FRANK SCHMITZ JOINS 'SHORTY' AS SALESMAN

New Garage to Specialize in Washing, Greasing and Polishing

One of the most important decisions "Shorty" Herr has made since opening his business is that concerning the sales end of his Ford agency. Frank Schmitz, a former Muenster resident and for the past two years employed as salesman for Townsley Bros. at Gainesville, has been appointed sales manager in the new business. Frank will take charge of all new and used car sales as soon as the Ford Motor Co. at Dearborn, Mich., confirms the transfer of the local dealership from Flusche Bros. to the Herr Motor Co.

According to a recent statement by Shorty, the Herr Motor Co. will specialize in washing, greasing, and polishing. Any additions necessary to give first class service in those respects will be his first concern in an improvement program. He also intends to get equipment for body repair work in the near future.

Mr. Herr emphatically states that Muenster's new garage is not a branch of the Ben Seyler Motor Co. even though quite a number of Muenster residents seem to be under that general impression, and a considerable percentage of the personnel is made up of Ben's former employes.

It seems that because of the latter fact a rumor has been spreading to the effect that the Herr Motor Co. is a subsidiary of the Ben Seyler. (Continued on Last Page)

Myra School Presents Christmas Program on Last Day of Classes

Students of the Myra public school presented an interesting holiday program Wednesday evening in the school auditorium under the direction of the teachers.

A Christmas greeting and welcome was given by J. Lomax, superintendent of the school. A Christmas doll drill and numbers by the rhythm band were given by the first, second, third and fourth grades.

The Nativity was dramatized by the fifth and sixth grades and the chorus sang "Silent Night, Holy Night."

"Scrooge's Christmas," a play was presented by the high school.

After the program gifts were presented from a large Christmas tree.

F. M. A. Receives Orders For More Than 50,000 Pounds Muenster Cheese

A boom in Muenster's cheese business comes with the holidays as orders roll in for more than 50,000 pounds of the Farmers' Marketing Association's product.

Rudy Hellman, superintendent of the cheese factory, advised that 14,000 pounds were delivered to the Kraft Phenix Corporation at Denison on December 28. On the same day a truck from the Venron Meat Co. picked up a 7,000-pound load here at Muenster.

On January 4 the Farmers' Marketing Association will deliver 15,000 pounds to the Morgan Warehouse Co. at Dallas and later in the same week will deliver 15,000 in West Texas cities, principally Lubbock and Amarillo.

Muenster Boy Scouts Donate Rebuilt Toys To Dallas Orphanage

About $50 worth of reconditioned toys were donated to the children of St. Joseph's Orphanage by Muenster Boy Scouts on Christmas Day. Scoutmaster Nick Miller advises that the shipment was sent to Dallas Wednesday, December 23, by Webster Truck Line, which delivered the Christmas bundles to the kiddies free of charge.

Included in the group of toys were tricycles, wagons, an electric train, and other pieces that originally must have cost approximately $75. Through the efforts of the Boy Scouts these old discarded toys were gathered and the usable parts from each of them combined into substantial toys. Attractiveness was restored by new coats of paint.

Mr. Miller advises that some of the usable parts are still on hand ready for use during the renovating program for next Christmas. He also advises that donations of discarded toys will be accepted all during the coming year and that the Scouts intend to spend a great deal of their spare time this year at rebuilding the toys as they are received.

Mrs. Frost Regaining Strength After Three Blood Transfusions

Following his trip to Dallas last Sunday Clarence Hellman advises that his sister, Mrs. Percy Frost, is making slow but steady progress, and, unless unforeseen complications develop, will return to Muenster in 10 days or two weeks. She is receiving treatment at the Medical Arts Hospital.

Mrs. Frost was rushed to the Dallas hospital about three weeks ago after Dr. T. S. Myrick, who had charge of the patient, pronounced her condition as serious. Since her arrival there she has received two blood transfusions from her husband and one from Clarence in order to pull through a severely weakened condition.

During her stay at the hospital Mrs. Frost has been cheered by frequent visits from members of her family, Dr. Myrick, and also from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Endres, who are now living in Dallas.

