Two attorneys vie for DA position

As Cooke County's District Attorney, the person selected by voters will be responsible for trying and prosecuting the felony cases brought up in Cooke County. In felony cases, the perpetrator could go to the penitentiary. Crimes include capital murder, murder or armed robbery, sexual assault, burglary, theft over $750, and aggravated assaults. Two very qualified local attorneys are seeking the position.

The contenders are Phil Adams, 46, and Janelle Haverkamp, 33. Both are running in the Democratic primary to be decided March 10. There is no Republican opponent.

Adams has been Cooke County's DA since September 1981 when he was appointed to the position. He and his wife, Ruth, live near Gainesville. They have three children - two are in college, the other attends Gainesville High School.

When queried as to why he wanted to be District Attorney (DA), Adams replied, "Being a DA has been in my blood since I was an assistant DA in Dallas, Texas. I started my career working in Henry Wade's office as a prosecutor trying cases. It's just something that has stayed with me and something that I enjoy doing."

Janelle Haverkamp is a Cooke

JANELLE HAVERKAMP

County native and a resident of Gainesville. She is single. Her first position after graduation from SMU School of Law in 1984 was as Cooke County attorney. She held this position for five years before resigning to join the law firm of Henry, Hatcher, Grisham and Schiller in Gainesville.

"I have been a public servant before when I was county attorney for five years, and for two years I've been in private practice," said Haverkamp. "Having had the opportunity to sit on both sides of the table, as a public servant prosecutor and as a defense attorney, I know which side of the table I prefer and that's prosecution. My first love has always been prosecution. It's what I really enjoy doing. I'd like to return to public office as the district attorney."

A point of contention between the two opponents is that Haverkamp is seeking office as a full-time attorney and Adams as part-time so that he can have a private practice. Adams can recall no time that his private practice has interfered with his DA work. He has a small office down the street from the courthouse where he conducts the business. "What private work I do, I do not use the courthouse, the courthouse personnel, or anything here (the DA's office) for that law practice."

Haverkamp feels that it should be a full-time job because the DA's position is such an important one in law enforcement in Cooke County, because of the seriousness of the offenses that the DA tries, and because of the level of crime and drug activity in Cooke County.

It was suggested by Adams that Haverkamp explain why she was accusing him of doing something wrong by doing some private legal work when she operated a private practice in the courthouse while serving as county attorney. Haverkamp countered by revealing that when she was hired, that was part of the provision of the job, because the CA salary was $24,000 when she started. "That's the only way the county can get qualified attorneys that will stay," she said.

There is a difference in salary between part- and full-time DA. A full-time salary totals $89,852 - $81,932 from the state and $7,920 from county funds. Part-time totals $74,162, consisting of $65,546 from the state and $8,616 county. "I think a salary like that certainly justifies being full-time," remarked Haverkamp. "That's a good salary for a lawyer in Cooke County, especially times being as tough as they are now."

Adams described his practice as being limited to real estate, probate and a few civil matters. Family law-related is the private practice Haverkamp now maintains. This includes divorce, child support and child custody cases, along with criminal defense.

Both attorneys stress that they are not being supported by any law firms or special interest groups. "I know that there is talk going around that I am being backed by law firms," Haverkamp stated. "There is no group effort on the part of the lawyers to back me. As a matter of fact, I didn't tell my partners until after I'd announced that I planned to run. It was my decision to run."

Public invited to tour during Public Schools Week

When the state observes Texas Public Schools Week March 2-6, it will be no small celebration. Over three million students are planning activities to show off what they are learning. This year's theme, "Stars Earning Stripes," will be used in each of the 1,069 school districts in the state of Texas. This theme epitomizes the achievements of Texas school children. You are invited to visit Muenster Public School and celebrate Texas Public Schools Week.

The Muenster Theater Arts class will present its play, "The Audition Is Over!" The play will be performed Thursday, March 5, at 8 p.m.

in the school auditorium. It is about a young girl, torn between her responsibility to her mother and her loyalty to her drama teacher. Cast members are: Amy Fisher as Betsy, Darlene Hess as Bea Simmons, Nicki Hofbauer as Emily Haven, Kay Grewing as Marge Dowd, Kim Stewart as Mrs. Florence Russell and Melanie Koesler as Nancy. Crew members are Toni Hofbauer and Melissa Fisher. Director of the play is Martha Koesler.

Rudy Koesler, the Industrial Arts teacher, has issued a special invitation for everyone to tour the new building at MPS, constructed by students in the Industrial Technology class and also the expanded workshop area. Students did all of the construction - roofing, electrical and finish work inside.

The new building is used as a classroom for Industrial Technology and Drafting classes. It provides a clean, heated or cooled room for class work. The old classroom is now used for a woodshop work area.

Construction of the building involved 50 students. "They can use learned items for self-satisfaction or personal repair or construction they may have in the future," said Koesler. "It may help many decide on a job after graduation."

The building will be open to the public during Open House Thursday.

The schedule for Public Schools Week is as follows:
Monday - Write thank-you notes to people and businesses who support our school.

Tuesday - Students lunch with parents or other favorite adults. (Please let school know in advance so they will know how many to prepare for.)

Wednesday - Star readers are guests in the classroom.

Thursday - Open House: 6:30 - 8:00, All teachers will be in their classrooms to meet with teachers. 6:30 - 7:50, Projects of the Vocational, Home Economics, Agriculture, and Industrial Technology classes will be on display in the gym. 8:00 p.m., The MHS Theater Arts class will present the one-act play in the auditorium. No admission.

Friday - Support personnel day - send thank you notes to teacher's aides, bus drivers, cooks, janitors, etc.

Saturday - UIL Practice Meet.

Marine 1st Lt. James Bright earns Bronze Star

First Lieutenant James M. Bright, in the United States Marine Corps Reserve, was presented the Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V," by Col. R.J. Fawcett, commanding officer of The Basic School in Quantico, Virginia, on Jan. 15, 1991, in a ceremony held there. Bright earned the medal while serving in Operation Desert Storm.

During the ceremony of presentation, Col. R.J. Fawcett said, "Heroism is a trait of any United States Marine at any given time, it is what we are trained to do."

Bright said later, "I honestly wear it (the medal) thinking of my men... They are the ones..."

Bright related, "We were going into Kuwait International Airport when we were approached by two BTRs (Iraqi armored troop carriers) on the roadway. The lead vehicle was hit and two of my Marines were injured. We moved up to their location, stabilized them and medivaced them out."

His platoon accounted for 33 armor kills, including eight enemy tanks.

A native of Muenster, the son of David and Juanita Bright, James is a graduate of Muenster High School, and graduated from Virginia Military Institute in 1987.

"I joined the Marine Corps because I wanted a chance to lead men as an infantry officer," said James Bright. "And I thought the best men to lead would be found in the Marine Corps"... He said he would like to make the Marine Corps a career like his older brother, Major Thomas Bright, but wonders if all the cutbacks might prevent that.

He is presently a staff platoon commander with "F" Company at The Basic School, teaching his 45 student officers all aspects of the officers' corps. At age 27, he had a memorable leadership experience in Operation Desert Storm. For now, Bright keeps busy training his men to be leaders of Marines.

MHS Site Based Management Committee to meet March 3

The MHS Site Based Management Committee will meet in the school library on March 3 at 7 p.m. This group serves as advisors to MHS Principal Jerry Metzler in all aspects of the administration of the MHS campus. Site based management committees were mandated by the Texas Legislature during the summer of 1991. All Texas campus principals had previously organized advisory groups for the purpose of identifying performance objectives. Recent directives from the Texas Education Agency suggested forming one committee for the purposes of site based management.

