MVFD fights two fires Sunday... Mobile home destroyed, doctor's office damaged

Muenster Volunteer Firemen were called on twice within hours on Sunday, March 8, to extinguish structure fires. The first call came at 11:21 a.m. when neighbors reported a trailer home on fire 3 1/2 miles north of Muenster.

David and Tina Koelzer Marshall and their four-year-old son, Jessie, were living in the trailer, but nobody was home when the fire occurred. The trailer and most of its contents were destroyed.

Firefighters were delayed at the scene when the pump truck motor stalled and wouldn't start. Muenster Fire Chief Herbie Knabe recruited the city's newest truck into action before it was completely ready. "It wasn't equipped with hoses yet and we had to quickly change hoses when we got it out there," Knabe remarked. Twelve firemen responded and were on the scene until 12:55 p.m.

The cause of the fire was in the electrical wiring, either around the central heat and air unit or the water heater. The mobile home was wired with aluminum wiring which has been banned from the market for a number of years now, according to Knabe. The newer model mobile homes are equipped with a different type of wiring.

"The last four bad house fires were in trailer homes - the Harris, Coker, Harrison and Marshall homes," recalled the Fire Chief.

A second fire alarm sounded at 1:19 p.m. when personnel at the Muenster Hospital reported smelling smoke. Since a few firemen were still at the station from the first fire, they were able to respond within minutes. The fire was in an area apart from the hospital which is occupied by Dr. Enrique Juarez's office; therefore, the fire department's first goal was to contain the smoke so that it didn't get into the main part of the hospital.

The offices received heavy smoke damage, but very little water damage since it only required about 20 gallons of water to quench the fire. Fire damage was mostly in the kitchen area where an electric cooktop overheated, causing the fire.

Smoke was vented from the area by creating a fog stream that ran for 30 minutes. Muenster VFD was at the location for a little over an hour. Two trucks responded from Gainesville's Fire Department to help with the evacuation of the hospital should it be needed. "We didn't call them - they just heard that there was a fire at the Muenster Hospital and came to assist if needed," Knabe said. "We appreciate their effort."

Firemen were hampered in getting to the hospital fire by motorists coming to look. "People didn't stop or get out of the way even for the truck with the flashing lights," reported Knabe. "This is getting to be a problem and, if it continues, we will take license numbers and tickets will be issued to people who follow or don't yield to emergency vehicles." The fine for disregarding an emergency vehicle is $123.

People who drive over fire hoses don't realize the potential danger to firemen. This causes a cut-off of water flow that begins again unexpectedly.

It isn't advisable for people to stand around where firemen are working because of the many dangers. An example is that at the fire north of Muenster on Sunday, there was a loaded pistol placed on top of the home's refrigerator. The heat caused the bullets to go off and one went through the west wall of the trailer and lodged somewhere outside. Had someone been in the right place at the wrong time, the result could have been tragic.

Voters shake up government

Voters in Cooke County expressed their interest in county government by turning out in large numbers to vote in the Democratic and Republican Primaries on Tuesday, March 10. Joe Nichols surprised many people by taking a large lead in the Democratic race for sheriff nominee. The unexpectedly-wide margin quickly squelched hopes of other contenders to get another chance in a run-off election. Nichols will face Republican Jim Bleything in November.

Janelle Haverkamp defeated incumbent Phil Adams in the contest for district attorney. She doesn't have a Republican opponent and will be sworn into office in January 1993.

Cooke County Judge Ray Russell triumphed over his Democratic opponent Ed Zielinski. Judge Russell will run against Stephen Cole, the unopposed Republican nominee.

Jerry Lewis will serve another term as Commissioner of Precinct 3 after receiving more votes than challenger John Smith.

Two races have resulted in run-off elections slated for April 14. James Boone and Tom Crawford will face off for the position of Constable Precinct 1. Also, W.D. "Danny" Knight, incumbent, will take on Murrell F. Harrison in hopes of retaining his position as Commissioner of Precinct 1. Please See Page 2 for Election Results.

Task Force reports on success

by Elaine Schad

The North Texas Regional Drug Enforcement Task Force, which serves an 11-county area including Cooke County, has had success in its first two years of operations, assisting with major drug arrests through undercover investigations while seizing hundreds of thousands of dollars of drugs and property.

The task force played a major role in November's arrest of almost 20 Cooke County people in connection with distributing illegal drugs through a place in Gainesville known as the "Bread Barn." Several of those people, including Peter McCoy of Muenster, have been brought to trial or pleaded their cases, receiving some stiff sentences from Cooke County judges and juries. More are expected to be brought to trial this month.

In its first year of operation, the task force assisted with 104 arrests, seized illegal drugs with a street value of $276,655 and made seizures of property and cash totaling $141,000, said Jerry Riley, task force commander. During the first two quarters of its new year, the task force has played a role in 97 arrests, $202,000 in drug seizures and $42,000 in seized property, he said. The task force's largest haul in the present quarter of operation includes a chemical warehouse in the Wichita Falls area where chemicals were seized which would have produced 70 pounds of pure amphetamine, which would have had a street value of $11 million if processed, Riley said.

