VOLUME VIII

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1944

NUMBER 18

War time conservation has broken quite a few habits and customs, but its real test is just started — to break a superstition. Efforts are now under way to convince the public that three lights from one match doesn't really provoke a frown from the goddess of fate. Chances are, however, it will take an all out program of counter-superstition to put the point across. Such as every light in the crowd on one match as an omen of good luck. The more the lights the better the luck.

It's an omen of bad luck for the match companies. By the time the idea starts getting results, the war will be over anyway, and there they'll be, caught with a decreased demand on their hands. It doesn't seem fair after years of building up a good sales point.

All I know about the subject is what I heard long ago, to wit: An enterprising salesman with the assistance of several cronies started the superstition in order to increase his sales volume. For which, 'tis said, he netted a handsome bonus. Whenever they found three on a match they'd make mention of the ill fortune to follow. Their admonitions caught on and spread until today you can find third match dealers in almost any crowd.

Normally Con is prejudiced against any concern that reaps a profit on public credulity. But this is an exception. An industry that can successfully foster such an absurd superstition is justly entitled to any monetary returns it may bring.

The sad part of the whole affair is that once the custom is exploded it cannot be revived for post war use. Business will have to suffer forever after. Unless the administration in its characteristic generosity should establish a compensating subsidy to match companies.

Add to the many other features that distinguish this war from previous ones — a new collection of dirty songs. Dozens of 'em. Clever, dumb, snappy and otherwise. As if that were not enough, the boys are composing parodies and puns on the old timers. Such as the battle song of the Solomonis, "After Rabaul is Over," and the invasion ditty the Marines sang in the Gilberts, "Tarawa Boom Dee Ag."

When it comes to humor the Yanks are in a class by themselves. The jokes they originate, the songs they sing, the pranks they play, the names they pick for one another and machines are all a part of a delightful American tradition. One of the things we are fighting for, one of the reasons why we gotta win. Even if everything else about the Helmies and Nips were okay, we wouldn't want their vinegar puss solemnity to replace our horse play.

If I'm stuck with this army the rest of my life I don't expect to see anything more pleasing than an incident here a few nights ago. It couldn't have developed more perfectly in a story book.

About midnight an officer received the report of a theft in his organization. He dressed, went to the barracks concerned and called the occupants into a group. What he said contained none of the blood and thunder about shake down inspections and summary justice to the culprit, although he probably had that in mind as a second resort. Instead he dwelt upon the hardship caused to the loser and the feeling of guilt that would gnaw at the thief long after his ill gotten gains were squandered.

Then he proposed a means by which the guilty one could redeem himself without anyone being the wiser. Lights would be turned out and everyone would spend two minutes rumaging through his possessions, after which all would file past a barracks bag, each one inserting his hand well into the opening. As he expressed it, "Well all cooperate so that one man will have the opportunity to regain his self respect."

They cooperated — to the last man. When the bag was shaken out there was a tightly crumpled wad of green. Four 20 dollar bills. The whole crowd broke out in a spontaneous cheer of delight.

A happy ending if there ever was one. The only question in my mind is who was happier: the chap who had recovered the means of a trip home when his expected arrival or the one who recovered his self respect.

Repatriated citizens returning from Germany report that the huge stadium in which Americans romped to victory in the 1936 Olympics has been converted into a concentration camp for Yank prisoners of war. Only it doesn't look like a stadium. With fiendish cleverness the Nazis have camouflaged it to look like an ammunition dump, to trick Am-

Meet in Washington

Two Muenster boys, Cadet Ray Wilde and Vincent Becker, SIC, enjoyed a visit recently in Washington, D.C., when they met at the United Nations Service Center in that city. This news reached the Enterprise through a letter from Cadet Wilde, who stated he was off for the weekend when he met up with Vincent. Ray is taking specialized army training at Rutgers University in New Jersey, but added that he will be shipped after the first of next month. Vincent is with the Coast Guard, doing patrol duty on the east coast.

Bernauer is now stationed at Fort Sam Houston. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernauer of this city, and prior to her entry in the service was on duty at the Bridgeport, Texas, hospital.

Feast Of Saint Joseph Observed As Holy Day

In keeping with the traditional practice of observing Saint Joseph's day as a parish holy day, special services were conducted here Sunday, following the regular Sunday schedule with Masses in the morning and with afternoon devotions.

