Taxpayers Shocked by Increased Valuations

TV ratings of the past week state that the GOP convention attracted only about 25 percent of the nation's audience, which must have been very disappointing to the networks. After all, they made a major effort to create a big show of conflict out of a harmonious situation. The platform committee adopted planks on a number of key campaign issues, including spending, taxes, foreign policy, national defense and right to work, but encountered opposition when it came to ERA and abortion.

And that's when the liberal-leaning media people came to life with extensive commentary on the "bitter struggle" within the party and speculation on the campaign damages to be caused by the division. They quoted freely from ERA supporters, like Governor Milliken of Michigan, who warned that if GOP repudiated its past support of ERA, "then we will be repudiated by a large segment of America's population -- and deservedly so."

Over and over they told that Reagan and his "ultra-right-wing" backers were out to reverse a 40-year GOP policy of support for the amendment. It was obvious that the commentators were trying to stir up convention discord while convincing the viewing public that the party is turning its back on the nation's women, and that anti-ERA forces are inflexible right wing zealots.

On the other hand, Phyllis Schlafly of the anti-ERA pointed out that conservatives acted in a reasonable and considerate manner. "The first thing is that it is clear that we had the votes to pass a plank that said we oppose ERA outright and deplore the unfair congressional vote that extended the time for ERA ratification. But we chose, as smart politicians, not to do that but to go for the harmony plank that recognized ERA as an issue to be resolved by the states."

Schlafly added that "the media made ERA the main issue of the convention, trying to give the impression that it was laden with tremendous controversy, a bitter confrontation. But they were absolutely stunned when the votes were taken and a plank failing to endorse ERA had overwhelmingly passed. It was obvious that ERA was not controversial at all. It was a non-issue." The equal rights platform, with no support of ERA and specific opposition to the drafting of women, was passed by a whopping vote of 90-9.

There seems to be a message in a vote as lopsided as this one. After 40 years of support the GOP obviously thinks that the equal rights concept for women ain't what it used to be. The American public is sympathetic to demands of equality of the sexes in politics, medicine, business, law, industry, etc., and in equal pay for equal work; but it feels that the ERA movement has been taken over by an element advocating abortion, homosexuality and disregard of basic moral and cultural values. The idea of sharing rest rooms, or reporters invading the dressing rooms of the opposite sex is socially and morally wrong no matter how much the liberals try to justify it.

To further prove ERA unworthiness its supporters resorted to unconstitutional procedure such as refusing to let a state withdraw its ratification and extending its ratification time by congressional vote. The present administration can accept credit for this illegality.

More of the media showmanship was related to the convention's selection of a nominee for vice president. continued on page 12...

A number of local taxpayers went into near shock Monday when they received official notification from the city that their tax valuations had been increased 67 percent. What really shook them is the estimated tax which was also increased by 67 percent.

Well, the good news is that the tax bill in October will definitely be lower than the estimate shown. The reason is that this year's tax rate still has not been set, so last year's rate of 70 cents was used to make the estimate. The figure is for comparison only and is not intended to show this year's charge.

As pointed out by City Secretary Celine Dittfurth, the city's tax adjustment procedure dates back to the state legislature's act of 1978 ruling that taxable valuations are to be uniform for all taxing agencies of the county. County appraisers determined the valuations, which were recorded also on the City of Muenster tax roll last year. The rate charged last year on those valuations was 70 cents per $100 of assessed value.

Because of inflation and various other factors, the

Theatre Group Recruits Juniors

The Butterfield Stage Players and Cooke County College will establish a children's theater program for area youngsters by offering special classes in theater for elementary and junior high school age children this summer, in two sections. The elementary section includes children who have completed the 1st grade and the junior high section includes the 8th grade.

The program is designed to offer learning experiences in addition to the fun of involvement by teaching basics of acting and stage movement and fundamentals of scenery design and construction, makeup, costuming, lighting, etc. Beginning August 4, classes will meet for one hour daily, Monday through Friday for two weeks, at the Butterfield Stage Playhouse, corner of Main and Denton. Fees will be $12 per child.

The instructor will be Linda Cook, a former public school speech and drama teacher. She said that much of the success of the program will depend upon assistance from volunteers. Persons interested in helping may contact Mrs. Cook at 665-1429. Parents interested in obtaining more information may call Mrs. Cook or CCC Division of Continuing Education at 668-7731.

county determined this year that assessed values were considerably less than market value, so it increased all of the valuations by 67 percent. Committed to use of the same value the city has also charged to the higher figures, which total about $17 million.

With this figure in mind, the city council will be able to decide its tax rate. The city budget, to be adopted

31 Days Over 100

Every day is setting a new heat record for Muenster. The total number of consecutive days over 100 degrees now has reached 31 whereas the most ever prior to this heat wave was 22 in 1978.

Meanwhile the community has a strong start for topping its full season record of days over 100 degrees. At this time there are the 31 consecutive days plus three others early in June, a total of 34, and the record to beat is 44 in 1978. With a week remaining in July and all of August still coming, the additional 10 days seem practically assured -- especially when weather forecasters say that the end of the heat wave is not in sight.

The net result is continued grief for area farmers who have the same kind of disaster that President Carter viewed Monday at Justin. Pastures and feed crops are in failure, forcing stockmen to feed hay, which is scarce and expensive. At the same time milk and beef production have slumped. The solution for many stockmen is to sell down their herds drastically.

It is assured that the total tax collection this year will be about the same as last year, so each person's pay will be about the same. The tax rate will be decreased to compensate for the increased valuation.

Temperature readings recorded last week by Steve Mosler are as follows: July 17, 80 and 109; July 18, 80 and 109; July 19, 80 and 104; July 20, 80 and 104; July 21, 76 and 103; July 22, 72 and 102; July 23, 72 and 102.

The moisture reading continued at zero for the past week. Following a reading of .07 on June 22, the community now has 31 days without rain. Total for the year to date remains at 9.37 inches, about half of normal.

adequate pressure has been maintained in case of a fire. As pointed out by Water Superintendent Steve Mosler, the schedule balances production and consumption even though the wells yield only about 500,000 gallons a day and peak usage exceeds over 600,000. The method is to keep pumps going while watering is banned on Saturday and Sunday. As a result, a storage of the city's full capacity, 400,000 gallons, is available for Monday and Tuesday. With outside watering, outgo uses all of the wells' input plus more than 200,000 gallons out of storage in the two days, leaving tanks less than half full. Enough of that shortage is recovered during the Wednesday ban to provide for two more watering days on Thursday and Friday.

Water Rationing Still Adequate

Shallow Wells Help

Meanwhile help is coming from a number of low production shallow private wells around town. Presently more than a dozen of them are complete and producing, and a half dozen others are either being drilled or having pumps and pipe installed. These wells are similar to the average rural wells, ranging from 100 to 200 feet. Usually the water is hard but preferred to the city's water because it has not been treated by chlorine. Furthermore, the only cost -- after original investment -- is the expense of pumping. Average production of these wells is about 10,000 gallons a day, which is more than enough for needs of the big water users, like football fields and larger yards. When all of them come into use they will relieve the city's shortage substantially.

