Dr. Jon Tompkins resigns from MMH, physicians sought

Dr. Jon S. Tompkins has announced the closing of his office in the Muenster Memorial Hospital. The closing is effective as of June 30.

"We are very sorry to see him go," commented Muenster Hospital Administrator Jack Endres. "He wants to focus on his internal medicine specialty and didn't want to continue providing family practice and emergency room services. We wish him the best of luck."

Dr. Martin Kralicke and Dr. Alfredo Antonetti will continue to cover the MMH emergency room. During July the doctors will be taking some vacation time. Depending on the wishes of the two physicians, the Muenster Hospital will provide the services of either a physician's assistant or an interim physician to alleviate some of the extra work during the shortage.

"We're redoubling our efforts to get physicians in as soon as possible," said Endres. "It is very likely that Dr. Currier will be able to open his GYN practice in October. We continue to look for both specialists and family practitioners on a daily basis. Hopefully in another month there will be an announcement that we're adding one or two specialists to the staff on a once a week basis."

Endres emphasized that the main goal was to continue to increase the services offered by the hospital and to add family practitioners and a pediatrician to the hospital's staff of physicians.

MISD receives more kudos on TAAS tests

Muenster ISD has recently been notified of high-ranking academic honors received from the Texas Education Agency. Muenster Elementary was notified that they received the Outstanding Performance Award for their achievement on the TAAS tests. This award went to only approximately 126 campuses out of more than 5,000 statewide. The Outstanding Performance Award goes to a campus that meets all (100%) of the criteria set down in the state's Academic Excellence Indicator System.

Muenster High School/Junior High School was also notified of an academic honor they received from the Texas Education Agency. This award is the Outstanding Performance Award and goes to districts that meet 80% or more of the criteria established in the Academic Excellence Indicator System. Teachers, administrators, parents and students of both campuses are to be commended for a job well done. We can all be proud of the state recognition Muenster Public Schools receive.

It's time to get angry at legislation

by Steve Cooper,
MISD Superintendent

Information is starting to filter down, from the Texas Education Agency, concerning our new school finance legislation. As I mentioned in an earlier article, the funding mechanism of this new system of finance will mean higher taxes for most of the school districts in Texas. Simply put, "we have been had" by our state leaders and we needn't forget it before the next election. Ironically, the very districts the legislature was supposed to help will be the ones to suffer the most under the new system because, while the legislators were so concerned with the equity issue, they neglected the adequacy issue (having enough money in the system to meet state commitments). Word continues to come in from across the state of monumental tax increases on the local level just to maintain current programs. Having equal access to available funding is certainly a viable goal but, when you don't/won't finance your program adequately, then the equity issue is of no consequence.

Our governor promised no new taxes. How can we be so naive to let her and many of our legislators "get away" with what they've done to the local taxpayer? The state, according to new funding formulas, has put $100 less per pupil into each district's basic allotment (the amount of money per student the state guarantees each district). Last year, MISD's basic allotment was $2400 per pupil; this year, that figure was reduced to $2300 per pupil - that translates to a loss of approximately $60,000 for this district when figured with other aspects of the funding formula.

Over the last three years, MISD has lost approximately $200,000 due to proration of promised state funds. Simply put, it means this district has not received $200,000 that the state promised we would receive. We have been fortunate to absorb these shortfalls locally through budget management practices and sound board decisions. The time has come that we will no longer be able to postpone the inevitable. In order to maintain current levels of funding ($3600 per pupil - a bottomline figure that is well below the state average expenditure per pupil and we consistently rank in the top 10% of the state academically), a tax increase appears to be imminent. Our pledge to our constituents is to keep it as low as humanly possible.

Other factors are also coming to bear on our local tax situation. The State Comptroller's office has placed a value on property in this district at approximately $88,000,000. Our local appraisal district has valued the property at approximately $83,500,000. The Comptroller's figures are used to determine our levy requirement. The state mandates an $.86 rate to qualify for any state funding. The state uses this $.86 rate times the Comptroller's values to determine our local fund assignment (or levy).

You can readily see, as I mentioned in a previous article, that when we use the appraisal district's figures to calculate actual levy - it will take a higher rate just to get "up to" the level the state says the property is worth. This means two things: one, the appraisal district will reappraise property in our district next year; and two, a tax rate must be set to bridge the gap between the two estimates of what the total property in this district is worth. The state, ultimately, always wins that argument. Keep in mind, also, that we have not yet touched on other factors involved in determining the final rate as you have to take into account collection percentages and loss of property value to arrive at an effective tax rate.

Finally, the icing on the cake. When the CED's were declared unconstitutional, also eliminated was the 20% exemption approved 2 years ago by the voters. This means that amount will be lost in this year's formula, so taxpayers will be paying the 20% exemption they have had the past 2 years.

I would encourage you to get angry, but not at me or the school board. We are where we have been the last 2 or 3 years. We have very little control over what can be done locally. What little control we do have will be exercised in your best interests. Those that do control our destiny and dilemma are the ones we need to contact. Those I'm referring to are most of our legislators and our Governor. As a matter of fact, it seems to me that this may have been their ultimate goal - to get the taxpayers so upset that they will accept a plan that will broaden the tax base and pass the burden around. If so, it seems a shame that folks that represent us are so underhanded. More specific information in later articles.

Cooke County College increases budget due to enrollment growth

by Elaine Schad
Cooke County College is expected to see a significant increase in its 1993-1994 budget due to a dramatic enrollment growth, but officials are expecting no tax increase for local property owners.

The CCC board of trustees during their regular June meeting this week reviewed a $10.8 million budget, which is a $1.36 million increase, or a 14.5 percent increase over the current year's budget of $9.4 million. Public hearings are expected to be set in July, with possible adoption following the hearings if all information is ready by that time.

CCC President Dr. Ronnie Glasscock said the budget will have significant increases in virtually every area due to a 32 percent growth in enrollment. CCC enrollment on all campuses for 1990-1991 was 8,065, an enrollment which grew to 10,684 students for 1992-1993. Because the enrollment growth also contributed to a 34 percent increase in student contact hours, the college will receive a 24.7 percent increase in state revenues amounting to $1.12 million, Glasscock said.

Most of the budget increase will go toward instruction, which constitutes 48.3 percent of the total budget. CCC will add several new faculty positions to accommodate the additional enrollment as well as support and development positions, which will include a counselling position. Also included in the proposed budget is a 2 percent cost-of-living increase for CCC employees, which will cost an estimated $191,900. Glasscock said the CCC average faculty salary is $28,728, compared to a statewide average of $34,896.

The college has been able to increase its reserves and is expected to have total reserves of about $1.16 million by the end of the 1993-1994 fiscal year. Part of the increase in reserves came from the sale of the college apartments for about $100,000. Glasscock said community colleges are encouraged to set aside reserves equivalent to one-tenth of the budget.

In other business, CCC trustees hired John Hunt as a math instructor. Hunt has been a part-time instructor at CCC and has also lectured at the University of Texas at Arlington. The board approved a tax abatement of 75 percent over 10 years to Alan Ritchey, Inc. for an estimated $2 million expansion of Martindale Feed Mill in Valley View. The board adopted revisions for the 1993-1994 college catalog and accepted a bid of $6,156 from Phillips Bros. of Springfield, Ill., for printing 12,000 copies of the catalog.

Farewell reception honors Fr. Camillus on June 27

Father Camillus Cooney, OSB, will be honored twice on Sunday, June 27, with farewell receptions in the Community Center, following the 8 a.m. Mass and the 10:30 a.m. Mass. Coffee, juice and doughnuts will be served. Everyone welcome.

Do we have the Country Doctor of the Year?

