

The convention blasts of the two political parties give an idea of some of the tripe to be expected in the presidential campaign. As usual, it is resolving itself into a contest of mud slinging, catch phrases, sentimentality and misleading statements. At the same time each party is claiming credit for all the advancements during the past few decades and blaming the other for all the woes. Each promises an era of unprecedented prosperity if it goes into power and predicts utter chaos if the other does. From such confusion voters are asked to derive a clear opinion.

Why, for instance, the touching Republican sob story about GI Joes and GI Jims? A person would think that party has a monopoly on all good will toward service men. And why the remark about the old men of the administration? Ability is what counts. The nation wants the best men it can get regardless of age.

The Democrats are doing the same thing. They harp on the youth of the opposing camp. They talk about changing horses in mid stream. They charge the Republicans with flinching with inflation. As if the selection of the best horse does not matter when the change is inconvenient. As if the minority now in office is responsible for the monetary muddle already existing.

Another line that sets tiresome is the dribble about the war. Republicans imply their administration might have kept us out of it in the first place, while Democrats urge us to win it with Roosevelt. We'd be more pleased with a blunt admission that our entry in the war was inevitable regardless of what party was in power, and that Marshall, Eisenhower, Nimitz, et al will carry on to victory regardless of what party wins in November.

One thing is certain. If the American public wishes to make a logical decision on merits and principles it will have to do so in spite of political speeches, not because of them.

What we need in the campaign is more statesmanship and less politics, a straightforward card-on-the-table attitude without the deceiving sleight of hand tricks. Let each candidate stick to a simple statement of the theories and methods he proposes to follow and let the voters judge without worrying their way through a maze of bewildering issues.

A hospital in Wales that is caring for many of the seriously injured from Normandy reports that it has not had a single case of gangrene from all of its invasion patients. A record that is little short of miraculous.

One of the great paradoxes of this war is the reduction of fatalities at the very time when weapons are more devastating than ever before. Humanitarian progress has more than kept pace with destructive progress.

Even in the last war, and much more so before, a slight wound was dangerous. Initial shock, inadequate sterilization and loss of precious time all took a terrible toll. But now the ill effects of those causes are largely eliminated. Ambulances and planes reduce delay to a fraction of what it used to be. Plaster and improved first aid treatment reduce the effects of shock. Sulfa drugs and penicillin check the infections resulting from battle field filth. Patients reach the hospitals in much better condition and then receive the benefit of wonderful advances in surgical skill and equipment. As a result of all this there are fewer losses, fewer disabilities, fewer deformities.

Similar progress has been made against the ravages of war disease. Atabrine, to combat malaria, was developed just in time to replace the quinine cut off by Jap occupation of Pacific islands. Insect control assists in the fight against malaria and does the same for typhus and dysentery. Vaccinations and shots reduce the cases of smallpox, tetanus, yellow fever, and other diseases.

All those advancements made under the pressure of necessity will prove an inestimable boon in the decades to follow. More accident victims will live and a far greater percentage will return to usefulness and normalcy. Disease will be less rampant. Nutrition standards will be higher. To say that the war is worth its terrible cost is certainly an overstatement. However, there can be no doubt that much good will result from it. Developments hastened by it will relieve human suffering and increase human comfort.

One of the comfort features that can't get here too soon is a new insecticide not even comparable with anything on the market now. This

Program Complete For District Meet At Lindsay Sunday

Religious Rites Begin At 10 a.m. Followed By Dinner, Program, Social

A hearty welcome and a delightful program await scores of members of the Catholic State League of Texas at the annual meeting of the North Texas district in Lindsay Sunday, July 30. State and district officers of the organization along with delegates and visitors from several North Texas units will spend the day in pursuit of the organization's interest and will sponsor a series of addresses in the "Catholic Day" program.

According to the official program released by Rev. Thomas Buerger, Muenster pastor, organizer for the district, events of the day open at 10 o'clock a.m. with high mass and sermon by Rev. Conrad Herda, Lindsay pastor. Dinner will be served, beginning at 11:30, in the school hall.

At 1:30 the Catholic Day program opens with Jos. Lindeman president of the Northern District as chairman. Fr. Conrad will lead the opening prayer and welcome will be extended by Paul Arendt, president of Saint Peter's Society, Lindsay. Addresses will be given by Ben Schwegmann of San Antonio; Rev. Various entertainment attractions will be featured and lunches and other refreshments will be available in beautiful supplies.

