Judge Underwood quits

County Judge Greg Underwood resigned from office Monday following four and a half years of service to the county. He made his announcement after the regular meeting of the county commissioners but will remain on duty until the end of budget considerations for the county in 1981. Presumably that job will be finished soon.

Reasons for resigning, Underwood said, were family concerns as well as devoting more time to law practice and business interests. He will move into a new law office across from the courthouse.

A successor to the judge will be appointed by the remaining four members of the commissioners court, and he will serve until the general election in November.

Underwood came to office by appointment on December 10 succeeding Larry Sullivan, who was named judge of the 235th District, and he was elected in 1978.

His parting message praised Cooke County commissioners as the best in the state, thanked them for cooperation, said he enjoyed every day of working with them, and assured continued support of ideals which benefit the people of the county.

Among highlights of his tenure Underwood named creation of Cooke County Emergency Medical Service, progress in rural fire protection, setting up the Housing Finance Corporation and Cooke County Development Authority, and numbering county roads. He discounted importance of the new county jail, saying the county had little choice in the matter.

Harvest Hoedown plans shaping

This year's Harvest Hoedown will be more than a city-wide sales event, according to plans which started taking shape at Tuesday's Chamber of Commerce meeting. The event is dated for Saturday, September 19 headed by Larry Kinard and Dr. Bernard Luke as co-chairmen.

The day will be primarily for business people and all are invited to join in sales promotions. However the Chamber's function is to offer attractions that are intended to encourage attendance.

Among the ideas under consideration are providing a tent for display of arts, crafts and hobbies with no rental charge and no commission on sales, closing a portion of the street, engaging the Coors one-man-band and other musical entertainment, scatter tokens that can be redeemed as prizes, and promote specials on eats and drinks.

Details are not settled but those are ideas which hopefully will be developed in time for the hoedown. An added thought is offering a prize to the merchant whose displays are judged best for the success of the Hoedown.

Another Chamber goal is to join the city in seeking removal of an old neglected building on Main Street... if possible before the Hoedown.

The Chamber also took notice and approved, of the little park at Main and First.

Staff is complete at Muenster High

Just barely before the opening date, Muenster Public School made the final addition to its teaching staff. Alan Gustine will be the head coach in boys basketball and will assist in football and girls' basketball and teach science, driver education and PE.

A native of Ardmore, he is a graduate of Plainview High School of that city. He received a BS degree in 1980 from Southeastern Oklahoma State University with a major in PE and minors in science and social continued on page 3...

Public School enrolls Aug. 14 and holds open house Aug. 17

Students of Muenster Public School will register Friday, August 14, between the hours of 9 and 11 a.m. Buses will run their regular routes in time to arrive before 9 a.m. and again after 11 in time to get the students home in time for the noon meal.

The first class is next Monday, the 17th, and four more regular class days will follow before teachers have three days of in-service duty while students get three more days of vacation.

The first class day will end with an open house, 7 to 9 p.m., to which a district-wide invitation has been extended by the administration and teachers, who are eager to show the extensive improvements made during the summer. The overall job in all areas of the school is by far the biggest since the school was built in 1950.

The first attention getter is the high school corridor where the original tile was stripped off the floors and replaced by new vinyl tile. Also, walls have a coat of epoxy paint, doors are restained, lockers repainted and fluorescent lights installed.

Classrooms likewise received the new look. Ceilings were lowered to nine feet and acoustical tile with fluorescent lights were installed, and a 4 inch layer of insulation was spread over the ceilings. In addition the walls got a new coat of paint. The project in elementary was less complete, omitting the kindergarten and two elementary rooms which were added a few years ago. However other classrooms and the halls received new paint.

Still other areas favored were the band room the woodworking shop the ag department, the field house and gym. The band room and shop have acoustical tile and fluorescent ceiling besides paint and equipment. Shop additions include new saws, planes and lathes. The agriculture room has new lights and new paint is coming. The field house has new paint and new lockers are coming.

A news report a few nights ago showed air traffic controllers being joined by a few dozen sympathetic members of other unions. About the time the big hassle was simmering down those people decided to stir it some more.

Their action under union encouragement is understandable. It's a matter of sticking together, or perhaps avoiding unpleasanties if they fail to stick together. But deep down in their hearts those people must realize that neither their strike nor their support is justified. As a result they may eventually realize they have done more harm than good. Most of the country already resents the strikers' attitude, and it's also going to resent this support from other union members.

The whole thing is plainly a matter of greed. People who are already overpaid are told they can get more even though they are not entitled to it. Just consider, they average more than $32,000 a year for a 40-hours-per-week job, which amounts to more than $15 per hour for white collar work in air conditioned comfort and complete safety. The only complaint they have been crying about is tenseness.

