WORK RESUMED ON NO. 129 BY E. R. LEACH CO.

E. R. Leach Construction Company, with J. H. Strain as foreman, resumed work on the south end of Highway No. 129 Wednesday, the work being taken up where the L. A. Murdock Contracting Company, sub-contractors on this project, left off several weeks ago. Mr. Strain has a force of about 50 men at work and it is likely that the entire project will be completed within sixty working days.

About twenty days will be required to complete the rock base work on this section of Highway No. 129 and an additional forty working days will be required to lay the triple asphalt topping, it is estimated by highway department officials.

Most of those now at work for the E. R. Leach Company are former employees of the L. A. Murdock Company, who began the construction of the surfacing project on this section of the highway. Mr. Strain, foreman of the work now under way, was also foreman for Mr. Murdock.

Other projects progressing in the county are progressing rapidly according to Park Huntington, resident engineer. Work on Highway No. 7 from Brownwood to the Coleman county line is making good progress. The H. K. McCollum Construction Company has the contract on this project and J. B. Hrdlicka is superintending the work. Another fifteen working days will be required to complete the caliche base on No. 7, after which work will be begun on the rock base. When this work is begun more laborers will be needed, thus affording more work for Brownwood's unemployed men, it is stated.

Cage Construction Company, with J. O. Palmer as foreman, is making good progress on the north end of Highway No. 129. All caliche work has been completed and about 3-1/2 miles of rock base has been laid. W. C. Childs, contractor on Highway No. 10 from Brownwood to the Colorado river bridge, are off to a flying start on their project with over two miles of caliche base completed and work progressing at a rapid pace.

Approximately 185 men are now at work on the four state highway projects under way in Brownwood and the number is due to be increased during the summer, it is believed.

Work on the new warehouse for this division of the State Highway Maintenance Department is almost completed. This warehouse is located on the old Brown County Fair grounds and is near the intersection of Highways No. 10 and No. 7. The highway department here has obtained additional office space on the third floor of the courthouse and has begun moving into the new quarters. The office space turned over to the department was formerly occupied by the entomology department of the Federal Pecan Experiment Station. This department has moved into a new laboratory building on the pecan experiment farm.

Miss Mayes Malone, home demonstration agent, has received numerous telephone calls during the last week from Brown county women seeking instruction in methods of canning vegetables. For the assistance of all interested, Miss Malone has prepared an article giving detailed information which she hopes will aid the women in their work. She suggests that the women find it a great convenience if they will clip this article from the Bulletin and save it for future use as may be needed.

