

CITY ELECTION THIS YEAR HAS NO CAMPAIGN

Ballot Shows 1 Name For Each Of 4 Offices

Ben Seyler is Candidate For Mayor; John Fisher L. A. Bernauer, Andy Hofbauer for Council

The city election here next Tuesday will be a mere formality unless some eleventh hour issue arises to break the perfect calm of the present political situation. There is no race for Muenster's four official offices.

According to Mayor M. J. Endres there are only four names on this year's city election ballot. Ben Seyler heads the list as candidate for mayor and John Fisher, L. A. Bernauer and Andy Hofbauer are candidates for the three alderman positions. Of these Fisher is the only person seeking re-election. Announcement had been made previously by Mayor Endres and Aldermen Henry Hennigan and Henry Fleitman that they would not run for another term.

Assuming that there will not be a sufficiently large number of names written in during the election, the city council in the future will consist of the four above named candidates and the two aldermen elected last year, Al Walterscheid and Nick Miller.

FATHER PAUL NAHLEN IS NEW SUPERIOR OF LOCAL PASTORS

Rt. Rev. Paul Nahlen, O. S. B., president of Corpus Christi College, became the new abbot of Subiaco Abbey, at an election last Thursday by fifty three members of that monastery. He replaces Rt. Rev. Abbot Edward Burgert, O. S. B., who resigned a month ago because of declining health.

As head of the Subiaco monastery, of which the local pastors, Fathers Frowin and Francis, are members, the Rt. Rev. Abbot is directly connected with the Muenster parish. From time to time he will visit this parish as was the custom of other abbots in the past.

The new superior of the Subiaco Chapter of Benedictine monks is now in his fifty seventh year. He became a member of the order in 1903 and was ordained to the priesthood in 1908. From 1907 to 1927 he served as Prefect and Treasurer of Subiaco College then moved to Corpus Christi to become the first president of Corpus Christi College. He held that position until his election to the abbacy last week.

Both Father Frowin and Father Francis were at Subiaco to participate in the election of their new abbot.

MOTHERS PREPARE FOR PICNIC-DANCE ON EASTER MONDAY

Following a custom of long standing in this community, a picnic and dance on Easter Monday will officially open the after-lent social season. Plans for the event are under way now with Mrs. Felix Becker, president of the Mother's Society in charge.

The picnic will begin at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Becker said, and will last until about 11:30. As usual members of the Mothers' Society will take charge of the affair and will be assisted by members of the other local church societies.

Games, lunches, cold drinks, coffee, candies, ice cream, etc., will be available for the amusement and refreshment of youngsters and oldsters alike.

Beginning at 8 o'clock the annual Easter Monday dance will be in progress on the main floor of the parish hall while the picnic continues in the basement. Sid Hamilton's collegiate band of Denton has been engaged to provide the music.

Proceeds of the picnic and dance will be placed in the new church fund.

TO ENTERTAIN LEAGUE

Pupils of the Sacred Heart School of Music will give a program at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Civic League on April 14. Miss Olivia Stock, chairman of the program committee announced Monday after arrangements with Sister Leonarda, teacher, had been made.

EIGHT KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

ALBERT HENSCHIED IS ONLY CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Present indications are that there will be no change on the Muenster school board as a result of Saturday's school trustee election. According to a statement Monday by County Superintendent Randolph O'Brien, Albert Henschied is the only candidate for trustee in this district. He is seeking re-election at the expiration of his first term.

The other two members of the school board are I. A. Schoech and Aloys Kleiss.

TESTS BREATH ODOR

Northwestern University dental research scientists have perfected a method which reveals the odor intensity of the breath and allows them to name the cause. Dr. Glenn F. Sulser, shown in photo, who made the studies with Drs. Leonard S. Fosdick and Robert H. Brening, freezes a breath sample of this pretty young patient in liquid nitrogen (210 degrees C below zero) for concentration purposes. Mouth odors for statistical purposes are defined as po.

HOLY NAME JOINS CAMPAIGN AGAINST FILTHY LITERATURE

Local cooperation in the national campaign against indecent literature was taken up by another society Monday night when members of the Holy Name group pledged to refrain from reading objectionable literature and to lend their assistance in suppressing it. Their action was a response to the request of their sponsor, Father Francis Zimmerer, after he had stressed the harm caused by trash publications.

In spite of threatening clouds the usual large percentage of members was in attendance.

The only business activity of the evening was the election of delegates and alternates for the district convention of the Catholic State League to be held at Lindsay in May.

Father Francis commended the young men on their near 100 per cent attendance at the retreat the preceding week, explaining that the society will serve its purpose as long as members attend faithfully at the monthly conferences, the retreats, and other activities meant to keep them in closer touch with spiritual realities.