Compared with most other workers around the country the air controllers have a picnic. Consider the millions of people who work outside - farmers, oil field workers, construction men, armed service personnel, etc. They work in hot and cold, get less pay for more hours, encounter more danger and probably as much tenseness. And how about small business owners? They too get less pay for more hours and constantly face the risk of loss in fire, storm or what not.

Nevertheless the controllers did not brother to count their blessings. Instead they insist on a pay raise of $10,000 and work reduction to 32 hours a week. They and their unions along with all of the country surely must know their demands are unreasonable.

For that kind of behavior they deserve to be fired even though there are no laws applying to such an offense. However another law forbids striking against the government. President Reagan was completely correct in denouncing the strike as illegal, and he was completely justified in saying that those who strike have automatically fired themselves from their jobs. The nation admires his judgement and courage.

This could be the beginning of avoiding future strikes by government employees. After all, why should the public be penalized while a few hard headed negotiators refuse to come to terms? There is no reason why workers should not stay on the job while representatives of the two sides make the decision.

Most workers would like this idea. Experience has shown many times that they lose in a strike. The gain in pay seldom makes up for time lost off the job. Besides the inflationary effect soon wipes out the strike's gains. While the government's deficit spending has been a big factor in rising prices, the escalating wage scale has been another obvious cause.

It's highly important that the President insist on strict observance of the ban on strikes by government workers. Where public safety and need are concerned the worker has no moral or legal right to quit his job. This applies to police, firemen, soldiers, sailors...and air traffic controllers. Without official control, strikes could lead to chaos.

An unexpected benefit of the traffic controllers strike could be a gain in net continued on page 2...

Sacred Heart School enrolls 240 students

Enrollment at Sacred Heart School this year is 240, according to a report from Principal Stephen Beyer after registrations ended on Monday. This represents a decline of 23 from last year's 263.

The elementary department has 160, as compared with 164 last year, and the high school has 80, a drop of 19 since 1980.

Enrollment by classes is listed as follows. Kindergarten 18, first 19, second 23, third 16, fourth 13, fifth 19, sixth 18, seventh 16, eighth 18, ninth 17, tenth 19, eleventh 25, twelfth 19.

Total enrollment for the community will not be available until the public school's registration Friday. Combined counts of the two schools will be published next week.

Tiger roster has 29 players

Sacred Heart football started on a high note Monday morning when twenty nine eager Tigers reported to Coaches Father Stephen Eckart and Virgil Henscheid for their first workout of the season.

It was a pleasant and encouraging practice, Henscheid said. The boys worked hard, their attitude was fine, and they were in good condition after shaping up on their own during the summer with road work and the weights. Henscheid is confident that they will have a good team but adds that a tough season may hurt the average.

Twenty of the players are carry overs from last year, five are freshmen and three did not play before. They are somewhat lighter than the 1980 team and about equal in speed.

The indication is that they will likely have a junior varsity team along with the first string. The feeling is that assignments to varsity and reserves will leave enough boys to make another team. If so, the answer will be known in a few weeks.

Team personnel are listed as follows: Seniors: Brian Herr, Curtis Hesse, Hal Mollenkopf and Mark Miller.

Sophomores: Neil Hesse, Ron Dangelmayr, Jim Bartush, Mark Hesse, Nicky Hess, Troy Yosten and Duane Haverkamp.

Freshmen: Kyle Walterscheid, Brent Walterscheid, Tim Knabe, Stephen Schmitt and Chris Dangelmayr.

City purchases Library building

The Muenster Public Library now has a home of its own. The City Council, in special session Monday night, bought the building from the Myrick Estate for $25,000. Heretofore the space has been rented at $150 a month.

The building was constructed in the early thirties by the late Dr. T.S. Myrick, the lower floor used for a pharmacy and the upper floor for a clinic and hospital.

Muenster Library has been serving the area since 1959. Originally it occupied one room in the city hall, then a partition was removed to enlarge the space. Next it was housed for a few years in a building owned by the late Joe Luke. It has been in the present location since 1970.

The latest contribution to Muenster's appearance is now in process as the Jaycees provide a water well for watering lawns and shrubbery at the city park. It is located west of the swimming pool. The entire installation, including drilling, pipe and pump, is being paid for by the Jaycees. Staff Photo

City invests $93,000 in paving project

The City of Muenster is in the process of getting more than $93,000 worth of street improvement. Some $12,000 of that amount applies to two projects of new pavement, the remaining $81,000 to resurfacing some 22 blocks of existing pavement. Work is being done by Luke Construction Co. of Gainesville.

New pavement consists of one block on Fifth, Hickory to Sycamore, and approximately 4 blocks on Cherry Lane, 9th to FM 373. The work consists of base work followed by a primer coat and two courses of hot asphalt and gravel. Resurfacing will start with repairing holes and broken down edges, etc., then following with one course of primer, asphalt and gravel. After resurfacing the 22 blocks, the city intends to make other repairs where needed as far as their money will go.

