Security is priority for commissioners

by Elaine Schad

People entering the Cooke County Courthouse will be subject to search after Cooke County Commissioners this week approved increased security measures for the courthouse.

Commissioners authorized the county's public safety committee to purchase eight signs which will be placed on the entry doors to the courthouse. The signs will notify the public that they will be subject to search. The county will also purchase two hand-held metal detectors for the courthouse at a cost of $229 each. The county already has one hand-held metal detector. A full-time bailiff and two constables will conduct periodic searches, Commissioner Kenneth Alexander said. Searches are expected to be conducted by later this month when several trials are scheduled in the courthouse, he said.

Commissioners in February met with U. S. Marshall John Moore to review recommendations for increasing courthouse security.

Alexander said some of Moore's recommendations could be implemented with very little or no cost.

The county has had one incident related to courthouse security. On Dec. 22, a man was arrested in the courthouse and charged with unlawful possession of a firearm. Ronnie Martin Moore of Gainesville has been indicted for unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon in connection with a Dec. 22 incident that occurred at the Cooke County Courthouse in Gainesville. Moore, 59, was attempting to renew his driver's license in the tax-assessor collector's office when the office computer noted the man had an outstanding warrant. The Cooke County Sheriff's Department was notified and Moore was arrested. Moore was in possession of a .22 derringer at the time of his arrest, according to Don King, investigator with the Cooke County District Attorney's Office. Moore, who had a prior felony conviction for aggravated assault, was released on a $10,000 bond.

Muenster School Board seeks to fill positions of high school principal and band director

by Elaine Schad

The Muenster school district is looking for a new high school principal following the resignation of Jerry Metzler.

School trustees accepted Metzler's resignation during its regular June meeting. Metzler, a Lindsay native, has been principal at Muenster for the past two years. The district is currently taking applications for the position.

School trustees also accepted the resignation of Band Director Charlotte Taylor. The district will be welcoming three new faculty members after hiring a new coach and two elementary teachers. Randy Tankesley will be the new assistant coach, replacing Kyle Baker.

Tankesley has been a coach at Beeville for the past eight years. He will be an assistant in junior high and high school sports.

Kristi Schneider and Tammy Thurmann were both hired as new kindergarten teachers. Both are recent graduates of the University of North Texas.

In other business, trustees approved the 1993-1994 school calendar. The new calendar will include a full week for spring break, which will be coordinated with the local college and area school districts.

The board received an update on the state financial situation for 1993-1994. The Muenster ISD could lose about $20,000, but that figure is very tentative, said Superintendent Steve Cooper. The district hopes to receive some firmer figures from the state within the next couple of weeks.

The district has received its scores on the recent Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) testing. All of the Muenster ISD scores were above the state average. The high school campus received an Outstanding Effort Award from the Texas Education Agency for meeting certain academic criteria. The TEA also awarded the Muenster Elementary campus the Outstanding Performance Award. The elementary was among only 126 elementary campuses to receive the award among 5,000 campuses in the state.

Trustees heard an update on the gym and classroom renovations. Both projects are on target to be completed by early August if the weather continues to be good, Cooper said.

The board approved a 3 percent pay raise for auxiliary personnel, approved a software contract with Region 11, and approved participation in a program offered through the Texas Association of School Boards that will assist the district with cash flow management.

Early discounts for tax payments ended for taxpayers

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County taxpayers will no longer receive a discount for paying their taxes before the January.

Cooke County commissioners this week voted to rescind the discount effective with 1993 tax payments. County taxpayers had received a 3 percent discount if they paid their taxes in October, 2 percent if paid in November and 1 percent if paid in December.

Cooke County Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Ross Fry told commissioners the county last year lost about $25,000 in revenues because of the discounts. The main problem with the discounts is that they create a paperwork problem since Cooke County is the only remaining taxing entity to allow the discounts.

In other business during their regular meeting, Commissioners granted a 75 percent 10-year tax abatement to Alan Ritchey, Inc. Ritchey is proposing an estimated $2 million expansion to Martindale Feed Mill in Valley View which could bring 30 additional jobs to the county. The expansion will include the construction of a new grain elevator and expanded office space.

Commissioners Virgil Hess and Jerry Lewis were appointed as representatives to the Cooke County Solid Waste Task Force. Commissioner Kenneth Alexander said Gainesville Mayor Jim Hatcher was in favor of revitalizing the committee and that new members were being appointed.

In other matters, commissioners: --Approved a prisoner custody agreement for fiscal year 1993 for the state to accept Cooke County prisoners.

--Approved a final plat for the Flying K Subdivision located west of Lake Kiowa.

--Awarded Mega Equipment of Fort Worth a $74,000 bid for the purchase of a four-wheel drive rubber tire loader that will be used to load gravel.

Father's Day benefit reaches peak in several categories

"Reaching a peak," "Surpassing all other years," "Coming very close to an ambitious goal," "Cooperation like we haven't experienced before," and many other satisfying responses were given by co-chairmen and directors of the benefit dinner, bazaar, games and two auctions, when questioned about the venture.

"We had no main chairman," said Tom Herr. "We all worked together harmoniously toward one goal, on an equal basis. The results are obvious. It was a great day. Cooperation was definitely top."

Carrie Walterscheid and Virgilla Herr reported serving more than 1100 dinners. No count was available on quantities or numbers of sandwiches or evening light suppers.

In the Arts and Crafts Booth, there was a happy report of successful sales of a marvelous variety of high quality gift or personal items. Cookie jars with a selection of changeable lids for a holiday theme were popular items. There was an outstanding carousel horse, decorative wooden pieces with holiday themes, flower boxes with flowers, a flower cart with flowers, an old milk can painted white filled with a huge fern.

A white patio table and matching chairs were offered for chances. Winner was Sylvan Walterscheid. Winner of the Rifle Raffle was Bob Hartman. Winner of the handmade quilt was Mrs. Tony Wimmer.

In commenting on the Major Auction, Don Flusche, auctioneer, said, "The success of this venture can be attributed to the many who worked and who donated; to the new donors and new buyers; to the biggest crowd ever; to the promise of entertainment (three skits were performed). Advertising was important and news stories caught the attention of readers. We learned a lot of things that will help us next year. We can't say 'thank you' Please See PICNIC, Page 6

Cooke County's rebates improve from a year ago

A total of $109.4 million in June sales tax rebates were mailed to 917 cities and 108 counties in Texas. It was a 3.5 percent increase in the payments of one year ago.

Texas cities received 98.1 million in sales tax payments, up 3.4 percent from the $94.9 million they received last June. Counties received $11.2 million, a 4.9 percent increase over the June 1992 rebates of $10.6 million.

"Sales tax rebates this month were a mixed bag," said State Comptroller John Sharp. "While payments were up in many Texas cities and counties, other parts of the state continue to feel the 'drag' of a sluggish national economy."

Muenster's rebate checks continue to improve from those of a year ago. The June rebate check was for $8,856.39, a 10.84 percent increase from the $7,989.92 check in June 1992. Muenster's 1993 payments to date total $63,355.02. At this time in 1992 payments totaled $56,395.15, a change for the better of 12.34 percent.

Lindsay also showed improvements with a June 1993 check of $3,331.58, an increase of 2.57 percent. Total payments to date for June, $23,338.27, is an increase of 3.87 percent from June of 1992.

Gainesville's net payment for June, $85,393.64, is up 3.19 percent from a year ago. Total payments to date, $672,605.51, has increased 13.23 percent.

Valley View received $2,297.28, an increase of 21.89 percent from June 1992. Payments to date total $14,932.80 and show an increase of 1.94 percent.

Oak Ridge received $2,874.09 in June and noted a decrease of 4.28 percent from the $3,002.50 received in June 1992. Oak Ridge's total payments to date, $17,188.39, are still improved from total payments to date a year ago (up 1.10 percent).

The total amount sent to cities in Cooke County was $102,752.98. This is a positive change of 3.92 percent from the total of a year ago.

Cooke County was mailed a check for $55,731.94. This was an increase of 10.24 percent from last June's sales tax rebate. Cooke County's 1993 total payments to date, $394,160.87, is also up 12.84 percent from that of a year ago.

