

District 63 race will end Tuesday

by Elaine Schad

Ric Williamson and Kyle McCain are both confident that a victory is within their grasp as the race for the District 63 seat in the Texas House of Representatives heads toward Tuesday's showdown.

Williamson (D-Weatherford) is seeking a fourth term in office. McCain (R-Gainesville) is a newcomer to the political scene, but says his city manager experience qualifies him for the job. The winner of Tuesday's election will represent Cooke, Wise and Parker counties in the Texas House of Representatives for the next two years.

While both are proud they've kept the campaign clear from personal attacks, McCain has repeatedly attacked Williamson's voting record, claiming the incumbent had 201 unexcused absences out of 555 record votes during the last regular session. Williamson counters by saying that he has a 99 percent attendance record and an overall 86 percent voting record while in the House.

McCain has claimed the votes Williamson missed dealt with important legislation such as gun theft, day care facilities and workers compensation. Williamson said the votes missed weren't issues that were hotly contested, and that he was busy behind the scenes shaping policy that was more important to his District 63 constituents.

"I have an established and provable record that anyone can verify," Williamson said in a telephone interview this week. Recognized as one of the House's 10 legislative leaders, Williamson said he was working with state agency leaders and the governor's office on vital issues when he missed some of those votes. "Sometimes, I have to choose to be part of the leadership team that shapes policy," he said.

McCain disputes Williamson's line of thinking. "If you're not there to vote, then you're not a leader," he said. "If you have a certain amount of influence, it is diminished if you aren't there to vote on the floor."

Williamson's campaign has been centered around the theme that he has produced as a public servant, not a politician, for the constituents of his district. He lists many issues, such as his work in making major changes to the state's accounting system to save taxpayer money, working to replace a security fence around Gainesville State School, consolidating some state agencies for greater efficiency and tax savings, and playing a key role as a member of the state's legislative budget team.

Closer to home, Williamson cites his intervention as aiding the City of Muenster when city officials contacted him, saying Austin was dragging its feet on the approval of a landfill permit. He credits his help in working toward a compromise location in the Red River Bridge fight. "I believe political decisions are based on a person's stated ability, stated performance and a person's willingness to identify the issues," Williamson said. "I feel like I'm positioned to make some major beneficial changes in office," he said.

One person can't take credit for anything that is accomplished in government, said McCain. "One person does not do anything for himself," he said. "For him to take credit for something like that state school fence is way out of line."

Both men feel they have a network already in place in the legislature to be effective if elected. Both agree that education will be at the top of the list of issues with the opening of January's legislative session. Both favor limited terms for elected officials and both favor a voucher system to give parents free choice in the education of their children.

The two hold similar views about their desire to see control of education returned to the local people and local boards. Williamson favors broadening the sales, if and only if, school property taxes are lowered by at least 80 percent.

If that happened, Williamson would favor eliminating appraisal districts. McCain feels that local control of property appraisals is better than a state-controlled method. McCain is opposed to a state income tax. Williamson said he would favor a state income tax only if it were approved by voters through a constitutional amendment. Please See RACE, Page 2

Williamson, McCain respond to sensitive abortion issue

by Elaine Schad

Some Muenster residents have brought the abortion issue to the forefront during the District 63 campaign, catching the attention of both incumbent Ric Williamson and his Republican opponent, Kyle McCain. Cooke County voters will decide who they want to serve as their representative in the Texas House during Tuesday's election.

Supported by Kenneth and Marilyn Bierschenk, some 150 high school students wrote an open letter to Williamson that also was printed in The Muenster Enterprise, asking him and McCain to clarify their positions on abortion, and charging both to take a leadership role on the issue if elected. Both Williamson and McCain have responded with letters to the paper in hopes of giving voters a better understanding of their positions on the issue.

While legislation relating to abortion has come up on the floor just three times since 1985, Williamson said he voted each time for placing restrictions on abortion. He hasn't taken a leadership role because he thought other issues were of more concern to his constituents. Williamson said he is willing to work harder on the abortion issue if the voters tell him to do so, he said.

"I've really been surprised that people don't know my position on abortion," said Williamson in a telephone interview this week. "I haven't taken a leadership position because, when I took office, I was mad about things like inefficient government and lack of drug education," said Williamson. "It is a valid criticism," he said. "When you realize what's important to your constituents, then I can adjust to that. I think I hear that clearly."

McCain said he was on the committee that formulated the state Republican party's strong pro-life platform. "I would co-sponsor legislation in this area, and I am against abortion, but I haven't focused on it because it's too easy to be declared a single-issue candidate," he said.

Williamson said he developed what he calls some sensitivity on the abortion issue because his wife, Mary Ann, supports legalized abortion. His greatest concerns include what kind of penalties would be incurred if abortion were outlawed, and what provisions would be made for what Williamson said would be the millions of unwanted children that would be born as a result. He said he's also troubled that the man has been left out of taking responsibility in the abortion issue.

"I perceive the pro-life position as saying we must outlaw abortion, and then they stop there," said Williamson. "I'm opposed to abortion, but let's get clearly established on how we're going to take care of the abused and unwanted children that will be placed on our doorstep," Williamson said. "It would be easy for me just to say I'm against abortion," he said. "We need to define the punishment ranges and come up with a plan."

In a recent survey conducted by the Texas Right to Life Committee, Inc., both Williamson and McCain are both listed as candidates who favor a wide range of legislative efforts in support of the unborn. Both said they would support a human life bill which would encourage the Supreme Court to reverse its pro-abortion decisions.

McCain gave a pro-life response to all 13 questions asked to him in the survey, questions ranging from whether he would support legislation to prevent newborn infants from being denied beneficial medical treatment because of handicaps, to supporting legislation that would require consent of a woman's legal spouse prior to abortion.

Williamson was listed as answering 10 of 13 questions in favor of the pro-life position. Three questions were left blank, one concerning legislation on spousal consent, one on testing for viability of pre-born children estimated to be greater than 20 weeks gestation, and another on prohibiting abortion as a backup method of birth control.

When contacted, however, Williamson said he only left the question concerning viability blank because he didn't have enough information about that to make an informed decision. He said he has always favored requiring spousal consent and would also favor prohibiting abortion as a backup method of birth control.

The Right to Life Committee sent surveys to all those seeking state public offices, including judgeships, senate and house candidates, to the top state positions. None of the top Democratic candidates responded to the survey, including Ann Richards, seeking the governorship; Bob Bullock, candidate for lieutenant governor; Dan Morales, candidate for attorney general; Gary Mauro, candidate for land commissioner; Jim Hightower, candidate for agriculture commissioner; and John Sharp, candidate for comptroller.

The Republican candidates for those same positions did respond to the survey. gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams responded to the pro-life position in 11 of 13 questions asked in the same survey. Additionally, he said he'd support amendments to prohibit federal funding of abortion with conditions. He did not answer a question about legislation that would protect the medically dependent from receiving ordinary treatment.

Other top Republican candidates answered all the questions, or the majority, with pro-life responses. They included Republican candidate for lieutenant governor Rob Mosesbacher Jr.; J.E. "Buster" Brown, candidate for attorney general; Warren Harding Jr., candidate for comptroller; Rick Perry, candidate for agriculture commissioner; and Wes Gilbreath, candidate for land commissioner.

Candidates for Commissioner Precinct 4 state their views

Voters of Cooke County who reside in the fourth precinct of the county will have a tough choice to make on Nov. 6 as two very qualified Muenster men vie for the position of commissioner. Kenneth Swirczynski is the Republican candidate. He was unopposed in the March Primary. Virgil Hess won the position on the Democratic ticket over three other candidates.

Hess is a lifelong resident of Muenster. He graduated from Sacred Heart School and later attended Cooke County College where he studied Business Management and Economics. Hess served in the U.S. Army and spent 18 months serving in Germany.

For 23 years, Hess was employed in the petroleum industry, starting as a roughneck and progressing through the ranks to the position of District Production Superintendent in the Wichita Falls-Bowie area. He is presently self-employed.

Virgil and his wife Judy have four children and are members of Sacred Heart Church in Muenster.

Ken Swirczynski, who will be 40 on Nov. 7, was born and raised in Muenster and currently resides there. He graduated from Muenster Public School and earned a BBA from North Texas University where he majored in Management and Finance and then an advanced technical Masters of Science degree in Geology.

Swirczynski served in the U.S. Army in Vietnam as a platoon leader. He was wounded twice and honorably discharged. He has been employed by the same international oil company for the last 11 years.

Each candidate has a different reason for wanting to win the job of Precinct 4 commissioner. Swirczynski has found that it is the most difficult thing to explain to people. "Even though I am fully employed and earning an excellent salary as a manager with a major oil company, the extensive worldwide travel required (I spent more than six months out of the past year outside the USA), as well as the 3 1/2 hours I spend in my car every day commuting from Muenster to Dallas has convinced me to seek employment closer to home," he explained. He has been offered other opportunities in the area, but feels that "My talents as a manager and technical engineer would best be utilized in the courthouse and in the field working for the people of Cooke County."

"I feel this is a great opportunity for me to put my supervisory and management experience back to work, along with my ability to work with and for the people," stated Hess.

Finding a commissioner with the experience and ability to wisely budget the county's money is a major consideration of most voters.

Hess has nine years of experience as a District Oil Production Superintendent and during that time he worked with other district and regional personnel to set an annual district operating budget of $6.5 million. This budget was monitored on a monthly basis, he said.

"I worked up AFE costs and procedures on drilling and workover prospects up to $450,000 and maintained a daily cost on these projects from start to finish," commented Hess.

Among the qualifications to budget the county's money listed by Swirczynski was his current job as group project leader in which he is responsible for several multimillion dollar exploration and producing projects worldwide. His daily work involves managerial decisions concerning budgetary and financial matters, contract negotiations,

MPS receives excellence award in Austin

Muenster Public School's Kindergarten through grade 5 has received the 1990 Texas Schools With Exemplary Performance Award from the Governor's Educational Excellence Committee.