Streets to be resurfaced are Elm, Third to Seventh; Maple, Sixth to Seventh; Sixth, Maple to Elm; Oak, Highway to Fifth; First, Main to Oak; Third, Main to Oak; Pecan, Fourth to Sixth; Fourth, Pecan to Hickory; Hickory, Highway to Sixth.

27 Report for MHS football

Twenty seven Hornets reported to Coaches Leonard Peters, Charles Meurer and Alan Gustine Monday morning at 7:30 in this year's first practice of Muenster High football.

The number has the coaches guessing about possibilities for a junior high team. After assigning eleven and a few replacements to the varsity they will be short of manpower for the second team. Up to now Coach Peters has not made a decision. He's just sweating it out, hoping that more boys will join and make the decision easier.

However, he feels he has quality if not quantity. The crew is headed by nine of last year's juniors with benefit of experience and weight, and next in line are five juniors and two sophomores. Finally there are ten freshmen who hopefully will bring better than average ability from last year's strong junior high bunch.

Another factor is enthusiasm. The boys started the season with a great attitude, ready to adopt the team's slogan of a winning team.

Boys who reported are

Freshmen: Ronnie Fisher, David Winn, Neil Flusche, Leslie Wells, Kevin Wolf, Mark Hoenig, Tim Fleeman, Craig Monday, Keith Klement, Darwin Sicking and Bob Youngblood.

Stark elected secretary

Richard S. Stark of Gainesville has been elected secretary of the statewide organization of attorneys who represent rural electric systems. The action came during the annual meeting of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives August 3-5 in Austin. More than 600 rural electric leaders and ladies representing Texas' 83 rural electric systems registered for the sessions. The systems serve more than 800,000 farms, ranches, and other rural enterprises and homes in all but nine of Texas' 254 counties.

Stark has been legal counsel for Cooke County Electric Cooperative, Muenster, since 1960. He's a native of Wichita Falls. He attended Gainesville public schools and North Texas State University. He completed requirements for his law degree at Baylor University in 1951. He was admitted to the State Bar of Texas that year. He's past president of both the Cooke County and North Texas bar associations. He's also a fellow of the Texas Bar Foundation.

Stark served in the Texas House of Representatives 1951-54 and as city attorney of Gainesville 1945-58 and for Saint Jo since 1968. He and his wife Jane are parents of four children: Tom, Dave, Holly, and Lucy Lea.

If you asked the average person what type of government we have in America, in all probability the answer would be: "a democracy." I'm sure the Founding Fathers would be appalled to hear such a response.

In pre-civilization times man lived under the "law of the jungle." Man's life, liberty and property were threatened by the predator who simply took what he wanted, able to do so because he was stronger.

When it finally dawned upon man that he could organize with a few of his fellows, and in the process gain the necessary strength to protect his rights, he was faced with the choice of which type of organization. Throughout recorded history he has tried them all: monarchy, theocracy, oligarchy, democracy and republics. Now and then man even flirted with anarchy.

During the American Revolution, the Founders were faced with these same choices and examined the various forms of government, even considering monarchy. Some wanted Washington to accept the crown of the new nation.

But the most serious discussion took place over whether the new nation would be a democracy or a republic. The Founders were learned men; they knew world history. Consequently, they knew the history of democracies and were determined to prevent the government of the United States from ever turning into one.

In a speech Alexander Hamilton said, "The ancient democracies in which the people themselves deliberated never possessed one good feature of government. Their very character was tyranny..."

Samuel Adams warned: "Remember, Democracy never lasts long. It soon wastes, exhausts and murders itself! There never was a democracy that 'did not commit suicide.'"

And the "Father of the Constitution," James Madison, wrote: "...democracies have ever been spectacles of turbulence and contention; have ever been found incompatible with personal security, or the rights of property; and have in general been as short in their lives as they have been violent in their deaths."

The Declaration of Independence, the basic document of this Nation's history, does not contain the word "democracy."

The Constitution of the United States of America, the fundamental law of the land which outlines the structure of our government, is intentionally silent on the term, precisely because the Founders were totally opposed to democracy.

What form of government did they give us? As he left Independence Hall in September 1787 after having completed drafting and signing the Constitution, that question was asked of Benjamin Franklin. He replied: "A Republic — if you can keep it."

The Founders knew that every republic contains within it the seeds of its own destruction. They attempted to make the germination of such seeds exceedingly difficult by building into the structure of our government several anti-majoritarian devices. Unfortunately, we have been eliminating them, one by one, through the amendment process, in our gradual march toward the tyranny of democracy over the past 70 years.

The Founders gave us a Republic, not a democracy. It would behoove us to strengthen the republican form rather than continue to turn it into a democracy.

All segments of society must shoulder up to the overall responsibility of getting inflation and spending under control.

Where then do we begin? We begin by recognizing first the sheer folly of an agricultural policy that makes it possible for anyone to buy agricultural products below the cost of production. Secondly, we must recognize that sound agricultural policy need not require large government expense.