The task force is one of 50 others being funded by a federal block grant administered through the state that now works in 215 Texas counties. The North Texas Task Force is one of the newest, beginning operations in September 1990. "It's a team concept," said Riley. "The bad guys don't know any jurisdictional boundaries, and now we can follow them."

The North Texas Task Force includes six officers in addition to Riley, all from the Wichita Falls Police Department and a Department of Public Safety narcotics sergeant. Their major operation area stretches east to Cooke County, west to Hardeman and Quanah, and includes Montague and Jack counties among the 11 counties served.

The experience of the task force plus a focus on drugs helps in making drug arrests and making good cases to present to juries, said Riley. The task force makes use of technology, with a video camera proving especially effective, he said. The McCoy trial included evidence in which McCoy was shown selling cocaine to an undercover narcotics officer. He received 99 years in prison for selling 1.38 grams. It was his first conviction.

"I got the pick of the crop," said Riley of his task force members. "They're highly motivated and they like what they do."

But drugs are still everywhere, and it is important for the public to remain involved and assist law enforcement, said Riley. "There's a lot of stuff out there on the streets," he said. "We've had an impact, but I think we're just holding the line."

Dr. Jon Tompkins joins staff of MMH; office opens April 2

Dr. Jon S. Tompkins will be opening his office in the south wing of Muenster Memorial Hospital on April 2. He offers services in general and internal medicine for adolescents age 12 and over, and adults.

A desire to relocate out of the Metroplex into a smaller community prompted Dr. Tompkins to leave established practice of 19 years in Dallas and move to Muenster. "He will be an asset to the hospital because he can do general medicine as well as specialties, take his turn on call for the emergency room, and enable us to keep patients in Muenster that would have been referred elsewhere," said MMH Board member Debbie Hess. With him on staff, the hospital will be able to offer tests, ECHO cardiograms and other procedures to determine if high-risk patients should have surgery."

Included in the various services offered by Dr. Tompkins are: care in cardiology, gastroenterology, pulmonary diseases, endocrinology, preventive medicine, heart disease, hypertension and he will do medical and pre-surgical consultations. Some of the tests he will offer are vascular testing, stress EKGs, echo cardiograms, upper and lower GIs, endoscopy, stomach and colon scopes, and pulmonary function testing.

"We are fortunate and glad to have a specialist such as Dr. Tompkins join the staff of Muenster Memorial Hospital," said Herman Carroll, MMH administrator. "We have ordered some equipment needed by Dr. Tompkins that should be here by April 1. This includes cardiac stress equipment and cardiac monitoring devices (including Holter monitors). He is bringing some of his own equipment such as that needed in respiratory testing."

Jon Tompkins was born in Wichita, Kansas. He attended the public schools there. He was offered a scholarship at the University of Pennsylvania. After graduating from the University, Tompkins attended Medical School in Kirksville, Missouri, graduating in 1967.

Dr. Tompkins did his internship and a three-year medical residency in Dallas at East Town Hospital which is now Trinity Hospital. Also, he did subspecialty rotations at Parkland and Dallas VA Hospitals. In 1973, he entered private practice in Dallas and worked out of Trinity Hospital, Doctors' Hospital and Mesquite Community Hospital.

In July of 1977, Dr. Tompkins was certified as a Diplomate of the American Osteopathic Board of Internal Medicine and, in 1983, as a Fellow of the American College of Osteopathic Internists. He also gained experience in military service by serving as a Captain in the Army Medical Corps from 1968-70.

Other impressive services accepted by Dr. Tompkins in the medical field include: Chief of Staff, East Town Hospital, 1979-80; Physician Advisor for Texas Medical Foundation Utilization Review, 1986, quality assurance committee for North Texas, 1987-91; Co-Director, Emergency Department, Metropolitan Hospital, 1988; Director, Emergency Department, Tri-City Hospital, January-July, 1989; Medical Director, Cardio-pulmonary Department, Tri-City Hospital, 1989-91; Chairman, ICU Committee, Tri-City Hospital, 1990.

Marlene Hess to tour D.C. as contest winner

Marlene Hess, a Muenster High School junior, has won a 12-day, all-expenses paid trip to Washington, D.C. in a contest sponsored by Cooke County Electric Cooperative.

Hess, a finalist in the Washington Youth Tour Contest for the second year in a row, placed first among five finalists in a speech competition Sunday, March 8. Runner-up was Angela Payne, a senior at Callisburg High School. Other finalists, selected in an essay contest, were Jennifer Sicking, a senior at CHS; Chelby Schoppa, a junior at MHS; and Stacie Kammerdiener, a junior at Gainesville High School. Thirty-two students entered. The contest was open to high school students living in homes receiving electric service from the Cooperative.

Hess, 16, daughter of Earl and Mary Ann Hess, spoke on the importance of electricity to quality of rural life, using the inspiration of a day when a power outage left her home cold and dark. Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barry Payne of Walnut Bend Road, spoke on energy conservation and its promise for the future.

If Hess is unable to go on the trip, Payne will be next in line. Hess, an honor student at MHS, is drum major and a member of the Student Council. She participates in cross country track and UIL informative speaking competition.