M. Hurley of Saint Jo Dies After Auto Crash

Mason Hurley, 30, a resident of Saint Jo, died in the Gainesville Sanitarium Christmas night from the crushed chest and head injuries he had received earlier when his car collided with another machine about three miles west of Gainesville on Highway 5.

According to information received here Mr. Hurley, slightly late in reporting for duty on the Anderson-Kerr lease two miles southeast of Gainesville, was driving toward Gainesville at a faster than normal speed, and was unable to bring his car sufficiently under control when traffic complications ahead demanded it.

At the Rauschuber home a car came out of the side road and forced the Moser automobile which was driven by Nick Moser to swerve to the side directly in front of the speeding Hurley car. Because of wet pavement and excessive speed Hurley was unable to slow down, his only chance was to try to miss the Moser car. His attempt resulted in a sideswipe which caused his car to tumble off to the side of the road and inflict the injuries which shortly afterward proved fatal.

Mrs. John Moser of Lindsay received minor injuries in the accident and other occupants of the car were unhurt. Likewise her car was only slightly dented whereas that of the victim was considerably damaged. The automobile which had come off the side road was not touched in the accident.

Funeral services for Mr. Hurley were held in Saint Jo at the First Methodist Church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. Roy Patton, officiating. Interment in the Saint Jo cemetery was directed by Scott Brothers of Saint Jo.

Surviving are his widow and four children, of Saint Jo, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hurley, of Route 2, Saint Jo.

For several months, Mr. Hurley had been employed in the Anderson-Kerr oil field, two miles southeast of Gainesville. He was returning to his job, after spending Christmas with his family, and was alone in the car when the fatal accident occurred.

Chemist Makes Self "Test Tube"

San Franciscans are safe from carbon monoxide poisoning in downtown streets. This verdict was reached by John Finn, Jr., chemist, who made himself a human test tube for experiment, and Dr. J. C. Geiger, director of public health, following a series of tests made of Finn's blood. Finn took a blood test before leaving his home, then drove for two hours along Market street and the auto-crowded downtown section. Before Dr. Geiger and members of the Safety Appliance league, Finn drew from his veins a second test tube full of blood. Both samples were subjected to laboratory tests, and the result was there is no danger of carbon monoxide poisoning in downtown streets.

George McCool, the night man at Ben Seyler Motor Co., is sporting a 1936 Plymouth that he bought from Ben the day before Christmas.

Lillian Fisher, a student nurse at the Gainesville Sanitarium, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week with the Joe Fisher, Sr., family.

According to a rumor making the rounds these days bans for the marriage of Bruno Fleitman and Bertha Dangelmayr will be announced for the first time next Sunday.

C. J. Kaiser and Theresa Wiesman drove to Fort Worth on December 24 to spend Christmas Day with C. J.'s mother, Mrs. Frank Kaiser. They returned to Muenster on December 26.

The new DeLuxe Four-Door Plymouth being driven about lately by the Joe Lehnertz family is a Christmas present. Ben Seyler delivered it from the stock of Fort Worth Motors on December 24.

When the cat's away the mice do not always play. In spite of Mr. Burgers' absence during the holidays his basketeers continue to take their practice seriously. Last Sunday they drove down to the gym at Gainesville and put in a several hours session at really hard work.

Word has been received here that Jesse Russell, a former employe in the Muenster oil field, had his home destroyed by fire on Christmas Day. It seems that when he left the house early in the morning he left a stove burning, and when he returned a short time later the building was in flames. He had time to awaken and save his wife and child but all his household goods were lost. Mr. Russell is now employed in oil field work at Rankin, Texas.

Muenster Men Working On Ruwald's New Well At Edge of Montague

Almost within the city limits of Montague El Ruwald of Gainesville is drilling a 3,000-foot test well. Operations have been carried on since Sunday, December 27, when the "wildcat" was spudded.

Drillers on the new location are Al Eberhard and Bailey Jackson, both of whom have had a great deal of experience in the Muenster field. John Foulter, another of the home town boys is working in Mr. Jackson's "roughneck" crew and Al Eberhard has among his helpers his brother, Ed, and Ray Swirczynski.

Father Frowin Spends Three Days This Week With Arkansas Friends

Following the 8 o'clock Mass Sunday morning Father Frowin rushed to Gainesville to catch a train for Hartman, Ark., where he spent the first part of the week visiting his relatives.