Miss Malone gives the following instructions in canning: Use only clean, fresh, sound fruit and vegetables for canning that are in prime condition. Two hours from the garden to the can is a good rule. In any case for the best results the material should be canned the same day it is gathered. Be sure that the containers in which the fruit and vegetables for canning are gathered and handled are clean. Grade for size and same degree of ripeness if uniform product is desired. Wash the material thoroughly until every trace of soil is gone. The most dangerous bacteria and the most difficult to kill is in soil. A wire basket is helpful in washing but should not be loaded too heavily, always lift the material out of the water rather than pour water off. In case a bushel or more of peaches or apricots are to be canned at one time they may be peeled with a knife, but this method is not justified with a smaller amount, except for a very firm peach which can not be peeled with the use of hot water. Be careful in using lye, if children are around, for it is a powerful caustic and serious accidents have happened. To peel peaches or apricots with kelly, prepare in an gateware or iron kettle, never aluminum, a solution of one-fourth pound (4 ounces or about 4 level tablespoons) of granulated lye of a standard brand in 2 gallons of water. Heat to boiling and while actively boiling immerse the peaches or apricots in wire basket, until the skin is loosened and partially dissolved. This will usually require 30 to 60 seconds. Remove the fruit, wash it at once in running water if possible, until skin and the following directions: On the screw-top jars, screw the cap down evenly until it catches hold of the rubber ring. On the screw-hand type jars, screw the lid on firmly. With the wire-clamp glass jars, screw the cap on evenly and raise the upper clamp in position to hold the lid in place, leaving the lower clamp loose until after processing. On the automatic seal jars, fasten the cap with the metal spring or clamp. Seal the tin cans which have been packed hot before placing them in the canner. When not packed boiling hot the cans should be exhausted before sealing to remove the air. Do this by placing in a pan of boiling water and leaving until mellowed. Then seal at once. The air should be removed as completely as possible from the material being canned before it is sealed in the container. In case of glass jars packed with food below the boiling temperature, exhausting is done during the processing since they are not sealed airtight when placed in the canner. In tin cans and glass jars packed boiling hot the head space is filled with steam and further exhausting is unnecessary. Heat all other tin cans in water or steam each until steaming hot in order to drive out air; then seal immediately. For Canning Berries and Apricots, Water-Bath Canner Pack in containers, fill with boiling hot syrup (medium syrup) with beans pressed, steam teaspoon salt to each quart jar, fill to top of jar with the liquid beans were cooked in. Screw jar top tight and place in water-bath canner and boil one hour after it starts to boil. Be sure the water used in canner is as high as water in jars to prevent breaking. When time is up remove test seal and place in a room free from draught. Next day place back in canner and boil one hour again, counting time after water is boiling. Repeat for the third day each time, boiling one hour. The water-bath canner may be a wash tub or bucket, use a heavy cloth or wooden rack in the bottom to keep the jars from direct contact with the heat and do not let the jars touch each other. Allow enough space for circulation. String beans Heat to boiling with water to cover. Pack hot into containers, cook glass jars 40 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, and Nos. 2 and 3 cans for 35 to 40 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Plunge into cold water when time is up to cool. Wash Chandler, about 74 or 75, the first colored child born in Brown county and probably the best colored man in this section, died at 8:15 o'clock Sunday morning, June 5, at his home on Cordell street. "Old Wash Chandler," as he was known, had many white friends as well as friends among his own race. When Welcome W. Chandler and J. H. Fowler came to Brown county from Mississippi in 1856 they brought six slaves to Texas with them. Welcome W. Chandler was one of the earliest pioneers of the county, as was Fowler, who later married one of Chandler's daughters. Wash Chandler was born in the late 50's, the first colored child born in the county, the child of a couple of the slaves brought here by Chandler. Wash was born into slavery and although his race was freed a few years later, he liked to be called a slave. He was a friend among the whites were made because he loved and respected white people. The Chandlers and Fowlers, masters of Wash Chandler, cultivated the first land that was cultivated in Brown county. They settled on what is now the Lucas farm, east of Brownwood, and put 100 acres into cultivation, having first cut to fence the tract from the natural forests of the county along Pecan Bayou. The first courthouse in the county was on Chandler's land. Welcome Chandler was the first county judge of Brown county and the first postmaster of Brownwood. Fowler later moved to Sweetwater and his descendants still live there. Wash Chandler lived in Brown county all his life, making only short trips to any other places. He was married to Salena Pratt in 1858 and to the couple fourteen children were born, six boys and eight girls. Wash is survived by one brother, John Saylor, of Brownwood, one sister, Mrs. Jane Harris of Brownwood and other relatives. Funeral services were held at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Lee's Chapel, A. M. E. Church, of which Wash was a member. Services were conducted by Rev. C. J. Jones. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Holman Funeral Home.

APPEAL CONSIDERED

Grand Jury Makes Report; Violations Pro Law Attacked

Brown county grand jury adjourned Friday afternoon after two weeks of work during which time a grand total of 22 indictments were returned, these being in addition to other work performed by the jurors. The customary report of the grand jury has been given Judge E. J. Miller and the jurors dismissed. The following report was made by the jury through J. S. Wilson, foreman: Hon. E. J. Miller, Judge, 35th District Court of Brown County, Brownwood.

"Sir: Your grand jury, empaneled for this session of court has been in session nine days on an average of about ten hours per day, have examined 143 witnesses and have returned 22 indictments against 24 individuals. We have paid special attention to violations of the liquor law in the hope of stopping the widespread sale of intoxicants. In almost every indictment returned intoxication has played some part in the crime. The best citizens of Brown county have brought to our attention the promiscuous drinking in Brownwood and various communities. The distressing feature of this situation is that drinking is so common with boys, and even girls, under age. Numerous cases have been reported to us of serious disturbances at social and school entertainments.

Officers Are Diligent "The county and city officers have been extremely diligent in their efforts to eradicate the manufacture and sale of liquor, are continually making raids on suspected places, but they encounter the same obstacle that confronted your grand jury—the difficulty of getting sufficient evidence to convict. Our deliberations convince us that the grand jury and the law enforcement officers of the county and city cannot do much to stop the sale of liquor in stamping out violations of the law unless they receive the earnest, active co-operation of the citizens of Brown county.