IN FRONT OF MUENSTER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL on Tuesday, Hospital Board Member Margie Starke smiles with pleasure as she surveys attendance at a support rally even after people were notified the rally had been canceled. They came anyway, concerned at the reasons for planning the rally. In contrast, showing sincere concern were Lorena Taylor and Queenie Walterscheid as they added their signatures to scrolls to be presented to Dr. Jon Tompkins, who has announced his intention to move his practice to another city. ## Lindsay Council addresses handicap access

The Lindsay city council discussed handicapped access to public facilities among several agenda items during its regular June meeting.

Nina Bardsley addressed the council concerning problems that people in wheelchair may have accessing the Lindsay City Park. When the park gate is closed to vehicles, it is not possible for someone in a wheelchair to enter the park, she told the council. Mayor Robert Walterscheid said the council will consider the item as well as handicapped access to park restroom facilities at a later meeting.

Vernon Smith, a representative with TU Electric, presented the council with a proposed ordinance which would provide an increase in the franchise fee TU pays the city from 3 percent to 4 percent. Smith said TU is trying to standardize its franchise fees across the state and is basing the ordinance on one now in effect in Dallas. The council is expected to act on the ordinance at its July meeting since there is a July 31 deadline to take action on the ordinance, Walterscheid said.

The council gave tentative approval for a zoning variance to the Smokehouse to extend the boundary line for serving alcohol beverages from 150 to 190 feet north of U. S. 82. The restaurant is seeking to expand its seating area and requested the variance. The council gave tentative approval based on final adoption of an ordinance to that effect at its July meeting based on a recommendation from the city attorney.

The council heard from Joe Fenton, representing Texas Waste Management, which provides garbage curbside pickup in the city. Fenton gave general information concerning the company and answered several questions that council members had. In another matter, the council tabled until its July meeting the appointment of a replacement for Pat Bowman on the city zoning board. Bowman resigned from the board after he was elected to a position on the city council.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:
I live in Myra, Texas and I have been employed by Weber Aircraft for 19 years. The current situation at Weber has me and my family worried. Since Weber was bought by a French company last year things just haven't been the same, and now with the announcement of 347 layoffs (235 have already been laid off), there are rumors that our jobs will be lost to a competing company in France. Or, if we want to save our jobs we must make additional sacrifices in wages and benefits. We at Weber already work at about $1.50 per hour below the average rate for Texas workers.

The loyal employees of Weber have lost confidence in management and don't deserve to be put out on the street at the whim of some French company. We need community support to keep our jobs and our dignity. Gainesville will be the big loser if Weber folds or forces its employees to work at poverty wages.

Sincerely,

Dear Folks of Muenster,

Last Wednesday, we had our last retreat of Iona Presentation College girls. That school was definitely the team's highlight of our four weeks in Perth, which are now over. We travel north to Geraldton tomorrow. But first, I must tell you of my experience of last Wednesday. It involved a young lady whom we will call Dudette (female dude). The retreat was for the second half of their junior class, about 75 girls.

Dudette was an ordinary type of girl, nothing particular about her, except her real name was rather unique. In our first small group, she told about who she was, what she liked, how many brothers and sisters she had, etc., like all the rest of the group did. In the second small group, which was a bit more serious, we were talking about whether or not we believed in God and, if so, what our relationship with Him/Her/It was like at the moment and, if not, why not. Well, Dudette did believe in God, as she said. But then she landed a bombshell. She said she didn't want to have anything to do with Him and she hated Him because He was a cold and cruel God. And that was that. I thought it was not the time to press her on it, as she seemed quite serious about it, so I accepted it and we went on to the next person.

Then, in the third small group, we were talking about things that kept us from having a relationship with God. Most of the answers from my girls were "too busy," "don't think about it," "no time," "what others think," etc. and Dudette didn't have any extraordinary thing to say about what was keeping her from God. "Well," I thought, "there's one more shot to help her: prayer ministry." So, I waited and didn't rush things. 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. retreats are good for that. They are my favorite type of retreats.

So, on came prayer ministry. The drama of the day was "Compassion." That's the one with the clown representing Jesus, who is rejected by four people - one with music, one with anger, one with sorrow and one with vanity. He is crucified by evil when he takes humanity's place on the cross. Then, the four come back, placing their "burdens" at the clown's feet, kneeling in prayer. The clown resurrects, forgives them all, and everybody walks off happy.

After that came one-on-one prayer. When I got to Dudette to pray with her, I asked (as always) how her day was. And she said, "That last drama made me realize just how selfish I am, and how much I really do need to have God in my life." Just like that, out of the blue, I didn't do it. God pointed the way and she chose to accept it. So I asked her, "Why were you, or are you, so mad at God?" She lost it then, but that was good. Through her tears she told the story of how her sister had become pregnant before marriage. Her parents, staunch hard Catholics, almost disowned her for it, gave her no support after the deed was done, showed no compassion or care, and basically would not give her the chance to be reconciled with herself, God, or themselves (the parents). Dudette saw this action of "cold cruelty in the name of religion" just too much and told God where he could put it if this was following Him. But then she said that she had come to realize through the day and drama that God wasn't that way, that her parents were choosing to shut out her sister, and that Jesus would have pointed out the sin, but would have helped her sister deal with it, be reconciled with it, and go on with life as best as possible. Her parents had missed the line, "I forgive you, now go and sin no more."

I can never forget Dudette and that Iona retreat. There were other things notable in that retreat, too, like the girl in my group who was very active in Antioch and youth groups, who really placed her life in Jesus' hands 100%, just made that decision at the retreat. I got a big hug from both of them at the end, and even more. If those two girls were the only reason I came to Australia for, then it would all be very much worth it. God is good. I love you all.

HATTIE ZAWKO

She was preceded in death by a son, Thomas Jetzelberger, in 1955 and her first husband, George Jetzelberger.

Survivors are her husband, Michael Zawko of Gainesville; two sons, Charles "Butch" Jetzelberger of Fort Worth and Larry Jetzelberger of Woodbine; one daughter, Helen Jetzelberger of Pioneer Valley; also nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Also six sisters, Agnes Prescher of Gainesville, Hilda Prescher of Valley View, Marie Ford of Rosston, Gertrude Koelzer of Muenster, Margaret Rainwater of Brownsboro and Dorothy Buttrill of Fort Worth; and two brothers, Victor Sicking and Louis Sicking of Muenster.

12 Muenster volunteer firemen receive official certification

Muenster Volunteer Firemen now have 12 members who recently earned Basic Certification certificates from the State Firemen and Fire Marshals Association. The certificates are the culmination of at least 162 hours of training. The training includes attending fire schools such as the one held at Texas A&M each summer.

Other hours are accumulated at two a month practices which are required by the state. There are 27 different subjects with varied hours required for each subject.

Earning certification were Clinton Endres, James Gehrig, Erwin Henscheid, Herbert Knabe, Harvey Schmitt, Rick Stewart, Thomas Swirczynski, James Vogel, Robert Walterscheid, James Voth, Bob Vogel, and John Yosten.

All 12 men have been with the volunteer department for at least 20 years. There are several others who need only a few more hours to achieve their certification. They could be certified as soon as the end of 1993, but several of the younger volunteers will require more time.

"Times have changed greatly in the fire service in very recent times," noted Rick Stewart their certified training officer. "There are many more man-made materials that are very flammable and give off poisonous gases and toxic fumes and so there can never be enough time spent just preparing for any one incident."

The twice monthly practices are needed according to Stewart because, "If you don't know your equipment, or what to look for when you receive a call for help, or what to expect from the people you are working with -- you just don't have time to teach someone during a job." To be a member of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department members must attend at least two thirds of all drills per year. This represents at least 480 hours of drill time, not to mention fire fighting time. This does not include the extra hours spent on maintenance.

Due to the number of hours required as a volunteer fire fighter, the complete family is involved and affected. The family routine is interrupted when the fire fighter is called to answer a fire alarm.

Tax Talk

By: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is elections permitted by tax laws. The federal income tax laws contain many provisions that provide individual taxpayers with the opportunity to elect a particular tax benefit or result. These elections allow taxpayers the option of treating a given transaction in one of two ways and often afford a means of reducing personal income taxes.