With the decline in the number of physicians interested in practicing in rural areas, communities fortunate enough to have dedicated family physicians are learning their true value. In an effort to help communities say thank-you and reward rural physicians for their services Staff Care, an Irving based company, and The Country Doctor Museum in Bailey, North Carolina are jointly sponsoring a search for the "Country Doctor of the Year".

"This is a program to honor and recognize outstanding family physicians," remarked Phil Miller of Staff Care. "The rural family physician is a dying breed. We are looking for someone who highlights the benefits and joys and exemplifies some of the human benefits of a dedicated rural physician and also who shows some of the emotional rewards of the rural practice."

The doctor who is selected in this national program will receive a personalized bronze plaque of a country doctor making rounds with a horse and buggy, a leather doctor's bag and a week off. Staff Care, which is an organization that places doctors in temporary settings, will provide an interim physician for a week. This is a service valued at about $10,000 according to the company. Eligible physicians are those who work in a rural community of 20,000 or fewer people. He or she must have served the community for at least three years.

Nominations were to be accepted until July 1, but the deadline will not be strictly adhered to and nominations will be taken through July. Another doctor, a health facility administrator, nurse, patient or relative may submit the nomination and numerous nominations of a physician will be accepted. Many of the nominations already entered have come from Texas, but they have been submitted from across the country.

To obtain a nomination form, call Staff Care at 1-800-685-2272 or the Country Doctor Museum at (919)235-4165. The winner will be named around August 1.

This program was brought to our attention by Mrs. Velma Fisher who noticed it in the Sunday, June 20 issue of the Dallas Morning News.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Problems continue to exist with the Muenster Ranch. Minors leave the Ranch, go to their cars to drink and then go back into the Ranch. They throw their beer bottles and trespass on private property.

The weekend of June 12, my family and I visited my husband's mother. We were awakened around 1:00 a.m. to hear the sounds of loud music, cursing and cars racing off. On Thursday, June 10, my mother-in-law was awakened by the same sounds. She asked the young people to please leave and their response was verbal abuse and threats.

Something must be done about the loitering on private property. My mother-in-law is extremely frightened, especially by the threats made on her life. The police have been contacted; however, to date the situation still exists.

We would appreciate any assistance in solving this alarming problem.

Dear Editor:
The Fourth of July serves to remind us of the most basic tenet of our American heritage, freedom - the freedom to pursue and achieve the best things for ourselves and those we hold dear.

This year, as we celebrate Independence Day, we at Ben E. Keith Beers also mark the tenth anniversary of a simple phrase, one that reflects the essence of personal freedom, AND its necessary compatriot, personal responsibility. That phrase - "Know When To Say When" - should remind each of us this Fourth of July to celebrate responsibly, to use or volunteer to be a designated driver, and to indeed act as our Founding Fathers trusted us to act when they secured our freedom.

Sincerely,
George G. Grounds

Dear Editor:
It is unbelievable that the liberal component of Congress and Clinton still have difficulty with basic economic principles. Here is a brief primer for them:

- 1) The U.S. government spends 72 cents of every dollar to collect, administer and spend it. The remaining piddly 28 cents goes to its intended purpose, which is dubious in many cases.
- 2) Increased taxation and regulation, hidden or not, stifle the private sector, killing jobs and investments.
- 3) The best jobs and deficit reduction bill they can pass is to get rid of the capital gains tax, which is actually a tax on the capital that produces new jobs.
- 4) To dramatically increase income tax revenues, lower the tax rate, including Social (in)Security "premiums."
- 5) Cut government spending where possible, but at least freeze it! Reduce employees by attrition.

It should be obvious to anyone with a brain, that since Clinton refuses to abide by these proven principles, the last thing we want to do is "give him a chance." We simply cannot afford to go back to where we've been. Some "chance."

Dear Editor:
Over 30 years ago, the Muenster Jaycees began their first project - Little League Baseball. It gave much of the youth of the community something to do during the summer months, kept the Jaycees busy and active, and involved many parents, family members and friends. It also provided entertainment for the townfolk.

As years passed, other civic organizations and concerned volunteers created and sponsored other baseball leagues and involved kids from 5-95!! It was all good clean fun, entertaining and kept citizens active and communicating - like it should be in a small town. But, now, this has caused a problem, and the Jaycees need your help!

All of these teams that have erupted are fighting for two valuable acres. Boys and girls, coaches and sponsors, are trying to work together to share the city baseball park - but, because of Muenster's good citizens and successful summer programs, it's not working. We've just created too many leagues of kids that want to play ball!!

The agenda today includes Little League, Coach Pitch, Girls' Softball, T-Ball, Men's Softball, Pony League, Women's Softball and Soccer. This involves approximately 460 kids and adults and doesn't include out-of-town people coming into town for tournaments! There's just no way that all these people can use the valuable two acres during the summer months and conduct successful programs. This is why the Muenster Jaycees need help!

We began planning for a new baseball complex, which includes four playing fields, concessions and seating arrangements two years ago. During those two years, we've committed $18,000 toward the project. We have a tremendous budget, thanks to a helping and generous community, and would like to put more into the project but, as you can see by our budget, which follows this letter, we are trying to help out in many other areas.

We know that it will take quite a bit of money to complete this project and we are ready for the challenge! But our first step is location - we must find land close enough to Muenster for the kids to ride their bikes to the ball park. We need help to acquire this land - from land owners and from business people who have the knowledge of buying land. Please help us to reach our goal - please help us find the land and we'll get the money the old-fashioned way - we'll earn it!!

Thank you,
Shawn Flusche,

Dear Editor:
I hope your readers will take a moment to stop and recall a few of the many ways in which the late Governor John Connally made Texas and America better for us and for our children.

Governor Connally is known as a three-term governor, of course, and as a secretary of the Navy and the Treasury, but he was also a father to Texas' great university system. In fact, at every major milestone of contemporary Texas, John Connally was there, standing tall, leading, making a difference, making history.

He strode across the eras with grace, dignity and iron determination. He will be missed, but more importantly, he will be remembered.

Yours respectfully,
Phil Gramm,

Appraisal District budget sees 2.6% increase

by Elaine Schad
Area taxing entities have received a copy of the preliminary 1994 budgets for appraisal and collections from the Cooke County Appraisal District after the CCAD board of directors approved the preliminary proposal during their regular June meeting.

The 1994 appraisal budget is $495,403, which is a 2.6 percent increase from the current year's budget of $482,792. The 1994 collections budget is $137,861, a 4.9 percent increase from the current year's budget of $131,420.

Both the appraisal and collections budgets include a proposed 4 percent cost of living salary increase for all staff, except the Chief Appraiser. In addition, those earning $25,000 or above will receive an additional $25 per month and those earning $20,000 or below will receive an additional $50 per month. The proposed budgets also provide for a 10 percent increase in Group Health Insurance premiums for employees only.

The appraisal budget includes a $1,500 request for the purchase of mapping supplies and $12,000 to purchase microfilm copies of all deed records back to 1981. The CCAD would also like to microfilm deteriorating abstract books, some of which are more than 100 years old with part of the $12,000.

Muenster basic channel slots being negotiated

by Alvin Fuhrman,
General Manager

Negotiations continue between North Texas Communications Company and television broadcasters for basic channel slots on the Muenster and Valley View cable television systems.

The television broadcasters have two options available to them to be carried on a cable system. The first option is for broadcasters to request "must carry." If this is selected, the cable system must carry them on the channel number selected by the broadcaster in the base rate. They cannot charge for being carried on the cable system.

The second option is "retransmission consent." With this option, the broadcasters can request payment to be carried on a cable system; however, the cable operator forfeits his rights to "must carry." Any payment to a television station may be passed through to the cable subscriber.