According to information received from Father Francis, the Reverend Pastor was considering the possibility of stopping for short visits with other friends and relatives at Altus, Clarksville, and Pochontas; however, his plans were indefinite at the time he left Muenster.

The only really definite information about the trip is that Father Frowin will return some time Thursday and be on hand to take cake of his regular services on New Year's Day.

John Schad's Family Has Reunion During Christmas Holidays

Father Sylvester of the Benedictine Abbey in Subiaco, Ark., arrived over the week end to be present at the family reunion held in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Schad last Sunday. Mr. Schad, who has been in poor health for the past several months, expressed a desire to have all of his children near him.

The opportunity presented itself during the Christmas holidays and his four daughters, the Venerable Sisters M. Libaria of Yoakum, Alma Sophie of St. Henry's Academy, San Antonio, Mary Vera of Castroville, and Helen Margaret of Our Lady of the Lake, San Antonio, arrived Sunday, December 27.

Mr. Schad's daughters were accompanied by the Venerable Sisters Florence Marie, a daughter of Mrs. A. Kubis of this city; Dorothy Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Zimmerer, also of Lindsay, and Fortunata, a sister-in-law of Mr. Schad, all of the Lady of the Lake convent, San Antonio, who extended their best wishes to Mr. Schad and bid him God-speed on his road to recovery.

Visiting Students Enjoy Frances Wiesman's Party

Honoring her former classmates who are now attending school away from Muenster, Miss Frances Wiesman gave a party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiesman, Sunday night, December 27. Honor guests for the occasion were Roy Endres, Jr., Wilfred Reiter, Urban Endres, Walter Klement, Wilmer Luke and Raymond Fuhrman, who are now attending Subiaco College and Louise Felderhoff of Ursuline Academy in Dallas.

Dancing and a program of parlor games provided the entertainment for almost 30 guests consisting chiefly of Miss Wiesman's classmates. Frances was assisted by her mother in serving refreshments to her friends.

John Voth Marries At Lindsay Tuesday

Lindsay, Dec. 29.—A wedding of much interest to the Lindsay and Muenster communities took place in St. Peter's Church Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Christina Flusche became the bride of John Voth.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father John before an altar banked with roses and fern and wax candles that burned in gold candleabra. He was also the celebrant of the Nuptial High Mass.

A large number of friends and relatives of the couple witnessed the ceremony.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Loerwald, of this city, wore a beautiful lace tunic over a wedding gown of white satin with a lily cup neck. Her trailing veil was of white silk bridal illusion and she carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied in white tulle. She was attended by her sister, Miss Zita Flusche, who wore a tunic of gold satin with Bagdad blue hat and slippers. Her flowers were gold

Most Visitors Remain Over Holiday Week End With Relatives

Christmas day was homecoming day for more than a score of Muenster's former residents who returned to spend the holidays with friends and relatives. The old familiar faces began to appear almost a week before Christmas and more of them continued to arrive during the following days.

First to return were the youngsters who are attending colleges and academies. On December 19 W. H. Endres came back from a trip to Subiaco, Ark., bringing with him his son, Urban, and Wilmer Luke, Wilfred Reiter, Raymond Fuhrman, Roy Endres, Jr., and Walter Klement. They will return to their classwork shortly after January 1.

Carl Herr and Anthony Luke brought back the Victory College group consisting of Elfreda Luke, Agnes Weizappel, and Catherine Seyler on December 22.

Emmet Fette of St. Edward's University also came in on December 22. His trip from Austin was made by thumb and bus instead of by the Robert Weinzappel motorcycle as was first planned. Because of an injury to his foot Robert, who is attending St. Mary's University at San Antonio, could not jockey his motor, so he came by train December 23. Arriving on the same day were "Junior" Endres of Corpus Christi College and Louise Felderhoff of the Ursuline Academy in Dallas.

Except for Sister Bernice, formerly Angeline Trachta, the reunion in Mrs. Frank Trachta's home was complete. Her three sons, Harold of Dallas, Thomas of San Antonio, and Vincent of Healdton, Okla., were all back for Christmas. Harold and Tom returned to their du-

Opening of Overpass Delayed Because of Unfavorable Weather

The opening of the overpass to traffic is being delayed at least until the second week of January, according to information received from Ben Benson, bookkeeper of the Frank Parrott Construction Co. Tuesday morning.