Some of the wells presently in use are those of Urban Endres, Steve Klement, Paul Walterscheid, Harry Otto, Richard Grewing, Tony Luke, Rufus Henschel, Joe Sicking and Jerry Wimmer. Wells now being drilled or installed with pump and pipe are at Sacred Heart and Muenster High athletic fields, Tony Rohmer, Herky Biffle, Joe Fisher and Vincent Felderhoff.

As large dark clouds teasingly pass overhead, this rig at the Tony Rohmer home is being used to help in the present water crisis, adding to the list of new private water wells in town. Staff Photo

Tigers are High, Hornets Low in Pre-season Rating

Sacred Heart Tigers rate as the favorites in this year's TCIL District 3AAA football conference according to the annual predictions of Dave Campbell's Texas Football.

According to the same source the Muenster High Hornets are rated far down on the list of District 8A, which it is joining this year after being dropped by reclassification.

The Tiger's rating is based on the return of six offensive and four defensive regulars from last year's 10-2 district champion and state semifinalist team. Listed as team stalwarts are John Hartman, Teddy Walterscheid, Monte Endres, Kirk Mollenkopf, Hal Mollenkopf and Darrell Swirczynski.

Other teams in the order listed are Tyler Gorman with six offensive and 7 defensive regulars from last year's 5-5 team; Wichita Falls Notre Dame with 19 returning lettermen from last year's 0-7-3 team; and Lubbock Christ the King with 15 lettermen from last year's 3-6-1 team.

The Hornets are listed as No. 9 in the 11 member District 8A. Campbell rates Meridian at the top on the basis of nine offensive and ten defensive starters in spite of last year's 0-9-1 record.

Saint Jo's Panthers are rated No. 2 on the basis of several all-district choices on last year's 4-4-1 team.

Others in order are Godley, Paradise, Tolar, Perrin, Alvard, Rio Vista, Muenster, Era and Masonic Home.

Muenster's humble rating is based on a shortage of experience following a sweeping graduation from last year's 3-7 team. Among seven returning lettermen with two starters are Dale Swirczynski, Rusty Serna, Bob Hamric, Joe Tempel, John Walterscheid and Gary Klement.

Era with six offensive and six defensive regulars returning, is rated as a strong prospect to improve on the team's 1979 record. Standouts listed are Mike Nash, Gary Fenley, Troy Grewing, Alan Spears, and Richey Fielder.

Among Saint Jo's returning lettermen are Kenneth Sidwell, Allen Corley, Tommy Hale, James Huckaby, Billy Harris and Craig McCrary.

Local Royalty Owners Attend Tax Hearing

The Muenster area was represented by twelve persons last Thursday at a special statewide hearing conducted by Senator Lloyd Bentsen in Austin on the so called Windfall Profits Tax imposed on oil producers and royalty owners.

The hearing was especially for royalty owners, who are finding more than a third of their checks ripped off by the new federal law. Speakers encouraged some 3000 persons to send letters to Senator Bentsen detailing the amount of deduction from their checks and the resulting hardships. Letters can be addressed to Hon. Lloyd Bentsen, Senate Office Bldg., Washington D.C. 20510.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Rube Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dangelmayr, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trubenbach, Mrs. M.H. King, Mrs. John Dangelmayr, Joe Dangelmayr, Tom Hartman, Henry Spaeth and Al Felderhoff.

Scouts Prepare For Summer Camp

Scouts of troop 664 are completing arrangements to leave for a week of fun and work at Leonard Scout Ranch near Grandbury (South of Fort Worth).

Scoutmaster Waylen Poole has called a planning meeting for Friday evening, July 25, at the K of C Hall to finalize merit badge requirements and complete the last minute details.

All scouts who plan to go to summer camp must attend this final meeting, Friday evening at 7:00 and be at the K of C Hall Sunday morning no later than 10:00 a.m. Departure is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Sunday July 27. The Scouts will return on Saturday, August 2.

The Scouts will be accompanied by Scoutmaster Waylen Poole and his assistant, John Walterscheid.

Scoutmaster Waylen Poole and nine Scouts of Troop 664 gave the Philmont camping and hiking experience an A-plus rating. They joined Scouts from Gainesville, Denton and Lewisville going to the reservation and returning. Pictured are, standing: Stephen Vogel, Craig Stoffels, Duane Walterscheid, Ronnie Fisher and Billie Grewing; seated: Leroy Voth, Hank Richroath (Gainesville District Ex.), Kirk Klement, not identified guide, Waylen Poole (Scoutmaster), and Brian Hoinig. James Bright, not shown was in another group.

THE ALL VOLUNTEER FORCE

By all the evidence we have seen our armed forces are in very poor condition. This has been brought about by good people with the very best of intentions. As is generally known, from 1940 to 1972 we relied on conscription, commonly called the "draft," to provide manpower for the armed services. There is no question that the draft was unpopular among some people. Neither is there a question that it is an infringement on individual liberty for those who are called into the service for a period of time. For these and similar reasons in 1972 it was decided by the Congress to end drafting men as a means of supplying troops for the services. Instead we were to rely on an "All Volunteer Force" made up of career professionals. The theory was that if paid commensurately with their civilian counterparts these volunteers would stay in the service until qualified for retirement after 20 or more years. This would insure professionalism and save tax dollars by eliminating the cost of training so many replacements. How has the theory worked in practice?

According to Senator Harrison Schmitt, "The pay incentives are not significant enough to attract educated individuals, therefore we are attracting chiefly the poor and uneducated. We are not even attracting those desiring an education. Basically we have created a gulf between the educated class and the military. A good military must reflect to some degree the political, cultural, educational, economic and social makeup of society. Our military now does not."

Assistant Secretary of Defense Robert B. Pirie told a Senate subcommittee that "fully 25 percent of recruits for all services may fall into 'Category Four,' the lowest intelligence grouping, ranging below the 30th percentile. In 1964 only 19 percent of draftees were in this low grouping. Today about 45 percent of Army recruits are in this lowest intelligence category. In 1964, 35 percent of the draftee Army was above the 65th percentile in intelligence. In the 1979 All Volunteer Army only 16 percent are above that percentile."

Recently released "report cards" based on the Army's "Skill Qualification Test" scores, indicate the seriousness of the problem. Of 1,574 artillery crewmen tested, 14 percent passed; of 385 nuclear weapons maintenance specialists, 10 percent passed; of 371 tank turret and artillery repairmen, only 2 percent passed; of 1,095 Hawk missile crews tested, 18 percent passed; of 2,794 cannon fire direction specialists checked, only 19 percent passed; and of 1,633 computer programmers tested, but 23 percent passed.

A large part of the armed forces manpower problem can be traced directly to the racial make-up of present day services. The Army is now 36 percent black in the lower four grades; this is expected to go to 42 percent in the early 1980s. An article by Fred Reed in the Washington Post illuminated this problem with a quote of an instructor in the Army's jungle school in Panama:

"You can't discipline the blacks because they yell racism, and the officers are scared of being called racists so they won't back you up. If you can't discipline the blacks, you can't discipline the whites."