The Cable Act of 1992 puts Muenster and Valley View in the Dallas area of dominant influence (ADI). These stations have been given preference over stations in Oklahoma. Oklahoma television stations must be vacated to make room for Dallas area stations if needed. Muenster and Valley View carry two stations that may be in jeopardy at this time. Channel 12 of Ardmore, Sherman, Denison and Channel 10 out of Ada, Oklahoma. North Texas Communications will continue to negotiate to keep at least Channel 12 on its system.

All television stations from the Dallas/Fort Worth area have requested "must carry" except for Channel 8. Channel 8 has left the possibility open to charge sometime in the future. If all stations requesting "must carry" can give us an adequate signal, some changes will need to be made in our channel lineup. All changes will be made at one time with channel lineup cards to be reissued to lessen the confusion.

Valley View City Council approves ordinance

by Elaine Schad

Valley View town aldermen have approved an ordinance which will increase the city's franchise fee charged to TU Electric from 3 to 4 percent.

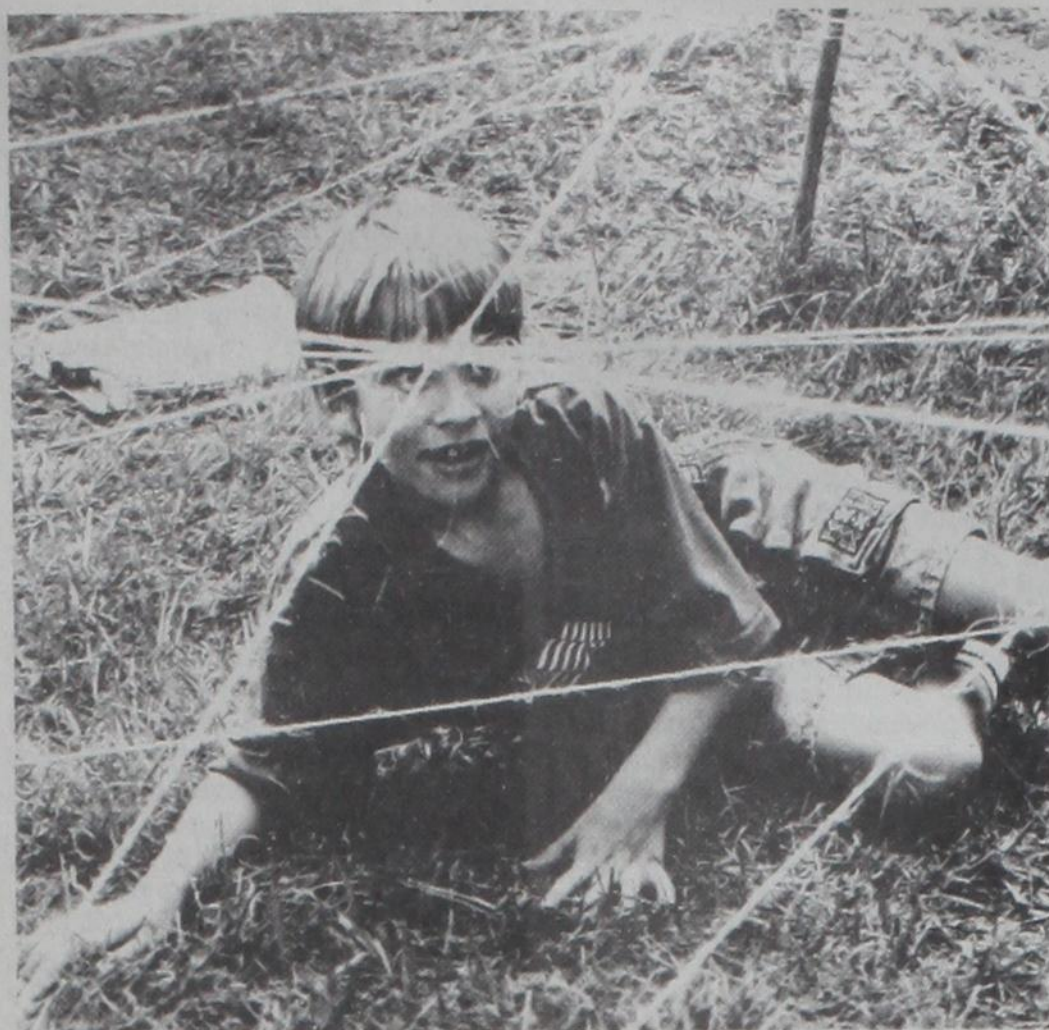

Vernon Smith, a representative with TU Electric, told aldermen during the council's regular meeting that TU is trying to standardize its franchise fees across the state. The increase will mean that Valley View will receive additional revenue in the coming year from the TU franchise fee.

Aldermen discussed updating the town's standard building codes and reviewed a copy of a code from another city. The council also discussed the possibility of increasing the fee for new building permits from the current $25, but took no action. City Police Officer Jerry Brown reported that 12 calls were answered by the police department during May. Aldermen tabled the appointments of members to the city planning and zoning committee, the standard and building committee and the public safety committee and the utilities board.

The next meeting of the Valley View town council is set for 7 p.m. July 12 at City Hall.

They Hide, We Seek

Did you ever play hide and seek as a child? Some of our career politicians in Austin are still playing it, and playing it well. When you see a problem in government that just never seems to get solved, look, and you can bet there are subsidized constituencies benefiting from the status quo. We call them special interests.

The recent school finance crisis is a good example. Our Governor, Lt. Governor and much of the leadership in the legislature said the school finance crisis was about money. If it was about money, the legislature could have solved the problem in one day by dedicating the $500 million in annual profits from the lottery to solve the $400 million school finance problem.

On May 1, Texans made it clear that they were not happy with the educational system in the state. Most people agree that a first-rate education for Texas' children depends more on how we spend money, rather than how much we spend.

The special interests in Austin and in the local school districts are siphoning the dollars taxpayers give to educate our children. Today our public schools employ almost as many nonteachers as teachers, and on the average, pay nonteachers more.

Texans believe that their children deserve a first-rate education. They want true reform. We are tired of shell games from our politicians.

Did you know that when the current school finance plan was analyzed, it was found that the legislature failed to put in enough money to cover enrollment growth and cut the state's basic allotment per student by $100. Under the new plan, 80 percent of the school districts will have to increase their taxes.

Now we learn that the numbers showing how each school district would be affected by the school funding bill were available before the bill was voted on? The insiders in Austin withheld the real numbers from the legislature, the media and the public so the school finance plan could pass.

Did you hear about this? It was never announced, debated or even admitted.

The insiders have their own agenda. It is a never-ending soap opera. The characters and circumstances change slightly, but you can tune in any time and see the same plot line.

Successful businesses have been forced to downsize and become more efficient over the past few years. But the largest employer in Texas, the state government, has grown to enormous proportions. Career politicians are continually pushing towards a bigger and more powerful state government. The budget for the state has increased some 60% in the last four years. If the state were a corporation, there would be shareholder action suits and good folks demanding their leaders' heads.

When we turn the spotlight on Austin, we see that state government is controlled by insiders whose number one concern is staying in power. The spotlight didn't show which funding plan was better than others, or help the children of Texas obtain a first-rate education. When the lights came on, we saw little bureaucrats scampering about with tidbits of information designed to fool the public into believing that new taxes were needed to solve the problems.

No one seems serious about downsizing state government and making it more efficient. We see an on-going demonstration of power plays by elected officials who have forgotten that their first and most important responsibility is to serve the people of Texas.

In this case insiders wanted to pass a school finance plan, any plan, and cut off the bright lights illuminating their hidden agenda.

Remember, if you see a problem hanging around for years, look for the special interest constituencies. Insiders think they are invisible. They think they can hide from the voters permanently. But eventually we will seek them out.

TDH holds immunization clinic June 29 in Muenster

On Tuesday, June 29, the Texas Department of Health will conduct an immunization clinic from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, 111 N. Pecan, in Muenster.