The move to site based management allows individual campuses more control and freedom in regard to budgeting, goal-setting and instructional priorities. This legislation is perhaps directed more at larger districts than Muenster ISD. However, the purpose of the committee is still to involve community members, teachers and parents in campus planning and decision making.

The MHS Site Based Management Committee is composed of teachers Nancy Perryman, Robert McDaniel and Rudy Koesler; parents Jan Cain, Jim Endres, Sandra Hennigan and Nancy Grewing; and community representatives Andy Cherry and Gary Fisher. At the March 3 meeting, the members will discuss budget priorities for the 1992-93 school year. Included in this discussion will be the class schedule and course offerings, extracurricular activity expenditure and instructional needs. Also, the committee will be asked to provide feedback on several topics including the district's grading policy, the dress and grooming code, and any other concerns of the members.

Any community members with comments or opinions about MHS are encouraged to contact committee members prior to next week's meeting. The purpose of such a diverse group is to provide all of the community with representation; hopefully, many people will talk with members so as many viewpoints as possible will be discussed.

NOTE: Should the MHS boys' basketball team schedule a playoff game the night of March 3, the meeting will be delayed until March 9 at the same time and place.

Good News!

If you want to avoid judgment, stop passing judgment. Your verdict on others will be the verdict passed on you. The measure with which you measure will be used to measure you. Why look at the speck in your brother's eye when you miss the plank in your own?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Editor's column on Feb. 14, 1992 carrying the comments of Mr. Gary Fisher concerning property tax needs further consideration.

In Mr. Fisher's column, he states "The property tax idea discriminates by taxing only a small segment that can't afford it," and "It is simply an outdated and unfair tax."

Property taxes are paid directly by everyone who owns property, and indirectly by everyone who rents property. As rent property owners know, the rent pays the taxes. Consequently, the majority of people, not a small segment, pay property taxes either directly or indirectly.

To conclude that the property tax is outdated and some other means is needed to fund education is to ignore the real problem with the property tax. Simply stated - property is overtaxed. Overtaxed because the state uses it as the main vehicle to fund public education, and for the past eight years, the state has been on a spend-to-improve program in education. In 1982, the cost per student in Texas was around $2,700. In 1990, the average cost is $4,200 per student. With this escalation in cost, there has been little or no improvement in the product of education. In fact Texas stands 47th in the nation in literacy, with only three states having more illiterates.

What is unfair and outdated is the way our state uses its money for education. There has never been a study made that shows a positive relationship between spending more money and education quality. There are many studies that show family involvement and competition do influence the quality of education. We have that example here in Muenster. In Muenster, there is active family involvement in both schools, and there is competition for students. As a result, the cost per student in the public school is $3,464.00 and in the Catholic school, it is $2,200.00, both being below the state average of $4,200.00. Also, students in both schools consistently score high in academic achievements.

What the state education system really needs is not a new taxing base, or an expanded tax base, or more taxes, rather it needs "Choice" in education which will create competition between schools. Yes, the state of Texas needs the "Muenster Experience" of Choice in the school to attend. To make it an effective, competitive and a just choice, the school taxes a parent pays should transfer to the school of the parent's choice. This would force schools to change to meet the competition which would result in the Muenster experience of quality education for all at a reduced cost.

Consider Choice as you express your opinions to lawmakers. With Choice in Education, we will be reducing taxes and improving educations at the same time. Our country desperately needs both.

Sincerely,
Angelo B. Nasche

Volunteers needed for Park Pride project

Muenster Park Board and City Council have designated Feb. 29, March 7 and 14 as work days to clean up debris from the creek bottom and surrounding area. This project has been named Park Pride.

It is the sponsors' hope that local organizations, especially those funded through the United Way, will send members or representatives who are ready and willing to roll up their sleeves and spend several hours making their local park a place to be proud of.

Lunch will be provided for Park Pride volunteers on March 7 and 14 by Fischer's Meat Market with soft drinks donated by the DI One Stop.

The local Park Board determines who receives United Way funding. Some of the groups to get yearly support are the local swim program, Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire groups, and summer baseball.

For more information, call City Hall at 759-2236.

Muenster native dies in Hereford on Feb. 14

Reynold J. Herr, 68, died in Hereford on Feb. 14, 1992. Born in Muenster, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emil Herr and moved with the family to Deaf Smith County in 1925, settling in Hereford.

He married Dorothy Stone in 1949 at Hereford. A building contractor by profession, and a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, he was also a U.S. Air Corps veteran of WWII and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy Herr of Hereford; four sons, Randy of Denver, Reginald of Anaheim, CA., Randall of Dallas and Ronald of Amarillo; and eight daughters, Patricia Britten, Melinda Conway and Ivona Herr, all of Amarillo, LaNita Colley of Texarkana, Taffy Grant of Lewes, Delaware, Sheena Herr of Troy, Michigan, Kalina Herr of College Station and Charlet Herr-Chowdhury of Hereford.

Also one sister, Sister Emma Marie Herr, S.A., of Oildale, CA.; two brothers, Erwin A. Herr of Chapel Hill, N.C., and Wilfred C. Herr of Carmine; and 18 grandchildren.

Reynold Herr was a grandson of Muenster pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herr Sr. and was a relative of the Luke, Endres and Friske families.

Mass of Christian Burial was held in St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford on Tuesday, Feb. 18, by Msgr. Orville Blum, pastor. Burial was in St. Anthony's Catholic Cemetery, directed by Gililand-Watson Funeral Home.

Four seek position of Constable, Precinct 1

Four contenders have entered their names on the Democratic ballot for the position of Constable Precinct 1 in the March 10 primaries. There are no Republican candidates for the office. Seeking the job are James Boone, Thomas West Crawford, Russell Ford and John M. Wilson, all of Gainesville.

Three of the candidates responded to requests for interviews from The Muenster Enterprise; the fourth, Thomas Crawford, was unavailable.

James Boone has lived in Cooke County for 45 years and is retired from the Gainesville Police Department where he worked for 29 years. He was chief of police for the last seven years of his employment there. "Being a constable in Cooke County is a part-time job and since I am retired, I'll have plenty of time for it," said Boone.

Boone's qualifications are an associate degree in law enforcement from Cooke County College and numerous hours of extra schooling during his 29 years as a police officer.

"If elected, I aim to work the office and do what it takes to fulfill the job," remarked Boone.

Russell Ford has been a resident of Cooke County for the last five years. He is an operator of the Gainesville Municipal Airport. His wife, Georgie, also works there as a flight instructor.

He would like the job of constable because he feels that the county needs an active constable who will be able to serve warrants and subpoenas for the justice of the peace courts and assist other law enforcement officers when needed. "I can arrange my daily schedule to devote time to constable duties whenever necessary," he said.

Ford's qualifications include being certified as a peace officer for over 20 years; being familiar with a constable's duties; having served as Deputy Sheriff of Tarrant County in the early '60s; having served as deputy constable, Precinct 3 in Tarrant County in the mid-60s; and having served as deputy constable, Precinct 1, Tarrant County from 1969 until 1972.

John M. Wilson is a native of Cooke County and has lived in the county most of his life. He has been employed at Weber Aircraft for more than 23 years. His wife, Flora, also works there. Mr. Wilson would like to retire from Weber when he has completed his 25th year of employment and the job of constable pays a salary that, combined with his retirement pay, would be a liveable income, he said.

Wilson's qualifications are a permanent primary certificate from the Texoma Regional Police Academy. He worked for 2½ years as a patrol deputy in Cooke County at night and at times this job required him to serve civil papers and arrest warrants.