The All Volunteer Army isn't working; it's a total failure and the American people need to know it and demand a return to a sound method for manning our services.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Former U.N. Ambassador George Bush, the Texan who slugged it out in the primaries with GOP presidential nominee Ronald Reagan, won his party's vice presidential nomination last week ... and many Democrats believe it signals the Republican party's attempt to build a broad base among voters.

In Austin, Texas Democrats began preparing for a tough race in this state and the National Democratic Convention next month in New York.

Behind the leadership of Reagan, Bush, Gov. Bill Clements, former Gov. John Connally, et al., — and a "now, if ever" attitude, Texas Republicans in the past year have added newcomers to their rolls, and are now prepared to play a whole new ball game.

The Anderson Factor
 Independent presidential contender III. Cong. John Anderson may be on the Texas ballot, adding to the political twists of the autumn.

His campaign workers here turned in some 70,000 petition signatures to Texas Secretary of State George Strake, well over the 40,719 signatures needed.

Anderson's forces are expected to be challenged with a suit from the Democrats over whether Democratic primary voters are eligible to sign Anderson's petition. Strake has ruled Democrats may sign, and Atty. Gen. Mark White has ruled they cannot.

Battling State Agencies
 The University of Texas System is expected to tell Gov. Clements it cannot comply with his demand to cut five percent of its payroll, although the regents agree in spirit with his efforts to cut the fat from state government.

Chancellor E. Don Walker insists that U.T. is not a "bloated bureaucracy", and a five percent cut would hit muscle and bone, not just fat.

Clements, who campaigned on a shrink state government theme, has been adamant about reducing state employees, but according to news reports, with little success.

One wise political observer commented that Clements and others, including Bill Hobby, Bill Clayton and a host of legislators, have succeeded in preventing unnecessary increases in spending. By making government "mark time" during a period of rising costs, the officials are, in effect, melting off the fat.

Apparently, that's not good enough for Clements, who now wants to beef up the inspection operations of State Auditor George McNeil.

Clements wants state auditors to perform in-depth examinations of state agencies, rather than "once-over lightly" inspections, as he calls them.

McNeil says he just wants "to be left alone," because his agency is doing fine. McNeil is appointed by the Legislative Audit Committee, which includes the Lt. Governor and House Speaker, and is confirmed by the Senate.

If McNeil doesn't accept Clements' offers of more staff, money and power, those additions may go to Clements own staff or to outside auditing firms, the auditor said.

Odds and Ends
 Arch Republican H. Ross Perot's company which handles the state's Medicaid program lost its bid to renew the $2 million Texas Medicaid contract, a group insurance plan for over 700,000 lower income Texans.

House Speaker Bill Clayton's Brilab trial date has been postponed until Aug. 18. While his lawyers rush to prepare his defense, Clayton hopes for an acquittal by Labor Day.

Former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, campaigning for Railroad Commission candidates Jim Nugent and Buddy Temple, said he "wouldn't rule out" any future political race of his own, including governor or U.S. Senate.

Taxes on Energy
 Attorney General Mark White was in Washington last week protesting other state's high severance taxes on coal shipped to Texas and at an Austin hearing with U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen on the windfall profits tax. Texas officials and taxpayers are outraged at the tax on backyard wells.

In legal opinions issued last week, White ruled:

—A county may not reimburse the county auditor for travel expenses other than on a reasonable rate per mile traveled.

—A commissioners court may allocate courthouse space to representatives of the media, title companies and employee credit unions.

Letter To The Editor

Other than the hot weather and lack of rain, one topic that is easy to talk about with most anyone is inflation, wasteful government spending and high taxes. Yes, almost everybody agrees that the federal government is wasting our tax dollars and contributing to inflation. But the truly sad fact is that only 2% of the American taxpayers have done anything this year to show their concern about it.

Yes only 2% have picked up a pen and written their Congressman, Senator, or the President to express their views. Is it any wonder the situation continues to get worse? We have got to come out of the woodwork and let our voices be heard.

If millions of us write, call and demand that waste and corruption be attacked, spending be reduced, and taxes cut, the politicians cannot and will not ignore us. And often those politicians who do share our views are aided in their efforts by our letters and communications.

There are many fine taxpayer organizations looking to increase their membership. These organizations often send out monthly ballots or questionnaires making it very easy for members to express their views. Whether you prefer to join such an organization or not, please take a few minutes each month, pick up a pen and express your views. Your participation will make a difference.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
 U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

When does a tax cut fail to lower your tax burden? When hidden increases make it necessary to "cut" taxes if people are to stay even.

That is our situation now. Inflation is pushing taxpayers into higher brackets. Social Security taxes will go up sharply in January. And the so-called "windfall profits" tax on oil will be paid by consumers of petroleum products. Without a tax "cut," Americans next year will pay about $70 billion more in taxes than this year. The effect on the individual, already beleaguered by inflation and high taxes, will be crushing. And the cumulative effect of the added burden will be to slow our economy down at a time when it already is in a severe recession.

Even with a 10 percent reduction in the personal income tax in 1981 -- a proposal currently before Congress -- most taxpayers will barely break even, and some will actually be paying more into the federal treasury. All the reduction would do is pare down the otherwise inevitable increases. That's important, but it's not enough.

We also need to enact tax reductions designed to make it practical for businesses to increase their levels of investment. It may not sound like that would benefit the individual citizen, but it is vital if we are to solve the basic problems that have caused high inflation rates and high unemployment levels.

The recession of 1980 is in full swing. Unemployment is rising, output is falling, any hope for a balanced budget is dead, and inflation is still in double digits. The "Discomfort Index," which is the sum of the inflation and unemployment rates, stood at 24.3 percent in January of this year, compared to 12.5 percent in 1976. This combination of economic conditions is virtually unmatched by any since the Depression.

The key to solving many of these problems is increasing the capacity and productivity of our private sector. When business is growing, more people have jobs. When productivity -- the amount that a worker can produce or accomplish -- goes up, price increases abate. When more goods and services are available, competition retards rising prices.

And that's why business investment is important to you. Without it, expansion and modernization would come to a halt.

Carefully designed selective tax cuts can make it practical, even attractive, for businesses to sink money into new projects. And the jobs that come from an expansion of production contribute to the economy -- they add to the total of goods and services available to the nation. If we try to fight recession by creating makework government jobs, we don't contribute anything to the economy. Instead we simply pump more money into the system, adding to our inflation problems.

Naturally, the tax cuts I am advocating must be accompanied by reductions in government spending, because government deficits are a major cause of inflation. I am much afraid a balanced budget for next year is the impossible dream. The so-called balanced budget called for in the First Concurrent Budget Resolution depends on large increases in revenue to make the figures come out in the black.

If we can cut back significantly on domestic spending programs, we can not only balance the budget, but also take a major step toward getting government off the back of its citizens.

About 60 Expected To Register Here

As of Wednesday afternoon, 21 young men had completed draft registration forms at the local post office. That comes to almost an even third of those who should be registering.

Judging from the number of high school graduates from the years 1978 and 1979, there should have been some sixty males born in the years 1960 and 1961.

Although this is only a estimate, it should give a fair idea of how many Muenster males can be registered by the end of next week.