Let me explain both statements by taking our current wheat crop as an example: The average cost of production for a bushel of wheat in 1980 is $5.02. On my own farm in Jones County, the cost was about $4.20 per bushel and in the most efficient growing areas of the nation it is somewhere between $3.60 and $3.80. Yet current farm policy has resulted in the pricing of wheat the first month of this marketing year at $3.67 per bushel.

Exporting wheat at less than the cost of production to the Soviet Union, for instance, is not only unsound economically for the farmer who grew that wheat, but since current farm policy includes target prices that require the U.S. Treasury to make up the difference between actual market price and the $3.80 per bushel target price, it is unsound economic policy for the nation as a whole.

A sounder concept, in my opinion, would be to set loan rates at a higher level. That would encourage farmers to store their grain until prices increase, at little or no cost to the federal government, stabilizing both market supplies and, therefore, market prices.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The 17th Congressional District of Texas sprawls from the diversified agricultural production areas of Cooke, Wise and Parker counties to the east; to the South Plains, where cotton remains king; from wheat country in the northern counties, to the dairy and peanut counties of Eastland, Erath and Comanche in the south.

Scattered throughout the area are some of the nation's most productive areas for grain sorghum, cattle and hogs, with a scattering of sheep and goats and poultry. All combine to make agriculture the largest employer, taxpayer and income producing industry in the District.

For that reason, as well as my 20-year background in the industry, I chose the Agriculture Committee as my first choice of assignments in Congress. It has historically been a troubled industry and, with passage of this year's farm legislation (in its current form) I'm sorry to say I do not believe the situation will improve rapidly.

My commitment to the agricultural industry remains unchanged: To support legislation that will provide for increased profitability for production. In light of current budgetary restraints, I'll be the first to admit that that is a tall order. The agricultural budget in 1972 was $5.3 billion and, before we even began cutting this year's federal spending, the agriculture budget was down to $4.4 billion, not taking inflation into consideration at all.

That spells real trouble for all segments of the industry, all across the nation. We are cutting into muscle — not fat — in agricultural spending this year. But agriculture could not be exempted from budget cuts.

venue for the airlines. When people walked off the job the control crew consisted only of the few who refused to strike and administrative personnel. Flight companies cut down their operation accordingly for the sake of safety. The result was more business per flight and big savings on the eliminated flights. It is possible that airlines, which have been struggling, will come out of this hassle with a more profitable operation.

Another likely effect is that the number of air traffic controllers will be reduced considerably. The report now is that they were overstaffed and replacement crews will be smaller.

An interesting sidelight: those jobs, which air traffic controllers claim required too much work for too little pay, look very good to lots of other people. Thousands have applied for them.

34 Sacred Heart students join national honor society

The Society of Distinguished American High School Students announced that 34 students from Sacred Heart High School are to be included in its membership for 1981.

This Society, one of the most selective high school honoraries in America today, accepts only students nominated by their sponsors. To be nominated, students must excel in academics, extracurricular, or civic activities.

Students awarded this honor include: Diann Caplinger, Marceline Bartel, Angie Bartush, Virginia Bartush, Jamie Moster, Sherie Felderhoff, Brenda Henscheid, Tammy Henscheid, Kirk Mollenkopf, Shellee Walterscheid, Kath Koch, Mark Miller.

Hal Mollenkopf, Sherri Muller, Donna Truebenback, Sharon Voth, Carol Walterscheid, Jenny Felderhoff, Gene Fuhrman, Judy Gonsalves, Alfred Hennigan, Brian Herr.

Tim Voth, Susie Felderhoff, Cheryl BAYER, Laurie Endres, Karla Hartman, Darrell Herr, Janet Hesse, Christi Rohmer, Curtis Rohmer, Greg Walterscheid, Theodore Walterscheid, Wade Walterscheid.

The student's sponsor, Sr. Carmelita Myers received a National Appreciation Award from the Society for "being dedicated to the encouragement and assistance of students". One of the Society's goals is to make membership an encouragement for top performance on the secondary school level.

Unique in concept, the Society has combined this honor with its National Awards Program which earmarks college scholarships for Society members. This program, now in its thirteenth year, is funded by over 100 American colleges. It also preserves the honor by listing the students and their biographies in an annual Membership Registry.

Wildlife thrives on conservation

Wildlife is a product of the soil, trees, grass and grain and is an important agricultural crop. Since the same land that supports our food supports the major part of our wildlife, the technologies we use in management of our farm or ranch lands inevitably have a major bearing upon the size and quality of this wildlife crop.

Because so great a percentage of our land has been fenced and plowed, the farms and ranches of today comprise the country's principal wildlife habitat. By the same token, the farmer and rancher are our principal game managers. Moreover, most of the water that supplies our lakes and streams, as well as a great deal of that which empties into the sea, drains from or across these same farm and ranch lands.

