Mass celebrated by Most Reverend Joseph P. Delaney, Bishop of Fort Worth and concelebrated by Rev. Victor Gillespie and Rev. Camillus Cooney preceded commencement exercises for Sacred Heart High School seniors on Friday, May 28 in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. He expressed deep gratitude to the Sacred Heart faculty and staff and urged everyone to have confidence in the graduates.

MMH Board elects new officers, discusses finances

by Janet Felderhoff

On Wednesday, May 26 the four newly elected members of the Muenster Hospital Board of Directors took their oath of office. Being sworn in were Sam Endres, Stan Endres, Jerry Hess and Margie Starke. They join Werner Becker, Jr., Don Flusche, David Bright, and Lora Hennigan.

Election of officers was first on the agenda. Don Flusche was voted chairman, David Bright vice-chairman, and Margie Starke secretary.

Jack Endres asked that the members make a decision on appointing someone to fill the board vacancy left after the death of Dr. Juarez. After some discussion it was decided that it would be best to ask that anyone interested in serving a year's term on the hospital board submit their name to Jack Endres, administrator by June 23. All interested persons will be considered and will be voted on at the June meeting.

With an operating loss of $13,425.00 Mr. Endres noted that April was the best month that the hospital had had in over a year. Total revenues were $138,295.00 and total expenses were $151,720.00.

Jack Endres gave an update regarding the bill that the board hopes to have brought before the Texas Legislature if there is a special session this year. It is the board's intention to seek passage of a bill that will allow the Muenster Hospital District to levy a tax to assist with operating expenses. If the legislature approves the bill, the people in the hospital district will vote to approve or disapprove of a tax.

The Muenster Hospital District has the authority to levy a tax to fund indigent accounts, but does not impose this tax. The board is working to change their enabling legislation to tax for operating expenses. It is only a precautionary measure and even if it is passed by the voters it will not be enacted unless it is absolutely necessary.

At its present rate of operation the Muenster Hospital will only be able to stay open for another year and a half. The earliest a tax could be in place is October of 1994. This would help keep the hospital operating longer, hopefully until more physicians can be recruited and more business generated.

Don Flusche asked the new board members how they would feel about a tax for operation expenses. It was noted that according to official sources, the Muenster Hospital District is the only hospital district in the state of Texas that does not impose a tax. Should the Muenster Hospital not tax and close, you can count on a tax from either the Gainesville Hospital District or the county, said Jack Endres.

Dr. Jon Thompson and JoAnn Walterscheid have organized a Pediatric Seminar for Wednesday, June 16. Muenster Memorial Hospital is cosponsoring the seminar with Cook Children's Medical Center of Fort Worth. All surrounding hospitals have been invited to participate.

An orthopedic surgeon, John Kristoferson, M.D., P.A., has begun seeing patients in Muenster on Tuesday afternoons. He will only perform minor surgeries in the Muenster Hospital at the present time, but it is a future goal to purchase the needed equipment to do more surgeries.

At Don Flusche's suggestion, members discussed an appropriate gesture to show appreciation for the many years of work former board member Al Felderhoff gave to the hospital. He served on the board since its inception.

The meeting was closed for executive session at 8:35 p.m.

Arthur Hennigan and Post Quartermaster Don Eckart. Servers for the Mass were David Hesse, Stephen Bartush and Nicholas Yosten.

Immediately following the Mass, the Post Color Guard led the procession to Sacred Heart Cemetery where Auxiliary Chaplain Ethel Hesse placed a floral tribute to all the deceased of the parish at the Crucifixion Statues and Auxiliary

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I would like to ask my fellow parishioners to again be generous to our flea market which is part of the Country Store at the Father's Day Picnic. It will be here before we know it.
We have very generous people in our parish and community and I sincerely thank you.
We can use all sorts of things. I would like your best cellar items - things you would put in your cellar if you had a cellar.
Someone's junkie can become someone's treasure. I would like your "junkie" to sell at the picnic.
If you have a box to be picked up, I will gladly do so. Or you can bring it to my house or to the Parish Hall on Friday or Saturday, June 11 or 12. My phone number is 759-2751.
And, please, no furniture. We can't handle that. Thank you sincerely.

Dear Editor:
When Bill Clinton announced his candidacy for president, he told the press, "I will offer middle-income cuts. The average family's tax bill will go down 10 percent."
Just 30 days into his new presidency, he introduced a proposal to raise $380 billion in new taxes, primarily from the very folks he promised to lower taxes for.
Let's see what would happen under his promised scenario. It has been surmised by several economists that the 4th quarter 1992 jump to an incredible post-recession GDP rate of 4.8% was mostly due to Bush's order for employers to withhold slightly less taxes from worker's paychecks starting about March 1992. This allowed approximately 2% more spending power in the hands of the people, which in turn nearly doubled our GDP by the 4th quarter (creating 300,000 new jobs in January 1993 alone).
Under Clinton's new scenario, however, this is what we can expect: by raising another 4-5% of GDP in taxes, there can be expected an 8-10% drop in GDP. Unemployment will rise to about 12%, and annual inflation approx. 12%, with soaring interest rates. In other words, he will never raise the money he has projected because fewer workers and businesses will be contributing to his plan. In short, the economy will grind to a halt (stagflation, more unemployment) while the debt will simultaneously mushroom.
And that's before Hillary hands us the bill for a new socialized healthcare scheme ($150 billion more for less healthcare than we have now!). Isn't it time we stop this runaway liberal tax-and-spend freight train before it stops us? Or, are we going to "wait and see?"

