This column has been accused of gross inconsistency. As the report is received here, some people are wondering "how can that guy fuss about socialism in our national government and favor it at home?" The reference, of course, is to this column's support of the proposed hospital district.

A statement like that deserves an answer. Folks who are confused by the column's stand are entitled to an explanation. And the column has an equal right to clarify its position.

By way of explaining, the best start, probably, is to point out that socialism is a word of very extensive application. It applies to some conditions that we live with daily but never regard as socialist. It applies to other conditions that most of us regard as the extreme of socialism.

All of us are socialistic to a degree, probably none to the extreme degree. Furthermore, it's obvious that the degree is not the same in all of us, also that each of us is inclined to draw the line at his own personal limit of approval. Anything beyond that he calls socialist.

A few illustrations should help clear up the point. Old timers here can recall when they had cooperative neighborhood agreements to maintain roads. Later the county took on the responsibility and paid for it out of county tax funds. That was a simple and basic form of socialism. And it became more socialistic as roads were improved and costs increased accordingly.

The same applies to our local school system. We had a little socialism in pioneer days, when only the fundamentals were provided by tax. At that time families took care of their own transportation and sent their children elsewhere for high school study. Since then we have buses, high school courses, special courses and better buildings.

All of that was socialism—improvements adopted as community responsibilities and paid for by tax. Just a few years ago we went a step farther and established a county junior college. Another step in socialism. And present youngsters may see the day when a complete college course will be provided by tax.

Those things are marks of our changing times. All are cases in which essential services have been taken on as community responsibilities.

Meanwhile in many other places another service has been undertaken as a community responsibility. The successful operation of hospitals is guaranteed by tax funds. That is standard procedure in most large cities of the nation, the expense being a part of the city budget. In many rural areas the same is accomplished by creating hospital districts.

No one can deny that this procedure is socialistic. Like the maintenance of roads, streets, highways, schools, police systems, the courts, and many other elements of modern civilization, it is a matter of providing essential services and facilities as a community responsibility.

The important factor in this case is not whether the proposal is socialistic, but whether it happens to be one of the socialistic ventures that people are willing to adopt. Is it, like the services mentioned above, a vital part of community life that should be

Dr. Hellman Aids Promotion of New Medical Complex

A complete medical complex, the result of a three year dream of Dr. W. L. "Monte" Hellman and three associate anesthesiologists was formally opened in Dallas one block from Methodist Hospital on Sunday, Feb. 7.

The professional center, with more than 18,000 square feet of space, has 18 suites for medical doctors and dentists along with X-Ray and laboratory facilities and a pharmacy.

The building has been named Colorado Boulevard Professional Center and is owned by Coloco Associates. The site was selected because "Methodist Hospital was the only major hospital in Dallas without a medical center located within proximity."

Two SH Students Have Paintings at U of D Art Exhibit

Barbara Schmitt and Danny Yosten, two of Sister Roberta's art students at Sacred Heart High School, have paintings on display this week in the Sixth Annual Dallas-Fort Worth Competitive High School Art Exhibition at the University of Dallas.

The show, which opened last Sunday and continues through Friday, consists of 72 paintings selected from more than 200 submitted by art classes in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Twenty two schools are represented.

Barbara's entry is a crayon etching entitled "Treehouse". Danny's is a pastel painting entitled "Frightened Deer." This is the second year Sacred Heart High has been represented at the art show. Virginia Taylor had an entry last year.

Sister Roberta and several of the art students went to the University of Dallas Thursday to see the exhibit.

Two students of the SH art class are currently attending classes at Gainesville Art Center on scholarships given by Paul Homer through Fred Getchel, art teacher of Cooke County Junior College. Barbara Schmitt studies oil painting and Mary Knabe studies sculpture.

Muenster NCCW Is Host for Deacony Quarterly Meeting

Muenster NCCW members were hostesses for the Sherman Deacony National Council of Catholic Women for the quarterly meeting Thursday in the KC Hall following Benediction in Sacred Heart Church at 1:30 p.m.

Election of deacony officers was the principal business conducted by Mrs. T. L. Anderson of Gainesville, retiring president. Heading the organization as new president is Mrs. Jack Barton of Denton.

Father John Duesman of Sherman opened with prayer and introduced clergy present: Father Harry Fisher of Gainesville, Father John Walbe of Lindsay, Father James Gillespie of Pilot Point and Fathers Bruno Fuhrmann and Andrew Wewer of Muenster.