WELCOME SHOWERS ACCOMPANY SERIES OF WEATHER CHANGES

Crops and gardens of this community are looking brighter as a result of several "dandy" showers from last Friday until Tuesday evening. All of the rains were fairly slow and penetrated as they fell in ground that had waited several weeks for the moisture. The total rainfall is estimated at one and a quarter inches.

Rain was only one item in the weather's variety of stunts since last week-end. After the first showers a bad twister cut its destructive path through southeast Montague County Saturday night causing more than $25,000 damage in Montague, Mallard and Forestburg. Montague's loss was estimated at $15,000 as the wind almost completely demolished the little cross-timbers hamlet. At Forestburg roofs were torn off several homes and business houses and the recently completed school building which was hailed last year as one of the outstanding WPA projects of the Fort Worth district. Apparently spending its fury in the short course, the twister calmed and did no other serious damage.

Monday's bright, sunny weather was followed by evening clouds that brought hail and rain. Most of the hail fell in the vicinity of the city and lasted for only a minute or two. It caused no damage. Excepting the few scattered stones reported to have fallen last Friday night, it was this community's first hail of the season.

To top off the series of changes the temperature fell back to near freezing Tuesday night. Heaters were going all over town Wednesday after a long rest through typical spring weather.

ATTORNEY'S OFFICE FOR HERBERT MEURER NEARS COMPLETION

Some time during the next week this city's first attorney's office will be opened in the J. W. Meurer building between the Post Office and Nick Miller's.

Construction on the special room has been under way since the latter part of last week and will probably be finished this week. It was made by placing a partition in a part of the space formerly used by Nick Miller.

Herbert Meurer, who received his license from the Texas Supreme Court last Summer, will occupy the new office.

REA LINE PROGRESS DELAYED FIVE DAYS BY RAINY WEATHER

Running within a week of its previously announced schedule, which called for completion of the project about April 1, the rural electrification line contractors were thrown for a five days' loss by bad weather that started during the past week-end.

There are about 10 more working days, John Lomax, superintendent of the Morgan construction company, stated Wednesday. If the weather turns off favorably Lomax expects the line to be ready for energy about April 10.

However, that is not a promise that current will be available immediately, he added. Unless the local co-op has the required minimum of connections and unless an agreement is reached soon by REA and the power company over connections at the sub-station, there will be more delay after the line is finished.

All materials are now on hand. After a week's work the only men left on the job will be wire stringers and transformer installers.

WHEY CONDENSER PUT TO WORK AS PLANT RECEIPTS INCREASE

Whey condensing has become a necessity at the cheese factory during the past week. With the volume of milk receipts increasing steadily the quantity of the whey exceeds the normal demand of farmers and leaves several thousand pounds daily to be disposed of by the drying method.

For a short time, until Kraft at Denison resumed preparing a whey by-product, the surplus whey had to be stored. The drying process is a part of the daily schedule now.

Milk receipts at the cheese plant have reached the 33,000 pound mark. This volume falls below that of the corresponding period of last year because of the recent loss of several dozen dairy herds to a wholesale dairy in Dallas. Men at the cheese plant have little hope of coming nearer than 75 per cent of their last year's peak.

Guests in the J. M. Weinzapfel home Sunday afternoon and for a six o'clock dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baumhart of Burkburnett, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hellman and baby of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. William Weinzapfel and children of Windthorst and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gremminger and family.

Muenster Wins Class B Trophy In Cooke County One Act Play Contest

MUENSTER DUCHESS WILL BE SELECTED BY LADIES' LEAGUE

Muenster's duchess, to represent this city at the Gainesville Circus Roundup will be elected at a special meeting of the Ladies' Civic League this (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock in the public school, Mrs. T. S. Myrick, announced Tuesday.

The special meeting was called after the league received a letter from Phil Teague, chairman of the Roundup, requesting that the league handle the selection of a duchess and her escort, a duke, to represent Muenster at the celebration on April 28th.

At that time the feature performance will be the crowning of the Circus Queen with appropriate ceremonies under the big top, and members of the royal court will lead the grand entry. Twelve neighboring cities have been asked to take part in this ceremony.

All Civic League members are urged to be present at this short special session today and cast their ballot for a duchess to represent this city.

FATHER FUHRMANN NAMED COLLEGE HEAD AT CORPUS CHRISTI

Lindsay.—Father Joseph Fuhrmann, O. S. B., who spent his boyhood and youth as a member of this community was appointed last week as the new president of Corpus Christi College to fill the vacancy created when Father Paul Nahlen, O. S. B., resigned in order to accept his new position of abbot of Subiaco Abbey.

