THE TWO MILLIONTH OIL WELL

Somewhere in the United States this year, reports Petroleum Today, drilling began on the nation's two millionth oil well. The moment and identity of the particular well cannot be precisely ascertained, for the reason that records covering more than a century of drilling are sometimes less than precise. However, in order to highlight this landmark in our industrial history, the magazine selected an appropriate "stand-in" oil well and documented its progress.

A chronological record of the drilling is provided, with a description of the various technical steps involved, the day-by-day progress, and the actions and words of the drilling crew and other interested parties.

The well, located in southwest Kansas, fell into the wildcat category. It was drilled down to its planned 5800 feet, at a cost of $40,000. Then a consulting geologist conducted test after test of rock and fluid samples obtained from the well bottom.

The decision was reached: The well was dry and worthless. It had totally failed. And today, says the article, there

LOS ANGELES RIOTS CANNOT BE EXCUSED

Bad as it is, the situation in Los Angeles obviously could be a lot worse.

For example, there might have been a real excuse for it all.

But here is a city that has been a leader in civil rights, in a state that has also led. True, if you believe all you read and hear, there is a high percentage of "kooks" in California and particularly Southern California. If there are, they are not all white.

For what is the "justice" that is accomplished by mobs storming through streets looting and burning, beating police and passersby of any color — even stoning the hospital that is ministering to fallen rioters themselves. What is the "injustice" that calls it forth?

Is someone poor? Any city, and rural area, has its poor who do not loot. And what does poor mean? That someone does not have as much as he wants? Who does? No doubt this smacks of Marie Antoinette. But it is so.

Has someone been denied a job he might want? Few haven't — white black, yellow, Harvard graduate, or whatever. So it is with life.

Does someone fail of admittance socially, or intellectually, or because of belief or family or place of origin. All do sometimes — Jew, Catholic, Southerner in the North, Easterner in the West, white Anglo-Saxon Protestant, Italian, Pole, German and all the rest.

But who else can take to the streets — and be praised for it?

Not the whole race, or group, or call it what you will, were involved in Los Angeles or the other cities in this repulsive week end. Most weren't and never will be. But sometimes you can wonder why not.

For so much drivel has been expended in the civil-rights situation, so much inflammatory nonsense has come from people who ought to know better, that what else was to be expected? Tell any moron, long enough, that all his misfortunes, all his failings, all the frustrations that any human is subject to, are traceable to someone not liking the color of his skin and he just may believe it. And encourage him indefinitely in self-pity, tell him ad infinitum that he can disobey laws if he considers them unjust, that he is automatically a hero for so doing, and he may just decide that free booze at the local liquor store — or anything else — is his for the taking. As some did in Los Angeles.

Oh, this sort of mischievous nonsense has gotten the most fantastic respectability. Even as buildings burned, the National Guard hurriedly assembled and the drunken toughs prepared their Molotov cocktails, officialdom was mouthing all the empty phrases about "just grievances being redressed," in accordance with the fashion in any criminal situation involving the Negro.

There are no grievances that justify what happened in Los Angeles and the great mass of citizens, black and white, know it.

SUPPORT URGED FOR AMENDMENT
"We strongly urge passage of the Constitutional Amendment to be voted on September 7th which increases the membership of the Senate from 31 to 39 members," Senators A. M. Aikin, Jr., Galloway Calhoun, Jr., Martin Dies, Jr., Ralph Hall and Jack Strong said today.

According to the Senators, the idea of increasing the membership of the Senate has been considered for a long time in the halls of State government because of the tremendously increased work load which our Legislature faces today. As examples, they point out that the budget of the State of Texas has increased one thousand percent (10 times) during the past 20 years, and the number of bills and resolutions introduced in the Legislature has nearly tripled during the same length of time. Each member of the Senate now serves on 9 to 15 committees and often a Senator will find that 5 committees on which he serves are meeting at the same time.

The Legislature was inspired to act this year under the pressure of the Federal Court one man-voting redistricting edict. This Federal Court order has the effect of tremendously increasing the area and population of the Senatorial districts in the rural areas.

