Stenholm speaks in Gainesville

by Elaine Schad

There can be no diplomatic resolution to the Middle East situation until Iraqi President Saddam Hussein withdraws his troops from occupied Kuwait, U.S. Congressman Charles Stenholm said this week during a stop in Cooke County.

Stenholm, (D-Stamford) was in Gainesville Tuesday for a town hall meeting. Stenholm, who represents Cooke County in the U.S. House of Representatives from District 17, fielded questions for an hour from a group of about 60 people.

"I personally believe the president has handled the situation about as good as anyone had hoped," said Stenholm of the Middle East crisis. "I'm glad we did what we did."

A key player in the crisis has been the United Nations, which has shown rare strength in its unified stance, Stenholm said. "It is in the world's best interest for the United Nations to be the point man," he said. "It is not good for the U.S. to work unilaterally."

Stenholm hopes Congress will learn a lesson from this most recent crisis, which has once again threatened oil and gas supplies being imported to this country. The U.S. now depends upon foreign countries for about 50 percent of its oil needs, he said.

"I hope this will prompt Congress to formulate a new energy policy," Stenholm said. "For the last 10 years, we've had a policy called free market, which has meant get the government out of the oil business," he said. "I think very few believe in that policy today."

Stenholm called for a price support system which would keep the price of oil in this country stabilized at between $20 and $25 per

CCAD budget hearing set

by Elaine Schad

The Cooke County Appraisal District board of directors will hold a public hearing on the fiscal 1991 budget during a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the CCAD board room on the second floor of the appraisal district building, 201 West California, in Gainesville.

The board will receive input on a proposed $693,299 budget which will begin Jan. 1, 1991 if a majority of the county's taxing entities do not disapprove the budget. The Muenster school district and the City of Muenster have already rejected the proposed budget, with officials stating they have some problems with accepting salary increases when the efficiency of operation of the district has been called into question. Some officials are also questioning the need for a $50,000 expenditure for a new computer mapping system, some saying that the same thing could be accomplished for a lower cost.

The budget includes $533,280 for appraisals, $140,019 for collections and $20,000 for those entities that have chosen to tax tangible personal property, such as airplanes. The budget does not include some $25,000 in legal fees the CCAD is expected to incur this year due to pending lawsuits.

The appraisal portion of the proposed budget is a 20.6 percent increase over the present year's budget of $442,010. The budget includes raises for CCAD personnel ranging from $1,000 to $3,000. Among the raises is a proposal to raise Chief Appraiser Pat Pickett's salary by $2,400, from $35,600 to $38,000. Ms. Pickett has also requested an additional $4,500 to take on the collection duties from the county for the next 15 months. The CCAD board granted Ms. Pickett a $2,600 salary increase last year.

CCAD employees again requested that they be given time to speak during the board's regular August meeting. Staff members Jack Schoppa, Kim Vessels, Debbie Smallwood, Rosa Leigh Wood, Brenda Urrutia, Mazie Dailey, Shirley Hock and Geraldine West asked a variety of questions of the board. CCAD President Roger Martin, however, told the employees they should take any complaints or concerns to the chief appraiser and said the board would not respond to the questions.

Martin did say, on the other hand, that the board of directors have full faith in Ms. Pickett and in her ability to do a good job for the appraisal district.

Some of the questions included how the board was handling what CCAD staff members called rumors concerning their efforts at making fair and equitable appraisals across the county. Some asked why their wages cannot be brought in line with comparable positions elsewhere. Others asked the board if they felt the appraisal process and all the functions of the CCAD office were handled with professionalism.

In the chief appraiser's report, Ms. Pickett said there were 1,096 in-person inquiries in the CCAD office during the time period through July when people were asking questions about their taxes. There were some 3,000 telephone inquiries. About 250 people met with the Appraisal Review Board. There were 44 ARB cancellations and eight no shows. One tax suit has been filed, disputing the decision of the ARB hearings, while another suit is expected to be filed.

Rosemary Bleuher to speak on RENEW

ROSEMARY BLEUHER

Sacred Heart Parish has announced that Rosemary Bleuher will speak at the 5:00 and 7:30 p.m. Masses Saturday, Sept. 1 and the 8:00 and 10:30 a.m. Masses on Sunday, Sept. 2. Mrs. Bleuher was a member of the diocesan RENEW staff (from 1983 until 1986) that directed and coordinated RENEW for the Diocese of Joliet, IL.

Mrs. Bleuher will explain RENEW and its purposes and goals. She will also speak to the RENEW Core Group, RENEW chairmen, and any other interested persons on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Sacred Heart High School Library. Her talk will include ways that parishioners can restructure their parish into small Christian Faith Communities.

Mary dioceses are encouraging the small faith communities within the larger parish because there seems to be a need for Christian growth outside of Sunday Mass. This growth is encouraged when small groups are formed to study Scripture and pray together so that they learn to care for each other and grow together.

Barbara Fuhrmann, Director of Religious Education in Sacred Heart Parish, took a two-week course at St. Mary's University in San Antonio that was taught by Mrs. Bleuher. She found her to be very personable, outgoing, and an excellent teacher. "I'm very excited that Rosemary will be coming to share some of her enthusiasm and expertise on small faith communities and RENEW," said Barbara Fuhrmann.

Rosemary Bleuher resides in Villa Park, IL with her husband. She is the mother of six children. Please See RENEW, Page 3

'Out On A Limb' opens in the Old Theatre Mall

Muenster's newest business opened Thursday, Aug. 30, in the upstairs of the Old Theatre Mall. Out On A Limb is owned and operated by Paul and Jody Valentine. The store carries wooden country craft items and other gift and decorating ideas plus a line of gourmet coffees and teas.

The Valentines make the wooden items that are available in their store. They have sold to a number of gift shops, but now only supply their own and one in Lake Dallas owned by another family member.

Paul and Jody began making wooden craft items five years ago. They had lived in Lake Dallas and wanted to get away from the city.

When the opportunity came to purchase some wooded acreage nine miles northwest of Muenster, the couple decided to buy and build their own home.