Children of all ages will be immunized. A parent must be present for immunization to be given regardless of age of the child.

Parents are also required to bring the immunization record or a written notification from the school for the child to be immunized. There is a sliding scale fee of which the maximum charge is $15.

Our justice system works! Thanks to twelve good people of Cooke County it was in our favor. When one stands up to his convictions and then can prove them right in a court of law, it is a great feeling.

The support of our family, Ginny, Deb and Joanie, the hospital personnel and our many friends helped us through a long week. It was an ordeal but everyone's presence, thoughts and prayers helped us through it.

God bless the people of Muenster.

Vows exchanged June 5 in Sacred Heart Church

MRS. BRAD HENSCHEL
...nee Jo Anna Cantrell...

Jo Anna Cantrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Cantrell of Saint Jo, and Brad Henschel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Henschel of Muenster, were married in Sacred Heart Church on June 5, 1993 in a 5 p.m. Nuptial Mass with double-ring vows, officiated by Father Victor Gillespie, OSB.

The bride is a 1989 graduate of Saint Jo High School and will graduate in December 1993 from Cooke County College as a Registered Nurse. She is presently employed at Cooke County College. The groom is a 1984 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and a 1986 graduate of TSTI in Waco. He is employed at Weber Aircraft.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a white satin formal wedding gown designed with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves slightly puffed at the top. Both the bodice and the sleeves were lavishly appliquéd with lace, beaded with iridescent sequins and pearls. From the Basque waistline, the full skirt fell to the floor in front and swept into a cathedral-length train which extended from beneath a bow just below the waistline. The train was sprinkled with beaded lace appliqués. Edging the hemline of the skirt and train was a row of beaded lace.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a pearl band and pearl droplet, with a spray of seed pearls at one side.

She carried a bridal bouquet of cascading Casa Blanca lilies, stephanotis, lily of the valley, small wild roses and pearl sprays.

A birthdate penny in her shoe, a graduation gift ring from her parents, the groom's grandmother's handkerchief and a hand-beaded garter made by the groom's mother all adhered to sentiment and tradition.

ATTENDANTS

of Saint Jo, friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. Brooke Hess of Southlake, cousin of the groom, was junior bridesmaid, carrying the Unity candle. All were identically attired in jade green moiré taffeta two-piece suits of long-sleeved jacket, sweetheart neckline, pearl-buttoned front; full-length straight skirt with side slit.

Each carried a cascade bouquet of Stargazer lilies, hot-pink mini carnations, pink minis, pink larkspur and carnations. All flowers were made by Lora Hennigan.

Tara Hess and Holly Hess of Southlake, cousins of the groom, were flower girls. Their dresses of jade green moiré were designed with puffed sleeves, long skirts and waistline sash with big bow in back.

Colten Swirczynski of Grapevine, groom's cousin, was ring bearer.

Curtis Henschel of Fort Worth, groom's brother, was best man. Frank Popp of Lindsay, groom's brother-in-law, John Hartman of Muenster, a friend, Darrell Swirczynski of Grapevine, groom's cousin, and Ed Hess of Lewisville, groom's cousin, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Billy Hogan, bride's cousin of Nocona; Arnold Hess, groom's cousin of Irving, Donnie Lutkenhaus of Muenster, a friend, and Terry Hess of Southlake, groom's uncle.

Leroy and Jo Ann Berend of Friona, groom's uncle and aunt, and James and Jacqueline Goldsmith of Nocona, bride's uncle and aunt, presented Offertory gifts at the altar. Liturgical Readings and Prayers of the Faithful were given by Sharon Hermes of Lindsay, Sandra Berend and Dana Berend, both of Friona, groom's cousins.

Wedding music by Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and Christy Hesse, vocalist, included "If," "In This Very Room," "Turn Around," "Household of Faith," "People Need the Lord," "May Your Lives Be Blessed," "Father, Make Us One" and "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman."

Organ solos were the traditional "Bridal Chorus" by Wagner, "Kanon in D Minor" by Johan Pachelbel and the Wedding March from "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Dusty rose gladioli decorated the altar and dusty rose bows marked all center aisle pews.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance were held in the Sacred Heart Community Center, hosted by parents of the bride and groom for 400 guests. Dinner was catered by Rohmer's Restaurant.

Hayle Williams of Muenster and Jami Freeman of Saint Jo presided at the guest book.

The bride's table, skirted in white lace, held the bridesmaids' bouquets in crystal bouquet holders of varying heights, lighted votive candles, English ivy and Stargazer lilies.

The four-tiered wedding cake, made by Betty Rose Walterscheid, was decorated with fresh alstroemeria, white lace, ruffles and roses. Betty Rose Walterscheid cut the cake. The table held floral arrangements and silver candelabra.

The two-tiered round chocolate groom's cake was decorated with slivered almonds and chocolate-dipped strawberries. Lora Hennigan cut the groom's cake.

Cake servers were cousins of the groom Stephanie Hess of Bridgeport, Jackie Henschel of Muenster, and friends of the couple Brittany and Courtney Haverkamp of Muenster and Maggie Fisher of Muenster.

All decorations were made by the groom's mother and her sister, Jo Ann Berend, of Friona.

Guest tables, covered in white were centered with white candelabra, votive candles entwined with magnolia leaves sprinkled with diamond dust. The cheese table in the center of the room was skirted with white lace and held a 6-foot tall candelabra similar to smaller ones on guest tables. A background for the bride's table was a large white wreath of white gladioli, white roses and swags of white ribbon caught up with white doves.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents, hosted by parents of the couple.

Following a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple resides in Muenster.

Vicki earns degree

Vicki Kay Walterscheid was among the more than 2,400 undergraduate and graduate students who received degrees from Southern Methodist University in its 78th annual commencement ceremony on May 22, 1993. Marian Wright Edelman, delivered the commencement address.

Vicki earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree. She is presently working at Lakewood Placement Agency in Las Colinas as a staffing coordinator.

Attending the ceremony were her parents Handsome and Peggy Walterscheid of Muenster. Vicki is a 1988 graduate of Sacred Heart High.

MRS. MICHAEL DALE ADAIR
...nee Angela Yvonne Tolbert...

The wedding of Angela Yvonne Tolbert of Austin and Michael Dale Adair was held on June 12, 1993, at 7 p.m. in Hillcrest Baptist Church of Austin, officiated by Rev. Homer Green, with a candlelight double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Richard Tolbert of Austin and Jeannine Tolbert of Austin. She is a graduate of Anderson High School of Austin, Texas Woman's University of Denton, and is currently attending Texas Medical Center in Houston.

The groom is a 1987 graduate of Sacred Heart High School in Muenster, Cooke County College and Northlake Community College of Irving; and is employed by Bank One Mortgage Corporation of Austin. He is the son of Pat Adair of Muenster and the late Dale Adair.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a formal mermaid sheath white satin gown with ruffled organza, sweetheart neckline, slightly dipped back bodice and short organza ruffled sleeves. The bodice was detailed with imported lace, enhanced with pearls and sequins. The full organza skirt was ruffled beginning at the knees, flowing to the floor in a chapel train. She carried a bridal bouquet of twelve fresh white roses and baby's breath.

ATTENDANTS

Kristina Barry of San Antonio, a high school classmate of the bride, was matron of honor. College classmates of the bride at SWSU, Sabina Garcia of San Marcos and Charlene Curry of San Antonio, were bridesmaids.

They wore tea-length gowns of dusty rose taffeta, with short ruffled sleeves and sweetheart neckline fitted bodice and full ruffled skirt beginning at the knees, flowing to floor length in back.

Shannon Fletcher of Austin was the flower girl.

Steven Knabe of Lewisville, a friend of the groom, was best man. Matt Tolbert of Austin and Richard Tolbert of Houston, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen. Ushers were Kyle Walterscheid of Arlington and Chris Klement of Arlington, friends of the groom.

