimates that the plant will create about 100 new jobs, spark new housing construction, and increase established business. "It could mean a complete turnaround for the city," he said.

Preparing for the plant the city of Saint Jo has arranged for a $70,000 grant from Nortex to finance a new water well to increase the city's water supply. A boost of electrical power is also planned. And application has been made to Housing and Urban Development for a $500,000 loan to provide housing.

The factory is intended to produce castings for manufacture of heavy equipment such as construction and oil field machinery.

City Loses Two Respected Residents

Julia Weinzapfel

Funeral service for Mrs. J.M. (Julia) Weinzapfel, 87, was held Monday at 10 in Sacred Heart Church with Bishop Thomas Tschoepe of Dallas officiating at the Mass of Christian Burial and some twenty-four clergymen from a wide area concelebrating.

Bishop Tschoepe also delivered the funeral address, praising Mrs. Weinzapfel for a long life of service to her family, the parish, the diocese, the Church and God. Referring to the sadness of her passing, he added that one has to die to see Jesus and the saints, an experience that God intends for all of us.

"As a faithful member of Christ's mystical body, she glorified God, and God in turn will glorify her."

Also participating in the Mass were Henry Weinzapfel in the scriptural readings and the Sacred Heart Choral Group directed by Ruth Felderhoff and accompanied by Anthony Luke. Dr. Martin Kralicke sang "Panis Angelicus" as a solo after which Rene and Pauline Stelzer joined him in presenting the number as a

Tony Trubenbach, Sr.

Tony Trubenbach Sr., 92, a resident of the community for 83 years, died Sunday at 1:56 p.m. in Muenster Memorial Hospital. In failing health for several years, he was hospitalized three weeks with his final critical illness.

Rosary service was held in the chapel of Nick Miller Funeral Home Monday at 4 and 8 p.m.

His funeral was held Tuesday morning at 10 in Sacred Heart Church with Father Stephen Eckart officiating at the Mass of Christian Burial and Monsignor Thomas Weinzapfel, Father Placidus Eckart and Father Cletus Post joining as concelebrants. Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr was also present in the sanctuary.

Father Stephen's funeral sermon briefly reviewed the sacramental history of Mr. Trubenbach's life, ending with the sacrament of the sick, as a sign of closeness to God. It also referred to the Book of Wisdom's passage on being found worthy in the trial by fire. After 68 years of work and prayer with his wife, he was tested by her final illness and death and again by his own suffering, "and God found him worthy of reward."

Nick Miller Funeral Home directed the burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Pallbearers were grandsons of the deceased: Henry Voth Jr., Bill Blythe, Wayne Trubenbach, Donald Trubenbach, Lloyd Trubenbach and Mike Trubenbach.

Yard of the Month

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Henscheid has been selected for "Yard of the Month" honors for June, according to an announcement by the Muenster Garden Club, sponsoring organization. It was especially cited for overall neatness, front and back, for well kept vegetable and flower gardens in back and for trim, even shrubbery in front of house, but most especially for the outstanding lawns of deep velvety green.

1980 Wheat Harvest Is Better Than Expected

As of now the 1980 wheat harvest is great. Quality and quantity are both better than expected and weather is right. The job is about one third finished, according to present estimates.

The beginning was slow early last week when high moisture test delayed cutting until late in the day and small showers caused more interruption. But moisture conditions improved as the crop matured and weather turned warmer and drier.

According to reports at both of the local elevators, the crop is a pleasant surprise. Fields that were expected to average 15 to 20 bushels an acre are coming up with 25 and 30, and lots of fields are topping 40. However, as expected, there are other yields nearer 15 as indicated by many areas with short heads and short stalks.

Quality as well as quantity has been a pleasant surprise. Tests are consistently 61 and 62 and one phenomenal test was 64.7. Weight of the grain and almost complete absence of foreign matter are given as the reasons. On an average, grain quality is the best in many years.

The good reports apply especially to areas south and east of town, which have most of the grain received to date. Their growing season is slightly earlier than Muenster's and they have had more favorable rainfall. However as combines step up their tempo locally the prospect here is also looking good.

Another break in the farmer's favor is an improved yield of hard wheat. Normally it is lower than soft wheat but a better price compensates for much of the difference. This time the yields are about equal and the price advantage is better than usual. Hard wheat now sells for $3.65 a bushel and soft wheat for $3.25, a disappointing drop from last year's $4.25 and $4.00, and a still greater drop considering inflation.

Considering all, the season rates as slightly better than average but definitely below last year's bumper crop.

Fire at Koesler's Doused Quickly

Lady Luck was smiling on the Norbert Koeslers, last Thursday about 12:30 p.m. when a fire of unknown origin was snuffed before causing any serious loss. It happened in the storeroom behind Koesler Jewelry, was reported early to the firemen who reported quickly and acted efficiently.

The only damages were to a burglar alarm, a polishing machine, a lamp and shop equipment. Thanks to fast work of the firemen flames did not reach the store nor The Hut next door.

For the balance of the day and Friday much of the fire odor was flushed away by large exhaust fans loaned by Fischer's and Hoedebeck GMC.

City Okays Second Reading on Dog Ordinance

A dog control ordinance, prompted by a record high number of rabies reports in all areas of the state, was read and approved for the second time at Monday night's city council meeting. It is scheduled for a final reading with approval and passage at the July meeting. After that owners will be expected to keep their pets inside a pen or on a leash to lessen exposure to rabid animals that may be on the prowl, and especially to lessen the public's risk of being infected by a pet.