The Texas Electric Cooperatives began its Washington Youth Tour in the mid-1960s, inspired by comments Lyndon Johnson made when addressing the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. It is designed to give outstanding young people from across Texas an opportunity to see government in action and learn about electric cooperatives. Each year, upward of 60 outstanding young men and women gather in Lewisville to begin a 12-day journey to the nation's capital, complete with personal visits to their congressmen and stops at numerous points of interest.

Paul Hutchins, speech and drama instructor at Cooke County College; Roy Baggett, English instructor at CCC; and Kathy Williams, city editor of The Sherman Democrat, served as the speech competition judges. The essays were judged by a panel that included Ed Sipes of Wise Electric Cooperative, Charles Christian of Lamar Electric Cooperative and Susan Haverty of Denton County Electric Cooperative.

"CCEC brings in well-qualified outsiders to judge the contest so we can be as fair as possible to each participant," said General Manager Phil Slater.

Judges praised the quality of material and the delivery of the students.

All students in the finals had written excellent essays and performed well at the podium. Jennifer Sicking, daughter of Melvin and Sheila Sicking of Rt. 1, Whitesboro, spoke on the history of Cooke County Electric Cooperative. Chelby Schoppa, daughter of Jack C. and Debra Schoppa of Rt. 1, Saint Jo, and Stacie Kammerdiener of Rt. 1, Gainesville, used their speeches to encourage energy conservation.

Good News!

Yet even now, says the Lord, return to me with your whole heart, with fasting, and weeping, and mourning; Rend your hearts, not your garments, and return to the Lord, your God, for gracious and merciful is he, slow to anger, rich in kindness, and relenting in punishment.

“Views From A Heartland Campus”

BY GEORGE ROCHE, PRESIDENT, HILLSDALE COLLEGE

An Affirmation of Life

How many words have been written about Magic Johnson and his positive HIV test? We've read all the accolades for the grace with which he announced his retirement from the L.A. Lakers and his acceptance of a new role as AIDS educator to America's adventurous young. Likewise, we've heard all the criticism for his initial choice of "safe sex" over abstinence as the lesson to be taught.

One shouldn't be flip about someone's personal tragedy, but it strikes me that Magic Johnson's plight is almost a metaphor of our time. Here we see a gifted athlete who has overcome adversity and pulled himself up by his talent and determination—a man whose single-mindedness and professional discipline took him to the very pinnacle of achievement—and who is now brought low by the consequences of undisciplined human appetite.

Did Johnson assume that tasting the charms offered so readily by female fans and groupies was his right—that being an unattached, attractive celebrity, he was free to sow his wild oats in any waiting field? He certainly wouldn't have been alone in such an assumption. All too many men—and not a few women—see the absence of a marriage license as a certain kind of license in itself. In today's charged sexual atmosphere, there are opportunities aplenty. You don't even have to be famous.

But it seems to me that this sad situation is about more than sex. It's a common temptation to assume that once we have done great things, we can do anything—to assume that wealth, fame, success can shield us from paying the price of self-indulgence. In a sense, that's the guiding principle of our society today.

This is the nation that crushed Nazi aggression militarily and, a half-century later, overwhelmed communism with technology, communications and economic might. We raised standards of life, health and literacy to levels never seen before, and spread those benefits to the largest number of people in human experience. We dominated the world's commerce in industrial innovation, marketing savvy and cultural appeal.

The American can do spirit—our willingness to work hard, improvise, put off immediate rewards for the prospect of long-term improvement—took us to the pinnacle. But sitting on top of the world, it was easy to lose sight of some basic realities:

Such as, education takes effort and is frequently not fun.

Such as, success requires sacrifice, determination and good judgment.

Such as, financial health, like physical health, calls for self-restraint and faithfulness to commitments—or at the very least, not taking a fling at every beguiling prospect that passes our way.

Forgetting such truths, we have slipped the bonds of caution, let our passions dictate our acts, and contracted some very harmful infections. We are eaten out with envy of other people's wealth. We are sick with the disease of profligacy, feverish with the desire to enjoy comforts we did not earn, spend money we do not have. The deficit and our current sense of national drift are only the most obvious symptoms.

The result is that we have lost any feeling of obligation to the future, and in the words of commentator G.K. Chesterton, have become willing to sacrifice the permanent to the temporary. With little sense that there is anything ahead of us worth depriving ourselves for, our spiritual prospects are as limited as the physical prospects of someone facing AIDS.

But just as Magic Johnson seems to be rethinking the lesson of his unfortunate experience—that safe sex may not be quite the ultimate goal after all—we may yet recognize the price we are paying, as a society, for our lapses in judgment and control.

The beginning of a new year is an occasion to reexamine the value of self-denial. We should reconsider the long-known, but often forgotten, truth that abstinence is a positive, constructive force. It doesn't just mean saying no. It means making important choices between opportunities presented to us, and reserving precious resources until the right opportunity comes along.

Self-discipline is not easy, to be sure. But in the end, it is an affirmation of life.

Gramm presses for anti-crime bill adoption

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has vowed to bring the president's anti-crime bill to a vote in the Senate "every week until it passes."