CCAD releases property values

by Elaine Schad
While overall values for Cooke County have increased, property values in the City of Muenster, the Muenster school district and the Muenster Water District are expected to show a decrease for 1993 due mainly to a decline in oil and gas values, according to preliminary values released this week by the Cooke County Appraisal District.
Total values will not be set for Cooke County until the final property tax roll is certified sometime in July. That will be done at the completion of appeals and hearings by the Appraisal Review Board.

CCAD Chief Appraiser Ross Fry said the decline in oil and gas properties were reflected countywide. The hardest hit areas were the City of Muenster, which lost 28 percent of its oil and gas value, and Walnut Bend, which showed a loss of 18 percent in its oil and gas values. The value of the county's oil and gas reserves are appraised for tax purposes, and the decrease in values means that more reserves are being used up than new reserves being discovered, Fry said.

The City of Muenster showed a slight increase from $35.1 million to $35.7 million in real and personal property when compared to the 1992 certified tax roll. With the loss of oil and gas values, however, the City of Muenster shows an overall 5.2 percent decline in property values. The story is about the same for the Muenster ISD, which shows just under a 2 percent decline in overall values, and for the Muenster Water District which showed an overall 5.5 percent loss in value.

Countywide 1993 totals and comparisons to the 1992 certified tax roll are listed below:
--Cooke County: $820.4 million compared to $816.5 million, a .47 percent increase.

--Cooke County College: $825 million compared to $821 million, a .51 percent increase.
--Cooke County Education District: $653.9 million compared to $654.6 million, a .11 percent increase.
--City of Muenster: $45.97 million compared to $43.57 million, a 5.22 percent decrease.
--Muenster ISD: $90 million compared to $88.37 million, a 1.85 percent decrease.
--Muenster Water District: $45.76 million compared to $43.3 million, a 5.47 percent decrease.
--Lindsay ISD: $49.2 million compared to $50.7 million, a 3.1 percent increase.
--Sivells Bend ISD: $32.4 million compared to $31.3 million, a 3.7 percent decrease.

--Era ISD: $32.9 million compared to $32.9 million, no change.
--Valley View ISD: $48.4 million compared to $50.3 million, a 4 percent increase.
--City of Gainesville: $317.6 million compared to $319.6 million, a .63 percent increase.
--Gainesville ISD: $326.4 million compared to $328.9 million, a .76 percent increase.
--Gainesville Hospital District: $699.4 million compared to $710 million, a 1.52 percent increase.
--Callisburg ISD: $140.4 million compared to $142.7 million, a 1.65 percent increase.
--Walnut Bend ISD: $18.5 million compared to $15.5 million, a 16.5 percent decrease.

MISD closes year facing financial indecision

by Steve Cooper
MISD Superintendent
 Our school year has come to an end and, as of this writing, we still have no concrete resolution of our school finance dilemma. We have one week left in May and school districts across Texas are absolutely "ham strung" in their efforts to plan for next year.

MISD recently received its State Comptroller's estimate on tax values for '93-94. The Comptroller's office originally estimated property value in MISD about $5 million higher than the County Appraisal District's figure. The Comptroller's estimate was appealed and MISD received about $2 million in relief; however, there is still a $3 million difference. Why is this important to you? Because, when there is a difference between the Comptroller's figure and the Appraisal District's figure, the state figure is always the one that is used in the calculation of the LFA (local fund assignment); this is the minimum amount that each district is required to levy in local tax dollars in order to qualify for state aid. It's not difficult to see that when there is a difference of $3 million in value estimates, that difference is made up in local taxes.

This, of course, doesn't take into account effective tax rate calculations and other factors that are used to determine the district's ultimate yearly tax rate. As a point of reference, if the state mandated rate for district participation in the foundation program were $.90 (this is the Senate's version), then our tax rate for next year could increase from 8-12 cents over this year's rate or even a little more. More particulars on this when something definite has been decided in Austin.

Several good things have happened to MISD lately. One is that we have received word from Jan Crews, Director of the Texoma Area Tech Prep Program, that MISD will be a site for a Tech Prep Drafting course during the '93-94 school year. This means Muenster ISD will teach a Tech Prep Drafting class on campus, next year. It will be a 2-hour course and students will be exposed to the latest technology in drafting. Computerized equipment has been purchased through this program and much state-of-the-art equipment will be

Arts and Crafts Booth to feature "Patio" theme

Enhancing the summer scene at the Pre-Father's Day Picnic on June 13 in Sacred Heart Community Center, especially in the popular Arts and Crafts Booth, is a new feature in decoration and gift ware. Chairmen Regina Pels, Stacie Miller and Charlotte Dangelmayr have arranged for the building of a top-prize patio table and chairs set, on which chances will be sold. There will also be other suitable pieces to blend in with patio decorations.

The usual array of craft and gift items will be available; there will be decorated T-shirts; flower arrangements; paper towel holders; glue-gun holders; decorated aprons; a carousel horse; child's table and chair sets; and one of the cleverest of all, a cookie jar with seasonal lids. "Keep the same cookie jar out on the kitchen cabinet. Just brighten it up by changing lids according to holidays," remarks Regina.

Sponsors anticipate receiving many more pieces which they will be happy to welcome and will announce in next week's paper.

Third graders hold Author's Party May 21

by Linda Sepanski
 Friday evening, May 21, Sacred Heart School Elementary Library was transformed into a delightful setting for an Author's Party, honoring the 17 young authors published by Sacred Heart Third Grade Publishing Company.