Carol Dyer and Gwen Trubench represented the Muenster Elementary department in Austin on Saturday, Oct. 27 and accepted the award in ceremonies held in the Chamber of the Texas House of Representatives. The awards were presented by Governor Bill Clements.

The Muenster school was one of 374 out of 6,000 schools statewide, honored as first recipients of the Governor's Educational Excellence Awards for Exemplary Performance - schools that consistently maintained high test scores during the past three years. These schools received a specially designed Educational Excellence flag and a Citation of Achievement.

Muenster Public School received the exemplary award because of 98 percent of student passage of "Texas Educational Assessment of Minimal Skills Test," (TEAMS test) and 95.5 percent teacher attendance; 97.5 percent student attendance; 98 percent of students passing all classes; 85 percent of students participating in extra-curricular activities; 98 percent of students involved in service or volunteer activities.

Held at 2 p.m. Saturday, the awards ceremony was attended by by its chairman, Winston Power of Dallas, who referred to the schools as the "Best of the Best," and commended them for their consistently high performance scores. Patricia M. Shell, superintendent of Brazosport Independent School District was introduced as "Superintendent of the Year for 1990." This was followed by remarks by Governor Bill Clements. He prefaced his presentation by saying: "Today is a special day for Texas. It marks a time when we, as a state, pay tribute to our schools and to the dedicated Texans who work to make them models of excellence... I can't help but be optimistic at the progress in education that is indeed possible through perseverance, fortitude and a great deal of hard work and homework... You have made a difference! Each of you has shown what is possible when Texans let their spirits soar and pursue their dreams with all their might... You have taught children their lessons, but you have also inspired their dreams. You, more than anyone, shape the future."

Remarks by Larry Milner of the Texas Chamber Foundation concluded the program.

Mrs. Gwen Trubench and Mrs. Carol Dyer also attended the reception held in the Capitol Rotunda and were in the group when the governor of Texas had his photograph taken with all of the winning schools.

Open House showcases improvement program

A total of more than $2 million worth of remodeling, repairs and new construction completed over the past four years at Cooke County College will go on display to the general public during a special campus-wide open house on Saturday (Nov. 3), with the new Library and Community Education & Cosmetology buildings being the featured attractions.

Both new buildings will be officially dedicated in a 1:30 p.m. ceremony in front of the new Library, and all buildings on campus will remain open for tours by the public until 5 p.m.

To conclude the formal dedication of the two new buildings, a ceremonial "book chain" will transfer the last two books from the old library to the new one. The specially chosen volumes, one symbolic of the past and the other symbolic of the future, will be passed hand to hand between the two buildings. All persons attending the dedication are encouraged to take part.

"I'm often surprised," said CCC President Dr. Bud Joynor, "at the number of folks in our community, many of them longtime residents, who may have driven by the campus many times but have never actually had an opportunity or occasion to stop in and go through the various buildings."

"This is a great opportunity for them to come out and get an up-

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Fette:

I suppose I am a bit surprised that there is a question about my position on abortion.

I have a solid record of opposing abortion-on-demand. My position has not changed over the years. I do believe that there are two critical problems to resolve at the same time we outlaw abortion. First, we need to agree on the punishment for violating the law. Will the death penalty or life imprisonment be assessed? Will it be assessed against the mother? The abortionist? Both? Second, we need to have a place to care for and protect the millions of children that will be born to unfit mothers. In light of the fact that we are not adequately caring for abused children today, there needs to be a clear commitment to a plan to protect the abused children of the future.

Politically speaking, it would be easy to just say "I'm against abortion" and leave it at that. However, I'm not a very good politician but I am a good public servant. It seems to me that a good public servant should anticipate problems and have solutions ready to address those problems. In the meantime, I will be supporting parental and spousal notification prior to an abortion. And I will continue to oppose abortion on demand.

Concerning the current tax system, I hope that your readers have not been misled. I do not advocate expanding the current sales/tax property tax system to agriculture items. I do think we should all consider abolishing the property tax and the Central Tax Appraisal District System as a method of paying for public education, and if we collectively decide to do that, then we will have to consider how to spread the sales tax to replace the property tax. Again, my position is that the property tax is unfair, inappropriate and costly to administer to pay for public education.

Sincerely,
 Ric Williamson

Letter to the Editor-

There's an ad circulating, in support of Ric Williamson, attempting to make the point that politicians talk about themselves, but public servants let others do the talking. It's a nice pious sounding political slogan. However, I learned long ago to judge elected officials by their actions, not words. The reason we elect representatives to the Legislature is to "represent us" there, i.e. to vote. Our representative has distributed a nice, expensive-looking campaign brochure telling us he has an 85.3 percent voting record. Yeah, uh-huh. Well, it's a matter of public record that in this past session, Mr. Williamson missed 201 out of 555 recorded votes. Now, when I say he missed 201 votes, I'm not saying I think he "missed it" or "voted wrong" on 201 votes. I'm saying he simply DID NOT VOTE ON 201 VOTES. Those recorded numbers amount to a 63.7 percent voting record. His first obligation to me as a constituent is to V-O-T-E. So, the fact is, we elected him to give representation which we did not get. That's called taxation without representation. I'm tired of empire-building incumbents that do not "represent." On Nov. 6, I'm voting for Kyle McCain.

Dear Editor

I am writing to urge the citizens of this community to support and vote for Rick Perry for the office of Agriculture Commissioner. Three term State Representative Rick Perry is the only farmer and rancher running for Agriculture Commissioner. Does it not make sense that someone in agriculture should head up the agency that is supposed to help Texas farm families?

His opponent, Jim Hightower, is a professional politician that has no farming experience. He did such a poor job of food safety inspections that the U.S. Department of Agriculture took the program away from him, citing a lack of fiscal controls. Experts say his plans for Texas agriculture would dramatically raise the prices you pay at the store. As for patriotism, Hightower said, "It's stupid for us to make a big fuss about people who burn the American flag."

Every major agriculture group is backing Rick Perry. So join the ones he can help the most, and VOTE FOR RICK PERRY.

To the Hornet fans,

We're sorry about the outcome of the Saint Jo-Muenster football game. We had a game plan, that once the game was decided we would mix the varsity and J.V. in and out the remainder of the ballgame. We followed our game plan. In the future, the outcome of a game will never be that drastic again, no matter who we play.

To the Editor:

As the Nov. 6 election is just around the corner and with the problems we are having with the budget, not only on the national level but on the state level as well, I feel we as citizens of this great country and state must take a strong stand and make a trip to the polls Tuesday. If we do not stand together, we are going to be taken to death. If there were more conservative Republicans elected we would not be having the problems on the national level or state level. If we are going to elect Republicans to the top positions such as President and Governor, we must also elect them some help. If the legislative body is mainly liberal democrats who we all know believe in tax, tax, tax and spend, spend, spend, then how can we be mad when the top guys are forced to go along. The only way we can insure our children and grandchildren a future life is to stop the continual spending trend. We can do this by electing more Republican candidates. One in particular is Kyle McCain. I have personally known Kyle for some time now and find him to have the strong conservative ideas that most of the people in his district do. He has taken a stand on no taxes, he has taken a stand on crime and the abortion issue just to name a few. I have read all the letters that come in for his opponent and know Kyle would also be willing to help those individuals, but he would not let the major issues go without his vote. There are several major issues that were missed by our present Representative. I think it's time to send more Republicans to D.C. as well as to Austin. In the past I have voted for some Democrats but on Tuesday I will be voting the Republican box and those of you who are tired of the government waste should do so as well.

Sincerely,
 Debbie Hess
 It's time we get serious about our government.

Dear Editor,

Recently, your publication ran a story about Rusty Hardin and his political action committee, Texas People Against Crime, (TPAC) that quoted statistics regarding several candidates for the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. There are, however, some items of which you and your readers should be aware.

T.P.A.C. was organized to secure the elections of its chosen candidates, rather than the public interest group it pretends to be. Hardin is paid an equivalent annual salary of $72,000. Hardin himself has only appeared before the court one time.

Hardin has also claimed that he and his staff analyzed all of the opinions issued by the Court of Criminal Appeals. In fact, they analyzed only 14 of the Court's cases ignoring over 13,500 cases decided by the court including opinions that were not published, refusals to review cases decided by the courts of Appeals and denials of applications for writ of habeas corpus.

In truth, the statewide rate for reversals of criminal convictions is on the order of 6.5%. There is neither an appellate court in the country that reverses 47% of its criminal cases nor an appellate judge that would vote to reverse 65% of the cases submitted to him for a decision.

Your readers are entitled to know that the TPAC effort is conducted by a paid employee whose statistics represent only a fraction of the court's work. The decision to vote for a candidate for public office should be based upon accurate information and not on statistics slanted to insure a candidate's election.

I hope you and your readers will take the time to consider the qualifications of Sam Houston Ginton, Charles F. (Charlie) Baird, Morris Overstreet, and Frank Maloney. As Texans continue to demand the right to elect their judges, it is incumbent upon the voters to gather as much non-biased information as possible to make informed decisions. I hope you will assist them. I remain

Dear Editor -

I am a fan of Saint Jo sports. Several years ago, enrollment was down in Saint Jo causing us to eliminate football from our athletic program. Last year we began our football program in high school again, playing other junior varsity teams and private schools. This year we are back in U.I.L. competition. We still have a young and inexperienced team, half of them being Freshmen starters.

Two weeks ago I traveled to Era to see them defeat our team 80-0. Now Era only had 5 or 6 substitute players and so does Saint Jo. There was not much Era could do to make it a lower score. After all, I would expect my players to give 110 percent the whole game while they were on the field, if I were a coach.