"We were still working in Lake Dallas and would leave home before the sun was up and come home in the dark," said Jody Valentine. She said that this was how the idea of the wood craft shop came to be. It was a way to stay home and have time to enjoy their new property.

They built a shop near their home where Paul cuts out the wood patterns. Both work on putting the pieces together and Jody has the job of painting the finish. Please See LIMB, Page 3

Hance concludes oil prices reached $65 barrel

Kent Hance, Chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, has noted that, after factoring in the cost of the massive military buildup now underway in Saudi Arabia, the cost of imported oil stands at $65 a barrel. This cost, estimated by Milton Copulos of the National Defense Council Foundation, could rise to $700 a barrel should fighting erupt.

"As we prepare to face the long-term consequences of hostilities in the Middle East," Hance noted, "we must again emphasize conservation, domestic production, and alternative fuels such as natural gas."

On the issue of natural gas costs, Hance noted the need for price stability. "As Chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, I have been concerned for some time that many gas producers were selling at a price far below replacement cost. In the long term, this will spell disaster for the industry as well as for the American consumer of natural gas. As we have seen in the recent past, this has forced prices lower and lower, and when supplies diminish prices then rise extremely high in a short period of time. What we need is stability, and you can not get stability when people are selling gas at below replacement cost."

Hance noted that last week Plains Resources, Inc. said that future sales of natural gas from its wells would be made on the basis of a monthly fixed price posting that would apply only to spot sales. (Longterm contractual commitments would continue and would not be affected.) The $1.65 price posting by Plains Resources is the equivalent of $10 per barrel of crude oil. This $10 per barrel equivalent cost certainly compares favorably to the estimated cost of $65 per barrel of imported oil or the projected war time cost of $700 per barrel of imported oil. Hance noted that "this still makes natural gas the cheapest fuel available to American consumers while at the same time maintaining the qualities of the cleanest and environmentally sound fuel known to mankind."

FUNDAY is ready!

Local friends of Congressman Charles Stenholm have the picnic grounds ready at Ericksdahl for the 12th Annual FUNDAY, Saturday, Sept. 8, 1990, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Charlie and Cindy Stenholm look forward to returning each year to this community which has been home for three generations of Stenholms. You are invited to join friends from far and wide for an old-fashioned political picnic.

Each year, colleagues of Charlie are invited from Washington. This year, guests will be Sonny Montgomery of Mississippi, Billy Tauzin of Louisiana, Jim Slattery of Kansas, Tim Valentine of North Carolina, and Texas Congressman Pete Geren of Fort Worth.

Montgomery has represented the third district of Mississippi since 1966. He is chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee. He is a veteran of World War II and Korea. He was largely responsible for passage of the G.I. Education Bill in 1985.

Pete Geren, a lifelong resident of Fort Worth, fills the seat formerly held by Jim Wright. A Georgia Tech football player, attorney and former aide to Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Congressman Geren also serves on the Veterans' Affairs Committee.

Billy Tauzin, with extensive oil and gas in his Louisiana district, serves on the Energy & Commerce Committee which has jurisdiction over these natural resources.

Jim Slattery, also on Energy & Commerce, is from the farmlands west of Kansas City. With deep concern about the national deficit, he secured a seat on the Budget Committee and is a leader in guiding fiscal policy.

Tim Valentine from North Carolina is on the Public Works & Transportation Committee which includes oversight over science and space research.

Ticket prices remain at $10 per adult, as it has been from the beginning of these annual events. More details may be obtained from the campaign office in Stamford, 915/773-5521.

IN RESPONSE TO the Middle East Crisis, many of the National Guard units are being called to active duty. Watch next week's Muenster Enterprise for a special feature on Company C, 4th Battalion, 112th Army headquartered in Gainesville. Shown, prepared to be the Color Guard for a parade are in back, Sgt. Bentsen urges U.S. to be more self-reliant

by Lloyd Bentsen, United States Senator

If you had to trust America's economic security to Iraq's Saddam Hussein or to Texas oil workers, whom would you choose?

That may sound like an easy question but for too long, our government has failed to establish an energy policy that could make the US economy more self-reliant and better insulated from the whims of foreign dictators.

I thought our country had learned a painful lesson during the 1973 oil embargo. The long lines at the gas pumps, skyrocketing fuel prices, and the stagflation that followed should have been enough for our government to realize the need for an energy policy that would prevent instability in the Middle East from devastating our economy again.

In 1987 I authored the Energy Security Act which would have reduced our dependence on foreign oil. The bill stated that if foreign oil exceeds a peril point of 50 percent of all oil consumed by the US, the president must initiate a program designed to keep our dependence below that level. The proposed law would have encouraged the government to offer incentives to American oil producers, strengthen conservation laws and encourage the development of alternative sources of energy.

Although 41 senators supported my "Peril Point" legislation, the Reagan Administration, favoring temporarily low prices rather than longterm security, twisted arms to see that the bill was defeated. Instead of moving towards self-sufficiency, the 1980s were a decade of indulgence. American dependence on foreign oil rose dramatically. This year the US will import 50 percent of its oil, a higher level of dependence than we ever reached, even in 1973 or

Thank You

Our family is totally overwhelmed by the outpouring of deep concern, support and help that came to us from the entire Muenster area when you wonderful people demonstrated your love for our wife and mother, Angela Juarez, during her hospitalization and after her death.

You dear friends who left your own work to come to our homes, to stay day after day to help our out-of-town relatives.

You dear friends who opened your homes to our relatives, those of you who sent food and flowers, wrote cards, offered Masses, attended the Rosary, Wake and funeral, please be assured that we are aware of your goodness.

You members of the hospital staff, hospital board and medical community are particularly appreciated by our family. As we recall those sad days, we are unable to single out specifics.

The family dinner in the KC Hall after the funeral was truly appreciated. In our memories of these days, we will treasure every kindness. Surely God will bless you.

1979. Domestic oil production has sunk to its lowest level since 1962 and conservation standards have been cut back as if there had never been an energy shortage.