Dogs not under this restraint are subject to pick-up and confinement in the city dog pound. To regain the captured animal a person will have to pay a service charge and have the animal vaccinated and registered. And then he is still expected to keep the pet confined to a yard or leash. Otherwise it can be impounded again, subject to service charge and fine.

The ordinance also specifies that an owner can be held liable for injury or damage done by prowling pets.

The council also had its second reading of a request for rate increase submitted by Texas Power and Light Co. That too is due for final reading and approval at the July meeting. The increase requested is about 10 per cent, which has been approved by the Texas Public Utilities Commission and is effective as of May 27.

Swim Instruction Program Starts Monday

Muenster's annual Red Cross swimming program will begin next week, according to an announcement Tuesday by Jeannine Flusche, director.

The first stage is a course in basic rescue and water safety starting Monday, 9th, with JoAnn Pagel as the instructor. Enrollment requirement is 11 years and older plus sound physical condition and passing a preliminary swimming test.

The following Monday marks the beginning of the second stage, the advanced life saving class with Sam Bright as the instructor. Requirement for entry is 15 years of age, sound physical condition and pass the preliminary swim test. Swimmers who take this class will be expected to start with the basic rescue and water class the week before. Registration for both courses will precede the first class.

The classes have a double purpose. Besides improving swimming skill, the intention is to train capable swimmers to assist with the beginners swim classes in July. As usual, that program will be divided into two sessions, starting July 9 and July 16.

Series of Sessions, July 7-11 Will "Explore Cooke County"

"Exploring Cooke County--Then and Now" is the theme of a series of sessions to be held at Morton Museum July 7-11, 1980. These sessions will be open to students in the 8th grade and above and will be led by Mr. Joe Stout, Gainesville Middle School teacher.

The focus of this program is on stimulating an interest in local history by observing the changes which have occurred in Cooke County since the mid-1880s. The group will experience housekeeping in Morton Museum's log cabin and will take a field trip to sites of historic interest. Artifacts from Morton Museum and photographs from the museum's and Mr. Stout's personal collections will be utilized to illustrate the history of Cooke County. This series of sessions will acquaint Cooke County young people with their heritage and answer questions which they have been wondering about, for example, how the pioneers built their homes without lumber and nails.

There will be five sessions, a session from 10 a.m.-12 noon Monday through Thursday, and a session from 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. on Friday to tour historical sites in the County. There will be a $10. fee charged for these sessions.

Persons interested in enrolling should mail information and deposit to Morton Museum, P.O. Box 150, Gainesville, Texas 76240. Any further information desired may be obtained by calling Morton Museum, 668-8900 after 12 noon. Deadline for enrollment is June 30, 1980.

THE SPIRIT OF INDIVIDUALISM

The United States Government was founded on the basis of constitutionalism and federalism, but the framework of government was designed for one main reason, to promote, defend and preserve individual liberty. This means of course, that the entire fabric had its genesis in the spirit of individualism.

When the first colonists came to our shores they arrived largely from England. They brought with them a heritage of individual rights, representative government, courts to which they could appeal for relief and protection, a high regard for due process of law. It was only natural that this philosophy of individualism would find expression in the great basic documents of our nation.

For example, in the Declaration of Independence we are told in no uncertain terms that all men "are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." In this marvelous document we are given a complete theory of government, one which would protect the individual. We find it in these words: "to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Note what that meant! The purpose of government is to secure man's rights. It doesn't say that the purpose of government is to provide for man, to give him food to eat, a dwelling to live in, medical and hospital care, a pension when he is elderly, or to give him a job or even to train him for employment. That was all left to the states. No! It said the purpose of government is to protect man's rights — to preserve individualism, not, to promote collectivism or socialism.

So strongly did the Founders feel about individualism and individual rights that they went on to state in this great document what men should do when individualism is denied them. "... whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

Part and parcel of the philosophy of individualism was the belief in individual responsibility. Americans believed they were responsible for themselves and their loved ones. The idea that someone else or the state was responsible for the welfare of an individual never entered the minds of our forefathers. They understood that the state, or government, was nothing more than a group of individuals who had banded together for common defense and protection of their individual rights. As government derived its powers from the people, the entity government could have no power or authority not possessed by each individual who formed it. As no individual has the right to confiscate the means from one individual to provide for the welfare of another individual, then it follows that the individual's agency, government, does not have that right.

Unfortunately for America, the philosophy of collectivism has largely replaced individualism. For all of recorded history man lived under some form of collectivism. Here in America the spirit of man flowered to its greatest bloom through individualism, but we have turned back and call it progress.

America became great on constitutionalism, federalism and individualism. If we would remain free and prosper materially we must return to the course set for us by the Founders.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — When State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced a few weeks ago that he would allow his department employees to have their union dues deducted from their state paychecks, he created a swirl that has since generated into a wind-storm.

Individuals who are dead set against unionization of state employees have been trying to find ways to prevent his dues check-off, and last week a suit was filed to stop Bullock.

Two state employees and the Texas Right to Work Committee have won a June 9 trial to determine if Bullock has the right to deduct union dues from state employees paychecks. Bullock had planned to start the check-off system last Sunday, having obtained a go-ahead from Atty. Gen. Mark White.

In filing the suit, the plaintiffs argue that the Texas Constitution gives Bullock no express or implied right to allow the check-off, and that such a check-off would violate the Right to Work law by becoming a political tool of department heads.

Bullock's attorneys argue there is nothing in state law to prohibit the check-off.

