THIS IS IT!

It has now started officially — the campaign for President of the United States. The game is between Johnson and Goldwater. And for the first time in decades the lines between the two candidates are drawn so sharply that everyone will be able to understand them.

Johnson is a Liberal; Goldwater is a Conservative. Johnson believes in bigger government spending; Goldwater believes in smaller government spending. Johnson wants more federal control in local affairs; Goldwater wants less control in local affairs. Johnson's ideas mean ever expanding Government; Goldwater's means some cut-back in Government. Johnson advocates a softer approach to Russia; Goldwater advocates firmer approach to Russia.

Now, the big question is this: Which approach to Government do most of the people want? How about you? Do you know what you want? You have from now until November to decide which direction you think the government should go.

Don't be side-tracked and pushed off these basic issues by all the whoop-de-do and shouting that is part of a political campaign. Just remember that underlying everything that is said by everyone are these firm bed-rock ideas. Enjoy the color and razzle-dazzle of the campaign, but don't forget the true differences that really count. And only you can decide which ideas you think are important.

BOBBY BAKER CASE, A CAMPAIGN ISSUE

There is little doubt but what Republicans will use the Bobby Baker case as a campaign issue. And well they should. Last week after nine months of picking at the affairs of Baker with obvious lack of enthusiasm the Democratic majority of the Senate Rules Committee brought forth its final report.

The report should be labeled "Democratic Whitewash." It says about as little as six Democrats dared say. Their purpose has been to hear no evil and see no evil since it became clear that a thorough investigation might stain the reputations of a good many Senators and even the President himself. Thus the report makes a few self-righteous references to Baker's "gross impropriety" but then tries to close the door on any further investigation by saying that there are no justifiable grounds for Senate action against Baker.

The three Republicans on the committee in a minority report repeated their charges of whitewash. They even listed a number of witnesses who could have provided important information but whom the majority refused to call. They suggested a number of areas for committee exploration to no avail.

We feel the Bobby Baker investigation was one of the shabbiest performances of the U. S. Senate in the history of our country. Senator Williams, Delaware Republican, who sparked the investigation last fall did more on his own than the committee with all its funds, power, and authority. Senator Williams has indicated that he has additional information on the matter and he once said that if the committee failed to do its duty he would make it public. Senator Williams now should feel free to proceed.

FREEDOM GAINING

The Liberty Amendment continues to make progress across the nation. Mississippi has become the seventh state to adopt a resolution petitioning Congress to submit this to the people for decision, and in case you have forgotten what this Amendment proposes, here it is once again:

"Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Section 2. The Constitution or the laws of any State, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this Amendment.

"Section 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purposes of this Amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of the ratification of this Amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities afected shall be sold.

"Section 4. Three years after ratification of this Amendment, the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed, and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates and/or gifts."

REDS GET TOLD

At long last a spokesman for the United States has rared back in the General Assembly of the United Nations and brought the Soviet members up to date on some modern history that Western nations have been allowing them to turn inside-out without rebuke.

Fed up with the incessant Soviet references to American imperialism, Sidney R. Yates told the Assembly in a debate on colonialism that the USSR is "the last survivor of the great imperial powers" and that while other countries have been liberating their colonies the Soviet has acquired a domain as vast as that of the British Empire in the days of Queen Victoria.

"Can the Soviet Union point to one single area it has given up?" Answering his rhetorical question, Mr. Yates snapped, "It cannot!"

The Russians and Communist bloc nations, he charged, were evading the real question of how to put an end to colonialism and befogging the issue instead with cold war propaganda.

It's a pleasure to hear that one of our boys laid it on the line and we hope that his plain talk stiffened the rest of the Western spines that are sadly out-numbered in the East River KaffeeKlatch and Snickers Society.

But we'd still like to know when the Russians are going to pay their dues.

