J. T. Barker Is Victim Of Serious Foot Injury

Several Bones Broken When Tractor Wheel Crushes Left Foot

An accident that may cause him to limp the rest of his life was the fate of J. T. Barker when his left foot slipped and caught in the wheel of the tractor he was operating on the Barker lease one-half mile west of Muenster. The accident occurred Friday, December 4, about 3:30 p.m.

He was driving the winch type Fordson tractor that has been a part of the lease equipment for several years when somehow he slipped his foot a little too far to the left on the axle housing, which on that machine serves as a foot rest—it is not equipped with a special platform or guards. As he moved his foot it was caught by a spoke in such a way that he was unable to pull it free, and before he could stop the machine his foot had been pulled around to a position where something had to break.

When the tractor stopped it left him so badly cramped that he could be taken from the machine only by removing the wheel, a task that required 30 minutes of feverish work while the suffering victim lay in agony.

As soon as he was removed, J. T. was rushed to the Myrick hospital for treatment. His injuries in addition to a severe gash on the side of the foot, were revealed by the X-ray to be a compound fracture in the ankle, fractures in each of the bones leading to the middle toes and a dislocation of the large toe, and torn ligaments in all parts of his foot and lower leg.

Treatment for the injury demanded first of all the sewing of the wound, then setting the fractures and dislocations and finally placing the foot in the cast.

After leaving the hospital J. T. was taken to the home of his father, Henry Barker, where telephone connections are available and where he will have the attention of his family in addition to that of his wife.

According to the last report received by The Enterprise, J. T. is now resting easy.

Herbie Camp Will Receive Second Class Scout Badge

Herbie Camp is the first member of the Muenster Boy Scout troop to pass all the requirements for a second class scout rating. His final test was completed last Saturday when he returned to Nick Miller's after traveling a mile by alternate walking and running within 12 seconds of an even 12 minutes—the requirements permit as much as 15 seconds more or less than 12 minutes.

Nick Miller has submitted Herbie's record to Scout Headquarters and expects to have the second class badge in time to present it on Tuesday, December 16, when the local troop will receive its charter.

To be eligible for second class rating, a scout must pass 12 tests. One is the test mentioned above. Another is the first aid test which the local boys take from Doctor Myrick.

Other tests are signaling by means of flags and the Morse code; tracking, which consists of following a half mile trail marked with Indian signs in 25 minutes or less; using knife and hatchet skillfully; building a fire under handicaps and within a specified time; cooking; reading a compass correctly; practicing safety rules; scout like living—eligibility in this case is decided by the boy's parents and teacher; and thrift, which requires that the boy earn and save at least $1.00 within a specified time. A boy must be a "Tenderfoot" at least 30 days to be eligible for second class rating.

Holy Name Society To Have Initiation

To date 15 candidates have made application for reception into the Holy Name Society in the initiation which has been set for January 5, according to information received from Father Francis on December 9. As yet no date has been set for the formal reception of applicants in church, he said.

Father Francis advised the initiation will be a gala event, but unfortunately it will be missed by a great number of the present members unless they pay their society dues in the near future.

Turkey Show at Plainview Interesting to Local Group

The trip to the Plainview live and dressed turkey show on December 2 and 3 was interesting, educational, and entertaining, Roy Endres said on his return from the jaunt sponsored by the Farmers' Marketing Association for the purpose of increasing the quality and quantity of turkeys in this area.

Exhibits at the show consisted of 696 dressed and 47 live birds from all sections of the United States. Texas had the outstanding dressed turkey in the opinion of the judges, who awarded the blue ribbon to a man from Muleshoe. The trophy for the best live bird went to a man from the State of Washington.

In addition to exhibits, the show's program included a series of lectures on turkey raising, Mr. Endres said. The speaker exploded some of the old time theories about feeding turkeys with their number one rule—that turkeys should never be permitted to go to roost hungry. Instead of the old idea of permitting the fowls to provide for themselves, those eminent growers introduced the "cram" idea. "Cram the birds," they said, "give them all they want to eat and then encourage them to eat more by spreading a thin layer of condensed buttermilk over the mash";—it seems that turkeys especially relish the buttermilk.

To back up their theories the speakers called attention to the birds on exhibit. One example was a

Sumacs Lose Thriller To College Freshmen

The Muenster High School basketball team lost a close decision to the North Texas State Teachers' College Freshmen last Friday afternoon at Denton 24-22.

The tall Denton Collegians found the shaky high school lads an easy mark during the first quarter, scoring 10 points against Muenster's 4. During the second quarter the local boys held very little respect for the would-be Teachers. As a result of almost perfect defensive playing along with the sharpshooting of Dan Renfro they scored 8 points against the Collegians' 2 to tie the score at 12-12 for the half.

The second half was almost a repetition of the first. Using their superior height to advantage on the follow up shots, the Teachers were able to gain a six-point lead during the third quarter. During the final period the Sumacs put up a desperate fight to overcome the lead but their efforts fell 2 points short.

Although the Sumacs lost Coach Burger was well pleased with the showing his boys made against the strong Denton team. He said that Pete Shands, N. T. S. T. C. basketball coach, has a fine aggregation of freshman material and that it

Tom Watson of Myra Victim of Pneumonia

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Myra Baptist Church for Tom Watson, 39, who died Monday morning of pneumonia in a Denton hospital.

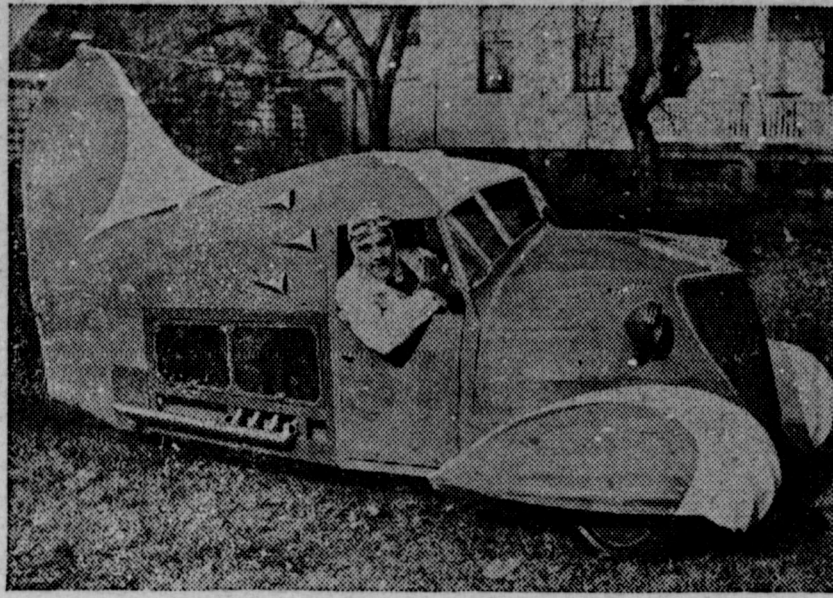

Rev. C. M. Thomas, pastor of the Myra Baptist Church, officiated, assisted by Reverend McCord. Burial was in the Reed Cemetery under the direction of a Denton undertaker. Active pallbearers were members of the American Legion; honorary pallbearers were the Baptist Church board of deacons, of which Mr. Watson was a member.