Clements Wants Ban

State law will ban the check-off next year, if Gov. Bill Clements has his way. The Governor, who has warned other department heads not to follow Bullock's lead, said last week he will present "as a major item of business" a plan to ban union dues check-off for state employees.

Clements also wants a plan to store low and high level nuclear wastes. Although not in a crisis situation at present, Texas is approaching a crisis in storing such wastes, he said.

Strake and White

Texas Secretary of State George Strake and Atty. Gen. Mark White have bumped heads on the issue of which voters may sign a petition to put Republican-turned-Independent John Anderson on the Texas presidential ballot. At stake are the number of voters Anderson will siphon off from each party.

Strake, a Republican, said two weeks ago only Democrat primary voters could sign Anderson's petition. Last week, at the request of the House Elections Committee, the Democrat White ruled that both Democrats and Republicans who voted in last month's primary were ineligible to sign the petition. Strake followed White's legal opinion by saying it was incorrect and does not matter, since he, Strake, is the state's "chief election officer" and makes him solely responsible for interpreting the state election laws.

Betty Ford Visits Texas

Two former first ladies got together last week when Betty Ford visited Lady Bird Johnson at LBJ ranch. Ford attended a Republican luncheon in her honor in Austin and endorsed Ronald Reagan for president.

When asked if she would consider voting for Reagan, Mrs. Johnson, the former Democratic first lady escorting Mrs. Ford, said "No!"

Killer Bee Reunion

Six of the 12 "Killer Bee" state senators held an anniversary reunion in the backyard of Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, last week.

The dozen senators were dubbed the nickname by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby after they broke a quorum and hid for five days to prevent a split presidential primary bill they considered designed to help Republican John Connally and conservative Democrats. At their reunion, the Bees pointed out to reporters that their critics were wrong in predicting their defeat at the polls for their boycott. All who stood for re-election this year made it through the primaries.

Reagan Lists Armstrong

Ronald Reagan is looking for a vice president and his list holds four Texans, including former U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong, also GOP national chairwoman.

With her on the list are defeated presidential contenders, George Bush and John Connally, and Gov. Bill Clements.

Armstrong, a surprise addition to those eyed as Reagan's running mate, told reporters she would very seriously consider a spot on the ticket.

Has the gas crunch got you down? One way to save gasoline is to use your brake only when necessary. A rolling car is a source of stored energy — so pace your driving with the traffic flow.

Dishwashers, one of your kitchen's many luxuries, can be energy guzzlers as well, if not used properly. Researchers at Kelvinator Appliance Company offer some energy saving tips that will help cut costs:

1. Remember your "Short Wash" cycle. Use it for lightly soiled dishes. This saves both electricity and hot water.
2. After your dishes have been washed, switch to the "Cool Dry" cycle, an alternative to heat drying. By cutting the heater off during the dry cycle, you save electricity.
3. Run your dishwasher only when you have a full load. Collect your dishes throughout the day and run it after dinner.
4. Consult your manual for proper loading instructions so your dishwasher will run with more efficiency.

Department stores report that electric blanket sales are up from last year. Turn your blanket on, your heat down, and save!

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

For years, those of us who are concerned about our deteriorating military strength relative to the Soviet Union have been frustrated. Our colleagues in the Congress didn't seem to be listening. But this year they are -- thanks in part to polls that show the American people, by an 80 percent majority, support increased defense spending.

The process of approving money for our national security, or any other budget item, is long and complex. And much of the most important work comes in the committee room, before the full House or Senate ever begins to consider any bill.

The first step is the Concurrent Budget Resolution, in which both houses of Congress formally agree on spending ceilings for each sector of the federal government. This year, both houses have recommended large increases for defense, approximately $7 billion more than President Carter requested. If that resolution receives final approval, the stage will be set for including a similar amount in the authorization and appropriations bills.

Recently, the Armed Services Committee, on which I serve as senior minority party member, has devoted several all-day sessions to the final writing of the Defense Authorization Bill for fiscal year 1981. This bill will determine whether and by how much we will be able to increase our military readiness in the year which begins Oct. 1.

Owing to mounting Senate concerns over the shift in the military balance with the Soviet Union — especially in the wake of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan — there is strong sentiment within the committee to increase substantially the amount we authorize for defense spending.

Specifically, I expect the committee will approve a major increase in shipbuilding for the Navy to begin to improve our ability to protect U.S. interests in distant areas such as the Persian Gulf. Also, I believe the committee will call for increased numbers of tactical aircraft, so that we can produce them at the most efficient, and least costly, rates. We also will be approving spending levels that will allow us to be better prepared in other areas.

Once we in the committee finish our work, we will have to take the bill to the full Senate. But if the committee's recommendations are presented persuasively, we have a good chance of winning on the Senate floor — even though President Carter is strongly opposing increases in his defense budget. Ironically, the President is asking for fewer aircraft and other items of equipment than he requested last year, even though he pledged the U.S. to a new commitment for the security of the Persian Gulf.

But the authorization bill isn't the final step in getting money approved. An appropriations bill must be passed before any money can be spent. That will happen this summer. Both the authorization and appropriations bills will have to receive approval from both houses of Congress, of course. And usually yet another committee, the conference committee, comes into the process to work out differences between versions approved by the House and Senate.

So the road to spending a responsible amount of money on national defense this year will be a long one, with many twists and turns along the way. I am optimistic, however, because we have a better chance than we have had in many years to make real progress this year.

Cub Scout Day Camp personnel met Tuesday, May 27, to make final preparations for their day camp starting June 16. The program was conducted by camp director Lupe Evans and program director Shirley Weems. Medical forms were discussed and camp tee shirts were distributed to all packs.