"Our bleeding nation demands action," Gramm said. Gramm, along with Sens. Strom Thurmond (R-SC) and Bob Dole (R-Kansas), have re-introduced the legislation, which contains a death penalty for drug murders and mandatory sentences for a range of drug-related crimes.

"If there was one outrage in the United States Congress that stands head and shoulders above any other last year, it was that the Congress did not adopt a strong anti-crime bill," Gramm said.

The senator said that by spurring a weekly debate and vote on the legislation, "the public will become aware that there are some people who are concerned about crime and violence and that something is going to happen."

Gramm said he would oppose legislation to expand criminals' rights. "Until those of us who are not victims of crime become as outraged as those who are victims, things are not going to change," he said.

"We are not going to let this issue simply sit there any longer," said Gramm. "We want something done about it."

Civic-minded candidates are needed!

Wednesday, March 18, is the deadline for filing for candidacy in the May 2 City, Hospital Board and Muenster ISD School Board elections. As of deadline Wednesday, there were still openings in the Hospital Board and City Council elections. Muenster ISD officials were unavailable for comment since Spring Break began Wednesday.

In the City elections Places 4, 2 and 1 are up for election. Place 4 incumbent Arthur Hennigan and Place 2 incumbent Aubry Tuggle have filed for re-election. Joe Koesler now holds Place 1 and hadn't filed as of Wednesday. Celine Dittfurth, city secretary, reminds any one wishing to run to file by 5 p.m. next Wednesday, March 18.

Five terms will expire on the MMH Board of Directors. Debbie Hess, Lisa Walterscheid, Dr. Enrique Juarez, Werner Becker Jr. and David Bright hold the expiring terms. As of press time Wednesday, only three candidates had filed. These were Debbie Hess, Werner Becker Jr. and Don Flusche. All interested persons are urged to contact Herman Carroll at the Muenster Hospital or to mail their completed forms to Chuck Bartush Jr.

Perry calls on school districts to review bid specifications

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry is urging Texas school districts to review their food purchase bid specifications and remove any barriers that discriminate against Texas goods and products.

Perry said that bid specifications that favor other states not only thwart Texas agriculture but hurt the entire Texas economy.

"Although it may be inadvertent, bid specifications used by many Texas school districts actually require that certain commodities be grown outside our state," Perry said in a letter to school board members and other school officials statewide. "Some districts' bid requirements specify, for example, the use of Washington apples, Florida green peppers or California tomatoes."

"Yet, these same products - and many others - are grown right here in Texas in large quantities, of excellent quality and at competitive prices."

"When allowed to compete on a level playing field, Texas farmers can go head to head with the finest producers the world over," Perry said. "But when a school district effectively shuts out Texas products, they make the playing field anything but fair."

In his letter, Perry is encouraging school districts to review their bid specifications. "If they are unfairly written," he said, "I urge you to change them so that Texas producers have the same access to our school food service industry as do non-Texas growers."

Texas' public schools produce some two million lunches and 600,000 breakfasts daily, and spend some $500 million on food purchases every year.

Antioch is a success!