The Lindsay community hall will serve as headquarters for the convention and the school grounds will be the site for the social affair.

All concessions will be closed throughout the religious observances and the Catholic Day program, it was stated.

"A" GASOLINE BOOK HODLERS MUST KEEP COVERS FOR IDENTITY

Holders of "A" gasoline ration books must preserve the back cover of the book which bears their name, license number and other information if they expect to get quick service when they make application for a new "A" book which becomes valid September 22, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

The back of the current "A" book, along with the tire inspection record, must be sent to the ration board with the application form, OPA said. If such is done, ration clerks will be able to issue and mail out the new books immediately, otherwise it will be necessary for the records to be searched, causing delay and inconvenience to the applicant.

Renewal of the "A" books will be on the same plan as last year through mailed applications to the ration board, OPA explained.

Boards are expected to have supplies of the new "A" books and application forms on hand about August 15.

"A HEAP O' WEATHER HERE DURING WEEK

Muenster experienced a "norther" along with rain, last week Thursday and Friday in the midst of summer, and by this week Wednesday citizens were wishing for a similar break in the stifling heat. Thermometers hovered around the 100 mark on Wednesday afternoon, but lack of breeze, and hot vapor from the wet ground, produced a sweltering effect.

Approximately 2 inches of rain was recorded as the result of showers Thursday night and Friday, and temperatures at that time ranged from 64 Thursday morning to 76 on Friday.

2 Muenster Persons Injured As Train Hits Automobile

Mrs. R.F. Parnell And Katherine Reeves Not Seriously Hurt

Mrs. R.F. Parnell and Miss Katherine Reeves suffered from shock and bruises and were confined to Gainesville Sanitarium for several days this week as the result of a car wreck which occurred Monday morning at Gainesville.

A 1931 Buick sedan, driven by Rev. R.F. Parnell, pastor of the Liberty Baptist church of Hays, was struck by a northbound Santa Fe passenger train at the intersection at East California street. The machine was pushed some 50 feet across the wet pavement and down the track. Side of the car was smashed, but it was not overturned and Rev. Parnell was not injured.

He told Gainesville police who investigated the wreck that he thought the train was coming in from the north and failed to see it in time to stop.

The injured women were taken to the sanitarium in George J. Carroll and Leazer-Keel ambulances. Examinations revealed that they were suffering from abrasions and bruises, and after a few days further observation they were permitted to return to their homes.

NORTH MUENSTER IS FIRST TO REPORT ELECTION RETURNS

North Muenster was the first of Cooke county's 34 voting precincts to report the returns of Saturday's Democratic primary.

Precinct Chairman Jos. A. Luke made the report by telephone and when advised he was the first to report, at 7:25 p.m., he remarked:

"At last, I've been trying for years to get my report in first."

Other early reports came from Ward 5, Ward 1, South Muenster, Valley View, Ward 3, Ward 4, North Myra, Hays and South Woodbine.

Marysville and Burns City were the only precincts failing to report returns Saturday night. It was the first time in six years that returns were not complete on election night.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mrs. Henry Fette, Mrs. Richard Fette and Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell returned Saturday from a two-week visit in Bode, Iowa, and other points. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Becker, grandparents of Mrs. Richard Fette and Mrs. Mitchell at Bode, and also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fisch at Des Moines. Both soldier sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fisch are back in the states after seeing action in N. Africa and Italy. Zane who returned several months ago, was married recently and Florian arrived home only a few weeks ago. The Mesdames Fette and Mitchell also enjoyed a sight seeing tour at Boys' Town, Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisch, former residents of this city, sent their best regards to all their friends here.

with Gossett the apparent winner, was one of the most intensive over the county and district, and still held attention this week as final tabulations were being made.

Unless final changes develop Gossett is returned to office by a 358 vote margin. Thirteen out of fifteen counties were complete at this count, and most of the votes from incomplete counties were in. On the basis of these returns Gossett is re-elected.

Muenster voters showed little interest in the primary. Only 150 out of a possible 400 went to the polls at the North Muenster box, while the South box tabulated 75 votes from a possible 163.

All district, county and precinct nominations with the exception of that for a sheriff and congressman, were without competition. In these two races Muenster had the good fortune of getting its favorites elected.

