

DEATH CLAIMS AGED PIONEER OF LINDSAY

Andrew Zimmerer, 88
Buried Monday Morning

Three Grandsons in Solemn
Mass of Requiem, Six
Other Grandsons Are Pallbearers

LINDSAY.—A large crowd from this and neighboring communities gathered here Monday morning to pay final tribute to Andrew Zimmerer, 88, a pioneer resident of Lindsay for 46 years and one of the chief contributors to its progress.

Rev. Alcuin Kubis of Subiaco, Arkansas, his grandson, officiated at the solemn mass of requiem in Saint Peter's church at 9 o'clock. He was assisted by Rev. Francis Zimmerer of Muenster and Rev. Sylvester Schad of Dallas, also grandsons of the deceased, as deacon and subdeacon. Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, was master of ceremonies and officiated at interment in the Lindsay cemetery.

John Zimmerer, Andrew Zimmerer, Jr., Al Schad, Albert Kubis, Henry Zimmerer and Bernard Zimmerer, grandsons of the deceased, were pallbearers. Another grandson, Herman Zimmerer, Jr., was cross bearer.

Mr. Zimmerer's death last Friday at midnight, followed a short illness and was attributed by members of his family to asthma and weakness of the heart caused principally by old age. Up to the time of his brief illness he was always active doing small tasks about his home.

He is affectionately remembered by the entire community as one who was always ready to lend a helping hand wherever help was needed whether in church work, community progress, or his fellowman. He was a charter member of the Saint Peter's Society which he helped organize in the parish.

A native of Germany, where he was born March 5, 1851, in Zusen-hofen, Baden, and where he was married in 1875. Mr. Zimmerer came to America with his wife and three of his children to settle in Wathena, Kansas, in the year 1879. He brought his family to Lindsay in 1893, the first settler who followed the Plusche Brothers to Cooke County, and began farming, which occupation he engaged in until twenty-six years ago when he moved to town near the church to reside.

Survivors include his widow and six children, Herman, John and I. A. Zimmerer, Mrs. Albert Kubis and Mrs. John Schad, all of Lindsay and Sister Fortunata of Alexandria, La., 43 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Sister Fortunata and Sister Florence Marie Kubis of Fredricksburg, Sister Dorothy Therese Zimmerer and Sister Vera Schad of San Antonio, granddaughters were among out-of-town relatives at the funeral.

TRIP THROUGH CAVE WAS FUN—BUS TRIP HOME NOT SO GOOD

The trip to Carlsbad cavern during the week-end was a most enjoyable outing, according to the group of tired, happy people who returned from the pleasure jaunt at 4 o'clock a. m. Monday morning. Stops for motor repairs and flats interrupted the home coming schedule which had provided for a return early Sunday evening.

The four public school teachers, 28 children and Mesdames T. S. Myrick, L. A. Bernauer, Frank Kaiser and Miss Lillian Fisher made up the party. The trip was made in a school bus chartered from the Dexter school district and operated by two licensed drivers.

Leaving here at near 6 o'clock Friday afternoon and driving all night, the group arrived at Carlsbad in time for a brief rest period before joining the party that went through the cave at 10:30 Saturday morning.

Completing their tour through the cave about 4 o'clock, they spent the evening enjoying swimming, boat riding, kodaking and seeing a movie. They left Carlsbad Sunday morning immediately after church services.

SUB DISASTER FILM

Seven hundred feet of film, almost a complete reel, will picture interesting scenes in connection with the recent Squalus submarine disaster as a special feature of the Friday and Saturday program at the State Theatre.

FORMER RESIDENT OF MUENSTER TO READ FIRST MASS TUESDAY

Rev. John Duesman, former local boy, will be ordained to the priesthood next Sunday, June 4, at 6:30 o'clock in Sacred Heart Cathedral at Dallas, by Most Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, bishop, and will celebrate his first solemn high mass at St. Thomas' Church, Pilot Point, next Tuesday, June 6th, at 9:30 o'clock.

John Duesman was born Feb. 11, 1911, at Sterling, Okla. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Duesman. In 1915 the family moved to Muenster. He attended the parochial school here from 1916 to 1920, when his parents moved to Pilot Point to reside. He went to the parochial school there and graduated from the Pilot Point High School in 1927.

He attended Quincy College in Illinois for two years, 1921-23 and began the study of philosophy the following year at St. Louis Preparatory Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo., later he entered St. John's Seminary, San Antonio, as a student for the diocese of Dallas. He completed his studies for the priesthood at St. John's.

A large number of Muenster people will attend his first mass.

DRUM, BUGLE CORPS REVIVES ENERGY OF LOCAL SCOUT TROOP

A drum and bugle corps, the latest interest of the Muenster boy scouts, is putting new energy into the troop. During the past three weeks the boys have improved wonderfully in their ability to keep time on the instruments as well as to march in unison.

Their new activity began with the appointment of Orval Malone as assistant scoutmaster. Interested in band and orchestra activity, he offered to teach the fundamentals of playing drums and also the simpler marching maneuvers. The boys were enthusiastic about his suggestion.

Malone has hopes of developing the troop into an orderly marching unit and in time secure invitations for its appearance in parades.

By the end of this week the scouts expect to receive their new uniforms purchased with funds raised in their recent benefit party. Ornamental accessories have already been received.

CONTINUE WORK ON CHRISTIAN JUSTICE K-C AGENT ADVISES

"Continue working intensively on a Christian justice program," was the principal message of Colonel M. J. O'Leary, special agent of the Knights of Columbus, when he met with members of the local council last Sunday afternoon. His appearance, first scheduled for Monday night, was set forward a day for the convenience of farmers who are busy with harvesting during the week.

Colonel O'Leary's short interesting speech was a message of peace. "Just as Christ came into the world during troubled times and spread the gospel of justice and love, it now becomes the work of Christians, his present day followers, to meet present difficulties with true Christian virtues."

Radical isms of our time were described by O'Leary as the enemies of civilization making progress not so much on their own merits as on the demerits of current economic standards. To many a person Communism or Nazism is nothing more than a haven of escape from existing evils, not the diabolical system reducing human beings to social and economic slavery. To embrace it would be to magnify evil rather than eliminate it.