Honorees and their grandparents, parents and family were welcomed to the party by Steve Kohler, third grade teacher and editor-in-chief. In his introductory remarks, Mr. Kohler told the story of how his students had twice this year gone through the process of creating their own books. He explained how the entire project came about as he was searching for a way to make Language Arts classes come alive for his students. In other subject he had been able to put into practice his belief in the educational tenet, "If I hear, I forget. If I see, I remember. If I do, I learn." He was still casting about, however, for an appropriate experience in his Language Arts class. As an answer to prayer, he came upon a book made available by Sr. Carmelita, school librarian, David Melton's Written and Illustrated By, which perfectly matched his own educational philosophy.

What followed was an extensive six-week literary effort, in which the class formed their own publishing company, and each student proceeded to choose a title, write rough and final drafts, do a layout, draw and color illustrations, design and make a book cover and jacket, and bind his or her typewritten book. The students' first books were completed in January. Their second books were hot off the press.

"What was so great was that these students accomplished something real. We formed a corporation, a publishing company. They made real books. The looks of joy and accomplishment on their faces when these books came together was something I'll never forget."

Mr. Kohler went on to thank parents for their support, particularly those who typed manuscripts, those who took the class on a field trip to a printing company, The Global Group, in Fort Worth, and those who put on the party. He concluded by saying, "I want to thank my third graders, these great young authors. They just amazed me with who they are and what they can do. They did a magnificent job. They made tremendous books."

Following Mr. Kohler's remarks, attendees had the opportunity to hear readings by the young authors, who were scheduled throughout the evening in three different author's corners. They also enjoyed perusing the books, which were conveniently displayed in the room. They found a wide variety of books, each one distinctively different and unique, and truly wonderful to read.

Adding to the specialness of the evening's festivities was a large and attractive buffet offering a wide assortment of delightful desserts.

Another special touch were the eye-catching posters and T-shirts decorating the room, provided courtesy of Brownlow Publishing Company, Sweet Publishing, and Harcourt Brace College Publishers. The T-shirts, hung from the high ceiling, were given out to the young authors at the party's end.

All in all, it was truly an evening to remember for both the students and their families.

MRS. DUSTY JOE BROUGHTON
...nee Charlene "Peachy" Switzer ...

May 22 ceremony follows western theme

The wedding of Charlene "Peachy" Switzer and Dusty Joe Broughton was held in the home of the groom's parents, with the groom's uncle, Rev. George Sullivan, officiating the traditional double-ring ceremony on May 22, 1993 at 4 p.m.
Daughter of Charles and Marcy

Switzer of Muenster, the bride is a 1988 graduate of Muenster High School and is attending Cooke County College. She is employed as a production worker at Weber Aircraft.
The groom is the son of Joe and Dee Broughton of Ardmore, Oklahoma. He is a 1986 graduate of Ardmore High School and attended Murray State College. He is self-employed as a rodeo announcer.

Peachy was given in marriage by her mother and father. For her wedding, she chose a white satin and lace bridal gown designed by Tracy with a sweetheart neckline. Sequins, pearls, lace and appliques trimmed the fitted bodice. Elizabethan sleeves were puffed at the shoulder and sheer to the wrist. The sheer open back, a full satin skirt and lace-trimmed cathedral train added a dramatic touch to the gown. Her white satin bridal hat trimmed in pearls, silk flowers and lace held a brief fingertip veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of silk white and blue roses, pearls, lace, blue and white ribbons. Entwined in the bouquet was her First Communion rosary. For sentiment, she wore her mother's wedding band on her right hand.

Gainesville, Bobby Don Stallings of Sulphur, Oklahoma, Jack Cunningham of Springer, Oklahoma, friends of the groom, and Charlie Switzer of Myra, bride's brother.

Ushers were Larry Switzer of Muenster, bride's brother, Kirk Von Ree of Saint Jo, Jerry Bryant of Norman and Tim Maxwell of Gainesville, friends of the groom.

Candlelighter was Amanda Broughton of Ardmore, niece of the groom.

RECEPTION

A reception followed with an outdoor western theme.

Presiding at the guest book were Sally Switzer of Myra and Glenda Jackson of Gainesville.

The four-tiered white wedding cake was made by Mary Brown, decorated in a western theme with boots, hats and horseshoes. The groom's cake, made by Theresa Switzer, was made in the shape of a double horseshoe.

Reception assistants were Florentine Knabe and Norma Britain, sisters of the bride, and Theresa Switzer, bride's sister-in-law.

Decorations featured blue and white bows, hay bales, straw hay wreaths, bells and bows, boots, spurs and hats.

The couple took a wedding trip to Turner Falls, Oklahoma and, in December, will take a trip to Las Vegas to the National Finals Rodeo.

The rehearsal dinner was held on May 21 in the home of the groom's parents.

Skin requires protection from summer sunshine

by Mary K. Endres, RN, OCN
Now that summer has arrived, we are all anxious to transform our pale winter skin into "healthy" tanned skin. But, before you head to the pool or tanning booth, please keep this information, supplied by the American Cancer Society, in mind.

The most common cause of skin cancer is overexposure to the sun. Over 600,000 new cases of skin cancer are reported every year, making it the most common form of human cancer. Fortunately, skin cancer is one of the most curable forms of cancer when it is discovered early. Better still, most skin cancer can be prevented.