But last Friday night Muenster came to Saint Jo to play football. Muenster has a great football team and have had one for the last several years. I am sure the parents and fans from Muenster are very proud of their team's success, as they should be. But I cannot believe they were all that good at beating us 87-0 when their coach, Grady Roller, continuously put his first unit back into the game every time Saint Jo made a couple of first downs. This took place throughout the entire second half with Muenster leading by 50 to 80 points. He had enough players on the sidelines for another team and more! He did substitute a lot, but why would any smart coach keep any of his first unit in a game that you are ahead by 50 points at halftime? Why would any smart coach take a chance on possibly getting one of his starters injured in a game that you're ahead by 70 or 80 points, especially when you have a showdown for the district championship coming up with Era?

Well now I'll answer my questions. He's not a smart coach! I know Grady Roller has coached in Cooke County for a number of years and he's had great success in producing winning teams. But Muenster, you already had a winning team before he was your coach. He's just along for the ride. Get rid of him! Don't let him take away your pride in winning!

I have nothing against Muenster players or fans. I respect their winning tradition; but you should win and show great sportsmanship at the same time. Apparently, Grady Roller doesn't know what that means.

I've always heard if you whip a dog long enough you would make him mean. Right now we're taking the whippings, but I take great pride in the fact that our team is sticking together. Our coaches have their work cut out in just keeping the morale of the players up. I hope they will continue to stick together. In our lower grades our enrollment is growing each year and I hope we can continue to build and strengthen our football program. It may be a few years or it may be a lot of years before we get mean enough to get even, but just remember Grady Roller, "What goes around, comes around."

Saint Jo football is back. If we can keep our coaches and team together the winning will come later, and we will get even!

 and damn proud of it!

 We are mad because there is so much trash around Muenster!!!! We've decided to do something about it!!! We picked up trash!!! We picked up a lot of trash. In four hours there was a big pile of trash! Here's what we think people should do about it. They should put a trash sack in their car, truck, pickup or limousine. Or more trash sacks outside. Everyone should take pride in Muenster.

Citizens, do your duty - vote!

Tuesday, Oct. 6 is Election Day across the United States. Almost everyone has some complaint about government and politicians and now is the time to take action.

"Voting is not only a right that American citizens enjoy, it's a duty," declared Senator Lloyd Bentsen. "We owe it to those who have given their lives to defend that right to make sure that the dreams they died for live on with us in our hearts, in our minds, and at the voting booths next Tuesday."

Many people feel that it doesn't matter if they don't cast their vote, but each vote makes a difference. Senator Bentsen asks Texans to consider these results from past elections:

If one voter in every precinct across the country had stayed home on election day in 1960, John F. Kennedy would not have been elected our 35th president. The same was true of Harry S. Truman's election in 1948 and Woodrow Wilson's in 1916.

In 1962 Karl F. Rolvaag was elected Minnesota's Governor by a margin of 91 votes. The closest governor's election in American history occurred in 1801 when David Hall was elected Governor of Delaware by a margin of only 18 votes. More than 7 Congressional elections have been decided by one vote.

Cooke County voters can cast their votes at the following polling places: Precinct 17 Muenster VFW Hall; Precinct 18 First Baptist Church of Muenster; Precinct 15 Myra Community Center; Precinct 12 Era Community Center; Precinct 14 Rosston Fire Station; Precinct 16, South Lindsay, Ed Sandmann home; Precinct 19 Frank Sandmann home; and Precinct 21, North Lindsay, Lindsay Parish Hall.

Muenster Election Judges, Janet Fisher Precinct 17, and Mary Lee Hennigan Precinct 18, expect a large voter turn-out. "Percentage-wise Precinct 18 has more voters turn out than anywhere else, even statewide," commented Mrs. Hennigan.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday. Voters are reminded to bring their voter and white voter registration cards to the poll.

ment and if it would replace the property tax.

Williamson feels he has the rapport and knowledge in place to carry out strategies that will help District 63 during the next two years. He thinks his proven record and a clean campaign will spell victory on Tuesday. "I've gone 11 months without saying anything negative about him or what he says about me," he said. "I'm going to get up Wednesday, look in to the mirror, and know that I've run a clean race."

McCain had two goals when he entered the District 63 race - increase interest in the election process and win the election. "Voter apathy is one of the worst things we've got going in this country, and we've got to get people back in the process," McCain said. "I think I have succeeded in that, because people are talking about this race. That's the best part of it," he said. "I feel very confident, and I know I can win the election."

specification and purchase of supplies and equipment, employee relations and supervision, as well as other technical work.

The Republican candidate also stated that he had an understanding of the small businessman's and farmer's point of view since he owns a small farm and cattle operation located in both Cooke and Montague counties.

"It is important that the four commissioners be able to work together for the benefit of all the residents of the county, but should the need arise, I have the ability to stand up for the rights of the taxpayers of Precinct 4 and fight to get needed projects for the western part of the county funded," declared Swirczynski.

The county should be run more like a business and less like a tax and spend political entity, remarked Swirczynski, who also said that he fully realizes the value of a tax dollar and knows that there are a number of ways to make use of Cooke County's tax base much more efficiently.

The Republican candidate doesn't believe raising property taxes year after year is the answer to an efficiently-run county. Instead, proper longterm budgetary forecasting and allocation of available funds without raising taxes must become a part of the commissioner's job just as it is with any business manager, he said.

"I would institute many other changes in the way business is conducted by the county, including consolidation and sharing of much of the equipment and personnel between precincts, leasing of some equipment and contracting locally on some jobs rather than having expensive county-owned machinery sitting idle for long periods of time," commented Swirczynski. "I would standardize supplies and equipment in all precincts as much as possible in order to purchase with quantity discounts by competitive bids."

Hess also has some ideas on improving the efficiency of Precinct 4, one being the new jail inmate program. "Inmates can be used to trim trees and clean up roadways and ditches, which will improve the looks of Precinct 4," suggested Hess. "This will give road crews more time to prepare for future paving projects which will cut road maintenance cost."

A willingness to be available to discuss any problems or ideas that a county resident might have was expressed by both candidates. "If elected, I will be a full-time commissioner, with no outside interests," promised Hess.

Likewise Swirczynski stated, "I would be a full-time commissioner, working hard both in the courthouse and in the field for all the people in Precinct 4, rural and city alike." He also made it known he believes that there is no problem or concern too small that a commissioner cannot take time to listen to.

When queried about the ambulance situation in Cooke County, both men had ideas for changes and both would like to see Muenster have an ambulance stationed locally. Each also indicated that they felt it would be a battle to get an ambulance housed in Muenster as there is strong opposition by the other three county commissioners. Their responses were as follows:

Swirczynski stated, "I believe that it is a disgrace that the western part of Cooke County, and Muenster in particular with its fine hospital, has been dangerously short-changed by the county in funding ambulance services. There are areas in the far northwestern portion of the county where it would take more than 30 minutes to get an ambulance from Gainesville. One life saved by faster emergency response time is worth how many tax dollars?? I do not believe that you can put a dollar value on life, and therefore would make it my highest priority if elected to get an ambulance placed somewhere west of Gainesville (Muenster is the logical choice)."

Hess stated, "I think response time throughout the county could be improved by moving two of the EMS units from their present location at the County Jail out on Hwy. 82 - one to the east of Gainesville and the other to the west of Gainesville, say maybe Lindsay. This would give EMS units much better access to outlying areas, the third unit remain housed at its present location. This would be beneficial to the people of Gainesville, also. With all three units at their present location, say a unit is needed in the far southeast part of Gainesville, the main thoroughfare would be California St. If the streets are blocked by a train, the EMS unit must go to Hwy. 82 to cross over to the southeast part of Gainesville. This detour would be very time consuming. If one of the EMS units is located on East Hwy. 82, it would lower the response time to the area. If an EMS unit is needed in the western part of the county, the unit would have to travel IH35 to Hwy. 82. If the unit is located on West Hwy. 82, response time would be shorter. Of course, the economics of this proposal would need to be studied."

In Cooke County, the Grievance Committee requested that the Commissioners' Court have a study done on how the salaries of Cooke County employees compare to non-county employees.

Democratic candidate Hess said that he had the opportunity to be present at the Commissioners'

Court meeting the day that the Grievance Committee presented their report. The committee had already looked at county employee vs. non-county employee salaries and found that the majority of the county employees were being paid salaries that were comparable with private sector employees.

"The area where the county falls behind is in new-hire clerical employees," Hess stated. "Their salary is below that of non-county employees, due to time spent in training the new employee, then once trained, having the employee leave for a better-paying position. Another salary-related problem is that of longevity pay. A number of county employees have accrued the maximum number years of service set up under the present longevity schedule and unless the schedule is expanded, will also be a group that is underpaid. The Grievance Committee requested that a study of counties comparable in size and tax base to Cooke County be made so that salaries could be compared and a job description system be set up. The cost of this study would have been approximately $20,000. I feel that the money spent doing this study, only if it was available in the current budget, could be better spent in upgrading deficient salaries."

In order to attract and keep good professional employees, a county must pay competitive wages, said Swirczynski. He also feels that, along with competitive pay, an employee should be responsible for performing their job at an expected level and would set up criteria for dealing with those who didn't.

"It is my opinion from having studied the salary structure of the county employees that the Grievance Committee will conclude that some county employees are underpaid," remarked Swirczynski. "From my own study of the data, I agree that there are areas within the county that salaries need to be brought more in line with the private sector (conversely it should be noted that I found some salaries to be far too high for the work being done - in particular the almost $40,000 per year paid to the CCAD chief appraiser). I believe that the necessary salary increases cannot be accomplished overnight, but rather should be implemented slowly over a period of three to four years, and therefore could be handled without raising taxes!"