Parish reports for the quarter, usually read, were handed in on account of length of the meeting. Mrs. Frank Herr, local president, prepared Muenster's report.

Mrs. Anderson gave a brief account of the National Convention she attended in Washington, D.C., in November. "The Vatican Council and You" was the four-day program theme. She also read the proclamation on National Catholic Book Week Feb. 21-27.

Mrs. J. A. Rolfe of Sherman, Social and Charitable Welfare committee chairman, called attention to the penitential season of Lent and urged members to help feed the hungry of the world as a Lenten project. Every contribution to a worth-while agency helps.

Mrs. Frank Neu of Valley View, Home and School chairman spoke on vocations and Mrs. Evelyn Yeatts, Cooke County assistant home demonstration agent and 4-H leader, spoke of 4-H Club work. She was introduced by Mrs. Will Bierschenk of Valley View, deanery Rural Life chairman. Mrs. Paul Fisher gave the Library and Literary report for Mrs. Steve Moster who was unable to attend.

Projects Shaping For Science Fair At Public School

At Muenster Public School this week pupils of all grades are putting finishing touches on projects they will display next week at the annual science fair.

The event will be held as a part of Public School Week observance, the entries to be judged after school next Thursday and to be exhibited during the open house Thursday night. Awards locally will be given for first, second and third places in each class, and first and second place winners will be eligible for entry in the Cooke County Junior College Science Fair the following week.

Classifications are each of the grades through the ninth and four divisions—girls' biology, girls' physical science, boys' biology and boys' physical science—in high school. The same classification will be observed in the judging at CCJC.

A science fair is also in the making at Sacred Heart School, but not in time for a preliminary to the county science fair. It's purpose is to stimulate interest and also to give experience which can be useful if the school enters regular science fair competition next year.

The Sacred Heart science show is scheduled for the latter part of April, probably April 23-25.

Hospital Library Starts with Gift From Auxiliary

A gift from Muenster Hospital Auxiliary is starting a medical library at Muenster Memorial Hospital. The organization, at its February meeting Thursday, presented a check for $200 from treasury funds for this purpose. The money will secure basic books to replace the doctors' personal books. Other books will be added as funds permit.

In other business conducted by Mrs. Ervin Hamric, president, the membership learned that the recent chili supper cleared $112.

Members decided there will be no more benefits until June. The Lenten season and closing of school activities will permit almost no time for an Auxiliary sponsored event. In the meantime members are planning for a combined bake sale, rummage sale and white elephant sale.

Mrs. Richard Grewing and Mrs. Walter Grewing, refreshment hostesses, served 19 members. Mrs. James Mollenkopf drew the door prize, a piece of Corningware contributed by Community Lumber Co.

Winter's Worst Arrives Tuesday

This winter's roughest weather so far moved in Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock with freezing rain followed by sleet and a plunge of temperature.

Classes at both schools were dismissed early as school authorities saw that buses were likely to have trouble. The freezing rain stopped after a short time and during the next few hours sleet reached a depth of more than an inch. Moisture measure of the combined rain and sleet was .49 inch.

By Wednesday morning temperatures dropped to 10. Roads and streets were glazed. Classes at the schools were cancelled for the first time this year. Warming weather cleared away most of the sleet Wednesday, and children were in school Thursday.

Muenster Retains Maximum Credit On Fire Insurance

Good news for property owners of Muenster is a report from the state fire insurance commission that the city continues the maximum credit of 25 per cent for its good fire record.

This means that local people continue to get the benefit of a substantial reduction on their insurance premiums because of the low ratio of fire losses to premiums paid during the past years. It means that the amount of a person's fire insurance premiums, estimated on the city's key rate, can be discounted 25 per cent.

Muenster has not always been so fortunate. Several years ago, after heavy losses, the city's record was rated as poor and insurance premiums were penalized the maximum of 15 per cent. Continued good records after that gradually changed the record from maximum penalty to maximum credit.

Promptness and efficiency of the fire department is due much of the credit for the savings. No serious losses were recorded here for the year, even though firemen answered many calls, especially for grass fires which threatened near by buildings.

A favorable key rate of 35 cents also reduces local premiums substantially. It is a result principally of precautions taken by the city to guard against fire and fight it efficiently. Some of the factors which govern the key rate are non-combustible roofs, adequate fire fighting equipment, plentiful water supply with adequate pressure.