Ninety percent of all skin cancers occur on parts of the body that usually aren't covered by clothing. The face, tips of the ears, hands and forearms are the most common sites, but in the past 50 years, the shoulders, backs and chests of men and the lower legs of women have also become common areas for skin cancer. This is because more and more people are sunbathers who deliberately expose themselves to the sun's ultraviolet radiation.

Even though overexposure to the sun is the leading cause, it isn't necessary to give up the outdoors to reduce your chances of developing skin cancer. Just use good sense and simple protective measures whenever you work or play in the sun - repeated sunburns are particularly risky.

The American Cancer Society has these recommendations to offer. Cover up with a wide-brimmed hat, and a bandanna for your neck; wear long-sleeved shirts and pants the sun can't penetrate. Use sunscreen with a Sun Protective Factor (SPF) rating of 15 or higher. Add sunscreen at least an hour before going into the sun and again after swimming or perspiring a lot. Remember that you can get burned on cloudy days and that the sun's rays can reach down into three feet of water. The sun's rays are strongest between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Whatever your skin type, do a monthly self-exam of your skin to note any moles, blemishes or birthmarks. Check them once a month and, if you notice any changes in size, shape or color or if a sore does not heal, see your physician without delay.

Enjoy your summer, but remember to protect your skin and yourself while you enjoy the sun.

It will be open to all students in the area and should be well received as any student who completes the class will receive not only high school credit but will also receive credit at Cooke County College that will count toward the degree plan in their Tech Prep Program. Anyone interested needs to contact me or Jerry Metzler at the school, 759-2281.

Another "good thing" at MHS is a class project recently finished by Robert McDaniel's freshman U.S. History class. They have just completed a little booklet entitled "Remembering the Great Depression." This is a compilation of personal interviews, by members of the class, with some of the folks in Muenster that lived during the Great Depression. The class has attempted to preserve word-of-mouth testimonies of that time in U.S. history. We have extra copies of this booklet. If you are interested, please contact me, Mr. McDaniel, or Jerry Metzler at the school.

Tax deferral available for elderly homeowners

Texans aged 65 or older can postpone paying delinquent and current property taxes on their homes. They can take advantage of a tax option called "over 65 deferral" by signing an affidavit at the Cooke County Appraisal District Office.

This special form of tax relief can also halt a lawsuit filed to collect delinquent property taxes on an older Texan's home, according to Ross Fry, chief appraiser of the Cooke County Appraisal District. "To stop a delinquent tax lawsuit," Fry said, "the over-65 homeowner files the deferral affidavit with the court in which the suit is pending."

"If the affidavit is on file, an older homeowner cannot lose a homestead because of delinquent taxes," Fry said.

Once a homeowner files an over-65 tax deferral affidavit with the appraisal district, no taxing unit can start or continue a lawsuit for delinquent taxes as long as that person owns and lives in that home.

Fry stressed, though, that tax deferral for the elderly only postpones paying delinquent taxes on the home, it does not cancel them. During the deferral time, taxes and delinquent interest continue to add up, he said. "When the elderly taxpayer no longer owns or lives in the home, the taxes become due. Taxing units can then sue to collect all the deferred tax and interest."

There is no penalty on the delinquent taxes during the deferral time. However, filing of the deferral will not forgive penalties that were already due. Also, if the taxes remain delinquent more than 90 days after the deferral ends, an added penalty may be charged if the account goes to a delinquent tax attorney.

Tax deferral affidavits are available at the appraisal district office. "The homeowner should fill out the form and have the signature witnessed by a notary public," Fry said. For more information, taxpayers may contact the Cooke County Appraisal District, 200 W. California Street, phone 817-665-7651.

Come party Texas-style in Palo Duro Canyon!

Everybody loves a party, especially the old-fashioned, hospitality-filled kind found in the Panhandle of Texas.

Music fills the air and echoes up and down the colorful canyon as pretty girls in bright party dresses sashay with lean cowboys dressed in "Sunday best." Hands are clapping, toes are tapping time and smiles are abundant.

Suddenly, shots ring out and laughter turns to screams as fingers point to the shadowy silhouette of an Indian. Tension is transmitted with the speed of light, and an audible anticipatory gasp rises from the spectators who fill Pioneer Amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

"TEXAS," the internationally-acclaimed outdoor drama written by Pulitzer prize-winning author Paul Green, has once more captivated its audience.

This stirring saga of the Lone Star State opens its 28th season on June 9, 1993 and plays at 8:30 p.m. nightly except Sundays through Aug. 21. This year an extra performance has been scheduled for Sunday, July 4.

"TEXAS" plays Monday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $12, $9 and $6 for adults and $12, $4.50 and $3 for children under 12. An optional barbecue dinner, served prior to every performance, is available from 6 to 8 p.m. for an additional $6.

For additional information, or to make reservations for "TEXAS," write P.O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015, or call 806-655-2181.

Cain, Eric Endres and Whitney Watson.

Presentation of diplomas was conducted by Elementary Principal Gwen Trubenbach and Steve Cooper.

The class then delighted the audience with songs from countries that they had studied. Mrs. Dankesreiter accompanied the students on the piano. Members of the class accompanied the songs with appropriate rhythm instruments. The children sang, danced, used hand motions and puppets to captivate the audience.

Following the program, a special "Thank You" to parents, teachers and friends was delivered by Candice McCrary. Mrs. Dankesreiter and Mrs. Miller also thanked the administration and parents for the successful year. Room mothers Susie Fleitman and Kim Gerstberger were given special thanks and a floral tribute each.