Mr. Watson is survived by his wife, a daughter, Ethel May, 12; a son, Bobby, 8; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson of Myra, and a brother, Cecil Watson of White-wright.

He was a World War veteran, a faithful and devoted member of the Baptist Church, an honorable citizen, and for some months had been connected with a camp for ex-service men located near Denton. Many are made sad by the passing of this good man.

By way of improvement the Farmers' Marketing Association is constructing another ventilator for the cheese plant. In the opinion of plant employees the ventilator will improve not only the working conditions for employees but also the light, temperature, and humidity conditions for the cheese.

Novel Home-Made Aerocoupe

Richard Crossley of East Haven, Conn., is seen peering out of the "cabin" of his aerocoupe, which he built in his spare time over a half year period. Highly streamlined, the car follows accepted aeronautical design and has a top speed of 75 miles an hour. It is fitted with airplane wheels.

PASTOR ANNOUNCES MISSION SCHEDULE FOR LOCAL PARISH

Invitation for Evening Lectures Is Extended to Non-Catholic Friends

Unless changes are made by the Rev. Fathers Bonaventure Allerding and John Ills, mission services during the week of December 13-20 will be conducted on the following schedule released by the Rev. Father Frowin on December 8: High Mass each day at 6:30 a.m. and Low Mass at 9:30 a.m.; Rosary and Benediction each day at 3 and 7 p.m.

At the late Mass and the afternoon services the regular sermon in English will be preceded by a short German sermon for the benefit of those who are more familiar with German than English.

At the evening services the missionaries will deliver a series of lectures for the purpose of presenting Catholic viewpoints and principles. Father Frowin is hopeful that some of the non-Catholic friends of Muenster will avail themselves of this opportunity to become better acquainted with Catholicism.

The Reverend Pastor also expressed his hope that Catholics of Muenster make every effort to attend the services regularly. He feels that since this is not the time of the year when farm work is urgent, people should be able to make arrangements permitting them to be present at almost all of the services.

Opening services of the mission will be held on Sunday, December 13, at 6:30 a.m. and closing services at 3 p.m. the following Sunday.

HOW HONEY HURT HER HIP

Have you heard how "Honey" hurt her hip? Whether or not you have, don't bother to read this unless your sense of humor is as good as hers. Since no severe damage was done, Honey sees nothing but the funny side of the whole incident; however, it could have been far from funny.

In case you don't know who Honey is, permit us to advise that she is none other than the heartthrob of the cheese plant, the lovely lassie who smiles for the hamburger lads and deals out dinero to the dairymen.

Well,—to make a short story long—Honey was returning to the scene of her slavery shortly after her lunch hour. Her car was cranky and cold, and Honey was in a hurry, so she pulled out the throttle and choke and let 'er roar in second.

Opposite the High School something happened, she's not sure what it was but in the windup she found herself skidding down the slippery street and farther down was the car, still roaring in second.

Well, here was Honey in a heap, holding her hip and howling for help; no, not help for herself, but for the car crazily cruising 'cross cobble and concrete corner and curb, fouling fences and leaving in its wake a row of debris.

Then anon, like the gallant young Lochinvar out of the West came Clarence and Richard out of the East, dashing after the mad machine. In hot pursuit they charged while the machine, still rearing in second, seemed doomed to die on a pile of pipe. But thanks to the speed of this galant pair the crash was averted just by a hair.

Casualties: To the car, not a

Meurer Home Is Struck By Flu and Pneumonia

Class B Coaches Adopt Round Robin Schedule

At a meeting of Class B coaches of Cooke County it was decided that this year's basketball and volley ball championships would be decided by both a round robin schedule and the tournament. In case the same team wins both events there can, of course, be no contest as to the county champion; but in case the events are won by two different teams there will be a playoff match between the two leaders. This is the program now being followed in several neighboring counties, Mr. Burger, athletic director of the Cooke County Inter-scholastic League and coach of the Muenster High School team, advised shortly after the coaches' meeting last Wednesday night.

The round robin plan is nothing more than a systematic schedule which provides that every team in a certain class play every other team a specified number of games. In the round robin schedule for Cooke County's five Class B schools each team will play two games with each of the other four. Averages will be kept throughout and the team with the highest average will be declared the winner and the opponent for the successful team in the county tournament, which will be held early in February.

The schedule drawn up by the coaches includes both basketball and volley ball contests arranged in such a way that spectators will be treated

Joe Cook's Jaw Broken When Kicked by Horse

Joe Cook, 35, who lives on a farm about eight miles north of Muenster, had his jaw broken in two places when he was kicked by a horse last Wednesday morning. It was said that the horse was a gentle old nag that has not been known to kick before.

Mr. Cook came to the Myrick Hospital for treatment and discovered there that his injury was considerably worse than he had considered it. According to the doctor's diagnosis the jaw was broken at both sides just at the sockets so that it was impossible to get the jaw back in place without wiring it to the upper teeth. Dr. Myrick took him to Gainesville to have a dentist assist in setting the jaw.

As a result of the accident Mr. Cook will be restricted to a liquid diet for some time to come.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. John Sturm

Funeral services for Mrs. John Sturm, 77, were held at the St. Peter's Church, Lindsay, at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, the Rev. Father John Nigg officiating.

Mrs. Sturm, a resident of the Lindsay community since 1935 when she moved from her former home in Mt. Carmel, Iowa, died in her home early Tuesday afternoon.

She is survived by her husband and the following children: Joe Sturm of Muenster, Albert Sturm of Lindsay, George Sturm of Wichita Falls, Mrs. J. W. Parker of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Otto Ness of Noble, Okla., Mrs. Lawrence Bruns of Gainesville, and 19 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Local Singers Join in Massed Choir Program

Last Sunday the Sacred Heart Choir participated in "The Centennial Mass," a musical program presented in Paschal Auditorium by the Woman's Club of Fort Worth for the purpose of raising funds to be given to Christmas Charities.

The principal part of the program was "The Centennial Mass," after which the program was named, sung by massed choir from 28 Catholic parishes in North Texas. Leading at the organ was Billy Muth and directing the choirs was William J. Marsh, by whom the Mass was composed in honor of Venerable Antonio Margil, the great Texas missionary.

The remainder of the program consisted of sacred selections by several of the choirs, a few by the massed choir, and organ selections by Billy Muth.

In addition to the Muenster singers the program included choirs from Fort Worth, Dallas, Denison, Gainesville, Lindsay, Waco, Wichita Falls, Windthorst, and Sherman.

Complications Feared in Mr. Meurer's Attack of Influenza

Muenster people are deeply concerned over the condition of J. W. Meurer following his collapse in his home last Tuesday evening. Mr. Meurer had been trying to "tough out" an attack of the flu without leaving his duties in the bank and his weakened condition brought about the collapse that sent him to bed.

Because of complications which may develop as a result of the heart trouble Mr. Meurer has been suffering with the past few years, his condition is thought to be especially serious.

Citizens of the Muenster community are anxiously watching the progress of this pioneer who for the past three decades has been one of the most important forces in Muenster's development.

C. J. Kaiser Suffering from Severe Case of Pneumonia

Under the same roof with Mr. Meurer is his nephew, C. J. Kaiser, struggling with a bad case of pneumonia.

When C. J. left his work at the Dixie Drug Store last Friday he, as well as his friends, thought that he had an attack of the flu, but Doctor Myrick, who was summoned on the case, identified symptoms of pneumonia.