Cooke county gave Congressman Gossett his second largest majority over George Moffett in the 15-county district.

PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burnston

The safety of the modern private or commercial planes has placed the parachute in the same category as a life preserver on a ship. Anyone who flies has the peace of mind of knowing if it becomes necessary to abandon the plane while in flight, that it is possible to step out and float safely to earth. It is not necessary to wear the chute while in flight. They are now designed so that the chute and harness are concealed in the chair upholstery, and there is no evidence of the parachute except the connections protruding from the sides of the chair and seat cushion. As the passenger arises, the pack emerges from the recessed chair back. Parachutes are usually used at any height above 400 feet from the ground. At the present time most parachutes are made of nylon, weigh approximately 15 lbs., and are attached to a special harness which buckles about the body.

WASHING THE SUMMER WEARABLES

PERHAPS some of you remember the time (or you have heard your mother talk about it) when women wore three white petticoats under a rigidly starched white pique or duck skirt. Those were the days when a laundress almost met herself coming home from one week's work, about to start out upon the next. These days are different.

After a hot summer day in an office, a wilted girl goes home, thinking only of that tub or shower. But the wise one will also find time to make a rich suds in luke-warm water, using a mild, pure soap granule or flake, and promptly dunk her slippers and even the blouse that looked so crisply fresh when she started for work that morning. She washes her foundation garment, too, with caution for that precious elastic.

It is always wiser to give all underthings frequent baths, because our present rayon fabrics do not stand up well under heavy scrubbing.

Of course, if a woman has been working in the garden all day, her heavy denim overalls, slacks, culottes or shorts should be soaked in hot water in which Ivory soap has been dissolved. Fifteen minutes soaking is quite long enough to loosen dirt or grease. And few of these coarser fabrics now require ironing. Seersucker, also, is a blessing to busy housewives on ironing day.

Water should never be hot when used to wash delicate fabrics. Good mild soap granules will form suds quickly in cool water. You can wash that print dress you thought you'd have to send to the dry-cleaner's. Do this before it becomes really soiled. Wrap it in a thick bath-towel and iron while it is still damp. If you have pleats, baste them in place before you use the iron.

That mild soap which will not irritate the delicate skin of a baby should be used for your stockings. Rinse them lightly in suds the instant you take them off, even if you are tired. Perspiration rots silk.

Most stockings have directions which insist upon 48 hours drying before wearing again. And this is actually a Must! Moisture clings to rayon and any pull upon the fiber when it is damp will cause a hole. Plan your budget so that you won't have to wear Monday's stockings until Wednesday or Thursday.

Of course, washing baby's soft woollens takes a bit of doing, or it seems so at first. Luke-warm water, mild soap-suds and quick drying are the answer. His underthings won't shrink if you squeeze the moisture out in a Turkish towel, pull into shape and hang in the sun to dry.

For your sweaters, pinning to a towel laid upon a table or any flat surface is always a good idea. Some women use a tape measure and make certain that the sweater is stretched to the right measurements before drying.

Many busy women this summer will wear those practical seersucker slips and combinations which need not be ironed. Not glamour-girl lingerie, of course, but labor and fatigue-saving in a war year.

EVEN CASTOR OIL HAS ITS POINTS

Castor oil has undoubtedly been one of the biggest bogies ever known to torment hapless children. Just think back when grandma dosed Junior with tablespoons of the thick, oily liquid and you will remember how the mere mention of it was a fit subject for nightmares long afterwards. Today the picture has changed.

Incredible as it seems this oil is now being used by chemists in the preparation of milady's favorite perfumes. Castor oil as a medicine is distinctly out of fashion. An even more important function of the oil, which is made from the seed of the castor plant, commonly found all over Middle America, is its use in the manufacture of inks, imitation leather, and in dyeing cloth. Above all, since castor oil is used in aviation and gunnery, it should be giving Hitler a far more unpleasant time than it ever gave our children. — Ex.

Moffett Makes Statement

The Enterprise has received the following statement from State Senator George Moffett:

"The unofficial returns indicate that the present race for Congress is the closest this district has ever had. The official tabulation conceivably could change the result; therefore, I will withhold a final statement until the official returns are made. I want to say now, however, that I have never had any connection with the CIO.

"I most earnestly desire to thank those who voted for and helped me in the contest just closed, and am glad the campaign was free from personalities.