Generally, these elections must be made on or before the due date of the income tax return for the year in which a particular transaction occurs and are irrevocable after this date. Most elections are made by attaching a special statement or form to the return.

Legislature passes toughest DWI laws in ten years

The Texas Legislature has just completed passing the toughest DWI laws since 1983. Over a dozen different measures were adopted, and Mothers Against Drunk Driving believes these changes will lead to a significant drop in DWI-related deaths and injuries.

Here is a list of some of those changes:

*Offenders arrested for DWI will now have their driver's license revoked for a minimum of 60 days. Notice of suspension will be issued at the time an individual either fails or refuses a breath test. This suspension may not be probated or waived for any reason, even if this is the first time a person has been arrested for DWI.

*Offenders who seriously injure someone in a DWI crash will now face up to 10 years in prison. This is a significant increase from the old law, which simply added 60 days to the penalty an offender received for another DWI violation.

*Offenders who take the life of another human being in a DWI crash will now face up to 20 years in prison. Under the old law, such offenders could only be sentenced to 10 years.

*Repeat offenders will now have to spend at least 72 hours in jail even if they are placed on probation.

*DWI convictions from other states can now be used to enhance the punishment for a DWI conviction in Texas.

*The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission can now revoke the permits of retailers who sell alcohol "with criminal negligence" to those under 21. Previously, the TABC could only revoke the permits of retailers who "knowingly" sold alcohol to those under 21.

"The Legislature has sent a very clear message to the general public. If you drive drunk, you're going to lose your license, and you're going to spend some time in jail. If you seriously injure someone, you're going to spend the next 10 years of your life in prison and, if you kill someone, you're going to be in prison for the next 20," said Bill Lewis of MADD, Denton County.

"Victims have had it with people who think it is no big deal to drink and drive. Under the new penal code, drunk drivers are treated the same way other violent criminals are - with heavy fines and long prison terms," said Lewis.

Valley View ISD superintendent dies

by Elaine Schad

Bert Wayne Glascock, superintendent of the Valley View Independent School District for the past 13 years, died Monday at Gainesville Memorial Hospital. He was 58.

Funeral will be 10 a.m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church in Valley View. Burial will be in Valley View Cemetery in Valley View. Vernie Keel Funeral Home in Gainesville is in charge of arrangements.

Glascock was born in Chicago. He was pastor for 20 years at Prairie View Baptist Church in Achille, Okla. Glascock has been in the education field as an administrator and coach for 36 years. Prior to coming to Valley View, Glascock began the football program at Pottsboro in Grayson County, where he coached and later was a principal. He also taught at Floydada, Canyon, Memphis and Ranger. Glascock announced his retirement in October and had asked the school board not to renew his three-year contract, which was to end June 30 in the Cooke County school district of 500 students.

Survivors: Wife, Vada Glascock of Valley View; two sons, Russell Glascock of Valley View and Randy Glascock of Pilot Point; one daughter, Robbye Gilbreath of Gainesville; one sister, Gloria Nugent of Lubbock; and four grandchildren.

Finnell speaks via 2-way TV on distance learning

State Rep. Charles Finnell, whose bill cleared the way for two-way television in Texas schools, spoke last week and responded to questions via a video link between the University of North Texas and a school district 50 miles away.

The representative discussed the 73rd Session of the Texas Legislature and answered inquiries at the other end of the fiberoptics line. Finnell's bill, HB 1029, provides a way, he noted, "in which private foundations and federal grant money can be allocated to those local school districts which wish to take part in this exciting, pioneering program." Rep. Finnell called the two-way television technology "revolutionary," and that this bill puts Texas "on the cutting edge of 21st Century education technology."

Finnell was one of several who took part in the demonstration project hosted by Dr. Richard Simms of UNT. He noted, for example, Muenster Telephone Company already has linked six public schools with fiberoptic cable, including Forestburg in Montague County, part of Finnell's House district.

Because of his two-way television bill, Finnell said, "We now have a way in which private foundations and federal grant money can be allocated to school districts which wish to take part in a program that enables schools to share resources although they are great distances apart."

Couple exchange vows in St. Peter's Church

MRS. KENNETH ANDREW NOGGLER
...nee LaNell Cheryl Sicking ...

The wedding of LaNell Cheryl Sicking of Muenster, daughter of Victor and Frances Sicking, to Kenneth Andrew Noggler of Lindsay, son of Virginia Noggler and the late Ted Noggler, was held in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay on June 5, 1993. Father Stephen Eckart, OSB, was celebrant of the Nuptial Mass and officiated for their double-ring vows at 5 p.m.

A graduate of Muenster High School and a 1992 graduate of Cooke County College, the bride is a Registered Nurse employed by Gainesville Memorial Hospital. The groom is a 1985 graduate of Lindsay High School and is employed at Weber Aircraft.

In a setting of large arrangements of white flowers and smaller floral groupings of hunter green and white on the main altar with lighted candles, and the communion rail decorated with votive candles nestled in greenery and several flower arrangements, the bride was escorted to the altar by her parents.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal silk satin gown, overlaid with tulle designed by Eden. Enhanced with re-embroidered lace and rhinestones, the fitted bodice, ball-gown neckline and cap sleeves highlighted the elongated dropped waistline, and high-low hemline with the satin skirt dropping in folds, overlaid with tulle.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a headpiece of re-embroidered lace and bridal pearls.

ATTENDANTS

Cathy Creed of Muenster, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were LeAnn Lewis of Whitesboro, bride's sister; JoAnn Yosten of Muenster, groom's sister; Mindy Graham, Cheryl Bayer and Jennifer Bayer of Muenster, friends of the bride. The junior bridesmaid was Kristen Creed, bride's niece. They were elegantly attired in matching tea-length dresses of hunter green iridescent taffeta, designed with fitted bodice, off-shoulder sleeves and black lace overlay. Each wore a matching pearl necklace and earring set, gift from the bride. Bridesmaids carried matching bouquets of white roses, baby's breath and added greenery.

The flower girl was Kelly Stoffels, groom's niece, from Garland. Ring bearer was Blake Sicking, bride's nephew, from Gainesville.

Jeff Sandmann of San Marcos, a friend of the groom, was best man. Bobby Noggler of Gainesville, groom's brother; Kurt Hermes of Lindsay, a friend; Jeff Wimmer of Gainesville; Craig Hellinger of Sanger; and Steve Corcoran of Lindsay, all friends of the groom, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Carl Sicking of Myra, bride's brother; Pat Bezner, Glen Block and Jeff Parson, all of Lindsay, groom's friends.

Mass servers were Clint Metzler, Scott Metzler and John Eberhart, groom's cousins.

Wedding music was presented by Roger Dieter and Emily Klement.

Offertory gifts were presented by Glenda Sicking, bride's sister, and Ronnie Sicking, bride's brother.

Petitions were read by Pattie Sicking, bride's sister-in-law.

Liturgical Readings were given by Rudy Dieter, groom's uncle.

RECEPTION

A reception followed at St. Peter's Centennial Center, with a dinner and dance hosted by the parents of the bride.

Carmen Skaggs, bride's sister, and Jeannene Bayer, a friend, registered guests in the bride's book.

The main table was decorated with gold candelabras entwined with white roses, crystal votive candles, potted ferns and a centerpiece of white and hunter green roses made by the bride's mother. Behind the table, a white lattice archway formed a wall decoration with white tulle, bows, greenery and Boston ferns.

Assisting with the wedding cake were Roger Dieter and Pauline Stoffels. Cake servers were Lynzee Sicking, Jessica Bengfort, Cheryl Stoffels and Stacie Yosten.

The rehearsal dinner was held at The Wooden Spoon in Lindsay on June 4.

Since return from a wedding trip to Cozumel, Mexico, the couple resides in Lindsay.

Texas A&M graduates 2 from Muenster

Diplomas were awarded to more than 3,600 Texas A&M University graduates during May commencement ceremonies.

Among those from Muenster receiving degrees were: Carmen Daugherty with a BS in Journalism and Amy Davidson with an MA in English.