LBJ, THE PRESS & THE PUBLIC
 President Johnson's dislike for the press and his contempt for the public are problems of grave concern to both the Fourth Estate and the people who have a right to know what the man in the White House is thinking and planning.
 LBJ's treatment of the reporters assigned to the White

House is nothing short of abominable. He has brushed aside the Democratic concept that the public has a right to know and that the press is the proper transmission belt.
 LBJ has constantly avoided the televised press conferences, and for two reasons: (1) He doesn't sparkle on television, and (2) Reporters fire questions he is averse to answering; not necessarily for security reasons, but because he simply does not know the real answers, or knowing them, is afraid they may show up his jerry-built "Great Society," or reveal a policy of appeasement of the Communist.

A recent example of the President's contempt for press and public came on Feb. 4 when he gave 45 minutes notice of a conference in the theater of the White House, where seating facilities for 30 or 40 were jammed by 150 newspaper men, radio-TV reporters and their cameras.
 Mr. Johnson then further discomfited the newsmen through the discourtesy of being 20 minutes late. There was no apology for the delay, but there was caustic criticism of the Fourth Estate for its speculation and criticism of the President for not sending the Vice-President to represent the US at the Churchill funeral.

This problem has more serious implications than the President's personal dislike of an alert press, and vice versa. Its significance is whether the American public is to have accurate and factual news coverage of the nation's Chief Executive, or depend on the whims of a thin-skinned man, far too sensitive to press and other criticism, to permit accurate reporting of facts.
 We must have direct and accurate reports on Administration policies that bear directly on the American pocketbook or the American family whose son may be drafted to fight in a face-saving retreat or a real war in far-off Southeast Asia.
 And if we don't, we can look forward to one-man government - dictatorship, it is called.

HIGHWAY RECORD
 Before the end of 1965, Texas will have 1,623 miles of super roads. Total interstate highway system designated for Texas is 3,025 miles.

EXPENSIVE? YES! PANACEA? NO!

BUT THE CONTENTS COULD BE DISAPPOINTING.

It is generally conceded that a measure providing health services for the over-65 age group will be passed by Congress this session. The question is what form it will take.

The main attention has been given to the medicare scheme for attaching a health program to social security. But, as many an observer has pointed out, this presents serious problems and dangers. It could very well undermine the solvency of the social security system. The cost would very probably be much higher than the optimist estimates. At best, a substantial increase in the social security tax would be required. The benefits are far more limited and far fewer than most people realize. There is no provision for restricting the plan to those actually in need. Finally, there is a well-grounded fear that medicare would open the door to a gradual expansion of socialized medicine and to the inevitable decline in standards that would result.

Now the American Medical Association offers an alternative plan which is certainly deserving of the most careful consideration. The substance of it lies in a broadening of the provisions of the existing Kerr-Mills Law which provides liberal medical benefits to the needy aged under a federal-state system, with the administrative authority placed within the states where it belongs. Under the AMA proposal, over-65 citizens would buy one or another of the voluntary health insurance policies which are available. Each would pay only that part of the cost which his income warrants, with state and federal funds making up the difference. If his income was below a certain level, to be established by law, he would pay nothing. Eligibility provisions would be administered by the state health department instead of the welfare agencies.

Here is a plan that promises to efficiently meet the need—and at the same time avoid the objections to medicare. The AMA's solution looks like the right one.

California, heretofore the leader, has a designated interstate system of 2,173 miles. Interstate construction in Texas cost $610,000 a mile, compared with about $1,000,000 nationwide.

What must be a unique survey was recently conducted by Lloyd's Bank of London. It had to do with the use that was made of 100,000 paper clips. It revealed: 14,163 twisted or broken during phone calls; 17,200 used to make temporary clothing repairs; 5,434 as toothpicks, 5,308 to groom fingernails; 3,196 as pipe cleaners; 19,143 as chips in card games; thousands dropped on the floor and swept away. Only 20,000 were used to clip papers together.

David Lawrence writes in U.S. News & World Report: "The United Nations is no longer an effective international instrument and never will be as long as its principal members are unwilling to speak frankly about the paralysis of the organization and act courageously in pressing for solutions. There is no reason why the United States should bear the burden of maintaining peace all over the world... What is needed is leadership among the free nations, which must organize themselves into a broad alliance that will be effective not merely on diplomatic but on economic and military lines. There is enough power in the free world to bring about peace without the needless sacrifice of human lives."