On this point, the Senators stated, "As strong believers in representative government, we are deeply disturbed that many Senatorial districts in the rural areas are so large, geographically and population wise, that it will be a practical impossibility for one Senator to properly serve them. Texas has had a good, sound government through the years because the Legislature was close to the people. Unfortunately, we will lose this closeness unless expansion of the Senate membership occurs."

At the present, the average Senatorial district in Texas covers 8,624 square miles, the biggest average of any Senatorial district in the United States except for the State of Alaska. The average Senator in Texas serves 309,022 people, the largest number served by a Senator in any state except in the State of California. The expansion from 31 to 39 members will not completely alleviate the problem. However, the assistance will be substantial and the work load relief in the Senate will be particularly helpful.

"We sincerely hope the people will adopt this amendment," the Senators said in conclusion.

Federal Officials Seek to Abolish Poll Tax in Texas
AUSTIN — Federal authorities have brought suit here to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting in Texas election. Suit was filed under the new voting rights act.

If they are successful in getting an early hearing, a special session of the Legislature may be necessary to enact a valid voter registration statute.

Texas' poll tax is the only existing form of registration for state and local elections. However, there is a procedure for obtaining "free" poll taxes to vote in federal elections.

Observers feel near chaos would result at the polls next year if a final ruling is handed down in favor of the federal suit, with out prior enactment of registration procedures.

Although the U. S. Attorney General maintains the tax is not used to raise revenue for the state, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert estimates over $5,000,000 income for the next biennium from that source. That's $5,000,000 the state treasury won't get if the poll tax is repealed. Reliable estimates so far see the biennium ending with government in the black by only $1,300,000 to $4,200,000 including income from all existing levies.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has announced he will oppose the federal suit to invalidate the poll tax and to enjoin state and local officials from enforcing its requirement for any general, special or primary elections.

Agribusiness Is Worth $6.3 Billion To Texas Economy

The often sleepy atmosphere of the Texas countryside is an economic paradox. Behind this traditional rural facade is one of the state's largest industries, one which reaches from the remotest cotton patch to the city's fine cafes and fashion centers.

They call it agribusiness, and each year it pumps about $6.3 billion worth of prosperity into the economy. What's more, that figure is on the increase.

Agribusiness is defined as the sum total of farming and ranching, manufacture and distribution of farm goods to farmers and ranchers, and the processing and distribution of agricultural commodities to consumers.

The business of raising raw products from farming and ranching amounts to about $2.4 billion per year and is the state's second largest industry. Only one product — oil at $3 billion a year — tops agriculture.

The picture is even more imposing on a state scale. Although the United States is becoming less and less a farming society, agribusiness is still the Number 1 industry by a considerable margin.

R. B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, says the steadily declining number of farm workers has not hindered agricultural growth. Agribusiness still employs more people than, for example, the steel, automobile, transportation and public utilities industries combined.

Back in Texas, statistics are proportionally similar to those of the entire nation. John G. McHaney, Extension Service economist at Texas A&M University, says about 40 percent of the state citizenry is engaged in some phase of agribusiness. A mere 8 percent is in actual farming and ranching, but the commodities are being produced in larger quantities and of better quality than ever before.

He said that 8 percent represents approximately 800,000 persons, compared to a farm and ranch population of 2.4 million in 1934.

"This migration from rural to urban areas in Texas has been made possible because of increased efficiency in farm and ranch production," McHaney emphasized. "For example, in 1930 one farm produced enough agricultural products for 10 people. Today, one farm worker produces enough of higher quality products for 31 people."

A result of this trend, he says, is that more labor has been released from farms and ranches to help provide the many other items of everyday living which help Texans enjoy one of the highest living levels in the world.

He added that although farmers and ranchmen have decreased in number, they buy and use larger amounts of equipment and services from the businessman on Main Street.

"These people are big spenders," McHaney said. "They annually release about $1.8 billion for goods used in raising agricultural products. This doesn't include money spent for consumer goods in family living."

The economist also explained that the annual value of total agricultural production in the state exceeds either the total manufacturing payroll, the total construction awards, or the total retail trade payroll.