And today, when foreign oil threatens to wreak havoc on our economy once again, we still don't have any plans to change this situation.

The recent events in the Middle East highlight how we let our economic health depend on a region that has been politically unstable for decades when we should have been taking steps to protect our own energy security here at home. A few days after Iraq invaded Kuwait, the Senate passed a bill similar to my Peril Point bill without opposition.

A national energy policy will help provide stability for our domestic oil and gas industries. It's true that the recent leap in oil prices due to the turmoil in Kuwait will help Texas for the short-term. If the price of a barrel of oil stays at or above $25 a barrel for the next two years, there will be 120,000 new jobs created in our state. But for the long term, an effective national energy policy is needed to guarantee Texas jobs - longterm jobs that won't be pulled out from under us by wild gyrations in the price of oil like we saw in the 1980s.

"God helps them that help themselves," Ben Franklin said. Although America may never become fully self-reliant, the more energy secure we make ourselves, the more insulated our economy and our national security will be from oil shocks in the future.

Muenster continues to climb in Senate poll

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Democrat Ted Muenster, candidate for U.S. Senate from South Dakota, has made substantial gains on his opponent, Larry Pressler, who has experienced marked drops in his job performance and re-elect numbers, a poll released Wednesday shows.

"Our most recent survey shows substantial progress for Ted Muenster and continuing vulnerability for Larry Pressler," pollster Ed Lazarus said. "The conclusions from this survey are inescapable. Ted Muenster is gaining significantly on Larry Pressler, who is increasingly vulnerable to a strong challenge."

"The results confirm two key facts," said Paul Johnson, Muenster's campaign manager. "First, Ted Muenster is a strong, viable candidate with broad appeal to South Dakotans. People agree with his 'straight talk, common sense' approach and his issue-oriented campaign.

"Secondly, it shows the voters' growing disenchantment with Larry Pressler and his inability to address important issues like the federal deficit and the savings and loan crisis."

NOTICE OF VOTE ON TAX RATE

The City of Muenster conducted a public hearing on a proposal to increase your property taxes by .0799% over the effective tax rate percent on August 27, 1990 at 7:30 p.m.

The Muenster City Council is scheduled to vote on the tax rate at a public meeting to be held on September 4, 1990 at 7:00 p.m. at City Hall.

are going to get the money," said Stenholm. He would favor an across-the-board cut for all programs for one year to get the money. Stenholm said the Gramm-Rudman bill was the worst bill he has ever voted in favor of because it calls for selective cuts rather than all programs taking cuts.

-Realignment of the 17th District: Stenholm said Texas will gain four house seats, with one in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. "I'm happy where I am, and I'm going to tell them to leave me alone," he said.

-Import Fee on Foreign Oil: Stenholm said he is a strong supporter of such a fee.

-Childcare: A bill sponsored by Stenholm which would have included monies church and private daycare was defeated. Stenholm feels, however, that a compromise will still be worked out. He said the president said he will veto any bill other than the one like Stenholm has proposed.

-Savings and Loan Bailout: "Texas bashing is very real," Stenholm said. The Congressman said everyone, both Democrats and Republicans, should share the responsibility for the events that led to the bailout, which he said is not a bailout of the savings and loan industry, but rather, a bailout of those depositors who had a federal guarantee on their money.

-Roe vs. Wade and Supreme Court Nominee David Sutter: Stenholm supports the Sutter nomination and said he supports the seeming move by the Supreme Court toward overturning Roe vs. Wade, which made abortion legal in this country.

-Student Loans and Grants: "We ought to be able to find a way to get an education for those kids who want one," said Stenholm. He favors loans over grants.

holds a Masters degree in Organizational Development from Loyola University in Chicago and is presently the Director of Adult Education for the Diocese of Joliet.

She serves as consultant to 124 parishes in the areas of staff and team development, leadership training and planning. Also Mrs. Bleuher gives keynote talks, training seminars and workshops and has created and organized adult education institutes and conferences and is a recognized author and columnist.

Recently Rosemary Bleuher was appointed to the National Advisory Board for the Campaign for Human Development (U.S.C.C., Washington, D.C.) and to the North American Forum of Small Christian Communities.

It is the hope of the RENEW leaders that after Mrs. Bleuher's talk, the majority of the parishioners will clearly understand the RENEW program and sign up to participate in a small group. It should be understood that this will not be an experience similar to the past renewal weekends.

Raffle being planned to benefit senior citizens

Muenster Jaycees and Muenster Knights of Columbus are sponsoring a raffle to benefit the Muenster Senior Center (SNAP). Only 300 tickets will be sold according to chairman, Jack Flusche.

The tickets are $25 each and the drawing will be held when all 300 tickets are sold. The prizes are a 250 Yamaha; 25 inch Magnavox color TV (table model, two picture with stereo sound); 12 gauge Winchester shotgun; and $200 cash. All proceeds go to the "SNAP" program.

Tickets are available from any Jaycee or at the KC Hall. More information can be obtained by contacting Jack Flusche at 759-2534.

Muenster SNAP manager Mary Alice Bayer was notified on April 6 that the Muenster program was being eliminated because of funding cuts by the government.

Muenster was the first to go, according to Mrs. Bayer, because it was operating in the red. "We were having to purchase 50 lunches every day and sometimes served only that many," she said. "The money people paid wasn't equal to the number of lunches we had to purchase."

The program is now called Muenster Senior Center and, due to the intervention of Urban Edres and Joe Fenton, they have some government funding. The Tri-County Nutrition Center supplies Muenster's Center with napkins, canned fruit and milk.

The Muenster Jaycees donated $2,500 to the senior citizen organization to help them set up an independent program. Much of that money went toward the purchase of an oven.

Mary Alice Bayer is the manager and Pat Dennis is the bookkeeper. They are the only salaried employees. "There is $1.75 charge at the door for a plate of food and everyone pays," said Bayer. She also stated that the charge doesn't cover all expenses. "It has been nip and tuck, but we'll get ahead." Meals on Wheels is also a part of this program. About 12 meals a day are delivered to people over 60 who are unable to prepare their own food or would for some other reason not get a hot meal. The meals are delivered by volunteers.