TDH holds immunization clinic June 29 in Muenster

On Tuesday, June 29, the Texas Department of Health will conduct an immunization clinic from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, 111 N. Pecan, in Muenster.

Children of all ages will be immunized. A parent must be present for immunization to be given regardless of age of the child.

Parents are also required to bring the immunization record or a written notification from the school for the child to be immunized. There is a sliding scale fee of which the maximum charge is $15.

Hess reunion date changed

A change has been made on the date of the reunion for the Frank Hess and Mary (Haverkamp) Hess relationship. To avoid conflict with other pre-scheduled events, the reunion is now set for Sunday, Aug. 22, at the Pavilion of Muenster City Park. For more information, call Agnes Hess or Lucille Hess.

New cancer treatment techniques noted at MMH Auxiliary meeting

During the Muenster Memorial Hospital Auxiliary meeting, Becky O'Shea, M.S., R.N. of Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas, and Mary Endres, R.N., O.C.N. of Muenster, led a lively discussion with informal questions and answers on cancer treatment, with hands-on demonstration of latest techniques of administering chemotherapy.

Muenster Memorial Hospital is now offering this service on an outpatient basis, reducing the inconvenience of travel to a treatment center. Another program being initiated is a dialogue support group designed by the American Cancer Society.

This program is an informal discussion for cancer patients and their families, and offers a place to share problems as well as solutions. This will be the only cancer support group in Cooke County. Anyone interested in either outpatient oncology services or the dialogue group is urged to call Mary Endres at Muenster Memorial Hospital.

The next meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary will be on Thursday, June 24. New members are welcome.

J.E.L.L.Y. will host DWI program, cookout June 27

J.E.L.L.Y., the Sacred Heart Junior High Youth Ministry, will be hosting a summer event on June 27 at 2:30 p.m. Members are asked to gather at the Sacred Heart meeting room for a program on DWI sponsored by the Arlington Fire Department.

Following the program, transportation will be provided to the Muenster Pool for swimming and a cookout. Special guests will be St. Mary's Junior High Youth Ministry from Gainesville. No fees will be charged to those who attend the entire afternoon.

June 12 ceremony unites couple in Grand Prairie

MRS. BEN LUKE
...nee Annette Carroll ...

Annette Carroll of Grand Prairie became the bride of Ben Luke of Denton on Saturday, June 12, 1993, in a Nuptial Mass in the Chapel of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth in Grand Prairie. Celebrant of the Mass was Father Eugene Luke, OSB, uncle of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of John and Linda Carroll. She is a 1984 graduate of Grand Prairie High School and a 1988 graduate of Stephen F. Austin State University and is a first grade teacher for Grand Prairie Independent School District.

The groom is the son of Dan and Barbara Luke and the late Dolores Luke. He is a 1981 graduate of Muenster High School and a 1986 graduate of Stephen F. Austin State University. He is an engineering technician employed at Peterbilt Motor Co.

The chapel of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth was selected for the wedding ceremony because it is near the family home; because the bride's family frequently attends Mass there; because family members are friends of the nuns who reside there; and because when the bride was a six-year-old child, she took part in the ground-breaking ceremony of the chapel construction in 1972 as Grand Prairie's Little Miss Hometown.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a white satin formal wedding gown with portrait neckline, ornamented with lace appliques that carried bead and pearl droplets. A heart-shaped cut-out in back was lined with sheer netting and outlined with lace. Sleeves were puffed at the shoulder, and elbow-length. The skirt swept into a church-length train. Her brief veil of illusion was held by a pearl-encrusted crown of petals, with a bouffant gathering of net scattered with tiny pearls.

She carried a bridal bouquet of fresh white roses and white lilies in a long cascade.

For sentiment, she wore her grandmother's diamond heart necklace and borrowed a friend's petticoat.

ATTENDANTS

Rená Killebrew of Grand Prairie, the bride's best friend, was matron of honor. Nanci Carroll and Audrea Carroll, sisters of the bride, and both of Grand Prairie, and Mary Lou Anderson, friend of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore pink silk two-piece suits with ivory crocheted pearl-drop and rose lace, with pearl buttons. Their shoes were dyed to match. Each carried fresh pink gladioli with greenery and mint green bows.

Elizabeth Fette, groom's cousin, was flower girl, wearing a tea-length white dress, with lace trim collar. She carried a basket of rose petals to scatter in the bride's path.

Preston Luke, groom's nephew, was ring bearer, wearing white shirt, black slacks and suspenders, and pink bow tie.

Greg Luke of Houston, groom's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were friends of the groom, Greg Rohmer of Muenster, Larry Fleitman of Shreveport and Troy Wolf of Denton. Ushers were Chris Nunnenkamp of Plano, a friend; Ray Luke of Lewisville and Damian Luke of Longview, groom's brothers. Russell Fette of Muenster, groom's cousin, was Mass server.

The groom's sister, Cheryl

Rohmer, gave the Readings of the Liturgy. The couple pledged their vows facing each other and then lit their Unity candle and placed a long-stemmed yellow rose near the tabernacle in memory of his mother, the late Dolores Luke.

Presenting wedding music were Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and groom's cousins, Pam and David Fette. Before Mass, and as guests were being seated, selections were "My Cup Runneth Over," "Somewhere My Love," the groom's mother's very favorite, "Turn Around" and "Sunrise, Sunset."

The organist offered Johann Pachelbell's "Kanon in D Minor," the Lohengrin "Wedding March" and Vivaldi's "Spring" from Four Seasons.

At the Unity candle, the song was "One Hand, One Heart;" at Offertory, "Beginning Today;" at Communion, "Only a Shadow;" and the Edelweiss Blessing. As the bride knelt to place a bouquet of pink gladioli at the Blessed Virgin's altar, Pam Fette sang "Ave Maria."

Altar decorations included arrangements of fresh pink gladioli sprays and lighted candles. Center aisle pews were marked with pink and white bows. The bride and groom's prieu dieu was draped in white satin.

RECEPTION
A dinner dance reception followed in the Sheraton Grand Central in Irving. An elegant buffet was served to 130 guests. Centerpiece was a three-foot ice sculpture of a cross with a dove on top.

Music was provided by Lisa and Kenny McClung. The bride and her father began the dance with a waltz to "The Rose of Tralee," an old Irish ballad, in true Irish tradition. Then the bride and groom danced to Irving Berlin's great love song, "Always."

Betty Rose Walterscheid made the wedding cakes. The three-tiered white cream cake was accented with fresh pink carnations, lilies and cupids. The German sweet chocolate groom's cake was decorated with chocolate dipped strawberries.

Upon return from a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will reside in Denton.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the home of the bride's parents Friday night.

Happy Father's Day to the best Dad in the whole world!

Wesley Koelzer is First Communicant

Wesley Ray Koelzer, son of Jim and Carol Koelzer, was a member of the First Communion class of Sacred Heart Parish. He was honored on his special day in the home of his grandparents and godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grewing Jr., who served a barbecued chicken dinner with all the trimmings.

The tablecloth was made by his Aunt Kay Grewing and decorated with children of the world along with the song, "Jesus Loves All the Children of the World." A special First Communion cake was made by his grandmother with First Communion figurines, and inscribed "Jesus Loves Wes."

Guests included Wesley Ray's parents; his sister, Jacé Lee; his grandparents, Earl and Bea Koelzer Sr. and Henry and Doris Grewing; aunts Molly Koelzer, Kay Grewing, Kathy Grewing and her guest, Steve Estes; uncles Gary Grewing, Mike Grewing; Janet Voth, Troy and Annie Grewing and Adam and Cassie; great-grandmother, Marie Reiter. Unable to attend was the paternal great-grandmother, Mary Grewing, of Lindsay, and Danny and Terry Gilbreath of Houston.

enough, but we are very happy with the success. We credit Brent Hess, Dale Schilling and Billie Friday Fleitman for much hard work. And there were a lot of others, too!"

To the Sweet Shoppe, success is almost second nature, and sales were brisk. People are accustomed to receiving delicious, high-quality home-baked foods. Late in the evening, some of the special delicacies were offered in the Major Auction for diversion and were quickly bid up and snatched up.