Postmaster Virgil Henscheid said there have been no complaints or arguments thus far. He said most everyone has treated the matter rather casually and realized that it is only a registration and not an actual draft.

Suddenly the popularity of private water wells is zooming in town, partly to cope with future shortage of city water and partly to provide chlorine-free water for lawns and other vegetation, and partly also to save on water bills. This one is being drilled at the public school for its athletic fields. Another has just been finished at Sacred Heart. And many more are finished or in the process at local homes. Staff Photo

Bindel Returns to Duty in San Diego

Tim Bindel is back in San Diego after spending a 30 day leave with his parents the Wilfred Bindels and other family members. He will attend a technician school prior to future sea duty aboard the Meyercoard. He has served on the Chicago which has now been retired. Tim Bindel has completed six years in the U.S. Navy. On July 6 the Wilfred Bindel family was all together for the first time in two years, including Mr. and Mrs. Mac Dennis and Melissa and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Garcia of The Colony; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bindel of Wichita Falls; Ben and Brian Bindel of Muenster, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bindel, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Neu of Lindsay.

Here is Muenster as the birds saw it 40 years ago. Photographed by the late Chris Fette, it shows lots of structures and landmarks that old timers can identify. For instance, the overpass, the Katy railroad and depot, the former SH church and parish hall and convent, the former public school, the old milk plant, two hotels, a cotton gin, plus other business houses and homes. The Bank was brand new and the Enterprise was a year old. Grain shocks indicate that the picture was made at harvest time and the tilled ground shows that lots of the present city was in cultivation then. Watch for an up to date view in next week's paper.

The 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate

Put in $1,000, and get back

$1,272

2 1/2-year return reflects interest earned on $1,000 principal and accumulated interest for 2 1/2 years at current rate.

Current rate of 9.50% yields 10.11%

Staying ahead financially has always been a race. But the 80's present new, tougher challenges.

At First Texas Savings, we have ways to beat the 80's. Like our 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate. It offers the guaranteed maximum rate, compounded daily, 365 days a year, for maximum yields on amounts as small as $100. No bank can pay more. Rates for new certificates are set biweekly and are good for the entire term.

Sure, our 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate is a good investment, but it's also a no-risk investment. Your money is insured up to $100,000 by a federal agency and secured by First Texas' over 1.6 billion dollars in assets.

Best of all, at First Texas, all or part of your money is available anytime, or you can borrow against it. Penalty on early withdrawal is six months' interest and only on the amount withdrawn.

So, before you put your money anywhere, remember: Others may keep you even in the 80's, but First Texas Savings will keep you ahead.

Effective July 24 through August 6, 1980.

Annual yield reflects interest earned on principal and accumulated interest for a full year.

Recent federal regulations require principal reduction if sufficient interest does not exist.

Mary Kay Gremminger Exchanges Wedding Vows with Randall Morrow

The wedding of Mary Kay Gremminger and Randal Hill Morrow was held in Notre Dame Church of Denver on Saturday, June 21 at 1:30 p.m. Father Joseph Mezner performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gremminger, and parents of the groom are Mrs. B.J. Brown and Richard Morrow of Denver. The bride is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hartman and Ted Gremminger Sr. all of Muenster.

The bride was presented by her father before an altar decorated with four baskets of Knob-Hill mums and ferns. For her wedding she chose a white organza gown with an empire bodice and crystal pleated skirt and chapel train. The bodice was embellished with Alencon lace and tiny seed pearls. The high neck was accented with Alencon lace and seed pearls applied on point d'esprit. Sheer bishop sleeves were cuffed with lace and point d'esprit. Her waltz length bridal veil, made by her mother, cascaded from a lace Juliet cap of matching lace and was edged in delicate daisy lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of coral silk roses, forget-me-nots and lily of the valley.

Attendants
The bride's attendants were her sister Brenda Gremminger as maid of honor and Ann Carlsen Katherine Gillette and Linda Levitt as bridesmaids. They were identically gowned in coral Quiana designed with pleated skirts, and each carried a single long stemmed coral rose with white forget-me-nots. Robin Carlsen was best man and Robert Gremminger, brother of the bride, Rick Morrow, brother of the groom and Stephen Gillette were groomsmen.

Wedding music was presented by the bride's brother, Wayne Gremminger, singing "I'll Walk In the Rain by Your Side", "You're Beautiful", "Longer", "The Outlaw" and "Most of All", accompanying himself on the guitar, and "On This Day" as the bride placed a rose on the Blessed Virgin Mary's altar.

Irene Gatschelt, organist, played the processional and recessional. The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hartman presented the Offertory gifts. During the service mothers of the couple presented each with lighted candles which were used to light the Unity candle. The couple, in turn, presented white roses to their mothers. During the Mass the couple recited aloud a prayer they composed more than a year ago.

The bride also carried a prayer book her father gave her mother on their wedding day 27 years ago. Other treasures carried by the bride were a handkerchief formerly belonging to the groom's late grandmother, and a white linen handkerchief belonging to her mother, also a gold rosary made by her mother for the Hartman's golden wedding anniversary.

Reception
A reception followed in the Notre Dame Church annex. Guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hartman, Alvin Hartman and daughter, Monica of Muenster and Mrs. Edna Tompkins of Arlington. At the reception Monica Hartman was the gift attendant.

The couple is at home in Wheat Ridge, Colorado following a wedding trip to San Francisco and San Diego. The bride is a teacher of severely emotionally disturbed children and the groom is employed by Triad Computer Systems.

TARA LYNN YOSTEN
Tara Lynn Yosten, whose first birthday was July 8, was the center of attention at a party in her honor on Sunday, July 6 in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Yosten, who hosted a buffet breakfast.

The birthday cake followed a circus theme and was decorated by Emily Klement. Guests were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Klement and Henry Yosten. Mrs. Yosten was unable to join the group. Also present were uncles and aunts, Mel Yosten and Carol and Janette Yosten, and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Klement; and cousins Kristen, Allison and Laura Klement; also JoAnn Noggler and Gene Vogel.

CANDISE JOY ABNEY
Candise Joy Abney celebrated her 4th birthday with 3 parties this year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Abney and she has one brother, Michael Don.

The day of her birthday, Sunday, June 22, was spent at Lake Texoma. A picnic lunch of hamburgers, chicken, corn on the cob, birthday cake and homemade ice cream, was served to a group of 19 relatives and friends that included the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Abney and a cousin Nancy of Oklahoma.

The following Wednesday Candi celebrated with 10 friends when cake and ice cream were served at home, prior to another party at the swimming pool.

On July 4, she celebrated with her maternal great-grandfather, John Smith on his 74th birthday in Oklahoma. The event was marked with a special cake that continued a treasured family tradition. It was made by Mrs. Abney, the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Kathy Pittman and Aunt Ruby Brents. The cake included an engine, a "coal car" filled with M and Ms, several train cars and the red caboose.

A similar cake had been made for Mrs. Donald Abney's 4th birthday; for her son, Michael Abney's 4th birthday and again for her daughter, Candi's 4th.