LESSON IN SOCIALISM

The following article was published in a recent edition of a publication of the Minnesota Education Association. It graphically illustrates a point and bears repeating:

"As a teacher in the public schools, I find that the socialist-communist idea of taking 'from each according to his ability and giving to each according to his need' is now generally accepted without question by most of our pupils. In an effort to explain the fallacy in this theory, I sometimes try this approach with my pupils:

"When one of the brighter or harder-working pupils makes a grade of 95 on a test, I suggest that I take away 20 points and give them to a student who has made only 55 points on his test. Thus each would contribute according to his ability and — since both would have a passing mark — each would receive according to his need. After I have juggled the grades of all the other pupils in this fashion, the result is usually a 'common ownership' grade between 75 and 80 — the minimum needed for passing, or for survival. Then I speculate with the pupils as to the probable results if I actually used the socialistic theory for grading papers.

"First, the highly productive pupils — and they are always a minority in school as well as in life — would soon lose all incentive for producing. Why strive to make a high grade if part of it is taken from you by 'authority' and given to someone else?

"Second, the less productive pupils — a majority in school as elsewhere — would, for a time, be relieved of the necessity to study or to produce. This socialist-communist system would continue until the high producers had sunk — or had been driven down — to the level of the low producers. At that point, in order for anyone to survive, the 'authority' would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers. They, of course, would then complain bitterly, but without understanding.

"Finally I return the discussion to the ideas of freedom and enterprise — the market economy — where each person has freedom of choice, and is responsible for his own decisions and welfare.

"Gratifyingly enough, most of my pupils then understand what I mean when I explain that socialism — even in a democracy — will eventually result in a living death for all except the 'authorities' and a few of their favorite lackeys." — Thief River Falls, Minn., Times

The dairyman, after 42 years in the business, retired with a fortune. When asked the secret of his success, he replied: "I attribute my ability to retire with a $500,000 bank balance, after 42 years in the dairy business, to working long hours, keeping accurate records, improving feeding and breeding practices annually and to the recent death of my uncle who left me $525,000.

If Patrick Henry thought that taxation without representation was so terrible, he should see it with all this modern day representation.

According to the executive secretary of the North Dakota Blue Cross programs, people past 65 do not create a problem for hospital credit departments, as severe as some politicians would lead us to believe. As an example, he said that it is nowhere near as difficult as collecting for maternity cases of mothers under the age of 25.

Cooke County Kin At Dallas Wedding Of Patricia Devers

A group of Cooke Countians went to Dallas to attend the wedding of Miss Patricia Frances Devers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Devers and Frank J. Horak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horack Sr., all of Dallas.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fuhrmann of Lindsay who attended the 10 a.m. nuptial mass in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church on August 1.

Father Edward Devers of Sherman, uncle of the bride, officiated and other clergy present were Father Vincent Orth, bride's grand-uncle of Subiaco, Ark., and Very Rev. Msgr. Fred J. Mosman of Dallas, her cousin.

Acolytes were Paul Devers Jr., brother of the bride, Roy Lee Fuhrmann of Lindsay and Earl Koelzer Jr. of Muenster, bride's cousins.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chiffon taffeta with Chantilly lace and pearl appliques. The A-line skirt featured a detachable train. A princess crown held her veil and she carried an orchid surrounded by yellow roses.

Miss Barbara Devers, bride's sister, was maid of honor, and Misses Karon Rose Loerwald of Lindsay, a cousin, and Janet Tynan of Fort Worth were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length dresses in rainbow colors of pink, green and yellow and carried matching nosegays of feathered carnations.

Robert Horak, Dallas, was his brother's best man and Jim Partridge, Dallas, and Paul Roundtree, Bonham, were groomsmen. Kevin Devers, another brother, was ringbearer. Kenneth Zimmerman of Lindsay and David Haynes of Dallas ushered.

Reception for some 125 guests was in the Parish Hall. After their honeymoon the couple will live in Irving.

An hour of farm work now produces twice as much yield as in 1950, and three times as much as in 1940, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Obviously, this results in lower food costs, the Department points out. American consumers today spend less than 19 per cent of their take-home pay for food; 15 years ago they spent 26 per cent.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Sandmann of Valley View and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Neu of Lindsay.