If elected, Wilson has already made arrangements to purchase a used police car that he will equip with a police radio. He will park it and use it only for his constable duties. This will make the mileage that he is paid for by the county accurate. Wilson said he and his wife have already put enough money aside to make the purchase.

"I just want to get out and work to serve the public in a Christian and ethical manner at the least expense to the taxpayer," said Wilson.

Constables are paid a monthly salary plus mileage. Precinct 1 of Cooke County covers most of the north, the east and swings around to include part of the southeast corner of the county, according to information from the Cooke County Clerk's office. The Precinct 1 constable will cover the biggest share of the county and will work with Justices of the Peace Bill Freeman and Dorothy Smith.

Thousands of dollars spent by Cooke County election candidates

by Elaine Schad

The race for Cooke County District Attorney is the highest dollar campaign in the county, with both candidates significantly outspending candidates involved in other races, according to information released from the county clerk's office.

Incumbent Phil Adams is facing former County Attorney Janelle Haverkamp in the March 10 Democratic Primary. All candidates are required to file statements, with a final statement due just before the primary election.

According to campaign contribution statements filed with the county clerk's office, Haverkamp has spent about $5,500 on her campaign to date. That includes the $1,000 filing fee, with most of the rest targeted to advertising. She has received $5,501 in contributions, with more than $3,000 coming from her own pocket. Of the remainder, all but $140 has come from contributions of more than $50.

Adams has spent $4,344 on his campaign, which includes the $1,000 filing fee. A total of $4,225 has been contributed to his campaign, with all but $200 coming from donations of more than $50.

Money is also being spent in the County Judge's race where Judge Ray Russell, who was appointed in October, is trying to retain his seat against challenger and local attorney Ed Zielinski.

Zielinski has outspent Russell so far in the campaign, with some $2,859 in campaign expenses listed. That includes the $600 filing fee. Zielinski has received $1,250 in contributions and has a loan of $1,000.

Russell has spent $1,424 to date on his campaign and has $2,174 in contributions. Of that total, all but about $400 has come from Russell's own pocket, according to the statement.

Joe Y. Nichols is the biggest spender so far in the race for Cooke County Sheriff, with $2,037 listed in expenses. He has received $865 in contributions.

Incumbent Sheriff John Aston has spent $1,213 to date and has donations of $700. Among other sheriff challengers, Bill Pratt has spent $1,749 with $335 in contributions; Dale Washburn has $648 in expenses and no contributions; while Republican candidate Jim Bleything has spent $785 and has $1,025 in contributions.

In other contested races, Incumbent Precinct 1 County Commissioner Danny Knight has spent $1,065 with contributions of

THANKS FOR CONSIDERING . . .

CONGRESSMAN

RALPH HALL

. . . A TEXAN WHO VOTES A TEXAS VOTE!

For Economy in Government

I have consistently voted for the line item veto and a mandated Balanced Budget Amendment. We are only about twenty votes away in the Congress.

For Cutbacks in the High Dollar Items

We should quit spending money in the Philippines. We should get entirely out. Today's technology and geopolitical changes allow us to close many age-old outposts — and overfly them with our aircraft and spacecraft — and use our electronic surveillance rather than the presence of ships and troops. We should also let Japan defend their own shores. Today we defend Japan and the money they do not have to spend defending themselves — they spend subsidizing their industries. It is no wonder that our automobile companies are in trouble, our steel mills closing, our energy going offshore — and our textile mills silent. I have worked on this item since 1985 — and we have Japan defending themselves 1000 miles out. We need to turn their total defense back to them.

NASA

As Chairman of the Space Sub-committee, I advised Admiral Truley, Director of NASA, in open session February 18, 1992, that we were going to hold the line on the heretofore vast outlays of money until our domestic economy improves substantially. I also advised him that the people I talk to are less interested in a trip to Mars and more interested in being able to make a trip to the grocery store. Last session I cut 450 Million Dollars out of the NASA budget in an effort to at least start the needed cutbacks in expenditures at a time when our economy is suffering.

Space Station

I believe the construction of it should be put on hold while we lease space from the Russians for continuing our biomedical research. I think this country is going to come to Russia's aid with food and warmth. Instead of giving it to them, we could trade with them. Lease of their space station (MIR) would be one way. To trade for precious metals that only they have is another. I do not want to make donees out of them. Let's trade with them. It would even be better for their pride to receive fair trade — rather than charity that this country cannot afford.

Health

We no longer have to defend Europe against the Russians under the NATO Treaty — thus freeing up many billions of dollars. I say to use one-half of this "Peace Dividend" to address the Health Care dilemma — and apply the other half to the Deficit. This is an even division between the young who inherit the debt — and the adults who need a health care program.

Energy Plan

Texas is one of ten states who produce energy. This means that there are 40 states who use our energy. It is difficult to pass good energy legislation that helps energy states — for we are outnumbered in Congress forty states to ten. The key is for the entire nation to accept energy for what it is — a national asset. The energy plan? Simply give the independents some incentives to look for it — and a reward for finding it.

Pay Raise for Congress

I have never voted for a pay raise and I gave away the first year of the first pay raise I received in Congress. On the second pay raise, I have set it aside to give back to the U.S. Treasury if and when we revoke it. I am a co-sponsor on H.R. 811 to totally repeal the pay raise as of the date of its inception. I also have never accepted an honorarium (payment for a speech). I have never heard a speech that was worth the thousands of dollars that some of my fellow Congressmen and Congresswomen have collected.

AND — I come home to visit with you and to get your input. I don't ever want to think with a Washington "thinker". I have missed only eight weekends in twelve years of coming back to my District. My votes are in Washington, D.C. (I cast a vote on 98.2% of the recorded votes for the year 1991) and my work and my heart are in this District.

Respectfully,

Ralph M. Hall

Muenster Public Library reports to the Board

Muenster Public Library's annual report to the board was presented by Bobbie Jane Slater, librarian. She reported that the local library, as of Dec. 31, 1991, had 18,756 books and 555 audio-visuals in stock.

Use of the library seems to be growing since 17,419 books, periodicals, pamphlets, film strips, cassettes, films, video cassettes, etc. were circulated in 1991. This is 761 more than in 1990.

The staff of the Muenster Public Library and their years of service are: Bobbie Jane Slater, librarian, 2 years; Teresa Fowler, assistant librarian, 17 years; Betty Felderhoff, 17 years; Evelyn Koesler, 11 years; Agatha Wolfe, 7 years; and Marci Klement, 3 years. These ladies contributed a total of 2,495 hours of volunteer service to the library during the past year.

Much of the success of the Muenster Public Library is because of the loyalty and dedication of the volunteers. They serve so willingly and have the necessary skills and expertise to insure that the library runs smoothly.

"In library circles, the Muenster Some of the special activities sponsored by the Muenster Public Library in '91 included the annual Summer Reading Program, with the theme of Camp Wanna-Read which began on June 4 and ended on Aug. 29. Each of the 216 children who registered received a Reading Log to record the number of age-appropriate books read. At the conclusion of the program, certificates and a coupon for a free ice cream cone, compliments of the Dairy Inn, were given to the 125 participants who completed the program. Story Time for three- and four-year-olds began meeting in January and continued through the year until May and then began meeting again in September and continued through December. Meeting time was each Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 10:00. Each week featured a different theme with the appropriate books, songs, games and flannel board stories. In addition to Story Time, there were special times for the Tender Loving Care Day Care Center and for different groups that came from Muenster Public School and Sacred Heart School for tours of the library and stories. Also, the librarian visited several school classrooms and told stories for special occasions. A total of 639 children attended these various programs.