The truth of Christian Justice opposing the false promise of Communism was the speaker's idea of the most powerful defense for civilization. Knights of Columbus and every other church or society has a duty to mankind to show by word and deed that Christianity is best, that current evils are not the products of Christianity but human faults existing in spite of Christianity.

Since the Red monster continues to grow fat on human misery there is only one course left by which his growth can be checked—check the misery—preach and live a program of Christian justice.

In a special meeting with officers O'Leary expressed general approval of the council's harmony and routine work. He advised however, that less attention be given to social activity and more attention to instructive programs.

Three attractive plate glass showcases were installed last week-end as the most recent improvement in M. J. Endres' store.

GOOD SHOWER HELPS ROW CROPS, CAUSES DELAY IN HARVEST

The Muenster community was favored late Wednesday afternoon with the shower it had wanted for the past three weeks. Appearing first as a typical thunder-shower, the rain came up rapidly and delivered a first class soaker within a period of about two hours. The total precipitation is estimated at two inches.

While the rain is highly beneficial to such crops as corn, cotton and feedstuffs, it is thought to be somewhat injurious to uncut grain. For a while it came down in torrents, shattering grain from over-ripe fields. The rain is also responsible for a general delay in harvesting.

Up to the present time weather conditions for harvesting had been very favorable. A small shower last Friday night caused late starts Saturday except in the Hood and Linn areas where Saturday cutting was prevented. As a result almost every field of oats and barley is in the shock and wheat cutting is well advanced.

Three more favorable work days will find the greater number of binders back in the shed. Some are known to have finished the job as early as Tuesday.

GET MONEY'S WORTH USE ALL OF MINIMUM IS CO-OP'S ADVICE

Some people are going to be dissatisfied with their electrical service unless they begin using more current. That is the opinion of Superintendent J. W. Hess after observing the first meter readings of the Cooke County Electric Co-operative Association.

In some cases, Hess said, the members used only a small percentage of the required minimum so that the unit charge per KWH became far higher than that set by the co-op rate. He advises all people who use only a limited amount of current to check their actual consumption to determine how much more they can use without increasing the minimum charge, and then proceed to get their money's worth. Such action would result in greater satisfaction for consumers, one of the first desires of the co-op.

In the first set of bills, which were scheduled for release on June 1, only four consumers passed the 100 KWH mark for the period of slightly more than two weeks. Next month's bills, it is expected, will include more than twenty consumers of more than 100.

STILL IN BUSINESS, JUST LOOKING FOR A PLACE TO PUT IT

Frank's Cafe hasn't gone out of business, it is just resting. Since Thursday, June 1, it is without a location in which to operate.

The odd circumstance results from a recent decision of F. J. Schenk, landlord, to lease his building to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schumacher rather than to Frank Hoedebeck. Frank had to move out even though he did not have a place to continue business. He expects to start again as soon as he can find a desirable location.

J. M. Weinzapfel and Father Frowin motored to Windthorst Tuesday to visit with relatives and friends.

OIL FIELD WORKER KILLED INSTANTLY IN HIGHWAY CRASH

A. O. Reynolds, Driller For Pace Petroleum Hits
Rear of Loaded Truck

A. O. Reynolds, 42, of Nocona, a driller for Pace Petroleum Company was killed instantly about 4 a. m. Thursday morning when the car in which he was riding crashed into the rear of a loaded trailer. The accident occurred on Highway 82 about two miles east of Saint Jo.

A section of the sedan top was sheared off and the front end of the car was completely demolished from the terrific impact as the machine collided with the load. There were no witnesses to the accident.

The body has been taken to Nocona for burial.

FIRST GRADUATES OF PAROCHIAL HIGH IN CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Class Day activities for the first graduates of Sacred Heart High School were held in the parish hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the presence of relatives and friends of the students. Juniors of the high school assisted the graduates in rendering a delightful program.

A song by the school's Glee Club opened the program after which John Wimmer gave a history of the senior class. Martin Klement, a junior, gave a recitation entitled, "Praising the Seniors," which was followed by Catherine Swirczynski's talk, "Stalking the Juniors."

Lorena Fisher delivered a witty address entitled, "Can You Imagine?" after which John Wimmer presented the class memorial gift, a set of benches for the high school yard, to the school. Ray Wilde gave the acknowledgment address. The last will and testament was read by Catherine Swirczynski which was followed by the presentation of clever small gifts to students and teachers. Loreta Hartman, Lucille Cler and Mary Elizabeth Endres recited lines in rhyme with the presentation of each gift.

The class prophecy was read by Lorena Fisher, Catherine Swirczynski recited a poem, "Our Alma Mater," and the program closed with a song, "Mother at Your Feet," by the Glee Club.

The program was under the direction of Sister Theresina.

ALL METAL CIRCUIT CUTS INTERFERENCE IN RURAL PHONES

The Muenster Telephone Company's first metallic line has been pronounced successful. A short span of about two miles, completed Wednesday by Jake Horn, Jr., eliminated all interference set up by parallel rural electrification power lines.

Since the test line is successful, the telephone company is now hastening toward the installation of metallic circuits all over its system. J. W. Meurer, president, disclosed. At the earliest convenient date directors will be called together to decide on details and approve requisitions for material.

While making its changes the company intends to give the entire system of lines a general overhauling. Old poles are to be replaced. In some areas parallel lines now suspended on separate poles will all be placed on the same pole. Where phone and electric lines are on the same side of the road the phone line will be moved to the opposite side. This last task will be taken care of by the electric co-op in accordance with the provisions of its building agreement.

The metallic circuit system of phone lines will be necessary only at such places where they run parallel with power lines, Meurer advised. The total expense in several short sections will be about 15 miles. The method is to extend the double phone line about 50 yards on either side of the parallel span and use a coil in connecting with the old single phone line.

As regards clearness of tone the double wires will restore the line to the standard of pre-electrification days. As regards dependability, the repairs and replacements of poles will eliminate the frequent inconvenience of recent years with broken or grounded wires.

Submitted Monday to Conservation Board

Field Day Meeting Saturday
Offers Opportunity To Learn Procedure And See Typical Soil Work

The petition for a soil conservation district in Western Cooke County has been submitted to the State Administrative Board on soil conservation. Endorsed by more than a hundred landowners on the Elm creeks watersheds, the petition was completed a forwarded last Monday, the opening day of the state board's first official meeting.