KCs seek nominees for Good Neighbor

The Knights of Columbus, Muenster Council, is continuing again this year one of its most exemplary projects, that of the Good Neighbor Award. They are seeking nominees and request that area residents send in names for the honor.

The two requirements for the Knights of Columbus Good Neighbor Award are: the Good Neighbor must truly be a "good neighbor" and a non-Catholic member of our community. A "good neighbor" is anyone who is there whenever needed, and in general whenever the community needs him or her.

Anyone who knows of any person or persons deserving of the honor is requested to notify John Walterscheid, 759-4732, or Ben Bindel, 759-4578, by Sept. 14.

The award will be presented to Our Good Neighbor during the Sept. 22 Awards Banquet

Prepare to sign-up for RENEW this weekend

A sign-up card will be given to all adult parishioners attending Masses at Sacred Heart Church this weekend. It will give every adult in the parish the opportunity to pick a day and time they would like to participate in the RENEW program. Every adult will be encouraged to sign up during Mass this weekend.

Groups will then be assembled and matched with group leaders that have already been chosen. Programs will then begin the week of Oct. 7.

On the sign-up card, circle a day of the week and time that would best suit you. Next, select the type of group that you would like to meet with. For example, if you are single and only want to be in a group with other singles, then mark the single group.

If you are single and want to be in a mixed group, then mark the mixed group. It is recommended that you select the mixed group, as this will allow a mixing of people representing all aspects of the parish. But, if you prefer to be in one of the specialty groups, every effort will be made to accommodate that desire as well. Also, if you would like to attend with a specific person, such as your husband or wife, please put their name on the bottom of the card.

The purpose of the card is to make sure everything is done to make it possible for everyone to attend the RENEW program. If you have some special needs or circumstances, just make a little note on the card and the RENEW leaders will take care of it for you. "We want everyone to participate," said Roger Taylor, RENEW coordinator.

Below is a sample of the card that will be available at Sacred Heart Church this weekend.

A wooden cash register, made by the Valentines, rests on the sales counter and behind the counter hangs an oil painting depicting an outdoor scene. It gives the impression of a window because of the way it is framed.

Jody urges her customers to touch and hold items. "I want a real comfortable atmosphere that makes people feel at home," she commented. "We're trying to make it pleasant!"

Some of the eye-catching items for purchase in the store are door headers, birdhouses, carousel ponies, a wooden desk and bench with custom-made cushion, swan baskets, old fence shadow box, English couple, a table and chairs, and pie safes. There are plans to carry some seasonal items.

Jody stresses that most of their merchandise is for decorative purposes and not to be used for children's toys. "We have made playhouses for children that would probably be fun for kids up to 12 years old," she said.

The Valentines take custom orders for most items and can usually deliver them within a month. Some of the items in the store are made by Jody's mother, Bessie Darbison, and Paul's mother, Mimi Mason. They also helped to get the store ready for opening. "I couldn't have done it without their help," declared Jody.

Out On A Limb will be open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. Jody will use the other days to work in the wood shop at home. She invites everyone to come in to meet her and browse through the store.

ed products. She will also operate their new Muenster store.

The wooden items are made from number three pine wood to give the finished product character. They range in size from small decorative pieces to set on shelves or fireplace mantles to large items like wooden baby cradles and hutches.

On entering the craft store, one is immediately impressed with its charming atmosphere. The walls are done in weathered wood and decorated with wooden shelves, shadow boxes, door headers, and other items most of which are for sale.

The east wall holds jars containing an assortment of gourmet coffees. There are 42 varieties, several of which are decaffeinated. The coffee will be sold in quantities of a half pound or more. The store has its own grinder and the customer can select extra, extra fine to coarse ground, depending on the type of coffeemaker it will be used in.

To the right of the coffee is a shelf holding 13 varieties of Stash Tea. The packages are 15 cents each and small enough to carry in a purse. The west wall houses a hutch with several sizes and fragrances of Yankee candles. The candles are marked with the number of hours that they will burn and come with enticing names like Salt Mist Rose, Eucalyptus, Gingerbread, and Fresh Peach. Also available are scented tarts for potpourri burners.

In the center of the shop is a paper mill holding a variety of tissue paper for gift sacks. There are many decorative gift sacks displayed above the paper.

EMPLOYEES of Cooke County Precinct 4 level out County Road 426 north of Muenster after replacing the small tin horns with two larger ones and raising the road 4 to 5 feet. The road had been flooding badly. The bar ditches are also being cleaned out and the excess dirt used as fill to raise the road. County Commissioner Rosalee Bayer said the crew has recently finished extending the bridge at Black Hollow (near Marysville) 40 feet because of wash out. They have one more bridge damaged by heavy spring floods to repair. Janie Hartman Photo

Evening festivities were held in the Lindsay Parish Hall. The hall was decorated with a Hawaiian theme consisting of palm trees and fish nets filled with seashells. From the ceiling were hung helium-filled balloons on streamers and three dimensional fish mobiles. A memorabilia table put together by Sharon Brazelton and Janet Bayer brought back memories of fun times together ranging from First Holy Communion in the first grade to graduation in May, 1980.

As each classmate and guest entered the hall, they were greeted with a lei by Darlene Williams and a booklet detailing each classmate's activities for the past ten years composed and distributed by Mary Reiter.

Dinner was catered by Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann and was followed by a dance with music provided by Jay Anderle.

Donna Rohmer and Chris Hundt pinned banners on classmates showing results of voting by the class in the following categories:

Shirley Krueger and Kathy Felderhoff tied for the title of most changed female. Albert Fuhrmann was voted to be the most changed male as well as the person who traveled the farthest to attend the class reunion. Sharon Brazelton was voted to be the least changed female as well as the female classmate whom the male classmates would choose to be stranded with on a deserted island. Tommy Metzler also won two awards. He was voted to be the least changed male and also as the male classmate with whom the female classmates would like to be stranded on a deserted island. Mary Reiter was chosen as the person who aged the least since high school. Carl Hermes won the award for having the least hair.