"The situation is particularly bad in certain sections of Brownwood. Citizens living in these sections among the best people of Brown county, own and occupy their homes, and are continually harassed by drinking and disorderly conduct. There are many cheap rent houses in Brownwood that are almost continuously used for illegal purposes. We suggest to the citizens of this county that they can help relieve an intolerable condition by making careful investigation of the character of applicants for rental of their properties. The law abiding home owners of the county are entitled to the protection of their homes and the opportunities to raise their families without the menace of disreputable neighbors.

Jail Is Inspected "We made a careful inspection of the jail and court house. There are very few prisoners in the jail. They appear to be healthy and well cared for and the building is clean and sanitary. To prevent deterioration of the building we recommend to the Commissioners' Court that the iron and woodwork of the jail be painted and the interior of the walls given a coat of calomine. This work is badly needed, and can be done now probably cheaper than ever again. Further postponement of the work will result later in heavier expense to the county. There are some missing window lights that should be replaced. "We also recommend that the interior walls of the court house be given a coat of calomine or paint and that the marble work be thoroughly cleaned. We also find that the putty around the glass in the windows has dried and fallen off and needs immediate replacement, together with a coat of paint especially on the outside of the sashes and frames. We strongly urge upon the commissioners' court that our recommendation in these respects be adopted.

All Reports Approved "We have heard before you the county auditor and carefully reviewed his report for the year 1931 on the various county funds and the respective financial statements of the county officials. We find no irregularities of any description in the accounts of the county officials. We did not have time to detail the accounts of the county commissioners, but the auditor's report shows a proper accounting of all receipts and disbursements. "The only county official who received fees in excess of the amount allowed by law during the year 1931 was the tax collector, who promptly paid the excess fees into the general fund of the county at the close of the year.

Would Publish Reports "As it is of such vast importance to the tax payers we recommend to the commissioners' court that the auditor's report be published in the daily and weekly newspapers. We believe the newspapers will co-operate to the extent that it can be done without heavy cost. "Our investigations have received the hearty co-operation of many citizens, the district and county attorneys, the sheriff and his deputies and the chief of police of Brownwood and his assistants, for which we are truly grateful and efficient, and we commend them for their services. "We also acknowledge with great appreciation the courtesies at the hands of Your Honor and the county judge. "Yours very respectfully, J. R. WILSON, Foreman.

Exchange Established With View to Saving Food on Brown County Farms By Getting Canning Done on Halves

That the vegetables on Brown county farms shall be canned for a winter food supply is of vital importance, says County Agent O. P. Griffin, and yet many of the farmers have no money with which to buy cans. Therefore, the county agent's office is starting an exchange whereby he believes the farmers and also people furnishing cans can be benefited by a plan of having canning done on the halves. Mr. Griffin explains this move as follows:

"There are many farmers who have lots of vegetables and fruit, such as string beans, lima beans, peas, corn, tomatoes, berries, peaches, etc., but they have no money to buy cans in which to preserve food for next winter's use. Unless this food is preserved some one may go hungry next winter. "Also there are people in Brownwood who would like to save on their food purchases. Now, an exchange has been started to get the food preserved on the halves. That is, the farmers will fill the cans for half of them. Anyone who wishes to have canning done can list at the county agent's office the number of cans he desires to have filled and what vegetables or fruits he desires. Farmers who wish to do canning may list the kinds of vegetables and fruits they have and the number of cans they need. The listing will be gotten together and the cans filled to order. "Home canned vegetables are recognized as being better than factory canned goods. This is because everything is canned perfectly fresh and the cans are well filled. It is hoped that Brownwood grocersmen will join in this program and help to preserve all the vegetables that would otherwise go to waste. However the proposition is open to anyone who desires to cooperate. "The production and preservation of food has already slowed up to a considerable extent on account of low prices and the uncertainty of profits. Stocks are becoming smaller month by month as production decreases. Next winter may bring real suffering, unless precautions are taken to prevent waste. A food shortage will bring high prices and our land of surpluses may find it difficult on the part of many to secure food of the kind to preserve health."