Swirczynski concluded his interview with the following comments. "I would like to thank my many supporters in this campaign and apologize to those residents that I did not get around to meet personally on weekends, because, unlike my opponent, I have a full-time job and have been unable to spend my weekdays campaigning. And, finally, to those people who have been tearing down my yard signs as well as harassing my elderly supporters late at night, I say that you have done your own candidate more harm than good."

Each candidate feels that he is the best man for the job of Commissioner Precinct 4. The person elected will serve for the next four years.

South Dakota is home for newlyweds

nee Julie Rose Fisher

Mr. and Mrs. Brett Alan Walford are at home in Brookings, South Dakota following their wedding in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster on Saturday, Oct. 17, 1990 at 5 p.m. with Father Victor Gillespie OSB officiating their double ring vows and Nuptial Mass.

The couple plans a delayed honeymoon trip to Hawaii later in the Spring.

The bride is the former Julie Rose Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Fisher of Muenster. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Walford of Milbank, South Dakota.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing an ivory taffeta formal wedding gown designed with jewel neckline, fitted bodice appliqued with elegant lace heavily encrusted with pearls and iridescent sequins. Long sleeves were slightly puffed at the shoulders and tapered to the wrists. The V-back of the dress featured a butterfly bow at the basque waist. The full skirt drifted gracefully into the cathedral-length train and was completely edged with matching lace.

Her illusion fingertip length veil was caught to a band of pearl and sequin leaves, backed with a pouf of gathered sheer illusion.

Her bridal flowers were carried in an arm bouquet of fresh ivory roses tied with a tulle bow.

For "something old" she wore a wedding band belonging to her late great-grandmother, Mrs. Jacob Grill.

ATTENDANTS

Bridal attendants were Deann Walterscheid of Carrollton as maid of honor; Nancie Lippe of Muenster, bride's sister as matron of honor; Belinda Rupp of Robbinsdale, Minnesota, groom's sister, and Laura Grill of Lewisville, bride's cousin, as bridesmaids.

They wore emerald green iridescent taffeta dresses with high-low cut skirt hemlines, and black velvet bodices. Each carried a bouquet of long-stemmed ivory roses with tulle bows.

Megan Lippe, goddaughter of the bride was flower girl and Chad Herr, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

Kevin Strahl of Brookings, South Dakota was best man, Brian Jandahl of Watertown, South Dakota, Mark Berkland of Brookings, South Dakota and Arthur Rupp of Robbinsdale, Minnesota, groom's brother-in-law, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Chuck Fisher of Muenster, bride's brother, Wayne Schmeichel of Brookings, Terry Nelson of Bloomington, Minn. and Kim Poel of Chaska, Minn.

Readings for the wedding liturgy were given by Dan Fisher of Wichita Falls, bride's brother, and Ginnie Fisher, bride's sister. Prayers of the Faithful were read by Kathie Herr of Denton, bride's sister. Presentation of Offertory gifts were by Michael and Rosemary Lardner of Lititz, Pennsylvania, bride's godparents, and Jim and Karen Kiefer of Milbank, S.D.

Ruth Felderhoff was organist for "Chariots of Fire," "Pachelbel's Canon in D," and "Haydn's Recessional." Eileen Fisher of Muenster, bride's aunt, and Kyle Moldenhauer of Milbank, a friend of the groom, were vocalists for "After the Sunset," "Somewhere, My Love," "Wind Beneath My Wings," "The Rose," "The Wedding Song," "Wherever You Go," "Come Journey With Me," and "Ave Maria." The bride's father, Clyde Fisher, and her aunt Eileen Fisher sang "How Great Thou Art," at the Communion Meditation.

The altar was decorated with lighted candles in candelabra, and arrangements of white gladioli. Ivory bows marked center aisle pews.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, hosted by parents of the couple. Laurie Fisher of Denton, bride's sister, and Tonya Hess of Gainesville, bride's cousin, presided at the bride's book, registering 300 guests. Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann catered dinner and Mikki and Joe Bob Jones played for dancing.

The groom's parents will host a reception for the couple in the groom's hometown on Nov. 3.

The wedding cakes were made and cut by Betty Rose Walterscheid, assisted in cutting by Joan Walterscheid. Cake servers were Sally Fisher, Lisa Lippe, Maggie Fisher, all nieces of the bride, and Julie Walterscheid, all of Muenster. Punch was served by Jennifer Lippe, bride's niece.

Decorations by Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann in the reception area were outstanding. Guests were greeted in the foyer where a white wrought iron arch, greenery and twinkling lights led inward to the guest registry. The central gazebo, illuminated by tiny crystal lighting, in romantic, mood-setting decor, enhanced the fresh tropical plants, and served as a beverage, beer and champagne bar and hors d'oeuvres center.

A seven and a half ft. mirrored server held arrangements of cheeses, fruit pieces, sausages and assorted crackers. Baskets of variety snacks were at convenient spots.

Food presentation was dramatic when folding doors were opened to reveal dinner served in a banquet table arrangement, enhanced by candlelight only.

Guest tables were covered in white, decorated with mauve ribbon and fresh English ivy and individual hurricane candles. Napkins and flatware were tied with little green ribbons. The food tables, in open V-shape were draped in white, allowing the serving from two sides, of a Southwest buffet menu, using crystal and silver appointments, chafing dishes and silver trays.

The centerpiece was a cascading fruit and vegetable waterfall, topped by an arrangement of strawberries, fresh pineapple and shredded celery.

The head table and bride's table were decorated in ivory and mauve; crystal candlelight in two large floor candelabra and ficus trees provided a special effect.

Cascading flower arrangements in mauve and emerald were at both ends of the table. The bride's table held a silver punch bowl and the three tiered ivory and mauve wedding cake that stood over a lighted fountain. The groom's cake was made of German sweet chocolate, decorated with chocolate roses and a monogram of W.

On a wall behind the main table the decorations featured an archway shaped of crystal balloons. Starlight streamers draped from the ceiling, reflecting the effect of a starlight sky. All were made by Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann. A heart arrangement made by Aileen Knabe completed the decor.

The Fuhrmanns wore formal tuxedo serving attire with white pleated tuxedo shirt, black bow tie, V-necked black apron and red insignia on the apron.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bride's parents, Clyde and Polly Fisher, in their home on Oct. 26.

A shower was hosted by Deann Walterscheid, Nancie Lippe and Laura Grill on Oct. 21 in the home of Dave and Joan Walterscheid. A supper on Oct. 23 was hosted by the bride's aunts, Louise and Eileen Fisher in the home of Johnny and Louise Fisher.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School, Cooke County College and attended the University of North Texas. The groom is a graduate of Milbank High School, and will graduate in May, 1991 from South Dakota State University with a Bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering. He is employed by 3M as an Electrical Engineer.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Fisher, was a special guest. The groom's grandmother was unable to attend. Among relatives and friends attending the wedding from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Yates of Bridgeman, Minn.; Kenneth Grill of Midlothian, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Grill of Orland Park, Ill.; Ed Meritt of Mountain Home, Ark.; Ann O'Neill of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Jayne Richards of Brookings, S.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moldenhauer and Mrs. Matt Unzen and daughter, Lori, all of Milbank, S.D.

We hate to disappoint our customers, BUT SOMETIMES THE POWER COMES ON TOO SOON.

Kids think it's exciting when the power goes off. To them, it's like "roughing it" ... the old days. But kids are probably the only ones who enjoy having the lights go out. Most of our members don't want to live in the old days. That's why our employees are continually on call to respond to trouble and get your power restored as quickly as possible. That attitude makes your electric cooperative something special. We're proud of our excellent service record. So, we're going to keep up the good work. Even if some people are disappointed.

Muenster ISD offers tutorial program

In 1984, a section of House Bill 72 mandated that all public schools in Texas provide remedial instruction for students who were failing classes in English, Mathematics, Science or Social Studies. These instructional sessions, which are commonly referred to as "tutorials," were not specifically funded by the state. Instead, they were among the first of many state mandates that school districts were directed to implement using local resources.

Many school districts offer such sessions either before or after school and pay teachers to tutor.

One or two teachers tutor all subjects, even if the teacher isn't certified in that area. Students in such schools must provide their own transportation to and from tutorials. As you can imagine, this puts quite a burden on parents, especially parents of younger students.

In Muenster, tutorials are offered during the school day to minimize transportation problems and costs. More important, Muenster I.S.D. provides students with teachers who are certified in the areas they tutor. The tutorial sessions are offered for grades 6-12 during the 8:00-8:22 "Homeroom" period each day; thus, students may seek help with assigned homework or special preparation before that day's test. Students are given opportunities for remediation in all problem areas - the student can decide how much time is needed if he or she wants to concentrate on a particular area. In the elementary classes, the student's regular teacher provides tutorial sessions during the school day as needed. Since the school day for M.I.S.D. elementary students is no longer than required by the state, such tutorial sessions can be fit into the daily schedule without taking time from required activities.

Of course, students often need extra help even if they are passing, or even making excellent grades in their classes. For these students, teachers are willing to spend extra time before or after school. All staff members are on duty by 7:45 daily, with most teachers arriving much earlier. Students may arrive early and, by making arrangements in advance, can often receive tutoring from teachers on an individual basis. State law does not require that such sessions be offered, but M.I.S.D. teachers realize the value of additional tutoring for all students, not just students who have failed. Thus, all teachers try to provide tutorials for all students, as the best they can.

Texas PO mural exhibition offers second look at New Deal

From 1934 to 1943, the federal government embarked on a unique art patronage program to decorate the walls of newly-built public buildings across the United States. The program was meant to inspire a sense of pride in the past and hope for the future in economically difficult times.

"Texas Post Office Murals of the New Deal" is a new traveling photographic exhibition that offers viewers an exceptional opportunity to see in one place a representative selection of the New Deal murals. The exhibition will open at the Texas Capitol Rotunda on November 2 and will remain there until November 15.