Since then he has been running a high temperature and has been under the care of special night nurses. Until Tuesday night Mrs. T. P. Frost attended the patient and since then he has been attended by Mrs. Joe Nichols of Gainesville.

Early this week C. J.'s mother came to Muenster from Fort Worth and has been at his side constantly since her arrival.

At the time of this writing C. J. is resting easy. However, because of the fact that pneumonia usually requires a certain time to develop to a breaking point for either better or worse, it is impossible to make a definite report on his actual condition.

Cheese Plant Milk Hauler Escapes Serious Accident

Nolan Terry, a milk hauler for the cheese plant, narrowly missed adding his blow to an already serious accident just after coming over the top of Price Hill about six miles south of Gainesville on Highway 77 as he was coming to Muenster on his daily milk route last Saturday morning.

The road was blocked with the wreckage of two passenger cars that had met in a head-on collision a short time before. Mr. Terry reported no injury as a result of the collision.

But immediately ahead of Terry's truck was another truck that was unable to stop and in an effort to avoid a crash, swerved toward the ditch and hit little Tommy Stovall, who was not noticed until too late. A passerby picked up the child and rushed him to Valley View for first aid. No report of the child has been heard since but Mr. Terry thought that the blow was very likely to prove fatal.

Tommy Stovall's family, who live near the scene of the accident, had left for home a short time before he was hit so they were unaware of his injury until about 30 minutes later when they were advised by a telephone message.

In spite of the wet pavement Terry was able to bring his machine to a complete stop in time to avoid a crash.

Pioneer Lady Suffers Hip Injury in Fall

Mrs. Klement, 84-year-old pioneer of Muenster, suffered a broken hip when she fell in her home last Sunday. Doctor Myrick, who is attending Mrs. Klement, advised that she will not be placed in a cast because it is unlikely that she would survive the discomfort and misery at her advanced age and also because bones seldom knit in a person of her age.

The doctor advises that at the present time she is resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances but at the same time expresses his opinion that her injury is not likely to heal sufficiently to permit her leaving her bed again.

News Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Truebenback, Jr., and Miss Della Fette spent Tuesday, December 8, roaming about in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Flusche went to Dallas Tuesday on a business and pleasure trip—business for him and pleasure for her.

Eddie Streng, who underwent an operation for appendicitis about a month ago has recovered sufficiently to take part in a "possum hunt."

A 6,000-pound load of butter from the local cheese plant was delivered in Dallas Wednesday. C. J. Fette took it to Dallas in the F. M. A. truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klement of Norman, Okla., were in Muenster Wednesday with his mother, who sustained a broken hip in a fall early this week.

Mrs. Ben Luke accompanied her husband to Fort Worth Sunday to attend the musical program at Paschal Auditorium and to visit her sister Miss Elizabeth Herr and her daughter Elfreda.

Word has been received that J. P. Fisch, who is receiving medical treatment in the Medical Arts Hospital of Dallas, has made sufficient progress to permit his sitting up and smoking a pipe.

Joe Meurer and his daughter, Mabel, of Windthorst were in Muenster Wednesday visiting with friends and relatives. Mr. Meurer was shocked to find that his brother John is seriously ill.

Brother of Local Man Killed by Explosion

Klough Edelen, 26, who was seriously injured and shocked December 2 when a well he was working on at Okeema, Okla., exploded, died December 3. Klough was a brother of Orlan and Eton Edelen, employees on the Merrick lease in the Muenster field.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the home of his father, Ed Edelen, a well known business man of Madill, Okla.

Mr. Edelen is survived by his wife, the former Iva Mae Allen, daughter of Mrs. Dick Elmore of this city, his brothers Eton and Orlan, and his father.

Mrs. Dick Elmore, all the employees of the Merrick lease, and a number of personal friends drove to Madill for the funeral services.

Alex Lutkenhaus Joins Sales Staff at Seyler's

Replacing W. G. Beshears who recently joined the staff of H-5 Motor Service as Pontiac salesman, Alex Seyler has engaged Alex Lutkenhaus, one of Muenster's native sons who has in the past months been creating an enviable record as a salesman of radios.

Alex expressed his intention to continue his radio sales campaign along with his newly chosen work. He expects to spend the greater part of his efforts in selling Ben's used cars.

John Fisher, an employee on the Knabe lease—not the Meat Market John—is the father of a new son.

According to recent reports Isabel Trueneback has moved to Ardmore to accept a position that was offered her.

Rudy Hellman and C. J. Fette of the local cheese factory spent last Saturday with the Kraft Phoenix Cheese Corporation at Denison.

Rudy is about ready to quit his beefing about the surplus of dogs in his neighborhood. Just at the time he was complaining most noisily his little screw tail pooch presented him with twin pups.

C. J. Fette returned early Wednesday from a trip to Lubbock in which he delivered a truck load of cheese and brought back a truck load of maize for the Farmers' Marketing Association. He left Muenster last Sunday.

J. O. Schott is now the proud papa of a big baby boy born in the Myrick Hospital last Saturday, December 5. J. Oscar, Jr., is the name selected for the new heir. According to Doctor Myrick, both mother and child are making rapid progress.

On his sixth birthday, Sunday night, December 6, little Kenneth Wiesman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Wiesman, was the special guest of a party given by his mother. Other guests were Donald Endres, Mitchell and Roger Wolf and James and Gerald Bayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hellman and their sons, Monte and Damien, were in Dallas Tuesday. While there they attended the Santa Claus Parade and spent a short time with Louise Felderhoff, a student of Ursuline Academy, whom they accidentally encountered on the street.

Tuesday, December 16, is a big day for the local Scouts; it is the day on which they will receive their charter from the Supreme Scout Council. The ceremonies will be held in the K. of C. hall in a meeting to which all of Muenster, and especially the scouts' families, are invited.

Mrs. Ben Derichsweller was amused to read about her return to McAlester on the day before she actually left. (The bird who originated the first story must have been slightly cuckoo.) Nevertheless, she is gone now and her sister, Mrs. Joe Hesse, is in McAlester with her for a short visit.

The Boy Scouts advise that they have started a bank account for the purpose of saving money which they will need from time to time to purchase equipment. Some of the money in the fund represents donations but the greater part was earned by the Scouts in performing odd jobs for the people of Muenster.

Mrs. John Swirczynski and her son, "Babe," of Oklahoma City were in Muenster Friday visiting relatives and friends. They returned home last Saturday accompanied by her husband who had spent his two weeks' vacation here. John is a brother to Joe Swirczynski of this city; his wife is a member of the Henry Huchton, Sr., family.

Perhaps some of the Muenster people who have been admiring the 1937 winch type Ford truck that Flusches have been driving lately would be interested to know that the winch and all its attachments were installed in the Flusche Garage. If anyone cannot appreciate the quality of work done in local machine shops, he would do well to look over that job.

Sister M. Aloysia, O. S. B., who spent the past several weeks visiting with her sick father, Mike Kleiss, has returned to her duties in Blytheville, Ark. According to recent reports Mr. Kleiss' throat infection shows little improvement, and his daughter, feeling that a change for either better or worse is not likely to occur soon, thought it unwise to remain longer.