Early in the history of the Muenster colony Saint Joseph was named the patron saint of this parish and his feast day was set aside as a day of special commemoration.

A meeting and annual election of officers for Saint Joseph's Society followed the 3 o'clock services.

Jack Needham Is Missing In Action

Myra S. Sergeant Was Aerial Photographer In Action Over Germany

S. Sgt. Jack Needham, 22, son of Mrs. Ruth Needham of Myra, is reported missing in action over Germany since February 23. Word from the war department was received by his mother Friday afternoon.

Young Needham, an aerial photographer, was serving with the air corps in Italy for the past several months. Last December he was awarded the air medal for meritorious achievement while participating in five sorties against the enemy.

He was born at Texas City, Texas, but spent most of his life at Myra, enlisting in the service on Dec. 20, 1940, and receiving his basic training with the coast artillery at Fort Crockett, Galveston, transferring to the photographic branch of the air corps in 1941. He was sent to Lowery Field, Denver, for training, and later to Maxwell Field, Alabama, McMill Field, Tampa, Fla., and the army air base at Savannah, Ga. He went back to Colorado as a member of a photographic reconnaissance squadron and was sent to England on August 31, 1942. He was among the first men to invade Africa, going with Col. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president. He had an active part in the occupation of Pantelleria island in June and July, 1943, and served in Sicily before going to Italy.

He is the nephew of Mrs. Walter Richter of this city.

J.W. HESS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SAINT JOSEPH'S SOCIETY

J. W. Hess was elected president of the local Saint Joseph's Society during the annual election of officers held in connection with a regular business session on Monday afternoon. He replaces Leo Henschel, resigned.

Elected to serve on the executive committee with Mr. Hess were Joe Hoenig, vice president, and Meinrad Hesse, secretary, both reelected. Frank Klement is the new treasurer, elected to replace Mr. Hess, following his appointment as president. A new office, instituted at this meeting, is that of recording secretary, to which R.R. Endres was elected. Al Waltherich was reelected banner carrier and John Klement marshal, and Louis Steinberger and John Walter were named custodians of the society banner.

Report of business during the past year was read revealing gratifying progress both spiritually and materially. The session was attended by a large number of members and was marked by outstanding enthusiasm. Rev. Father Thomas, spiritual director, met with the group.

CITY COUNCIL WARNS LIVESTOCK ORDINANCE MUST BE OBSERVED

Notice was issued this week by the city council that observance of the city ordinance relating to the control of livestock, which also includes dogs, must be heeded. During the past few weeks dogs have become more of a nuisance than ever, and complaint after complaint has reached city officials, who declare that if dogs are not kept up, the city will have to take matters in its own hands, and legal action will be taken.

In view of the fact that city residents are taking pains and expending time and effort in the planting of Victory Gardens in order to comply with the government's wishes in this matter, and since the keeping of such gardens is impossible with the present invasion of dogs over such garden spots, the city council warns that if dogs are not kept up, legal action will become necessary.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Stoffels Held Here Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Stoffels, 52, wife of Nick Stoffels, who died following a major operation in a Sherman hospital last Wednesday, were held here from Sacred Heart church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Rev. Thomas Buerger, pastor, officiating. Requiem high mass had been offered Saturday morning, but burial was later, awaiting the arrival of a son stationed in California on army maneuvers.

Father Thomas delivered a short, inspiring sermon, and conducted rites at the church and then officiated at the burial services in the local cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Nick Miller.

Serving as pallbearers were six brothers: John J. Ben, William and Alois Haverkamp, Muenster, Joe Haverkamp of Valley View, and Frank Haverkamp, Lindsay.

The deceased was born in Muenster on April 8, 1892, and was married here to Mr. Stoffels on Sept. 16, 1913. She spent her entire life time as a resident of this community. She was a member of the local St. Anne's Society and was otherwise active in church and community affairs. Her unexpected death came as a severe shock to her family and her many friends. She had never been seriously ill and attending physicians had reported her physical condition as good and were of the opinion that she could stand the operation successfully.

Survivors are the husband, three daughters, Mesdames Andrew Trubensch, Lawrence and Ray Vogel and five sons, Albert, Meinrad, Frank and Nick, Jr., Muenster, and Pvt. Herman Stoffels of California, and 9 grandchildren.