The planning committee for the 10-year reunion included Mary Reiter, Jo Ann Schumacher, Kathy Felderhoff and Darlene Williams.

1980 graduates of LHS who were unable to attend the reunion included David Klement, Danita Hermes Neu, Sharon Fangman Hoening, Carl Hermes, Juanietta Shaw and Donna Thurman Zim-merer.

Comedian Crosby cooks up support for abused kids

Plans are heating up to provide "Souper" transportation for the boys and girls at St. Jude's Ranch for Children, Boulder City, Nevada. Youngsters at the home for abused and neglected children have a recipe for success if they can collect 975,000 Campbell's Food product labels before the deadline of Dec. 15, 1990. Only 600,000 labels have been collected so far.

Nationally acclaimed comedian, Norm Crosby, has warmed up to the plight of the children.

According to Reverend Herbert Ward, Executive Director of St. Jude's for the past 20 years, the Campbell's Company will accept not only labels from its soup products but also from Swansons, V-8, Vlasic and their other products in trade for the van.

"I will be happy to send information to anyone who would like to help the children in their project," Father Ward added. "It is a big challenge, but the need is even bigger." The address of St. Jude's Ranch for Children is 100 St. Jude's Street, P.O. Box 985, Boulder City, Nevada 89005.

School Board Secretary Debbie Hess, representing Principal Jack Murdock, attended the meeting. She welcomed all of the parents and children and also presented a brief history on the Montessori pre-school and its unique aspects.

Donna Biffle, past parent group president, thanked the outgoing officers for all of their time and dedication. She spoke on the importance of the parent group and its responsibilities.

Election of new officers was held and will be as follows: Donna Biffle will serve her second term as president; Jacque Endres as vice-president; Kenya Endres as secretary; and Donna Walterscheid as treasurer.

Montessori teacher, Pam Dangelmayr, and her aide, Kathy Berres, were introduced. Mrs. Dangelmayr went over the handbook and answered the parents' questions.

The group voted to meet on every fourth Monday of the month at 7 p.m. in the Pre-School building. The next meeting will be on Sept. 24. The agenda for the year includes plans for the group's annual fundraiser, the New Year's Eve Dance.

The 4-H State Ambassador training was held Aug. 10 through Aug. 12 in Brownwood. Attending were Sean Herbold and Sherilyn and Evelyn Sicking who stayed over from Spectra. Joining them were Charlene Lutkenhaus of the Lindsay Sr. 4-H club and adult leader Jimmie Herbold of the Silver Cedar 4-H club.

Presenting the public speaking workshop was Mrs. Nancy Prince. Some of the group gave speeches at the mock awards banquet which was a dress up affair. Sherilyn Sicking was chosen to deliver a speech. Charlene Lutkenhaus gave a tribute and Evelyn Sicking gave the response.

They were instructed in T.V., media, interviews, and sixteen were taped and reviewed the next day. Eighteen 4-H'ers gave speeches and were critiqued by Mrs. Prince on Sunday.

Shady Oak Gallery to host impressionist artist

Leading impressionist artist L. Gordon will be at the Shady Oak Gallery, 111 S. Commerce, Gainesville, on Sunday, Sept. 9, from 1 to 4 p.m. to meet the public, sign prints and show his works of art.

Gallery owner Carol Albro has arranged for Mr. Gordon to be in Gainesville in conjunction with the open house she has planned for that day. The gallery has been recently remodeled with new doors, carpet, and more. She hopes that many of her customers and friends will attend the open house and see the progress being made in downtown Gainesville with the revitalization program. Refreshments will be served.

There will be other downtown businesses open that day, including Quicksilver, Pass Time, Elm Creek Pottery, Shady Spot, Janette's Antiques, Next Door Gifts, Pauline's, Pets R Us, Otts

Furniture, Chapman's and T & L Shoes.

L. Gordon paints with acrylics on canvas. His paintings are mostly landscapes done in pastels such as blues, pinks, mauves and peaches. "His paintings are very loose and there are not a lot of definite lines," said Albro. "The color seems to glow like it has a light on it."

The artist acknowledges the influence of Monet, Manet, Pissarro and Sisley in his paintings. His works have received numerous awards including the William Stein Award and they are found in many fine collections.

Mr. Gordon will be bringing many originals to Gainesville with him as well as limited edition prints and open edition prints. "There will be some real special prints in all sizes and shapes and all price ranges," commented Mrs. Albro.

Tigers come ahead in first scrimmage

Sacred Heart hosted Brookhollow last Friday night for their opening scrimmage and came out ahead 1-0.

"We were in better condition," said Coach John Nasche. "I believe this is the strength of our team." Nasche thought it was overall a good scrimmage, but his team still has a lot to work on. "We're working on our mistakes this week," said Nasche. "It was a good experience for the players and coaching staff."

The Tiger coach noted quarterbacks Shawn Dangelmayr and Stevan Nasche for an excellent job. Tailback Chris Hess and the line was also mentioned including Darrell Mullins, Gary Hess, Greg Hess, Jason Endres and Kelly Bell.

Nasche was especially pleased with the junior varsity defense. "They bent on several occasions, but never broke," said the coach. Sacred Heart's J.V. played against some of Brookhollow's varsity players.

The Tigers will host Alford on Thursday, Aug. 30 at 6:00 p.m. with enough for a varsity and a junior varsity contest. "I expect the offensive linemen to become more comfortable with their blocking," said Nasche. "Timing and conditioning will also be better." The coach is also stressing the linebackers to read the play more quickly.

Tiger fans are reminded again to bring soap and towels. The junior varsity will take on Era Thursday, Sept. 6 at Era. Game time is scheduled for 7:00 p.m.