Five West Texas towns received shipments of Muenster cheese last week when Walter Richter and Joe Horn, employees of the Farmers' Marketing Association distributed a truck load of that company's product in San Angelo, Midland, Abilene, Lubbock and Amarillo. On their return trip the two picked up a truck load of maize at Lubbock for the F. M. A.

The Enterprise is now ready for any news scoop and invites those who have hot tips to pick up a phone and give us a ring. Yes, Mr. Horn has just finished installing our phone. Another improvement is an additional magazine for our Linotype. From now on we can produce a better variety of type on the machine. We hope our readers will enjoy the improvement as much as we do.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Endres drove to Dallas last Sunday for a short visit with her father, J. P. Fisch, who is receiving treatment at a clinic in the Medical Arts Building. Going to Dallas they were accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Endres and her son Tommy, visitors in Muenster the latter part of last week. From Dallas they went to Fort Worth where Mr. Endres, a member of the Muenster choir, took part in the musical program at Paschal Auditorium.

Lindsay News

Edgar Mosman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mosman, left Thursday for Randolph Field, Texas, where he enlisted in the U. S. Army.

Joe Geray, accompanied by Hill Campbell of Gainesville left early Tuesday morning for a business trip to Amarillo. They expect to be gone several days.

This community is becoming new-car conscious. During the past week Joe Bezner has purchased a 1936 Plymouth, Joe Hundt a 1937 Chevrolet, and Mike Fuhrmann a 1937 V-8 Ford.

Andrew Kupper, stationed at Mesquite, Texas, in connection with the CCC, was a visitor in this city over the week end. Andrew seems to be a very busy man these days and doesn't get much time off to visit with his many friends in the old home town. While here he was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kupper.

Myra News

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Biffle visited relatives in Leonard Sunday.

Tom Williams has come to spend the winter with his mother, Mrs. Jennie Crump.

Mrs. Tom Brogan of Marietta, Okla., visited her daughter, Miss Claudene Sunday.

Carl McFarld, Jr., of Claude is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Biffle.

The young people of Myra surprised Miss Mary Lee Jones with a party Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reeves of Denton visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Luna Sunday.

Waldo Neely, who is in an Army camp at El Paso, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neely.

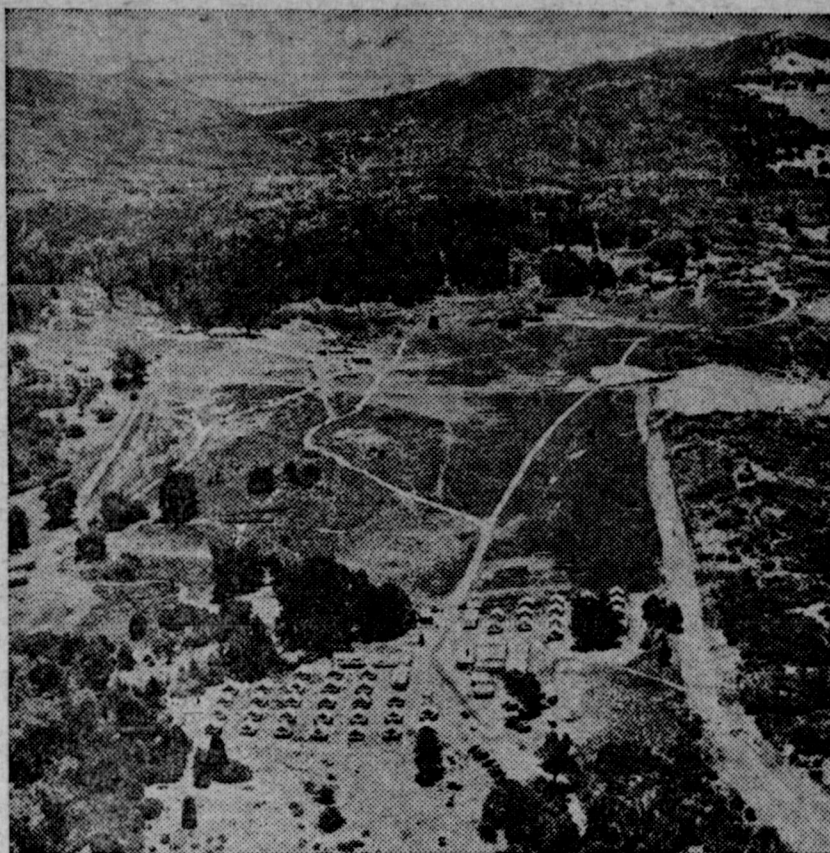

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Watson and Mrs. Dora Daley and daughter, all of Whitewright, attended the funeral services for Tom Watson Monday afternoon at the Baptist Church.

Rev. C. M. Thomas of Gainesville filled his regular appointments at the Baptist Church Sunday, both morning and evening services being well attended. He was accompanied to Myra by his wife, daughter, Dorothy, son Donald, and Miss Lucille Parker.

This aerial photograph shows the location on Mt. Palomar in California, about 90 miles from Los Angeles, chosen for the largest precision instrument in the world, the 200-inch telescope conceived by Dr. George Ellery Hale and financed by the Rockefeller foundation. Though the telescope will not be ready to operate before 1940, various component parts of the project are taking shape. While the great mirror is being ground and polished, and construction of the mounting is under way, a new community is being established on Mt. Palomar for the staff. A highway is being built up the mountain for transportation of materials for the erection of the main dome, several smaller domes, power plant, radio station, huge water reservoir and airplane landing field. The telescope will enable observers to see objects 1,000,000,000 light-years distant, whereas they now can see objects but 500,000,000 light-years away.

Sloan McCool is ill at this writing.

Miss Claudene Brogan visited her sister in Dallas Saturday.

Alfred Harrison made a business trip to Wichita Falls Friday.

Darrell McCool spent the week end in Fort Worth visiting friends and relatives.

Doc Gray spent Friday and Saturday at Marietta, Okla., visiting relatives.

Euel Howton visited his mother and sister, Mrs. Jim Howton and Latrese, Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Mims Lewis visited Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Andy O'Connor and daughters at Myra.

Linton Coursey and Selby Fielder left Tuesday morning on a hunting trip in West Texas, near Sudan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee and Miss Pauline Harrison of Gainesville visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harrison, Sunday.

Clarence Hudspeth of Marietta, Okla., was a visitor here Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Price McCool returned with him Friday to visit with him and Mrs. Hudspeth, who is their daughter.

YOUNG MEN OF LINDSAY PLAN RECREATION ROOM

Lindsay, Dec. 7.—"Why can't we have a club room equipped with pool tables, etc., where we might gather on Sunday afternoons for a game or two of our favorite pastime, before the bell summons us to attendance at Divine services?" was the question members of the Young Men's Society debated at the regular monthly meeting of the society on Thursday night, December 3, at 8 o'clock, in the basement of the school building.

The pros and cons of the question were considered and it was finally agreed upon to set a portion of the school basement aside for a club room and equip it with suitable entertainment features; the details of which were left to the entertainment committee.

Since the "Dutch Detective," the society's latest dramatic presentation scored such a hit with those who terest in their private lessons and also in their class work.

The classes have been doing splendid work in theory. It is a generally accepted fact that in order to become truly accomplished in music the student must master not only the practical side but also the theoretical side of music. For this reason special stress is placed on the study of theory. These classes meet twice a week and the pupils greatly enjoy this method of study.