Father Joseph's appointment became known here last week-end when he and the newly elected abbot and Fathers Phillip, Albert and Bede, stopped for an over-night visit with members of Father Joseph's family. The five priests were on their way back to Corpus Christi after participating in the conclave that elevated Father Paul to the abbacy of the Subiaco chapter of the Benedictine order.

Shortly after Easter, when the new abbot has completed business arrangements at Corpus Christi he will return to Subiaco. At that time Father Joseph will become active head of the school.

On Saturday morning, the feast of the Blessed Virgin, an assisted high mass, with the Rt. Rev. Abbot as celebrant, was held at St. Peter's church here.

LEGISLATORS CONSIDER STATE EXAMS FOR NON AFFILIATED SCHOOLS

Good news for local school children was contained in a letter from Sen. Van Zandt early this week advising that a bill to authorize state college entrance exams had been introduced in the legislature and would probably be passed on Wednesday of this week. Whether the bill was passed according to the senator's prediction has not been learned here.

The bill referred to is that which was suggested in a petition signed by a large number of Muenster people. It provides that the State Department of Education offer to children of non-affiliated schools an opportunity to secure state credits acceptable for college entrance by passing a state examination. This provision would remove the handicap of taking special entrance exams and place graduates of smaller schools on a par with those from larger, more fortunate institutions.

Another provision of the bill, it is understood, is that the state examinations will be open to pupils of private as well as public schools. As applied to Muenster it would offer parochial school students their first opportunity to secure credits acceptable for college entrance.

BENGFORTS UNHURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Returning home from Oklahoma, where they were the guests of relatives Sunday, Joe and Jenny Bengfort figured in a car wreck. The car in which they were driving collided with a car driven by a young man enroute to Oklahoma. While no injuries resulted, the cars were badly damaged. The occupants of the automobiles were unable to determine the cause of the head-on crash.

To Represent County In District Contest

Anselma Pagel and Leonard Knabe Win Individual Honors as Outstanding Actors of Contest

A reward for hours of rehearsal on their one act play "Reminiscence" came to Director Virgil Lee Welch and his octet of youthful dramatists in the form of first place honors at the one-act play contest of the annual Cooke County Inter-scholastic League meet. In competition with other class B schools of the county they presented the play at the Junior High auditorium in Gainesville Wednesday night.

Additional honors came in the selection of Miss Anselma Pagel as outstanding girl actress of the contest, Leonard Knabe and a boy from Myra tied for the title of outstanding boy actor.

The first place award gives Muenster High School the honor of displaying for one year the one-act play loving cup that had been won by Myra the two preceding years, and which would have become that school's permanent possession in the event of a third consecutive victory. Myra placed third in this year's contest and Valley View placed second.

Winning the contest also entitles the Muenster cast to represent Cooke County in the one-act play district contest in Fort Worth on April 15.

Students included in the cast, which happened to be larger than that of any other school entered, are as follows: Leonard Knabe, Maurice Pagel, Louis Nieball, Clyde Ross, Jr., and Misses Anselma Pagel, Bernice Kathman, Marjorie Pagel, and Montez Carter.

LOCAL MEN CONSIDER RAISING BABY BEEF VARIETY OF TURKEYS

Turkeys of the baby beef variety, maturing more rapidly and weighing almost twice as much as normal turkeys at the time of the Thanksgiving market, will rule the roost here within a few years if Felix Becker is successful in his present attempts to get several flocks started.

Though comparatively new in the Southwest, the larger bird is well known to leading poultry men of the nation. It was developed by selective breeding in Northwestern states and for several years has been a favorite on Eastern Thanksgiving markets. Because of its greater weight with larger percentage of meat it has consistently commanded premium prices that gave it a noticeable advantage over Texas packed turkeys.

On foot this bird shows little of his superiority over the normal variety. He is very little taller if any. But closer inspection reveals a breastplate one and a half to two inches wider, meatier drum-sticks, and a proportionately larger distribution of flesh over the rest of his body. Some hotel and restaurant men state that it has from a third to a half more meat than another turkey of equal weight.

Hens of this variety mature to 18 or 20 pounds and toms mature to more than 40 pounds. Furthermore they mature faster than other turkeys so that they are much nearer full growth at marketing time.

Small flocks of these turkeys have been thriving in West Texas for the past two years. It is from those flocks that Mr. Becker hopes to begin the local flocks. After receiving encouraging correspondence during the last week he announces that eggs are available at 50 cents each. Though the price seems high he considers it as a bargain in view of the premium prices the eggs and extra toms will bring here next year.