While no action has been announced to date, leaders of the project are confident that it will receive favorable consideration. As a thriving agricultural area the district is well worth saving for coming generations. The City of Dallas, threatened with excessive silting in its water reservoir, is expected to exert official influence to protect its investment. Gainesville, constantly threatened with Elm creeks floods and greatly dependent on soil productivity to the west, can be depended upon for help. And the petition itself, supported by twice the required number of signatures, may be regarded as an impressive plea to the board.

If and when the board approves the project it will conduct a survey to determine the advisability of actually going to work. After that the people of the district are still expected to approve by a two-thirds majority vote.

CONSERVATION FIELD DAY
All farmers interested in any phase of soil conservation have an opportunity to learn about it this week Saturday at a field day meeting on the grounds of Buckner's orphanage near Dallas, according to information received this week from officials of the project at Mesquite.

The program begins at 12 o'clock with a barbecue. Then a representative of the federal agency in charge of soil conservation will explain necessary steps to secure a project and usual working agreements with farmers in order to carry out the program. Following that an inspection tour over the Mesquite project will acquaint farmers with typical improvements in the work.

Because of the present grain-cutting rush it is improbable that Muenster will have an impressive representation at the field day. However, it is urged that every farmer who can spare the time be there to see what is going on and determine what a similar project could do for this community.

CLINIC ADMINISTERS DIPHTHERIA SERUMS

Parents whose children have not been treated for diphtheria are reminded that serums are being administered at the Muenster Clinic this week Thursday and Friday. On the same days Dr. Myrick is testing children who received the serum last year to determine whether they are still immune to the disease.

Through the co-operation of the State of Texas the serums will be given for a nominal charge of 25 cents a patient.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Sister Leonarda, music teacher, accompanied them and after a short visit there will go to Chicago to take summer courses at the Chicago Conservatory of Music. She is working for a Master's Degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hennigan and son, Frank, and Arthur Felderhoff, left by car Wednesday morning to attend commencement exercises at Subiaco College on Thursday. Pat Hennigan who finished high school this year will accompany them home. Two other Muenster boys who graduate this term, Edward Endres and Tommy Weinzapfel, will come home with Roy Endres, who left for Subiaco Thursday.

Members of the Henry Wiesman, Barney Voth and Hoening families attended graduation exercises at Mary Immaculate Academy, Wichita Falls, last Thursday evening at which time Misses Frances Wiesman, Rita Voth and Clara Hoening received their high school diplomas. Little Alma Louise Kubis of Lindsay was a page for her aunt, Rita Voth, at the exercises. Miss Clara Hoening remained to take a special summer course at the school.

DELEGATES REPORT SUNDAY AT GENERAL MEETING OF PARISH

A general meeting of the members of the Muenster parish was held Sunday evening at the parish hall following church services at 7:30 for the purpose of hearing delegates' reports of the recent district convention of the Catholic State League held in Lindsay.

The first speaker, after Father Frowin opened the meeting with prayer, was Miss Christine Knabe, delegate of the Blessed Virgin Sodality. Her report was so thorough that other reports were considered unnecessary.

Miss Knabe's report presented an interesting word picture of the convention and disclosed a group of worthwhile ideas gathered at its meetings.

Points receiving special mention included the obligations of faith, the need of good clergy and laymen, the fight against indecent literature, the necessity of good reading, recourse to Mary, Queen of Peace, family prayers, love of God and love of Country, support of poor missions, the value of good examples, children's respect of their parents and Catholic action.

KUHN FREED IN BAIL

NEW YORK.—Fritz Kuhn, fuhrer of the German-American Bund, walks from the toms, free on $5000 bail which was raised by his followers. He pleaded not guilty to charges that he stole $14,548.59 from the funds of the Nazi organizations of which he is leader. He was arrested May 25 at Krumville, Pa. and spent a night and most of a day in custody.

Father Frowin closed the meeting by reading resolutions adopted at the convention.

Following the meeting, members of the Mothers' Society and Saint Joseph's Society elected delegates for the state convention to be held at Olfen on the 11, 12 and 13 of July. Women delegates will be Mesdames Felix Becker, John Kathman, Ben Hellman and John Schilling. Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel, as state treasurer of the Women's Union, will be a delegate at large. Charles Wimmer and Barney Voth will represent the men's group.

LOCAL TEACHERS ARE ATTENDING SUMMER SCHOOL

Monday will find Muenster's four public school teachers off at colleges for summer school.

Principal Virgil Lee Welch, after a week at his home in Era, will begin classes at Teachers College, Denton. He will take manual training, preparatory to the addition of that subject to the local school's curriculum next year, and school administration. Miss Elfreda Luke will also take her courses at Denton.

Miss Dorothy Fette left during the week to begin summer school at Texas Tech at Lubbock, and Miss Mary Barker enrolled at Austin College, Sherman, for the summer.

LOST!

Thomas Smith of California, is believed to have lost in his gamble with death—attempting a transatlantic hop in his "Baby Clipper." Due in Ireland Monday, he had not been heard from late Wednesday. So small is the plane that it resembled a baby carriage with wings. The plane develops only sixty horse power in its four cylinder engine and has a cruising speed of only 85 miles per hour. Above is a portrait of Thomas Smith, taken in California some time ago.

SCHOOL BOOM

With $314,800,000 poured into new buildings, America's educational system had a banner year in 1938. According to F. W. Dodge Reports, 5,635 schools were built, a new high and a gain of 87 percent over 1937. Federal spending is mainly responsible for this upward trend, which appears to be continuing into 1939. As a result, many of the millions of youngsters who soon will be halting summer vacations may find themselves in changed surroundings next fall. At least they may expect new interiors, if not new buildings. For it is the summer months that bring school contractors out of hiding to install new seats, desks, floors, plaster, concrete, tiling, and blackboards. In the latter field, incidentally, blackboards of glass are one of the biggest innovations of recent years in school equipment. Many school buildings have eliminated the old type blackboard because the optex glass of which the new boards are made eliminates eyestrain and minimizes maintenance costs.