The bride was presented for marriage by her father. She chose a wedding gown of white Chantilly bowknot lace over taffeta. The moulded bodice had a Sabrina neckline ornamented with sequins and pearls and featured long petal point sleeves. The wide skirt flowed into a chapel train. A sweetheart crown of Starched Chantilly bowknot lace encrusted with sequins and pearls held her fingertip length veil and she carried a purple-throated white orchid and feathered carnations on top of her prayer book, a gift from the groom. For something old and borrowed she wore an heirloom necklace worn by her mother and grandmother.

Bride's attendants were Miss Sue Strategier of Norman, Okla., a cousin, wearing blue and Miss Margie Neu, sister of the groom wearing pink. Their floor-length gowns were of nylon organza over taffeta. Their veiled hats matched their dresses and they carried carnations in matching shades.

Family Vacation Takes Lawsons to Two Resort Areas

A camper trailer went along with the Leo Lawsons and children Margaret Ann and Jimmy on their vacation this year and made "roughing it" a joy. They spent a week at Roaring Pine Resort, Camp No. 2, in Missouri, fishing, swimming, golfing, and tandem bike riding. Fishing in Crystal Springs, they all had good luck. Margaret Ann was the champion, landing a near two-pounder.

They spent one day at Eureka Springs, Ark., found "The Little Switzerland of the Ozarks" fascinating with its 63 springs in the city and lovely St. Elizabeth's Church with its entry in the bell tower.

After that a week at Athens, Ark., relaxing at Shady Lake Park. And enroute home a visit with Longview friends, the A. V. Smiths and the Joe Keevils, as their houseguests. They rolled back into Muenster Friday evening.

The Saturday night before they left on Sunday morning the Lawsons entertained at their home with a barbecued hamburger supper for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kleiss and children Barry, Judy, Pam and Kathleen of Tuscola, Ill., who were vacationing in Gainesville with the Oscar Millers.

Strange Parallel Shown in Lives of Lincoln, Kennedy

The fantastic parallel in the lives of two assassinated presidents — Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy — is shown in the following strange facts:

Both were concerned with the issue of civil rights . . . Lincoln was elected in 1860, Kennedy was elected in 1960 . . . Both were slain on Friday and in the presence of their wives . . . Their successors — both named Johnson — were Southerners, Democrats and had previously served in the U. S. Senate. . . Andrew Johnson was born in 1808 . . . Lyndon B. Johnson was born in 1908. . . John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839 — Lee Harvey Oswald was born in 1939. . . Both Booth and Oswald were Southerners favoring unpopular ideas. . . Both President's wives lost children through death while residing in the White House. . . And finally, Lincoln's secretary, whose name was Kennedy, advised him not to go to the theatre — And President Kennedy's secretary, whose name was Lincoln, advised him not to go to Dallas.

Governor Reveals Plans to Advance Higher Education

A costly plan for "catching up" with other states in the field of higher education has been outlined to Texans by the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

It will take considerable money to accomplish just one of the major tests of excellence in education — bringing Texas faculty salaries up to the national average. More is needed for libraries and research facilities.

To help achieve goals in those three fields, the committee recommended that further college construction be delayed. By using present classrooms and laboratories more hours a day and more days a year, this saving can be accomplished, the committee felt.

Gov. John Connally conceded that it will take new taxes to finance the program which he has termed his No. 1 interest. Neither he nor the committee recommended a financing plan. Committee did say the Legislature should double college tuition, so students and their parents would share more of the cost of education.

Plan calls for expansion of the junior college system, and wide use of vocational training to prepare students for skilled and semi-skilled technical jobs in industry.

Coordination, to eliminate duplication between state colleges, would be placed in the hands of an 18-member board appointed by the governor. Board would take over duties of the present junior college division of the Texas Education Agency and the Commission on Higher Education. This would put junior and senior college and university supervision in a single group. Goal would be to make junior college training available to all, and to raise its level of excellence so all junior college credits would be immediately transferable to senior colleges.