"Since turkey raising and dressing has become an important business here, interest in improving the quality of birds should run high," Becker said. "Many a raiser will understand that before long the present birds will be considered as culls and that the premium prices on heavy birds for the next few years will bring far better profits on a season's work."

Rudy Hellman and C. J. Wimmer left Tuesday for Little Rock, Ark., with another truck load of Muenster cheese. It was the third load to that city within two weeks.

AMERICAN BUSINESS
 By JOHN CRADDOCK

WASHINGTON.—Interest of the retail trade — particularly among food merchants—is being aroused by the Department of Agriculture's current plan to bring surplus farm crops to needy citizens through regular channels of distribution. To be tried first in a few medium-sized cities, the plan will function about as follows. To those on relief who so desire, orange-colored government food stamps will be issued as substitute for part of direct cash disbursements now being made. These stamps can be used at any food store for the purchase of necessities at prevailing retail price.

As a special inducement, 50 cents worth of blue-colored stamps will be issued for every dollar in orange stamps. The blue stamps can be used to buy surplus commodities designated by the Department, possibly eggs, citrus fruits, prunes, raisins and butter. Stores will be able to cash the stamps at the postoffice or at any bank. If this method of distributing surpluses proves successful the eventual aim is to do away with the present system of buying up surpluses through the Federal Surplus Commodities Corp. and having that government agency distribute directly to the needy.

TALKING POINT—The average auto dealer last year sold 92 new cars. Since this is one of America's most highly competitive retail businesses, selling points for new models as against used cars are always in demand. Several dealers last week believed they detected a good one in an announcement by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia of a testimonial dinner to be given March 31 to five leading chemical and glass companies, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Monsanto Chemical Corp., Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., and Corning and Carbon Chemicals Corp.

These concerns have spent $6,000,000 over a six-year period developing a new safety glass four times stronger than the present glass at normal temperatures and ten times stronger at zero. A prime virtue of the new glass is that it is five times more elastic, greatly reducing danger of injury. Estimates are that about 75 per cent of the cars being built this year will be equipped with this highly improved glass, giving alert dealers another sales argument that ties in with the "wider vision" improvements on which they have been capitalizing since car windows and windshields were enlarged with the 1939 models.

NEW BOOK SPREADS
 DER FUEHRER'S DEATH

NEW YORK, March 3—A fantastic rumor going around Europe that Adolf Hitler is dead appeared in book form Friday with publication of The Strange Death of Adolf Hitler.

Although evidence to support the rumor is entirely lacking, the Macaulay Company, publishers of the book, assert in a foreword that the manuscript came from reliable sources and that they made an effort to check its authenticity—presumably without definite results.

THE ADVENTURES OF OZZIE

He Makes His Quota

The volume is anonymous, but the publishers say that it is the translation of a manuscript written by Maximilian Bauer, described as a soldier of fortune born near Hitler's Austrian birthplace and since 1933 one of four impersonators of the Nazi Fuehrer.

Bauer, they say, sent the manuscript by courier to Switzerland and thence to France to be published on his death, but it fell into other hands and reached the United States in January, when it was decided to publish it immediately.

The publishers admit that some of the statements as to Hitler's activities in the book do not check with the known record of the Fuehrer's activities, but they attribute these discrepancies to the use of doubles for Hitler. Throughout, the book is in indirect indictment of the Nazis, although ostensibly written by an ardent follower of Hitler.

Bauer's story is that he went to Berlin in 1933 and was arrested by German police who thought he was Hitler. His life was in danger, he asserts until, the next day, when Hitler was unexpectedly made Reich Chancellor and the late Capt. Ernst Roem, breaking in on a conference to decide Bauer's fate, was struck by his resemblance to the Fuehrer and took charge of him.

Hitler was impressed with the resemblance, which was greater than that of three other doubles, Bauer says, and called him little Adolf. By disguising himself, he said he served as a bodyguard for the Fuehrer, and when Hitler feared assassination or was indisposed, took part in ceremonies by impersonating the Fuehrer. On some occasions he made speeches for Hitler, the book says.

Bauer recites that he narrowly escaped death on one occasion because he customarily tasted Hitler's food in advance and an attempt had been made to poison the Nazi leader.

He describes many intimate conversations among Hitler and other Nazi leaders, quoting them extensively. He gives details of the Reichstag fire, various attempts to assassinate Hitler, the occupation of the Rhineland, the purge of the Nazi party and other incidents—all written in the words of an enthusiastic Nazi but in a manner to discredit the Nazis.

On the eve of the big four conference in which Hitler, Chamberlain, Mussolini and Daladier participated at Munich in 1938, the book says, Hitler was given a South American poison in his food while dining with his principal aids. The book said he tried to rise "and was almost straightened up but with his features crunched up and his eyes so narrowed they had disappeared. Then, with a startling suddenness, he slumped back on his chair. 'Ach,' he half groaned."