Winners of the Major Raffle included Mark Hess, Ariens 21-inch 5 hp self-propelled mulcher lawnmower; Kate Wilson, 500-lb. calf and freezer processing; Eleanor Truelsen, $500 savings bond; Don Flusche, flower madonna figurine by Hummel; Jerome Fuhrmann, homemade breadmaker; Earl Fisher, Stihl grass trimmer; Christel Vogel, Igloo Koolmate 12-volt cooler/warmer; Steve Taylor, "Last Supper" gold leaf picture; Willfred Bindel, 12-speed mountain bike; Rita Richey, $105 gift certificate; Pat Wimmer, $100 in trade at Muenster Building Center; Willfred Walterscheid, $100 in Muenster Marks; Joe Bartush, one pair woman's walking shoes.

No final report on income for the event was available, but will be forthcoming.

TWU Alumnae Chapter will organize at meeting June 22

Jill Wimmer will accept reservations made by Texas Woman's University Alumnae and former students for the June 22 quarterly meeting of the Red River Chapter, TWU Alumnae Association. It will be held at 7 p.m. in the parish house of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 415 E. California at Jefferson in Gainesville.

Those planning to attend the meeting on Tuesday, June 22, are asked to contact Jill Wimmer at 759-2957 by Sunday, June 20.

Dr. Shirley Sears Chater, president of Texas Woman's University, will be the speaker.

Still in the process of organizing, the Red River chapter extends from Nocona through Whitesboro.

Tiffany Fisher selected to attend Junior Statesman Summer School at Stanford

Tiffany Fisher, Sacred Heart junior, has been selected to attend the Junior Statesman Summer School at Stanford University this summer in July. The month-long program is limited to 200 outstanding high school students who were chosen on the basis of academic achievement, leadership and interest in politics and government.

Tiffany is trying to raise the money needed to cover the school tuition, room and board. She is looking for support from the community.

The Stanford program offers college-level courses in American government and speech. Tiffany will also have the opportunity to attend congressional workshop debates and a speaker's program.

The idea of the program is to teach students more about politics and how to be a more effective and confident public speaker.

Tiffany ranks high in her class at Sacred Heart High School. She is on the Principal's Honor Roll and a member of the National Honor Society. She is a very active participant with the Student Council, serving as the treasurer her sophomore year and the Second-use of pesticides in organic gardening won first place.

In addition to her school and extracurricular activities, Tiffany is employed at Fischer's Meat Market. Tiffany is the daughter of Rita Fisher and granddaughter of Paul and Dorothy Fisher.

College Honor Rolls

Jennifer Ann Fuhrmann of Muenster, a student attending Angelo State University in San Angelo, is listed on the honor roll for the Spring semester at the University.

Miss Fuhrmann, a junior Elementary Education major at ASU, is listed on the 3.00 to 3.49 honor roll. She is the daughter of Leon and Sandra Fuhrmann and is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School.

Texas A&M University has named its honor students for the 1993 spring semester, recognizing several thousand students for outstanding academic performance.

The Dean's Honor Roll recognizes students who have maintained at least a 3.75 grade point ratio (GPR) out of a possible 4.00 during the most recent grading period.

A second designation, "Distinguished Student," recognizes students who earned a 3.25 to 3.74 GPR.

Among those recognized from Muenster were: Helmuth Koelzer on the Dean's Honor Roll and Michael Abney on the Distinguished Student List.

East Texas State University has announced its President's Honor Roll and Deans' List for the 1993 spring semester.

To be eligible for the President's Honor Roll, a student must earn a straight A or 4.00 grade point average on a minimum of 12 hours.

Deans' List students must post a minimum of 3.25 grade point average on a minimum of 12 semester hours.

The following students from Muenster were named to the Deans' List: Sharon Fuhrmann and Tina Klement.

TIFFANY FISHER

Vice/Parliamentarian. She has participated in several TAPPS Academic Meets. Tiffany has served as her class president for the past two years. Extracurricular activities include basketball and track.

21 Sacred Heart 8th graders earn diplomas

Twenty-one students from Sacred Heart School marked the accomplishment of passing from elementary school into high school with a Mass and graduation ceremony on Thursday, May 27, 1993 in Sacred Heart Church. The Mass and ceremony were planned by the students and their teacher Ms. Dorothy Bengfort.

Receiving diplomas were John D. Bartush, Jennifer Campbell, Glen Dangelmayr, James Felderhoff, Jody Felderhoff, Anna Fette, Mae Dobe Fleitman, Michael Flusche, Brandy Gilpin, Leslie Grewing, Corey Hess, Jill Hess, Tanya Knauf, Douglas Novak, Kelly Rigler, Brad Schilling, Joel Schilling, Bart Sicking, John Sparkman, Paul Swirczynski, and Tara Yosten.

Father Camillus Cooney, OSB celebrated the Mass and Father Victor Gillespie, OSB was concelebrant. Liturgical Readings were made by Anna Fette and John Sparkman. Responsorial Psalm was sung by Brandy Gilpin, Leslie Grewing, Jill Hess and Tanya Knauf. Dobe Fleitman and Corey Hess offered the petitions.

Presenting gifts at the altar were Bart Sicking and Paul Swirczynski.

As a special gesture at the Our Father, the eighth graders left their pews to join their parents for the recitation of the prayer.

Serving as Eucharistic ministers were several of the graduates' parents, John Bartush, Harold Flusche, Joann Sicking and Paulette Swirczynski.

Ruth Felderhoff was organist and Christy Hesse lead the congregation in singing several songs during Mass that included "When You Seek Me", "Path Of Life", "Do Not Fear To Hope", "The Ones I Love", and "Companions On The Journey".

Mass servers were Duncan Campbell, Aaron Hess and Lee Skinner.

Diplomas were presented to the students after Mass by Father Victor

1993 EIGHTH GRADE CLASS OF SACRED HEART SCHOOL and Principal Jack Murdock.

A celebration party was held after the ceremony for the eighth grade graduates, their teachers and former teachers and the parents. Joe and Pam Dangelmayr hosted the party in their home. Decorations included balloons and streamers in the Class Colors of Royal Blue, Jungle Green, and Navy Blue.

Guests were entertained after the meal when the students gave a program to share their "prize possessions", nicknames, awards, favorite sayings, and special "Remember Whens?". A special treat to the graduates from their parents was a video produced by Michael Rigler with the help of Pam Dangelmayr. It featured Sacred Heart church and school with the special messages from teachers and former teachers and childhood photos of the individual students, as well as group photos from each year of school.

THERESA ANN IVERS and SSgt. Mark Patrick Kleeman of Fort Worth will be married in Saint Andrew's Catholic Church in Fort Worth on July 10, 1993 with Rev. Joe Janiszski, TOR, officiating. He will be assisted by Rev. John Alphonso. The bride-elect is the daughter of Charles and Kathy Ivers of Fort Worth and the granddaughter of Jerome and Gertie Pagel of Muenster. The future-groom is the son of Carl and May Kleeman of Jasper, Indiana. Theresa is a student at the University of North Texas and plans to further her education in the Fall at Northern Michigan University. Mark is stationed presently at Carswell AFB in Fort Worth, but will transfer to KI Sawyer AFB in August. The couple will reside in Marquette, Michigan.

Homemakers Council elects delegates for state meeting

Cooke County Extension Homemakers Council met Tuesday, June 8, in the meeting room at the Stanford House with Lucille Lutkenhaus, chairman, presiding. Liberty Belles Club gave the Inspiration and Mary Wambaugh, secretary, called roll. Helen Sewell, treasurer, gave her report.

The May tour was evaluated and discussed. Everyone enjoyed the Botanical Gardens, the luncheon and the "Rain Forest" at Omni Theater.

Carnival Night will be held on June 16 at Camp Sweeney. The Extension Homemakers will do face and hair painting.

Marjorie Hendry and Dorothy Hesse reported two fun days of crafts and fellowship at the District 4 Retreat at Trinidad on May 11 and 12. They will demonstrate their crafts at the August Council meeting and members will participate.

Delegates were elected for the State Meeting in Waco on Sept. 14-16. They are Wilma Richardson, Dorothy Fisher, Mary Wambaugh with Marjorie Hendry as alternate.