At the present time there are 93 Cub Scouts registered to attend. A deadline of June 12 for all Medical forms was set. Everyone on the camp grounds is required by BSA to have a medical form on file. Persons failing to fill in a medical form will not be admitted in camp. Special noon activities were discussed.

Cooke County Cub Scout Day Camp has all the characteristics of turning out to be a lot of fun for all Cub Scouts involved.

Cubans Displace Veterans at VA Facilities

A White House directive which authorizes Cuban refugees to occupy beds at the Veterans Administration (VA) medical center in Tampa, Fla., while sick and disabled ex-GI's are being denied treatment, has drawn outraged criticism from the 670,000-member Disabled American Veterans (DAV).

The Carter Administration has ordered the Tampa VA medical center to reserve 40 hospital beds for ailing Cuban refugees. The VA medical center in Gainesville, Fla., has been told to reserve 50 medical and surgical beds for this purpose. On Monday, while 13 Cuban refugees were occupying beds on the Tampa VA facility's psychiatric wards, two American veterans applying for psychiatric care were denied admission due to lack of beds in the hospital's psychiatric care section.

The Tampa VA hospital has been hit particularly hard by Carter Administration budget policies in recent years. Underfunding and understaffing at the hospital were causing denial of treatment to many eligible Tampa veterans long before the massive influx of Cuban refugees into Florida began.

While this situation has its parallels at VA health care facilities across the United States, the problem in Tampa became so severe a year ago that the DAV and a number of VA physicians, themselves, called public attention to it.

A headline in the Tampa Tribune-Times on June 24, 1979, stated that "Staff Doctors Call Some VA Policies Medical Malpractice." A few of the physicians went so far as to charge that some veterans had died because of these policies, which resulted directly from inadequate budgeting.

"I'm astonished by the crass insensitivity of giving priority medical care in VA facilities to undocumented aliens at a time when men and women who fought in our nation's wars are being turned away at the door," said DAV National Commander Paul L. Thompson.

He noted that the situation could only become worse as more Cubans enter VA hospitals, filling the beds allotted to them. The DAV has learned that Carter Administration officials have contacted other VA medical centers in Florida, searching for hospital beds in which to place Cuban refugees requiring medical attention.

"This is a clear indication of how the Carter Administration really feels about the nation's commitment to its war veterans -- how its policies have become the complete opposite of what they should be," said Thompson.

"To show humanitarian concern for the refugees is one thing, but how much humanitarian concern has the Carter Administration shown for sick and disabled veterans needing health services from the VA during the last 3 1/2 years? None!"

The private health care sector currently has 130,000 empty hospital beds, and DAV leaders are asking why the Carter Administration is not using these beds -- rather than the already overburdened VA system -- to treat the Cubans.

HEW Offers Info On SSI Payments

People who are already receiving social security, or other retirement payments, may be able to receive additional income in the form of Supplemental Security Income. Gus Jones, Manager of the Sherman Social Security Office said today that individuals who began receiving retirement payments before age 65 often overlook additional income available to them under the SSI program when they become 65. Jones suggests that those who began receiving retirement payments before 65 get in touch with the Social Security Office again about one month before they reach their 65th birthday.

A claim for supplemental payments is also a claim for Medicaid, which is a medical assistance program handled by the state. Unlike claims for regular social security benefits, which are earned through working in work covered by social security, SSI claims are not good for any months earlier than the month in which the claim is filed. "It is a good idea, then, to apply on time, or up to one month ahead of time," Jones explained.

Supplemental payments can be made to people who are at least age 65, and to some disabled people, including disabled children. Jones went on to say that only people whose income and resources are limited, and who actually need some extra help qualify for these payments. The law does specify certain income and resource limits.

In addition to the money payments, and Medicaid, the state's Department of Human Resources offers many social services to SSI recipients. Also, Congress looks at the SSI rolls in deciding who may need extra help. The Special Energy Assistance payments mailed out by the Treasury Department in January are one example of this.

Jones urges those who have questions about the SSI program to telephone 893-4654 for more information.

YOUR prescription and you

By Sue Boe, Assistant Vice President, Consumer Affairs, Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association

Q. Why can't I get my old prescription refilled rather than having to get a new one from my doctor?

A. There are several possible explanations:

1. Your prescription may have been for a "controlled substance," (one that has a potential for abuse) classed by the government on a schedule that does not permit refills or allows only a few within a six-month period, and you may have already used up the available number of refills.

2. Some medicines should not be taken over a long period of time without periodic review of your condition by your doctor. Certain tests may need to be administered to be sure the medicine is working as intended in your system and not creating avoidable problems.

3. If your old medicine was to treat a short-term health problem, it should not be taken after the problem is corrected. If the ailment re-occurs, your doctor should be consulted before you take any medicine.

So, if your old prescription does not allow unlimited refills, you can be sure there's a good reason. Talk to your doctor or pharmacist about it if you want to know why.

SAVING TIPS
on electric air conditioning

Air conditioning provides lots of comfort during the summer months, but for many thousands of homeowners it is also the biggest factor in the cost of electricity. On the average, air conditioning accounts for about half of summertime electric bills.

Here are ways you can hold down the cost of air conditioning and still enjoy its comfort.