Hitler, the book continues, died a few minutes later and the Nazis leaders decided they must carry on with one of the doubles. Bauer says that he has been the principal double for the Fuehrer but that he fears assassination at any moment and may commit suicide.

A. C. Flusche and family of Denison were guests of relatives and friends here Sunday.

SEWER SYSTEM MOST PRACTICAL METHOD OF WASTE DISPOSAL

"The State Health Department in its campaign to minimize hookworm dysentery, typhoid, and the water-borne disease is encouraging municipalities to improve waste disposal systems. The most practical method of disposing of community wastes is by a water carriage system, more commonly known as a sewer system," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The last four years have seen over 100 Texas towns take advantage of WPA-PWA government programs to provide their communities with sanitary sewer systems.

"A sewer system is the most practical method of waste disposal and the most economical. Next to a water system, a sewer system is the most important function for a city to undertake from a public health standpoint in the building of a municipality. It should be built before the streets are paved, which would obviate the necessity of tearing up the pavements. Sewer systems if constructed of good material have a very long life and the maintenance of such a system is considerably less than that of a water system in that the wastes flow through gravity and in most cases do not require pumping, Dr. Cox added.

In a beautification program undertaken by any city very little progress can be made unless all premises are connected with a sewer system. A sewer system provides an outlet for waste from drug stores, barber shops and all other establishments which are otherwise distributed into alleys and other mosquito breeding places.

Of all 445 sewer systems in the State of Texas none have been abandoned and when a small service charge is made the original cost to the municipality is soon liquidated.

The Secret of
GOOD COOKING

Controlled heat in all cooking operations is of utmost importance and is the secret of good cooking. There is extra value in properly cooked foods because correct application of heat to raw food saves fuel, time and money.

80% of your cooking is done on top of the stove.

Cook vegetables in a covered pan with about one-half inch of water in the bottom of the vessel. After the water has come to a boil, maintain gentle boiling motion by use of the simmer burner. Thus, the valuable health giving minerals, oils, salts and nutritive properties are retained in the food and not dissipated through violent boiling, and gas is saved.

Set the oven Heat Control for temperature desired and preheat. The heat automatically cuts down to a minimum when preheating is accomplished.

TIP FOR ROASTING

Cook meats at moderate temperatures for best results. Meat roasted at a low temperature during the entire cooking time will be appetizing and crispy brown, juicy and flavorful. Loss of weight will be reduced to a minimum. The oven heat control of a modern gas range will keep the oven at the desired temperature automatically.

THE SILVER LINING

Now that England is practically stalemated in her attempt to organize a "Stop Hitler" bloc, we here in America, and many another people as well, are inclined to wonder a little apprehensively where the swastika conquest will finally end.

Considering the vast difference in the ideals of nations—individual rights against state absolutism—there is some justification for worry lest the entire world be reduced to a state of political slavery.

Still, it is hard to imagine that events as important as we have witnessed during the past few years do not carry a certain amount of good in them. Optimism prompts us to look for a silver lining in the cloud of disaster.

A corrupt Rome fell before barbarian hordes and the result was a civilization superior to either of the two. The Old Testament cites numerous cases where vice was overcome by widespread affliction.

Students of history are agreed on that point. And those who are inclined to trace the way of Providence through the pages of history are further agreed that every human attempt to overthrow Divine standards has resulted in confusion—a confusion that is not removed until men return to the correct standards.

This is not a charge directed at recent territorial expansion on the part of Germany. In strict justice it must be admitted that Germany is merely reclaiming by force much of the land that was taken away by force two decades ago.

Conquest is not Hitler's big sin. He overstepped his right as a ruler when he trampled upon human right and human dignity. The Divine plan does not call for economic and political slavery, and for that very reason the Nazi regime is headed for a fall.

And now, it seems, the paths of the two tyrants are about to meet. Hitler's march to the southeast is headed in the direction of some of Stalin's interests. Is it possible that the two monstrous isms will clash with one another and spare other nations a very unpleasant task?

Perhaps it is a blessing to civilization that the "Stop Hitler" bloc failed. Such a circumstance might keep the liberal nations out of pain while poison is permitted to work against poison.

A man who faces destruction by either of two vicious beasts feels most fortunate if the animals start a death struggle with one another. If both are not killed he at least has a better chance against the weakened survivor.

Perhaps there is a silver lining in the war cloud that hangs over Europe.