by Lisa Schilling

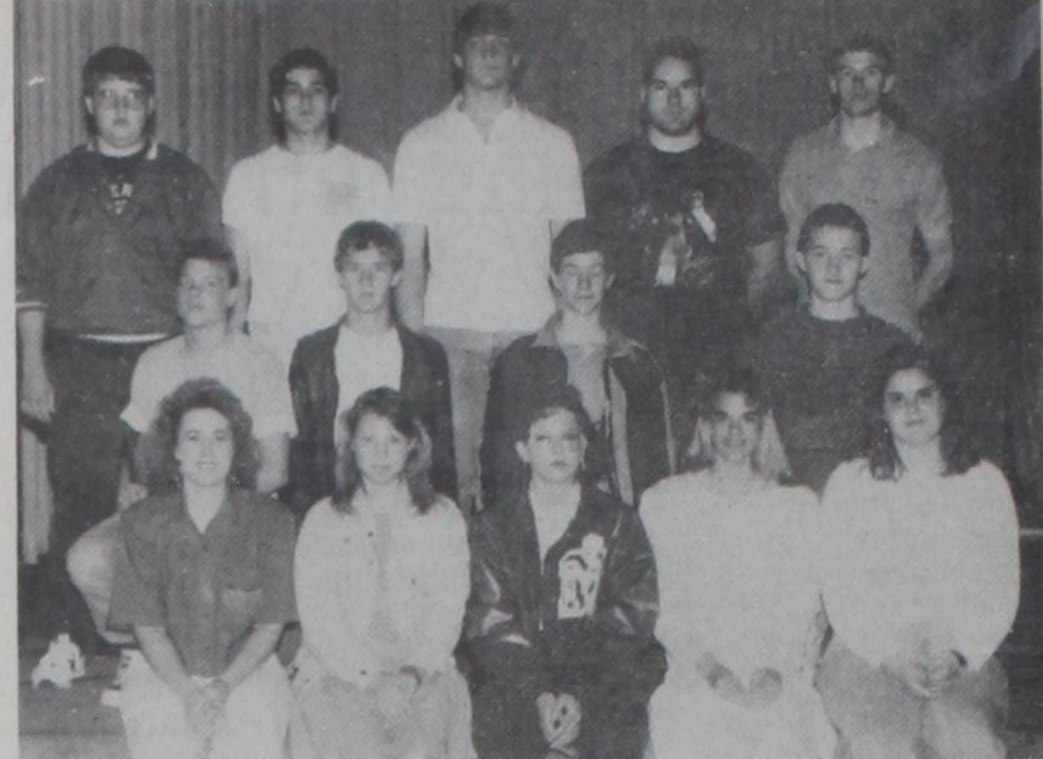

On Friday, March 6, the team members and the adult leaders joined together in the Community Center which began the spiritual weekend known as Antioch. The evening began with songs and games which helped the teenagers to relax. Team members Stevan Nasche and Kristi Bierschenk introduced all of the leaders and told what was going to happen over the weekend. Chris Hess and Lisa Schilling also gave personal talks on Friday night. All those participating in the weekend were divided up into small groups in which they were to share questions over the talks.

Saturday began with a well-rounded breakfast at 8 a.m. The day consisted of more talks given by Kenneth Walterscheid, Julie Hess, Lisa Hamric and Sharon Fuhrmann. Everyone was given two hours of free time after lunch to play volleyball, basketball, or watch a movie. Saturday evening, a special candlelight dinner was served by the students' teachers. The groups also made posters and received the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

Sunday brought the closing of the weekend. Talks were given by Tonya Knabe, Rex Huchton, Ryan Sicking and Jennifer Walter. Each group performed a skit for everyone to enjoy. At 4 p.m., everyone attended Mass, and returned back to the Community Center for a snack. Before parents were brought in, a prayer vigil was held and commitments to Jesus were made.

Antioch is usually a very special weekend for everyone. It is a weekend filled with God's grace and the Holy Spirit. Many people deserve to be thanked for putting so much time and effort into making the weekend a success, and for creating a great memory for all of those who participated to remember forever.

LUCAS HARTMAN

Lucas is geography bee winner

Lucas Hartman, Muenster ISD sixth grader, recently received notice that he has qualified to participate at the State level of the National Geography Bee. This contest will be held on Friday, March 27, 1992, at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. Lucas, the son of Roy and Irene Hartman, is the student of Mary Ahrens. He earned this chance by winning Muenster ISD's geography bee, sponsored locally by the National Honor Society; and then he qualified for the state bee by performing well on a written qualifying test which was sent to the National Geographic Society in Washington, D.C.

The winner of the state bee wins a free trip to our nation's capital and a chance at several valuable scholarships. Good luck, Lucas!

Exhibit features Texas women

An exhibit at Morton Museum in Gainesville, on display from March 4 through March 31, highlights the impact of women on Texas culture, government, economy, family and community life.

In short, women made life worth living for men, children and entire communities. They brought civilized life to Texas.

The exhibit includes an overview of Texas women's experiences and achievements, plus five sections dedicated to the following topics: "The Survivors," who faced hardship, loneliness, suffering and scarcity; "The Politicians," women who took action when they saw a problem or experienced an inequity; "The Workers," in factories, fields, offices, hospitals, classrooms, shops and homes; "The Builders" of community life and service; "The Enrichers," who enhanced literature, sports, drama, entertainment and fashion.

"Texas Women Exhibit" brings to the forefront women whose contributions to the State are often ignored by historians, but who played a vital role in Texas history.

Come see the tulips!

Tulips are blooming by the thousands around the home of Thurman and Ann Scivally. "They are blooming in waves, but because of the unusual weather this year, the flowers aren't holding their blooms for long," said Mrs. Scivally.

She invites all interested persons to come by and see the spring blooms. She expects this week and weekend to be the best show. The address is 400 Hillside in Gainesville. Turn east on Broadway by Tom Thumb, follow Broadway past the baseball field and cemetery (Hillside will be the street just after Elmwood), take a left on Hillside and the Scivally home will be on the second block north.

THE EARTH'S UNANSWERED PRAYER
The Weeping Willows are crying.
The flowers smiling faces have vanished.
Earth's vegetation is dying.
Children have lost their playgrounds.
Adults act as though they're trying to protect our earth.
But are they really just lying?
The earth just whispers -
PLEASE, SAVE ME!

You've hurt them.
You've killed them.
You've seen them cry.
With their saddened hearts,
You've seen them die.

Their homes are gone,
with a single spark.
Their environment disappears,
with your deathening blow.
All are gone.
Never will they return,
to romp or roam.
But do you care?
No one knows,
you die in despair.

New surgical technique that seems to control atrial fibrillation was developed at Washington University in St. Louis. The "maze" procedure has been successful with patients over a period of four years.

There's a correlation between tooth loss and high blood pressure. Professors at the University of California at San Francisco found that people without teeth usually eat soft, processed foods that are high in fat, salt and sugar.

"Little League elbow" is a not-common overuse injury in active children who have not yet reached skeletal maturity, Physician and Sportsmedicine reports. Stop pitching and rest, the doctors say. Ignoring the pain may lead to permanent disability.