The basic requirements for wildlife species are year-round supply of food and water plus a safe place to hide, rest, roost, nest, and raise young. Neither adequate cover nor adequate food alone provides all their needs. Deer are quite selective in their food habits but they forage on many different kinds of plants when available. Deer are basically browse feeders, which is twigs, leaves, and young shoots of shrubs and trees. However, deer do not fare well on a diet entirely of browse, even though quality and availability may be good. They also require succulent forbs and grasses, especially in the spring and early summer when does are nursing fawns. Wild turkeys eat an extremely wide variety of foods. Their fare varies seasonably and includes such things as green grass, insects, grass seeds, acorns, and pecans. However, grasshoppers seem to be one their favorite foods.

of hunting pleasure in this area and the hunting season is just about upon us. Doves are associated with cropland because of their liking for weed seeds and grain. Their twice-daily excursions to water provides excellent wingshooting for hunters. Mourning doves use trees and brushy areas for cover and roosting but do not need great amounts of brush to survive. Dove usually lay 2 eggs in a period of three days. They often use an old nest that requires little or no repair. Incubation takes only 14 to 15 days and the young birds leave the nest in 14 to 16 days after hatching. Where most birds feed their young insects and worms, doves secrete in their crops a fluid known as "pigeon milk" which they feed, with seeds, to the young.

The Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District would like to remind you that when you hunt this year be careful, obey the laws, and enjoy the wildlife that God has given us.

The Forestburg Watermelon Festival is commanding the interest, time and talents of the Forestburg Young Homemakers, sponsors of the big party on August 29. It will be held in the Rodeo Arena area. Hopefully it will become an annual event, because the Young Homemakers have adopted the building of a new community center as a special project, and will direct proceeds to the building fund.

The day will begin with a parade at 10 a.m. featuring old model cars. Lunch will be served 11:30 - 1:00. There will be many booths for enjoyment of spectators, including foods, arts and crafts. There will be games for young and old. Contests include Tobacco Spitting, Watermelon Roll, Seed Spitting, and a Watermelon Eating contest. A Armory display, shoot-out, bingo, and music all day will be included.

A Fun Run is scheduled for 5 p.m. Interested participants need to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the above address, or phone 817-964-2483 or 817-964-2436.

Pageant will be held at 7 p.m., with three divisions: ages 4-7; 8-12; 13-18. Trophies and banners will be awarded to winners and all contestants will receive gifts. Contestants will be judged on appearance and intelligence. Interested participants need to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the above address, or phone 817-964-2483 or 817-964-2436.

A Country Western dance at the Forestburg Rodeo area will be held at the end of the day.

The Forestburg Watermelon Festival was advertised in the parade in Rosston when that community introduced Sam Bass Days. These children are anticipating the fun day scheduled for August 29 and are ready to enjoy the cool, crisp delights of huge slices of watermelon. Photo by Anna Kirk culent forbs and grasses, especially in the spring and early summer when does are nursing fawns.

Wild turkeys eat an extremely wide variety of foods. Their fare varies seasonably and includes such things as green grass, insects, grass seeds, acorns, and pecans. However, grasshoppers seem to be one their favorite foods.

Cover is extremely important to turkeys. They are naturally shy and although they are often seen in open fields or crossing highways, they spend most of their time in wooded or brushy areas. Turkeys like tall trees with widely spreading branches for roosting sites. They use the same roost night after night or may have several roosting areas. Turkeys are very selective in choosing nest locations. They like to hide their nest in thick cover but not too far from food and water.

Quail, too, use a wide variety of foods during the year. They feed heavily on insects during the spring and summer, but as fall approaches they become primarily seed eaters.

Because of their preference for weed seeds during much of the year, quail are often found along the margin of cropland fields, on overseeded weedy grasslands and on areas where soil disturbance results in good growth of weeds.

Even though they do much of their feeding in open areas, quail need protection nearby where they can readily seek shelter when disturbed. Quail may nest many times during the year but once they hatch one covey they will not nest again that year. Doves furnish a great deal

Karen Luttmer and Gordon Gehl wed in Tyler

The wedding of Karen Rose Luttmer and Gordon R. Gehl of Dallas was held on Saturday, August 8 at 4 p.m. in Harvey Hall in Tyler, Texas officiated by Clifford Van Sickle, uncle of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Andrew J. Luttmer of Muenster and Mrs. J.E. (Angie) Steadham of Edom, Texas. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School in Muenster and attended Richland College in Dallas. She is the manager of the Accounting Department of J.P. Everhart and Co. inc. of Dallas.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Gehl of Mt. Morris, Michigan. He is a graduate of Beecher High School in Flint, Mich. and a graduate of Ohio Institute of Technology. He is also attending Richland College in Dallas and is employed by Texas Instruments as an Electronic Technician.