A discussion followed on the State TEHA recommendations in their newsletter. The Cooke County Council will vote "No" to the national dues increase to $15.00 effective Jan. 1, 1995. The Council also recommended to vote "Yes" to the name change effective August 1994. All state extension homemakers organizations must change their name to "Association for Family and Community Education." If the name change passes, members will be called "FCE members" and clubs will be called "FCE clubs."

Leaders training for canned fish in family meals will be held June 16.

The meeting closed with the TEHA Prayer and fellowship time hosted by Liberty Belles Club.

Rose Bartush, Daniel Cochran Casey Coker, Andy Davis, Derek Felderhoff, Christine Fetsch, Katie Flusche, Stephanie Henschel, Kristen Hess, Christopher Hoedebeck, Taylor Jackson, Stacie Sanchez, Alex Sicking, Clayton Truebenbach, Jeffrey Walterscheid, Andrew Yosten, and Jonathan Pels.

Cindy Lee is the kindergarten teacher.

Sacred Heart Principal Jack Murdock presented the moving on certificates to the children.

Father Camillus Cooney OSB offered the closing prayer.

After the ceremony the children and their families enjoyed refreshments and socializing.

COREY SCHMITT

Endres family spends week in Washington, attends Corey's graduation

Corey Schmitt, son of Danny and Donna Schmitt of Prosser, Washington, was among the 147 graduates of Prosser High School on May 29 at 8 p.m. at Arthur E. Fikes Stadium. Corey graduated with a grade point average of 3.036. He participated in football, baseball and track, was an All Conference guard in 1992. Corey also participated in FFA Leadership Class and Ski Bus. He received four varsity letters.

Corey was a nominee for the most inspirational athlete at PHS. He received a $900.00 scholarship and plans to attend Tri Cities Junior College in the fall. He will spend the summer helping with the wheat harvest.

Corey was honored with a party preceding the graduation for relatives and friends, hosted by his parents and sister Amber. Special guest was his grandmother, Margie Schmitt; also Mark Schmitt and his family from Yakima; Ethel Rascho and Juanita Schmitt of Grandview.

Making it a special day for Corey was having his grandparents, Don and Dorothy Endres; godfather, Jim, and Shirley Endres attend from Texas.

The Endres group spent a week with the Schmitt family.

Is the future history for rural Texas?

(Submitted by The Texas Rural Community, Leland Beatty, general manager.)

Who cares about history?
Who cares about the Buffalo Soldiers, the brave black men sent to the Texas frontier in the 1870s to protect white settlers from hostile Native Americans? One of those soldiers even won the Congressional Medal of Honor for his work protecting settlers in Southwest Texas.

Who cares about the Caddo Indians, who some call the original Texans, that settled in the forest land and built a rich civilization six thousand years before our own?

Who cares about Dwight D. Eisenhower's birthplace along the railroad tracks in the Denison, Texas of 1890, where his father worked for the Katy Railroad?

"Who cares?" is the central question concerning the historic sites owned by the people of Texas. Not enough people have visited many of these sites to justify their existence in tough financial times for the state of Texas. As a result, their very existence is threatened.

If you have been to these sites you care about them. You can see that the West Texas fort sites are beautiful spots hidden in rugged country. History happens within nature, and going to a historic site brings a richer understanding than reading a dozen books on the subject.

Who else should care? Rural Texas should. Each of these historic sites has the potential to bring tens of thousands of visitors each year into nearby communities.

Texas Rural Communities has begun an ambitious project with Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to improve visitation at state historic parks, and to improve the economic benefit that rural communities should be able to gain from the visitors to these parks.

TRC has taken over operational management at five state parks, and is working with area residents to attract more visitors to the parks, and to teach those visitors about their other recreational opportunities in the area. We will be looking at the local economies to see how well visitor's needs are being served, and making recommendations about the opportunities that local businesses have to better serve visitors.

Over a five-year period, TRC will work to increase public awareness of the parks, find new uses for the parks, increase community involvement with the parks, and discover related economic opportunities for local businesses.

Frankly, we think this project is important not only for the survival of rural historical parks, but for the survival of rural Texas itself. As the economy changes, recreational tourism must play a larger role in the rural economy. This project will find and describe effective ways to build economic growth on recreational visitors.

Finally, we hope that you care. About history, and about Rural Texas. We invite you to go for a visit to a state historical park, and especially to those participating in this special project: the Dwight D. Eisenhower Birthplace in Denison, the Starr Family home in Marshall, the Caddoan Mounds six miles southwest of Alto, Ft. McKavett near Menard, or Ft. Lancaster just west of Ozona near Interstate 10.

VVUMW announce Harvest Bazaar

The 4th Annual Harvest Bazaar, an arts and crafts extravaganza sponsored by the Valley View United Methodist Women, will be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, 1993 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the church, located on FM 922 just west of IH-35.

Artists and craftspeople from throughout the area are invited to bring their handicrafts, such as embroidery, cross stitch; needlepoint or other needlework; quilts; knitted or crocheted articles; paintings in any medium; decorated sweats or T-shirts; jean jackets; sculptures of wood, metal, etc.; dried or artificial flower arrangements; ceramic items; homemade jellies; jams, cookies or candies; or any handmade items suitable for gifts to sell. Tables and spaces - indoor and outdoor - will be available at the low cost of $15.00 each.

Food and drinks will be sold by the United Methodist Women during the bazaar. All proceeds from this event will be used in the charitable and educational activities of the Valley View UMW.

Space reservations must be received no later than Wednesday, Sept. 23, 1993. See Betty Fortenberry at Sloan's Superette, 817-726-3421, or call Jeanne Cullington, 817-637-2540.

Shoppers, this is an excellent opportunity to do some early holiday shopping. Vendors will take orders to be delivered after the bazaar. Put this date on your calendar - Saturday, Oct. 2, 1993 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. - at the Valley View United Methodist Church, FM 922 1 block west of IH-35.

Teamwork: That's all it takes for many schools to receive free educational equipment.

Labels For Education program can aid your school

Labels from foods that can be a part of good nutrition can also contribute to a good education.

Over the past 14 years, billions of labels from a major soup company's products have been turned in to schools, which then submit them to the company. The schools receive items from an extensive catalog, which includes audio-visual equipment, books, computers and sports equipment. If a school gets very ambitious and collects 975,000 labels it can even get a 15-passenger van.

Now in its 15th year, Campbell's Labels for Education program has provided more than $35 million worth of education equipment free to schools and libraries that collect the labels from Campbell products between November first and March first. Hundreds of millions of labels are turned in every year. Tens of thousands of schools from throughout the U.S. participate and receive equipment by the end of the school year. In many areas, Labels for Education becomes a community effort.

Students benefit from the yearly label drive in more ways than one. A successful collection drive can be a learning experience, say educators. It calls for goal-oriented thinking, good organization and cooperation. The children are able to see first-hand what they can accomplish with a little planning and teamwork.

If you're interested in having your school participate in the 1988-89 label drive, write for free brochures to: Campbell's Labels for Education Program, P.O. Box 4552, Monticello, MN 55365.

Home Hospice Auxiliary hosts celebration brunch

Amidst bouquets of wildflowers at the home of Patti Haayen in Gainesville, the Cooke County Home Hospice Auxiliary honored "Light Up A Life" workers with a Celebration Brunch.

Over 100 guests were greeted at the door by Auxiliary President Denise Martin Pearse of Valley View, Vice-President Norma Williams of Gainesville, Secretary Dorothy Zimmerer of Lindsay and Treasurer Angela Antonetti of Muenster.

The registration table was under the flowering magnolia tree with Voncille Martin, Jane Kilcrease and Dorothy Zimmerer registering guests.

The serving table, covered in a white cloth, served guests quiche, punch, fresh strawberries, peach rolls, snow peas with cream cheese and stuffed tomatoes. Table hostesses were Norma Williams, Mary Ann Sharp, Patti Haayen, Jeanne Cullington and Duwana Cullum. Guests were served coffee by Kay Pagel, Mary Bartush and Una Holland.