Mr. Benson explained that because of the several days of cold weather the concrete work of the new structure did not season sufficiently to permit its opening to traffic on January 1 as was originally planned. He advises that engineers usually require temperature of more than 40 degrees; colder days are considered as lost in the seasoning process.

At the present time the number of workers on the overpass has dwindled to about 20, most of whom are engaged in finishing work.

Since the last span of the structure was completed the greater part of the Parrott equipment was moved away from Muenster.

chrysanthemums tied with a bow of gold tulle.

The groom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Voth, of Muenster was attended by his brother, Joe Voth.

Mrs. Voth was reared in this community, educated in St. Peter's School and graduated from that institution. She was a loyal member of the Young Ladies' Sodality and of the Caecilia Choir. Mr. Voth received his education in the Catholic school at Muenster and is one of that community's enterprising young farmers.

Following the Nuptial Mass, breakfast was served in the home of the bride's mother to the bridal party and immediate relatives. Tuesday night a group of friends and more distant relatives of the young couple gathered to offer congratulations and best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Voth will make their home three miles east of Muenster where Mr. Voth is engaged in farming.

LET'S THINK ABOUT A GYM

In an earlier issue it was stated that The Enterprise is heart and soul behind any project that will result in the welfare of Muenster people.

That attitude is fully in accord with our attempt to arouse interest in a gymnasium. If Muenster people are looking for a future citizenship that is physically fit and morally straight, it is time now for them to think of the proper facilities for training the younger set.

The boys and girls of Muenster, like those of any other community, need organized recreation. They need a program that is sufficiently interesting to occupy their leisure hours and at the same time develop them physically.

The boys and girls of Muenster need a gymnasium. It is the one necessary factor in the success of a sports program. And competitive sports have a more universal appeal to young minds than any other form of activity.

The time has passed when all children were constantly kept in the family circle. Because of numerous changes in the past 20 years few parents know what their sons and daughters are doing with their spare time. Few parents have any assurance that the things their children are doing and the habits they are forming will not be an actual detriment to their temporal and spiritual welfare.

Since parents' first responsibility is to see that children are trained in the fundamental principles of citizenship, they are also faced with the responsibility of providing the facilities that will aid in the proper training of children. In addition to training given in the home, some provision must be made for the proper use of leisure time.

So the solution for the youth problem in Muenster is to provide for an athletic program. And the more the problem is considered the more firmly one is convinced that the chances of making good citizens out of today's children is considerably increased by giving them a gymnasium where they can take a greater interest in the kind of healthful recreation that is dear to every young heart.

For the benefit of their children Muenster people are urged to give a great deal of serious thought to the gymnasium. They are urged to consider the importance of providing means by which the young characters are improved rather than harmed during their spare time.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

In spite of the annual barrage of criticism aimed at New Year's resolutions there are a few who continue to take the idea seriously. They feel, just as a business man does, that an inventory of assets and liabilities should be taken at regular intervals, and means should then be adopted to improve in every possible way.

A spiritual inventory of the good and bad habits acquired during the past year is a substantial basis upon which to plan improvement for the coming year. Any of the harmful habits should be weeded out just as costly practices are eliminated in business.

There is nothing wrong or silly about New Year's resolutions. The reason that they have been so constantly held up to ridicule is that so few of them were kept for any considerable time.

If people had been less ambitious in their attempts at improvement it is quite probable that the resolutions would have been kept. Naturally, a person cannot become perfect overnight. But he can improve gradually.

An old proverb advises us to "make haste slowly." If we will resolve to make smaller improvements it is very likely that we will be able to carry through. But when a resolution becomes a burden it usually calls for a greater force of will power than we can muster.

The secret of successful resolutions, according to those who have succeeded, is to set a goal that can be reached without making too great an effort. Whether it be a matter of forming good habits or eliminating bad ones, a great deal more can be accomplished a little at a time. If the goal can be reached with a reasonable amount of effort the time is not far off when the second step can be taken in the march of progress.