Attending the party were all of Mr. Smith's 3 children, 8 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

MRS. CHARLES BEAM

Cathy Connell and Charles Beam United in Ceremony at Marysville

The wedding of Cathy Ann Connell of Muenster and Charles Rodney Beam of Gainesville was held on Saturday, June 28 at 3 p.m. in the Marysville Baptist Church, with Harry C. Cantrell of Myra officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C.G. Reeves of Muenster and Giles H. Connell of Mansfield. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Beam of Gainesville.

The double ring ceremony was held in an altar setting created by an archway of greenery with orchid and yellow cushion mums; double candelabra held lighted candles and orchid and yellow cushion mums.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. She was wearing a white Quiana formal wedding dress designed with fitted waist, long sleeves and V neckline, both edged with Chantilly lace; an attached Quiana draped mantilla, and a flowing self-train.

She carried a cascading crescent bouquet of orchid carnations, white gypsophila and statice, and Sprengeri fern.

Attendants
Bridal attendant was Kathy Gray of Gainesville, the groom's sister as matron of honor, wearing a formal floral orchid print, and carrying a nosegay matching the bride's flowers.

LORI LEE KLEMENT
Lori Lee Klement's 5th birthday party was July 14, and it was observed at her home and hosted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Klement in the afternoon.

Guests included the honoree's brother and sister, James and LeAnn; the grandmothers, Mrs. Sis Klement and Mrs. Anne Herr, and a group of relatives and friends: Pat, Rose, Jimmy and Johnny Herr; Mrs. Giles Walter-scheid and DaLana and Jeff; Mrs. Ed Otto and Amy and Jonathan; Rhonda, Cheryl and Jennifer Bayer; Rene, Darren and John Klement; Jamie and Jeff Flusche; Diane Pagel, Jenny Yosten, Kim and Stacie Cler; and Mrs. Bertha Pick. Games, visiting, gifts and refreshments added to the party fun. The birthday cake carried out the clown theme.

ASHLEY HARTMAN

A "Wizard of Oz" theme was carried out in the party observing Ashley Hartman's third birthday, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hartman entertained the evening of July 15.

The children enjoyed swimming, games, the birthday song and gift opening. Attending were Angela, Jason, Kerri and Tricia Endres and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Endres; Kristin, Allison and Laura Jane Klement and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Klement; Tony Hartman and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hartman; Mr. and Mrs. David Fette; and the honoree's brothers, Justin and Lucas Hartman.

Table decorations, the cake and favors were in the Wizard of Oz theme. Refreshments also included ice cream, lemonade and coffee.

BRANDON GREWING

Brandon Grewing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Grewing, was the honoree at a birthday party in his home on July 18, observing his first birthday.

Attending, with his parents, were his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Marty Klement and Mrs. Joe Grewing. Also uncles, aunts and cousins, Mark and Linda Grewing; Karlyn, Randy and Jeff Hermes; Mike, Anita, Charlie and Jason Luttmir. The birthday cake was themed "Jack in the Box." It was served to the honoree and his guests with ice cream and punch. Gifts were opened and pictures were made.

Nick Block, 74, of Lindsay dies

Funeral service for Nick Block, 74, a lifelong resident of Lindsay, was held Tuesday morning at 10 in St. Peter's Church, Lindsay, with the Reverend Fathers Bruno Fuhrmann, Placidus Eckart and Albert Henkes as concelebrants in the Mass of Christian Burial. Mr. Block died at his home Saturday ending an illness of about six months. Burial was in the St. Peter's Cemetery directed by Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Mike Fleitman, Don Fleitman, Nick Schroeder, Henry Fleitman, Gene Block and Raymond Hermes.

Rosary services at the Carroll chapel were held at 4 p.m. Sunday and 8 and 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Nick Block was born at Lindsay on July 9, 1906, and was married to Mary Dulock at St. Mary's Church, Gainesville on Jan. 14, 1930. Since then their home has been the small farm adjoining the west city limits of Lindsay. Along with his farm work he was an employee of Pruitt Produce in Gainesville for 14 years and of Joe Walter Lumber Co. of Gainesville for 23 years. He retired in 1971.

Nick and Mary Block celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in March of this year, delaying about two months because of his illness.

Nick Block was a longtime member of the Gainesville K of C Council and held offices of deputy grand knight, trustee guard and lecturer. He was also a district and state past president of the Catholic State League, and a director-appraiser of the Lindsay Mutual Insurance. During his youth he was a member of Lindsay's band and Gainesville's Santa Fe band.

Survivors are his wife, Mary; three daughters, Mrs. Clem (Rita) Sandmann of Lindsay, Mrs. Herbert (Mary Jane) Fleitman of Denison and Mrs. Dennis (Carolyn) Lutkenhaus of Carlsburg; one brother, Pete of Lindsay; three sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Koelzer of DeQueen, Ark., and Mrs. Wm. Fleitman and Mrs. Margaret Hermes, both of Lindsay; and thirteen grandchildren.

Caution Urged on Social Security "Secrets" Ads

Social Security officials are concerned about increases in deceptive and misleading advertisements promising special information about the Social Security program. Many people are paying for information that is either useless to them or that is available free of charge at any Social Security office.

We urge people to be cautious when they recognize certain sales pitches. For example: an ad promoting a book on how to use tax loopholes that purports to tell people how they can lawfully drop out of the Social Security System. There is no provision in the Social Security law which permits an individual wage earner to withdraw from Social Security.

If people encounter such advertisements, they can call their local Social Security office. The office can generally provide information that can clear up any questions raised by the promotional claims.

Lawyers, employment counselors, social workers, and organizations that work with people to help them take advantage of their rights under the law are urged to make use of Social Security's informational program. Social Security is also prepared to work with authorized representatives of people who apply for Social Security benefits.

Tips Offered on Farm Safety

By Neil Tibbets
 The week of July 25 through 31 is Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, and farmers and ranchers across the state are urged now and always to be as careful as possible while growing the food we eat.

Neil Tibbets, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says that the use of personal protective equipment can prevent many of the most common and annoying types of injuries related to agricultural work. He recommends the use of hardhats, filter masks or respirators, gloves, protective eyewear and safety shoes as standard equipment on any farm or ranch.

With today's rising production costs, time spent away from the field or barn, treating or recovering from injury, can be costly. Using proper personal protective equipment can help you stay on the job with out unnecessary delays or expensive medical treatment.

For example, hardhats, or Texas homes are now more than twice the price

COLLEGE STATION — The average price of a previously owned home in a Texas metropolitan area more than doubled from 1973 to 1979, said Dr. Arthur Wright, research economist for the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University.

"In 1973 the average price for a used home was $24,149. By 1979, the price had jumped to $52,879. This represents an increase of 119 percent in just six years," Wright said.

The increase was blamed on inflation combined with the continued strong demand for single family housing in Texas.

Prize Winners at Open House Named

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Driggers, new owners of Gainesville Ford Tractor Co. held Open House on Saturday, July 19 all day. About 200 persons registered for prizes. Winners were Theo Voth, Jay Beizer, Lawrence Streng, Wayne Richards, Ricky Hess, Andy Fuhrman, Harold Nortman, Paul Fuhrman, Joe Paul Fuhrman, Walter Lutkenhaus, Herbert Schmidkofer, Pat Fisher, Kenneth Klement, R.O. Mabe and Eddie Jo Reeves of Saint Jo.