Individual and class pictures were taken. The ceremony concluded with cookies and punch provided by parents and served by Mrs. Robyn Walterscheid and Kenzi Gerstberger, Missy Hacker, Melinda Fanning, Kristin Dickerson, sisters of Kindergarten graduates.

Madill welcomes visitors to Sand Bass Festival

Family fun is the theme stressed in Madill for the 1993 National Sand Bass Festival on the downtown square June 7 through 12.

The emphasis has been on family activities of the National Sand Bass Festival since its beginning back in 1963 and remains the key ingredient.

Madill's unique downtown square is the home base for the festival program. When June 7 rolls around, the square is transformed into a funland with carnival rides around the courthouse, arts and crafts booths radiating down entry streets, and game and food concessions tucked into the remaining space.

A portion of the square becomes the main stage. Each year, crowds flock to the outdoor concerts which feature talented singers and musicians.

Six Good Reasons To Vote For Kay Bailey Hutchison For U.S. Senate

1. Her budget as State Treasurer is down by 8%, yet she still earned more for the taxpayers than ever in the state's history.
2. As a small business owner, she will fight taxes and push for more spending cuts.
3. Her #1 priority is reducing the federal deficit by cutting spending, not by raising taxes.
4. She's for across-the-board cuts in the $300 billion the Federal government spends for overhead and has a plan to save $1 trillion by limiting the growth of spending.
5. Kay is a strong supporter of term limits and reform of Congress.
6. She wants to stop frivolous lawsuits that clog our courts and drive up health care costs.

MMH nursing staff attends seminar on outpatient oncology

On May 27, the Muenster Memorial Hospital nursing staff attended a seminar presented by Becky O'Shea, R.N., M.S.N. Mrs. O'Shea is the Clinical Nurse Specialist for the Oncology Unit at Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas and has been working with Mary K.

Endres, R.N., O.C.N., on the continuing development of the outpatient oncology services at Muenster Memorial Hospital. The inservice presented to the nursing staff dealt with the use and maintenance of venous access devices. Venous access devices are special catheters placed underneath the skin in a large vein and may be left in place for several months to several years. Venous access devices are commonly used with cancer patients to facilitate the administration of chemotherapy drugs.

Vivian Bolaños concludes stay in USA

Vivian Andrea Bolaños has learned to call our part of the world 'home' this year. A native of Ecuador, Vivian has been living with Henry and Janie Weinzapfel of Muenster as part of the Youth For Understanding (YFU) International Exchange program.

Local YFU volunteer representatives, Milton and Gail McAllister, would like to thank the citizens of Muenster and the students and teachers at Muenster Public School for welcoming Vivian so warmly into the community, and showing her what American life is all about.

A special thanks to Vivian's host family, the Weinzapfels. They welcomed her as part of their family, treating her as a daughter. The Weinzapfel family provided more than a home and meals; they also gave love, guidance, and the experience of what life is like in an American family.

Kindergarten program "reaches" an end

The REACH program of Münster Public School successfully ended the 1992-93 school year. The program, begun by Kindergarten teacher Rosemary Dankesreiter, enabled relatives of kindergartners to enrich and create the heritage of the students.

Parents, grandparents and friends brought educational and fun-filled entertainment to the Kindergarten classroom through which the children learned about their parents' jobs, special crafts and topics related to their studies.

April and May programs included Saving Our World from Pollution and Recycling Products given by Teresa Webster, mother of Kindergarten Mackenzie Webster; Bees and Collecting Honey by Roy Britain, father of Whitney Britain.

The class enjoyed a trip to Frybrant, Inc., sponsored by Roberta Dickerson, mother of Kindergarten Donald Dickerson. The children saw the different stations of sewing and were amazed at all the many types of jobs that were being accomplished. They were treated to a cold fruit drink and cookies, compliments of Frybrant.

Kathy Bauer, mother of Kindergarten Jacqueline Bauer, read several favorite books to the class. Keaton Haverkamp's mother, Shana Haverkamp, brought puppies to show the class while Jan Cain, Chase Cain's mother, brought four baby kittens. The class enjoyed seeing and caring for the pets.

The class took an excursion to Gainesville on April 29 for an entire day of learning experiences. Stops were made at the Gainesville Municipal Airport and Brewer Miniature Horse Farm. They especially enjoyed making their own pizzas at Domino's Pizza. All the fixings were provided compliments of Domino's Pizza. The pizzas were taken to Gainesville City Park where they were enjoyed for lunch by all.

Later, the students visited the Frank Buck Zoo and then also toured the Gainesville Fire Department and the Gainesville Sheriff's Department and Jail. The last stop was made at Hellinger's Flower Shop where the children saw many different flowers and plants. Each child was then given a basket and allowed to make a daisy and greenery arrangement to take home.

Accompanying the group were Patti Fuhrmann, Susie Fleitman, Roberta Dickerson, Jeff and Kim Gerstberger, Connie Grewing, Sharon Felderhoff, Kathy Hacker and teachers Jimmie Lynn Miller and Rosemary Dankesreiter.

On May 20, the class took a mini-field trip, walking to Jerry and Billie Fleitman's farm. Everyone enjoyed seeing the newborn sheep, gathering eggs and feeding baby calves milk from the bottle. Treating the class to a marshmallow roast and Kool-Aid were hostess Billie Fleitman and her daughter, Dobe Friday Fleitman.

Memorable was the fun time in the hay barn. Each child enjoyed several turns at rope swinging. The class returned to school in time for lunch.