If you intend to make any resolutions this year let this be your first one: "I will not make any resolutions that I will not be able to keep."

The first dance following the season of advent was given by the Knights of Columbus in their hall on Wednesday night, December 30. Music for the occasion was furnished by Bob's Swing Band of Bowie, a re-organization of the Walt Johnson Orchestra that played a great number of dances for Muenster people in the past few years.

One of the big questions confronting employees of the Farmers' Marketing Association is that concerning the ingredients mixed in the special treat passed around on Christmas Eve. It seems that every one who partook of the refreshment was laid up shortly afterward with severe pains in the mid-section. Victims insist their disability was not caused by the excessive potency of the stimulant, but by some foreign substance that accidentally got mixed in the concoction.

The Solution

A man went into a cafe and ordered the 50c luncheon. He made out nicely until he came to dessert, when he asked for some cheese. The waiter said he was sorry, but cheese would be five cents extra—it wasn't on the regular luncheon. "Well," the patron said, "apple pie is on the regular luncheon, do you serve cheese with that?" The waiter said they did. "Then," the gentleman said with triumph, "bring me the apple pie and cheese, without the pie, and the crackers you brought me with my soup that I didn't eat." The waiter brought him three saltines and a piece of cheese and watched with admiration while he ate it. No extra charge.—The New Yorker.

AS MODERN AS IT LOOKS FAST—ECONOMICAL—TOUGH

Here's a tractor that looks modern and is modern from radiator to drawbar. You settle back in a comfortable hammock-type seat, push the starter button—and then—listen to the hum of the 6-cylinder, valve-in-head engine. It's a high-grade, automotive power plant with regular tractor strength and ruggedness.

You can get that motor in two types, the "70" HC with high compression head for regular gasoline, or the "70" KD with different head and manifold for kerosene or No. 1 distillate. You pick your fuel, pick a motor designed from the ground up to that fuel and nothing else, and get maximum economy on every drawbar, belt or power take-off job.

All controls are at your finger tips and overlapping, 6-cylinder power impulses get the job done just a little faster, a little better, and a little cheaper. See us for a demonstration.

TAKE the word of a New York hairdresser for the fact that Mrs. Clark Gable "doesn't look ten years older than anybody, much less Clark!" Mrs. Gable dropped in the first time, wearing red, and a beautiful fur coat, and captivated the entire establishment with her good looks and charm. Incidentally, on her husband's recent trip to New York, it was said that he left the studio somewhat in doubt about just where he was going when he departed for New York — the general impression seems to have been that he was just going on a hunting trip. Another version was that he hoped to settle once and for all the matter of a divorce. However, nothing apparently happened. Clark spent a few days in New York and then went back to Hollywood.

You can't accuse Fredric March of high-hatting his old friends. Long ago, when he was a young actor just trying to get some where on the stage, he lived with two other chaps who also were just trying to get along in their professions. One of them was better off than the others so he paid the rent and bought meals.

The meal-buyer is up against hard times now. Fredric March isn't. If he were like some of our stars, he'd conveniently forget the past. But when he's in New York he looks up that old friend and nobody'd know by his actions that he'd climbed to the top of the ladder. In other words, he deserves the highest tribute that electricians and carpenters and other workmen around the movie studios can pay a man, "He's regular."

After his magnificent performance in "Winterset" Burgess Meredith deserves the best that's going. And "Winterset," by the way, is a magnificent picture, though there's one scene that may keep you awake, shuddering, for nights and nights.

Jessica Dragonette, who's been singing on the air practically ever since there's been any broadcasting, is branching out for herself with a new weekly series of half-hour musical programs each Wednesday night from nine-thirty till ten, on CBS. First time she's been on a coast-to-coast series, after ten years of radio work.

Do you listen to the Kate Smith programs, on which various unsung heroes and heroines appear, tell their story, and then receive votes from listeners-in? If you heard seven-year-old Mary Louise McCroskey and liked her you'll be glad to hear that she was voted for by 215,000 people, and received the weekly award of $500.