The bride wore a formal wedding gown of ivory chiffon, Chantilly lace and silk floss embroidery, designed with a Victorian neckline, a sheer yoke and a lace covered bodice with tiny seed pearls traced in the detail of lace. The sheer tapered sleeves had lace embroidered cuffs. The A-line skirt was enhanced with a deep lace border and a hemline flounce of silk floss embroidery, which flowed to a chapel length train. A white Shiffli embroidered and lace derby hat with illusion veiling complemented the bride's attire.

She carried a small cascade of white and apricot roses sprinkled with a variety of spring flowers. Traditionally, for something old, she carried an old prayer book, printed in German, formerly belonging to the bride's late great-grandmother.

Attendants

Mrs. Linda Grewing, a friend of the bride was matron of honor, and Mrs. Kaye Cockrill, sister of the groom, of Clio, Michigan, Mrs. Diane Grewing and Mrs. David Reiter, both of Muenster and friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore apricot colored gowns with attached gathered capes and A-line pleated skirts and they carried hand painted lace fans with attached spring bouquets.

The flower girl was Cassana Luttmer, niece of the bride.

The best man was Jerry Knisley of Plano, a friend of the groom. The groomsmen were Perry Gabel of Linden, Michigan, David Kimball of Dallas and John Luttmer of Tyler, brother of the bride. The ushers were Richard Gehl and Pat Gehl both of Mt. Morris, Michigan, brothers of the groom and J.D. Luttmer of Richardson, brother of the bride.

Wedding music was provided by Gayle Miller, Mrs. Gary Endres and Mrs. Doyle Hess, vocalists, with guitar accompaniment.

Reception

A reception, buffet dinner and dance followed in Harvey Hall in Tyler, for 150 guests. Mrs. Peggy Cragg, sister of the groom, Mrs. Janice Luttmer and Mrs. Linda Luttmer, sisters-in-law of the bride secured signatures of guests in the bride's book.

The three tiered white wedding cake, decorated with apricot roses, and a spring bouquet on the top layer, was served by Gayle Miller and Linda Stump.

After a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colorado, the couple will be at home in Dallas.

Among wedding guests attending were Mrs. Archie Hess, Donna Hess, Betty Luttmer, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Grewing, Mr. and continued at upper right...

PHOTOS FROM THE PAST

This is Muenster's only triple wedding. Do you recognize these brides, grooms and attendants? Watch for the clue in next week's paper. The wedding was held in Sacred Heart Church in November, 1905.

Old pictures welcome for publication

The Muenster Enterprise is interested in obtaining and using pictures with local appeal.

It is not necessary that all pictures be old. What is necessary is that all pictures capture the interest of the readers. Especially sought are pictures that will recall memories for some people and will test the memory of other people.

Some subjects might show family reunion portraits, scenes of long ago, early day Muenster and neighboring towns, people of this area and their neighbors, weddings, scenes of historical interest, pioneers, old farming machinery and equipment, hobbies new and old, pictures of restored old buildings, pictures of rural areas, old Cooke County churches, schools and settlements long gone, nearby villages that have now disappeared, scenes on the Red River, "before and after" pictures, etc. etc.

All pictures submitted to The Enterprise will receive "tender loving care" and will be ready for the owners to pick up the day after appearing in The Enterprise. However, all pictures must be identified and marked by the owners. The Muenster Enterprise reserves the privilege of selecting pictures suitable for this project.

Re-viewing treasured old pictures, bringing them out of boxes, dusting them off displaying them proudly - all these practices have many advantages and fringe benefits.

One family has recently been examining old pictures found in boxes long stored in attics, and is now enjoying discovering family resemblances down through the generations.

In another family, a wedding picture found recently in a box of old photographs more than 70 years old, shows a bride who bears a striking family resemblance to her great-niece living here now.

In still another family, several old wedding pictures were found by a nephew living away from here. As a gift, he arranged to have

August Fleitmans visit in Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. August Fleitman and children vacationed this year in Madison, Wisconsin, August 3 to August 9. They were guests of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush, traveling first by bus through six states, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin.

As guests of the Bush family they met a 13 month old niece, Carol Ann Bush for the first time and showed off 4 month old Kerry Fleitman. And Randy, Jan and Melinda Fleitman enjoyed playing with Patrick, Bill and Susie Bush.

Together they toured the capitol, attended a water ski show, and went sightseeing in the area.

Between Kansas and Wisconsin, enroute and returning, they were at first envious and then dismayed seeing great areas standing in water after unusually heavy rains. And they marveled at the miles and miles of corn rows, much of it also with water standing on the fields.

On Saturday, August 8 the two families celebrated Randy Fleitman's birthday at a restaurant in Madison and began the long trip home around 4:30 p.m., reaching Gainesville Sunday night at 9 p.m. Mrs. Fleitman said they attributed the crowded buses to the air traffic controller strike.