Sister Mildred Is Feast Day Honoree

Surprises were for Sister Mildred, Muenster Hospital administrator, on her feast day Saturday.

Relatives got her away from the hospital in the afternoon so a birthday meal could be prepared. When she was called back at 6 p.m. she was greeted with a happy feast day song by 16 nuns. And they were all together for a pizza pie supper.

Sister Romaine of the hospital planned the surprise and invited the local Benedictine Sisters. Hospital cooks had baked a cake for Sister Mildred at noon.

Birthday Surprise Honors J. B. Wilde

Birthday surprises greeted J. B. Wilde at his home Friday night when his children and grandchildren arrived with gifts and had a party to celebrate his seventieth.

The James and Rufus Bezners of Lindsay and the Ray Wildes helped eat birthday cake and other refreshments and played 42. Mrs. J. B. Wilde baked a cake for her husband and Mrs. Rufus Bezner baked one for her dad.

Dorothy Fleitman And Clyde Fleeman Say Vows Saturday

Miss Dorothy Fleitman became the bride of PFC Clyde Fleeman of Fort Polk, La., in a 4 p.m. nuptial service in Sacred Heart Church Saturday, Feb. 20. Father Alcuin Kubis read the double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was provided by Anthony Luke, organist, and Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, vocal soloist who sang "On This Day" before the ceremony and "Mother at Your Feet" afterward when the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fleitman of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. General Fleeman of Hinckley, Ohio.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and satin. The lace bodice, tightly fitted, had long sleeves. The satin skirt with slim front had pleats in the back for fullness held at center back with self fabric roses. Her shoulder veil fell in tiers from a tiara of bridal jewels and she carried white carnations on her prayer book.

Maid of honor was Miss Linda Koerner of Pilot Point, bride's cousin, wearing a street length dress of light pink brocaded satin with belled skirt and elbow length sleeves. Her veiled pillbox hat matched her dress and her flowers were a colonial arrangement of dark pink carnations.

PFC James Fleitman, brother of the bride, of Fort Polk, La., was best man. Cousins Gus Fleitman and John Dave Fleitman ushered.

Red Angus From Medders Ranch Are Stock Show Champs

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Medders and daughters and Colonial Acres Farm personnel returned Sunday night from the Fat Stock Show in San Antonio where they literally "took the show" with their Red Angus entries.

They exhibited the grand champion of the show and the reserve grand champion, senior yearling cows.

The herd's honors in the show go like this: first place senior heifer, first place junior heifer, first place senior yearling, first place brood cow, second place brood cow, second place senior yearling, third place junior yearling and the show's champion and reserve champion.

The farm's herd bull, W. B. Commanche, was the grand champion in the San Antonio show last year and according to the rules could not enter the competition this year.

Attending the week-long show were the Red Angus owners, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Medders, their daughters Sara and Mary Margaret, C. S. Martin, Farm Manager Bill Oliver, Herdsman Alex Sakellaridis and his helper Leon Hess.

Also in the party was the girls' private teacher, Mrs. West of Gainesville, keeping them up with their studies and assignments at Sacred Heart School between shows, rodeos and sight-seeing.

et were in the Parish Hall, Mrs. Joe Lehnertz catering, and Misses Christine and Pauline Fleitman, cousins of the bride registering guests. About 100 relatives and friends attended.

For traveling the bride wore a green orlon suit with black patent accessories. She attended Sacred Heart School. PFC Fleeman attended Highland School in Ohio and has been in the army since Jan. 20, 1964. He trained at Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Leonard Wood Mo., before being assigned to Fort Polk.

The wedding trip is taking the couple to Hinckley, Ohio, to get Mrs. Fleeman acquainted with her husband's people, then on to De Ridder, La., where they will be at home while he is stationed at Fort Polk.

Out Of Town Guests
Among guests at the wedding were the bride's grandmother Mrs. Ben Bengfort of Lindsay, her uncle Hugo Bengfort, also of Lindsay, an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank of Canyon and Mr. and Mrs. William Koerner and family of Pilot Point.

The prof returned to class with the exam papers and requested that all students sit down. "If you stood up it is conceivable that you might form a circle—in which case I might be arrested for maintaining a dope ring."

"What is your problem?" Andy asked his friend. "Well, of course, I've got lots of them," Ronnie answered. "But the thing that really gets me down is that I always have too much month left over after the end of my money."