Central Systems

1. Set thermostat on 78°, or higher, during the summer. Turn unit off if you'll be away from home several days.
2. Keep equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
3. Check filter every 30 days. Dirty filters cause equipment to use excessive electricity. If filter is permanent, clean by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, it should be replaced when dirty.
4. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns. Clean grills often.
5. Close draperies and blinds to keep out direct sunlight.
6. Keep fireplace damper closed.
7. Proper home insulation keeps the heat out, cuts energy use. Insulation questions? Call TP&L.
8. Shade on roof and walls can reduce energy needed to cool. But trim trees, shrubs away from outside compressor unit. Keep it free of leaves, debris. If air flow is blocked, unit uses more energy.
9. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and cool air loss.

10. Keep windows closed. Open outside doors as little as possible.

Window Units
Follow above suggestions, plus these:

11. Buy units with highest "energy efficiency ratio" (EER). Uses less electricity to cool. If EER is not on sales tag, ask for it or figure it yourself. Divide "wattage" into "BTU" capacity. Both figures are on unit.
12. Place unit where it'll get as little direct sun as possible.
13. Aim air outlets at lower half of doorway to next room to allow warm air from that room to enter at the doortop for recooling, recirculation.
14. Never vent air conditioner into garage. Ventilation is usually too poor for top performance of your unit.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity. If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.

Kathy Luke and Don Hartman Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hartman are on a wedding trip to Arkansas and will be at home in Muenster upon their return. They were married in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, May 31 at 5 p.m. The bride's uncle, Father Eugene Luke of Subiaco and Father Stephen Eckart concelebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated for the traditional double ring ceremony.

The bride is the former Kathy Luke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Luke and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hartman.

Their vows were exchanged before an altar holding two fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli. Palm trees stood to either side of the altar and floor candelabra held pyramid arrangements of lighted candles entwined with greenery and white flowers.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a formal wedding gown of white Quiana with Guipure lace in a diamond white tone. The fitted bodice featured an overlay of lace extending to form a high neckline and brief cap sleeves. The sheer yoke was accented with tiny seed pearls. The skirt was A-line in design and unfolded across the center back releasing a full chapel train. The skirt front featured two deep scallops, revealing sheer underlay traced with matching lace at the instep. Her fingertip mantilla of imported illusion and Venise lace was enhanced with tiny florets scattered over the veil. The bride carried a nostalgic bouquet of white and blue carnations and daisies in the manner of freshly picked wildflowers.

Attendants

Carolyn Luke was her sister's maid of honor and Nancy Luke, another sister and Mrs. Doyle Hess (Debbie) of Muenster and Mrs. Gary Endres (Mary) of Mesquite, both friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. All were identically gowned in lovely-blue Quiana, with spaghetti straps and brief jackets designed with shoulder drape. They carried yellow and white daisies, blue carnations and gypsophila.

Tom Hartman was his brother's best man and Ken Wilbanks of Houston, Ken Swirczynski of Denver and Taylor Dillard of Oklahoma City were groomsmen. Jim Luke of Lubbock, birde's brother, and Tom Swirczynski, David Biffle and John Yosten all of Muenster, were ushers.

Mass servers were Stuart Luke, cousin of the bride, and Rodney Hess.

Wedding music as guests assembled, included duets by Carolyn Luke and Joe Bartush, "One Love" and "And I Love You So";

Carolyn's solos "More" and "Edelweiss", with organ accompaniment by Mrs. Ruth Felderhoff.

Selections by a vocal group, Linda Flusche, Gayle Miller, Laura Pels and Lynda Yosten included "Sunrise, Sunset", "Follow Me", and "One Hand, One Heart" and "Let It Be Me". Joe Bartush sang "Wedding Song". An organ solo, "Lara's Theme" was used for the recessional.

Reception

A reception and dinner followed in the Community Center, hosted by parents of the couple, Mmes. Debbie Hartman and Liz Luke, sisters-in-law of the couple, secured signatures in the guest book, at a table displaying the bride's portrait.

The three tiered wedding cake stood over a lighted blue fountain and was decorated with fresh flowers, cascades of blue roses, with ivy and daisies around the separating posts. Betty Rose Walterscheid cut the wedding cake and reception assistants were Patricia Cunningham of Tulsa, cousin of the bride and Charlotte Johnson of College Station, Becky Chase of Argyle and Marilyn McNabb of Celina, friends of the bride.

Hurricane lamps with lighted candles, clusters of fresh daisies and blue carnations decorated the brides table. Guest tables were centered with blue satin bands over white and also held daisy and carnation floral arrangements.

Following dinner, guests danced to music by Sage.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, attended Texas Tech and is a graduate of Texas Woman's University where she received a degree in Clinical Nutrition in May.

The groom is a graduate of Muenster High School and of Stephen F. Austin University and is a geologist for Jimmy Jack Biffle Drilling Co.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesies

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents on May 30 in their home. A miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Roy Hartman was held on May 9 and a bachelorette party, in the home of Mrs. David Fette was held on May 23.

Dean Sicking and Lola Teague Wed at College Station

The wedding of Lola Teague, senior student at Texas A&M University and Dean Leo Sicking, a May graduate of A&M, was held in the All Faiths Chapel on the campus on Saturday, May 17 at 11 a.m.

The bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Dan Teague of Duncanville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sicking of Muenster. The father of the bride officiated for the wedding vows and Merrill Teague, bride's brother, presented her at the altar.

The bride wore an ivory satin, princess style traditional gown, with cowl neckline, empire waist, long fitted sleeves, with self-covered buttons at the wrists and in a long row on the back of the bodice. The dress was especially treasured since it was the groom's mother's wedding gown, worn on her wedding day 40 years ago. The bridal veil of ivory illusion was lace edged and applied. The bridal bouquet was a colonial arrangement of yellow roses and white stephanotis.