"Meanwhile, we should get on with winning the war so that the boys can come home."

The proudest title in the Army

IT CONSISTS of two simple words.
Yet every soldier who's worth his salt covets it.
This title is simply:
"Good Soldier."
It isn't just happenstance that so many women in the WAC have earned this title—the proudest in the Army.
For wherever Wacs are working, both here and overseas, there you find a job well done. And done with a spirit so gallant and fine that high Army officers everywhere say of the WAC...
"They're soldiers. Good soldiers!"

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Muenster, Texas:
Sec. 1: All persons, associations, organizations and corporations engaged in furnishing electric light or power, and engaged in furnishing gas to the inhabitants of the City of Muenster, Texas, and owning, operating, using, managing or controlling any electric light poles, conduits, wires, gas pipe lines, pipes and other fixtures, in any of the streets, highways, easements, alleys, parks, or other public places within the City of Muenster, Texas, shall on the 1st day of August, 1944, and on the 1st day of August of each year thereafter, file with the City Secretary a sworn report showing the gross receipts from such business conducted by such persons, associations, organizations and corporations within the corporate limits of the said City for the preceding year ending August 1st.

Sec. 2: The City Council may, when it may see fit, have the books and records of the person, association, organization or corporation rendering the statement required in Section 1 of this ordinance examined by a representative of the City, to ascertain whether such statement is accurate, but nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to prevent the City from ascertaining the facts by any other method.

Sec. 3: On the 1st day of August, 1944, and on the 1st day of August of each and every year thereafter, every such person, association, organization or corporation engaged in the business of furnishing gas and electric light or power to the inhabitants of the City of Muenster, Texas, and occupying or using the streets, highways, easements, alleys, parks, or other public places in the City of Muenster, Texas, with poles, wires, pipes, gas pipe lines, conduits, and other fixtures, shall, as a condition to such further occupancy, pay to the City annually for such privileges a rental equal to two per cent (2%) of the gross receipts received by such person, association, organization or corporation from its business conducted in the corporate limits of the City of Muenster, Texas, for the preceding year, which sum shall be paid to the City of Muenster, Texas.

Sec. 4: Upon the receipt of the above rental by the City, the City Secretary shall deliver to the person, association, organization or corporation paying the same a receipt for such rental, which said receipt shall authorize such person, association, organization or corporation to use and occupy the streets, highways, easements, alleys, parks and other public ways of the City in carrying on its business for twelve (12) months from August 1st of such year.

Sec. 5: Any special charges accruing after the effective date of this ordinance, under the terms of any pre-existing contract or franchise, against any gas or electric light and power company, when paid to the City of Muenster, Texas, shall be credited on the amount owed by such gas or electric light and power company on the rental charge imposed by this ordinance for the use of streets, alleys, and public ways.

Sec. 6: The rental for the privilege of using the streets, alleys, highways, easements and other public places of the City of Muenster, Texas, provided for in this ordinance, is not charged as a tax, but is made for the privilege now enjoyed by such persons, associations, organizations and corporations of using the streets, easements, alleys, and other public ways of the City in the conduct of their respective businesses; and such charges are additional to all ad valorem taxes against the persons, associations, organizations, or corporations mentioned herein.

Sec. 7: Nothing herein is intended to relieve any person, association, organization or corporation carrying on any business of furnishing gas and electric light and power of any condition, restriction or requirement imposed by any law or ordinance of the said City of Muenster, Texas.

Sec. 8: This ordinance does not grant a franchise to any utility or person, association, organiza-

Sec. 10: Every person, association, organization or corporation who shall operate any gas business or any electric light and power business within the City of Muenster, Texas, without paying the rentals provided for herein, shall be subject to a penalty of $100.00 for each and every day that such person, association, organization or corporation shall conduct such business using and occupying the streets, easements, alleys or other public ways of the City of Muenster, Texas, which said sum may be recovered by the City of Muenster, Texas, in any court of competent jurisdiction, by a suit filed therein.

Sec. 11: Every person, association, organization or corporation, and the local manager or agent of every such person, association, organization or corporation, failing or refusing to make the report required by Section 1 of this ordinance, or failing or refusing to allow the examination provided for in Section 2 herein, shall, upon conviction in the Corporation Court of the City of Muenster, Texas, be fined in any sum not to exceed One Hundred and no-100 ($100.00) Dollars, and each and every day's failure or refusal as mentioned in this section shall be deemed a separate offense.