Also surviving are her mother, Mrs. John Haverkamp, Sr., seven brothers, John J., William, Ben and Alois, Muenster; Joe and Charlie, Valley View, and Frank of Lindsay; four sisters, Mesdames Frank Hess, John Walterscheid and John Kathman, Muenster, and Sister Anselma, Hot Springs, Ark.

George Moffett Enters Race For Congress

Friends of Senator George Moffett, farmer-legislator of Chillicothe, Hardeman County, often called "Cotton George" because of his long struggle to develop broader uses of cotton, have authorized the placing of his name in our announcement column as a candidate for Congress from the 13th District. Senator Moffett is an active member of the State Senate, stands high among his colleagues, and is considered an independent thinker. He is well known over the district, and also stands high in his own County, where he received over ninety per cent of the votes in the contest in which he was elected to the State Senate. His statement follows:

"For many years I have gained valuable experience in public affairs, as a member of the Texas Legislature. I am now Chairman of three important Senate committees, and a member of ten others. I have often taken the lead for farmers, small businessmen, the schools, and war veterans.

"I was born near Chillicothe Hardeman County, forty-eight years ago. I am married, and have two small children. My Father came from Ellis County over fifty years ago, and still owns the Hardeman County homestead which he bought then. He always insisted that work is a necessary part of living, and I am no stranger to it. At age fifteen, I left home, and finished high school at Chico, in Wise County. After serving in World War I, I worked for

Pfc. August Fleitman Is Casualty In Action At Cassino Feb. 2nd

Requiem High Mass And Military Services Are Held Here Wednesday

Pfc. August J. Fleitman, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleitman, is Muenster's fourth native son to give his life for his country.

He was killed in action in the Cassino sector, Italy, on February 2, according to the message from the war department which the parents received Sunday afternoon. Young Fleitman served in the infantry with the famous 36 Division of the 5th Army. A particularly pathetic feature is that death came on his 25th birthday.

High Mass of Requiem for the repose of his soul was held at Sacred Heart church here Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with Rev. Thomas Buerger, pastor, officiating, and full military honors were accorded. Father Thomas delivered a short, inspiring address in which he paid tribute to the young soldier. "This brave, gallant, courageous boy gave life itself to his country, the last full measure of devotion. He died that religious freedom and the other sacred privileges we Americans enjoy may be preserved."

After the mass and final absolution the flag draped catafalque, representing his remains, was moved to the lawn in the front of the church for the military services. They were conducted by a unit of the Texas State Guard of Gainesville with Lt. W.M. Alexander in charge. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the United States Flag was presented to the deceased's mother.

Gussie, as he was affectionately designated by those who knew and loved him best, was born in Muenster on Feb. 2, 1918. He was reared here, attending Sacred Heart School, and engaged in farming with his father until the urge to serve his country led him to enlist in the army in January, 1941.

He began his training with the 36th Division, first at Camp Bowie, where he spent 13 months, then at Camp Blanding, Florida, for six months, and finally at Camp Edwards, Mass., from where he went overseas in April, 1943. He was stationed for some time in N. Africa, then went to Italy with the 36th when Salerno was invaded and continued active with his division during the struggle for Cassino, until he gave his life for the principles for which he fought. His last letter to his parents was written on January 25.

Although official notification of his death reached his family Sunday afternoon, the same news was reported early this month, coming through a letter from another Muenster young man, also of the 36th in Cassino. The family knew, as did the entire community, the sad information, yet all were reluctant to believe it, and the family spent two distressing, uncertain weeks clinging to the faint hope that there might have been some mistake. The official notification was no surprise it only confirmed what they had already heard.

Survivors are the parents, five brothers, Andrew, Joe, Ben and Herman Muenster, and Pfc. Anton Fleitman, an airplane mechanic serving in New Guinea, and two sisters Misses Anna and Elizabeth Fleitman, along with uncles, aunts, nieces and nephews, and his fiancée, Miss Margaret Pittner of Gainesville.

For the services the church was packed with relatives and friends and all city business houses closed their doors during the rites. Present also were relatives and friends from Lindsay, Gainesville and other cities.

LOCAL LADIES MAKE 63 DOZEN COOKIES FOR HOWZE SOLDIERS

Sixty-three dozen, or 756 cookies, were made by a group of local women last week for soldiers of Camp Howze to enjoy as a special treat on Saint Patrick's day. The cookies were placed in the USO club rooms at Gainesville and reports reaching the Civic League and Garden Club, the sponsor group indicated that they were greatly appreciated by the boys.