A junior orchestra has been organized. The players are very enthusiastic and give promise of doing fine work. The following are members of the orchestra: Rose Hennigan, Juanita Weinzapfel, Joseph Weinzapfel, Leo Becker, Roman Klement, Leo Hesse, Justin Hess, Norman Felderhoff, August Felderhoff, Marie Felderhoff, Katie Mae Walterscheid, and Rose Marie Endres.

A pre-instrumental class or rhythm band has been started this year. This class is open to the pupils of the first, second, and third grades. Its object is to train the children in rhythm. This knowledge will be of great benefit to them in later years, especially if they intend to study music.

The members of the Fiddle-Ette class are also much interested in their work. The following make up this group: Clifford Otto, Norbert Mages, Earl Koeltzer, and Richard Grewing.

Besides those named above, the other music pupils are Betty Lou Buckley, Jeanette Meurer, Monte Hellman, Helen Ruth Otto, Paul Luke, Mary Elizabeth Endres, Dora Weinzapfel, Norman Luke, Clara Hoenig, and Anthony Luke.

Parochial Notes

Music has been called the universal language of the world. Its appeal reaches all races, all classes of society, and all degrees of civilization. Music raises the mind and the emotions to a higher realm of thought and feeling.

The influence of music in the lives of men is great. From the lullaby to the funeral dirge music affects our lives and conduct; it brings joy and drives away cares; it lightens work and enlivens social gatherings; it elevates religious feeling and beautifies divine worship.

Music is culture. It is a great character builder; it produces refinement as well as happiness. We all know the story of the lad who whistled while walking by a cemetery at night. This simple resort to music gave him courage.

The music department of the Sacred Heart School has been very active during the past few months. The pupils have shown great in-

LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAM WILL ENTER TOURNAMENT

In order to gain some valuable basketball experience under tournament pressure, Coach Barker is entering his Sumacs in the Ringgold Invitation Tournament which is being held at Ringgold this Friday and Saturday.

Sixteen hardwood teams representing the best that North Texas has to offer will compete for the various trophies and furnish thrills for the lovers of the sport.

Coach Burger is proud to have his Sumacs represent Muenster in this selected group of basketball teams. Should they fail to bring home a trophy they will still have Muenster's support, because local fans are convinced that they will be doing their best under all conditions.

IF YOU failed to see "One Way Passage" when it was originally released (and apparently everybody failed to see it then), you may have another chance, if one of your local theaters follows the example of one of the New York ones and shows it again.

Hailed as one of the best pictures of its time, it ran into bad luck because it came along when the depression was at its height. People just weren't going to the movies then.

It's still a grand picture. William Powell is as expert in it as he is now—but he looks a lot younger. Kay Francis is very lovely, and Frank McHugh proves that then, as now, he is one of our best comedians.

Incidentally, that same McHugh is coming right along. He is to have a perfect role in "Three Men on a Horse" — in fact, he's to be starred in it. Among others who are said to have wanted that same role are Eddie Cantor. Well, it's McHugh whom you'll see playing it on the screen. And his excellent performance is the result of the fact that a long career on the stage (he started as a child, appearing in melodramas with the rest of his family) taught him practically everything there is to know about acting.

Margaret Sullivan's marriage to Leland Hayward came as a decided shock to a lot of people. As you'll recall, rumors have been flying around for a long time to the effect that it was Katherine Hepburn whom Mr. Hayward either would marry or had already married. And now the man who leads the field when it comes to getting jobs for motion-picture actors, selling stories and doing all the various things that an agent has to do, has proved that everybody was all wrong. The husky-voiced Margaret came first, apparently.

Whether you like football or not, you'll be amused at "Pigskin Parade"—it's hilariously funny. And the Yacht Club Boys do plenty to make it amusing.

Lily Pons is turning that Connecticut farm of hers into a wild animal shelter; she'll cater to deer especially. And as one who has lived in those parts and had deer drop in to breakfast, your correspondent would like to advise her that she'll have plenty of them.

Helen Hayes does a good deal of rehearsing for her "Bambi" broadcasts, and during the off moments that occur at all rehearsals she knits. Does it fast, too—she can turn out mittens and socks in no time at all, and the results are turned over to a charitable organization for distribution.

Sonja Henie, the championship skater who's now in the movies, doesn't care now who knows how terrified she was when she made her first screen tests, or how hopeless she felt when she saw them.

One of the reasons given by Paulette Goddard Chaplin for keeping her marriage a secret was that she wanted to make good under her own name. But the speculation that has been going on for ever so long as to whether she and the famous comedian were engaged, were married, or were just friends has kept her name in the papers, coupled with his always. She appeared in a picture with him, it was announced that he would direct her in two more. Can't see why it would make any difference if the marriage had been announced when it took place. Except, perhaps, in the amount of publicity.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . If you have missed Al and Lee Reiser, the clever piano team, be advised that they've dropped their Thursday broadcasts and are now heard Tuesdays and Fridays . . . They say that Rosalind Russell may win this year's Academy Award for the best performance for her acting in "Craig's Wife" . . . "The Good Earth" has been cut at last—now they'll start on the previous . . . And some day we'll all be able to see it . . . Robert Taylor may have to postpone vacationing in Honolulu if the ship strike isn't settled soon . . . But motion picture people are accustomed to postponing a vacation again and again before they finally take it . . . Spencer Tracy, just through with "Captains Courageous," will start soon on another all-masculine picture.

KEEP YOUR TEMPER!

A BACHELOR JUDGE has a word of advice on how to be happy though married.

Though a bachelor, it cannot be said that he is entirely unqualified in the matter, for he is the judge of a court to which come all the marital cases in the big borough of Brooklyn in New York City. Divorces, separations, annulments, alimony cases, domestic relations—to the extent of a hundred thousand of these cases now on the calendar, form the education of this judge who believes that without presumption he can give advice to the married.

Before you dissent, hear his advice: "To achieve a happy marriage keep your temper and the ten commandments."

He can't go wrong there, can he, no matter what his experience! By following that advice to the letter

THE RATS LEAVE THE BIG BARN

BILLY MINK's second visit to the big barn had been an occasion of great pleasure to Billy and terror to all the rats who lived there. He had hunted them just for the pleasure of hearing their squeals of fright and the scampering of their feet as they raced this way and that way seeking safety. With his wonderful nose he had followed them to their most secret hiding places. Three he had caught and he could have caught more had he really wanted to.

When he had become tired of the hunt Billy had curled up for a nap in a corner of the haymow where it was dark and quiet. He had done this instead of going back to the woodpile. It was very comfortable there. Besides, it would be very handy to be right there when he felt like hunting again.

It wasn't very long before all the rats knew just where Billy was. One of them had happened to pass near enough to smell Billy, and had at once passed the word along to all the others.

"Now is the time," said the wise old leader, "for us to get together and attack him. Who will join with me?"

Not a single rat came forward. The gray old leader shook his head sadly. "You are cowards, every one of you," said he. "If you will not fight there is just one thing left for us to do."

"What is that?" squeaked one of the young rats who had been loudest in his boasting before Billy Mink had appeared the second time.

"We've got to leave this barn," replied the gray old leader. "If we remain here it will be to die. That mink will stay here, or if he doesn't he will keep coming back until he has hunted down and killed every rat. We must leave the barn, and do it at once. There is no time to be lost. Probably he is asleep now. By the time he awakes we must be out of this barn. The rat who doesn't leave it now never will leave it."