The Auxiliary is celebrating its third year in existence with over 100 members. The auxiliary membership is open to everyone. Membership fees are $5.00 and can be mailed to Hospice Auxiliary, Box 1352, Gainesville, TX 76241. The object of the Auxiliary is to raise funds to help supplement the service of Hospice for patients' care only. This helps assure that no request for help is denied.

The Auxiliary expresses thank you's to the attendees for their Auxiliary support, Roger Dieter of Tom Thumb for the lovely food, Patti Haayen for the use of her home and Penny Press for their donation.

Swim Program introduces instructional skill changes

The American Red Cross Learn To Swim Program has taken a change in the way it teaches aquatic and safety skills. The objective is to teach people to swim and to be safe in, on and around the water.

The new system includes six categories of skills: water adjustment, buoyancy and breath control, water entry and exit, locomotion, turns and personal safety and rescue. These skills will be comprised in a program that includes seven levels. Not all skills are included in each level.

Students in Level I are oriented to the aquatic environment and gain some basic skills in each category. At later levels, students continue to build skills in each category and learn propulsive movements. They then progress to learning and refining various strokes. Personal safety and rescue skills are included to help meet safety goals. Prerequisite for participation include completion of kindergarten, written parental permission and testing at registration.

Registration for this Learn to Swim program will be on June 26 from 9 to 11 a.m. at Muenster Pool. Students must be dressed for skills testing in the water. It is especially important this year to attend registration testing due to the changes described above. Late registration and phone-in registrations will have a $5.00 fee per student.

Session I will be July 5-9 and Session II will be July 12-16. Hours will be 9, 10 and 11 a.m. Each student will receive a 45-minute lesson once daily for 5 days.

Adult classes and the equivalent of Swimmers will be offered during Session II, only from 9 to 10 a.m.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approves deer regulation changes

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission recently approved changes in the white-tailed deer regulations for this part of the state. The counties of Cooke, Denton, Montague and Wise will all be included in what is known as the "2-Doe Days" regulation. Basically, what this means is that hunters will be allowed to harvest antlerless deer during the first two days of the general deer season for that particular county. For these four counties, antlerless deer can be legally harvested only on Saturday, Nov. 6, 1993, and on Sunday, Nov. 7, 1993. The remainder of the season is for buck-hunting only. The general deer season for this part of the state is scheduled to run from Saturday, Nov. 6, 1993 through Sunday, Jan. 2, 1994. The bag limit will be 3 deer, 1 buck and 2 antlerless. When harvesting antlerless deer during the first two days of the season a hunter is required to tag the deer using the antlerless deer tag from the hunting license. No special doe permit is required to harvest antlerless deer under this type of regulation. The hunter must also have received permission from the landowner to harvest antlerless deer from this particular property.

conservative rate. Large portions of these counties are dealing with marginal deer habitat, and consequently low deer populations. Therefore, TPWD has implemented the most conservative level of the "Doe-Days" regulation (2 days) for these counties. Other counties having better deer habitat and higher population levels will have the "6 Doe-Days" or "16 Doe-Days" regulation implemented. Having an option of 2, 6 or 16 "Doe-Days" gives TPWD flexibility in setting the seasons to achieve the desired harvest rates. TPWD is looking at the option of mailing a hunter-harvest survey questionnaire to landowners in select counties where this new regulation is being implemented. This will provide TPWD with valuable information in regards to doe harvest rates and landowner attitudes to this type of regulation. It will also help us to determine if future adjustments in the regulations are needed for certain counties. If you need additional information on this regulation change or would like to request technical guidance assistance from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, please write TPWD, Program Director, Private Lands Enhancement Program, 4200 Smith School Rd., Austin, TX 78744 or call 512-389-4800. You may also contact your local TPWD Wildlife Biologist, Tim A. Lawyer at P.O. Box 316, Valley View, TX 76272-0316, 817-637-2290. Have a safe and enjoyable 1993-94 hunting season.

Lindsay Jaycee golf winners announced

German Garcia and Claude Tamplin teamed up to win top honors in the fourth annual Lindsay Jaycee 2-man Scramble golf tournament which was held Sunday, June 6, at Gainesville Municipal Golf Course.

A field of 110 golfers participated in the event which was plagued by unusually strong south winds gusting up to 40 mph throughout most of the day. But, in spite of the windy conditions, a host of fine scores were turned in nonetheless.

Garcia and Tamplin put together a five-birdie, three-bogie round for a 2-under par 69 to win top honors in the Championship Flight by one stroke. Steve Harbin and Buddy Guiling were right behind them with a 70 to take second place in a scorecard playoff over Dale Klement and Brian Hess who matched their 1-under score but had to settle for third.

In the First Flight, Tim Richardson and Rob Barker manufactured a seven-birdie, two-bogie round of 66 to win first place. Steve Grahl and Archie Bennet grabbed second place with a 69, and the team of Brady and Jessica Haynie captured third in a scorecard playoff over Harold Owen and Terry Heilman with a 71.

Bonnie Prescher and Dan Bezner outdistanced the field in the Second Flight with a 72 for first place. Gil and Ian Woelfel captured second place honors with a 75, followed by Pat Dieter and Gary Burk who finished third in a scorecard playoff over Breck Montgomery and Pat Benton with a 77.

Bob Luttmr and Billy Youngblood carded a 75 to win the top spot in the Third Flight. Lonnie Woods and Bill Pearson notched a 76 to take second, while Kevin Creed and Paul Anderson were third with a score of 78. The Creed-Anderson team also were able to secure third place via a scorecard playoff over Phil Metzler and Jeff Arendt.

In the Fourth Flight, the team of Salty Rose and Albert Escobedo captured first place with a round of 74. Gary Postenreider and Ronny Stone shot a 76 and were in second place, while Jerry Prickett and Andrew Harris combined to shoot 77 and take third.

Top spot in the Fifth Flight went to Bert Colwell and Bob Chapman with a score of 74. Charlie and Chuck Williams were able to secure second place honors with a round of 80, while third place went to Craig Wolf and Brian Reidy who fired an 82.

Separate competitions were also held for Longest Drive on two holes and Closest-to-the-Pin on all five of the par threes. The top-3 flights comprised the blue division and the bottom-3 flights made up the red division.

Rhett Shellenberger knocked a wind-aided 371-yard drive to win in the blue flights on the 4th hole, while Justin Brewer used the strong tail winds to blast an amazing 398-yard drive in the red flights.

On the 12th hole, Breck Montgomery knocked his tee shot 268 yards into the teeth of the wind to capture top honors in the blue flights, and Nelson Newton punched a 241-yarder to win the red flights.

The Closest-to-the-Pin contests also provided for some spectacular shotmaking throughout the day. Brian Anderson put his shot on the 3rd hole within 10 feet of the hole to win in the blue flights and J.R. Beaver was tops in the red flights with a shot within seven feet.

On the 5th, Brian Hess' winning shot in the blue flights came to rest just seven feet from the pin, and Steve Haverkamp was only 16 feet out to win in the red flights.

Dan Bezner tucked one within six feet of the cup on the 10th to best all players in the blue flights while Jerry Prickett was also just six feet shy of an ace to win in the red flights.

Rito Ortego's shot at the 14th stopped 14 feet from the hole which captured top honors in the blue flights, while Kyle Lyons was the same distance for the best shot in the red flights.

The 16th hole offered a new pickup to anyone who could score a hole-in-one. Rob Barker came the closest to accomplishing that feat as his ball came to rest just 8 feet from the pin, which won the blue flights. Darrell Wolf's shot was 34 feet out and won in the red flights.

The Jaycees wish to thank everyone who participated in the golf tournament as well as all their sponsors.

ASCS News Briefs

The United States Department of Agriculture office in Cooke County has submitted the following items for publication. Tim O. Gilbert is the County Executive Director.

Agricultural Conservation Program
Applications for cost-sharing on waterways, terraces, gully shaping, erosion control structures and inversion terraces are now being accepted. If you are not sure of what you need you should check with the Soil Conservation Service before filing a request. Approvals will be made on a priority basis with respect to conservation needs. Any practices started prior to County Committee approval will not be eligible for cost-shares.