Previously-owned books and videos were donated by: Herbert Meurer, Georgia Mae Trachta, Bishop Danglmayr, David and Juanita Bright, Nanci Lippe, Betty Felderhoff, Sondra Mahon, Alice Hellman, Leon Klement, Kim Fullbright, Pat Wimmer, Gladys Harrison, Mrs. Gentry, Janie Hennigan, Agatha Wolfe, Sheryl Gentry, Pat Dennis, Marci Klement, Sue Trachta, Lupe Evans, Carl Smith, Donna Graham, Gwen Murray, Kim Felderhoff.

New gift books were received from Earl Bourland, Elmer Wiesman, Charlie Stenholm, Bluebonnet Award Books (19) by Muenster Bluebonnet Club, Knights of Columbus, Brazos Electric, Frances Yosten, Alvin Fuhrman. Several authors also donated copies of their books. Books were also donated in memory of a loved one. They are: Power and Grace given by Don Bayer in memory of Martin Bayer; Historical Atlas of the U.S. given by Charlie Hellman in memory of Alvina Hellman; New England given by Mrs. Lambert Bezner in memory of Tillie Schoech; Australia given by Mrs. Lambert Bezner in memory of Steve Moster; Wild Shores given by Mrs. Lambert Bezner in memory of Alvina Hellman; Lindsay Centennial Book given by Don Trammell in memory of Herbert Fleitman.

Homemakers Council hears update on activities

Cooke County Extension Homemakers Council met Tuesday, Feb. 11, in the TU Electric Meeting Room. Dorothy Fisher, chairman, called the meeting to order. Ira Fleitman read the inspiration. Representatives of seven clubs answered roll call. Wilma Richardson, secretary, read the minutes; and the treasurer's report was given.

Reports were made on the Council Christmas Party, having 45 present; and the State School Party, where the Council hosted 40 boys and numerous staff members; and also the Leadership Workshop in January.

The clubs submitted dues along with membership lists.

Sharon Simmons was appointed Reservation Chairman for the Arts and Crafts Sell-O-Rama and rules were updated for the show.

KRYSTLE ANN LONG

Krystle has Super Sunday

Sunday, Jan. 26, was Super Bowl Sunday, and was also a special occasion for Krystle Ann Long, who turned seven on Jan. 24. A birthday party was held in her honor on Sunday, Jan. 26, in Muenster, hosted by her parents, Ray and Sara Long. Friends and family enjoyed barbecued brisket with all the trimmings.

Krystle enjoyed two homemade cakes, made by her mother. Uncle Mike Stoffels gave Krystle a cake decorated in the Ninja Turtle theme.

Attending her party were brothers Ray Jr., 5, and Jeffrey, 4; uncles, Mike, Nick, Donny and Dougie; and Great-Uncle Tony Fuhrmann.

Unable to attend, but sending greetings, were Krystle's aunt and uncle, Carol J. and Brian and children of Reno, Texas; and Krystle's Aunt Darla Wood of Harrison, Arkansas.

Krystle's classmates enjoyed chocolate cupcakes Friday, Jan. 24, at St. Mary's School where she is a first grader.

Children's play to be presented at Sherman Mar. 7-15

Lindsay, Muenster debate teams advance to state contest

by Robert McDaniel

The UIL Literary Cross-Examination Debate Meet was held at Cooke County College on Friday, Feb. 21, 1992. The final results were Lindsay winning the gold, Muenster the silver, Alvord the bronze and Ponder fourth place.

The meet began with each of the 15 teams, representing seven schools, debating three rounds. Each team debates the affirmative, the negative and then a coin toss determines what each team will be in the third round. This year's topic is that the federal government should significantly increase social service to the homeless. The 15 teams represented were Muenster with two teams, Lindsay with two, Ponder with three, Petrolia one, Windthorst two, Era two and Alvord three.

After the mandatory three rounds, the four teams with the best cumulative win/loss records and best speaker points advance to the semi-finals. Muenster's team of Darlene and Marlene Hess defeated Lindsay and Alvord before being defeated by another team from Alvord in the preliminary rounds. This 2-1 record was good enough to get to the semis, but their speaker points, 100, were just short of the cut-off number, 103.5. Rex Huchton and Kerri Barnhill, the other team representing Muenster, also won two of three debates. They defeated Alvord and Ponder and lost to the returning state qualifying team from Windthorst in 1991. Their two and one record and 108 accumulative speaker points advanced them to the semi-finals. Besides teams representing Muenster and Lindsay, the other two teams qualifying for the semis represented Ponder and Alvord.

In the semi-finals, Rex and Kerri debated the team from Alvord and won a 3-0 decision from the judges. Lindsay's debate team of Erin Williams and Tanner Neidhardt did the same thing to the team from Ponder. Also competing from Lindsay was the team of Gina Baugh and Darren Hundt, although they did not progress to the semi-finals, they did a good job. Craig Hertel is the sponsor for Lindsay's UIL debate teams.

It was going to be a classic matchup of Muenster versus Lindsay for the final round. It matters not which team wins because both had already earned the right to advance to the state meet in Austin. The debate is for the gold and silver medals and the right for each to be able to say it defeated the other.

The room was filled to near-capacity as debaters and spectators came to listen to the final debate of the day. Lindsay won the coin toss and decided to take the negative side of the topic, leaving Rex and Kerri the affirmative. Rex and Kerri felt comfortable with their affirmative case of eliminating the homeless situation and each of the two gave rousing speeches with extended evidence proving that homelessness is a problem and the affirmative plan would reduce significantly this social issue. The Lindsay team continued to hammer away at the topicality issue that the affirmative side was non-topical since there was already federal programs in place to solve this problem. After the round was over, Muenster felt confident that its team had won the gold. However, the three judges voted unanimously in favor of the negative, giving Lindsay the gold and Muenster the silver.

As the debate sponsor, I, as well as my team, was disappointed that they had lost to Lindsay. Later, I reflected that the state-qualifying team and regional team from 1991 from Windthorst did not make the finals, nor did one half of the regional team representing Lindsay in 1991, nor the fourth place team at district last year from Era, nor the best teams representing Petrolia, Ponder and Alvord. In fact, all four teams in the semi-finals were first-year debaters. So, maybe being second in the district and a state qualifier is not that bad.

Kiwanis Club announces Students of the Month for January

The Kiwanis Club has announced its selections of students from Muenster Public School and Sacred Heart School for the month of January.

From Muenster Public School, the Kiwanians have selected Raegan Koesler and Bradley Fisher. Raegan, the daughter of Martha and Rudy Koesler, is a fourth grader in Theresa Walter-scheid's class. Raegan has a good attitude toward her school work and all other activities that she attempts, but her most positive attribute is her relationship with other people. She treats everyone with respect and kindness. Raegan is a good example of the kind of student of which Muenster Public School can be proud.

Bradley Fisher, son of Debbie and Jack Britain and David Fisher, was selected by the MHS faculty as January student of the month. Bradley is an eighth grader who is active in athletics as a member of the Muenster football, basketball and track teams. In selecting Bradley for this honor, his teachers emphasized that he is a hard worker who consistently gives his best efforts in class. Also, Bradley displays a positive attitude and always seems to have a smile on his face. Bradley continues to improve in his classwork and the faculty at MHS are very proud of his efforts.

From Sacred Heart School, Melissa Miller and Joseph Reiter have been selected by the Kiwanis Club as Students of the Month. Melissa, the daughter of Robert and Betty Miller, is an outstanding student academically, participates in Student Council activities and is captain of the Dance Team. More importantly, she is a warm, caring young lady whose daily life demonstrates true Christian principals. Melissa, a junior, was nominated by Donna Maxan.