Cheerleaders of Muenster Public High School assisted by serving popcorn and cokes throughout the day. They included Barbie Wimmer, head cheerleader, and Elaine Grewing, Brenda Wimmer, Stacie Sawyer, Stephanie Richey, Diane Gibson and Kyla Hale.

lighter weight "bump caps," will protect the head from the sun as well as the common bumps and bruises of everyday jobs.

Tibbets also suggests using protective eyewear and filter masks or respirators to protect eyes and lungs from dust or harmful chemicals. This is especially important when using anhydrous ammonia, pesticides or other toxic agents.

Gloves are good protection against common hand injuries, and should be used for many operations around the farm or ranch. However, they should be removed when working with moving machinery parts since they could be caught or snagged, pulling the rest of the hand into the machine.

Safety shoes and boots should be worn by all agricultural workers as even a minor foot injury can be annoying and slow down a busy work schedule. This footwear is comfortable and comes with "non-slip" soles for work on any surface.

Tibbets feels that a common but often neglected injury is hearing loss due to many hours around noisy machinery. Many farmers and ranchers suffer some hearing loss, especially in later years, and this could be reduced by regularly using ear muffs or ear inserts and by purchasing quiet-running machinery.

With proper use of protective equipment and a little careful planning, agriculture can be both safe and productive.

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

I have a small business (in El Paso) and am interested in getting technical assistance on ways to lower my utility bills. Can you suggest some person or agency who can assist me? R. O., El Paso.

Most of the area offices of the Texas Energy Extension Service (EES) offer small business and residential energy audits upon request. The EES office sends out a person with technical expertise who performs a walk-through audit. This includes (but is not limited to) an examination of equipment such as the water heating system and the heating and cooling system. It also entails a look at utility bills. A report suggesting cost-effective energy conserving measures will be sent to the client after the audit.

After this preliminary technical assistance, small business owners or managers may wish to contact a professional engineer who specializes in energy audits for more extensive consultation.

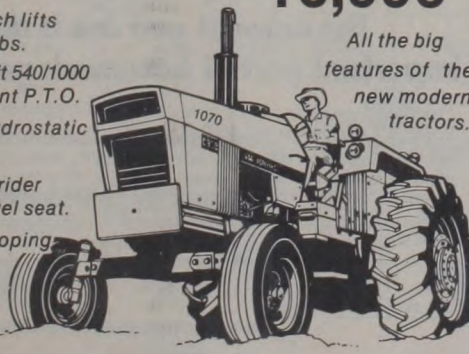

The EES area offices located in El Paso, Dallas-Ft. Worth (in Arlington), San Antonio, and Houston offer residential and small business audits now. The area office at Lubbock will begin offering energy audits in the near future.

What publications are available from the Texas Energy Extension Service? T. S., Hempstead. The following publications are available free in singles or quantities from the Texas Energy Extension Service:

- Efficient Home Air Conditioning Units
 - Heat Pumps for Homes and Businesses
 - Insulation-How Much and What Kind
 - Reducing Energy Loss Through Windows
 - Reduce Hot Water Usage to Save Energy
 - The Facts of Lighting
 - Solar Water Heating-Is It for You?
 - Automatic Thermostat Controls Can Save Energy
- The Energy Extension Service also has available packets on earth shelters, solar energy and wind energy.

If you have a question about energy conservation around the home, send it to ENERGY ANSWERS, Texas Energy Extension Service, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

For several years many people in this area have been wondering what has become of all our birds. Many have blamed the use of insecticides for the disappearance of so many of our little feathered friends. This writer would suggest that all these "wonderer's" wondering can be answered if they will go to the cities and towns. The birds, like people, have flown to the cities where the pickings are better and free handouts are available. So like people - once they are on "welfare" always on welfare from one generation to generation. Like their Homosapien friends the birds are not going to leave a free hand-out program world for one where the living isn't so easy.

Mmes. Evelyn Brown of Rosston and Emma Lee Steadham visited with Mrs. Veda Brogdon Thur. July 17. The ladies also looked over Veda's little log cabin.

On Thurs afternoon July 17 Barney and Veda Brogdon visited with Veda's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oran Steadham of Bowie.

Mr. and Mrs. H.K. Lund and sons visited with their daughter and sister, Sherrie, in Lubbock last week. Sherrie is attending Texas Tech this summer and is employed with the Lubbock National Bank.

Mrs. Bobbie Wylie visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Tipton of Sanger on Sun. July 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schewer of Lewisville spent Sat. July 12 visiting her parents Marion and Howard Sockwell. Marion and Kay slipped away from Howard and Dale to do a little shopping in Gainesville.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Vannoy Sun. July 13 were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vannoy of Whitesboro and Jamie Vannoy of Lindsay. Mrs. Ricky Vannoy is the former Sherrie Wylie.

Mrs. Nina Evanson and daughter Mrs. Gerald Weaver of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Oran Steadham of Bowie visited in the Barney Brogdon home Sun. July 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Foster and family of Fort Worth visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Freeman on Sat. July 12. On Sunday July 13 Freeman's son, Harold of Gainesville paid them a visit.

Marion Sockwell celebrated her "39th" plus birthday Sun. July 13. Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Garrison and daughters, Crystal and Heather of Denton came up for the occasion. Mrs. Garrison brought all the food and cooked her grandmother a birthday dinner, while Granny Marion played with her great-granddaughters.

Living along one of these hot, dry and dusty country roads is far from being pleasant these days, especially when people rip down 'em as if they were racing in the Indianapolis 500. A cloud of dust arises that covers everything in sight for yards and yards. So those of you who have to drive on these dirt roads do try to have some consideration and respect for the residents along these roads. Driving slow sure helps!!

Our friend and neighbor,

Mrs. Vesta Carter has been on the sick list for sometime. Husband Jack started a two weeks vacation on Mon. July 14 by taking Vesta for a days outing at Sikes Senter Mall in Wichita Falls. The change of Scenery was a nice treat for Vesta.

Mike Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Reynolds of Houston, visited with his great aunt Millie Reynolds and husband Webb from Sun. July 13 to Sat. July 19. Mike's parents arrived at the Webb Reynolds's abode on Thur. July 17 and they all departed for Houston on the 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth were host and hostess for a birthday dinner party Fri. nite July 18. The dinner-party was in honor of Mmes. Marion Sockwell, Vera Mae McGee and Wanda Perryman. The event was held in the annex of the Forestburg United Methodist Church. Others present were: Mmes. Betty Reynolds and Alice Shears, Rev. and Mrs. George Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Perryman Denham and Howard Sockwell.

Mrs. Cile Perryman and Shelley motored to Bowie Fri. July 18 to visit with Mrs. Joe Denham. The three enjoyed a fish supper at Morrow's Cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Clois Russel of Sunset visited with Mrs. Georgia Greenwood and family Sat. July 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce W. Miller and daughters of Hurst spent the weekend of July 19 with her mother Mrs. A.A. Fanning of the Burg and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of Mallard.