"Today there's new interest in the 50-year-old works of art that remain in public buildings throughout Texas. These works are monuments of an unprecedented government program to bring art to the people," said Dr. Francine Carraro, assistant professor of art history at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

Painted by some of the best known artists of the day in Texas and the Southwest, the colorful murals present a broad range of regional activities taken from the history and the daily lives of Texans.

Two dozen large-format photographs by photographer Wyatt McSpadden of Amarillo, photographer Mark E. Smith of Austin, and John C. Carlisle of Merrillville, Indiana, comprise the exhibition. In addition, informative textual notes written by Dr. Carraro explain the federal program and provide interesting background for each mural.

The exhibition will travel to locations throughout the state and is available free to nonprofit organizations, such as schools, public libraries, museums, and post offices in Texas. Sponsored by the Texas Historical Commission, this exhibition is made possible in part by a grant from the Texas Committee for the Humanities, a state program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. Institutions interested in hosting the exhibition should contact Philip Parisi, project director, at the THC, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711, 512/463-6100.

Tips for Caring for Your Pearls

Store them in a soft pouch so that they will not rub against anything hard. Apply your hair spray or perfume before putting on your pearls. If you should get either on your strand, rinse immediately with water. If you have worn your pearls on a warm day, swish them around in some tepid water with a drop or two of mild detergent, i.e. Ivory, rinse well and PAT dry. This will protect your pearls as well as keep your stringing clean. It is advisable to have them restringed once a year.

LET US HELP YOU...
Have your pearls restringed. Make your pearls longer/shorter. Add a nicer catch. Add an enhancer. Match an earring/bracelet.

How do we say: "Thank You?" When we have so many reasons to be grateful to God for His goodness; to friends and relatives who sent cards to tell us they were praying, who kept a long vigil for Cherilyn's sake, and who are now rejoicing with us in her improvement. Although further treatment will be continued, she now has the assurance of recovery. We will treasure every favor, every prayer, every card and every word of encouragement. We trust God will bless you and our daughter.

KEN SWIRCYNSKI

ELECT
Ken Swirczynski
Republican Candidate
County Commissioner
Precinct 4

Address: P.O. Box 277, Muenster, Texas 76252

Age: 39

Military Service: Served in Vietnam in the U.S. Army as a platoon leader, wounded twice, honorably discharged

Education: 1969 - Muenster High School graduate; 1975 - Bachelor of Business Administration degree from North Texas Univ., majored in Business Management and Finance, honor graduate; 1980 - Master of Science degree from Stephen F. Austin Univ., majored in Geology and Engineering, honor graduate Work Experience: I have been employed by a major oil company for the past 10 years. In my current job as group project leader, I am responsible for several multimillion dollar exploration and producing projects. Daily work involves managerial decisions concerning budgetary and financial matters, contract negotiation, specification and purchase of supplies and equipment, employee relations and supervision, as well as geological, engineering, computing and other technical work. In addition, I own and operate a small farm and cattle ranch located in both Cooke and Montague counties. I am a resident of Muenster, Texas.

What I Will Do If Elected:

- Hold the line on property taxes! I will vote against raising property taxes for the next four years.
- I will be a full-time commissioner, working for all the people in Precinct 4, both rural and in the cities, to insure the precinct receives a fair share of the county's budget to fund needed projects such as better ambulance service and much-needed road paving and bridge repair in the western part of the county.
- Institute long-term budgetary forecasting. Begin running the county more like a business, planning farther ahead for capital expenditures, using expected cash flow (without raising taxes).
- Move towards consolidation and sharing of much of the road equipment and personnel between precincts in order to cut costs.
- Check into leasing equipment or contracting locally on some projects rather than having expensive county-owned equipment sit idle and unused for long periods of time.
- Standardize supplies and equipment as much as possible in all precincts in order to purchase with quantity discounts by competitive bid.
- Work with other county agencies, such as the sheriff's dept. and county judges, to assure strict enforcement of anti-dumping laws.
- Cooperate with the cities, chambers of commerce and other groups to actively promote Cooke County to outside industry and businesses seeking to relocate. Attracting new businesses would increase the county's tax base and help reduce county unemployment.
- I have many other ideas, but, most importantly, I will listen to the residents of Cooke County and make the office of county commissioner responsive and accountable to the taxpayers.

New members inducted into MHS National Honor Society Chapter

Muenster ISD's chapter of the National Honor Society inducted new members during a ceremony held on Tuesday, Oct. 30. The incoming sophomores, juniors, and seniors were presented membership pins by Vernon Austin, counselor.

Leading the candlelight ceremony were honor society officers Melissa Bayer, president; Tony Perryman, vice-president; Tina Klement, secretary; Leslie Klement, reporter; and member Kristen Klement.

Newly inducted members include Lanette Fisher, daughter of Willie and Janet Fisher; Mindy Graham, daughter of Bud and Donna Graham; Sherry Hacker, daughter of Jim and Linda Hacker; Brad McDaniel, son of Robert and Judy McDaniel; Darin Russell, son of Robert and Rita Russell; Kristi Bierschenk, daughter of Kenneth and Marilyn Bierschenk.

Also Julie Hess, daughter of Dennis and Kathy Hess; Darren Bindel, son of Harold and Sug Bindel; Lori Graham, daughter of Bud and Donna Graham; Mike Hacker, son of Maurus and Lynn Hacker; Justin Hartman, son of Roy and Irene Hartman; Marlene Hess, daughter of Earl and Mary Ann Hess; and Chelby Schoppa, daughter of Jack and Debra Schoppa.

These students were selected by criteria such as scholarship, leadership, and service. Scholarship requires a year's cumulative average of 90 in all academic subjects.

Students desiring membership in the honor society are required to complete a form listing extracurricular activities, membership in outside organizations, volunteer work, and service to the school and community. They must also compose an essay explaining their qualifications as members of the National Honor Society.

The evaluation forms are considered by the teachers in selecting new members. These rigid requirements reflect the high standards of excellence which National Honor Society members have met and are expected to maintain.

A reception was held to honor the new members and their parents following the ceremony in the auditorium.

MHS Kindergarten News

The Kindergarteners at Muenster Public School have had a busy time since school began.

Everyone now can print his or her first name correctly. Each one is able to recognize the numbers 1 to 10 and make corresponding sets of objects for each numeral. That took a lot of work!

Ten letters and the phonetic sounds have been learned. The students are now practicing how letters can be put together to make words.

All 23 children have enjoyed drawing and writing in their journals. These will be great treasures in years ahead.

Many songs were sung and enjoyed since school began. One of the favorites is "The Goblin in the Dark."

Many interesting things have been brought and told about each Friday at "Show and Tell" time. Mark Moster Jr. brought an animal's skull skeleton. It was identified by the high school science teacher, Mrs. Perryman, as a cat's head. Kami Klement brought a beautiful Monarch butterfly. Mitch and Amanda Felderhoff brought a caterpillar. The class watched it make its cocoon. Many beautiful shells and fossils were also brought for Show and Tell.

Kindergarten art is on display in the Superintendent's office. The children had a lot of fun blowing black paint to make shadow pumpkin trees and watercoloring silhouette pictures.

Many thanks to room mother Sharon Felderhoff and helpers Marlene Fisher, Carol Koelzer, Lisa Walterscheid and Nancy Lippe who cut and sewed material to make chair "pockets" for each child.

All 23 kindergarteners are participating in "Book It" and have received their free pizza coupon for October.

Everyone worked to learn the songs and rhymes for the Say No to Drugs program. A video was made of each class' program and the kindergarteners can barely wait to see themselves on television.

St. John's Church hosts All Saints activities

by Elaine Schad

St. John's Catholic Church in Valley View this week hosted some special activities in honor of All Saints.

The third-grade students in the religious education program participated in the liturgy during the Sunday Mass, with each portraying a favorite saint. Diana Devers represented Mary, carrying the rosary to offer. Julie Prescher dressed as St. Elizabeth Ann Seton, the first American saint and the person who opened the country's first Catholic school.

Julie carried a religion textbook symbolic of the saint. Ofelia Rico portrayed St. Teresa of Avila, one of the doctors of the church. She carried a Bible. Guy Zimmerer portrayed St. Joseph, the patron of the church, and carried a hammer. Cody Butler represented St. Peter, the first pope, and brought the bread. Bryan Kupper portrayed St. Francis of Assisi, the patron saint of animals, and carried a dove.

Glenn Hacker, a high school student in the program, read special petitions in honor of All Saints and All Souls Day. Third-grade religion teacher who prepared the special program is Barbara Rauschuber.

Following religion classes on Sunday, the parish sponsored an All Saints hot dog cookout.

About a half dozen parishioners and Father Harry Fisher completed the day by attending in Muenster the special RENEW large group gathering to hear Abbott Jerome Kodell, OSB, sponsored by Sacred Heart Parish.

St. John's is studying the Little Rock Scripture series, Acts of the Apostles, authored by Abbott Kodell, as the parish RENEW program for the fall.

The Altar Society will be hosting a hot dog cookout and covered dish dinner on Nov. 11 after the Sunday religion classes about noon to celebrate Father Fisher's birthday.

Fall Arts and Crafts Trail in November

The Highland Lakes are gearing up for the 23rd Fall Arts and Crafts Trail that winds its way from Austin west and north through the Highland Lakes and Hill Country. Seven communities will feature arts and crafts shows that offer works from more than 500 area artists. The Arts and Crafts Trail is set for the weekend of November 10 and 11.

Austin kicks off the celebration on November 3 and 4 when its annual Austin Artists' Harvest will be held at Palmer Auditorium. All other communities will hold their arts and crafts shows November 10-11 at local sites or art galleries. Visitors on the trail can purchase original paintings in all mediums, high-quality prints and handmade crafts. Food is available at most galleries, and some galleries will offer entertainment. The Marble Falls arts and crafts show will give away an original painting as a door prize. All shows, except for the Austin Artists' Harvest, are free.