Arkansas is the leading diamond-producing state in the nation.

SLEEPING MACHINE

The French have invented a device which uses a rhythmic yoga technique to induce natural sleep. The work of Robert Lasserre, a writer, the mechanism consists of a small TV-like set called a somnidor. It is placed on a table seven feet from the subject. Switched on, it generates a cold, pale blue light on the screen. The light expands and contracts while the patient adjusts his breathing to the light rhythm. Six or seven breaths, and the subject slows down. Ten more and he's fast asleep. Lasserre plans to market the Somnidor in America later this year.

Tetanus is Deadly But Preventable

Tetanus is one of the most dangerous diseases that can strike a human being. No antibiotic or other drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 per cent of those afflicted by the disease die. Yet by means of immunization, tetanus is almost completely preventable. The seeds, or spores, of tetanus can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals, and introduced into the victim's body by something as seemingly inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or insect bite. Once they enter the body, these spores "hatch" into tiny, microscopic bacteria, which begin to multiply. In the process, they liberate one of the deadliest of all poisons which attacks the nerve centers causing convulsions and muscle spasms — some so severe that victims have been known to fracture a vertebra. Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name — lockjaw.

In a clean, free-bleeding cut any tetanus spores which might contaminate the wound are usually washed out. Or if they do sprout into bacteria, the micro-organisms may be destroyed by oxygen in the blood. But when blood flow is slight, is in deep puncture or crushing wounds, or when the spores are insulated by imbedded dirt and debris, the tetanus bacteria may gain a deadly foothold within the body. This is because tetanus bacteria thrive in the absence of air. While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been inoculated against tetanus, the fact remains that about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The reason is that the protection offered by immunization wears off after several years, and must be re-established by "booster" shots, which most people fail to get.

Protection should start early — one and a half to two months after birth — for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities. In children as well as adults, immunity is initiated by a series of three shots, spaced out over eight weeks, and followed by a booster dose within six to twelve months. Thereafter, immunity is maintained by booster shots every five years.

With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spores of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make the effort to get immunized and keep immunized.

Rainwater as it falls is seldom pure, being contaminated by dust and dissolved gases. There are three types of people: those that make things happen; those who watch things happen; and the vast majority who have no idea what happens.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Recent information from the Experiment Station at Renner, Texas, shows a steady increase in both production and income over the last several years.

All information relating to the success is made known to the public. The success includes a cropping system of cash crops and the returning of all residues back to the soil.

Good crops which result in more production and income are not grown on poor land. Yet, it costs the farmer as much to plow and plant a field which produces 20 bushels of oats as one which produces 80 bushels.

What makes soil productive? First of all, it takes plenty of humus or decayed organic matter. Before it decayed this organic matter formed a protective cover against raindrop splash, blowing wind and the hot drying sun. When the organic matter decays and becomes humus it makes the soil spongy and it will hold seven times as much water as soil with little or no organic matter.

This can be determined by simply walking or digging in an old fence row. Very seldom do drought conditions exist there and the soil is full of untold thousands of tiny creatures in sizes ranging from bacteria to earth worms. As the amount of organic matter decreases so does the number of small creatures which depend on this organic matter as a food supply.

Another factor for productive soil is fertilizer. When fertilizer is combined with a good supply of humus it produces a good healthy crop. Where soil is low in humus or organic matter the addition of fertilizer is not recommended. Organic matter is worth three to ten dollars per acre. It's smart to put this money in the bank by returning all crop residues to the soil.

Further information may be obtained from the local Soil Conservation personnel.

terscheid and Aloysia Kleiss. Dickie Cain has emergency operation for appendicitis. Mr. and Mrs. Marty Klement announce arrival of Karl.

Football practice begins Monday at Sacred Heart School. Opening date for dress factory is advanced to mid-September. Joseph Mosser, 73, formerly of Lindsay dies in Durant, Okla. School starts at Lindsay on Aug. 31. LaVerna Hess and Angelo Nasche marry. The Arnold Rohmers and family have returned from a trip to Arkansas. Mrs. Frank Swan Jr. and children of California are visiting in Cooke County. Muenster swim pool shows $80 profit in July. Local Firemen will sponsor Labor Day picnic as a benefit. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmdikofer return from 6-state 2300 mile trip.