Ladies taking part in the baking, each making from 4 to 12 dozen cookies apiece were Mesdames T.S. Myrick, Joe Wilde, Jim Cook, Charlie Wilson, Joe Luke, Joe Swirczynski, Ben Hellman, Tony Gremming, John Felderhoff and Miss Olivia Stock.

Texas U To Make Post-War Survey In Cooke County

Cooke County's post-war planning will be organized under the direction of a staff of experts from the University of Texas who will come to Gainesville, and to this city, as soon as details can be worked out. It was announced by Claude Jones, chairman of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce post-war planning committee.

Authority for the work was given in Austin last Wednesday by President Homer P. Rainey of the University to a committee which spent the afternoon in the board of regents' room with the president and Prof. W.T. Rolfe, chairman of the department of agriculture and planning of the state school.

Members of the committee included several Gainesville men and J.M. Weizsaeck of this city. Among activities planned were designation of an interregional highway to enter Texas at Cooke County line on the Red River, extending south to the Gulf coast and Latin America, which would bring a 300-foot highway from the Canadian border; solution of the problem of disposition of Camp Howze after the war, and the possibility of industrialization of a part of the camp, and returning the remainder to agriculture; the development of a new oil field that now has more than 1,300 producing wells and the possibility of a greater expansion program in that line; carrying on intensification of agricultural development in the county, restoring soil as well as working out crop systems and establishment of markets, together with a series of farm to market roads.

Educational and cultural needs were also discussed at length. Also discussed was the resolution passed early last year by the post-war planning committee which was a declaration in the matter of the county paying its own way.

"I was greatly interested the other night when I heard Gainesville mentioned on the March of Time program as being one of the three cities in the United States making post-war strides," President Rainey said.

Coming to the county in the interest of post-war planning will be experts in planning, economy, agriculture, government, finance, engineering and public relations.

APRIL 1ST SET AS DATE FOR VOTE ON MERGER WITH BAILEY

On Saturday, April 1, qualified voters of Muenster Independent Consolidated School District and Bailey common school district will vote on a proposal to consolidate the two districts. Date for the referendum was set last week and P. J. Hess was appointed election judge.

This is Muenster's second attempt at consolidation with Bailey, a small district just west of this city. The previous attempt in 1940, failed at Bailey, because at that time no bus transportation facilities were available from that district to Muenster. Since this stumbling block has been removed it is pre-supposed that the election will carry.

To carry the referendum must receive a majority of votes in each of the districts.

several years at Graham in Young County. I believe that my lifelong acquaintances over the district and my past experience in both branches of the Texas Legislature, qualify me to represent the 13th District in Congress.

"During the campaign, I will discuss other issues, and enlarge upon the following:

"First, nothing should be allowed to hinder the early and successful conclusion of this war, with the least possible loss of life and waste of money.

"Second, we must do full justice to the men and women now serving their country. Those disabled must have the best care and treatment possible to give them. Under no circumstances should this be neglected. Also, the Federal Government must provide for the completion of the education of those who wish it, when they return, and for suitable employment for those not wishing further schooling. Many other matters will arise regarding those so deserving at our hands, and any doubt should be resolved in their favor.

"I have often been the author of bills in the Texas Legislature to help veterans of both World Wars, and I expect to continue my efforts for them.

"I served in World War I, and think the grief of a World War every twenty-five years must be stopped. I do not believe that peace can be maintained by paper treaties alone, but if they are backed by military preparedness, we will not be the victim of another Pearl Harbor nor another Bataan. The present war with Japan might have been avoided, if Congress had fortified our Pacific outposts in keeping with the plain advice of our military leaders, given two years before the blow fell. The cost would have been small then; now it's costing many lives and billions of dollars to retake these outposts.

"At the close of the war, landowners, who have been dispossessed of their homes and farms, for war purposes, should have the prior right to repurchase them without price increase. Idle government-owned war plants should be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, rather than at private sale to those with political influence. Definite opportu-

ity should be provided for the little man to buy surplus war material, the same as a corporation that maintains a lobbyist in Washington.

"In fact, the little man must always be given full consideration for his prosperity is the salvation of a democratic form of government. War conditions have squeezed the little businessman, salaried people, and the small farmer very hard, and proper consideration absolutely must be given them, from now on. Equality of opportunity is necessary if democracy is to survive.