Young Miss Shelley Perryman will celebrate her birthday on July 26.

Forestburg's Little First Lady did it again. She got up a surprise birthday and retirement party honoring Blake Freeman. The celebration took place at 8 p.m. Sat. nite July 19 at the Forestburg Community Center. Blake was completely surprised and that is a big accomplishment in this community. Blake's birthday came around on the 21st of July and he will retire from his duties as county commissioner on Dec. 31. Many of Blake's friends attended to wish him well and enjoy homemade ice cream and cake. So once again a "Tip of the Hat" to Cleo for a job well done.

Mrs. Kay Romines, Dale and Tara and Jeff and Tracy Lanier took in Six Flags over Texas on Mon. July 14.

Our little (and big) wild friends of the woods and sky can use a little help from us people these terrible hot days. So let us all provide them with water to drink and bathe in, plus they can use a little chow also. They need our consideration in days like these.

Mrs. Naomi Scott is a patient in the Muenster Hospital.

Ray Dill, father of Jack C. Dill, is still a patient in Saint Paul's Hospital in Dallas.

Ross Littell hurt his foot Fri. July 18 and was admitted to the Nocona Hospital on Sat. July 20.

Miss Veronica Edwards visited with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Embry of Dyemound from Wed. July 16 to Sun. July 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Poteet of Costa Mesa, Calif, Mae Wade of Sunset, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Greenwood and family and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wade and family all of Bowie, Dave Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Greenwood and Larea were all visitors with Mrs. Bessie Greenwood Sun. July 20.

Mrs. Clayton Fenoglio and son, Jeremy of Bowie visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Eddy McClure and Becky of New Harp, Sun. July 20.

Mrs. Hazel Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn of Saint Jo, Mrs. Darlene Johnston and Terrell of Bowie, and Mr. and Mrs. D.D. Echols of Mallard attended the Taylor family reunion at Graham on Sun. July 20. Mrs. Echols was a Taylor.

Every generation in the history of this nation since it's foundation has had to fight to keep the U.S.A. a free nation. Granted none of us - young, middle age or old likes war of any kind or wants our loved ones to have to fight in one! Yet one wonders why a certain percentage of this younger generation feel they are due all the privileges, freedom and opportunities they so enjoy in the U.S.A. but refuse to accept any responsibility in the preservation of the same. They must learn that there just is no such thing as a "free ride" or a "free lunch" - somebody has to pay - and believe me somebody always does.

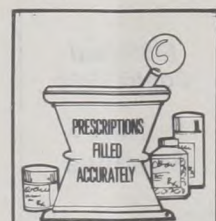

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sledge of Bowie, Cecil Foster and two grandsons of Denton and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Volkman visited with Mrs. Atrice Sledge Saturday the 19th.

Sunday July 20, Atrice spent the day in Nocona visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Sledge.

Biofeedback used to cure common headache

COLLEGE STATION — A Texas A&M University graduate student is refining a treatment for the common headache that's more effective than aspirin and costs nothing. Doctoral candidate Fred Drummond says he can teach people who have recurring headaches to control them by using biofeedback, a technique which helps people recognize how the body is reacting to stress situations and control its responses.

Tension headaches are caused by holding forehead muscles taut over a long period of time, he said. The idea is to learn to recognize when a headache is coming and learn to stop it by relaxing tensed muscles.

Recommendations Help Your Air Conditioner Keep You Cool

Right now, the most important appliance in your home may be your air conditioner. Here are some tips from the makers of Day & Night and Payne air conditioners which will help your air conditioner work more efficiently and keep you cool longer.

Don't fiddle with the thermostat. Set the temperature to a comfortable level and forget it. Excessive "on and offing" can damage the components of the unit. Besides, energy will be wasted as the air conditioner tries to keep up with your changing demand.

If your clothes dryer vent is close to the air conditioner or heat pump, consider other ways of venting the dryer. Hot vapor from the dryer places an extra load on the air conditioner. Lint from the vent can cause damage.

Run appliances such as a clothes dryer and do as much cooking as possible in early morning hours. This is better than at night because in the evening on a hot day, the air conditioner is still working to bring down the temperature from the daytime heat.

Keep curtains closed on sunny windows during the day. Homes in humid areas should be kept "closed" with the air conditioning turned on during July and August - even if the weather is cool but humid say the experts. Because dryer air seems cooler than humid say the experts. Because dryer air seems cooler than humid air, your air conditioner can be "on" less when the humidity is low.

Trim shubbery and limbs back. Landscaping that hides an air conditioner or heat pump may look more pleasing but reduces efficiency by curtailing air movement. Shrubs could cause damage if leaves or twigs are sucked into the unit.

Have the unit cleaned and checked by a qualified service representative. Coils should be cleaned. This is a job some homeowners can undertake themselves but first they should have the dealer's service representative do it and observe - especially learn how to properly shut off electricity to the unit.

Filters, too, need to be cleaned, if permanent type. Disposable ones should be thrown away. Check these once a month. It is a good idea to buy a throw-away filter to use while the permanent filter is being cleaned (with a garden hose on the driveway) and is drying.

Consider planting a strategic tree or build a sun-screen to shade the condenser unit. This would be useful if your condenser unit or heat pump is located on the south or west side of the house. However, it should be far enough away to minimize potential problems with leaves.

Insulate duct work. Caulk storm windows as well as main windows and doors.

Fireplace damper should be closed unless fire in fireplace.

Day & Night and Payne air conditioning equipment is produced by BDP Company, a division of Carrier Corp., which is a subsidiary of United Technologies.

We furnish all the electricity you want...

the amount you use is an important part of how much you pay.

Providing dependable electric service at the lowest possible cost is Texas Power & Light Company's number one job. We build, operate and maintain generating plants, power lines and the other facilities necessary to produce and supply electricity and we install the meters which record the amount used by each customer. At that point, you are an important factor in the size of your electric bill. The electric appliances and equipment you have and the use you make of them determine, to a large degree, your cost for your electric service. If you'd like suggestions on how to get the most for your electric dollar, call us. We want to help.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike... and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 42665, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Reunion Honors Sister Alma Schad

A family reunion held Sunday in the Ed Schad home in Lindsay honored the golden jubilee of Sister Alma Sophie.

Together for the event were John Schad Jr. of Lindsay, Brother John Schad of Subiaco, Ark., Sister Liboria of Granger, Sister Alma Sophie of St. Mary's of San Antonio, Sister Vera of Schulenberg, Sister Helen Margaret of Our Lady of the Lake of San Antonio, the Johnny Stengs of Muenster, the Ed Schads and Phyllis, Joanie and Danny of the home, Alice Schad of Dallas, the Eddie Joe Schad family of Valley View, the Don Schad family of Lindsay, the Regi Bayer family of Muenster, and the John H. Steng family of Grapevine. Unable to attend, but visiting by phone were Father Sylvester Schad, OSB of Corpus Christi and Mary Jean Schad of Washington.

The nuns were guests of their sister, Mrs. Johnny Steng, during her vacation. They all returned to their missions on Saturday, June 19.