MGA sets tournament in Nocona Sept. 16

by Dan Hamric

The Muenster Golf Association club championship has been scheduled for September 16 at the Nocona Municipal Golf Course. The club championship will determine who is "number one," as well as determining how accurate the member's handicap is on his tournament card. The player's actual score will be averaged with the 1990 handicap to determine what the 1991 handicap will be for next year's tournament.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third in scratch and handicap for men's and women's divisions. The trophies will be awarded during the barbecue dinner at the Muenster City Park beginning around 2:00 p.m. Election of officers will follow around 2:30. Dues for 1991 will be collected with $4.00 for regular membership and $1.00 for the "hole in one" fund. To date, no one has ever made a hole in one during MGA tournament play. An ace will net the player almost $500 this year.

Tee times will be any time between 8:00 a.m. and 9:00 a.m. for those wanting to go off the number one tee box. All golfers still around at 9:00 will shotgun start off of the back nine at 9:10 a.m. Members can play in any group of four or five players. Each player must turn in an individual card signed and attested by a member of the group. Twosomes or threesomes will not be permitted. Members are urged to play in groups close to their handicaps. Cards must be turned in at the course at the completion of your round. Winners will be posted at the park as soon as possible.

Since this tournament will be for the club championship, all men will play from the championship (blue) tees instead of the regular (red) tees. Women will play from their regular (white) tees. All putts will be played out - no gimmies! Balls in the fairways may be moved to the closest good grass. Balls in the rough may be moved one club length, but "position" may not be improved to move around trees or hazards. Lost balls must be played from where the ball was hit, not from the vicinity of where it landed (stroke and distance penalty). Balls out of bounds will be played the same way - stroke and distance penalty. Unplayable lies in the rough may be dropped anywhere on the line of flight with a one stroke penalty. Balls played out of the dry pond areas will be played as a hazard and may not be touched. Members of the group will make a consensus ruling on any question arising. If agreement cannot be reached, a provisional ball must be played and the tournament committee will make a ruling.

The first Sunday of the month is the usual playing day, but the committee felt that Labor Day vacations would affect some players and September 9 was reserved already for the Nocona club championship. So mark your calendars for MGA's biggest event of the year - September 16, 8 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. with the annual meeting scheduled for the Muenster City Park at 2:00 p.m.

Hornets look good in Perrin scrimmage

The Muenster varsity football squad was challenged last Thursday by a young group from Perrin. Each team ran 45 offensive plays. Muenster outscored the visitors 6-0, driving the ball into the endzone on every drive except one, which was halted by a fumble.

Coach Grady Roller was very pleased with his offense, making few mistakes and having no busted plays. "The defense looked good," said the coach. "We found things we need to work on, which we did this week." The Hornet defense held Perrin to only two first downs. "The defensive front looked good, but the secondary didn't get tested at all," said Roller. The coach also said the team needs to work on the flag throwing before the first season game.

The Hornet's junior varsity and varsity will be scrimmaging Fort Worth Temple Christian Friday, Aug. 30 at Muenster. The scrimmage is scheduled to begin at 6:00 p.m.

Homecoming date changed for Hornets

Muenster Coach Grady Roller announced a shuffle in the Hornet's football program. Homecoming has been rescheduled for September 28 against Gunter instead of the Oct. 19 game with Lindsay. The switch was made when it was discovered that the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills testing will be taking place the week of Oct. 15-19. TAAS replaces the TEAMS test.

Another change stated earlier was the cancellation of the season final, scheduled with Masonic Home.

Labor Day activities can result in drowning

AUSTIN - Drowning was the leading cause of water and boating fatalities during 1989 and, during the Labor Day holiday weekend, many people will engage in activities that can result in drowning.

Activities that can lead to drowning include swimming, surfing, scuba diving, tubing, fishing, canoeing, windsurfing, hunting, floating, diving, jumping, jet skiing, water skiing and boating.

Dexter Harris, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department boat law administrator, said five people died during the 1989 Labor Day holiday, all from drowning. Of the five who died, four were wading (three in a river and one in a lake) and the fifth fell into a residential pool. All were under 16 years old. Although there were no reported fatalities from boating accidents, there were eight people injured in 10 separate accidents.

There are some precautions to take around water that can protect you, said Jack Nasworthy, TPWD boater education specialist. "One, don't go into the water alone. Swim with companions, friends and relatives. Two make sure to wear a life jacket if you can't swim, even when only wading. A type II PFD (personal flotation device) costs around $5 and up. Three, don't go near the swimming pool or lake unless there is a lifeguard on duty."

In order to minimize dangers in boating, Nasworthy said that every recreational water vessel must carry at least one U.S. Coast Guard approved PFD for each person on board.

"Texas requires those under 13 years old to wear a PFD while the boat is underway, but everyone should wear their PFDs," he said. "Falling from a boat is the leading cause of boat-related drownings."

Also, all boats should carry a fire extinguisher, be able to display running lights after sunset and before sunrise and carry a bell or horn on board. For more information on boating safety call Nasworthy toll free at 1-800-792-1112 or (512) 389-4372.

New athletic director is announced

by Elaine Schad

The Valley View School Board has named Head Football Coach Mark Davidson as the district's athletic director.

Superintendent Bert Glascock had been serving in that capacity during the past year while the district went through a transition period following the retirement of former athletic director John Kassen, officials said. "He (Davidson) had already been functioning in that capacity, but we wanted a total sports program," said Glascock. "He showed that he was fair with all the programs and is an overall sports person."

Davidson will receive no additional compensation for the new title, officials said.

Follow Lindsay Knight football this Fall in The Enterprise, covered by Bridgette Anderle and Gene Hermes.

Knights take on Jacksboro

Lindsay traveled to Jacksboro last Friday to scrimmage the big 2A Tigers. Jacksboro scored 3 to Lindsay's zero. The Tiger's big moments came with a 45-yard pass on a misread key, a long run and a long drive. The Knights penetrated twice, once to the one yard line, but couldn't score.

Coach Pat Benton said offensively the passing game was the bright spot of the contest, completing 5 of 11 passes. He noted quarterback Scott Hermes, tight end Patrick Corcoran, Tackle Ken Fleitman and center David Parson as outstanding offensive players.