At last Jack Oakie, that gay comedian of the screen, has his heart's desire — a master of ceremonies job on the air. It's odd that he hasn't been signed up before, for he is one of the few comedians who are as good on the air as they are on the screen — you've probably heard some of his guest performances; he was on with Bob Burns while Bing Crosby was in Honolulu. He got the idea for this new program from his work in "College Rhythm." He's going to be a college president, but hasn't announced yet just what that will lead to. He's admitted that he'll have "guest professors"—Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, Burns and Allen and others.

JAN. 4 IS DESIGNATED AS OPENING DATE FOR MUESTER HATCHERY

Word has been received from Felix Becker, manager of the Muester Hatchery, that January 4 is set as the opening date for this year's hatching season. On that day the hatching equipment will be officially set in motion for the first time in its new home. Mr. Becker advised that some orders for baby chicks have already been received and that considerably more are expected before the opening date.

LAST SUNDAY OF YEAR OBSERVED WITH SPECIAL THANKSGIVING SERVICES

In keeping with an old custom in the Muester Parish, special services of thanksgiving for the blessings enjoyed during the past year were held on Sunday, December 27, in the Sacred Heart Church. At the first Mass the pastor, Father Frowin, conducted the opening exercises of the Exposition of the Blessed Eucharist. The Exposition continued until after the last Mass

BILLY MINK'S SURPRISE
BILLY MINK opened his eyes. At first he couldn't think where he was. Everything about him was strange. Then all in a flash it came to him where he was. He was in a dark corner of the haymow in the big barn where the rats lived. Billy yawned, then he stretched first one leg, then another. He yawned again, stretched some more, then lay quiet for a few minutes trying to decide whether to take another nap or hunt those rats again. "I may as well learn all about this barn while I am here," thought Billy. "One never knows when such knowledge may come in handy. Besides, I want to find out where all these rats live. How they did squeak and squeak when they discovered me!" Billy chuckled at the memory. "It is great fun to hunt them." Billy lazily got to his feet and arched his back, which was one way of stretching. Then he started out to explore the big barn. Of course he didn't go far before he smelled a rat. That is to say, he smelled the scent left by the feet of a rat. Right away Billy forgot everything but the fun of hunting, the game of hide-and-seek in which death was the price of being caught. He started out along the trail of that rat. By and by, way down under some boxes he came to a nest. It was made of old rags, torn paper, and other bits of rubbish. Billy didn't knock to find out if any one was at home. No, indeed, Billy didn't knock. He just popped his head right in. He expected to find some babies at home, if no one else, because he knew that there are babies most of the time in the home of a rat. Right then Billy got his first surprise. The nest was empty! Yes, sir, it was empty. There had been babies there, as his nose told him, but they had been carried away. Billy hunted about a bit until he found the trail leading away from the nest. This he followed. It led downstairs to a hole in the barn floor, through this to the ground, and straight to an opening which led out of doors. "Huh!" muttered Billy. "This is queer." He ran about a bit, and it didn't take him long to discover that there were many tracks leading to that opening out of doors. He could tell by the smell that those rats had gone out and not come back. "It looks as if my future dinners had run away," muttered Billy, and then he began to explore that barn in earnest. There wasn't a hole or crevice or cranny in it that he didn't poke his nose into. There wasn't a rat nest there that he didn't find. But not a glimpse of a single rat did he get, nor the squeak of a single voice did he hear. There wasn't a rat in the barn! When he had gone to sleep there had been many. He had heard them squeaking all about him. Do you wonder why he was surprised?

Since the early part of this week Flusche Brothers have been occupied with packing and transporting their tools and equipment to their new location at Decatur, where they will replace Gunn Motor Co. as Ford dealers for that city. They will open their new agency there on January 1.

The Flusche Brothers will not move their families to Decatur until they have finished with the confusion of getting organized in their new business location and find time to get suitable living quarters for the three families as well as to move their household goods.

ties last Saturday and Vincent left in time to report for work Monday morning.

Richard Trachta, who is employed by a lumber company of Stamford, spent from Thursday to Sunday of last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trachta.

When J. P. Fisch returned from the Medical Arts Hospital of Dallas the Wednesday before Christmas, he was accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Endres and her baby son, Tommy. Bert Fisch, who drove the trio from Dallas, returned immediately to his home in Fort Worth because of the illness of his wife. Christmas Eve Leonard Endres joined his wife and child in the home of his parents. Len and his family were driven back to Dallas by his younger brother "Junior" in time to report for his regular work at Armour & Co. Monday morning.