On Friday, May 21, the children, their teachers and parents enjoyed an afternoon of races, games and treats. Mrs. Dankesreiter and Mrs. Miller received gifts of appreciation from the class.

Muenster kids experience thrill of Special Olympics

The first weekend in April will be remembered as one of the highlights of their lives. The air was filled with excitement and adventure because the special education students of Muenster High School and Cooke County turned serious olympians. It was time again for the annual Special Olympics area games.

Charlie Hermes, Crystal Knabe, and Kyle Fuhrmann were the participants from Muenster. They had practiced long and hard over the past months and they were ready for the competition.

To begin the adventure they met their coaches for lunch at the Bluebonnet Room in Gainesville. Students and coaches were transported to Arlington in two vans supplied by Joe Walter Workshop.

Opening ceremonies were held and each group paraded around the track as the teams were announced.

On Saturday morning the competition began at 9 a.m. All of the athletes set out to earn the gold.

Kyle Fuhrmann earned a gold medal in the Tennis Ball throw and a fourth place ribbon in the 50 meter dash.

Crystal Knabe won a gold medal in the Tennis Ball throw and a silver in the 50 meter walk.

Charlie Hermes participated in the 200 meter dash and running long jump and placed.

The games ended around 4:30 p.m. On the return trip the group stopped for a Mexican meal.

On May 19 to 21 the State Games were held in Denton. Three Cooke County athletes participated. Opening ceremonies were held on Fouts Field. Celebrities participating in the opening event included Scott Murray of KXAS TV, former Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry and Miss Texas Amy Parker.

Cooke County VIP's were well represented as Dennis Ritchey brought home the gold in the 100 meter wheelchair race and softball throw. Jimmy Gossett earned a silver in the 400 meter walk and Randy Garrett earned a bronze medal in the 400 meter racewalk and a sixth place ribbon in the softball throw.

Due to state allocation not all of the VIP's were able to participate in the state games but Randy, Dennis and Jimmy carried everyone in their hearts as they represented Cooke County throughout the games.

Boating accidents down, fatalities up

Boating accidents decreased slightly in 1992, but fatalities increased by a dozen from 1991. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens reported 71 boating deaths in 1992 compared to 52 the previous year. That is still well below the 88 boating-related deaths in 1987.

According to the department's statistics, there were 215 boating accidents in 1992, down from 226 in 1991.

The largest number of accidents occurred while boaters were just cruising around the lake - 105 in 1992 and 147 in 1991. Ninety of last year's accidents occurred on Saturday, 73 on Sunday. The prime time for an accident was from noon to 7 p.m. (139 accidents).

Memorial Day weekend, which traditionally launches the recreational boating season in Texas, typically is the most dangerous time to be on Texas waters. There were six water-related deaths - one involving a boat - during that weekend in 1992, which was better than most years.

Dexter Harris, TWP's boating law administrator, said the most effective thing people can do to prevent accidents is wear life preservers. Life preservers are mandatory for children under 13. While they are not required for adults, many lives might be saved if all boaters wore them.

Boating can be stressful and studies have shown that exposure to the sun, wind, engine noise, vibration and constant motion can slow reaction time significantly. Boaters also should avoid alcohol, which can double the effects of other stress factors. In addition to having U.S. Coast Guard approved personal flotation devices on board for each person aboard, boaters also should have a Coast Guard-approved marine fire extinguisher, navigation lights at night and a horn or whistle for boats 16-26 feet long.

For more information, call the TPWD boater education course hotline at 1-800-253-4536, general information at 512-389-4800, boater registration at 512-389-4828, or boater education at 512-389-4999. The TPWD toll-free number is 1-800-792-1112.

News from Texas Parks and Wildlife

Public Hearings Coming on State Park Hunts

Public hearings on a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department proposal to hunt 20 state parks will be scheduled for 12 cities during the week of June 14-18.

"Although not required by existing regulations, we're going out to the public with these hearings," said Herb Kothmann, TPWD public hunts coordinator. "Public comments will be forwarded to the commission and they will decide what parks to hunt on July 8."

To comment on the proposed state park hunts, interested people should attend one of the hearings or contact the Public Hunt Coordinator, TPWD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, or call 1-800-792-1112, ext. 4505 or 4972, or 512-389-4505 or 4972.

Public Hunting Proclamation Approved

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved a new consolidated public hunting proclamation, which merged the old Type I and Type II public hunting programs, during its regular meeting on May 20 in Austin.

The change resolved some differences in the two programs involving such things as requirements for wearing blaze orange and the use of handguns, said Herb Kothmann, public hunts coordinator at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. New provisions outlaw baiting for wildlife on public hunting lands, establish an application fee - $2 per person age 17 and older - on drawings for public hunts and establishes a .45-inch minimum caliber on muzzleloaders to take big game.

Kothmann said the hunting of feral hogs will be allowed for two additional months of the year on six areas. In addition to concurrent hunting during the deer seasons, feral hogs also may be taken from Jan. 15 through March 15 at several locations. The use of dogs to hunt feral hogs is prohibited except on the Sam Houston National Forest WMA and then only during the period of Jan. 15 through March 15.

On 13 East Texas WMAs, which previously were Type II areas, either-sex deer hunting will be allowed during the first two days of the general deer season under the annual permit, he said.

The annual public hunting permit costs $35 and allows holders of the permit access for hunting and fishing to more than 1 million acres. A $10 limited use permit allows access for authorized activities other than hunting and fishing on public hunting lands.