SOLUTION

While dairymen the country over prepare for an extensive promotion of June as "1939 Dairy Month" in an effort to dispose of what may be a record butter crop, women of the National Consumers Tax Commission came forward last week with what appears to be an ideal method of eliminating the expected surplus. Simply get rid of the 46 hidden taxes on a pound of butter, say these opponents of unseen levies, and consumers will have enough money available to purchase the entire month's output. Their figures bear them out, too. On last year's production of 1,600,000,000 pounds, approximately $50,000,000 was paid in hidden taxes. At 25 cents a pound, this would buy up the expected June output of nearly 200,000,000 pounds and leave something over for bread. The 29 federal taxes, and 17 state and local levies account for 11.3 percent of the retail price, the commission estimates.

A GOAT IS THE DISCOVERER OF COFFEE

The American Goat Society is starting a campaign to disprove that goats are malodorous, anti-social, and addicted to odd diets. But just the same, it is the lowly and curious goat who gets credit for discovering the stimulating properties of coffee. Legend has it that an Arabian goat-herder, one dull afternoon, noticed that his herd was unusually playful. He investigated, and found that they had been nibbling the berries of the coffee bush. The herder, being of an inquiring turn of mind, investigated, and thus coffee-drinking began.

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER

The Right Reverend Monsignor A. Danglmayr delivered a baccalaureate address at the commencement day program of Saint Edward's University, Austin, last Sunday. His message was a plea for Christian training of mind and heart as the first line of defense for the "right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

JOHN FLEITMAN HOME IS PARTY SCENE SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. John Fleitman were hosts Sunday for a family dinner and social afternoon at their home. The guest list included Messrs. and Mesdames Henry Fleitman, Al Fleitman and family, Joe Hoening and family, Frank Bindel and family, Albert Fleitman, Ben Roewe and family of Myra, Carl Mages and William Fleitman and family of Lindsay.

HOUSE OF RUSTLESS STEEL COSTS $5,000, ATTRACTS ATTENTION

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—The nation's first rustless steel house, completed here recently, has attracted thousands of visitors and aroused national attention.

The house is a one-story structure designed by W. H. Cook, a Youngstown architect.

"We worked for years on the design," he said, "and I think we have overcome all the objections to steel houses. For instance, we have eliminated the basement—not to save expense, but because it wasn't needed."

"Everything that could be done in a basement can be done on the ground floor without running up and downstairs and without working in the dampness of a cellar."

The utility room has a built-in automatic clothes dryer as well as numerous other facilities.

The house consists of five rooms—two bedrooms, kitchen and dinette, living room, bath and utility room. The outside walls are of alloy steel, with a composition material for the inner walls and composition material partitions.

"The roof wasn't made flat to save money," Cook said, "but to make use of the room. The flat roof now is the ideal house design."

The steel house is strong enough to withstand a tornado, yet quite light.

FIGHT TO CONTROL GRASSHOPPERS NOW SPREADS OVER TEXAS

COLLEGE STATION.—The first week in May saw the beginning of the fight to control grasshoppers in a section reaching from San Jacinto county in the southeast to Dallam county in the northwest corner of the Panhandle.

The infestation is developing about as anticipated, according to R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service and state grasshopper control leader. Damage will be moderate in most areas south and east of the Panhandle although six counties in the vicinity of Dallas will again experience trouble.

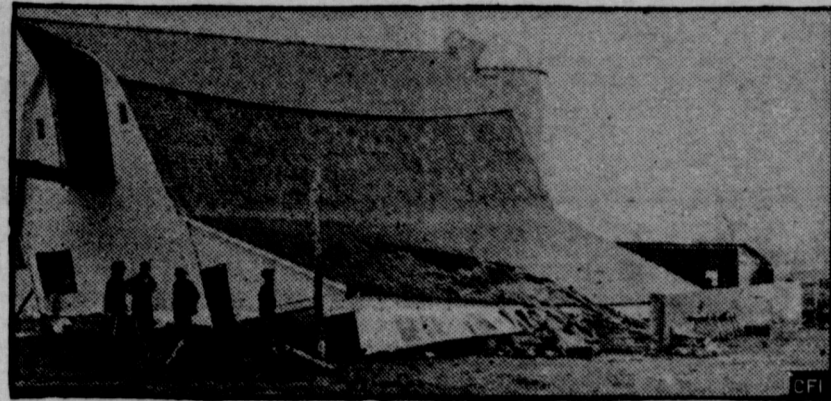

Except in the Panhandle, the hoppers are of the yellow differential species. In the Panhandle, the dangerous migratory species predominates. Reppert said egg beds had been found to cover 200 acre areas and that in some cases, there were as many as 2,000 eggs per square foot. The migratory infestation is expected to be more than twice as severe as in 1938.

The government, through the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, will provide 325 carloads of bran and sawdust for poison mash in the 23 counties where the migratory species is present. The mash is spread by hand, from trucks, and from mechanical spreaders.

At least four counties have provided mechanical mixers capable of mixing a ton of bait every six minutes, and in Hartley county, where the infestation appears to be the heaviest and where hatching occurred earliest, mash is being mixed at the rate of two carloads a day.

"We got a head start on the hoppers this year and in spite of the increased infestation, we are controlling most of the insects at the

HAIRCUTS WERE COMPULSORY FOR SOLDIERS OF 1776

CLEMONS, S. C. — Records unearthed by a student publication, the ROTC Messenger, reveal that haircuts were made compulsory in the Revolutionary army to keep American soldiers from looking "more like wild savages" than civilized men.

The haircut order was issued by Lieut. Col. Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox," at Fort Moultrie, S. C., Jan. 23, 1778. It provided: As long hair gathers much filth and takes a great deal of time and trouble to comb and keep clean and in good order, the lieutenant colonel recommends to every soldier to have his hair cut short, to reach no further down than the top of the shirt collar, and thinned upward to the crown of the head, the fore-top short, with toupee, and short at the sides.

"Those who do not have their hair in this mode must have it plaited and tied up, as they will not be allowed to appear with their hair down their backs and over their foreheads, and down their chins at the sides, which makes them appear more like wild savages than soldiers."

KNIGHTHOOD IN FLOWER

Chivalry didn't work out so well for a young man in Ballyboy, Ireland. In his own words he told the court: "I saw nine pretty girls going to a hurling match, so I gave them all a lift."