Lucas is two

A party for his second birthday honored Lucas Dominic, the son of Roy and Irene Hartman on Friday evening, July 31, in the family home.

A "Mickey Mouse" theme was carried out in birthday cake and decorations.

His guests were his brother and sister Justin and Ashley, their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hartman and the Tom Hartmans and Tony, the Don Hartmans, the Tony Trubenbachs and Dorothy Hartman.

A special guest who came earlier to visit was Trey Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown of Gainesville. The two little boys share birthdays.

Travis and Heather have busy Summer

Travis and Heather Rainwater were guests on the ranch of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R.S. Weddle of Bonham the week of July 17 - Aug. 1. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rainwater, vacationed in Houston with her brother, Tim Weddle, and in LaSalle with college friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kulak, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Franz and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Repka.

The Rainwaters returned to Muenster August 1 and on August 4-5 attended the Weddle family reunion in Bonham.

Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Rainwater of Ballinger are visiting this week in the home of their son, Gary and family. Besides "seeing the town", a trip to the Weddle Ranch in Bonham is planned.

Klement Baptism

Baptismal services were held for Brandon Michael Klement, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Klement on Sunday, August 9. Father Denis Soerries officiated in Sacred Heart Church.

Brandon wore the traditional Christening robe. He is the 19th baby to wear the 59 year old garment handmade by the late great-grandmother, Mrs. Frank Rauschuber.

Baptismal sponsors were an uncle and aunt, Mike and Janie Hennigan. A dinner followed in the home of Brandon's parents, Roy and Carol Klement. Guests were his brother, Ryan; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vince Felderhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Klement; also the Mike Hennigans and Mindy; and Brenda Felderhoff. The table centerpiece was a decorated christening cake.

Brights visit with kin in Alabama

During a busy summer for their family, David and Juanita Bright and son James, recently took time for a visit with relatives in Anniston, Alabama, and attended several performances in connection with the annual month-long Alabama Shakespeare Festival held in Anniston.

Enroute, they stopped in Shreveport to visit his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Grover W. Bright, and in Anniston they were guests of his sister Lola Bright, and visited other brothers and sisters-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bright, Mr. and Mrs. James Bright and Mrs. Cecil Bright, and Many friends.

A special pleasure was being able to stop in Fort Worth before returning home, to visit in Harris Hospital with David and Nancy Bright and their newborn daughter, Jessica Christine, the first grandchild.

Richardsons visit Fleitman family

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. August Fleitman were her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Richardson of Shreveport, who spent Sunday here. It was the Richardsons' first visit in Muenster since their April marriage.

Joining them were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fleitman, Sr. and Tina of Muenster. They brought a special decorated cake for Randy Fleitman to help the group observe his 12th birthday a week early because the family was preparing to leave on vacation.

Fellowship and concert help at First Baptist

First Baptist Church of Muenster held a fellowship supper in honor of the Concern Singers on Sunday at 6:00 p.m. prior to their concert.

Women of the church provided covered dishes for the meal. The gospel music concert was held in the new sanctuary of the church.

Following the concert, the congregation met in the Fellowship Hall for "Sunday Night Extra", a special presentation of songs from various musicals, performed by the Concern Singers. It was a fun time for all.

The First Baptist Church of Muenster will have future concerts. Dates will be published in The Enterprise. Rev. Keith Thomas is pastor of the church; Andy Cherry is associate pastor.

Photos from the past

"This Old House", shown with the Forestburg news in last week's paper, once echoed many happy times, welcomed kith and kin and saw long years of pioneering and hard work. It stands near the Hardy Community on the Farm-to-Market Road, east of the Hartz home and, two or three generations ago was the former home of the Simeon Steen family. The land is now owned by Mrs. Tommy Mitchell, according to Mrs. Myrt Denham and Ray Jackson who helped us identify it.

Have you recognized "This Young Couple" shown two weeks ago with the Forestburg News? They are Miss "Joe" A. Perryman and Stephen Edward Denham, pictured shortly before their marriage on August 6, 1914. They became parents of Perryman Denham of Forestburg and Ina Mae Denham of Denver, Colorado. Stephen Denham was a pharmacist here when the old Dixie Drug Store was in operation. He died in August 1952 and his wife is now a resident of Belmore Home in Bowie. In the picture, the "bride-elect" was wearing a bonnet, one of her pet characteristics. She still makes bonnets. Did you notice that the cotton dress she was wearing was a pattern very similar to a shirtwaist tailored style of today?

The young couple shown on horseback in the picture used three weeks ago, are residents of Forestburg, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Reynolds. She was the former Millie Perryman. The building in the background is on what is now known as the Lester W. Boyd place.

The first picture in the Photos from the Past series was Main Street in Forestburg forty years ago. The picture is the property of Perryman Denham and was loaned to the Enterprise for this project.