"We need less unnecessary meddling and red-tape. This country has been built from the bottom up, and not from the top down, as regulation from Washington tries to do.

"Income tax reports should be made simpler, so that the average man and woman can make them out. Women have certainly done much to help win this war and no further effort should be made to abolish their right to make separate income tax returns. Taxes must come down after the war.

"Turning back our clocks brings about general dislocations, during the winter months, which cripples instead of helping the war effort. Daylight saving time was not used during the winter season in the other World War, and should not be now.

"Scientific research has produced many substitutes besides synthetic rubber, and there will be efforts to develop synthetic substitutes for cotton, leather, and other farm and ranch products. Science should be freely used to help broaden the market for farm products, just as it has broadened the market for factory products. The manufacturers can establish their own research laboratories; a farmer cannot. Therefore, the government should encourage scientific research to discover new ways to use farm products. I am glad to have been the author of a bill which has already resulted in the wider use of cotton. Prosperity lies in producing for wider markets, and providing more post war jobs.

"Our country needs more oil and gasoline in both war and peace. While everything else has gone up, oil is still at the pre-war price level. This has especially crippled the small independent operators who discover most of the new oil fields, and should be immediately corrected by a price adjustment that will encourage more drilling for oil. The depletion allowance should be retained.

"Though war is upon us, we must not forget the obligations of assistance for the aged. The people have indicated by their vote and otherwise, that they want old age assistance paid. I have voted to do this in the Legislature, and expect to continue it in Congress.

I have done more about equalizing freight rates than any other member of the Texas Legislature, and my efforts contributed to a united protest by four Southwestern states before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The latter ordered a thorough investigation and their examiners have made a preliminary report favorable to Texas and the Southwest. However, long and hard the struggle may be, I expect to continue it, until this long-standing injustice to our part of the nation is corrected.

I sincerely solicit your vote in the July Democratic primary, and assure you that, if elected, I will stand for common sense in government and the best interests of our country."

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

If you want to buy feed on a scientific financial basis, you ought to get acquainted with "Belinda", the wonder cow. ("Belinda" is the pen name used by dairy experts at Michigan State College.)

In addition to being an accomplished letter-writer, "Belinda" now proves herself a mathematical whiz. She has developed a device that automatically tells the comparative price values of feeds for dairy cows when such feeds are used in a balanced ration. All you need is a ruler to tell whether the price of a feed is too high, "O.K.," or a bargain. To secure this device, write to Michigan State College, Dairy Extension, East Lansing, Michigan. Ask for the Dairy News Letter for October-November, 1943.

Now that we've talked about your calf's mother, let's talk about his fodder.

Point 8 in the government's 8-point program for more milk production is the raising of calves with less milk. By starting calves on grain and hay at 2 weeks of age and by using home-mixed or approved calf meals, the whole-milk feeding period can be shortened and more milk can be sent to market.

For practical help on this subject, write the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska.

It will also be worth your while to send for Circulars 326 and 308, issued by the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin.

Well, I always say a calf is just one thing after an udder.

Speaking of udders, there seems to be more mastitis (garget, marmittis) about than ever before. So don't be too sure that some of your cows aren't infected. The safe thing to do is to check right now with thybromol or a strip cup. If your veterinarian is equipped to run a Whiteside or Hotis test, so much the better. Both Missouri and Wisconsin have booklets on this subject. Write for Circular 385, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri. Write the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin, for their Special Circular on preventing mastitis.

When you look at the 1944 milk production goal of 182% over 1943, it looks pretty difficult.

But all the reasons why it can't be done look very small compared to just one reason why it must be done. That reason is that your country needs the milk and the products made from it, and a good share of it is needed for your sons and relatives in the service.

It has been estimated that cattle grubs are a $50,000,000 pest. If your cows are afflicted with them, you're paying part of this bill. The Extension Service of our state college has available a bulletin that gives specific instructions on how to get rid of these pests. Your Uncle Bob suggests that you write right away for Bulletin E-562, Agriculture and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station, Texas.

It would also be a good idea to write Mississippi State College, State College, Mississippi, for Circular 123 on this same subject. In this circular, Mississippi also points out that it is time to rid your cattle of internal parasites and gives suggestions for treatment.