Sec. 12: The City Fire Marshal, Building Inspector, Electrical Inspector, and the City's police officers and any other person designated by the City, shall have the power, and it shall be their duty, to examine and inspect from time to time all electric light or other poles, gas pipe lines, pipes and other fixtures in the public places within the City, for the purpose of seeing that all the same are in a safe and suitable condition, and whenever any such item is found to be unsafe or unsuitable for the purpose for which it is used, the person using, possessing or maintaining the same shall be notified and required to place same in a safe and suitable condition.

Sec. 13: If any section, paragraph, subdivision, clause, phrase, or provision of this ordinance shall be adjudged invalid or held unconstitutional, the same shall not affect the validity of this ordinance as a whole, or of any part or provision thereof, other than the part so adjudged to be invalid or unconstitutional.

Keeping up Summer Milk Production

Hot weather is little to blame for the summer drop in milk production, says Albert Brient, County Agent. The chief cause is the loss in nutrients and palatability of pasture grasses.

Generally, dairymen depend upon pasture alone for the spring & summer feed supply. Good production is obtained when the grass is young, green and plentiful. In that stage it is high in nutrients, especially protein, vitamins and minerals, and cows get enough for fair production. But Brient believes that at the same time it is wise to feed some dry hay and, on most pastures, some grain even when they are at their best.

When the grass begins to dry it loses food value rapidly, and although it may be plentiful, production will drop unless the cows are given supplemental feeding to replace the lost nutrients, especially the protein. It is Brient's opinion that many dairymen delay too long in increasing the protein content of the grain ration, or feeding more grain. The pasture often looks better than it is, he says. Dairymen shouldn't wait for loss of flesh and a large decline in milk production for a warning to increase the amount and the amount of the grain ration. No amount of extra feed will restore the production to the level it could have been held at by changing the feed to fit the pasture when it first began drying.

Changing the grain ration to offset the falling pasture will not alone prevent the summer slump in milk yield. Nothing is more important than a plentiful supply of fresh, cool, clean water, Brient says. Cows cannot hold up production when their only source of water is an earthen tank which has shrunk to a mudhole. Keeping down the fly population also helps to hold up summer production.

Time may be money, but, we've never seen our clock grinding out any cold cash.

All the planets of the solar system except Uranus, Neptune and Pluto, are easily visible to the unaided eye, and have been known since prehistoric times.

LANDSCAPE CHECK-SHEET

There are plenty of July landscape jobs for the energetic gardener. You might check yourself by this list from your county home demonstration agent, Mrs. Julia E. Kelley.

July is a good time to begin planting dahlias tubers for fall blossoms, and you can still plant irises if you've plenty of water available. If you haven't planted any cuttings... chose wood of this season's growth and plant it in sand. Remember, too, your cuttings will need half shade and protection from the wind.

You'll find it will pay to watch newly set shrubs for signs of wilt. Mrs. Kelly advises watering heavily at intervals of 10 days to two weeks or longer. Just how will depend on the weather and type of soil.

Don't wait too long to remove dead drying annuals. And if you want to assure continuous blooming of gallardia and crape myrtle, be sure you don't allow seed to form.

If you've got tall trees, watch for tents built by caterpillars and remove them with long poles. Incidentally, Mrs. Kelly says you can trust the birds to eat unprotected caterpillars. Too, you'd better watch cedars and arborvitae for bag worms. You'll find dusting sulphur a handy weapon. Use it for rust on hollyhocks and other plants. Try it for mildew on phlox and crape myrtle. It'll combat black spot on roses and red spiders on coniferous evergreens. Use it once a week... that's dusting sulphur... then every 10 days until things are under control.

Treasury Department Makes Plans For "Victory Loan"

WASHINGTON—The next war loan drive may provide a clue to what the treasury thinks of the imminence of victory in Europe. Treasury officials, it was learned have started planning for a "Victory Loan". If the military picture in Europe appears bright several months hence, the next drive probably will be pitched to a "victory" theme. Otherwise, there will be another "war" loan. The goal may be larger than the $16,000,000,000 of the Fifth War Loan drive just successfully completed.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

This is National Farm Safety Week, and I'm reminded that a fellow who leaves a chunk of his right hand in a sickle bar or a corn husker is bound to have trouble keeping up with his rapid-milking program, among other things.