Benton commented that the Knight's defense did well except for not making the right reads. Outstanding players on defense included tackle Pat Schully, cornerback Corey Sandmann and linebacker David Parson.

The Knights will host Callisburg Friday, Aug. 31 in a scrimmage contest. The junior varsity will begin play at 6:00, followed by the varsity.

Main event of the celebration was the parade at 10:30 a.m. Winners were: Best Overall Float, Forestburg United Methodist Church, followed by floats in several other categories: Forestburg Masonic Lodge No. 523; Horse and Rider, Gordon Wade of Forestburg; Antique Motor Vehicle, Hugh Griffin of Bowie, with a 1931 Model A Ford; Antique Farm Machinery, Doug Martin of Myra, with 1935 John Deere tractor; Miscellaneous, Cindy Culp of Forestburg, a clown dressed as a Watermelon Mama with Her Baby.

An exhibition by the Old West Gunfighters followed.

A new feature of the Watermelon Festival was the Museum Exhibit. It featured vintage clothing, some dating back to 1840. Several pieces had been worn by immigrants from Scotland on shipboard.

A collection of beaded evening bags and costume jewelry was shown, along with high button shoes, spool heeled slippers and a silk dress with a bustle. Much of the display was provided by Ruth Smith of Rosston and Daphne Russell of Graham. A more extensive display is planned for the museum next year.

Yvonne and Gean Scott were in charge of the daylong music programs. This feature was a crowd pleaser.

Winners of the Fiddlers Contest were: in Senior Division, Powell Stevens of Bowie and Mary Frances Mahon of Greenwood. In Junior Division, Gayle Guess of Decatur and Linda Clark of Decatur. Nine contestants entered the fiddlers contest.

Larry Eldridge and Gary Covington set up the public address system and Larry provided commentary all day.

Oil price hikes will cost Texas farmers millions

(AUSTIN)—As tens of thousands of young Americans are being shipped to Saudi Arabia to put their lives on the line—facing 120 degree heat and chemical warfare—Exxon, Amoco, Chevron, and a handful of other multinational oil conglomerates are slipping around the backroads of rural Texas, profiteering on the families of these soldiers. Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has said.

"By jacking up their prices on fuels used widely in rural areas—gasoline, diesel, and propane—these oil companies have gone from being self-service stations to self-serving stations, and there is no excuse for it.

"Big Oil's unseemly appetite for higher profits has left the Texas farming and ranching community between Iraq and a hard place, and that hard place is Big Oil's greedy heart," Hightower said.

U.S. gasoline pump prices since August 1 have jumped more than 16 cents to an average of $1.24 a gallon, Hightower noted. Each day those prices increase cost U.S. motorists about $50 million more than before the Iraqi crisis began.

"We calculate that Texas farmers and ranchers will pay an additional $30 million over the next year in higher fuel prices," Hightower said. "And with many farmers at the peak of harvest time, the time of heaviest fuel use, oil industry greed is particularly painful. It's a ripoff and an outrage! Prices shouldn't just be frozen at current levels, they should be rolled back to reflect only the real increases in oil prices.

"As the state agency charged with regulating gasoline pumps, TDA's inspectors will monitor prices for gasoline, propane, and diesel in every section of the state on a daily basis. We will be working closely with Attorney General Jim Mattox and the appropriate congressional committees, reporting regularly on the fuel prices our inspectors encounter.

"Some Texans have claimed that the Middle Eastern military maneuver will be a blessing for the Texas economy because it is boosting the price of Texas crude. The few who say that tend to be the ones who own a lot of Texas crude," Hightower said.

"It's a pretty good bet they haven't talked to Robert Green, who raises wheat and grain sorghum on 8,000 acres near Hartley," Hightower said. "Green reported to TDA that on August 4 he paid $240 more for 3,000 gallons of diesel (enough to last 10 days), than he would have paid if he had purchased it just three days earlier.

"Burton Shubert, who raises wheat, grain sorghum, and pinto beans on 2,500 acres in Spearman tells a similar tale of woe. His diesel costs are up $20 a day. Add in the cost of gasoline, and he's now paying $100 a day more for fuel than he was in late July.

"Farmers and ranchers, unlike the oil companies, don't have the privilege of passing along their increased costs of doing business," Hightower said.

"A 10 percent increase in fuel prices because of price gouging will cost the average grain producer an additional $180 just during the harvest period.

"Propane, used to fuel pickup trucks and for home heating in rural areas, has also risen by a nickel since August 2 and by eight cents since the end of July. Any increase in propane prices is abnormal for this time of year. Normally, prices level off in late July and early August before starting to rise again in September.

Hightower characterized the Iraqi oil crisis as "a wake-up call for America, an urgent reminder that this nation needs a sound energy policy."

TMA urges safety on farms with pesticides

Farms and ranches should put safety first. During National Farm Safety Week, Sept. 16-22, Texas Medical Association joins with President George Bush in urging farm and ranch personnel to make safety and health a priority.

"Farming is one of the most hazardous occupations in the country," explains TMA member Joe H. Cunningham, M.D., who runs a small farm.

The distance between most farms and the nearest hospital increases the danger, he says. Consequently, farm workers need information about how to prevent accidents and avoid health risks.

The Jacksonville internist says he sees many of the common farm health problems in his practice: snake and spider bites, poison ivy, back strain from lifting heavy hay bales, asthma from inhaling dust and mold, and pesticide poisoning.

Pesticides have come under attack in recent years because of short- and long-term effects, including links to birth defects, sterility, liver damage and cancer.

The No. 1 problem with pesticides in Texas is how they're applied, says Jimmy Bush, assistant director of the pesticide enforcement program in the Texas Department of Agriculture.

To help reduce risk:

- * Identify the pest you want to eliminate - the specific weed, insect or disease.
- * Use the least toxic chemical available to eliminate the pest or, better yet, look for a non-chemical alternative.
- * Read and follow label directions exactly, such as those about weather conditions.
- * After applying, wait the required amount of time to re-enter the sprayed area. A minimum wait of 24 hours, despite what the label says, is required for most pesticides and up to seven days for such chemicals as ethyl parathion.