Crop Acreage Reports
The final date to report on corn, rain sorghum, cotton, peanuts, soybeans, etc. is July 15. Failure to report your acreage, or 0 acreage (if you have a base) will result in the acreage and yield being considered zero. Several of you were in earlier to sign up in the program and gave your planting intentions for these crops, but you have not reported them after they were planted. If you are uncertain about this, please contact this office.

Use of ACR and CU for Pay Acres
June 1 was the cattle take-off date for all ACR and CU for Pay acres. Any small grain on these acres should have already been substantially destroyed by grazing, shredding or plowing, or by baling by May 1. Cattle cannot have access to these acres until Nov. 1, 1993. Weeds must be controlled. ACR and CU for Pay acres are randomly checked throughout the summer. Stiff penalties will be applied for unauthorized grazing or haying.

1994 Wheat Program Provisions
Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy recently announced a required zero percent acreage reduction program for the 1994 wheat crop. This level was chosen from the statutory range of 0 to 15 percent and is unchanged from 1993.

Espy also announced other provisions for the 1994 wheat program:
-The established target price is $4.00 per bushel, unchanged from 1993.
-A paid land diversion will not be implemented.

Other 1994 wheat program provisions will be announced later.

Holiday
This office will be closed on July 5 to celebrate Independence Day.

by Ed Cler

In a previous story, I mentioned a teamster named Shorty, who was accused of poisoning his competitor's draft horses.

Whether or not the man was guilty, I will never know; but from my own observation of the man as he worked with his horses, it would be hard for me to believe he did.

As a kid of 13 or 14, I had the good fortune to watch him work four of the best kept and trained horses I have ever seen.

The man had a contract to build a levee around two 500 bbl. oil tanks that had been assembled in the lower part of the pasture, just east of the Charles Cler home.

When he first laid out and plowed the outlines of the levee, he drove the team, using the lines. After that part was completed, the lines were put up and the team was controlled entirely by word of mouth, by Shorty.

The man and team seemed to work with one mind. Shorty handled the plow and earth-moving equipment and the horses responded to his soft-spoken commands.

I watched as, at times, the scraper would hang up on a rock, the team would stop, and Shorty would move the scraper handle one way or another in an attempt to loosen the stone, occasionally directing one horse or another to "up just a little, Bugger, that's good, now you, Nig," and the horses seemed to know just what he wanted them to do.

Now and then he rested the team for a few minutes and, at these times, he busied himself going from one horse to another, patting them and pulling their manes from under the collars, looking to their comfort.

After watching a man work with animals he apparently loved and cared so much for, I simply can't believe he would be capable of causing one or more of them to go through the agony of dying from the effects of being poisoned.

Clean water...an act that affects cattle industry in many ways

Cattle producers are interested in the reauthorization of the Clean Water Act (CWA) because it affects so many aspects of cattle production, an NCA spokesman told a House Public Works subcommittee today. The CWA encompasses point-source and non-point source water pollution, wetlands and private property rights issues. Cattle producers are caretakers of more than half of the U.S. land mass.

Congress should carefully review Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) data that implicates agriculture as a major contributor to non-point source water pollution, since it is incomplete data.

The EPA data only provides information on 35 percent of total river miles in the nation, and most of the rivers were only assessed by subjective evaluation, not actual monitoring.

NCA has begun a Water Quality Information Project to determine exactly where there are non-point source water pollution problems associated with cattle, the magnitude of the problems, the causes, and ways to control them.

NCA believes agriculture is reducing non-point source run-off through U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) programs such as the Conservation Reserve Program and individual Conservation Compliance Programs. NCA believes non-point source programs should be voluntary, as in the USDA programs, and they should be economically feasible and site-specific.

For more than a year NCA has been a leader in a Clean Water Working Group coalition of groups representing agriculture's views on non-point source water pollution regulations.

While most segments of agriculture have been considered non-point sources of water pollution, feedlots with 1,000 head or more of cattle have been regulated as point-sources of pollution.

Reauthorization of the CWA is the best opportunity to put a wetlands definition into law, including specific exemptions for agricultural practices, such as haying and grazing. The wetlands definition should require three criteria to appear at the same time: presence of water, vegetation specific to wet areas and hydric soil. NCA believes the best legislative vehicle to address wetlands is H.R.1330 introduced by Rep. Jimmy Hayes (D-La.)

Private property rights also must be protected during reauthorization of the CWA,

Complex choices seen in management of wetlands

"Proper management of the state's wetlands is a subject of lively debate between those who would drain and develop them and those who believe the wetlands should be preserved," State Comptroller John Sharp said.

The complex issues involved statewide in proper management of Texas wetlands are explored in the latest issue of Fiscal Notes, a monthly publication of the Comptroller's Research Division.

Wetlands are among nature's most biologically productive areas, providing habitat for more than a third of all rare and endangered animals species and for many endangered plant species. In commercial terms, fishing, hunting, timber production and fur and hide harvesting contribute billions of dollars each year to the nation's economy, Fiscal Notes reports.

"Texas now has 7.6 million to 8 million acres of wetlands, slightly more than half the wetland acreage that existed in the state 200 years ago," Sharp said.

"Through the early 1970s, private owners of wetlands could develop or alter their property pretty much as they pleased. However, as scientific studies have drawn attention to the important biological and physical functions of wetlands - especially in coastal areas - environmental laws have placed more restrictions on wetlands," Sharp said.

Playas are naturally occurring depressions in the ground that are filled by seasonal runoff from rain and snow. In agricultural areas, farmers modify playas for water conservation. Playas provide water for livestock, serve as holding ponds for irrigation, help recharge aquifers and serve as habitat for migrating birds.

Texas' 1.3 to 1.7 million acres of coastal wetlands play a vital role in flood control, storm abatement, erosion control, water quality improvement and groundwater recharge, as well as supporting fish and wildlife.

Fiscal Notes concludes that with the state's coastal plan in place by 1994, the council will have authority to certify that state and federally funded and permitted programs are consistent with the state's management goals and policies. Also, Texas will be eligible for up to $2 million per year in federal grants, some of which may be made available for local preservation efforts.

Major show steer validation set for June 23

4-H and FFA members who plan to exhibit steers at the major livestock shows, which include the State Fair of Texas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston, must have their steers validated on Wednesday, June 23, at the Gainesville Livestock Auction. The Steer Validation includes nose printing, tagging and photographs to be submitted to a central state location. The time for the Steer Validation will be from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m.

Any additional information can be obtained from your local Vocational Agriculture Instructor or the County Extension Office.

DID YOU KNOW

Consumers may be crying over the Texas 1015 sweet onion this year. Growers of the famous no-tear onions will not be storing any this year. Adverse growing weather last year decreased the amount of onions stored over the winter in the northern states. The supply of early sweet spring onions was reduced with lower than normal production from Mexico and the West Coast.

make up 71 percent of the total acreage.

Rio Grande Valley onion shippers have just closed out one of their best seasons ever, thanks in part to a poor season last year. South Texas produced 14,252 acres of onions this year compared to 15,266 acres last year. Despite a drop in acreage, more onions were produced this year than last, a result of more favorable weather conditions. Almost four million 50-pound sacks of onions were shipped out of the Rio Grande Valley this year, with an estimated value of $48 million. Last year's shipments totaled 3.7 million sacks.

For the first time since being almost wiped out by two tree-killing freezes in the 1980s, the citrus industry returned to the market this year in a big way in Texas. The three-county area along the lower Texas-Mexico border produced a $30 million crop consisting of approximately 3.5 million 40-pound cartons of grapefruit and almost one million cartons of oranges. Citrus plantings in the Valley totaled 70,000 acres before the 1983 freeze but plummeted to a low of 11,000 acres after a second devastating freeze in 1989. According to a recent citrus tree survey, acreage has steadily crept back to 25,700 acres, or about 75 percent of the acreage prior to the '89 freeze. The survey also shows grapefruit now

Farm and ranch tax exemptions aren't automatic

Just because someone says they're a farmer or rancher that doesn't automatically mean they are exempt from paying any sales taxes.

A farm or a ranch is land used, either wholly or in part, to produce crops, livestock, and/or other agricultural products to be sold.