Wedding music presented by organist/vocalist Ann Green included "Go There With You," by Steven Curtis Chapman.

RECEPTION

A reception followed in the Stouffer Austin Hotel with buffet dinner and champagne fountain, served in the Wedgewood Ballroom, followed by a dance.

Lisa Denison and Christy Uresti registered 120 guests.

A three-tiered Italian cream wedding cake and deluxe chocolate groom's cake, topped with fresh strawberries and drizzled with chocolate syrup, were served.

Decorations in the formal, beautiful ballroom were enhanced by the large crystal chandeliers, candlelight on all guest tables with dusty rose colored flower arrangements.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the Spaghetti Warehouse of Austin, hosted by the groom and his mother.

Upon return from a wedding trip to St. John, U.S. Virgin Islands, the couple will reside in Austin.

Among guests from out of town were the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Marie Vogel of Muenster, and the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Tolbert of Victoria and Mrs. Geraldine Kubala, also of Victoria. Other guests came from Muenster, Lindsay, Gainesville, Plano, Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Victoria, San Antonio and San Marcos.

MRS. MARQUETTE WILLIAM WOLF
...nee Carolyn Ann Caldwell...

Wolf grandson marries in Dallas May 22

Carolyn Ann Caldwell and Marquette William Wolf married on May 22, 1993 at the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd in Dallas.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kent Caldwell of Dallas. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fayette H. Walker of Amarillo and the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Caldwell of Longview.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Truman M. Wolf of Prosper, Texas. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmerer of Gainesville.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding gown, a formal design of imported Swiss silk organdy over silk mist taffeta.

Performing the ceremony were Father George Yandell of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd and Father Joseph Mitchell of St. Francis Catholic Church of Frisco, Texas.

The maid of honor was Leslie Ellen Caldwell. Bridesmaids included Ginger Ballard, Jill Barretto, Kelly Gilliam, Gwen Girolamo, Nancy Ann Nicholson and Megan Wallas.

The best man was Michael Scott Wolf. Groomsmen were Ross Douglass, Dan Smith, Steve Wentz, Paul Wilhelm, Jason Wolf and David Zajac.

Ushering guests were Bill Gay, Brian Berry, John Porter and Christopher Caldwell.

Anthony and Amy Reed participated in the ceremony as ring bearer and flower girl.

Members of the house party included Ann Dee Ambrosia, Cathy Culver and Tricia Caldwell.

The bride is a graduate of W.T. White High School and the University of North Texas. She holds a degree in Interior Design.

She was a Duchess in the 1989 Texas Rose Festival in Tyler, belonged to Chi Omega Sorority and was a Kappa Alpha Little Sister; and is a member of the DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution). She is employed with Pier I Imports.

The groom graduated from Subiaco Academy in Arkansas and the University of North Texas. He has a degree in Political Science and will attend SMU Law School in Dallas in the fall. In college, he belonged to Kappa Alpha Fraternity; was on the Dean's List, and earned the E.C. Bull Award in Comparative Politics. He is employed with North Dallas Bank and Trust.

The reception was held at Ber Tree Country Club, with 500 guests attending. Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple will reside in Dallas.

Among relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmerer, Sister Dorothy Therese Zimmerer, Ricky Hess, Wilfred and Virginia Hess, Larry and Elaine Zimmerer and family, Lisa and Terry Rohmer, Clyde and Sharon Walterscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf.

Darrin Russell on honor roll

Darrin Joseph Russell, son of Robert and Rita Russell, has qualified for the Spring Semester Honor Roll at the University of Texas at Arlington, in the College of Engineering, for outstanding academic performance.

He maintained a grade point ratio of 3.25 on a 4.0 scale, and is a third year Electrical Engineering student. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Russell and Marie and Herbie Herr and the late Emmet Fette.

VBS succeeds again through support

Outstanding community support, parental participation, and student attendance were a combination that again worked to make Sacred Heart Parish's Vacation Bible School a success. It took place during the week of June 14 - 18.

There were 188 students with 17 teachers, 32 aides and a large number of other volunteers.

A closing Mass was held at 10:30 a.m. Friday which was also the feast of the Sacred Heart. Father Camillus Cooney, celebrant, gave a very informative homily. He pointed out the many symbols of the Sacred Heart found in Sacred Heart Church and around the parish grounds.

A large banner with cut-outs of hands representing each student, teacher and aide was placed on the communion rail. It was inscribed with "Here are the hands that can help God's kingdom come". For the entrance procession, two students from each class carried up some of the work that they had done during the week.

Ramona Felderhoff and Mary Endres were directors of the 1993 Vacation Bible School. They were assisted by Nicholas Yosten, Adam Klement and Kelly Felderhoff. Craft directors were Jean Walterscheid, Dianne Walterscheid and Mary Hess. The helpers were Jeff Klement and Darren Hennigan.

Planning the week's music and liturgy were Pam Fette, Ruth Felderhoff, Anne Poole and Toni Trubenchach. Janie Hennigan was in charge of snacks. Her helpers were Jeanne Greathouse, Shana Haverkamp, Trisha Endres and Becky Endres. Nursery coordinators were Anastasia Sanchez and Helen Whitecotton. Other nursery volunteers were Yvonne Martin, Andrea Bartush, Melanie Hellman, Courtney Grewing, Heather Hess, Carrie Coker and Jana Coker.

Teachers and aides were: 4 year olds -- Jill Wimmer; Scott Hermes and Amy Truebenbach. Melissa Miller and Darlene Hess; Laura Klement, Shauna Endres, Joy Tisdale and Angela Farr.

Kindergarten - Cecilia Fuhrmann; Misty Vogel and Patrick Miller. Kristi Schneider; Allison Endres and Kristen Grewing.

Grade 1 - Lanie Bartush and Debbie Cochran; Valerie Bartush, Christy Hesse; Emily Felderhoff, Peggy Sparkman; Debra Voth and Theresa Sanchez.

Grade 2 - Dianne Pagel; Amy Sturm and Jo Sparkman, Connie Grewing; Raegen Koesler, Linda Sepanski; Crystal Klement and Angel Sicking.

Grade 3 - Annette Bayer; Janet Fetsch Jessica Berres and Debra Dangelmayr. Lisa Walterscheid; Shelly Klement, Candice Abney and Jackie Henscheid.

Grade 4 - Linda Yosten; Jeffrey Yosten and Aaron Hess. Marlene Endres; Lisa Russell and Betty Trevino.

Grade 5 - Linda Flusche; Ashley Hartman, Brian Miller and Russell Fette.

The program began with Mass on Monday morning, Father Camillus was the celebrant. Bible School students participated in the liturgy.

On Tuesday Father Camillus met the third graders in church to show them the vestments required to offer Mass. He also explained the reasons for different colors of vestments. Father Camillus met the children at church on Thursday and gave each one a holy card as a keepsake. He also explained the vestments to the fifth graders.

VFW Auxiliary members give 245 volunteer hours in May

On June 21 the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW held a regular monthly meeting in the Post Home. It was reported by Ethel Hesse that 14 members participated in 245 hours as volunteers last month.

Reports were also given on Memorial Day and Buddy Poppy sales. Frances Bayer presented a Voice of Democracy plaque and certificates to winners at the Sacred Heart Awards Banquet. Linda Knabe made the presentation at the Muenster Public School Awards Banquet.

It was voted to donate $25 to the local Red Cross Swim Program. State convention dates June 23 to 26 in Corpus Christi were announced.

President Frances Bayer conducted the meeting. Hilda Sicking was conductress pro tem and Theresa Muller patriotic instructor pro tem. Ida Bindel, secretary, read the roll call, previous meeting minutes, communications and bills. Treasurer Lucille Hesse gave her report.