Immediately there was a great discussion. Every rat there knew that the wise old leader was right. But where should they go? It was winter, and they could not live long out of doors. They must go to a place where they would find both shelter and food. They might as well remain to be killed by Billy Mink as to go forth and starve or freeze to death. At least that is what some of them said. Some suggested one thing and some another. Finally they turned to the gray old leader for his advice. They had followed him so long that they had learned to trust to his wisdom.

one can achieve even more than a happy marriage—that is satisfaction and pleasure in practically every department of living.

And, come to think of it, the first half of his advice would really be enough! With no disparagement of the ten commandments—if you can absolutely keep your temper in any contingency, you're fairly well qualified for success in marriage or anything else!

Really, all the judge had to say, with no possibility of going wrong in this matter of giving advice to the married, was: "Keep your temper!" But who said that's easy!

DOES A MAN MAKE A BETTER HUSBAND IF HE HAS HAD SEVERAL LOVE AFFAIRS?

IN GENERAL, a man who has had the opportunity of knowing several women as friends is more likely to make a suitable selection of a mate than the man who had only one sweetheart. The same applies to women. However, there are so many exceptions to this that a rule would be silly. Some people who never had but one sweetheart before marriage awaken to the fact that they had little knowledge of different people when single, and start taking interest in others after marriage. This is very unfortunate. I would prefer for my son to marry a girl who had had dates with other boys besides him, and I would prefer for him to go around with several girls before he picks one for a bride—but he might be just as happy if he didn't.

CAN MÜNSTER AFFORD NOT TO HAVE A GYM?

When Toney Burger came to Muenster four years ago our athletic teams were considered as push-overs by Class C schools. Last year, for the first time, Muenster won the Cooke County Basketball Tournament.

Hundreds of dollars spent in other channels would have brought no more favorable publicity to Muenster than that title won by five scrapping youngsters under Mr. Burger's coaching.

Those boys and Mr. Burger have earned a gym. Those boys and Mr. Burger will continue to win titles if Muenster will provide them with favorable working conditions. Furthermore, those boys and Mr. Burger will earn the greater part of the money used to pay for the building.

Under those circumstances, can Muenster afford not to have a gym? Competitive sports have been long recognized as a valuable foundation for the physical and moral development of children.

From the children's viewpoint, can Muenster afford not to have a gym?

Every visitor that attends an athletic contest is first of all a patron for the gymnasium and probably also a patron for some merchant. Local fans would spend at our gymnasium and with our merchants what they would otherwise spend away from home.

From a business viewpoint, can Muenster afford not to have a gym? Don't get it wrong. The question is not, "Can Muenster afford a gym?"

GET THE MOST OUT OF YOUR MONEY

There are two ways of becoming financially secure. One is by making money wherever possible; the other is by saving money wherever possible. And in order to get the best results the two plans have to work hand in hand. Sound business judgment often dictates that money should be spent in order to realize a greater margin of profit.

It is generally conceded, for instance, that advertising more than pays for itself. Likewise money spent on improved equipment more than pays for itself in increased efficiency. To save advertising and equipment expenditures would of course be unwise.

Doesn't it seem just as reasonable to assume that a few cents more spent at home will eventually result in a better return than the purchase away from home? If profits are kept in one locality other persons in the locality will have a chance to profit from them.

That idea is presented solely for the benefit of people who insist that they can buy cheaper away from home. We say, "What if they can? What chance do they have of getting some of their money back? After all, aren't they being penny wise and nickel foolish?"

But, fortunately, we do not have to concede the better prices to mail order houses or chain stores. We challenge anyone to find better bargains than the Muenster merchants offer. Yes, lower prices can be found,—but one has to consider quality as well as price in determining a bargain.

Remember, it is cheaper in the long run to buy a $1.50 shirt rather than a $4.00 shirt that wears half as long. You do not save money by paying a few cents less per peck for apples or potatoes if they are small or rotted.

If Muenster people will consider both quality and price they will be more loyal to Muenster merchants,—and in the long run more loyal to themselves.

CAN THE SUMACS REPEAT?

Anonymous

The most perplexing problem confronting the Muenster basketball enthusiast is whether or not the Sumacs, local basketweavers, can sweep aside all opposition and again win the Cooke County basketball championship this season.

From last year's championship team are missing Weldon Barker and Bernard Schmitz, two of the finest high school basketball players ever to be turned out in this 'neck of the woods.' Around the nucleus

What Is a Mission?

A mission is a time set aside for spiritual recollection, a time in which we take a spiritual inventory, a time in which to establish our standing with our Creator. It is a time to find out whether we have made progress in our spiritual life and if so to see how we can make further progress. If we have not advanced in virtue it is a time to find out why we have not.

During this time missionary priests especially appointed for their work give us a series of sermons on eternal truths, and a course of instructions on the principal duties of Catholics.

It is not meant that these missionaries can or will make the mission for us. We ourselves must make the mission, they merely bring to our minds the facts for consideration. Nevertheless, it must be admitted, the individual would not be able to make a mission without someone leading him. For that reason missionaries are very important—the better the missionary the better the mission will be if we cooperate as we should.

Who Should Make the Mission?

Every member of the parish should make the mission. It makes no difference how holy or how wicked a person considers himself; he can always profit by it. If a person thinks he has made some progress in virtue let him beware lest he be overtaken by self-complacency or a thought of pride which might retard rather than advance his spiritual progress. "If a man thinks himself to stand, let him take heed lest he fall." And those who have strayed away from the path of virtue should make the mission in order to regain their peace with God.

Why Do We Have a Mission?

There are many reasons for having a mission. A few of them briefly mentioned are: To reclaim those who have neglected their religious duties or who have given themselves to some vice (in this one's duties in his state of life are especially stressed); To enable all to make their peace with God by a good and sincere confession; To rouse the careless and indifferent to a life of fervor; To increase the fervor of the good and enable them to persevere until death in the grace of God.

The main purpose in making the mission is to make our peace with God or if we are at peace with God to find means of persevering in it. Let no one make light of happenings in his life which cause him uneasiness. If there be something of that nature it should be taken care of during the mission; if it is not the mission is not a success for that person. Peace with God in the true sense of the word must be the result of a successful mission.

What Are the Indulgences of A Mission?

An indulgence of seven years and seven times 40 days is granted for each sermon and instruction heard. A plenary indulgence is granted to all who make the mission, and another it attached to the Papal blessing given at the mission.

What Should Be Done Before The Mission?

Because we should try our utmost to improve the spiritual condition of our lives we should shun all the occasions of sin and make earnest efforts to overcome our bad habits. In order to do this properly we need spiritual assistance which we derive from prayers and the reception of the sacraments.

Let no one pass up this time of special and extraordinary graces. It may be our last chance to make a mission, and how glad we can be on the day of reckoning if we make this a good one!

Religious Articles

A mission store in the basement of the school will be open all the days during the mission. Plan a trip to the store, and before doing so take an inventory of the religious articles you have in your home. If you do not already have them don't miss this chance to provide yourself with crucifixes, holy water fonts, prayer books, rosaries, sick call sets, religious books, holy pictures and cards, etc.

ers. After warming up the Sumacs went to the dressing room for their final instructions. It was almost impossible for Coach and players to hear one another because of the noise outside. Concluding his instructions Burger said, "Men, you can't let them down." They didn't. And the supporters cheered them on to a county championship.