"Any way you look at it, this is big business and means much to the economy of Texas. The agribusiness segments will continue to make vast contributions to economic growth in the state," McHaney said.

Yes, we did produce a near perfect Republic. But will they keep it, or will they, in the enjoyment of plenty, lose the memory of freedom. Material abundance without character is the surest way of destruction. —Thomas Jefferson.

Marine Cpl. Kappas Marine Pfc. Rupert Wed in Camp Rites

Marine Cpl. Peter Kappas, son of Mrs. Marie Kappas of Muenster, and Marine Pfc. Marcelline Mae Rupert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walter Rupert of Tacoma, Wash., were married on Saturday, September 28, at Camp Pendleton, Calif., where both are stationed.

Father William P. Lane, chaplain, officiated at the ceremony in the base chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by M.Sgt. John S. Gray Jr., her immediate work-section advisor in the United States Marine Corps. For her wedding she wore a cocktail length, sleeveless, A-line dress topped with a long-sleeved coat, all in white brocade. Her shoulder-length veil was caught to a large white satin bow. Her flowers were a white carnation corsage.

Miss Caroline Grant and Graham Watts, also members of the Marine Corps, were attendants. The maid of honor wore a pale pink linen A-line dress with a bright pink lace hat with velvet bows, and a deep pink carnation corsage.

Reception was held at the newlyweds' apartment in Oceanside, Calif., where they will be at home.

Mrs. Kappas, mother of the bridegroom, flew to California to attend the wedding of her only son. She returned Monday after a five-day visit.

Albert Rohmers on Tour in Germany See Many Changes

It's almost like making the trip to see the pictures and maps Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rohmer brought back from Germany. They noted many changes since they saw Germany the last time.

They were away a month, going especially to see Mrs. Rohmer's mother Mrs. Helene Hinzmann who lives in Kublenz.

It was a happy reunion for mother and daughter who hadn't seen each other in five years — since Mrs. Hinzmann made her first trip away from her homeland to visit here with her daughter, and it was Mrs. Rohmer's first visit back since she left as a displaced person in 1952.

There were many reunions with her mother, two aunts and dozens of cousins, and many sight-seeing trips accompanied by her mother and other relatives.

They were amazed at the changes in Munich which has been so wonderfully restored after its devastation during World War II and they enjoyed the delicious food at Hofbrau House.

They were sobered by the three barbed wire fences and other fortification between the American and German zones, and they were charmed by the beauty of the Rhine on a boat excursion. They also crossed the river on a ferry and made trips along the banks lush with vineyards. They toured the Rhine Valley and the Loreley.

Albert recognized the Moezel Bridge which he crossed as a soldier 20 years ago and other sights he remembered seeing under much different circumstances during World War II.

They attended a cousin's wedding with all the ceremony attendant at a German wedding — including eating four times.

Other memorable occasions included visits at Duderstadt and Ulm and an excursion on the Starnberger-See to Starnburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Rohmer made the trip non-stop from Chicago to Frankfurt and back by jet on overnight flights and they made use of almost every other mode of travel while they were there. Her mother and other relatives met them at Frankfurt and they traveled by train to Duderstadt and Kublenz.

In Germany they traveled almost 2000 miles by train, 800 miles by car and many miles by boat.

Returning to Chicago they went through customs without incident.

Both agree they saw a different Germany than the one they remembered. It has grown and modernized and is teeming with activity.

Weinzapfels Back From Pennsylvania And World's Fair

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel returned Friday night from a trip to Philadelphia and New York where on Wednesday Mr. Weinzapfel was named an honorary member of the Soil Conservation Society of America. Presentation of the title and award was made during a three-day meeting of the organization in Philadelphia. More than 1100 people from coast to coast attended.

In addition to business those attending were guests for banquets and luncheons and tours and the ladies had style shows and teas.

On sight-seeing tours they saw where history was made — Independence Hall, historic homes including Benjamin Franklin's, the Liberty Bell, a trip to Valley Forge and a chicken barbecue there, and a boat excursion with luncheon on the Delaware River.