We're not all the same under the skin. Scientists at the University of California at Los Angeles are now studying how different ethnic groups metabolize medications. Some groups keep certain drugs in the bloodstream longer, they find.

THE GREENHOUSE EFFECT
Fools, the ones who stray
The rain forest burns away
Know what to believe
This is the air we breathe
So the world we know is dying slow in South America,
Flames are burning down,
all the trees to the ground.

Time is running low,
we can't stay no more Wealth, these people see
Fight for Eternity
Lies, they televise, paid by the government
There on! It lingers on and they don't even care if they
Seal the planet's Fate
Crimes they perpetuate
Wasting precious land
It's time to take a stand

Our only hope to breathe again to stop the madness closing in What will we do? When all is lost
An Environmental Holocaust.

Foes, these people go,
Someone destroyed their home
Plagued with disease,
Laws protect the land
Social Justice in demand
Smoke, it fills the air into the atmosphere
On! it lingers on and they don't even care.

STUDENTS of Sacred Heart School took an active part in the Muenster Tornado Drill Wednesday, March 11. Muenster's drill was part of a special test of the North Texas NOAA Weather Radio alarm system. Scheduled during Severe Weather Awareness Week, it gave local schools, hospitals and businesses the opportunity to see if they could hear the warning signal and carry out precautionary actions. Joe Fenton, city manager, and Herbie Knabe, Muenster fire chief, coordinated the local drill. They observed teachers and students at Sacred Heart during the drill. According to Fenton, the warning siren was audible Wednesday, but wouldn't have been had there been a lot of activity such as a change of classes. Fenton praised teachers and students for their participation in the practice drill.

MPS 5th-6th graders hold mock election Tues.

The Muenster Public School 5th and 6th grade classes held their own "Super Tuesday" election this week. Each student was given a voter registration card and a ballot. Before they voted, the classes covered the candidates running and their plans if elected.

Election officials from each classroom were chosen and ran the polls. Votes were tallied and results reported.

President George Bush was re-elected with Bill Clinton and Patrick Buchanan trailing with half the votes that Bush received. Barry Williamson swept the Railroad Commission vote. For Supreme Court, Oscar Mauzy and Jack Hightower won their places with Rose Spector and Eugene Cook tied for Place 2.

Locally, Janelle Haverkamp took the district attorney office from Phil Adams with a 37-16 count. Ray Russell was re-elected as county judge, getting 3/4 of the classes' votes. In the sheriff's race, Joe Nichols won outright with 29 votes, Jim Bleything came in second with 10, followed by Bill Pratt with 9. Willie Hennessy got 6 votes, John Aston 5 and Dale Washburn 1.

The classes then used the results in Math class and Social Studies class. It was a good opportunity for the students to take part in our government.

THIRD GRADE ACTIVITIES

by Christy Yosten
The Sacred Heart third grade is staying busy this year with many fun activities. They are very excited about their space journey. One of the students is traveling to the nearest galaxy and one to the nearest star. The students are hoping they will make it back by the end of the school year. On one of the journeys, the class was to collect 800 cereal boxes. After a month, 108 boxes were collected. On one journey, the class acquired two cardboard trees which are proudly displayed in the classroom.

The class is excited about their play, "Anansi, The African Spider." The date of their performance has not been set at this point.

The highpoint of the students' school day is the kickball competition. It takes place at morning break, lunch break and afternoon break. Mr. Steve Kohler, the third grade teacher, officiates the game.

WHAT IS LENT?

by Bernice Bartel
Lent is a religious season observed in the spring by Christian churches. It begins on Ash Wednesday, 40 days before Easter, and ends on Easter Sunday. The term "Lent" comes from the old English word "lencten," which meant springtime. Lent is part of the regular church year in the Roman Catholic, Anglican, Eastern Orthodox and Protestant Episcopal churches. In the Roman Catholic Church, each day of Lent has its special Mass. Clergymen wear purple vestments at the services.

Many Christians observe Lent by fasting, performing penance, giving alms, abstaining from amusements, or not solemnizing marriages. The season originated as one of spiritual preparation for Easter in remembrance of the passion, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. It also symbolized the mourning of the Church, the bride, for the departure of Christ, the bridegroom.

Interestingly enough, the length of time for observing Lent is 40 days, which may serve as a reminder of the 40 days that Jesus Christ fasted in the wilderness!

Lent has always been a special time for our religion and will always be a reminder of Christ's love for us.

CREATIVITY

For Mrs. Linda Ellender's Homemaking II class, "creativity" was the word for the days of Feb. 18-28. Mrs. Ellender introduced her class to the art of wreath decorating. She taught the students some of the basic steps of designing a wreath. She demonstrated the placement of flowers and the making of bows to the students. She explained the importance of arranging the flowers just right to carry out the look of the wreath effectively.