The chances of the Sumacs to win the county championship this year depends upon how the new men will develop to fill the shoes of Barker and Schmitz and how much Mr. Fan is willing to support the team. Coach Burger has been spending his spare moments since September developing the new material. Now, if it is worth having a winning team it's up to the fans to go out and give the boys a little moral support.

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TO BARK a hound enjoys just for the sake of hearing all the noise that he can make. No rabbit is around, no stranger near, he merely barks, the hound. The bark to hear.

I do not blame the pup, for I know men who also whoop it up now and again. They speak no word of worth, no bright remark: they only want the earth to hear them bark.

That hound that always yelps men cease to heed, and shouting never helps a man succeed. You'll find, in all life's walks, upon the shelf the man who merely talks to hear himself.

Hello Everybody!

"Red Death and Black Panic"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

MILTON AUERBACH of Atlantic City, N. J., brings us today's thrill, and it happened to him on his first day back at work after being mustered out of service after the war. The war didn't give Milt much of anything to write home about, but the minute he got home things began to happen to him. That's the way it always is. Adventures happen most often right in your own back yard.

This one started with a cry and a roar. On January 7, 1919, shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon, a woman thrust her head out of a window on the fourth floor of the Sauer building on Penn avenue, Pittsburgh and screamed one word, "Fire." There was a moment of quiet. A fireman standing on the sidewalk turned and started to run toward his engine house. He had taken two steps when Hell burst its boundaries and began roaring in the streets of Pittsburgh.

Celluloid Films Exploded.

There was a loud, shattering BOOM! A gush of smoke from a first floor window and a bright red flash streaked out from somewhere between the first and second stories. A man's body shot out of a window as though it had come from a cannon—head first. A man standing in front of the building was thrown halfway across the street.

Flame ran through the whole edifice—blazed fifty feet from the top of the roof. Highly inflammable celluloid films stored in the building had exploded and turned the whole place into a funeral pyre in which nine people eventually lost their lives.

Milt Auerbach was in an office on the sixth floor. There were eight of them there altogether—salesmen and stenographers busy at their respective desks making out reports and finishing up for the day. They heard the terrific report and made a dash for the door. "When we opened the door," says Milt, "were enveloped in A SHEET OF FLAME. We turned, then and ran to the windows facing the street. By the time we reached them the flames were at our heels."

They Were Jumping to Death.

Milt saw one of the girl stenographers escape through the window. Another one followed her. It was Milt's first day in the office. He thought there must be a fire escape down which the girls were fleeing. The porter was climbing out of the window now, and Milt told him to hurry so he could follow. Then the porter was gone and Milt started out the window after him. He pushed out his head and recoiled in horror.

There was NO FIRE ESCAPE there! Down below on the sidewalk he saw the bodies of the two girls and the porter. Another girl tried to push by him. Milt caught her and she fainted. Still holding the unconscious girl in his arms he climbed out of the window and stood on a narrow ledge. With his free hand he clung to the window sill.

Inside the office the remaining salesmen were huddled in a corner. The flames had not yet reached, shaking hands and saying good-bye to one another. Fire engines began to arrive in the street below. They spread a net, but from the sixth floor it appeared to be about the size of a dime. No one dared jump, Milt says, because it would have been impossible to gauge the distance to that net correctly. Other trucks were unreeling hose lines. Still others were raising ladders. But the hose lines didn't hold out much hope. Water would be of little help to the people trapped in the building. The ladders were their only hope.

He Couldn't Get to the Ladder.

They were hoisting a ladder right under the ledge to which Milt was clinging, but to Milt's dismay they had it on the wrong side of the trolley wires and could not lean it against the building. The unconscious girl was getting heavy in his arms. His other hand, still clinging to the sill, was tired and just about ready to lose its hold.

Milt looked inside and noticed that the flames didn't seem to be coming any farther into the office. There was a little space in there that they did not cover. He bundled the unconscious girl back in through the window and followed, himself.

In other parts of the building, dense fumes were driving people to the upper floors. Fire began to spread to the building next door. Every where in the burning structure people were clinging to the windows as Milt Auerbach had, and the streets were filled with people shouting over and over again the monotonous warning refrain, "DON'T JUMP!"

On the sidewalk, dozens of limp, motionless bodies testified to the soundness of that advice. Few of those who jumped had landed in the nets. Now firemen were fighting their way inside the building. Two men, their clothes ablaze, but still alive, were carried out. A little farther in they found the body of a woman, her hair gone and her clothing in ashes, just a few feet from a stairway that would have led her to safety.

Milt Was Almost Electrocuted.

Meanwhile, up on the sixth floor, Milt Auerbach waited impatiently for the firemen to raise their ladder again. "At last," he says, "a ladder did reach our floor. A fireman came up and relieved me of the girl in my arms. He carried her down to safety, and then the men followed."

That trip down the ladder was almost as bad as the suspense of waiting for it. It swayed alarmingly as Milt started down it. The rungs were far apart. Every step Milt took made him feel as if he were missing his foothold. Down he went. The bottom of the ladder was set in the top of the fire truck, and in order to get down from it Milt had to rest his hand on the back of one of the horses that drew it. That's where Milt got one final thrill. For as he put his hand on the horse's back an overhead electric wire broke. It fell, hit the horse, and sparks flew. Just as Milt landed on the ground, the horse fell beside him—STONE DEAD—ELECTROCUTED!

Nine people died in that fire, and many more were injured. One girl Milt had held on the window ledge was in a coma for months as a result of her ordeal. But Milt was lucky. He came out without a scratch.

Chandler's Cronies Enjoys His Birthday

On Friday, December 4, a small group of John Chandler's cronies gathered in his home to help him celebrate his birthday with a good old fashioned session of rummy.

The game, which was fascinating in spite of frequent interruptions for wisecracks and yams, held the guests' attention until shortly after midnight. The honoree and the politician seemed to get the biggest "kick" out of it—the others also played.

Mrs. Chandler, the hostess, ever mindful of the fact that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, kept her visitors' spirits up and their appetites down with a brimming tumbler of lemonade followed by sandwiches, coffee, and a birthday cake.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Benson, Herbert Meurer, Oscar Schott, and Ramie Fette.

MYRA P. T. A. SPONSORS CARNIVAL AND MINSTREL

The high school students directed by John Lomax, superintendent, gave a negro minstrel Friday evening in the school auditorium. In connection with the minstrel the Parent-Teacher Association sponsored a carnival. Some of the attractions were: Roulette wheels, penny board, bingo, and a doll rack. Attractive prizes were given away to winners.

The girls in the home economics department sold candy, popcorn, peanuts and hamburgers. The entertainment was well attended.

MRS. JOE KATHMAN ENTERTAINS SOCIAL CLUB

The Get-Together Club of Muenster was delightfully entertained last Wednesday by Mrs. Joe Kathman, president of the club, at her home.

Roll call was answered by each member guessing who her Sunshine friend was for the past year. Later each member gave the name of the lady to whom she had been a Sunshine friend.

Birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Joe Weinzapfel, Mrs. T. P. Frost and Mrs. Bill Becker.

Names were drawn for new Sunshine friends for the coming year.