Outgoing president Frances Bayer thanked all members for standing by her and helping her during the last two years.

In July the new officers will assume their duties as follows: Dorothy Hesse, president; Mary Lee Hennigan, sr. vice president; Josephine Schilling, jr. vice president; Lucille Hesse, treasurer; Theresa Muller, secretary; Ethel Hesse, chaplain; Linda Knabe, conductress; Juanita Knabe, guard; Julie Cunningham, one year trustee; Hilda Sicking, two year trustee; Agnes Hess, three year trustee; Frances Bayer, patriotic instructor; Janet Barnhill, flag bearer; Julie Cunningham, banner bearer; Dorothy Hesse, historian; flag bearers #1 Armella Cler, #2 Bonnie Hess, #3 Juanita Knabe, and #4 Ida Bindel.

Lunch was served to 12 members by Juanita Knabe. Hilda Sicking was the door prize winner. Ethel Hesse will be the July hostess.

During the week every student painted a t-shirt which had a Vacation Bible School logo on the front. Dianne Walterscheid designed the logo. Jean Walterscheid organized the painting project. The children wore their t-shirts to church on Friday for the closing ceremony.

Plans underway for October Quilt Show

by Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent-H.E. Quilts, quilts and more quilts! That's what we hope to have at the Quilt Show to be held again this year. It will be held during the "Country Fair on the Square" celebration scheduled for Oct. 2 and 3.

The show will be held again this year in the County Courthouse. Specific plans have not been completed, but area quilters are urged to place this date on their calendars and plan on entering one or more quilts.

At least two new categories will be included this year - a Beginner's Quilt Category and a Baby Quilt Category. Other categories will include appliques, pictorial, embroidered, patchwork or combination of methods.

Specific rules will be set by a committee at a later date. Quilts will be judged and ribbons awarded.

Volunteers are needed to serve on the planning committee. Volunteers will also be needed to serve as hostesses during the show. Quilters willing to serve in either position are urged to call the County Extension office at 668-5412.

Quilts of all kinds continue to be popular. More people are quilting today than for many years. Beautiful quilting certainly is a work of art that many people can enjoy. If you're a quilter, plan on sharing your talent by entering the Quilt Show and letting others view your quilt.

The engagement and approaching marriage of Cheramie Beth Moster and Eric Francis Dankesreiter have been announced by her parents Damien and Carra "Lou" Moster of 240 South Willow Street in Muenster. Father James Moster of Kansas, an uncle of the bride-elect, will officiate at the wedding ceremony on Saturday, August 7, 1993 at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster. Thomas and Rosemary Dankesreiter of Route 1, Muenster are parents of the future groom. Attendants will be Amy Dankesreiter, maid of honor and John Herr, best man; Robin Greathouse, Bernice Bartel, and Cindy Schilling, bridesmaids; and Keith Klement, David Moster, and Tommy Joe Dankesreiter, groomsmen. Cheramie is a 1992 graduate of Sacred Heart High and has attended Cooke County College. She is currently employed at Rohmer's Restaurant. Eric graduated from Muenster Public High School in 1989 and attended Cooke County College. He graduated from Texas Tech University in 1993 with a Bachelor's degree in Political Science. The couple will reside in Lubbock where Cheramie will be attending nursing school and where Eric has been accepted into Texas Tech Law School.

Host families needed for 1993-94 school year

American Intercultural Student Exchange, a non-profit, tax-exempt educational foundation, is currently seeking host families for the 1993-94 school year - people willing to share their home, time, love and family with a foreign exchange student.

As Americans we are honored to live in a country that students from around the world are eager to visit. They attend high school for an academic year while living with an American family. They study our government and political systems and take their first-hand knowledge back to their home country to share with their peers, teachers and families. Their lives will never be the same after living in America.

Through hosting these very special students, the American families gain valuable insights into the different customs and cultures throughout the world. This is truly an educational experience for the entire family. Lifetime bonds are formed, creating greater understanding and global awareness with all nations in our world.

Students come from 30 different countries with their own spending money, insurance and transportation to and from the United States. Students are from 15-18 years of age and attend high school in your community. Host families may deduct $50.00 per month as a charitable contribution from income tax purposes.

Call today for more information. Area representative is Cindy Denning, 817-768-2247, or call toll-free 1-800-SIBLING.

Truebenbach named 1993 Soroptimist Girl of the Year

April Truebenbach, 1993 graduate of Sacred Heart High School of Muenster, recently received the Elizabeth Graham Scholarship Award in the amount of $500, presented by Soroptimist International of Gainesville.

Making the presentation was Elizabeth Graham, a charter member of the club. Soroptimist International is the largest women's service organization in the world. The award is based on academic achievement and involvement in school and community affairs.

April is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Truebenbach of Muenster, and was the October Girl of the Month. The award was presented June 7 at the annual Installation Dinner held at Laura's Restaurant.

Baptism

Hesse

The Sacrament of Baptism was administered to Matthew Frazier Hesse, son of Anne and Neil Hesse, in Sacred Heart Church on Father's Day, Sunday, June 20, 1993. Father Stephen Eckart, OSB, Matthew's great-great-uncle, presided after the 10:30 a.m. Mass.

Baptismal sponsors were an aunt, Rose Felderhoff, and an uncle, Ken Hesse.

The infant wore the same christening garment worn by his father and other grandchildren of the late James and Angeline Eckart; also a medal, gift of a great-aunt, Girdle Felderhoff.

Dinner followed in the home of the paternal grandparents. Special guests for the baptism and family gathering were Joe and Ruth Felderhoff and Bernard and Agnes Hesse, Matthew's grandparents. Other guests included Aunt Janet Hesse; Uncle David Hesse; Aunt Jenny White of Houston; Uncle, Aunt and Cousins Bert and Christy Hesse and Rebekah and Joe; Great-Aunt Ethel Hesse; the godparents; Great-Great-Uncle Father Stephen Eckart; and Pat Vaughan of Austin.

Prehistoric fish struggling to survive in Texas rivers

Something oddly prehistoric lurks in the rivers of mid-America. It has the smooth skin of a catfish, boneless body of a shark and nose that would shame Pinocchio. Occasional reports by the few who've netted one suggest a strange new type of fish.

Quite the opposite. The snouted swimmer is a paddlefish, Polyodon spathula, which has inhabited what is now the United States since long before dinosaurs. Paddlefish aren't well known because their populations have dwindled for the past 100 years to the point of extinction in some places and endangered status in others.

The native North American paddlefish once lived abundantly throughout the river system of the midsection of the states, from the Gulf Coast to the Great Lakes, from Alabama to Montana. But human activities - damming streams to create city water reservoirs, for example - began a decline that eliminated the 300 million-year-old species from four states, added it to protected lists in six and placed management controls in most of the other 16 where paddlefish still live in large enough numbers.

"The paddlefish is one of the oldest surviving species of animal life on our continent," said Veronica Pitman, a biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "That captures the imagination of people. You want to like an animal that has been around that long."

Pitman wrote a paddlefish recovery plan for Texas and, through her agency, began implementing the stocking recommendations in 1989. Paddlefish had been on the state's endangered species list since 1977.

The agency's goal is to return the paddlefish populations to numbers large enough to delist them and to allow managed sport fishing of the species in Texas.

"Before it was added to the endangered list, the paddlefish was not regulated at all in Texas," she

San Marcos from eggs obtained in Missouri and South Dakota.

But the task is much more complex than dumping young paddlefish - about 110,000 a year - into large bodies of water.

"We don't know what it will take to keep them going. Texas rivers are virtually unknown biologically. We have some data on water chemistry of the state's rivers, but that's about all," said Dr. Brian Murphy, a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station fish ecology and management researcher. "In terms of specifically matching the preferred habitat of these critters, no one knows where to find it."