How many of you Forestburgers recognize this little tyke? ---She is now 19 years old!

PUC allows 57.1 million rate increase for TP&L

According to Tom Parsons, Texas Power & Light Company manager in Gainesville, even though the Texas Public Utility Commission yesterday found the company to be revenue deficient by $88 million based on actual numbers for 1980, the PUC only authorized TP&L to increase its rates by $57.1 million.

Parsons said that when consideration is given to annualization of such adjustments as the previous rate increase (implemented in Mid-1980), the number of customers served at the end of 1980, the termination of a large industrial customer and the effects of weather, the actual rate increase will be only the $57.1 million. "We want our customers to know that the dollar figure the commission is using is unobtainable," Parsons said. "For TP&L to realize even $57.1 million, we would have to experience essentially the same summer weather conditions as in 1980 when our area had more than 60 days of 100 degree temperature and that is not normal." Under the PUC order, TP&L says general business revenue will rise approximately 5.6%, including fuel. The residential rates, based on an average monthly usage of 1,079 kilowatt hours, including fuel, will increase about 8.9% or $4.69 per month. Parsons said that the company will put these new rates into effect as soon as possible under bond. "The reason for putting rates into effect under bond is to insure that all customers throughout the TP&L system will have the same rates starting at the same time," Parsons said. Parsons concluded by saying that the rate increase is "inadequate when considering present economic conditions and the commission's ruling means we will have to consider further rate relief in the near future."

Modern egg production

Most farm people today can remember the flocks of chickens raised years ago by their parents or grandparents. The flocks were usually small and kept in old-fashioned barnyards. Many a farmer and his wife depended on the rooster to serve as the morning alarm clock, and on the flock for eggs—usually for the family's own use.

But, that was yesterday and since then, both the chickens and the farms they were raised on have undergone some dramatic changes. Neither bears much resemblance to the storkbook setting of yesterday.

Modern egg production is an American Success story—one that has been used as a model the world over.

The hybrid chickens of today are the end product of generations of improvements. The birds have become efficient and extremely productive. For example, in the early 1800's a chicken laid slightly more than one dozen eggs a year, mainly during the spring when increasing day lengths triggered its reproductive cycle.

By the early 1900's research contributed to the fact that hens could lay 150 eggs each year. By 1975, that figure had jumped to 230 eggs each year, and today, hens typically lay 240 eggs a year depending on the length of the laying cycle.

In fact, genetic improvements have been made by leaps and bounds since the 1900's. In 1925, it required eight pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs—now, it only requires 4.2 pounds. In the past 30 years alone, research has given the world a chicken that will lay 30 percent more eggs on 25 percent less feed.

While genetics have contributed to the increased productivity and efficiency of laying hens, improved management practices have also had a dramatic effect.

Fewer poultrymen are producing more eggs per bird than ever before. This is a direct result of the technology available to these producers.

Optimum amounts of daylight, improved feed rations and better health conditions all provide poultry with the inputs necessary for high egg production. Most large egg producers maintain detailed flock records on feed conversion, peak and total egg production and feed consumption—with the aid of computers. And, barnyard flocks have been replaced by flocks living in environmentally controlled houses.

Today, most poultry producers are operating flocks numbering into the thousands with some numbering into the hundreds of thousands.

All of the changes that have taken place to date provide consumers with relatively inexpensive and highly nutritious food sources. This, in turn, has helped keep the cost of food per capita in the United States the lowest of any country in the world.

1-Year-old son of Lee Roy Hess dies

Funeral service for Derek Hess, the one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. LeeRoy Hess of Southlake, was held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Sacred Heart Church with Father Stephen Eckart officiating at the Mass of the Angels. Others participating were Leroy Berend in scriptural readings, Emily Klement in a vocal selection with Ruth Felderhoff at the organ, and Chris Maldonado in two vocal and guitar numbers.

Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was directed by Miller Funeral Home. The pallbearers were Jack Lewis, Larry Svaton, Carl Pagel and LeRoy Treadway. Prayer service in the Miller Funeral Home Chapel was held at 8:30 Monday night.

The child died Sunday morning in Children's Medical Center of Dallas after being a patient for 19 days.

Survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeeRoy Hess, three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hess of Muenster and Mrs. Edith Acock of Houston, and uncles, aunts and cousins.

SS costs 2% for admin.

"With much publicity about social security these days, it is important for the public to know how much is incurred in costs in administering the program," was a statement recently made by Gus Jones, Social Security District Manager. "For years, the social security programs have been administered at an enviable low cost of 2% of income to the programs--from FICA taxes and interest on the trust funds. However, for the most recent fiscal year, operating costs have dropped to an all-time low of 1.3 percent," Jones said. "In addition, because of a new law which requires the States to make Social Security contributions for employees on a monthly basis rather than quarterly, the trust funds will earn additional interest income of about $264 million in fiscal year 1981 and more in subsequent years."