Miss Jane Harris, Cooke County health nurse, was a special guest and gave an interesting talk. In her remarks she suggested organizing an "Adult Health Club," which she

Naming Indian Children
The Indian children were not named, as were white children—that is, by their parents—but their cognomens were chosen by a council of squaws. At the annual green corn festival all the papooses born within the year were named, the chief announcing the names during the festivities. Although new names could be tacked on, the original name could not be changed.

Turkey Show—

young tom that had been developed to a weight of 29 pounds by scientific feeding.

Mr. Endres also mentioned that the turkeys on exhibit were altogether different in shape from those grown in this area. They were not slender like the ones we usually see, but short and plump and packed with meat. The drum stick, he said, resembles a ham more than it does the turkey leg we usually see.

Following the show Muenster's delegation attended a turkey banquet at the Hilton Hotel.

On their return trip the party spent about three hours in the Palo Duro Canyon between Plainview and Amarillo. In it they inspected dug-outs in which Charles Goodnight and his "Punchers" lived while herding their cattle in the canyon during the winter months about a half century ago. Some of the party availed themselves of the opportunity to pick up specimens of the beautiful rocks with which the canyon is so generously strewn. Those rocks are now providing an added touch of beauty to a few local rock gardens.

The party, consisting of Tony Otto, Ben Sicking, Felix Becker, John Klement, W. H. Endres, John Rohmer, Rudy Hellman, and Roy Endres drove to Plainview in Rudy's Chrysler and the F. M. A. Chevrolet.

to two games each. At 6 o'clock on the days scheduled both the boys' and the girls' teams of two schools will clash and at 8 o'clock there will be a double-header contest between two other schools.

Mr. Burger announced that athletics in the Class C division will be handled in the same way with the exception that the round robin will probably consist of a one-game series instead of a two. This change is planned because of the greater number of schools in the Class C group.

It was also disclosed that all games in both the round robin and the tournament would be played in the Gainesville gymnasium.

The round robin schedule submitted by Coach Burger is as follows: Calisburg vs. Valley View, first game, December 15; second game, January 12.

Era vs. Union Grove, first game December 15; second game January 12.

Era vs. Muenster, first game, December 17; second game, January 14.

Union Grove vs. Valley View, first game, December 17; second game, January 14.

Union Grove vs. Calisburg, first game, December 22; second game, January 19.

Valley View vs. Muenster, first game, December 22; second game, January 19.

Valley View vs. Era, first game, January 5; second game, January 21.

Study Club Activities

Delayed Until January

At the first meeting of the Hyacinth Study Club held in the M. J. Endres home on the night of Monday, December 7, it was decided to postpone further activities until shortly after January 1.

Because of the mission services next week and the usual Christmas activities the following two weeks, members felt that they would be unable to attend in sufficient numbers to make a meeting successful.

It was also disclosed that the St. Martha Study Club, which during the past year met in the Weinzapfel home, will join the Hyacinth Club in its meeting after January 1. The reason given is that Mrs. J. O. Schott does not intend to continue as instructor of the St. Martha's group and it was felt that the simplest solution for the difficulty was to join the Hyacinth group under the leadership of Miss Marie Seyler.

Hood Loses to Macs

In One-Sided Contest

The Muenster fans anticipated a bright future for the Sumacs when Coach Burger's reserves won their 10th straight victory by defeating Hood Tuesday afternoon, 30-15.

Herbert Camp and Eugene Lehnertz, Muenster's scintillating forwards, put on an exhibition of sharp-shooting that kept the crowd on edge all during the game.

The Macs play Hays in Gainesville Thursday night.

Muenster Parish Opens Fund for New Church

Immediately following his announcement that the final debt on the Sacred Heart Parochial School had been paid, Father Frowin advised that he is opening a fund for a new church.

As yet no plans have been made for the construction of the building; but it is a generally accepted opinion that as little time as possible will be lost in getting the project under way.

Because of the constantly increasing size of the Muenster parish and also because of the bad condition of the plaster in several parts of the present structure, it is considered unwise to delay building the new church any longer than absolutely necessary.

Father Frowin expressed his hope that it will be possible, when building the new church, to install completely modern equipment for ventilation, heating, illumination, acoustics, etc.

Fox Hunting Not So Good

At Marysville, Says Rudy

We have fox hunters in our midst. Of course they don't have the pretty little red jackets or the fog horns or the fancy horses and saddles, and neither does this section have any foxes; but what difference does that make when they have the yelping hounds and the urge to hunt foxes?

Last Tuesday the ambitious group, consisting of Albert Dangelmayr, Herman Dangelmayr, Rudy Hellman, Herman Swirezynski, and John Schmidlekofer of Lindsay, went out to the Dangelmayr ranch near Marysville and turned loose Sir Schmidlekofer's ganging beasts on the imaginary trail of the imaginary "Reynard." In hot pursuit they trampled until the wee hours of the morn but nary a trace of the wily fox was discovered.

However, the hunt was not entirely in vain—as was noticed as soon as they returned within smelling distance of civilization. They bagged one "possum and two skunks—the skunk, it seems, saw them first.

Nevertheless, Rudy still insists that the ranch, which is draped over some of the worst hills and gulleys in the Red River area, is an ideal place for fox hunting—if only there were some foxes.

late Conception Tuesday, December 8.

The reception took place in the Sanctuary with the Rev. Father Frowin, pastor of the parish, in charge and Misses Marie Hoehn and Alvina Fette, officers of the Sodality, assisting.

After special prayers venerating the Blessed Mother and invoking her special protection as Patron Saint, each member received a medal and was enrolled in the Sodality.

The new members are Mary Elizabeth Endres, Elizabeth Hartman, Leona Haverkamp, Dorothy Mae Luke, Dorothy Kathman, Dorothy Hartman, Dora Weinzapfel, Lucille Cler, Catherine Fuhrmann, Catherine Swirezynski, Bernice Kathman, Armella Yosten, and Loretta Hartman.

Bill Fink's Family Moves to Muenster

Bill Fink, the man at the controls in The Enterprise shop, is now a bona fide resident of Muenster. He arrived early Sunday afternoon with his wife and two daughters, Patsy, 5, and Daisy Jean, 3, and now occupies the house immediately south of the Sacred Heart Church, the former residence of Doctor Sims. For the past three weeks Mr. Fink had been living with R. N. Fette in the home of Henry Fette.

Immediately after last week's paper came off the press about 10:30 Thursday night, Mr. Fink left for his former home in Kerrville. An hour before Henry Fette, accompanied by his daughter, Alvina, left in his truck to bring back Bill's household goods. On their way Mr. Fette and Alvina stopped for a short visit with his son Emmet at St. Edward's University in Austin. Making their trip without a stop-over for sleep, Mr. Fette returned to Muenster shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

Mr. Fink spent Friday night with his wife's relatives in Kerrville and left Saturday morning for Dallas where he spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Cason.

While in Kerrville Bill visited at the office of the Kerrville Mountain Sun, the scene of his printing activities of the past eight years. His former associates there complimented him on his skill and patience in making The Enterprise one of the most attractive small town papers in the State.

More compliments for The Enterprise were received from Charles Reiter, former postmaster and grand knight of the local K. of C. council when he entertained Henry Fette and his daughter during a short visit. "Charlie" asked his guests to extend his regards to his friends in Muenster.