After they left Philadelphia Mr. and Mrs. Weinzapfel made a side trip to New York and spent a day at the World's Fair. They traveled by jet from Dallas where their son, Msgr. Thomas Weinzapfel, saw them off and met them again as they returned.

Gainesville Trio Back From Canada And 9 State Trip

When they went on vacation this year Mrs. Margaret Sicking and daughter Miss Theresa Sicking took to the mountains. They took Miss Patsy Arend of Gainesville with them.

They were gone three weeks visiting nine states and Canada. It was their fourth trip to Canada and a return to the nine states for Mrs. Sicking and Theresa. Each time they see something different. This time it was principally mountains. It was first-time sight-seeing in the areas for Miss Arend.

They came back with rocks which Mrs. Sicking collects — she has rocks from the 48 continental states — they took lots of pictures, bought souvenirs, and Mrs. Sicking added to her cup and saucer collection.

They also brought back fresh peaches, plums and cherries from Idaho and Montana.

Mrs. Sicking is 85 but nothing stops her, not even the rain they encountered so many times on the trip.

A highlight for Mrs. Sicking was visiting again in Rulo, Neb., where she was born. A part of the old home place still stands, and she recognized other landmarks and reminisced with schoolmates. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunter and son, also visited Mrs. Mildred Keithley at Shubert, Mrs. Wissman at Falls City, and a schoolmate, Mrs. Annie Tangney at Lincoln.

The trio also toured Lincoln State Capitol. One other stop was made for visiting with old friends. In Canute, Okla., on the way home they visited Mr. and Mrs. John Flies. The Flies family lived in Muenster years back.

Scenic beauty of the mountains, glaciers, and valleys was a never-ending delight and the flowers in Canada were breath-taking.

Scotts Bluff, the Oregon Trail, the Black Hills of South Dakota and Mt. Rushmore, Glacier International Peace Park in Montana and Alberta Canada, the Denny Flower Gardens in Calgary, the Stuffed and Columbia Ice Fields, Jasper Park, Banff National Park and Lake Louise were as delightful as travel folders promised.

Back through western Montana, the Idaho Mountains, and a visit at the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah. Then through Colorado and seeing the Royal Gorge and Suspension Bridge. They saw much damage and devastation in the part of Colorado that was flooded and still has not been repaired. In Dodge City, Kansas, they visited Boot Hill. They enjoyed blanket and sweater weather all along the way. Grain was still green in Canada.

Times change. When grandma used to tell how many pints or quarts she put away, you knew she meant jellies.

Ironing will go much faster and the results will look smoother if an ironing board is well-padded. Use two or three thin sheets of cotton padding instead of one, and see how much faster the ironing goes.

Technical Courses Are Popular at County College

Technical-vocational courses are very popular at Cooke County Junior College. Over 160 students were enrolled in the Technical-Vocational Division during the 1965 spring semester. Courses in drafting, welding, general metals, machine drawings, architectural drawing, IBM card punch machines, office machines operation, photography, basic and advance aviation ground school, and a number of other courses will be offered during the 1965 Fall Semester.

Students interested in taking courses in the Technical-Vocational Division should contact the Director of the Evening College or the Dean of Student Services at the local two-year college. Registration for sophomores and special students will commence Wednesday, September 8, 1965, at 8:30 a.m., with day and evening registration periods. Freshmen students will enroll Thursday, September 9, at 8:30 a.m., with both day and night registration sessions. Freshman testing and orientation will be conducted all day Tuesday, September 7, at Cooke County Junior College.

Students planning to take courses in the Technical-Vocational Division should contact college officials for a pre-enrollment counseling conference. Pre-enrollment counseling means that the prospective student, with the help of trained professional college counselors, will determine the student's career objectives, discuss courses to be taken, and answer other questions the student may have. This should be completed, where possible, before the dates established for registration for 1965 Fall semester.

Students who plan to attend CCJC this Fall should complete a pre-enrollment card before registration. This card may be secured and completed at the College during the pre-enrollment interview.