SPREADING CHEER

Looking for the silver lining is a practice that may be applied to every-day private affairs as well as to world politics. To be sure it offers a greater comfort in private affairs because its bearing on individual lives is more constant and more direct.

While the task of making a living seems to grow increasingly harder, while public policies continue adding to rather than detracting from economic burdens, while certain ethical standards tend toward less regard for the dignity of mankind, in short, while dozens of details in the present day system of living have a discouraging tendency, the trend of human desire persists in the direction of happiness.

Admitting this fundamental truth, it is undeniable that a person's greatest service to humanity is in spreading happiness. Perhaps he is an inventor offering the world some sort of gadget to take the drudgery out of every day work, perhaps he is a research doctor who discovers a method to relieve pain, perhaps an entertainer to amuse people, perhaps a statesman to protect freedom and rights.

He is the unsung hero that puts real spice in life. His neighborly lift in time of a "strain," his comforting word in distress, his general cheerful attitude, have a greater influence on every day happiness than the efforts of all big time benefactors combined.

His is the role that any individual can take up. For some, perhaps, it would require a profound change in disposition, because it would have no room for jealousy over another's good fortune, nor for the cutting remarks often meant to put the other fellow in his place.

Even from a selfish viewpoint kindness pays handsome dividends. The personal satisfaction derived from an act of considerate service is a part of every person's experience. There is even a justifiable feeling of superiority in the realization that one has returned good for evil.

The testimony of personal experience, furthermore, is borne out by the story of those who spend their lives in helping others. Some of them are struggling through poverty and discomfort but they are among the happiest people of the world.

What Others Say

NOT A CREW OF SKINFLANTS

It's only human for some persons who are refused loans by a bank to go away cursing banking in general. They paint bankers as a crew of heartless skinflints. However, a banker doesn't refuse a loan because he wants to. He refuses it, when he does, because he must—because either of the law or his obligation to his depositors makes it impossible to grant the request.

A bank is just as sound as the judgment of the men who operate it. After all, the money in the bank does not belong to the bankers. We will get a much clearer picture of banking if we divorce ourselves of the mistaken notion that bank officials want to squeeze every nickel until the eagle screams.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

The Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Harold Ickes, took occasion in a public debate the other day to denounce the newspapers of the nation.

He charged that the press is not free, but is controlled by advertisers and financial interests. His allegations were refuted by Mr. Frank Gannett, publisher of a number of daily newspapers, but Mr. Ickes' charges, because of his official position, made the greater impression upon his hearers.

Mr. Ickes ought to know better than to indulge in such loose talk. He was a newspaper man himself in his younger days. He should know, as every newspaper man knows, that the constitutional right of freedom of the press means that the press of the United States cannot legally be prevented by government from criticizing government.

It is no concern of government whether a newspaper sells out to an advertiser or not. That has nothing to do with the principle of a free press. The publisher is free to do whatever he pleases. But every newspaper man knows that the freest newspapers are those which have the largest number of advertisers and so are under special obligations to none of them.

A MISLEADING PROMISE

Clever political maneuvering by the new governor of Texas astounded the public into consciousness that to carry out the broad promises of political campaigning means that the public must pay the bills—and how they will pay. Now, the transaction tax was not means for passage, but, in all probability was meant simply to shock the public sufficiently so that a two percent tax, or something very near that on retail sales will be offered, and, unless something very drastic is done by retail merchants, it will be passed.

The worst effect of such chicanery is that along with it is offered a promise that the ad valorem tax will be abolished. Well, to all intents and purposes, this tax has been abolished to the average home-owner and farmer in the $3,000 homestead exemption. That means that the average man today does not pay a state ad valorem tax. To abolish the state ad valorem tax altogether would mean nothing to the average home owner and farmer, because, not paying any tax now, he would not save anything.

For an administration that went into office with the avowed purpose of instituting governmental economies, a program that would bring about the collection of fifty million dollars or more in new taxes would be a violation of the frenzied campaign promises made in the whirlwind six weeks campaign that whisked an "unknown" from the air waves to the Mansion in Austin.

Retailers who would like to pay the price of unstudied promises of a politician will do well at this time to write letters to their representatives in the legislature and advise them that retail merchants already have as much taxes to collect and pay as their budget will permit and that economies in government will achieve greater things for Texas than the expenditure of additional tax money.—Southwestern Retailer.

YOUR NEIGHBOR

How well do you know your friends and/or neighbors?

Fortune frowned on a young lad playing a slot machine here during the past week-end. He hit the jack pot.

Don't get the above statement down as a typographical error. Fortune did frown on that poor little fellow as he stood on tiptoe to reach the lever that unloaded a half hatful of nickels for him. Could it be anything but unfortunate for a boy to get the idea he can come out ahead by putting his nickels into the thieving machines?