Eugenia Luke, the daughter of John Luke, also arrived the day before Christmas. She returned to her home in Fort Worth last Sunday night in the company of Paul Hellman and Lillian Fette.

Lillian did not reach Muenster until the day after Christmas because of the fact that she, one of the stewardesses of the American Air Lines, had to make her regular scheduled round trip from Fort Worth to Memphis, Tenn., on Christmas Day.

Arthur Endres, now employed by the Kraft Phenix Cheese Corporation at Winooski, was home for Christmas and the week end with his parents and family.

Charles Stelzer and his wife of Fort Worth spent Christmas Day visiting with their friends and relatives here.

On Christmas Eve Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strategier, Jr., of Norman, Okla., who spent the holidays in the Alec Pulte home at Gainesville, visited with the families of Joe Fisher, Sr., and Roy Endres.

Bernadine Roberg took out enough time from the beauty course she is following at Wichita Falls to spend Christmas and the week end with her family.

Another Wichita Falls visitor was "Hallie" Richter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richter. She arrived in Muenster the day before Christmas and returned to her duties last Tuesday.

John Herr's home was the scene of a reunion for three out of town members of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herr of Gladewater came in on December 24 and remained until December 26. Al Schnitker and his family of Pottsboro spent the entire holiday week end in Muenster. John Corcoran and family of Gainesville were here on Christmas Day. Mrs. Schnitker and Mrs. Corcoran are John Herr's daughters, Margaret and Catherine. From Tishomingo, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hoedebeck and child were guests in John Yosten's home for the week end. They returned Sunday accompanied by Frank Hoedebeck, who announced on his departure that he intended to be back in Muenster before New Year's Day.

Also visiting in John Yosten's home were his two daughters, Elsie and Genevieve of Fort Worth, who remained until last Sunday night.

Henry Burkhard of Dallas and his sister, Gertrude, of Fort Worth visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burkhard. Henry returned to his work after spending the week end; Gertrude intends to go back to her job during the week following New Year's Day.

Two out of town visitors who were not so fortunate as to be free on Christmas Day are Mary and Gertrude Voth of Wichita Falls, who have been with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Voth, since last Monday. They intend to report for work on their respective jobs next week.

when they were not visiting one or another of Sister Rosina's many nephews and nieces they were taking in the places of interest in the vicinity of Muenster and in South Texas.

On Christmas Day they were with the family of Mrs. Joe Lehnertz, Sister Rosina's niece. The Wednesday before they spent in the home of Henry Fette. Last Saturday night they attended a dinner given at the G. H. Hellman home honoring Rudy and Arthur and their wives on their wedding anniversaries.

An amusing angle of the dinner is that Arthur and his family could not attend the dinner because of the heavy rain Saturday—the mud road to his home was impassable. In far off Chicago the third member of the family to celebrate a wedding anniversary on December 26, Mrs. Vincent Baker, formerly Margaret Hellman, expressed her regrets for not being able to join in the festivities at home.

Last Sunday the Sisters were the guests of C. J. Fette and plan to spend New Year's Day with John Fette.

The Venerable guests had a completely new experience when driving through Muenster's oil fields. Their tours in Cooke County were extended to include some of the more picturesque backwoods country in the vicinity of Red River. Sisters Domitilla remarked that the bluffs and rough country in that area are the only sights here that remind her of Wisconsin.

Next in interest to Sister Rosina's visit with relatives, many of whom she had never seen before, was her trip to missions and places of historic interest in San Antonio, Waco, and other South Texas towns. In company with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hellman, the Sisters left Monday morning and returned Wednesday.

A trip to Wichita Falls to visit with Sister Antoinette, daughter of C. J. Fette, occupied the time of Sisters Rosina and Domitilla Thursday.

White Salmon

People expect canned salmon to be pink, and it is not easy to sell white salmon, even though an expert taster could hardly detect any difference. Some years ago, when pink salmon in the Columbia River were late in arriving, a canner successfully took his chances on selling the white. On each can he placed a label: "This salmon is guaranteed not to turn pink in any climate."

camping here in this area, prepare huge meals for the hearty winter appetites. The first meal consists of roast beef, browned potatoes, string beans, sole slaw, hot bread, apple butter, cocoa, fruit and cookies.