Pecan Bayou was steadily rising this afternoon as a result of heavy rains over the watershed Wednesday night. The water rose several feet during the morning and afternoon was rising at the rate of a foot an hour at Brownwood dam.

One of the heaviest rains of the season fell in Brownwood Wednesday night totaling 1.05 inches, according to the government rain gauge. The rain, accompanied at first by a hard wind, fell in torrents for several minutes, but later settled into a steady downpour. "Other streams over the country were rising today and tanks were filled to overflowing. The section is soaked by the rain Wednesday night and recent previous rains. "Gates at Brownwood dam have been open since the rise started and the water is flowing through three openings. Very little water has been backed up at the dam since the conduits are taking care of the flow. A few days ago the water on a rise at the dam when the gates were closed backed up for some distance and was standing about four feet above the Byrd road. This road will be submerged when the dam is completed and the lake fills.

Report of Rains "Other towns in the section also report heavy rains. The reports received by Southwestern States Telephone Company are: Goldthwaite, big rain; Coleman, heavy rain; Ballinger, light rain; Brady, none; Bangs, 1 1/2 inches; Abilene, big rain; Austin, light rain; Blanket, big rain; Menard, none; Comanche, heavy rain; Cisco, good rain; Dublin, heavy rain; Dallas, big rain; Fort Worth, heavy rain; Lampasas, big rain; San Angelo, none; Santa Anna, good rain; Waco, heavy rain; Richland Springs, sprinkle; Zephyr, big rain; Mullin, big rain; May, heavy rain; Rising Star, heavy rain, and Trichman, 1/2 inch.

Wednesday was the hottest day of the summer here, according to weather reports. The maximum temperature was 98 degrees on the government thermometer. In the business section, however, some thermometers registered through three degrees over 100. The 98 degrees is two or three degrees higher than any other reading for this summer.

Hollywood Business Man Intended Victim Of Kidnaping Gang

HOLLYWOOD, June 9.—Apparently authentic reports today said eastern gangsters had successfully kidnapped two other business men, valued $125,000 ransom and marked Roy G. Currier as their next victim, with $100,000 ransom their goal. Police revealed guards were assigned to Currier last Saturday, and that the wealthy Hollywood business man had been under watch night and day. Three gangsters whose names were given police as having perpetrated the two kidnapings were the object of an intensive search.

Former Examiner Under Charges Of Falsifying Books GALVESTON, Texas, June 9.—W. B. Sellers, Dallas, former federal bank examiner and now a Reconstruction Finance Corporation official, is under a federal grand jury indictment today for unlawfully making false entries in bank records and in a report to the comptroller of currency. The indictment alleges that in 1929 when Sellers was a vice president and director of the First National Bank at Brownsville, he made false entries in bank books and comptroller's reports.

Roosevelt Favors State Control For Liquor Question

ALBANY, N. Y., June 9.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt believes the most important need in the prohibition controversy is one of action. He stands for a new constitutional amendment to eliminate the 18th amendment and return the control of alcoholics back to the states. "When pressed for a statement of his attitude on prohibition, he referred inquiries to his letter in 1930 to Senator Robert F. Wagner in which he advocated superseding the 18th amendment with a new amendment for state control. He said his view on prohibition had not changed since.

Texas Schools Will Get $1,500,000 On June 16th, Is Said

AUSTIN, June 9.—Over $1,500,000 will be paid to Texas public schools June 16, State School Superintendent C. N. Shaver announced here today. "The payment will reduce the balance of the $17.50 per pupil appropriation for the fiscal year ending August 31, to $5.50. Huggins, chairman of the state democratic committee, today saying that his application for a place on the ballot as a candidate was received in time.

Tom Blanton Says Wets Control House

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Rep. Blanton, Dem., Texas, prominent House prohibitionist, today said in a speech he was convinced "the wets almost control congress." "The Texan made this statement when asked by Rep. Keller, Dem., N. Y., for an opinion of recent prohibition developments, including the Florida and North Carolina primaries where anti-prohibitionists gained victories.

COMMISSION SUED

AUSTIN, June 9.—A suit for $184,325 damages against the state and the Texas Highway Commission was on file here today in a Travis county district court. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hale of Preestone county, plaintiffs, allege that in the construction of highway 43 a creek was obstructed causing water to flood a 1400 acre tract adjacent to the highway.