Some of the students chose wreaths made of grapevine to decorate. Cindy Schilling decorated two wreaths: one made of grapevine, the other made of straw. She decorated the wreaths with flowers, baby's breath and wrapped one with ribbon. Shirley Henseid decorated a grapevine wreath with flowers, baby's breath and ribbon. Her mother, Carol Henseid, made doilies which were in the shape of a hat and a fan. Shirley had decorated them with flowers and ribbon. Jo Vagher did not do a wreath; instead, she decorated a broom made of straw with flowers and baby's breath. Chris Hess decorated a white grapevine wreath with flowers. Then, for a little special touch, he put a rosary, belonging to his grandmother Caroline Hess, in the center of the wreath. Mrs. Ellender got into the act, too. She decorated a wreath, a semi-circled wreath and a brass horn.

Not only did the students learn of a new art, but they brought out their talents and abilities!

THE GREAT MAIL RACE

by Kelly Bell
The fifth grade class of Sacred Heart School has participated in the Great Mail Race since Feb. 14. The fifth grade was introduced to the Great Mail Race by some students in the town of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma. They received a letter addressed to "any student, any school, Muenster, Texas." In the letter the fifth grade received was a questionnaire. The fifth grade class answered the questionnaire and mailed the letter back to the students of Broken Arrow.

The fifth graders have selected schools in different states to send letters. They hope that they will hear from the students of the schools soon. The enquiring students of the fifth grade class are: Adam Barnhill, Stephen Bartush, Allison Bayer, Lucas Bayer, Joe Becker, Duncan Campbell, Carrie Coker, Deann Felderhoff, Janet Fetsch, Russell Fette, Lucien Gehrig, Courtney Grewing, Jesse Luke, Patrick Miller, Amanda Mollenkopf, Joseph Reiter, Charlie Schilling, Betty Trevino, Amy Truebenbach, Debra Voth and Nicholas Yosten.

MMH Auxiliary sets goals for upcoming year

During their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Feb. 27, members of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Auxiliary voted to work toward purchasing a bather to be installed in a space in the hospital now occupied by a shower and tub area. The bather includes a whirlpool and sitz-bath. Installation of the bather will be a big help to the nursing staff because there is presently no easy way to bathe or shower wheelchair patients. Estimated cost of the bather is $15,000.

Donna Biffle, Deb Klement and Bertha Hamric, chairmen for the Germanfest Gate fundraising project, reported that 100 workers would be needed to fill the various four-hour shifts at the Germanfest gates. Peggy Grewing, president, read the terms of the contract with the Muenster Chamber of Commerce so that everyone would know what was expected of them.

Plans were discussed for the Red Cross Blood Drive on Wednesday, March 18, for which the Auxiliary will provide cookies and orange juice. Marlene Endres and Denise Pagel are project chairmen.

Doctor's Day is March 30 and the Auxiliary members voted to show appreciation of the doctors who are actively involved in the Muenster Hospital by hosting a formal dinner for them on Saturday, March 28. Juanita Bright accepted chairmanship of this project.

Peggy Grewing announced the results of the survey taken at the January meeting. The number one goal of the organization is to promote publicity for the hospital; suggestion for fundraisers were a dance, Germanfest and a variety or style show.

In other business: a suggestion on sustaining memberships was discussed; activities for the hospital's 28th anniversary were explained; Betty Rose Walterscheid was thanked for making a new wreath for the hospital's front lobby; Margie Starke announced that Coors is sponsoring a Sharpshooter Contest during Germanfest and that all proceeds will be donated to the hospital; and a program on living wills-advance directives was selected for March.

TDH posts state health objectives for the year 2000

This month, the Texas Department of Health began distribution of an important blueprint for future health called Healthy Texans 2000 Partnership. This document offers a vision of a new century of better health for all Texans.

The 74-page document is the product of a statewide effort involving more than 1,000 Texans from the public, private and voluntary sectors and is modeled after Healthy People 2000, a national strategy for improving the health of the nation during this decade. It addresses the prevention of major chronic illnesses, injuries and infectious diseases, including violent and abusive behavior, environmental health and HIV infection.

"The purpose of Healthy Texans 2000 partnership is to make a commitment to three broad goals," said Dr. Robert A. MacLean, acting commissioner of health. "Those goals are to increase the span of healthy life for Texans, to reduce health disparities among Texans, and to achieve access to preventive health services for all Texans."

"This set of objectives for the year 2000 makes an important, compelling point to us and to all health policymakers: we can no longer afford not to invest in prevention," said Dr. Ron J. Anderson, chairman of the Texas Board of Health. "Medical care alone will not eliminate the devastating impact of chronic disease on the disadvantaged, nor will it reduce the rate of infant mortality or the burden of homicide and violence or any of the other health problems borne by our society. From the perspective of avoiding human suffering as well as saving wasteful costs in treating diseases and injuries that could have been prevented, the 1990s should be the decade of prevention in Texas."

The cooperative process, known as the Texas Health Objectives for 1990 and begun in the early 1980s to prevent and control the many serious health threats Texans face, continues with Healthy Texans 2000 partnership. Strategies are recommended which will result in achieving the health objectives for each health problem. Some recommendations list the names of organizations which may play a key role. Although a group may play a lead role, other community resources may be essential for success.

"We predict that with all of us - health professionals, local and state officials, the general public and others - working together to fulfill Texas' year 2000 health objectives, we will make a difference in the lives of millions of Texans - many yet to be born," Dr. Anderson said.