Thus another sucker is made. The jingle of those coins returning nearly a hundred fold brought a fascination not to be soon forgotten. The chances are nine to one that he will continue for the rest of his life to feed nickels into the maw of the ravenous outfit. In days to come he will squander several hundred times the amount of the jack pot he won.

It is bad enough for older fellows to play slot machines. They are not entitled to any pity because they are supposed to be mature enough to understand they are being gypped. Perhaps a few can afford the loss, most others can not. But regardless of whether they can afford it, they are plain saps. What else can a person be when he goes on in spite of knowing that the best slot machine does not pay off more than 20 or 25 per cent.?

Of course, it is a man's privilege to be obstinate. If he doesn't have the principle and the good sense to save his money, one can hardly complain about the people who put out machines to accept it.

But there is something definitely wrong when a business man will permit a boy to play his slot machine. Men are supposed to protect children from folly, not encourage them to it. The person who does not experience a remorse of conscience for permitting little fellows to play his machines should at least have the consideration to tell him what little chance he has.

Here is one respect in which our age can get a good idea from prohibition days. According to the old standard a minor's money was not accepted at the bar or at the gambling table. A little of that spirit revived here would be an improvement.

Now that several fellows are getting the airplane model fever it shouldn't be long until Muenster has Probably not at all. Most people keep themselves in reserve; have an exterior that may or may not be in keeping with their true character. The chances are, however, that people are much better than they are ordinarily given credit for being.

Here's a true story of a Dallas newspaper man who is supposed to be hard and cynical. It has never been in print before. But it seems that his kitchen supplies were keeping up a mouse family as well as the newspaper man's own household. Knowing that the children wouldn't want to see any dead mice in a trap, and having no liking for the sight themselves, the man and his wife nailed a board over the little hole through which the mice entered the porch from outside. About eleven, the hard-boiled newspaper man suggested that the mice sure would be disappointed when they found the board blocking the hole. His wife agreed. So they got up, tied some of the mice's favorite food on strings and hung it near the boarded hole. Then they went to sleep.—Caps and Lower Case.

KEEP FRIENDS WITH YOURSELF

"It's worry that chisels the lines in a man's face," said Sir Henri Deterding. "And there is, in most cases, only one cause for worry. We do not worry so much about the difficult problems we have; the thing that makes us worry is the feeling that we have not done all that we should have done to meet a situation. Most real heart-eating worry comes from self-reproach. I try to avoid that."

"If, during the day, I look squarely at every problem and do the very best that is in me to meet it, why, at night when I go to bed I can feel friendly with myself and sleep soundly."

"If there is in my mind a feeling that I neglected something or did not give the job my very best, I feel very unfriendly with myself and I am worried and my sleep is slow to come. And so I try to keep friends with myself."—Menard News.

If a man cannot be a Christian in the place where he is, he cannot be a Christian anywhere.—Henry Ward Beecher.

a regular miniature air meet. There are plenty of the planes under construction or completed now to put on a mighty good show.

The person who hasn't seen one of the tiny things perform really has a treat in store. Fascinating is only a fairly good word for it—as long as it doesn't crash. Then it becomes a near calamity.

A discouraging feature about model planes, as we know them, is that there is no way of controlling them. Once they are turned loose they are on their own. A fellow can only hope they will not dash against an obstruction. It is said, however, that they can be equipped with radio control sets. There's the sight we must see, a man on the ground putting his plane through a lot of maneuvers and then bringing it back to a clearing for a graceful crashless landing.

Toward the end of our publishing job last week, when we discovered we did not have the wherewithal to put out the usual six pages, we sort of shamefully retreated to a four page edition. Naturally it was a strain on our pride to do such a thing, but, lo and behold, we discovered that the smaller product was the very thing one of our illustrious townsmen wants.

Why don't we always put out a four page paper, he wants to know. We could manage to get all our stories in that space, save work for ourselves, and at the same time save him the trouble of worrying with an inside sheet. He suggests that we leave out ads in order to make that possible. He seemed to mean it.

Well, that's a bit of advice we choose to overlook. We like the system just as it is now. We help the business people in their little merchandising problems and in turn they help us in our little bill paying problems.

But getting back to a little of the inside dope in this publishing game: printing a paper is vastly different from most other business in one respect especially. The poorer the business the more work there is to do. The idea is that a person spends a certain amount of time soliciting ad copy (which, of course, is the bread and butter of this game). If he clicks he's got a certain amount of space accounted for. If he doesn't click he's got a lot of fussing and fretting to do in order to fill several columns of blank space. And, believe it or not, those last columns are hard to get. News has a way of getting scarce after the first few snooping trips.