The Trail is organized as a self-driven tour. Visitors can enjoy a scenic drive between galleries and are encouraged to stop at area attractions along the way. Anyone interested in a free brochure and map to the Fall Arts and Crafts Trail should contact: The Highland Lakes Tourist Association, P.O. Box 294, Buchanan Dam, TX 78609 (512/793-6666).

said he would expand sales tax to "nursing home payments, food, doctor bills, medicine ... every transaction you can dream of."

That's like an income tax to the fixed-income and low-income Texans who can't put money into savings and investments.

Tigers fall short in Crusaders' game

"Once again, we were the better team that lost," said Sacred Heart Coach John Nasche. After being ahead 35-8 earlier in the game, the Tigers ended up on the short end of the stick 35-36. "We didn't physically let up, but I think we mentally let up just a little," said Nasche. "They got their momentum in the third period, with the assistance of an inside kick, a fake punt and an unbelievable interception."

The Tigers had a tough time getting their momentum back because of several key penalties. Sacred Heart took the opening kick, but possession exchanged back and forth when, on Tyler Street's second possession, Gary Hess picked off a Crusader pass. From the 10-yard line, Chris Hess and Ryan Hess moved the ball closer, then a 5-yard run by Chris gave the Tigers 6 points. The extra point kick was wide, giving Sacred Heart a 6-0 lead with 3:30 remaining in the first quarter. The Crusaders kept possession of the ball going into the second quarter. Two plays into the period, Tyler Street scored. The extra point was good and the Crusaders took an 8-6 lead.

The Tigers were held for a minus 8 yards and were forced to punt. Tyler Street moved 22 yards from the goal line, where the Tigers' defense held, taking over on their own 26. On their second play, Ryan Hess ran 70 yards to score for Sacred Heart. A pass from Stevan Nasche to Jason Beyer added another 2 points and the Tigers regained the lead 14-8.

After two big plays by the Crusaders, the Tigers' defense stiffened, returning the ball to Sacred Heart. The Tigers, starting on their 25, moved out to the 38 after a successful pass from Nasche to Beyer. The Crusaders picked off a Tiger pass, but an interference call kept the ball in Sacred Heart's hands. A personal penalty gave the Cats another 15, followed by a 15-yard gain by Ryan Hess. Chris Hess moved the ball to the 7. From there, Nasche, on a quarterback keeper, circled around the right end to score. Nasche also ran the extra point and the Tigers had a 22-8 score.

Jason Beyer picked off a Crusader pass in their next attempt, setting the Tigers on their visitors' 42-yard line. A good throw and catch from Beyer to Larry Switzer put Sacred Heart on the 14-yard line. Beyer picked up another 10 with Chris Hess finishing the last 4 yards on a pitch play touchdown. C. Hess kicked the extra point, giving the Tigers a 29-8 lead with 40 seconds remaining in the first half.

John Nasche picked off a Crusader pass, giving the Tigers 25 seconds more playing time. Sacred Heart threw an interception to end the half.

"We had a bright spot in our passing game," said Coach Nasche. "The first half, the offense, under Stevan Nasche's direction, played a great game." The Tiger coach placed Jason Beyer in as quarterback to boost the passing game. He credits Nasche, Shawn Dangelmayr and Tyler Street for a good receiving game. "They couldn't stop our offense," said the coach. "We stopped ourselves the second half."

Sacred Heart took the opening kick. Runs by C. Hess, Switzer and Beyer and a fine pass from Beyer to Nasche set the ball on the Crusaders' 20-yard line. C. Hess circled around the right end and added another Tiger touchdown. The kick failed with the scoreboard reading 35-8.

Things started going the Crusaders' way after that. Their first drive of the half picked up 5 first downs and 65 yards to a TD. The PAT conversion was good and the score changed 35-16.

Tyler Street successfully kicked an inside kick, taking possession on the 50. They were able to move the ball to the Tigers' 8-yard line before running out of downs. The Tigers moved out to the 25 to start the final quarter. Two quarterback sacks forced a punt. The punt only went 4 yards, giving the visitors possession on the 14-yard line. Several short plays took the ball to the 2, from there another Crusader touchdown. The passed extra point counted and the score was 35-24.

Dangelmayr returned the kick 25 yards. The next play, Beyer picked up another 22 yards. Things were looking up for the Tigers, but three plays later, the Crusaders picked off a pass and returned it 30 yards for 6 points. The PAT failed and Tyler Street closed the gap 35-30.

The Tigers failed to pick up a first down on their next possession, kicking the ball to the Crusaders' 40-yard line. Eleven plays and 60 yards later, Tyler Street scored again. The extra point failed and the Crusaders led 36-35 with 2 minutes remaining in the game.

The Tigers tried one more time to score. On 2nd and 28, with 38 seconds on the clock, a pass interference call gave Sacred Heart a first down on the 40-yard line.

A delay of game pushed the Tigers back 5 yards. On the last play of the game, a 35-yard pass from Beyer to Nasche went to the 10-yard line. "We were 3 seconds short of winning the game," said Nasche. "Stevan was triple covered but fell short 10 yards as time ran out."

Chris Hess was the Tigers' leading rusher, gaining 92 yards on 19 carries. Ryan Hess gained 89 on 5 attempts. Jason Beyer completed 5 of 15 passes for 99 yards.

Sacred Heart will host the Notre Dame Knights Friday night for their first district game. The Knights were defeated last week in the district match with Lubbock Christian. Game time is 7:30 on Tiger Field.

For third consecutive year... Hornettes run away with district title

The Muenster Hornettes once again captured the title of District Champs, and are regional bound. The Hornettes have held this title since Fall of '88.

Tina Klement led the girls' team to their victory, and once again finished first, winning the district championship title. She proved to be too tough for the field as she finished the two mile course in 12:48. Tina suffered from an injury last Spring, but once again, is one of the top distance runners in the state. Hiroko Miura is Tina's greatest challenge. Hiroko finished as 2nd place medalist in 13:48. She came from Japan as an exchange student, and has shown great determination and is very competitive. "Hiroko is always down at the track after school working out, she's a great asset to the team. We expect to see Hiroko at State," replied her teammates. Cindy Culp, who has been recovering from upper respiratory infection, also gave it her all! Cindy came in fifth place, and earned an individual title to regional. Cindy is a very strong runner, and is now training hard to make up for a month of lost training. The team expects Cindy to go on to state as an individual runner. Other outstanding performances by the Muenster ladies were Cheryl Hacker, Tonya Knabe, Marcia Vogel, Amy Dankesreiter, and Marlene Hess.

All of these girls give the team a real future for years to come in cross country. "It takes a lot of determination and hard work and sweat to make a TEAM and that is what these girls give!! We are proud of you!!"

One of the varsity football players has also proven that hard work pays off. Terry Felderhoff not only plays a mean game each Friday night, but turns around and competes for a fifth place title, and is bound for regional. Other great competition was shown by Albert Knabe, Noel VanSwearingen and Corey Knabe.

Terry and the girls' team will move on to compete at the Regional level this Saturday in Arlington, at Vandergriff Park. All are welcome to come and cheer these fine athletes on. Race time is 9:00. Maps and a time schedule may be picked up in the high school office. Look for regional results in next week's Enterprise.

Muenster looks to final district game

Muenster Coach Grady Roller knows that after Friday's 87-0 massacre at Saint Jo, people aren't just asking how many, but how come?
 "I never dreamed it would be like that, it took us by surprise," said Roller. "Everything went wrong for Saint Jo. I have mixed feelings about it too."
 The Hornets' constant pressure resulted in seven fumbles and two interceptions.

Muenster took an early one-sided lead, building a 42-0 score the first quarter. "We hardly snapped the ball the first quarter, we scored on their mistakes," said Roller. Doug Hennigan took the opening kickoff 85 yards for the Hornets' first score. Rajko Jelen kicked the extra point, giving Muenster a very early 7-0 lead.

The Panthers gained a yard in two plays, then on the third, threw an interception to D. Hennigan. Starting their second drive from the 29-yard line, Mike Vogel's 11-yard gain was followed by an 18-yard touchdown run by Troy Pagel. Jelen kicked again and Muenster had a 14-point lead.

The Panthers tried again with runs by Joe Raymond and Tim Hennessey, but a third down pass was picked off by Terry Felderhoff, who ran in for another touchdown. Jelen's kick was good and the score read 21-0.

Saint Jo came up one yard short their next series, punting the ball to their 44-yard line. Penalties and an 8-yard sack left the Hornets with a first and 30. A long run by Ryan Sicking took the ball to the 19. Three plays later Mike Gobble carried the ball in from the 3. Jelen kicked, the score read 28-0.

Saint Jo fumbled on their first play of the next series. Tony Perryman covered the ball on the Saint Jo 23-yard line. On the second attempt, Pagel ran from the 15 for another touchdown. Jelen kicked, and the score was 35-0.

The Panthers again fumbled their first attempted play. Chris Kubis covered the ball just 20 yards from pay dirt. It took four plays for Muenster to score. A 3-yard run by Mike Vogel and a Jelen kick gave Muenster a 42-0 lead with 2:36 remaining in the first quarter.

"We mixed varsity and J.V.," said Roller after the realization that the Hornets were ahead by 42 points in just the first period. "I didn't want to pull the varsity completely out, we have to have the momentum for next week." The coach explained that the Hornets are still a young ball club, and he had to keep the momentum going and couldn't slack off by pulling the varsity completely out.

"We didn't do it on purpose. If we wanted to beat them that bad we would have played our J.V. earlier in the week," said the Hornets coach. "I didn't want to give the boys time off, I was just trying to keep my ball club tuned up."