"We will still select participants for some hunts by drawing as we've done in the past," Kothmann said. "A few areas will still offer a daily permit ($6-$12) to hunt dove, quail, waterfowl or squirrel." Annual public hunting permits will go on sale around Aug. 1. When a permit is purchased, the buyer will receive a map booklet defining opportunities available under the permit as well as application forms for drawn hunts. An abbreviated publication is available at no charge to people interested only in applying for the drawn hunts.

Guadalupe, Smallmouth Hybrid Record Certified

Douglas D. Grumbles has become the first fisherman to ever hold the Texas state record for a Guadalupe-smallmouth hybrid bass with the certification of his catch by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Staples angler caught his 3-pound, 12-ounce hybrid on April 11 in the San Marcos River in Guadalupe County. The fish measured 20-3/8 inches.

Loraine Fries, a fisheries scientist at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's A.E. Wood State Fish Hatchery in San Marcos, identified the fish as a hybrid using iso-electric focusing. She said tests found proteins of both bass in the hybrid.

Guadalupe-smallmouth hybrid bass have been documented before. They can be found wherever Guadalupe bass and smallmouth bass co-exist. The Hill Country of Texas is the only area that includes both species.

Hunter education course in progress for fall hunts

Fall hunting season is still several months away but the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will be offering hunter education courses for hunters who will be hunting out of state or those who don't want to wait until the last minute.

Every Texas hunter born on or after Sept. 2, 1971, must successfully complete a hunter education training course. If you were born on or after Sept. 2, 1971, and you are:

*17 years old and older - you must successfully complete a hunter education course.

*12-16 years old - you must successfully complete a hunter education course or be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 or older.

*under 12 years old - you must be accompanied by a licensed hunter 17 or older.

For more information on hunter education, call 1-800-253-4536 or 512-389-4999.

Free fishing day on June 5

A "Free Sportfishing Day" will kick off National Fishing Week by allowing anglers to fish any public waters of Texas without a license on June 5.

and they also will not be required to have special stamps such as the $7 saltwater sportfishing or freshwater trout stamps.

David Palmer, law enforcement director of field operations, said that resident and nonresident recreational fishermen will be allowed to fish without a license,

No fishing license will be required to fish in any state park waters on June 5, but normal entry and facility use fees apply. Camping reservations are recommended.

EPA allows herbicide's use on grain sorghum

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency approved an emergency specific exemption request by the Texas Department of Agriculture which allows propazine's use on grain sorghum to control weeds. Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said recently, "Because propazine, found in Ail-Pro 4L, is applied when grain seed is planted, its emergency use is only applicable in spring where planting is occurring in the northern and southern High Plains, the northern High Plains, the northern Low Plains and the Cross Timbers crop reporting districts of the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service. Propazine's use also is allowed in the Blacklands, East Texas and Edwards Plateau crop reporting districts. Farmers in Mitchell and Runnels counties must contact TDA before using propazine if their fields are located within 2 miles of the Colorado River, where an endangered plant species, the Texas poppy-mallow, is found. If propazine's use would have been available in 1992 on 2.1 million acres of sorghum planted in the northern and southern High and Low Plains, farmers could have earned more than $34 extra in profit per acre or an extra $72 million, according to estimates by the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center in Lubbock.

Count yourself in the agriculture census

A drive to round up report forms at have not been returned by farmers and ranchers in the 1992 census of Agriculture has been urged by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. According to George Pierce, Assistant Chief of the Census Bureau's Agriculture Division, "the completeness and accuracy of the census depends on each individual filling out the census report form." Just as important, he says, is the time element; a true picture of the nation's agriculture industry cannot be presented until forms are returned. Agricultural producers received their forms last December. Most were completed and returned them. The census is the only source of comprehensive, consistent agricultural data for each county in the nation. It is the basis for major decisions by farmer organizations, marketing associations, cooperatives, Congress, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and federal and state agencies. The data are also used widely by farm publications. Individual reports are confidential by law and are used only to tabulate totals. Advance reports for all counties, states and the nation will be published starting this fall. Reports will be available through the U.S. Government Printing Office as well as many universities, and depository libraries.

Bills noted, council speaks

The following statement has been issued by the Endangered Species Coordinating Council (ESCC) in response to the introduction of separate Endangered Species Act reauthorization bills by Sen. Max Baucus (D-Mont.) and Rep. Gerry Studds (D-Mass.). "These bills are a recognition by distinguished proponents of the Endangered Species Act of the need to amend the Act. They are a good first step. We are pleased that both bills address several needs which we consider important, among them: attempting to balance humans and the environment, improving scientific quality in the listing process and planning for conservation of species, and recognizing the importance of incentives to private land owners and other citizens. "While the bills address several of our critical issues, we believe that further changes are necessary. These include giving more specific direction to the Fish and Wildlife Service and National Marine Fisheries Service in analyzing job and social impacts, providing more specific recognition of private property rights, developing a more workable process for private land owner cooperation, and requiring analysis of alternative recovery methods. "HR1490, the Endangered Species Procedural Reform Act of 1993, introduced by Reps. Billy Tauzin (D-La.) and Jack Fields (D-Texas), includes many of the elements necessary in any reauthorization of the Act. A legislative process that combines concepts from all three bills may achieve a better balance between the economic and social costs of listings and protecting species. At the same time, it may improve data collection and analysis and provide private landowners with less burdensome process for complying with Endangered Species Act regulations."