A CONGRESSMAN GETS A LESSON in LENDING "Isn't it true that banks are willing to lend only to the rich who do not need it, but not to the down and out who need it most?" This question was put to a banker recently by a member of a congressional investigating committee. The truth, as the banker pointed out, is that banks will lend to any honest employed person of modest means as readily as to one of large means. But the bank cannot lend its depositors' money to people of no means. That would not be lending; it would be giving. And no bank has the right to give away money without the permission of those who own it—the depositors. The Muenster State Bank "A Good Bank to be With" Muenster, Texas

MUENSTER PLACES IN 6 EVENTS AT COUNTY SCHOOL LEAGUE MEET

Muenster placed in six events at the Cooke County Interscholastic League held its annual meet at Gainesville during the past week-end. Three of the places were in literary events and three in tennis.

The school was not entered in any athletic events other than tennis. Because of the limited enrollment Virgil Lee Welch, principal, was unable to find material that could compete with entries of the several large schools of the county.

Honors won by local students, as mentioned this week by Welch, are as follows:

Misses Carolyn Brannon and Virginia Renfro won the school's only first place, in the grammar girls division of the tennis tournament.

Leroy Pace and Paul Nieball, Jr., took second place in the picture memory contest. This event was open to children of the first and second grade.

Another second place went to the grammar boys, Gerald Stelzer and Roy Schumacher in tennis doubles.

Of the three third places one was taken by the grammar department and the other two by the high school. Miss Montez Carter took third place in high school senior girls' essay writing and Maurice Pagel won third in high school senior boys' tennis singles. Miss Carolyn Brannon placed similarly in grammar girls' declamation.

At this writing two events in which Muenster is entered have not been completed. Senior girls' tennis doubles will probably be held this week-end.

TWO WEDDINGS ANNOUNCED FOR WEEK AFTER EASTER

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Angeline Hartman to Arthur Endres of Sulphur Springs, and of Miss Emma Hoenig to Leo Fetch of Munday, was made Sunday when bans of marriage were read at high mass for the first time. The Hoenig-Fetch nuptial will take place on Easter Monday and the Hartman-Endres rites will be solemnized the next day, Tuesday.

LOCAL CHOIR APPEARS IN DALLAS CONCERT

Members of the Muenster choir, accompanied by a group of wives and friends, motored to Dallas Sunday afternoon to appear in a concert sponsored by the Frohsinn choir.

Muenster's part in the concert consisted of three numbers presented by themselves and several more in which they joined their hosts. Before leaving Sunday evening the Frohsinn choir and also the Liederheim ladies' group accepted the local choir's invitation to come to Muenster for a return concert some time after Easter, Leo Henschel, advised.

Choir members who went to Dallas include Werner and Walter Becker, John and Lawrence Wimmer, Andy Hofbauer, Albert Henschel, Aloys Kleiss, George Koelzer, William Henschel, Frank Walterscheid, Clem Hofbauer, Henry and Ben Luke, M. J. Endres, Wilmer and Anthony Luke and Leo Henschel.

Accompanying the singers were Mrs. Andy Hofbauer, Mrs. Frank Walterscheid and baby, Mrs. Leo Henschel, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Walter, Virgil Lee Welch and Misses Rita Rohmer, Irene Walterscheid, Elfrieda and Dorothy Mae Luke, and Dorothy Trachta.

EASTER EGGS

With Easter approaching, Angeline Orr reminds poultrymen that they may expect a boom in egg sales. According to the National Restaurant Association, an approximate 220,000 cases — nearly 80,000,000 eggs — were sold in this country's four major markets during the week preceding Easter last year, an increase of 15 per cent over normal sales volume. And this year, week to week sales have ranged from two to four per cent greater than last year.

SPRING FASHIONS WILL PARADE AT STYLE SHOW

A preview of what the well dressed woman will wear this Spring and Summer will be on parade this Friday night, March 31, at a style show sponsored by Gainesville's XLI club in the Junior High School auditorium. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

A wide selection of up to the minute styles, all modeled by Cooke County girls and women, will include hats, dresses, suits, formal gowns, coats, footwear, lingerie, etc. Garments for the occasion are taken from the Teague Company stock.

An added feature of the show is George Perfect of Dallas on the console organ. He was engaged for a return performance because of his popularity in a similar show last year.

The Safety Sensation of 1939!
THE NEW
Firestone CHAMPION
The Only Tire Made with the
NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY
and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

This amazing new Firestone development makes a blowout as harmless as a slow leak.

Should a blowout occur the exclusive Firestone Safety-Valve holds sufficient air in the inner compartment to support the car until it is brought to a safe stop.