Joseph Reiter, nominated by Sr. Monica Swirczynski, is the son of Jerry and Rosalie Reiter. He is a superior academic student, excelling in all subject areas. His quiet manner is a bright addition to the classroom. He always has positive things to say about others and is a real example of living his Catholic faith.

The DISCREPANCY Between TAXES Collected And The Value of SERVICES Rendered Is A PROBLEM In Cooke County.

The COUNTY JUDGE With A PLAN Can Make A Difference.

Because of our antiquated system of each commissioner buying separate equipment for each precinct, Cooke County now owns: 54 trucks, 14 pickups, 26 motor graders, 21 tractors and loaders and many other items of heavy equipment including a paving machine. That's OVER 120 UNITS OF EXPENSIVE HEAVY EQUIPMENT.

There are only a total 28 roadwork employees to use it. It is impossible for them to use more than 1/4 of this equipment at any one time.

PART OF MY PLAN is to pool the road equipment not needed in routine maintenance. This will allow us to reduce it by 1/3 to 1/2 and still have more equipment than our employees can use - and give our citizens far more service for their tax dollars.

I am not obligated by appointment of the Commissioners to continue BUSINESS as usual.

PLEASE HELP ME MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

Bart Sicking to represent SH in March 4 County Bee

Bart Sicking, son of Herbie and JoAnn Sicking, outspelled 39 other students during Sacred Heart School's annual spelling bee on Feb. 13. The seventh grade student will represent Sacred Heart at the Cooke County Spelling Bee, sponsored by The Dallas Morning News, on Wednesday, March 4, at 2:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre on the campus of Cooke County College.

Sacred Heart's alternate is Jennifer Campbell, daughter of Bob and Yvonne Ambrose. Jennifer, who is also a seventh grade student, placed second in the school bee. Taking third place was a sixth grade student, Jessamy Sicking, daughter of Herbie and JoAnn Sicking.

Receiving blue, red and white ribbons, respectively, were first, second and third place winners from each class. The top three spellers during the bee from each class were: fifth grade, Courtney Grewing, Deann Felderhoff and Jessie Luke; sixth grade, Jessamy Sicking, Valerie Bartush and David Hesse; seventh grade, Bart Sicking, Jennifer Campbell and Leslie Grewing; eighth grade, Karri Endres, Joseph McCoy and John Klement.

A teacher, Mrs. Ruth Felderhoff, was the official pronouncer for the event. Judges were Loretta Felderhoff, Eileen Fisher and Doreen Taylor. Other officials were Toby Hess, Vanessa Felderhoff of the eighth grade and Jill Hess, Dobe Friday-Fleitman and Brandy Gilpin of the seventh grade.

Ten students were selected from each class to participate in the spell-off to determine the representative from Sacred Heart. Other participants included: Joe Becker, Amy Truebenbach, Debra Voth, Amanda Mollenkopf, Russell Fette, Janet Fetsch, and Lucien Gehrig from grade 5; Sherry Bonner, Yvonne Martin, Tammie Hennigan, Matthew Fuhrmann, Jeff Yosten, Jon Grewing and Angel Sicking from grade 6. Also Greg Flusche, Tara Yosten, John Sparkman, Adam Sicking, Corey Hess, Jacob Luke and John Bartush from grade 7; and Nicole Endres, Michael Becker, Joey Martin, Jake McCoy, Heath Bayer, Scott Poole and Brandon Bayer from grade 8.

Scholarship awarded to James Herr to A & M

The Cooke County A&M Club recently awarded James A. Herr a scholarship to attend Texas A&M University.

Herr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herr, and a 1990 graduate of Muenster High School. James is currently a sophomore at A&M, majoring in History. He is a member of the Texas A&M Corps of Cadets, serving as Personal Corporal in Squadron 15.

The Cooke County A&M Club has provided scholarships since the early 1950s. Club members raise funds through pledges and an annual hamburger supper. The other current scholarship recipient is Sheila Huddleston of Valley View. Graduating seniors in Cooke County high schools may apply for this scholarship. For information, they should contact their counselor or Phil Adams at (817) 668-5466.

Museum offers exhibit

The Cooke County Heritage Society has announced the opening of a new exhibit at the Morton Museum of Cooke County. Entitled "Beads, Bangles, Corsets and Hoop Skirts: The Mind-Boggling World of Fashion," the exhibit focuses on women's fashions during the period from 1870 until 1950. It explores, among other issues, the connection between changing dress styles and the changing role of women in society and the connection between fashion trends and national events over that span of time. A wide variety of clothing and accessories (remember petticoats, high-top shoes, muffs and beaded purses) will be on view. The exhibit will be on display through March (Women's History Month). Windthorst plans meal

The annual German Sausage Meal will be held Sunday, March 1, at St. Mary's Parish Hall in Windthorst.

The sausage is made from 100% USDA-inspected pork. The menu consists, along with the sausage, spare ribs, sauerkraut with all the trimmings including dessert and drinks.

The price of the all-you-can-eat meal is $6.00 for adults and $3.00 for children under 12. Serving is 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This year, as in the past, the Windthorst Volunteer Fire Department will co-sponsor the meal. Pete Wolf, fire chief, will serve as co-chairman. First Captain Raymond Ostermann, First Lieutenant Roy Koetter and Team Captain Mike Humpert will serve as cooks.

Proceeds will help finance continued training of members and upgrading of equipment.

The other sponsor is Father Albert General Assembly of the 4th Degree Knights of Columbus. Representing this group as co-chairman of the meal is Luis Carcano and the proceeds will be used for various community and charity programs.

These sponsors invite the general public to Windthorst, located at the corners of Hwys. 281, 25 and 174 in Archer County for a meal they truly believe everyone will enjoy.

New location for Social Security contact office

A representative of the Social Security Office visits Gainesville each Tuesday. Effective Feb. 25, the location for the visit will be the Stanford House Senior Center. This new facility is located at 401 West Garnett. The hours of operation remain 9:00-12:00 and 1:00-2:30.

Franciscans meet Feb. 11

Louise Morisak hosted the Lindsay Secular Franciscans at her home in Gainesville on Feb. 11 at 2 p.m. The meeting was conducted by Theresa Hermes, beginning with "February Preparation Prayer," "Prayer to the Holy Spirit," "Ritual Prayer" and a Scripture reading by Jewell Sweeney.

A letter of thanks for cancelled stamps was received from Fr. Michael Event, OFM, of St. Francis Village, Crowley, Texas. A recent guest of Theresa Hermes was Fr. Martin Wolters enroute to Crowley.

Members discussed entering or sponsoring a float in the Lindsay Centennial Parade in June. Novices will be admitted into the Fraternity and will make their profession in a ceremony in St. Peter's Church.

Elvira Flusche requested that more join the growing group of people praying three rosaries once a week to honor the Blessed Virgin Mary and to pray for world peace.

Letters were received from Bishop Peter Chenoparampil of India; and from the seminarians sponsored by St. Peter's fraternity.

Prayers from the Ritual, the RENEW Prayer and Petitions were read to close the meeting.

The hostess served pie, ice cream and coffee for refreshments. All present signed a birthday card for Veronica Klement and a get-well card for Marie Badgett.

Wylie Harris is National Merit Scholarship finalist

Wylie Harris, a senior at Lindsay High School, has met the requirements for finalist standing in the 1992 National Merit Scholarship Program. Approximately 14,000 other students nationwide - representing about half of the top one percent of the American high school seniors - were named finalists.

The process of selecting some 6,300 Merit Scholars from the group of finalists is now underway. Each individual is considered for one of 2,000 National Merit Scholarships, each worth $2,000.