Of course there is no single season of the year when a farmer should give more thought to being careful and avoiding accidents—that's an every day job, like milking. National Farm Safety Week, sponsored by the National Safety Council, just seeks to focus attention on the need for care in your daily work.

Most accidents are avoidable. If you'd like to have a check list of good, sensible safety rules, you'll find 23 items tabulated in the latest issue of the Producers' Edition of the Kraftman.

Speaking of the Kraftman, among the interesting items in the latest issue is a step-by-step plan for building a practical low-cost milk house. You'll want a copy and I'll be glad to mail one. Drop a note to Uncle Bob at 500 Peshtigo Court, Chicago. Or ask your Kraft fieldman for a copy.

How much and what to feed dry cows probably is something you are studying at this time. The extension service at the University of Missouri says the amount of milk a cow will produce in her lactation period depends greatly on her condition at freshening time.

Feeding during the time a cow is dry is just as important as is proper feeding while the cow is producing milk. She should have good pasture or be fed hay and silage at approximately the same rate as a cow being milked, Missouri Circular 405 says.

Nebraska covers the same subject in Circular 627, pointing out that any additional fat that a cow adds to her body while dry is a reserve upon which she will draw after freshening. Nebraska says just before calving a cow should weigh 100 to 200 pounds more than during lactation.

I think you'll find both of these bulletins interesting. Write the extension services at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., and the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Nebraska.*

A lady correspondent of ours says the reason they haven't hung any medals on the dairy farmer is because no dairy farmer has time to put on his Sunday best, these days. Medals are supposed to be pinned to dress uniforms, she says.

I don't know anything more discouraging than to see a lot of work go up in smoke. Maybe you've watched the results of spontaneous combustion in your haymow, with loss of hay and barn. Purdue has a suggestion of how to forestall such loss, simply by taking the hay's temperature.

Use a half inch pipe, with a pointed plug in one end. Drill a series of 3/8 inch holes in the side of the pipe, above the plug. Push the pipe into the hay and lower a thermometer into the pipe, leaving it in long enough to record actual temperature.

Purdue says at 150 degrees, the hay is entering the danger zone. At 160 degrees, inspect every four hours. At 175, stop all ventilation and call fire department for standby service. At 185, remove hot hay and have a fire department pumper ready to quench flames which probably will develop when air comes in contact with the hay.

Hay is almost sure to ignite at 210 degrees. I suggest you write the Extension Service at Lafayette, Indiana, for Leaflet 229 which gives a complete discussion of spontaneous combustion.*

Probably we have not handed enough bouquets to the women for their part in the farmer's war job. We believe, like the Maine farmer, in giving credit where due. Someone told him that Andrew Carnegie came to America with 25c in his pocket but died leaving an estate of $250,000,000. "Must have married a mighty saving woman," the Downeaster commented.

You may be working on preparation of seedbeds now for small grains and for pastures. Wisconsin circular 338 has some helpful ideas on this subject.

This bulletin says land which has been used for peas, soybeans, or cultivated crops need not be plowed but worked with a disc, spring tooth or field cultivator. A reasonably smooth seedbed, loosened to a depth of two or three inches, should be made for planting small grains.

Seeds or areas badly infested with quackgrass need plowing now and should be worked immediately. The bulletin can be obtained from the University of Wisconsin Extension Service, Madison, Wisconsin.*

stuff, they say, does more than the most enthusiastic spray ads ever claimed. A dose of it not only kills every insect in the room but hangs on for days and gets those that sneak in afterward.

Just now the armed services, especially in pest infested tropical zones, are using the total output.

FAT MAMAS IN SHORTS SENT HOME BY POLICE

LONG BEACH, N.J.—"We are tired of seeing 200-pound 40-year-old mammas trying to make themselves pin-up girls," Frank A. Brazo, Long Beach commissioner of public safety, said Monday, explaining why police had spent Sunday warning all women more than 16 years of age, who were seen on the street wearing shorts, swimming costumes or bathing robes to go home and change.

As soon as the supply exceeds their demands it will become available to the public. As now issued it is in tricky little dispensers that require only a few presses of a button to fog up a room. Another attractive feature.

The spray is even being considered as a means of fighting plant insects — unless it is found to make the plants unfit for human consumption.