Anyone who works in fields or greenhouses where pesticides are used should be alert to symptoms of pesticide poisoning. They include itching or rash, headaches, blurred vision and irritation of the eyes, skin or throat. Other symptoms include dizziness, excessive sweating, vomiting and chest pains.

If you have any symptoms, says Dr. Cunningham, immediately wash the affected area thoroughly. Follow that by asking a family member or friend to take you to a doctor or hospital for examination.

Producers asked to watch for infestation signs

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (USDA-APHIS) and the Texas Animal Health Commission prepared for battle against a possible outbreak of screwworm flies, but were relieved to hear from the national laboratory Monday that the fly eggs under study were not from the screwworm fly.

The screwworm fly was eradicated in the U.S. in 1982, but surveillance continues, because of the pest's existence in the southern tip of Central America and in South America.

Government veterinarians first became concerned Saturday, Aug. 18, about the possibility of a screwworm fly outbreak at Texas A&M's Agricultural Experiment Station in Sonora. Fly eggs taken off a dead deer fawn were tentatively identified as those from screwworm flies. (The fawn had died from unrelated causes.)

After the USDA-APHIS in Mission made the same tentative identification, the eggs were shipped to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory (NVSL) in Ames, Iowa, for confirmation. While awaiting the final word, the USDA-APHIS took precautions to prevent any spread of the dangerous pest.

USDA-APHIS emergency teams on Sunday loaded a plane with cases holding 1.6 million sterile male screwworm flies and released them in a 20-by-20 square mile area near Sonora. These sterile male screwworms would mate with fertile females in the area, but because no offspring is produced, the fly population would die.

The preventative action demonstrates the fast response time to agricultural emergencies.

To report a fly infestation in livestock and receive a kit for submitting eggs or larvae for identification, producers should call the USDA-APHIS in Mission at 512/580-7207.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Steve George, Extension Horticulturist, along with other horticulturists throughout the state, have been working on an educational and marketing plan for Texas Bluebonnets. The following information offers varietal selection and planting procedures for the state flower.

To a dyed-in-the-wool Texan, gazing upon a beautiful display of bluebonnets in the crystal clear light of a cool spring morning is as close to heaven on earth as he or she is likely to come. But in the past, many home gardeners have not been successful in growing bluebonnets due to slow and sporadic seed germination, damping-off problems, etc. Now, that's all changed.

Thanks to eight years of research and development by Dr. Jerry Parsons, Horticulture Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in San Antonio, Texas can now have their state flower blooming in profusion, in several exciting new colors, in their own home landscapes. Gardeners by the thousands did exactly that last year with great success, even through the terrible December freeze!

This horticultural breakthrough is highlighted by three major developments, specifically the commercial availability of transplants and chemically-scarified seed, plus three new color selections.

Gardeners are now able to purchase bluebonnet seed which has been chemically treated (scarified) and thus will germinate within 10 days rather than the months required previously.

To even further increase their chances for success, gardeners can utilize transplants instead of seed as they are much easier to handle and establish, and easier to arrange so that uniform stand establishment in formal plantings is assured. Transplants were so popular last fall that over 250,000 were sold in North Central Texas alone.

From the beginning, selecting new and exciting bluebonnet colors from the wild and making them available to the gardening public has been the main driving force of this project. These colors are completely natural and have in no way been genetically created by man. Thus we have not "messed" with the state flower. Instead, having already existed in nature for hundreds of years, these natural (but extremely rare) color selections were simply isolated from other bluebonnets and grown in large numbers. The result being that, in addition to the familiar blue color, there are now three new colors on the market:

'WORTHINGTON BLUE': This is one of the most striking of all bluebonnet colors, best described as a sky blue. Named for the Worthington Hotel in Ft. Worth because of their strong support for the bluebonnet development program, it makes a beautiful display either planted alone or when combined with other colors. Seed described as a Worthington mix, which will give rise to plants of the 'Worthington Blue,' traditional blue, and white, will be in good supply this fall.

WHITE: The white strain of bluebonnet was familiar to most local botanists yet still unknown to the majority of Texans. Photographers always treasure the opportunity to find a rare white bluebonnet nestled among the blue.

'ABBOTT PINK': Development of a pink bluebonnet was thought to be an impossible task due to its extreme scarcity in nature. Named for the great Texas naturalist Carroll Abbott, the 'Abbott Pink' is now a reality and its rare and subtle beauty will highlight any Texas garden. Transplants of this gorgeous cultivar were so popular last year that many nurseries sold out the very first weekend, so I would place my order early this year.

Although they bloom in the spring, FALL is the best time to plant bluebonnets. In fact, bluebonnets planted in the fall will produce plants approximately twice as large and with twice as many blooms as those not established until spring.

To ensure success with our state flower in your home landscape, just follow these simple steps:

- Plant in early fall (seed no later than September 15, transplants no later than Halloween), in full sun, in well-drained soil.
- Utilize chemically-scarified seed or transplants.
- Barely cover seeds with soil; don't bury crown of transplants.
- Don't overwater! Water seeds only on day of planting, transplants only when soil is dry to a depth of 1 inch.
- Protect against pillbugs and damping-off fungi.
- For maximum impact in the landscape, use large drifts of a single color rather than a hodgepodge sprinkling of many colors.
- In mid-October, interplant with pansies or other cool-season annuals for winter-long color.
- No applications of fertilizer are required.
- Cover with a loose blanket of mulch during extremely cold weather (below 20 degrees F); uncover plants promptly when temperatures moderate in a few days.

Extension specialists have prepared a special bluebonnet publication entitled "Texas Bluebonnets - Texas Pride," available free of charge at participating nurseries, which contains everything you need to know to have the most exciting bluebonnet planting of your gardening life.

The transplants, chemically-scarified seed and special bluebonnet publication will be at participating nurseries in the north central Texas area beginning September 7. Drop by and take part in the fun. It's the Texas thing to do!