In March, NMSC will begin mailing scholarship offers to winners at their home addresses and also will notify their principals confidentially. Three major news media announcements of Merit Scholars will be made by NMSC in April and May.

Wylie has been offered a Dean's Scholarship and a Trustees' Scholarship from the University of Southern California. Both of these awards are offered on the basis of academic achievement and leadership.

KATHERINE LEIGH BROOME, daughter of John and Juanita Broome of Springfield, Va. and granddaughter of Suzanne Wieler of Muenster, and Lawrence Joseph Lang, son of Frank and Pauline Lang of Madison, N.J., were married on Oct. 12, 1991, at St. Vincent Martyr Church in Madison. Msgr. Vincent Keane, professor of Theology at Immaculate Conception Seminary, Douglaston, N.Y. and uncle of the groom, performed the afternoon ceremony which was followed by a reception at Lenfell Hall in the Mansion at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison. The bride has visited in Muenster with her grandparents, Suzanna and the late John Wieler. She is also a niece of Mrs. Bertha Hamric and a cousin of the Dan and Bert Hamric families.

Quilt tells its own story

A six-month community project was completed last month, as members of St. Peter's Parish in Lindsay proudly finished their 17-block centennial quilt. "It was our way to pay tribute to our German heritage," said Claudia Zimmerer, quilt chairman. "Each block represents a part of Lindsay history or our way of life."

A large square in the middle of the quilt is of St. Peter's Catholic Church, the center of the Lindsay community. Surrounding the church are 16 blocks showing work, home, school and religion.

Contributing blocks and their themes were: Louise Schad, Anton Flusche, founder of Lindsay, surveying land in 1892; Gertie Loerwald, Home and Family Life; Theresa Hermes, Patriotism; Jean Haverkamp, Dairy Cattle Business; Marcella Zimmerer, Priesthood; Catherine Stoffels, Town of Lindsay in 1892, with a windmill at intersection of the two main streets; Claudia Zimmerer, St. Peter's Catholic Church; Janie Wilson, the Old Parochial School; Marie Fuhrmann, Cotton; Dorothy Zimmerer, Centennial Logo; Mary Bayer, Quilting; Marie Zimmerer, Gardening; Mary Hundt, German Ancestry; LuElla Zimmerer, Farming; Marie H. Zimmerer, Covered Wagon; Elvira Flusche, Education; and Patty Eberhart and Ethel Metzler, The Grotto.

The quilt will be on display at Passtimes in Gainesville for approximately another week, and at all centennial-related events. One such event, the Style Show, is to be held March 20 and 21, with fashions from 1890 to the present shown. Arrangements are being made for display in Muenster.

High blood pressure may be less dangerous for women than for men, a new study at Montefiore Medical Center in New York suggests. Doctors say weight loss and exercise may reduce the need for drugs.

Some people who thought they were allergic to penicillin were able to take the drug without adverse reactions, studies at The Johns Hopkins Asthma and Allergy Center in Baltimore found.

Tighter control of blood-glucose levels before pregnancy helped cut the rate of birth defects in babies of diabetic women. Study was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

A carrot a day... People who eat lots of fruits and vegetables high in antioxidants like beta carotene are less likely to have cataracts, say researchers at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Acetaminophen controls the pain of osteoarthritis of the knee as effectively as ibuprofen, even though it does not reduce inflammation, say doctors at the Indiana University Medical Center.

Cooke County College starts baseball program

by Elaine Schad
It will be "batter up" at Cooke County College this fall following unanimous approval by trustees of the community college's first inter-collegiate baseball program.

Joyner. It will begin in the 1992-93 school year.

"It's a very popular high school sport in this area, and we've received requests to field a team ever since I've been president," said Dr. Joyner. "The fact that we have an excellent facility was a major factor in our decision."

The team will share nearby Locke Field for home games. The college is seeking membership in the North Texas Junior College Conference, which includes junior college teams from Ranger, Vernon, Hill, Collin, Dallas and McClennon.

The program could not have been initiated without the strong support of the Cooke County Baseball Boosters, Inc., which has raised almost $30,000 of the $60,000 start-up costs, said Dr. Joyner. Most of those funds were raised during the first Danny Darwin Celebrity Golf Tournament held in November. The boosters are working on the second annual event and have made a commitment to provide about $15,000 annually to the team as needed. Darwin, who resides in southern Cooke County when he is not pitching for the Boston Red Sox, has been a strong supporter of getting the baseball program underway.

The $60,000 start-up cost will include the hiring of a baseball coach and equipment. The program is expected to cost about $30,000 annually after the first year, with most of the funding coming from the booster club or from student fees and other revenue sources, said Dr. Joyner. The program is expected to add between 35 and 40 students to the college's enrollment, which could result in more state aid, he said.

Last Friday, Muenster's Lady Hornets took on Prosper, at Krum, winning 45-31 and the Bi-District Championship. "This was a great game. The girls worked hard all year to get here," said Coach Brian Strother. "We weren't satisfied with being in the Bi-District game—the girls came to win."

Muenster started the game on fire, with DaLana Walterscheid hitting her first 3 shots, giving the Lady Hornets an 8-0 lead before Prosper ever scored. Muenster was patient on offense and took good shots, taking a 12-7 first quarter lead. The second period was a defensive quarter, with the Lady Hornets keeping the lead at half-time 19-16.

"The third quarter was a barnburner for 3 minutes," continued Strother. "We quit pressing and turned up our half-court defense and shut Prosper down." Muenster went on a 15-2 run and held Prosper scoreless for 11 minutes. Theresa Kubis hit 10 of the 16 points in the third quarter.

The Lady Hornets defense had a total of 20 steals, with Theresa Kubis and DaLana Walterscheid leading the way with 7 and 4, respectively. "All eight girls played great defense and offense," stated the Muenster coach. "This night, Theresa (Kubis) was hot."

Strother concluded that the Lady Hornets defense was coming from all directions, making Prosper look totally confused all night.

Theresa Kubis ended the game with a game-high 24 points. DaLana Walterscheid put in 6, with Amy Otto and Candise Abney each adding 4. Dianne Pagel hit 3, followed by Danell Reiter and Leslie Klement scoring 2 apiece.

"The girls really play well together and that makes the game a lot of fun," ended Coach Strother.

Muenster 12 7 16 10 45
Prosper 7 9 10 5 31

The area playoff game Tuesday ended in tears for the Lady Hornets, but not tears of joy, as they fell 51-45 against a fast Graford team.

"What a great game our girls played; we never quit and our effort was relentless," commented

Coach Strother. "Graford changed their defense to stop our 3-point shooting, and went man-to-man, but we still felt confident."

Muenster started the game, taking a 6-2 lead, but Graford fought back and took a 3-point lead at the end of the first quarter. The second period was an offensive battle with both teams scoring well. "We were taking the ball to the basket, they were taking our outside shots away from us," continued the coach. "Amy (Otto) was playing well, going to the basket and had 7 of her team-high points in the first half." Graford took the halftime lead 25-19.

The Lady Hornets put a run together and closed within 1 point, 31-30, but Graford hit 1 at the buzzer to take a 3-point lead going into the final quarter.

Muenster quickly scored in the fourth, down 33-32 and had a chance to take the lead, but the ball wouldn't fall for the Lady Hornets. "We closed the gap a few times, we took good shots, it just wasn't a good shooting night," commented Strother. "Even with 26 seconds, and only down by 4, the ball just slipped away with the game." The Lady Hornets ended their season with a 51-45 area playoff loss and an impressive 30-2 season record.

Sophomore Amy Otto was Muenster's leading scorer with 12 points, with DaLana Walterscheid adding 10. Dianne Pagel hit in 10, Candise Abney 6, Danell Reiter 5 and Theresa Kubis 4.