Vincent C. Hobbs, field executive of the Chickasaw Council, will direct the camp program. Many interesting and adventurous activities have been planned, including the opening council fire, treasure hunt, and stunt night. During the day, all Scouts will have the opportunity of passing tests and working on various handicraft and pioneering materials. One of the most interesting and valuable hikes will be under the guidance of Don Chapell, Ardmore geologist, who will explain the various rock formations that have made the Arbuckles famous from coast to coast.

Scouts are requested to bring not less than four blankets or quilts. The boys will sleep in tents on huge piles of hay that have been secured for this purpose. Parents are advised that there will be less chance to catch a cold at camp than running in and out of the house at home. The boys will be under constant guidance by the troop and camp leadership.

Paul Clayton was placed in charge of Ben's body repair shop, which is in the large tin building on Frank Seyler's place, that served as one of the first garages in Muenster's history.

As bookkeeper John Mosman of Lindsay was employed to take the place vacated by Wayne Delfield. John is well known in the Muenster community, having been a visitor for a great number of Muenster's social gatherings, as well as a frequent business visitor.

George McCool will continue to take care of the Seyler Garage during the wee hours and Elmer (Personality Plus) Fette will continue to handle the hoses and tire tools at the front.

Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Company Has 43rd Annual Meeting

The forty-third annual meeting of the Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was held December 29 in the Muenster High School, with Henry Henscheid, who has been present for every meeting in the organization's history, presiding as chairman. Mr. Henscheid has been president of the company for more than 20 years.

Twenty-three delegates from Muenster, Lindsay, Pilot Point, Scotland, Windthorst, and Electra, represented about 450 members of the Mutual Company, and a total value of insured property of more than $1,000,000.

The organization was founded by pioneers of Muenster shortly after the first settlers put up their first buildings. At that time it included the farmers of German descent in the vicinity of Muenster, but in the years that followed it was extended to include farmers of German descent in Lindsay, Pilot Point, Electra, Scotland and Windthorst.

It is said that a Mr. Untereiner, one of Muenster's pioneers, was especially active in forming the Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and after moving to South Dakota was the driving force behind the organization of a similar company for that section.

Substantial savings in insurance is the chief advantage of the Mutual Company. The expense of conducting the business is negligible because no office is maintained and only a small sum is necessary to cover the cost of collecting assessments. Furthermore, assessments are small since they are used only to pay off actual losses by fire, and nothing is absorbed in overhead expenses.

According to W. H. Endres, one of the Muenster delegates, the total assessment for last year was 25 cents per $100 of insured property; the year before no assessment was made.

The organization's method of operating is to pay out of the general fund any approved claim and as the money runs low to assess each member for the necessary funds to meet future claims. In this way the burden of fire losses is carried by all members and each member's expenses during the year is determined by the total fire loss during the year. Mr. Endres advises that the company will make an assessment of 30 cents per $100 early in January.

SALVATION ARMY TO MAKE ANNUAL APPEAL

The annual appeal for funds to help carry on the extensive program of the Salvation Army in the Texas Division will be made here soon. W. D. Pedigo, veteran campaigner from the headquarters office, will be here to assist in making the canvass.

During the past year in this division 50,000 families have been given assistance and encouraged to better living; jobs have been found for many men and women, more than 100 girls have been cared for in the maternity homes and hospitals. Only one appeal for funds will be made during the year. Any other solicitation will be without authority from the organization.

One Hundred Scouts Gather in Arbuckles For Holiday Outing

Ardmore, Dec. 23.—Over 100 Scouts from the various units of the Chickasaw Council will find their way to Camp Chapman, in the Arbuckle Mountains, for the annual winter camp, in spite of northern breezes and the suggestion of snow. Camp Chapman is cuddled down in a beautiful little valley, so is well protected from the wintry blasts that may come during these late December days.

Camp opens on the afternoon of Monday, December 28, and continues through Thursday afternoon, December 31. Some boys will plan to cook their own meals over rock fireplaces erected for the occasion. Other boys will prefer to eat in the mess hall where George, the regular summer camp cook, will for the first time in the history of winter