The 2 oldest DeFrance boys, Billy Frank and John Henry were the Hoenigs' house guests for the week. Another guest all week was Judy Shrodes of Dallas.

Mr. DeFrance, Billy Frank and John Henry returned home Friday, Mrs. DeFrance and the rest of the family remaining through this week at Lindsay. They'll be accompanied home by her mother for a vacation visit.

Other guests over the weekend at the Hoenig home were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Shrodes and son Glenn of Dallas who also visited her mother at Lindsay. Judy Shrodes went back to Dallas with her family taking Wilma Hoenig along to spend this week there.

In 3 Directions Go Members of One Family on Vacation

In three directions go members of the Ernest Medders family this week on vacations, one group taking house guests with them.

First to get off from Muenster was Frank Medders. He left Sunday joining friends from Dallas at Lake Texoma this week at a Boy Scout camp. Jimmy DeLoache, Scout troop leader took him along and Frank will visit the DeLoache family in Dallas next week.

Monday Miss Cathy Medders left from Dallas with a group from Hockaday — eight other girls and two chaperones — on a ten-day trip to Canada and New York and the World's Fair. They left Dallas by plane, for Montreal, from there by boat to Quebec, then by air to New York City and another air trip home.

Leaving Saturday for Colorado are Mr. and Mrs. Medders, their daughters Sara and Mary Margaret, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Martin of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smiddy Jr. and daughter Elizabeth of Wise, Va., who arrived Sunday to visit Muenster relatives and join in the Colorado vacation.

Easy Way
A young man applied to a finance agency for a job but he had no experience. He was so intense that the manager gave him an account to collect with the promise that, if he collected it, he would give him a job.
"He'll never collect it," he told his secretary. "It's that mechanic down the street who's owed us the money for three years."
Much to his surprise the young man came back with the entire debt in his pocket. "This is amazing," said the manager, "... just how did you do it?"

"Easy," replied the youngster. "I told him if he didn't pay up I'd tell all his other creditors that he had paid us."
A man asked the prices of a certain cigar.
"Two for a quarter," the clerk replied.
"I'll take one," the man said, and the clerk took 15 cents.
Just then another man walked up, gave the clerk a dime, and said: "I'll take the other one."

Tons of Valuable Top Soil Saved by Terracing

The above picture is that of a diversion terrace on the Arendt Brothers' farm two miles east of Myra. The picture was taken after six inches of rain had fallen in three days. The excess water was safely and easily carried to a protected outlet and released.

Without the terrace the bottomland field would have been at the mercy of uncontrolled water. The unknown amount of valuable top soil saved during this one rain would easily pay for the terrace construction.

There are hundreds of acres of good soil in the Muenster area which need the protection of terraces — diversion and field type.

The last two years have been dry ones and folks have forgotten how much damage a single rain can do to a cultivated field.

ATHLETE'S FOOT GERM HOW TO KILL IT
IN 3 DAYS if not pleased with strong T-4-L liquid, your $6c back at any drug store. Watch infected skin slough off. Watch healthy skin replace it. No more itch and burning! Use antiseptic, soothing T-4-L FOOT POWDER 100 — fine for sweaty feet, foot odor; stays active in the skin for hours. NOW at all Drug Stores.

Rains will come again and fields will be damaged if not protected.

In an effort to encourage construction of terraces, the Cooke County cost-share program is paying $105 dollars a mile plus 50 cents on fills. This assistance is available now. Personnel of the Soil Conservation Service are ready to run terrace lines.

While the soil is dry and the landowner isn't too busy is an ideal time to apply for needed terraces and be ready for the fall rains.

Ed Knauf recently completed over two miles of terraces on his farm northeast of Muenster and ponds have been constructed by Reeve Cooke of Muenster and Roy Kingery of Saint Jo.