Saint Jo held on to the ball with runs by freshmen T. Hennessey, Shane Dunn and Joe Reynolds going into the second quarter, but the gremlins struck again. Another loose ball, this time covered by A.J. Knabe, again put the Hornets in good field territory. It took one 35-yard run by Pagel to score. Jelen kicked and the score was 49-0 with just 15 seconds off the clock in the second quarter.

The Panthers got in three plays and booted the ball back to Muenster. The Hornets moved the ball 48 yards in 5 plays, the fifth an 18 yard touchdown run by Mike Gobble. The PAT failed and the score was 55-0.

The Panthers' next drive used over six minutes off the clock. Runs by S. Dunn, T. Hennessey, Sampson and Raymond moved the ball to the Hornets' 32-yard line before the ball went to Muenster on downs.

Three quick plays was all it took for Muenster to score again. A 79-yard run by Sicking and a Jelen kick made the score 62-0 at halftime.

The Hornets rushed for 238 yards the first quarter and 153 the second quarter and 8 touchdowns and 7 PAT kicks recorded the first half.

Saint Jo started the second half deep on their 9-yard line. Unable to escape, an attempted punt was blocked by Kody Truelsenbach for an early third quarter score. The extra point kick was blocked and Muenster led 68-0.

Bad luck hit the Panthers again when a fumbled ball the next play was covered by Brad McDaniel on the Panthers' 21-yard line. The younger Hornets took over the offense with A.J. Knabe, Chad Cheaney, Jay Hennigan, and Darren Bindel carrying the ball to the 1-yard line where the Panthers' defense held, giving possession back to Saint Jo.

The Panthers ran six plays, failing to pick up a second first down, and punted the ball to the Hornets. Mike Vogel took one play 18 yards for another score. The Hornets led 74-0.

The Panthers' next play was once again fumbled, covered by Rodney Vogel.

Two plays later Shane Dunn covered a loose ball, giving the ball back to Saint Jo going into the final period.

After three attempts the Panthers kicked the ball over to the Hornets. Four plays later Muenster scored again. An 18-yard run by Gobble and a Jelen kick gave a 81-0 score.

Again Raymond and T. Hennessey attempted to move the ball, but the Panthers turned the ball over on fourth down.

The next play Jay Hennigan ran 40 yard to score again. Cheaney's PAT kick failed and with 7:04 remaining in the game the score read 87-0.

The Panthers again fumbled the kickoff, giving the ball to Muenster. Runs by Brad McDaniel, Kelly Colwell and Paul Black failed to gain a first down, returning the ball to the Panthers.

Mike Hogan attempted several passes and Sampson, Dunn and Raymond ran the ball, using up the remaining time on the clock.

The Hornets gained only 38 yards the third quarter and 63 the fourth for a total of 131 second half yards.

Ryan Sicking led the Hornets rushing attack with 132 yards on 14 carries. Mike Vogel followed with 97 and Troy Pagel with 91.

Saint Jo rushing was led by Shane Dunn with 42 yards. Joe Raymond gained 37, Chris Sampson 31 and Tim Hennessey 24 yards.

Recovering fumbles for the Hornets were Albert Knabe 2, and Tony Perryman, Chris Kubis, Brad McDaniel, Rodney Vogel and Ryan Sicking with one apiece.

"I hope there's not too many hard feelings about the game," said Roller. "But you can't hurt your ball club to save someone else a little bit of grief. We could have scored more, but we didn't, we just played football." Coach Roller uses for an example of his reason "...It's like a distance runner in a track meet, he's well ahead of a second place runner, you can't tell him to slow down so the other guy doesn't look bad."

"I've been beat by over 60 points, you can't let it bother you, you just have to play ball," concluded the coach.

Muenster faces the Era Hornets for their final district match. The outcome of the game should determine the district championship.

Era, still undefeated this season, defeated district contender Lindsay last week 13-7. "Lindsay played a heck of a ball game, but Era took advantage of Lindsay's mistakes to win," said Roller.

The Muenster coach believes Era has more speed, but Muenster will try to set that off with their overall size. "It's going to be one of those games where the team with the least mistakes will win."

Roller's looking forward to a good week in practice and said the team's been looking forward to this game since the Lindsay game.

"We're trying to build a good ball club from little experience. We need to keep our momentum up going against a tough team like Era," concluded the coach. Game time is 7:30 at Muenster's field.

Contest breaks record

Are the games getting easier to pick or the contestants getting better at choosing? Either way, last week's Pigskin Picks had the best scores of the season. Tim Ratliff won the weekly prize, with just one miss; he picked Sacred Heart to win. Doug Stoffels and Neil Huchton finished with 21 correct guesses, with Doug taking 2nd place with a tiebreaker score of 66-0. Neil picked Muenster to win 48-0.

Picking 20 games correctly were Barbie Barnhill, Tim Bindel, Tim Felderhoff, Benny Haverkamp and Bonnie Stoffels. Nine contestants picked 19, while 8 picked 18 with the lowest score 12.

Everyone picked Muenster to win over Saint Jo and Bonham over Whitesboro. Only one missed the Valley View win and SMU's loss. Three missed Texas Tech's loss while 4 were wrong on the Era, Nebraska, Louisiana State and A&M victories.

Sixteen contestants picked Sacred Heart to beat Tyler Street, with 14 thinking the Cowboys could win. The most missed game, Missouri's loss to Oklahoma State, was incorrectly picked by 33 entrants.

Forty contestants are in the running for the season payoff. Next week's Enterprise will offer season percentages, revealing the top contenders. Last week's winners picked up their prize money at Hennigan's Auto, the tiebreaker sponsor.

Little Reds earn 4th victory

The Muenster junior high Hornets used the tough running of Jason Hubbard, Jason Huchton and Cody Sicking behind the blocking of the offensive line, to defeat the Saint Jo Cubs 22-6 last Thursday evening.

"We were able to control the ball for most of the game," said Coach Tim Ratliff. The coach credited Maurus Hacker, Brad Knabe, Jeff Walterscheid and Jerry Reed as defensive standouts.

Muenster scored their first touchdown in the first quarter by Jason Hubbard. Hubbard also ran the 2-point conversion, giving the Reds an 8-0 score.

Cory Cain scored in the second quarter on a quarterback sneak. Hubbard again added two, giving Muenster a 16-0 halftime lead.

The third period remained scoreless, but a returned intercepted pass by Cain in the fourth quarter extended the lead to 22-0.

Saint Jo scored late in the final quarter to make the final 22-6.

The junior high Hornets will finish the season Thursday night at Era. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

Cubs win over Tyler Street

The Sacred Heart Cubs found out how good they can be when they hosted the Tyler Street Crusaders last Friday evening.

"Tyler Street was big," said Coach John Nasche. "They were the most talented team we've played all season. It was incredible how the boys pulled out the win, even after we were down late in the game."

Neil Berres kicked for Sacred Heart to start the ballgame. Tyler Street started near midfield. On their second play they ran 51 yards for an early touchdown. The extra point run failed and the Cubs trailed 6-0 with a minute ticked off the clock.

Each team had possession of the ball twice during the rest of the quarter, with no one able to gain 10 yards. Trent Truelsenbach carried the ball twice for 5 yards and three passes gained 1 yard for the Cubs the first period.

Sacred Heart started the next period near midfield. Runs by Truelsenbach, John Klement, and Jason Hess took the ball to the 36-yard line. A pass run from J. Hess to Berres put the Cubs on the scoreboard halfway through the quarter. The PAT run failed and the game was tied 6-6.

The young Crusaders ran the ball back to the Cubs' 31 on the kick. On their second pass attempt, the receiver ran into the end zone. A motion penalty brought the ball back to the 36-yard line. Tyler Street moved to the 17-yard line when Brandon Bayer caused and covered a fumbled ball on Sacred Heart's 20-yard line.

Two plays later the Cubs turned the ball back over to the Crusaders. The young Tigers' defense held, giving Tyler Street a 7-yard loss, taking over on their 35-yard line with 14 seconds remaining in the half. Again Jason Hess hit Neil Berres for a touchdown. The 2-point conversion failed and the Cubs took a 12-6 lead going into the half.

The Cubs took the second quarter kick at their 20-yard line. Klement, Truelsenbach, and Berres moved the ball into Crusader territory before losing possession on a fumbled ball. Tyler Street lost yardage on the next series, forcing a punt. Sacred Heart, starting on their 35, moved the ball to the Crusaders' 32, when the ball was fumbled again. From their 36 the visitors moved 25 yards, backwards, before completing a touchdown pass. With 2:12 left in the game, the score was tied 12-12.

The Cubs, starting on the Crusaders 28, took their first play, another pass from Hess to Berres, into the end zone. The PAT failed and the Cubs led 18-12 with 1:54 remaining in the game.

Jason Hess intercepted a Crusader pass to stop any threat from the visitors. The Cubs' offense ate up the remaining 1:25 in the game.

"The future looks bright for Sacred Heart football," said Nasche, "as long as Jason Hess and Neil Berres play together." Hess threw for over 100 yards to Berres in the game. Even though they were outsized, the offensive line did an outstanding job pass-blocking.

The Cubs will play their last game Friday, Nov. 2 against Notre Dame. Game time is 5:00 p.m.

Lindsay loses struggle with Era

"We played extremely well, the boys gave it their all," said Lindsay Coach Pat Benton. The Knights lost 7-13 to Era. "We beat them on the boards, they got the breaks, we didn't and they came out on top."

Era took the opening kick on their 13-yard line. Runs by Dillon Enderby and Cy Binder gained only 6 yards from Lindsay's tough defense, forcing the Hornets to punt.

From their 45, runs by Ronnie Dieter and a pass from Scott Hermes to Patrick Corcoran took the Knights to the Hornets' 13-yard line, taking approximately 5 minutes off the clock. On first and ten a fine run by Dieter put the Knights on the scoreboard. A PAT kick by S. Hermes gave Lindsay a 7-0 lead with 4:56 remaining in the first quarter.