Based on research in other states, it is known that paddlefish like to feed in slow-moving backwater areas, but they spawn in graveled or cobbled areas with rising water and faster flows. The smallest river that can support paddlefish flows at least 30 miles and is about 130 feet wide with an average depth of 3 feet.

Murphy and others at the Experiment Station began a cooperative paddlefish research program with the parks and wildlife department in 1992. One effort is to find out where and how much food for paddlefish exists in Texas waters.

Paddlefish, because of their primitive nature, are lower on the food chain. That means they feed on zooplankton, the minuscule animal life floating in water. But even within that microscopic world, there are many types of zooplankton, some of it apparently better for paddlefish development than others.

They also are indiscriminate eaters. As adults, paddlefish take in large amounts of water through their mouths. A rake-like apparatus in their gills strains out the edible material to ingest, sending the rest of the water out. It's almost a continual process for paddlefish, which require a lot of tiny zooplankton to maintain mature weights of up to 200 pounds.

Though the recovery program is have only two offspring make it to maturity."

Compounding that, spawning habitats have been destroyed in the past when dams were built, preventing the fish from continuing the upstream journey to lay eggs in the proper environment. Ready-to-spawn females, congregated at the base of a dam, also have been easy target for harvest, Murphy noted.

Pitman said polluted water may be another factor contributing to declining paddlefish numbers. Although the larger fish may be able to withstand certain amounts of pollution in the water, contaminants may be passed to the eggs through food consumed by the female. Those eggs may be laid, but the young fish hatch and die after consuming the contaminated yolk sac.

One such fishery in Missouri was closed, she said, apparently because contamination entering a reservoir from a neighboring subdivision killed high numbers of the paddlefish. Pitman said the Texas effort has to make sure the water quality is adequate for paddlefish before the recovery plan is complete.

Suppose the fingerlings live, the researchers determine the needs and location of good paddlefish habitat and the parks and wildlife department leads the recommended recovery plan to the end of its 10-year goals. Pitman and Murphy agree that knowing for sure that the paddlefish is healthy enough for delisting will be difficult to ensure. A census of what swims beneath the surface of Texas rivers, bayous and reservoirs can't be done with a fill-in-the-blank questionnaire.

"There is no way to get absolute numbers on fish," Murphy said. "The frequency with which a fish turns up gives an idea. Paddlefish turn up rarely today. We have to judge that against historical records."

"When we radio-tagged some 1-year-old fish in 1990-91, we did find that they don't stay where they are released," Pitman said. "About a third of them moved downstream, when released on the Neches River. But the others went upstream."

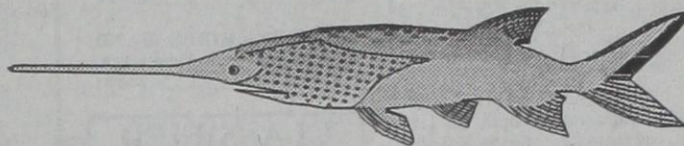

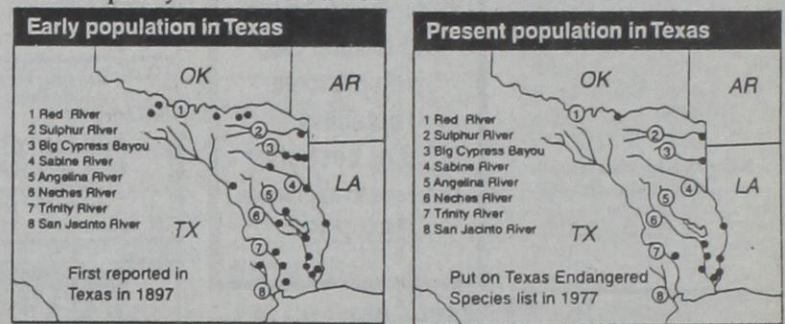

She said the radio tracking trial - in which internal transmitters emit unique frequencies for each fish - tracked one paddlefish upstream 200 miles from its release point and another downstream 125 miles.

"It's very difficult to keep track of these fish, because they are very migratory," she said. "Until many of the rivers in this country were dammed, paddlefish traveled up and down the Mississippi River (basin) at will. They are able to tolerate that much variety in water temperatures and environment."

But for now, the researchers and state biologists have the backing to bring paddlefish back as a strong population in the state. Paddlefish are a valued catch for sport fishing. The American Fisheries Society, the major national fisheries conservation group, estimates that paddlefish are valued at $1 per inch when less than 30 inches, or $25 per pound when larger than 30 inches.

"A full-grown, 100-pound paddlefish is very valuable," Murphy noted.

Murphy believes the program is going to "have to get lucky to get the right systems" together at the right time to aid the paddlefish. Pitman believes the "luck," in terms of finding the answers to help the fingerlings live and reproduce, will be there. "We have every reason to believe that we will be successful," she said.

said. "That contributed to its decline here."

Paddlefish flesh often is substituted for smoked sturgeon, and the eggs are used for caviar. Female paddlefish ready to spawn may catch $500 for their eggs which sell for about $50 per pound, Pitman said.

Part of the effort to delist the fish, which the state parks and wildlife department hopes to do by 2001, involves raising massive numbers of young paddlefish and pouring them into the Trinity, Neches, Sabine, Big Cypress Bayou and Sulphur rivers.

The young fish, or fingerlings, are tagged in a stocking program that will continue for 10 years. The Neches River, the first in the program, has been stocked for five years. Fingerlings for release are raised at the A.E. Wood Hatchery in in its fifth year on the Neches River, Pitman said, it is difficult to determine whether the stocking has had any impact on paddlefish populations because the fish have not reached sexual maturity yet.

"We won't know until the fish are mature and able to produce," she said. "But we have had some accidental captures returned to us, and those fish have been growing at a very good rate."

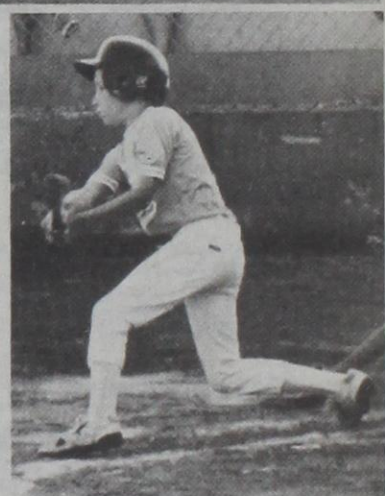

Paddlefish, which may live at least 30 years, become sexually mature from 4-9 years for males and 6-12 years for females. Spawning usually occurs from February through late June upstream from where the fish normally live. But there is a high juvenile death rate.

"In natural habitats, there is a 99 percent mortality in the first one or two years," Murphy added. "A female could spawn for decades and

July 1 is registration deadline for soccer camp

Lindsay Park will be the site for the area's only soccer camp again as the 7th Annual Heat Soccer Camp comes to Cooke County in 1993.

Camp Director Kenneth Austin set the week of July 12-16 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon with fees being $35 for the camp.

Austin (a professional referee, highly-regarded club coach and one-time college coach) hopes to make this year's camp as rewarding as ever.

To do this, he will bring Manuel Ortiz Jr. of Dallas for further professional assistance.

Ortiz, too, is a national referee and 15-year coach who has both officiated and instructed players in many international games.

Also helping will be Tanner Neidhardt who has played in the Classic League of Dallas for six years and is on the Olympic Development Team.

Deadline for registration is July 1. For more information, call Mark or Terry Krebs at 665-7173 or Tanner at 665-4511. Registration forms are available at Tom Thumb, Wal-Mart; Tops & Teams in Muenster; and Lindsay Grocery in Lindsay.

Cooke County scores big in 4-H State Roundup by Shellie Jupe, County Extension Agent-H.E. Cooke County 4-H'ers were among the many, many outstanding young people from across the state to compete in the 1993 Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University during the week of June 7.