The court fined him for overloading his automobile.

We might snicker at old-fashioned chivalry, but we still adhere to customs that originated during the Middle Ages.

Take the band around a man's felt or straw hat. That's a relic of days when a brave knight went to battle with the scarf of his lady wrapped around his helmet.

And there's this business of the best man at a wedding. There was a time when he really had to be a best man. Frequently a knight had to abduct his love from under the watchful eyes of her hostile family. Duty of the best man was to stay behind and fight off pursuers until the knight got away.

The present day hand salute of the soldier is rooted in the flowering days of knighthood. During a tournament, the knight rode up before the queen and raised his hand before his eyes. This was to shade his eyes before the dazzling beauty of the noble lady.

LET WPA DO IT

According to present indications Muenster is not likely to receive the long anticipated PWA allotment for a sewer system. It is discouraging news as a closing chapter to more than a year's activity.

Nevertheless we are not ready to give up hope. There is some encouragement in the fact that WPA allotments are still going strong. Perhaps Muenster can still receive federal aid on its sewer project if it will place its application with the other agency.

PWA, as most of us recall, is the agency that gives financial help to public works. WPA provides the labor plus a generous allowance in funds toward the payment for materials. According to our first plan we were to receive 45 per cent of the necessary funds as a PWA grant, and reserved the privilege of having the work done principally by local people; we expected to distribute among Muenster people at least as much as Muenster's share in the total cost would be.

Now, in order to get federal help, we will have to enter an application to WPA headquarters. In order to have a better chance of making the project acceptable it would be well to have eligible men of the community enroll for WPA assistance. Such action would also assure work for local men if the project gets official approval.

Regardless of this community's general attitude toward public spending, it is time that something be done in behalf of our own interests. No doubt every one of us would be willing to take up the task of building without federal help if we could evade that day of reckoning when present relief debts have to be paid off. But we will carry our share of the load. We know we will; and so we are anxious to get something for our money. While we need the sewer, and while Uncle Sam has the spending notion, let's start doing things.

As regards the fellows we enroll on the WPA: Muenster is proud of its enviable record of self sufficiency, it is proud of the citizens who had the pride to get along without WPA. But here is a case that is different. Even though they can shift for themselves, some are eligible for the WPA. By getting on the list they can give Muenster a better chance for a project. Instead of giving up their personal pride they can feel another kind of pride in their service to the community.

Think it over, Muenster. On the average WPA finances about 70 or 75 per cent of a project. Realizing that we would be applying for our own money anyway, can we afford to ignore this possibility?

What Others Say

A MESSAGE TO GARCIA

In all this Cuban business there is one man stands out on the horizon of my memory like Mars at perihelion.

When war broke out between Spain and the United States, it was very necessary to communicate quickly with the leader of the Insurgents. Garcia was somewhere in the mountain fastness of Cuba—no one knew where. No mail or telephone message could reach him. The President must secure his co-operation, and quickly.

What to do!
Some one said to the President, "There is a fellow by the name of Rowan who will find Garcia for you, if anybody can."

Rowan was sent for and given a letter to be delivered to Garcia. How the "fellow by the name Rowan" took the letter, sealed it up in an oilskin pouch, strapped it over his heart, in four days landed by night off the coast of Cuba from an open boat, disappeared into the jungles, and in three weeks came out on the other side of the Island, having traversed a hostile country on foot, and delivered his letter to Garcia—are things I have no special desire now to tell in detail. The point that I wish to make is this: McKinley gave Rowan a letter to be delivered to Garcia; Rowan took the letter and did not ask, "Where is he at?"

By the Eternal! There is a man whose form should be cast in deathless bronze and the statue placed in every college of the land. It is not book-learning young men need, nor instruction about this and that, but a stiffening of the vertebrae which will cause them to be loyal to a trust, to act promptly, concentrate their energies: do the thing—"Carry a message to Garcia."

General Garcia is dead now, but there are other Garcias. No man who has endeavored to carry out an enterprise where many hands were needed, but has been well-nigh appalled at times by the imbecility of the average man—the inability or unwillingness to concentrate on a thing and do it.

Slipshod assistance, foolish inattention, dowdy indifference, and half-hearted work seem the rule; and no man succeeds, unless by hook or crook or threat he forces or bribes men to assist him; or mayhap, God in His goodness performs a miracle, and sends him an Angel of Light for an assistance.

You, reader, put this matter to a test: You are sitting now in your office—six clerks are within call. Summon any one and make this request: "Please look in the encyclopedia and make a brief memorandum for me concerning the life of Correggio."

Will the clerk quietly say, "Yes, sir," and go do the task?

On your life he will not. He will look at you out of a fishy eye and ask one or more of the following questions:

- Who was he?
- Which encyclopedia?
- Where is the encyclopedia?
- Was I hired for that?
- Don't you mean Bismarck?
- What's the matter with Charlie doing it?
- Is he dead?
- Is there any hurry?
- Shan't I bring you the book and let you look it up yourself?

And I will lay you ten to one that after you have answered the questions, and explained how to find the information, and why you want it, the clerk will go off and get one of the other clerks to help him try to find Garcia—and then come back and tell you there is no such man. Of course I may lose my bet, but according to the Law of Averages I will not. Now, if you are wise, you will not bother to explain to your assistant that Correggio is indexed under the C's, not in the K's, but you will smile very sweetly and say, "Never mind," and go look it up yourself. And this incapacity for independent action, this moral stupidity, this infirmity of the will, this unwillingness to cheerfully catch hold and lift—these are the things that put pure Socialism so far into the future. If men will not act for themselves, what will they do when the benefit of their efforts is for all?

A first mate with knotted club seems necessary; and the dread of getting "the bounce" Saturday night holds many a worker to his place. Advertise for a stenographer, and nine out of ten who apply can neither spell nor punctuate—and do not think it necessary to.

Can such a one write a letter to Garcia?
"You see that bookkeeper," said the foreman to me in a large factory.

"Yes; what about him?"
"Well, he's a fine accountant, but if I'd send him uptown on an errand, he might accomplish the errand all right; and on the other hand, might stop at four saloons on the way, and when he got to Main Street would forget what he had been sent for."