I'm always a little amazed when I run into a dairy farmer who is trying to battle out his problems all by himself. So much wasted effort and money, too, could be saved, if he would write to our State College of Agriculture. Experiments have been conducted and literature is available on almost any subject you can think of. The combined talent and experience of many capable men is available for the asking, so why not ask?

If you haven't got storage space for all the silage you'd like to plan on having this summer, you'll be interested in a bulletin from the Extension Service of our state agricultural college. This bulletin tells how to expand your permanent upright silage space with trench silos, and tells you how to construct them. Trench silos are very inexpensive to build and they make it possible to adjust the amount of silage stored according to the number of cattle you have or plan to have. Write for Extension Bulletin B-84, Agriculture and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station, Texas.

For fodder news, listen in.

Lindsay Seabee Writes Of Experiences At Tulagi

LINDSAY.— Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Metzler have a letter from their son, Clarence, advising that he was recently promoted and is now a machinists mate, second class. At the time the letter was written he was on Guadalcanal, after spending a three-week leave in New Zealand, and wrote that he was ready to "go further", as his company was being transferred. He is a member of the Navy Seabees since his enlistment in Aug. 1942, and has been overseas since November 1942.

Accompanying the letter was a page from his diary, written April 7, 1943, and though it is over a year old, it is still interesting. It passed the censors, possibly because of its age, and excerpts read as follows: "Tulagi, March 7, 1943: The Japs made an attack yesterday at 8 a.m. Planes roared over, doing what damage they could, for one hour. From my foxhole I saw 3 zeros go down in flames. Today at 3 p.m. they came in again. More than 100 Jap dive bombers were overhead. They dove right for us and three of our ships in the bay were hit. I could see this from shore. Again I was in my fox hole. One zero came right for me but a 26 m.m. turned it away. By this time Jap planes were falling all around us. A couple of our company boys were the first to reach one Jap zero that had been knocked down and found the pilots dead. Our P-38's brought down those zeros with ease, and one of our pilots knocked out 7 before his plane was shot down. However, he parachuted to safety. My outfit was credited with shooting down 4 zeros, and probably several more. We Seabees always fight to protect the things we've built."

Cpl. Wilfred Bezner Writes From New Guinea

A letter this week from Cpl. Wilfred Bezner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bezner, advises that he is well and that life in New Guinea is not so bad, although it is strictly a jungle land. Quite a few of the natives, black Fuzzy-Wuzzies, are near his camp and they all get along well together. They are friendly and really enjoy American cigarettes and cigars. Wilfred wrote the letter on Sunday, March 5, and mentioned that he had just returned from Mass, which he has the opportunity of attending every Sunday. He wrote that he had received six copies of the Muenster Enterprise that week, after sweating out about a month without any, following his transfer from Australia, and that it is impossible for him to describe the enjoyment they afforded him. "I get such a thrill reading the home town news that I go over it four or five times. It makes me happy to know that the home fires are still burning. All of us over here look forward to finding things at home, when we come back, just as they were when we left. The home town paper is a great morale builder." He asked about a number of his friends, and included regards to all.

erican pilots into bombing their own countrymen. Lovely disposition they have, isn't it?

Several days ago an Oklahoma City columnist, probably low on ideas as I often am, plugged up a bit of space with this problem. If a hen and a half lays an egg and a half in a day and a half, how many eggs will six hens lay in seven days? I doped out an answer and forgot about it.

Lo and behold, a few days later his whole column was devoted to hens and eggs. It seems he got a deluge of answers and explanations. Favorite solution was 28, but there were others including 14, 24, 36 and 42. I agree with the Lucille Arendt, Francis Bengfort, Alice Sandmann, Lucille Bezner, Dorothy Dieter, Dorothy Beyer, Rosalie Beyer, Rita Popp and Marcella Schmitz. The skit placed special emphasis on the responsibilities of married life.

Father Conrad Addresses Sodalists

At the conclusion of the meeting Father Conrad addressed the members of the Sodality. The theme of Father's talk was that all of us are called to be good and pious Catholics. In commenting on the various vocations, Father urged us to strive after perfection in the special field we might choose.

DINNER PARTY SUNDAY HAS TWO HONOR GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Otto entertained with a 7 o'clock dinner party in their home Sunday honoring their son, Earl, and Arthur Felderhoff, who are leaving for service in the Navy in the near future. It was a surprise affair.