Era started their next drive on their 20-yard line. A 25-yard run by Nathan Potts assisted the Hornets in earning two first downs. Lindsay defense held at the 40 and Era chose to punt.

The Knights started the next series deep on their 10-yard line going into the second quarter. Moving out to the 40, Era stopped the drive, taking possession after a punt. Both teams punted the ball over again, but Era's next drive was stopped when Fred Hughes picked off a Jeff Young pass. Lindsay played out the remaining 3 minutes and 22 seconds of the half, moving to the 2-yard line. The Knights' threat was stopped by twelve Hornets as the half ended 7-0.

The Knights took the second half kick, getting in seven plays before giving the ball to the Hornets. Era started their drive on their 47-yard line, moving to the Knights' 27, before being pushed backward by a determined Lindsay defense. Pat Schully and Jeff Hermes stopped Young for a loss. The next play J. Hermes and Chris Hanks pushed Enderby back another 2 on third down. Tommy Huchoen, assisted by Schully and J. Hermes, sacked Young for an 11-yard loss.

The Knights, working from the Hornets' 20, fumbled the ball. The recovered ball by Pacer Lee gave the Hornets possession 7 yards from pay dirt. Two runs by Enderby and a PAT kick by Potts tied the game 7-7 with 2:40 left in the third period.

Two runs, a 12-yard gain by Dieter and an 18-yarder by J. Hermes moved Lindsay down the field. An intercepted pass stopped the Knights' drive, giving Era the ball on the Lindsay 40-yard line. The Hornets moved the ball to the 15, topped by a 27-yard run by Young. From the 15, a fake field goal attempt failed and Lindsay took over on the 14.

The Knights used three minutes off the clock, but were stopped at mid-field by the Era defense. On fourth and 9, Cy Binder returned the Knights' punt 87 yards for a Hornet touchdown. Pott's extra point attempt was blocked and Era took a 13-7 lead with 6 minutes remaining in the game.

The Knights gained no yardage their next drive, and booted the ball to Era. The Hornets moved the ball to mid-field when a loose ball was covered by Jesse Barnes. The next play Lindsay threw an interception to Jorge Rodriguez, giving possession right back to the Hornets with two minutes on the clock.

Era kept possession to the final seconds, giving Lindsay one last desperation play, which was picked off by.....

"The loss was the hardest I've ever been associated with," said Benton. "This has been our year to hit the bad breaks."

Lindsay defense was led by Chris Hanks, Patrick Schully, Ronnie Dieter, Jeff Hermes and Herb Price.

Ronnie Dieter led the Knights' defense, gaining 84 yards on 17 carries. Jesse Barnes and Jeff Hermes earned 21 yards on 7 carries each. Lindsay receiver Pat Corcoran caught two passes for 53 yards while Chris Hanks completed one for 38 yards.

Cy Binder was the leading rusher for the Hornets, gaining 88 yards on 15 attempts. Nathan Potts carried for 48 yards with Dillon Enderby and Jeff Young adding 27 and 21 yards.

Lindsay will host Collinsville for their last home game Friday night. The game is a must win for Lindsay. If Muenster and Collinsville beat Era, there would be a two-way tie for 2nd place.

"We'll have to play hard," said Coach Benton. "We haven't lost at home all season, we have that going for us." Benton believes the Pirates are the best 2-4 team around. Game times 7:30.

Collinsville overpowers Sacred Heart JV 68-18

Sacred Heart's junior varsity Tigers played a large Collinsville team last Thursday night. The Tigers were down 12-22 at half, and after a third quarter 18-30 score "We fell apart. We couldn't keep up with them," said Sacred Heart Coach John Nasche. Nasche commented that a knee injury to Willie Hess late in the second quarter slowed the team.

Scott Hennigan scored on a 3-yard power run for Sacred Heart's first touchdown. Hennigan was leading rusher with 75 yards.

A bright spot in the game came during the second quarter when Martin McCoy ran a kick back 85 yards behind "The Wall" for a touchdown. "I'm proud of the way the JV picked up the wall and

Quail counts down for most of Texas

AUSTIN - August quail counts were so bad across the state that Texas Parks and Wildlife Department personnel recounted routes again in September. The results were somewhat improved but this year's season is not expected to be any better than last year's.

Quail season is Nov. 3 through Feb. 24 statewide. Bag limit is 15 per day with a possession limit of 45.

"Our August counts were among the lowest on record," said Don Wilson, quail program leader. "We didn't think they could have been that bad, so we counted again in September."

After the recount, the Rolling Plains improved 55 percent and the Cross Timbers region was up 35 percent, but South Texas numbers were even lower than August counts.

A definite answer cannot be given on the upcoming season because officials aren't sure why the counts were so low. Good winter rainfall and a decent spring presented ideal conditions before a hot, dry June, he said. "Even the vegetation was dry, but still, we had a lot of screening cover for chicks and a lot of insects. Then, in July, we had all kinds of rain."

In the Rolling Plains, the eastern side of the Panhandle and east of Abilene look to have the best prospects of that region. "Where they've had rain, it looks like they'll have at least a fair quail crop," he said.

To the west, the Trans-Pecos area could be in for a bad year.

executed as well as they did," said the Tiger coach. Sacred Heart's third touchdown came when Werner Becker tipped a pass to Kelly Bayer. Bayer ran 30 yards for the score.

The Tigers lost their last game 68 to 18. "Even though we weren't real successful this season, I'm pleased with the boys. Every player got a lot of experience," said Coach Nasche. "Most of their learning came from their mistakes, helping them improve for varsity competition."

Junior varsity standouts for the season included Darren Klement, Scott Hennigan, Willie Hess, Martin McCoy, Arnie Hess, Mark Flusche, Jeremy Bayer, Jordan Bayer, and Werner Becker. Others showing lots of improvement were Tommy Greathouse, Darren Hess, Kelly Bayer, Weldon Bayer, Albert Hennigan, Jody Fleitman, Aaron Berres and Jason Hofbauer.

Talent Identification Program offered to Sacred Heart School grade 7

Duke University has established a program to identify and encourage the very bright and intellectually gifted at an early stage in their development. Their goal is to follow and nurture the student's talents through the critical middle and high school years. The program is titled T.I.P., Talent Identification Program. The program focuses on the seventh grade. Qualification is by scoring in the top 3 percent of the nation on standardized achievement tests in either verbal or mathematical areas. After initial qualification, the students take either the ACT or the SAT. These tests are normally taken by college-bound juniors and seniors. While the tests are far too difficult for the average seventh grader, they have been shown to be helpful in discriminating the abilities of very bright seventh graders. Once this has been done, the students continue to receive follow-up information and material throughout their high school years. In addition, this information is shared with other universities and often results in increased college admission opportunities and scholarships.

Sacred Heart has qualified five students for this outstanding national program. They are Michael Becker, Nicole Endres, Vanessa Felderhoff, John Klement, and Jake McCoy. Congratulations on your outstanding achievement.

close look at their community college's physical plant. First-time visitors may be surprised - pleasantly we hope - at the scope and quality of the facilities.

Dedication of the new Library caps an 18-month process of design work, actual construction, furnishing and moving in that was begun with approval by county voters of a $1.2 million tax bond issue in May 1988. Included in this phase of the three-phase project was a badly needed new 100-space parking lot.

The bond issue also financed major renovation of a building which formerly housed the wood-working and auto body repair shops into what is now the Electronics & Technology Design building. College officials say the transformation of this building is remarkable and is a definite "must-see" for visitors.

Special demonstrations of computer-aided drafting (CAD) technology and electronic diagnostic equipment will be given for visitors to this building.

Phase three of the tax bond-financed project will be remodeling of the old library into a general purpose classroom building to be called the Mary Josephine Cox Academic Center. This work, which could not begin until the move to the new building was completed, is in its initial stages and is targeted for completion in December.

The new $500,000 Community Education & Cosmetology building was financed by revenue bonds rather than tax bonds, with revenues coming from user fees and an increase in tuition charged to out-of-district students.

A number of special activities are scheduled in this building for the open house, including a display of ceramic pieces made in the specially designed art room which contains pottery wheels and kilns, as well as a demonstration of computer-based learning programs in the fully equipped computer lab.

The building's spacious new cosmetology lab, one of the largest in North Texas, will also be open to visitors.

An add-on to the front of the Administration & Student Center building to house a new Registrar's Office, extensive renovation of the Snack Bar area and relocation and remodeling of a number of Student Services and administrative offices are but a few examples of more than $250,000 worth of additional remodeling and repair work done recently at CCC and paid for out of a special reserve fund set up four years ago.

Another example is the college's newly expanded Nursing Lab where, thanks to additional resources provided through a grant, students can practice clinical skills in a simulated state-of-the-art hospital room. CCC vocational nursing students will be on hand in this facility to provide free blood pressure checks to visitors.

"When I talk to Cooke County residents about 'their' community college, I mean it quite literally," said Dr. Joyner. "In every sense of the word, it is 'owned' by the citizens of the county because their tax dollars built it, and their tax dollars continue to support the maintenance and upkeep of all college buildings and grounds."

This, he pointed out, is a key difference between the state's public community colleges and its public four-year colleges and universities.

"We are prohibited by law from using any of our state appropriations for buildings and grounds," Dr. Joyner explained. "These are solely the responsibility of the local district, and I know of no other district where the citizens have taken this responsibility more seriously to heart. The almost two-to-one vote in favor of the bond issue, despite a less than favorable economic climate, is an undeniable indicator of that."

"Yes, this campus truly does belong to the citizens of Cooke County, and we're hoping that everyone who can will take this opportunity to come and go through the buildings they've helped to build."