Roundup, the biggest 4-H event held each year, gives 4-H'ers an opportunity to gain educational experiences that support 4-H projects, demonstrates skills and practice leadership at the state level. Outstanding 4-H'ers compete in over 40 contests in which they showcase their speaking abilities, decision-making skills and talents.

Those competing in the Illustrated Talk events were: Sara Flusche and Charlene Lutkenhaus in Family Life Educational Activity; Rebecca Miller in Pork; Sean Herbold in Consumer Life Skills Educational Activity; Robert Lutkenhaus and Clifford Lutkenhaus in Safety and Accident Prevention; and Greg Brooks prepared a speech for the Public Speaking Event.

The Dairy Judging Team from Cooke County went to the State competition this year with a mission. The mission was to WIN! They accomplished this by stealing 1st place overall by 50 points. They also placed 1st as a team in the Holstein Class, 3rd in the Jersey Class and 1st in Reasons. The members of this 1st-place winning team include Jennifer Kupper, Werner Becker, Darryl Kupper and Todd Martindale. They were coached by Ray Carson.

These four 4-H'ers did great as a team, but they also created quite a stir individually. Jennifer Kupper kept the points adding up by placing 1st High Individual in Holsteins, 1st High Individual in Jerseys, 1st High Individual in Reasons and these three titles awarded her 1st High Individual Overall. Others helping Jennifer rack up the points were: Todd Martindale receiving 3rd High Individual in Holsteins; and Werner Becker receiving 3rd High Individual in Jerseys and 4th High Individual Overall.

These four members of the State-winning 4-H Dairy Judging Team will be going to the National 4-H Dairy Judging Competition in September which will be held in Madison, Wisconsin. These four young people are hoping for the support of Cooke County's businesses and personal friends for money donations to help them with expenses for their once-in-a-lifetime trip. If anyone can donate to help them get to Wisconsin, please do so.

Also winning 1st place recognition was Robert Lutkenhaus for his garment designed men's suit in the Fabric and Fashion Design Competition. His sister, Charlene Lutkenhaus, also received a 1st place ribbon in the Photography Contest with her photo in the Promote 4-H Category.

The Food Show took place the first day of Roundup. Cooke County had a family of three young people entering. They were: Clifford Lutkenhaus in the Main Dish Category; Robert Lutkenhaus in the Fruit and Vegetable Category; and Charlene Lutkenhaus in the Bread and Cereal Category.

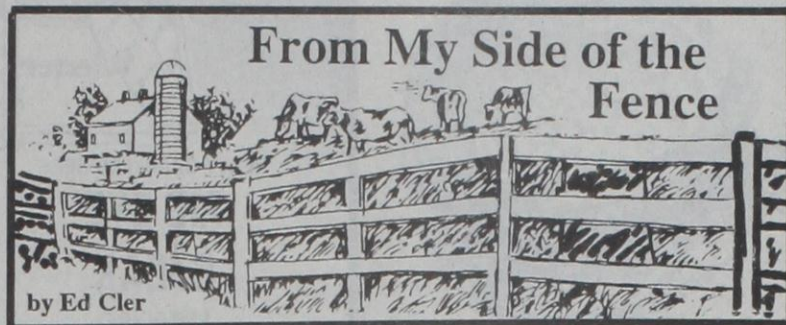

The Fashion Show Competition was a highlight of Roundup with the participants providing a spectacular show of fashion. Cooke County had two contestants who presented their fashion garments with style and grace. They were Rachel Cravens in the Sports and Specialty Buying Division and Charlene Lutkenhaus in the Dressy Buying Division.

Without the help of the parents and leaders, these 4-H'ers would not have the opportunity to participate at State. Thank you to the following people who attended: Dennis and Carolyn Lutkenhaus, John and Beth Brooks, Ray Carson, Lisa Kupper and Jerry and Evelyn Sicking; and the many other supporters we have in Cooke County.

COOKE COUNTY'S DAIRY JUDGING TEAM placed first in the State 4-H Roundup. The team members are, 1 to r, Coach Ray Carson, Todd Martindale, Werner Becker, Jennifer Kupper and Daryl Kupper.

While visiting in New Hampshire in the summer of '91, we took a side trip to Sturbridge, Massachusetts to see "Old Sturbridge Village," which is a living history of life in a rural New England town during the 1830s. The streets and buildings are kept, as nearly as possible, just as they were during that time period, and the people dress the part and carry on occupations of the time.

There are shops of all kinds - a bakery, a water-powered grist mill and saw mill, blacksmith shop, wooden bucket and barrel makers, wool carders and it seems as if there was a need for a product, there was a shop to produce it, up to a point.

The village smithy demonstrated his skills in making a variety of farming and cutting tools, horse shoes, and shoes for oxen that did most of the plowing and heavy draft work, on the many small farms surrounding the village of about 200 souls.

A school was kept open year 'round, not only to teach the children, but also to care for the little ones while most family members worked on the farms to produce the needed food and fiber. Of course, most everyone needs some relaxation from time to time, so there was a storyteller who also played a guitar very well and entertained both young and old, telling his tales and singing many songs in the meeting house, where Sunday worship was also held.

There is a bank, and a law office, the latter used mostly for property litigation, inheritance and debt collection.

Every shop and mill in the village is in working order, and the men and women who man them are skilled in their work.

It was a most interesting day for all of us. I had never before seen oxen wearing iron shoes. They were nailed on, just as the ones used on horses were. There were two half shoes used on each of the oxen's feet.

The hauling and farm work and all other jobs are carried on using the same type tools and equipment used in the 1800s.

I believe their storyteller was by far a better entertainer than a lot of the ones of the present time.

Gov. Richards signs Young Farmer loan guarantee program bill

Governor Richards signed into law in May a bill that would establish the Young Farmer Loan Guarantee Program (YFGP). The bill would establish guaranteed loans for eligible applicants not to exceed $50,000 or 90 percent of the total loan amount.

The program will be created in the State Treasury with funds currently collected and deposited in the Young Farmer Endowment Account in the General Revenue Fund. Funding for loans for the YFGP would come from a special $5.00 agricultural motor vehicle fee established in 1991 and from available federal, local or private sources. The legislation the Governor signed would, however, provide for the refunding of the $5.00 fee by the filing of an application with the Comptroller's Office.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

The Bugs of Summer

June is the month of the adult stage of our most important insect pest of turfgrass, the appropriately named June beetle. With the recent heavy rains, lots of nightflying June beetles should be expected around lights and windows over the next few weeks.

June beetles typically emerge over several weeks beginning in late May, and sometimes extending into July and August. Adult June beetles lay the eggs that will eventually become white grubs, an important pest of turfgrass in Texas. Eggs typically take about two weeks to develop, and another approximately three weeks is required for the most damaging and difficult-to-kill third instar stage to be reached. The best time for chemical suppression of white grubs is when the majority of the population is in the vulnerable first and third instar stages, a window of opportunity that usually occurs in North Central Texas in late July or early August.

Several inquiries have already been received about the "early" June beetle season this year. Callers have referred to the moderately large number of adult beetles attracted to lights in April and May. The truth is that these early emergers were a different species of beetle, largely Phyllophaga congrua, a relative of our turfgrass pest species in Texas, Phyllophaga cincta (the true June beetle) and Cyclocephala lurida (the southern masked chafer). While this early-emerging species may cause some damage on cool-season lawns such as tall fescue, their abundance this year does not mean that most north Texans will need to apply grub-killing insecticides early to their lawns this summer.

As soon as they are able to make a prediction, Dr. Robert Crocker and Dr. Mike Merchant will notify us about the recommended treatment window for our area. Although the standard treatment time for our area is late July/early August, we will supply you with a more precise optimal treatment time as soon as they are able to assess the results of 1993 light trap catches.