Consumer Concerns About Food Safety Are High - Consumer concerns about food safety are at their highest level since the Alar and Chilean grape scares. According to its 1992 study on consumer attitudes, the Food Marketing Institute found that only 72 percent of the nation's shoppers were confident that the food in their supermarket was safe. When asked what they perceived to be the greatest threat to the safety of their food, pesticide residues or chemicals were cited by 31 percent of all consumers. Fast Facts ... Putting Things in Perspective - A 40-pound child would have to eat 340 oranges or 500 apples every day for the rest of his or her life to consume the amount of a pesticide found to cause health problems in laboratory mice. A 155-pound person would have to eat 2,409 pounds of potato chips every day for life to ingest the amount of a pesticide found to cause health problems in laboratory animals. A 150-pound adult would have to eat 3,000 heads of lettuce each day for the rest of his or her life to ingest the amount of a pesticide found to cause health problems in laboratory animals. A 155-pound adult would have to eat 11 tons of grapes and/or grape products every day for life to ingest the amount of a pesticide found to cause health problems in laboratory mice. -from the Texas Agricultural Chemicals Association

Ford begins production on turbo diesel engine

Here's good news for Texans and Oklahomans looking for a more powerful, more durable diesel-powered truck to haul and tow heavy loads: Ford Motor Company has begun production of turbo diesel-powered trucks at its Kansas City Assembly Plant. Production of the trucks also will begin soon at the company's Ontario and Norfolk, Virginia assembly plants. The trucks are equipped with a Navistar-supplied indirect injection (IDI) turbocharged version of the company's 7.3-liter V-8 diesel. The company will launch a state-of-the-art direct injection diesel engine in 1994. The new turbo diesel is available for F-250 heavy-duty pickups and all F-350 and F-Super Duty models. "The IDI turbocharged diesel is more powerful and more durable and reliable than Ford's naturally aspirated 7.3-liter engine," said Kirk Klemet of Endres Motor Company in Muenster. "These advantages are especially important to Texas and Oklahoma commercial and personal-use buyers who want their diesel-powered trucks to haul and tow heavy loads day in and day out - and still last a long time."

Consumer and dealer reaction to the new turbo diesel engine has exceeded Ford's expectations. Production began May 17 and Ford already has 3,000 orders from dealers in Texas and Oklahoma. The IDI turbo diesel, a V-8 engine with an almost square bore and stroke of 4.11x4.17 inches, produces 190 horsepower and 3,000 rpm and 385 foot pounds of torque at 1,400 rpm. In comparison, the naturally-aspirated 7.3-liter diesel generates 185 horsepower at 3,000 rpm and 360 foot pounds of torque at 1,400 rpm. The IDI diesel improves driveability and performance because the turbocharger increases operating engine pressures throughout the rpm range and maintains peak performance at high altitudes. Texans and Oklahomans use the F-250 heavy-duty and the F-350 and F-Super duty models mostly for hauling horses, cattle and "just about anything farm-related." They also use them for certain delivery work. The IDI turbocharged Ford diesel is the only diesel offered by the three major U.S. manufacturers that has positive intake and exhaust valve rotators to enhance even wear and positive valve seating. It's also the only one with replaceable hardened exhaust valve seat inserts, which protect against valve seat cracking. The inserts are a premium feature found generally on larger diesel engines. They are replaceable when the engine is overhauled. All of the turbo components - and the total engine - are specifically designed for Ford light truck chassis. See and test drive these new trucks this weekend at Endres Motor Company in Muenster.

Quick Tips for Ticks
Tick season is here and for many pet owners this means trouble. Knowing a few basic facts about tick biology can go a long way toward getting better control of one of our most difficult-to-control pest problems. The brown dog tick is the most common tick problem around homes. Adult ticks feed in the ears and between the toes of dogs, reducing vitality and increasing irritability of these pets. Brown dog ticks belong to a group of ticks known as three-host ticks, which means that during its life cycle, the tick feeds and drops off its host rest and molt three times. So each tick can, potentially, feed on three different hosts during its life. This habit has important implications for control, because in order to control a tick problem, the hiding places of resting ticks must be thoroughly treated. Resting ticks prefer to hide in cracks and crevices, and are frequently found in such sites on sides of buildings, along building foundations, tree trunks and fences. Here are a few tips for tick control in backyards:

-Keep weeds and brush down in pet-inhabited areas. It's helpful to keep clearance between the house and weeds or dense shrubbery to help eliminate tick resting sites.
-Keep grass mowed short (1-1/2 to 2 inches). This exposes ticks to sunlight and lowers relative humidity in grassy areas where ticks hide. Ticks, especially nymphs, prefer high humidities.
-Treat the animal, structures that the animal visits, and all grounds simultaneously with a registered insecticide labeled for tick control. Unfortunately, non-chemical methods of brown dog tick control are limited.
-In addition to grass areas, spray vertical surfaces such as sides of the house, trunks of trees and fences. Ticks frequently climb to find resting sites and may be found under wood siding and roof eaves.
-Don't forget to treat crawl spaces under the home if the dog has access to them.
-In serious infestations, it may be best to leave treatment to a licensed pest control operator. Brown dog ticks occasionally carry disease organisms that can affect the health of your dog.

Sales tax and farmers

Trailers used primarily on a farm or ranch are not subject to sales tax. Motor vehicle sales tax is due on pickups and trucks licensed for on-highway use. Farmers and ranchers must pay sales tax on purchases of general purpose buildings, their structural components, air conditioning or heating systems, and the materials used to build construct or fabricate them—even if they are used to store equipment or agricultural products.