Margaret Beckman, cousin of the bride, of Duncanville, was the bridesmaid, wearing a blue dress and carrying a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Jim Stockie, a former roommate of the groom was the best man.

Curtis Teague, bride's brother was vocal soloist, playing his own guitar accompaniment. Piano solos were used for the processional and recessional.

Lola and Dean presented long stem red roses to their mothers during the ceremony.

Reception

A reception followed in the chapel parlors. Reception assistants were the groom's sisters Mrs. Herman Depold (Sharlene) and Mrs. Brett Wiggins (Karen). Serving the wedding cake in addition to Mmes. Depold and Wiggins was Gena Pentecost of Houston.

MEDICAL JOURNAL

According to a recent radio broadcast sponsored by Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and Prudential Insurance Company, researchers, in their attempt to discover a cure for the common cold, have found out much about how these bothersome viruses are spread.

Most colds are picked up by children in school and then carried to family and friends, according to University of Virginia Professor of Internal Medicine Dr. Jack Gwaltney.

Laboratory tests run by Dr. Gwaltney have indicated that hands are a principal means of transmitting a cold virus. In fact, he says the hands were shown to be "more efficient" in spreading colds than was coughing or sneezing.

Dr. Gwaltney stresses that these tests do not necessarily reflect real life conditions, and that more study must be done. But in the meantime, he says there are steps that can help prevent colds — such as steering clear of infected persons and muffling coughs with tissues and handkerchiefs.

He also recommends basic good hygiene such as washing hands and avoiding finger contact with eyes and nose.

Press out any fabric creases or folds before laying out a pattern. Some folds in tubular knits and permanent-press fabrics are permanent, so avoid them, says Becky Saunders, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kralicke have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dianne to Terry Walterscheid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Walterscheid. Their wedding will be held in Sacred Heart Church on July 12 at 5 p.m. The bride-elect is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is presently attending North Texas State University in Denton. The future groom is a graduate of Muenster High School and is attending the University of Texas at Arlington.

Beta Kappa Banquet Honored By Presence of State Officers

"Stir up your gift of God" will be this year's theme under newly elected Beta Kappa President, Barbara Felderhoff. The 1980-81 year for Beta Kappa began last Wednesday at its annual Founder's Day Banquet and Installation co-hosted by Gainesville's Kappa Theta Chapter of ESA. The two organizations were honored to have as their guests at the event, the State President of ESA, Bernice Ball and the District President, Betha Bejor. Other honored guests shared in the installation duties. Installed as 1980-81 officers by Mrs. Bejor were: Barbara Felderhoff, president; Kathy Fette, vice-president; Loretta Felderhoff, treasurer; Betsy Fleitman, secretary; Pam Fette, educational chairman; and Liz Howe, parliamentarian.

Another highlight was the jewel pin service marking a members first year. Pam Fette and Marsha Atchison received their pins from 79-80 Beta Kappa Vice President, Margaret Stormer.

Following the jewel pin service was the First Pearl Service awarding pins to members who have earned over 1000 points by participating in various educational, service, and social functions. Receiving their First Pearl from the State President were Loretta Felderhoff, Marcie Wilde, and Kathy Fette.

The Pallas Athene Service followed, also given by the State President, which is yet another higher goal after the First Pearl. (All ESA awards are given on basis of service-points requiring many hours of work). The recipients were: First Degree of Pallas Athene, Barbara Felderhoff; Third Degree, Jan Cain; Fourth Degree, Betsy Fleitman.

ESA is an international organization which was formed in 1929 to help women learn, serve, and grow. Each year ESA chapters raise millions of dollars towards philanthropic projects. Last year the international sorority raised over 1 million dollars for St. Jude's Children's Hospital.

The dinner Wednesday was provided by Kappa Theta and the decorations by Beta Kappa.

From the TAP Kitchen

MARINATED CARROTS with the snap of onions and green pepper can be served as a side dish or relish. Texas Department of Agriculture home economists have created a tart marinade for the dish, but it can be varied to suit any cook's taste.

WONDERFUL MARINATED CARROTS

- 2 lb. (4 C) carrots, sliced
- 1 med. green pepper
- 1 med. onion
- 1 (10 oz.) can condensed tomato soup
- 1/2 C. salad oil
- 1 C. sugar
- 3/4 C. vinegar
- 1 tsp. prepared mustard
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- Salt and pepper to taste

Boil carrots in salted water until fork tender. Set aside to cool. Core green pepper and cut into 1/2 inch rings. Slice onion crosswise. Layer carrots, green pepper and onion alternately in dish. Combine soup, salad oil, sugar, vinegar, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper; blend well. Pour mixture over vegetables and refrigerate. Serves 8-10. These carrots are best after marinating for 48 hours.

For more vegetable recipes, write Texas Department of Agriculture, Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Have a Hearing Test

May, which will be observed as Better Hearing and Speech Month, is an ideal time for everyone to have the annual hearing test that should be part of each individual's yearly physical check-up.

This is the advice of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. Sponsored by Chicago-based Beltone Electronics Corporation, world leader in hearing aids and electronic hearing test instruments, the crusade is designed to build public awareness of the need for hearing conservation.

U.S. Government figures indicate an estimated 15 million Americans have measurable hearing impairments. This means that hearing loss is one of the nation's leading causes of physical disability.

While having a hearing test will not prevent a loss from developing nor alleviate an impairment that exists, such a test frequently is the first indication a person has that a hearing loss exists, and that help should be sought.