"It was a sad time for a moment, but we will dwell on a great season. The girls accomplished things never done at MHS before, to be proud of," Strother concluded. "I am very happy and honored to have coached these great girls. This was a great ride we went on. Only one team can continue in the playoffs."

Hornets face Prosper in Bi-District

The Muenster Hornets, District 17A champions, will take on Prosper Friday night in Bi-District action. The winner of the game advances in the playoffs, the losers turn in their uniforms Monday.

The game should be a close, hard-fought contest. The two teams met in the Hornets' first game of the year, with Prosper taking the win in overtime. "We are a lot better team now," stated Coach Brian Strother. "We will be ready for the game, the guys are excited about playing in the Super Pit. It should be a good match-up." Steven Fisher is recovering from an ankle injury but should be ready for the game.

Muenster holds a 20-6 record, while Prosper stands at 16-14.

Game time is 8:30 p.m. in the UNT Super Pit in Denton. The Bi-District game between Alvord and Gunter precedes the Hornet game, beginning at 7 p.m.

Heers coaches championship b'ball team!

The Mt. Pleasant Tigers, coached by first-year Head Basketball Coach Ted Heers, are the champions of District 15 4-A, winning all 10 of their district games. Their regular season record of 29-1 breaks a school record of 27 wins reached in 1976.

The Tigers, currently ranked #7 in the state by The Texas Association of Basketball Coaches, play Lindale in the first-round of the state playoffs.

Coach Heers is a former teacher/coach at Muenster High School.

UIL district aligned

The University Interscholastic League has finally mailed a news release on the new Conference A, 11-man football, basketball and spring meet 1992-93, '93-94 tentative district alignments.

As earlier reported in The Muenster Enterprise, District 17A football will consist of Collinsville, Era, Lindsay, Muenster, Saint Jo and Valley View.

District 24A basketball includes Era, Lindsay, Muenster, Ponder, Saint Jo and Valley View.

The spring meet District 12A is made up of 10 teams - Alvord, Chico, Era, Lindsay, Muenster, Petrolia, Ponder, Saint Jo, Valley View and Windthorst.

For the next four years, "A" classification, on the basis of average daily membership (ADM) for grades 9-12, is the count of 139 students and below. The formula used to determine enrollment is:

$$\begin{matrix} \text{Grades 9, 10, 11} & \times 1.33 & = & \text{A} \\ \text{Grades 9, 10, 11, 12} & & = & \text{B} \\ \text{Total} & = & x \div 2 & = & \text{ADM} \end{matrix}$$

Stanford House dedicated; open to serve senior citizens

The Stanford House, a spacious newly-built facility, at 401 W. Garnett Street in Gainesville, was dedicated Friday, Feb. 21, and opened for public viewing on Sunday, Feb. 23. It was constructed for the purpose of serving the senior citizens of Cooke County.

A donation of funds from the late Mattie Bell Stanford made the construction of the 9,200-square-foot, non-denominational senior center possible. According to her friend, Frank Blagg, "Mattie loved all of us and from this love came Stanford House. Mattie planned this building and its location since the early '80s. She wanted it to be a place that the senior citizens would be proud of and enjoy using."

Stanford House will be available for use weekdays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., at no charge to senior citizens who are residents of Cooke County. Charles Evans, Stanford House director, will provide full-time management and programming services to the users of the facility. It will be available to other groups or individuals for a fee.

Outstanding features of the facility are an activity room with a stage at one end; tables and chairs to seat 240 people and a tile floor suitable for dancing. This is adjoined by a kitchen area. Smaller rooms in the building include a game room equipped with sturdy tables, an arts and crafts room with sinks for easy clean-up, a meeting room, several offices and a lobby and reception area. The furnishings for these rooms were donated by various contributors.

During Friday's dedication ceremony, Blagg told of Mrs. Stanford's life. She was born Mattie Bell Hutto on March 2, 1892 in Mills County near Goldthwaite. Her family derived their living from cotton farming and Mattie learned at an early age to pick and chop cotton. She attended college and earned a teacher's certificate. In 1912, Mattie was married to A.T. Stanford.

The couple moved to Vernon where she taught, then later opened a dress shop and he worked on a ranch. Blagg said the Stanfords purchased a ranch around Saint Jo. Finding life in a larger town more suitable, the couple later moved to Gainesville. Mattie loved to cook and she was always available to prepare food for the activities that required it. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Gainesville.

Members of the Board of Trustees include Mrs. Stanford's sister, Marguerite Frasher; close friends, Lacy Wheeler, Wayne Wilson and Frank Blagg. They were also active in planning and selecting the design of the building. Also on the building committee were Gainesville Mayor Charles Woolfolk and City Manager Lyle Dresher.

bring a criminal to trial are too stringent and, in effect, their hands are tied by the DA's office. Adams stated that every case that a police officer brings to his office goes to the Grand Jury where it is reviewed. "We take every case that is possible to be prosecuted and we prosecute it," he said.

"What I would say to this is that I would rather have a 50 percent conviction rate on 100 cases that have been tried before a jury than a 100 percent on 10," commented Haverkamp. "It's my belief that it's more of a deterrent if a criminal knows that there is a greater likelihood that he's going to go to trial if he commits a crime. The certainty of a trial is a bigger deterrent than the fact that he might get a 50-year sentence."

people on cases which cannot be proven is patently wrong and unfair. You should not indict people planning to convict only 50 percent. I will not operate that way. The Grand Jury will not let any DA operate that way."

Being tried is all part of punishment, said Janelle Haverkamp. "In law enforcement, there is a saying, 'You may beat the rap, but you won't beat the ride.'"

Drugs are seen as a major problem in Cooke County and both candidates have promised to prosecute drug offenders, seeking maximum sentences and to work with the North Texas Drug Task Force that Adams was instrumental in bringing to the county.

Ms. Haverkamp's message to voters is that she believes that everyone stands equal under the law and when people are treated differently, we all lose. She is for the fair and even distribution of justice. "If we all work together, we can make this a place where families and not drug dealers want to relocate," she concluded.

The issue in this election is who has the experience, qualifications and record to best fill the position, says Adams. "Who do people want to represent them in District Court in prosecuting these criminals?" Adams asked. "The criminals get the best lawyers money can buy. I think the issue is who will do the best job defending the victims and the citizens of this county."

All of the candidates' qualifications have not been listed in this article since they have been, and are, listed in ads in The Enterprise and space is limited.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Muenster FFA and 4-H Show Sunday, March 1

Sunday, March 1, is the date selected for this year's annual Muenster FFA and 4-H Livestock Show. Showing begins at 2 p.m. in the Cooke County Show Barn on the County Fair Grounds.

Weigh-ins for the entries will begin at noon. There will be a $5 entry fee. Animals will be shown in the following order: rabbits, breeding sheep, market sheep, dairy goats, dairy cattle, beef heifers, market steers, breeding swine and market swine.

This should be a fun-filled day for the entire family. The younger family members who aren't eligible to participate in the show are invited to enter the pet show. They may bring their dog, cat, lamb, pig or even pet fish.

Children entering this event are encouraged to bring their animal or pet to the east entrance of the show barn by 1 p.m. Sunday, March 1. There will be no competition or entry fee for this event, but all who enter will receive a ribbon.

Please, no large animals that the children cannot handle.

For more information, contact Glenn Debnam, 759-4924, or Jerry or Evelyn Sicking, 759-4388.