Can such a man be entrusted to carry a message to Garcia?
We have recently been hearing much maudlin sympathy expressed for the "downtrodden denizens of the sweatshop" and the homeless wanderer searching for honest employment," and with it all often go many hard words for the men in power.

Nothing is said about the employer who grows old before his time in a vain attempt to get frowsy ne'er-do-wells to do intelligent work; and his long, patient striving after "help" that does nothing but loaf when his back is turned. In every store and factory there is a constant weeding-out process going on. The employer is constantly sending away "help" that have shown their incapacity to further the interest of the business, and others are being taken on. No matter how good times are, this sorting continues; only, if times are hard and work is scarce, the sorting is done finer—but out and forever out the incompetent and unworthy go. It is the survival of the fittest. Self-interest prompts every employer to keep the best—those who can carry a message to Garcia.

I know one man of really brilliant parts who has not the ability to manage a business of his own, and yet who is absolutely worthless to anyone, else, because he carries with him constantly the insane suspicion that his employer is oppressing, or intending to oppress him. He can not give orders, and he will not receive them. Should a message be given him to take to Garcia, his answer would probably be, "Take it yourself!"

Tonight this man walks the streets looking for work, the wind is whistling through his threadbare coat. No one who knows him dare employ him, for he is a regular firebrand of discontent. He is impervious to reason, and the only thing that can impress him is the toe of a thick-soled Number Nine boot.

Of course I know that one so morally deformed is no less to be pitied than a physical cripple; but in our pitying let us drop a tear, too, for the men who are striving to carry on a great enterprise, whose working hours are not limited by the whistle, and whose hair is fast turning white through the struggle to hold in line dowdy indifference, slipshod imbecility, and the heartless ingratitude which, but for their enterprise, would be both hungry and homeless.

Have I put the matter too strongly? Possibly I have; but when all the world has gone a-slumming I wish to speak a word of sympathy for the man who succeeds—the man who, against great odds, has directed the efforts of others, and having succeeded, finds there's nothing in it: nothing but bare board and clothes. I have carried a dinner pail and worked for day's wages, and I have also been an employer of labor, and I know there is something to be said on both sides. There is no excellence, per se, in poverty; rags are no recommendation; and all employers are not rapacious and high-handed, any more than all poor men are virtuous. My heart goes out to the man who does his work when the "boss" is away, as well as when he is at home. And the man who, when given a letter for Garcia, quietly takes his missive, without asking idiotic questions, and with no lurking intention of chucking it into the nearest sewer, or of doing aught else but deliver it, never gets "laid off," nor has to go on a strike for higher wages. Civilization is one long, anxious search for just such individuals. Anything such a man asks shall be granted. He is wanted in every city, town and village—in every office, shop, store and factory. The world cries out for such: he is needed and needed badly—the man who can "Carry a Message To Garcia."—Elbert Hubbard.

THE COUNTRY WEEKLY

The country weekly has a responsibility that it owes the community that supports it. It should be the voice of that community and intelligently seek to keep its readers informed on questions that affect their welfare. Not all residents read the dailies and not all dailies speak and advocate what is best for the masses of the people.

In this day and time there are many influences at work to undermine and discredit the principles on which the government was founded, also to secure the passage of certain legislation in the interest of selfish groups, to exploit the people under various cloaks of disguise masquerading for the people's betterment but truly to the people's injury.

Some of these measures have been most prominent in the Texas Legislature but their real intent is being shown up by real newspapers not influenced by high pressure propaganda.

If the country press is really to serve its community there should be a real awakening and the power of the press made a fact instead of a theory.

There are hundreds of weekly papers that never voice an opinion and a large number that never publish the opinions of others on subjects of vital import to the people.

Those having selfish aims to advance have means and ways of getting them over. It is the province of the country press to endeavor to get the truth to the readers.

There are some 700 weekly newspapers in Texas. They should be the first line of defense against any selfish group that tries to exploit the people for their own advantage.

Let the country editor be heard.—Uvalde Leader-News.

Confetti
By CON FETTE

A fellow wanted to know the other day whether any Muenster person is on the relief rolls. Unofficially, the answer is "no." We haven't taken the time to check official records but base our opinion on the fact that we do not know of any local citizen receiving federal help. Our city enjoys a very unique distinction in that respect. All during the tough times it stood out head and shoulders above the rest of its neighbors in North Texas as the place that could get along without Uncle Sam's charity. Its good reputation has even been its handicap in a few attempts to land WPA projects for the community. We were simply told that Muenster did not need help. After that some families that could have qualified were asked to get their names on the list so that the town could get some free work. The families said they would rather shift for themselves. This may not be the best town in the world but we're glad to think it's way above the average.—Confetti.

Muenster's record of no families on relief is not only above the average for state and nation, but is probably unique in Western civilization. As such it deserves much louder huzzahs than Con Fette modestly sounds in his highly readable column. The Cooke county community undoubtedly has some distressed poor people in its midst but prefers the old-fashioned, Biblical method of direct, neighborly aid rather than largess from the government. The poor, we have been told in Holy Writ, we shall always have with us. Nothing is said there about the permanence of the WPA, although many politicians assure us that it is to be made a permanent fixture in the creeds of both major parties. There is just one serious aspect to Muenster's fine reputation, the inability of Muenster to get WPA projects because there are no workers on relief. Families that might have qualified in the emergency refused to co-operate by going on relief. Such a spirit of enterprise, courage and individual initiative is destructive of the whole concept of government relief. Think of the danger of balancing the national budget, of the awful possibility of reducing expenditures, if this spirit should spread.—State Press in Dallas News.

Thank you, State Press, Muenster likes to believe it has an economic standard worthy of nation-wide imitation, and it is most grateful for your splendid bouquet. Nevertheless, we are happy to advise, it declines the opportunity of becoming conceited with the shower of praise. Heaping compliments on this town is like pouring water on a duck's back—it runs right off. But everyone knows the duck likes it.

Even though we like it too we must admit in fairness that much of our prosperity may be regarded rather a gift of Providence than a product of local initiative. For instance there are such circumstances as substantial oil developments, and highway and overpass construction jobs. While accepting them with thanks, Muenster admits that they were "served on a silver platter." It is not entitled to special credit for them.