Too often persons with hearing losses do not recognize their impairment until it has become serious enough to interfere with their job performance or their ability to conduct normal social activities, the crusade officials stressed.

Forestburg Honors "Little First Lady"

Forestburg residents call Cleo Lanier their "Little First Lady", so on May 17 they honored her with a surprise birthday dinner at the Forestburg Community Center. Hostesses were members of the Forestburg Extension Homemakers Club.

Mrs. Veda Brogdon, president, spoke at the dinner, telling guests Cleo was honored for her outstanding love and devotion to the community's history and traditions. Among the many additional credits she listed were support of the local school, FFA, FHA, sports, and many volunteer jobs plus filling in as needed in classrooms.

Another was a favorite project, building the small roadside park near the Perryman Cemetery almost by herself and now maintaining it with assistance from her grandchildren.

She has had a special interest for years in bringing Forestburg people together in love and fellowship, by organizing picnics, parties, dinners and coffees. As one of the directors of the Forestburg Community Center, Mrs. Lanier has sought to keep the annual Forestburg Homecoming alive. She has also kept a keen interest in politics and has been a leader in fund raising programs for the Heart Fund and Cancer Fund.

Mrs. Brogdon concluded her speech by presenting a plaque from the community to the honoree. Mrs. Ruby Sledge read a letter to Mrs. Lanier from State Representative Jack Hanna, who sent a framed citation naming her "An Ambassador of Good Will of the State of Texas."

After dinner, gifts, cards and a decorated cake made by Ruby Sledge were presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Cleo Lanier was born in a log cabin, the daughter of Tom and Zoey (Wells) Cleever. She married Wilson Lanier in 1931. They became parents to two sons, Gene who died in January 1980, and Gerald of Forestburg; and one daughter, Mrs. Charles (Jeanette) Montgomery of Greenwood. Her husband died in 1957. There are seven grandchildren.

"Mrs. Lanier is a devoted member of Forestburg United Methodist Church. She is very patriotic where her country is concerned. She was a fine wife. She is a good mother and grandmother. She is loyal to her friends." This was the final tribute paid by one of the speakers at the birthday surprise. The party opened and closed with the Happy Birthday song by those attending.

Following the program, they were all guests in the Miller home for Sunday night supper.

R. Lardner and Son Visit Here

Rosemary was matron-of-honor in the wedding of her niece, Mary Ellen Galloway to Robert Baumer on May 24. ## YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

With summertime and hot weather, lots of people are asking questions about saving money on home cooling systems. In the last few years the rules have changed significantly. Used to be, it was a matter of finding a system that could produce as much cool air as possible for as little money as possible. It's not that simple any longer.

In today's economic environment, with energy costs still accelerating rapidly, the name of the game is efficiency.

If you're going to buy a room air conditioner check the EER (energy-efficiency ratio) stamped on the specifications label. The higher the number, the more money you save in operating costs. When installing it, a room on the north is usually best... one on the west usually worst. Central air conditioning operating costs can be cut by insulating attic ducts and making certain the compressor is shaded.

If you do choose to save money this summer... know you've saved it by putting it to work in an energy efficient savings account. It makes you money without taking your money... You Can BANK On It!

Copy Machine Is Jeff Hess Memorial

Sacred Heart High School has recently purchased a new copying machine with the money received from the Jeff Hess Memorial Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hess asked several months ago that instead of sending flowers, people might contribute to a fund which was established at the school in memory of Jeff. The contributions made possible the purchase of a copy machine to replace the old one which will now be used in the grade school.

A formal dedication ceremony will be held when school starts next fall and a memorial plaque will be presented to accompany the new machine.

The last two weeks of school at Sacred Heart High saw the election of 1980-81 officers for a number of organizations.

Student Council

Free Seminar Set On Striped Bass

Stu Tinney, cited as the "absolute authority in the world" on the striped bass, will be personally conducting one of his famous free seminars on striper fishing at 7 p.m., Friday, June 6 at the Eisenhower Auditorium of the Denison High School in Denison.

The free seminar, which has been described by sports writers and fishermen around the country as "the best program of its kind anywhere," is open to the public and precedes the Striper Magazine/Denison Area Chamber of Commerce co-sponsored Striper Tournament taking place from Preston's Fishing Camp on Lake Texoma Sat., June 7 and Sun., June 8. First prize for the largest striper caught is $1,000.

Tinney, who's personally captured more than 50,000 trophy stripers, delivers a stimulating seminar through the use of action films, slides and exciting facts which not only educate the novice angler on the catching of stripers, but proves to be a heart-stirring education on pollution and water preservation.

Men's Night at the Pool

Wednesday is men's night at the Muenster swimming pool, Mark Hess, manager, said this week. Starting June 11 the pool will be open 7 to 9 on Wednesday with a lifeguard on duty. Admission price is 75 cents. Children are asked not to come.

TPA To Honor Earl Campbell

Texas newspapers will present Houston Oiler famed running back, Earl Campbell, with its highest honor during the Centennial Convention of the Texas Press Association June 21 in Houston.

Campbell, who has broken all NFL records in yards gained in rushing during his two years on the Oiler team, will be the eleventh Texan to be named "Texan of the Year" by the century-old association, composed of 575 Texas daily and weekly newspapers.

The Texan of the Year Award is not an annual award. It is given when the Association wants to honor a native-born son or daughter who has brought fame to the state while bringing prominence to themselves in their respective fields of endeavor.