Financial Record Keeping Using Quicken Version 5

A financial record keeping workshop using Quicken Version 5 has been scheduled for March 16-19. Using a Cooke County College computer lab, Dr. Kenneth W. Stokes, Extension Economist with Texas A&M at Dallas, will teach both new and experienced computer users how to use this popular checkbook computer program.

Monday, March 16, at 6:30 p.m., the introductory session will cover the basics from setting-up an account to printing reports. This session is for new Quicken users and those with little or no computer experience.

A two-day, hands-on workshop is scheduled for March 17 and 18. In addition to learning Quicken, Stokes will demonstrate to you how to use financial records for more than tracking checking account balances. This course includes how to determine which activities are profitable and which are not by learning how to track income and expenses. Stokes also will teach you how to convert tax-basis records to accrual basis for better measurement of net worth changes.

While the pace of instruction will be geared toward the new computer user, current Quicken users will discover many features they have overlooked.

An advanced session is set for March 19, at 9 a.m., to cover QuickPay and investment accounts. Because many Quicken users do not have payroll QuickPay and investment accounts, this session is optional.

Advanced Quicken users may register to attend this session only.

In another optional session on March 19 at 1 p.m., individuals will be able to work on their own books. Stokes will assist with any problems that may arise. According to Stokes, this is an excellent time to find out what you didn't learn in class.

Class enrollment will be limited. For more information on class times and fees, contact Craig Rosenbaum, County Extension Agent, at the Cooke County Extension Office, 668-5412, by March 13.

County Wheat Situation

This past week, before the rains, we were in quite a few fields over the county. In many instances, the crop looks less than normal due to environmental conditions. The excessive amount of rain at planting caused many wheat fields to wash away or seed to rot in the ground. Fields have large areas of poor stands in them. Some of the grain that was planted around Thanksgiving looks pretty good.

Early planted small grain that was not grazed is beginning to joint. In the fields we were in, we found joints anywhere from 1 inch to 4 inches above the ground level. This certainly means that producers who haven't removed livestock from small grain need to be doing so. That grain that has been heavily grazed, the first joint was just slightly above ground level. Remember, when a cow removes that first joint, the head is gone from that small grain plant.

One other consideration that we have is the possibility of cold or freezing weather while this grain is jointing. Jointing is more rapid in early planted wheats and in those varieties which are considered early maturing wheats that have little vernalization requirements. Fertility does not initiate jointing. Temperature will cause jointing and with the warm winter that we have had, we are experiencing early jointing. Below are excerpts from a Kansas Experiment Station bulletin describing damage, symptoms and the temperature ranges which cause damage.

Temperatures that cause freeze injury to wheat at spring growth stages and symptoms and yield effect of spring freeze injury.

Growth stage	Approximate injurious temperature (two hours)	Primary symptoms	Yield effect
Tillering	12 F (-11 C)	Leaf chlorosis; burning of leaf tips; silage odor; blue cast to fields	Slight to moderate
Jointing	24 F (-4 C)	Death of growing point; leaf yellowing or burning; lesions, splitting, or bending of lower stem; odor.	Moderate to severe
Boot	28 F (-2 C)	Floret sterility; head trapped in boot; damage to lower stem; leaf discoloration; odor	Moderate to severe
Heading	30 F (-1 C)	Floret sterility; white awns or white heads; damage to lower stem; leaf discoloration	Severe
Flowering	30 F (-1 C)	Floret sterility; white awns or white heads; damage to lower stem; leaf discoloration	Severe
Milk	28 F (-2 C)	White awns or white heads; damage to lower stems; leaf discoloration; shrunkened, roughened, or discolored kernels	Moderate to Severe
Dough	28 F (-2 C)	Shriveled, discolored kernels; poor germination	Slight to Moderate

My Views from the Farm

by Ed Cler

There are many things that come about in our lifetimes that can make big changes in how we live, and what course we might take in order to earn a living. Not everything we do is of our own planning, but often due to the foresight and dreams of others.

Some of the greatest changes in our way of living were brought about by a group of men in our community, who for a time only dreamed of having electricity in most homes.

In 1938, they really went to work on their plan to get enough rural people signed up to form a Co-Op, that could borrow money from the Rural Electrification Administration, and contract to build the lines, and apparatus to do the job. Needless to say, they were successful and, in May of 1939, the first lines were energized.

A number of Muenster men were employed by the Co-Op at that time and I happened to be one of them. Leo Sicking, R.L. McNelly, a lineman (I can't seem to remember his name) and myself made up one crew that followed the lines and made the connections that finally fed the juice into the homes. Mac was the boss, did the driving; and after Leo had set the meter and I had tied in the hot wires, he would try a light, and if it burned, we were off to the next home.

Several of us had worked for the Co-Op in advance of any construction, laying out lines, staking the locations of poles and slug holes for the braces at corners and ends.

I have some fond memories of things that took place while I worked with Emmet Fette. He and I walked a lot of miles together, drove a lot of staves and shot a lot of "you-know-what."

Emmet had a real fear of the dogs that seemed to be in every yard. One day, we were in Henry Stelzer's yard, a little northwest of Myra, and suddenly there were about five dogs, from little to bigger, between us and the house, each one trying to act more ferocious than the other.

When I turned to where Emmet was - or had been - he was on top of a board lot fence. He was really scared. I asked him to come down and we would leave, as our work there was finished. When he refused, I remembered something an old friend had once told me, so I suddenly dropped to my hands and feet, ran directly at the dogs, snarling and making a lot of noise. The startled dogs ran for cover, and when I looked for Emmet, he was a hundred yards or so from the road, east of the place, and going strong. When I finally rejoined him at the road, he just looked at me and said, "You are the craziest man I have ever known."

Then there was my Mom who did my laundry for me every week. I thought, since she now had electricity, I would buy her a good electric iron to do my shirts and things so nicely. She wouldn't accept it, saying it would use too much expensive electricity. She wanted me to return it and get my money back.

After some argument, she agreed to keep it a week, after which time I would return it if she still wanted me to do so. The following week, I asked her if I was going to return the iron. She just smiled and said, "You'll never get that thing away from me."

The above paragraph is just one example of how the older people learned to use this new friend.

Soon, the oil fields were using electricity to pump wells, more and more people used it for more and more purposes, from pumping water to elevating hay and grain, to heating and cooling. People were hired, as new jobs and businesses opened. At this time, there are quite a number of people earning a living because of the dreams of a few farsighted Muenster people.

VVISD to hold election

by Elaine Schad

Valley View school trustees have called for a May 2 election to fill three positions on the school board.

The three-year terms of Jerry McKown, Harold Alexander and Charlene Ritchey will expire. Filing will be held through March 18 at the district administration office. The board appointed Lorene Sandmann as the Valley Viwe election judge at the high school and Marva Nehib for the Burns City polling place at the New Hope Baptist Church. Dorothy Chisam will be early voting clerk.

The board renewed the contracts of districts administrators. Receiving one-year contracts through the 1992-93 school year were Elementary Principal Beverly Hogan, High School Principal Benny West, Athletic Director Mark Davidson and Program Facilitator Kay Altha. The board also hired Mike Murrell, CPA, to conduct the district audit.

Red meat fits in low-fat diets, according to Dr. Diane H. Morris, a Winnipeg nutrition consultant formerly at Harvard and the University of Massachusetts. In a paper titled "Lean Meat as Part of a Cholesterol-Lowering Diet," Dr. Morris reviewed research in which the effects of different meats were studied. Morris said the research showed that moderate amounts of lean red meat can be included in low-fat diets designed to lower blood cholesterol levels. What's more, red meat provides many essential nutrients, such as protein, B vitamins, zinc and iron. In fact, Morris said women who regularly consume red meat have an iron status that is superior to those who rarely or never eat red meat.