Foundations Important in Summer Watering

Texas householders need to keep their priorities straight when watering out of doors this summer, says Dr. Don Smith, botanist at North Texas State University.

"Don't worry about the large trees," he said recently. "unless they have a surface root system, like ash or Siberian elm, chances are their root system goes deep. They'll be all right."

Number one priority, Dr. Smith said, is not so much the plants but the very foundations of the house. "That's one reason in landscaping we urge people to plant shrubs next to the house -- so they will inadvertently water the foundations. Shrubs help hold moisture, too."

The NTSU botanist said that houses built on clay soil are at high risk to having foundations cracked "at a cost of thousands of dollars to repair" because of swelling and shrinking in the clay. "This is one of the best summers I've ever seen for cracked foundations," Dr. Smith said. "In fact, my next door neighbor is jacking his up and repairing right now."

Soaker hoses are excellent for watering shrubbery and foundations, he said, and sprinklers that can be left in one location to water deep are better than just using the hose, he said. Sprinklers should be chosen that throw the water out low, he added, for water conservation.

Not only are early mornings and evenings best for watering, Dr. Smith said, midday watering may be actually harmful to plants, since scalding can occur.

Deep watering -- an hour or more in one spot -- is best, but if persons have not been watering for long times, now is not the time to start, he said. "Continue just as you have been watering, because there's no soaking the ground four inches deep now when you've just been soaking it two inches. The roots are going to be two inches, and the additional is just a waste," Dr. Smith pointed out.

Even Bermuda grass can die in this kind of heat and drought if not watered, he said.

"Don't water every day, even if you have plenty of water. Wait until the grass starts to hurt some before you water again -- you can tell by the blue-green color to the grass."

Shrubs and trees should have all dead limbs cut and the cuts treated with tree dressing, he noted. Tree and shrub owners should keep an eye out for insects, particularly bagworms.

"Bagworms are bad enough normally, but if a tree has to cope with bagworms on top of the heat and drought, it may just die," he warned.

To salvage the vegetable garden, Dr. Smith recommends cheesecloth laid over the plants.

"It will cut the sun power about in half and prevent sunburn," he said. "It will aid in reducing evaporation, too, so plants can do better on less water."

Given a choice, in some water-short communities, of watering the vegetables or the foundations, the NTSU botanist chooses the house foundations.

Produce is cheaper, he said, than a newly mended foundation.

Reiter Guests

Visitors in the Clem Reiter home last weekend were their son and daughter-in-law, Bob and Betty Reiter of Post, Texas. Saturday, their grandson, Adolph Knabe, Jr. and his bride of Hereford came to visit until Monday. After a visit in Dallas the Knabes will be in Muenster again for a few days before returning to Hereford. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Reiter and Kimberly and Christy arrived Monday to visit the Clem Reiters here and the Mike Dieters in Lindsay and to vacation at Lake Texoma.

Confetti...

While admitting that Regan preferred Kemp, the commentators kept insisting on the advisability of a moderate to give a more extensive appeal to the ticket, their favorites being Ford and Bush, both acceptable to the liberal Eastern wing of the party.

Constant chatter on the subject obviously was intended as much for the convention as for the nation. The propaganda pressure got really strong when it seemed that Ford had accepted. His nomination was promptly conceded. A number of the country's big papers said so in issues that are collector's items.

But then came the convention's big surprise. Ford suddenly withdrew and Reagan asked Bush, who accepted. There was talk that Ford had made executive demands as the price of being on the ticket, but before the choice was announced he or Reagan, or both, decided that the arrangement was not kosher. However, as far as the public is concerned it was a sign of deplorable pressure by the liberal Eastern establishment. For that matter the selection of Bush was a compromise with the establishment, but at least he did not demand to meddle with the presidency.

First Texas Savings to Celebrate 90 Years

When First Texas Savings Association's Gainesville office opens its doors for business Friday, November 14, it will be a monumental day in the history of the company. That day will make 90 years of continuous operation.

And, according to Branch Manager Wayne Mitchell, First Texas Savings is planning a gala celebration during the four-and-a-half months preceding the anniversary day as a way of thanking Gainesville for its support through all those years.

Chartered on Nov. 14, 1890, as Hesperian Building and Savings Association, the Gainesville office was the fourth savings and loan chartered in Texas and is currently the second oldest in operation. Only the Sulphur Springs Loan and Building, chartered three months prior to Hesperian, is older.

The Hesperian Charter was used as the surviving charter when the ten associations owned by First Texas Financial Corporation were merged into one — First Texas Savings.

The current building is a modern structure constructed in 1975, but there are plenty of artifacts remaining from the previous Hesperian buildings that will be on display in a "mini-museum" that will be unveiled in early September.

To be displayed are the original charter rendered in intricate scroll work with a gold seal and ribbons; the wall plaque from the Hesperian building constructed in the 1940s; and the old loan book detailing all of the original customers of the association. The entire display is to be housed in an antique beveled glass display case.

The loan book is a trip back in time. Written in careful scroll, each loan is spelled out in detail beginning with a $600 loan to a Mr. W.F. Pearcy on Dec. 10, 1890.

"That first loan was for a house just down the street from our office," said Mitchell. "In fact, it was still standing until just a few years ago."

Most of the old loans were for sums ranging from $200 to $1,000, with a $1,500 loan to W.T. Roberts on Sept. 30, 1893 breaking the $1,000 mark.

The fledgling association apparently grew in sophistication as well as size because the minutes of Sept. 5, 1893 note the vice president and secretary appointed a committee to employ an expert bookkeeper to examine the books of the association.

A Mr. N.C. Snider was employed and paid $50 to straighten up the books, but the secretary seemed to be a poor bookkeeper because Mr. Snider had to return a year later to straighten up the books again.

Hesperian Building and Savings prospered through the 1970s when First Texas Savings acquired the association in 1974. The association was merged into the First Texas Savings group in 1978.

The four-and-a-half month celebration began July 22 with the Presidency Remembered exhibit, a collection of past presidential election campaign memorabilia on loan from the LBJ Library and Museum; coloring and essay contests for Gainesville students on "Why I Like Gainesville;" the opening of the mini-museum in September; and a birthday party November 14 thanking the city of Gainesville for its support.

Heat Deprives Ponds of Oxygen

Searing temperatures over Texas are making life miserable for both humans and animals— and that includes fish.

The problem is that hot, summer weather takes oxygen out of water, causing fish to suffocate, points out Don Steinbach, fisheries specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Fish as well as aquatic plants draw on the oxygen reservoir in water, which is generally low to start with in the summer. Hot, dry conditions cause water levels to drop, making the situation worse.

How can pond owners deal with the matter? One of the first things to do is to cut back or stop fish feeding, says Steinbach. Fish feeding causes heavy nutrient levels which promote excess algae growth. Overstocking contributes to the algae problem as does improper fertilization.

The specialist also recommends using a recirculating pump for two or three days and spraying the water back into the pond. Also, mounting an outboard motor in a fixed position to spray water across the pond surface helps expose water to surface air.

Steinbach suggests that pond owners check closely for plant and fish die-off, particularly in the morning since this is usually the time when the oxygen level of water is the lowest.