Muenster Junior High tracksters begin season

Muenster Junior High track teams participated in a meet last Friday in Paradise. The boys brought home third place and the girls fifth overall in the meet.

Cody Sicking led the boys with three gold and a silver medal. His first place finishes were in the high jump with a winning height of 5'2"; the 300m hurdles; and 110 hurdles with times of 44.6 and 18.77. Cody's jump of 17'3/4" gave him a second place in the long jump. Sicking was also a member of the sprint relay team that finished 4th with Eric Miller, Jeff Flusche and James Klement working together for a 53.03 race.

Jeff Flusche also brought home three other fourth place finishes with a 31'9" shot throw, finishing the 400m race at 63.2 and as a member of the mile relay with John Tuggle, Chris Felderhoff and James Klement. Eric Miller earned a fourth place in the 110m hurdle with Jonathan Otto finishing seventh. James Klement was also awarded a fifth place in the 800 and John Tuggle fifth in the 400m run.

Tony Hartman and Steven Reiter also competed in the 200m dash, but the places were not recorded.

Julia Fleitman took the lone gold medal for the girls, finishing the 1600m run in a time of 6:19. Andrea Klement won the silver in the shot and took the bronze in the discus. In the triple jump, Amanda Russell finished 4th and Jody Thweatt 5th. Distances were not recorded in these field events.

The 400m relay team of Amanda Russell, Jody Thweatt, Melissa Biffle and Julia Fleitman finished 3rd with a time of 58.2. The 1600m relay's finish of 5:06 was good enough for a 4th place. That team consists of Mary Knabe, Becky Fette, Mindy Hennigan and Chrissy Yetter. Misty Klement's time of 6:33 earned her a 4th place ribbon in the 1600m run.

The 800m relay, made up of Brandi Lutkenhaus, Melissa Biffle, Carrie Hess and Leasha Perryman, finished 5th, with a time of 2:08.1. Muenster will host a junior high meet on Thursday, March 26.

Bayer named All-Star

Sacred Heart's senior forward Vickie Bayer was selected by the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools as a member of the North squad for their annual All-Star Game. The All-Star Game climaxes the TAPPS All-Star Weekend in Dallas.

Bayer's selection to the squad is an honor in which she will play with, and against, some of the top players in TAPPS. As the Tigerettes' second leading rebounder and third leading scorer and the Tigerettes' defensive stopper, Bayer's selection is of no surprise. "She is a great competitor," said Tigerette mentor Jon LeBrasseur. "Vickie's selection is a great honor and she will represent the Tigerettes well."

The All-Star Weekend was held in Dallas this past weekend. The players were honored at a banquet in their honor at the Harvey Hotel and displayed their skills in the All-Star games on Saturday. At the game, hosted by the University of Dallas, Bayer's North Squad was defeated by the South 69-56. Bayer scored and collected five rebounds and handed out three assists.

MHS Lady Golfers get 2nd in first tournament

The MHS Varsity Girls' Golf Team competed at the Lake Country Golf Club Monday in the Keller Golf Tournament. In their first tournament of the year, the Lady Hornets received a second place plaque.

"The girls played well," said Coach Brian Strother. "The course was tough and muddy."

Kelley Wimmer was a second place medalist with a score of 108. Jami Flusche shot a 113, Brandi Grewing a 119, Lori Graham 147 and Kim Stewart a 165 score. "The girls will get better when they start practicing," continued the coach. "I was real pleased with their effort and they had a good time competing together."

MIKE HOFBAUER and Cody Goolsby "cap" the wall of the ball park bleachers as repairs are underway. The top wall has been open since its construction in the mid-1940s, allowing rain to fall into the bricks, causing deterioration of the structure. Seventy-five 2"x8"x16" bricks "roof" the wall with other repairs also being done before paint will be applied.

Thanks!

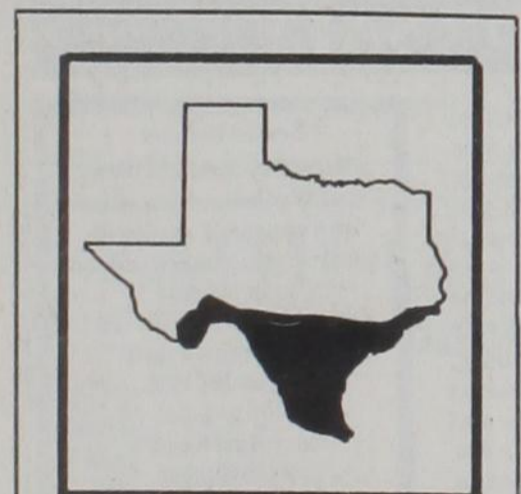

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all my supporters, many of whom are unknown to me. Your help has made the difference; I could not have achieved this victory without you.

I also wish to thank the voters of Cooke County who recognized the true issues of the race and the qualifications of the candidates.

Finally, I wish to apologize to those of you whom I did not get to meet personally; there were too many fellow citizens and not enough time. I hope in the near future to meet and visit with each of you. My office is open to everyone. Thanks again!