However, the community is justifiably proud of its several co-operative endeavors. This is the real secret behind Muenster's enviable reputation. By working together the people here have accomplished more than a few things that are paying handsome dividends in savings and earnings. Of course it is hardly necessary to add that the community in general resents current socialistic tendencies requiring them to share the fruit of their labors with less provident groups.

What do the following names suggest to the normal American citizen: Louisville, Detroit, Hollywood? In each case, quick as a flash, the answer is Kentucky Derby, automobile, movies. And what does the name Gainesville suggest to the nation? Community Circus.

Especially this year the circus has been complimented with extensive publicity. It has received comprehensive write-ups and generous picture space in national magazines. It has been mentioned over the air. It has been flashed on movie screens. All America has been given the opportunity to know about it.

In a few days the circus will receive a new tent top to replace the one destroyed by a recent tornado at Ardmore. Believe it or not, that top will cost more than $2,000. It is the largest tent top in the state. On several occasions the circus has had the opportunity to rent it out to cities for special celebrations. It furnishes men to erect the tent and charges $100 a day.

The men who have been preaching safety for the past several years must be more than a little satisfied with their achievement. Statistics show that they have got results. Experience on the road also shows a greater regard for the fundamental rules of safety. For instance, there seem to be fewer cases of passing on hills and curves.

Speed also seems to be falling back. The person who tries to maintain a steady speed of 45 miles will find that he passes cars far more often than he is passed.

Driving at 45 or under offers another important compensation—economy. A person can actually see the saving in gas and oil on his gauges. After several thousand miles he can realize what he saves on tires and maintenance. According to scientifically compiled figures it costs 2.2 cents a mile to drive 45 and 3.03 cents a mile to drive 55. For a 1000 mile trip a person can save $8.30 by spending an extra 4 hours on the road. Good wages, don't you think?

The most exasperating drivers are the ones who take corners in a wide sweeping arc. To turn left they hug the right edge of the pavement as if inviting the men behind to pass. Then at the last moment there's either a screech of tires or a crash. Some have learned that it is customary to signal for a turn so they poke out a hand just as they go into

One Out of Twenty

Next time your club meets, or you have a family reunion, list the names of 20 of those present. Let them be members of your family, relatives, close friends.

Look well upon their happy faces, for at the present rate one out of that 20 will be killed or injured in an automobile accident within the next five years.

It may be you, or your daughter, or your mother, or perhaps your sweetheart. It may be a minor injury; it may be a crippling, disfiguring casualty; it may be death. These figures are based on the law of averages, assuming that the annual total of traffic deaths and injuries reported by The Travelers Insurance Company for 1938 will not increase in any of the next five years.

Fortunately, you and your relatives and friends can evade the law of averages. You can beat it by being above the average in your walking and driving habits. If you and your group of 20 will walk and drive safely, the average injury probably will not strike in the next five years; it may not strike in the next 20 years; it may, in fact, never strike.

FACTS FAVOR
FORD

1 The 1939 Ford V-8 is a beautiful, modern motor car. Its 85-horsepower engine gives you economical, well-balanced performance over the entire speed range—and the 60-horsepower engine is even more economical.

2 The structural strength of the Ford car—frame, bracing, axles, body—makes not only for safety, but durability and long life.

3 Ford hydraulic brakes are exceptionally large and strong in proportion to car weight.

4 The Ford car is stabilized for comfortable riding. Its springbase, the distance between front and rear suspension, is 123 inches. Seats are toward the center, perfectly balanced. The car does not bob or dip and can have very little sway.

These four points—power, strength, safety, comfort—are by far the most important essentials in any motor car. They form the basic value of your investment.

With this solid foundation to build on, the Ford V-8 has been made beautiful, spacious, easy to drive. It is richly upholstered and has all the modern features which add to the luxury and pleasure of motoring.

You can see these things when you take a trial drive, but do not forget that the main value is in the things you do not readily see—quality of materials, precision of manufacture, fundamental engineering.

FRED MOSMAN, JR.
Correspondent

Vernon Hoffman of Fowler, Kansas, is here for a visit with relatives.

Miss Anna Schmitt was the guest of relatives in Sherman Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hundt and son, Billy Bob, spent Sunday in Dallas as guests of relatives.

Walter Bezner of Llano spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bezner.

Victor Phillips of Whitesboro visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Phillips, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Bassett of Dallas were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zwinggi, Saturday.

Johnnie Fuhrmann and Fred Mosman, Jr., visited with relatives and friends in Dallas Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schmitt and family motored to Sherman Tuesday to spend the day with relatives.

Miss Wally Schmitt has returned from a visit with relatives in Sherman.

Miss Gladys Hoberer has returned to Fort Worth after a week's visit here with relatives.

Roy Kupper of Dawson arrived Sunday for a few weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kupper.

Miss Gertrude Schmitz of Dallas is spending a vacation here with her parents and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Flusche of Dallas and Marcus Flusche of Denison visited here with relatives Sunday.

Mrs. Gregory Ege left Saturday for St. Joseph, Mo., in response to a message advising of the death of her mother, Mrs. Josephine Diesner.

Miss Loretta Schad returned to her home in Plainville, Minn., Monday following a several months' visit here with relatives.

Miss Olivia Mosman left Wednesday to visit in San Antonio with her sister, Mrs. W. J. Laux and family, for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Phillips, formerly of Collinsville, visited here during the week-end and left for Decatur where they will make their home.

Mrs. Albert Kubis has been moved from the Gainesville Sanitarium to her home here and is making a satisfactory recovery from a recent operation.

BE CAREFUL!

Look, and be sure the way is clear before crossing streets! With the close of schools, millions of children soon will crowd the nation's streets. Each year, hundreds of youngsters throughout the country are maimed and killed because they dash impetuously into the roads, as Dolores Weir would have done here had she not been restrained by Angeline Orr. Accidents such as this can be prevented only through clear thought and strict observation of safety rules.

Members of the Young Men's Society will meet this week to elect delegates for the Catholic State League convention at Olfen next month.

A number of Lindsay people are planning to attend the first Mass of Rev. John Duesman at Pilot Point next Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Following the close of school, Lindsay teachers, Sisters Lucia Emelia, Lenardo, Ambrose and Ollivet, left during the week for Our Lady of the Lake Convent in San Antonio to spend the summer.