In the past, Texan of the Year has been given to only 10 persons, among them the late Dan Blocker, Dale Evans, "Tex" Thorton, Al Ludden, Ray Berry, Alan Bean and Phyllis George.

Campbell is considered to be the "most awarded" Texas Football player and applauded as the greatest running back in football history. He began his career as a member of the Longhorn team at the University of Texas, Austin, receiving the famed Heisman Trophy.

When he went into pro football, Campbell was named Rookie of the Year in the league and the two years he has played pro ball has been named NFL Most Valuable Player.

TPA President Bill Dozier said Campbell well met qualifications the press association has set up for recipients of the high award: good humor, talent, warm heart, friendly personality, greatness of character and highly regarded in his chosen profession.

In addition to Governor Clements, featured speakers at the convention include Norman Isaacs, head of the National News Council, New York; Jack Landau, director of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, Washington, D.C.; and U.S. Senator John Tower.

energy answers

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

I have never had my air conditioning system checked except when it wasn't functioning properly. This year I am considering having a general maintenance check-up before beginning operation. Is this necessary? W. P., Abilene.

For optimum efficiency, it is a wise idea to have your air conditioning system checked at the beginning of each cooling season to make sure everything is running properly. Any problems you may be having can be detected and corrected early before they become more serious and cause a breakdown in the dead heat of summer. The charge for a general maintenance call is very reasonable and well worth the money.

As part of general maintenance, check your filters often and change them about once a month to prevent dust build-up that can hamper the efficiency of your unit.

Also check your compressor outside to make sure the grillwork is free of shrubbery, insects, and debris.

I see a lot of ads for various kinds of fans, and I know a lot of people who are buying them to try to limit their use of air conditioning this summer. How effective are fans against the Texas heat? Are there any studies on this? R. J., San Marcos.

It is possible to reduce the length of the air conditioning season by several weeks with the use of fans such as whole-house fans, ceiling fans, window fans, or portable fans.

The whole-house fan is an old idea which is currently being revived in an effort to replace and/or supplement air conditioning. Formerly known as "attic fans," the whole-house fan is mounted in the attic so that it cools the conditioned air space below.

Studies two summers ago by the National Bureau of Standards in the Houston area showed that the whole-house fan was ideal when the temperature range was 75 degrees to 82 degrees, and the humidity was not above 75 percent. It may be possible to use a fan at slightly higher temperatures provided you are dressed comfortably and not engaged in strenuous activities.

Part of the problem here is "conditioning" people to think that they can survive at least part of the summer without air-conditioning, and that they can be comfortable at higher temperatures with a fan rather than air conditioning.

If you have a question about energy conservation around the home, send it to ENERGY ANSWERS, Texas Energy Extension Service, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Steve Luke Attends Tennis Camp

Steve Luke has just completed a week of junior tennis sessions at Newk's Tennis Ranch, New Braunfels. Owned and operated by John Newcomb, Australian and three times Wimbledon champion, the camp is a summer program with pros as instructors and college players as counselors. Steve attended the first junior session of this summer.

Mornings were spent on instruction, including strokes, footwork and methods of practice; afternoons were spent on doubles and singles matches; and evenings on physical conditioning exercise and running.

Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Luke and Stuart took Steve to camp, spent the weekend in Austin and saw Inner-space Caverns near Austin and Aquarena at San Marcos before returning home.

New grass found for shaded sites

COLLEGE STATION — Researchers at Texas A&M University say they have found a grass that grows in the shade of a tree, normally the most barren part of a Texas homeowner's yard.

Although the most widely used warm season grass for shaded sites is St. Augustine, the researchers at Texas A&M's Department of Soil and Crop Sciences found it may not be the best grass after all.

While no final recommendations can be made, all supportive information suggests that a grass called tall fescue has excellent potential where there is adequate irrigation, especially in warm, humid regions.

During the three year analysis, the Texas A&M scientists found that the tall fescue grass took root readily and grew without any significant problems if irrigated.

According to the National Population Council, there were only about 5 million people in the whole world in 5,000 B.C.

During cold weather, use the kitchen range fan sparingly. In a very short time, it can blow away a houseful of warmed air -- air you have paid to heat, cautions Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Kevin and Kris Cox of Houston spent two weeks on the farm with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fleitman and have returned home with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Cox.

Hot and Dry

Weather that is right for harvesting is not right for growing crops of the area. While combines are busy rain is badly needed on milo, sorghum and other growing crops. Total rainfall for May was 2.19 inches and for the year to date is 7.76 inches.

Low and high temperature readings of the week have been recorded as follows by Steve Moster. May 29, 76 and 90; May 30, 75 and 91; May 31, 74 and 92; June 1, 72 and 90; June 2, 74 and 90; June 3, 72 and 94; June 4, 73 and 94.

Confetti...

co-sponsoring a bill to rescind funds Congress has appropriated this year for the executive branch to buy office furniture, and also to take back $15 million of the $20 million appropriated for renting furniture storage space. Altogether Congress would take back about $250 million that would otherwise be squandered by federal agencies.

The size of this cutback suggests that Bentsen wants federal tax eaters to start living like we taxpayers have to. High cost of living makes lots of people carry on with their old furniture, otherwise to shop for used furniture or bring out an item previously discarded. Government people can do likewise...that is, carry on with what they have and choose needed additions from the 78 warehouses of used furniture.

The idea appeals to us taxpayers. It's something that can be done and fits perfectly with the tax cut proposals. Common sense tells us that the only way to stop inflation is to stop the deficit spending which keeps the country in the red.