Mrs. Jake Kuhn of Muenster, who has been seriously ill here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loerwald, is making a satisfactory recovery from a heart attack.

The Lindsay Elevator has been leased for this season to Kimbell Milling Company of Fort Worth. Its local agent, John F. Mosser, now offers bids on wheat, oats, barley and shelled corn. (Adv. 28)

Little Alma Louise Kubis returned Friday from a week's visit in Wichita Falls with her aunt, Miss Rita Voth, at Mary Immaculate Academy. At the school's graduation exercises last Thursday Alma Louise appeared as a page on the program.

Rev. Francis Zimmerer of Muenster and his guest, Dr. S. H. Saavo, professor of languages and music at Corpus Christi College, spent Tuesday afternoon here visiting with Father Conrad and with members of the Zimmerer and Fuhrmann families.

A large number of Lindsay people attended the annual State Reserve

Life Insurance Company's dance in the K of C Hall at Muenster Tuesday evening. Miss Elfreda Bezner and her escort won the prize for being the best dancers in an elimination contest.

Rev. A. D. Cannon of Saint Patrick's Cathedral, Corpus Christi, spent the past week-end here as the guest of the Hoelker and Laux families. He was enroute to Washington, D. C., to visit relatives, Sunday Ewald Hoelker and Albert Laux accompanied him to Dallas, where he boarded his train.

MUTUAL INSURANCE GROUP AT LINDSAY RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

Lindsay.—Members of the executive board of the local German Mutual Fire Insurance Company were returned to office for another term when the annual election of officers took place Monday evening during a meeting held in the community hall. They are Fred Mosman, president; J. P. Mosser, secretary and John Orth, treasurer.

The secretary read last year's financial statement and the group was pleased to hear that there were very few losses, those being from damage caused by storms.

STILL GOING STRONG

Recent news from Toney Burger is that he is still developing champlionship teams. Following his very enviable record at Muenster, he took over the Austin HI athletes the past school year and went to the regional finals with his basketballers then went to the state semi-finals with his baseball team. He's driving for the state title next year.

DIME MOVIES RETURN TO STATE THEATRE

Bargain days are back again at the State Theatre in Gainesville. According to a statement released by the management this week the admission charge for the Wednesday and Thursday program is 10 cents, matinee or night, child or adult.

The purpose of the decreased price is to stimulate a decreasing interest in the mid-week program. If the desired result is realized the Wednesday and Thursday bargain rate will continue indefinitely, otherwise the former price will again become effective after a few weeks.

SOUTH MUESTER OIL ACTIVITY IN A SLUMP

Oil activity in the South Muenster field is at a near standstill this week as Cary and Norbury continue drilling the only well at Voth's; the No. 1 Stanforth. After putting the Stanforth No. 3 on the pump Tuesday, Cary and Norbury skidded 20 feet from the old No. 1 hole and made a new start on the location that has been a jinx for several weeks.

Whitfield Pearson and Grimes on the adjoining lease confines its activity to the construction of a power house and a tool shed.

HERMAN HARTMAN AND DELLA FETTE UNITED IN MONDAY NUPTIAL

Solemn impressive nuptial services were held at Sacred Heart Church Monday morning at 7:30 to unite Miss Della Fette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fette, and Herman Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman. Rev. Frowin Koerdt officiated at the ceremony and at the nuptial high mass which was followed by benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Anthony Luke, organist, played the nuptial music and assisted the church choir, under the direction of Leo Henschel, in rendering the mass, "Missa Tertia."

The bride was lovely in a floor length frock of blue chiffon over blue taffeta. It was made with a moulded shirred waist, very full skirt and long sleeves fitted at the wrist. She wore a turban made of the same material and satin slippers in the same shade. An arm bouquet of Tallman roses, tied with pink tulle, completed her costume.

Miss Agnes Fette, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a frock styled in the same manner as that of the bride, with the exception of short puffed sleeves, in a shade of dusty pink. She also wore a matching turban and satin slippers of the same shade. Her arm bouquet was composed of pink and blue tinted daisies tied with blue tulle.

Leonard Hartman was best man for his brother.

Following the church services, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents to the bridal party and at noon close relatives and Rev. Fathers Frowin and Francis were guests at dinner. The bride's table was laid with white linen and appointments were of white china and crystal. The board was centered with a decorated cake, flanked by pink tapers.

The dinner preceded the couple's departure on a wedding trip, the destination of which was not revealed. For traveling Mrs. Hartman wore a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories. Upon their return they will make their home south of the city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hartman were born in Muenster and attended the parochial school. Mrs. Hartman is also a graduate of Our Lady of Victory Academy, Fort Worth, and for several years was employed as bookkeeper at the Farmers Store. Mr. Hartman holds a position with the local cheese factory.

Surprise Party

On Thursday of last week the couple was honored with a surprise party at the C. J. Fette home. The affair was given by employees of the Farmers Store and Cheese Plant.

The group spent an informal evening around a huge bon fire in the Fette yard and enjoyed refreshments served picnic style.

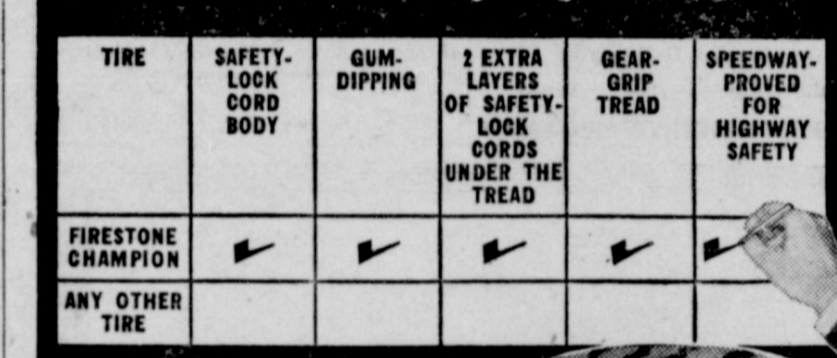

Fellow employees presented the honor couple with a portable radio and a set of 18 crystal glasses as wedding gifts.