For further information contact the Dean of Student Services, Cooke County Junior College, Gainesville, Texas.

Dairy Cow Had Important Role in Making History

The dairy cow has often been referred to as the foster mother of the human race. Through the ages her history has been closely related to the story of man and goes back to the very beginning of civilization. As far back as recorded history there is evidence that the ancestry of modern man and the modern dairy cows "walked hand in hand."

Milking was a sacred rite reserved for the priests — one held the tail and the highest ranking priest did the milking. The moon was referred to as the "milk goddess of the night;" stars were defined as 5-horned cattle; and in the cow-studded Heavens there flowed a great river of soft whiteness — another visible proof of the holiness of the cow and to this day called the "milky way."

Greek physicians prescribed milk as a medicine 500 years before Christ. Without the dairy cow, more than half of the colonists who first came to America's shores did not survive.

The first shipment of dairy cattle arrived at Jamestown, Virginia, in 1611. From that time forward, the health and the wealth of America has been on the upswing. As man moved westward across the continent, the milk cow was tied to the tail boards of the covered wagon.

The dairy industry of today is still just as essential but is big, modern, and diversified. It's the greatest single source of farm income in America. It embraces milk production from 16 million cows on more than a million farms; processing the milk in 30,000 ultra-modern dairy plants; and the distribution of the equivalent of 58 billion quarts of milk a year in the form of fluid milk and its products. Sales of dairy products amount to over 10 billion dollars a year.

Milk is nature's most nearly perfect food. Nutritionally, milk and milk products provide 28 percent of the nation's essential food nutrients. This includes 23-26 percent of the American families calorie requirements, 40-45 percent of their protein, 67-75 percent of their calcium, 59-76 percent of their riboflavin, 35-39 percent of their vitamin "A", 18-19 percent of their thiamin, and 5-6 percent of their iron and niacin. And all of this for slightly more than 19 cents of each food dollar.

In terms of today's factory wages, the "real" price of a quart of milk is the lowest in history. In 1890 it took 26 minutes of factory work to pay for a quart of milk. Today it takes less than 7 minutes to earn this same quart of home delivered milk.

Our modern dairies and dairy plants are marvels of engineering and operate under the most sanitary conditions to produce food of the highest quality. Modern plants are an array of gleaming stainless steel processing equipment. Today's dairies are equally modern.

Milking machines, pipelines, stainless steel coolers, sanitary surroundings and bulk transfer of milk from the farm to the processing plant is a far cry from our dairy farms of 30 years ago.

Truly today we are producing milk for the consuming public that has never been touched by human hands.

Dairy producers and others of the industry can be proud of their achievements, and consumers should be equally proud for they can buy with confidence the products which contribute so much to their welfare.

Not only is milk and its products nature's most nearly perfect food, and the best food buy on today's market — it is unexcelled in the sanitary surroundings under which it is produced and processed.

The secret of economy is to live as cheaply the first few days after payday as you did the few days before.

Explosion Causes Damage to Fears' Garage at Myra

When Myra residents heard a booming sound Friday night about 10 o'clock they thought it was a plane breaking the sound barrier. It wasn't long before they learned it was an explosion at Parker Fears' Garage which was closed for the night.

The garage air compressor exploded and caused considerable inside damage and disorder, blew out or cracked all windows and ripped out a portion of the south wall. The force carried it across the street where it hit the Ray Hudson home.

Damage was cleared up and cleaned up so that the garage could continue in business the next day. Permanent repairs are underway.

"How is it," asked a man of a minister of the Gospel, "that your religion has been going for nearly two thousand years, and has not influenced more people than it has done?"

they will have to pay. Those who remember their valuation on the county tax roll can estimate their tax in a jiffy.

Persons who do not remember can easily find their valuation by looking at last year's county tax receipt. Not the school tax receipt nor the city tax receipt. Those valuations are considerably higher. Be sure to consult the county tax valuation. That is the valuation which applies for the hospital tax. If it is $1,000 the hospital tax will be $4.50. If $2,000 the tax will be $9.00, and so on.

Again, the rate used here is not necessarily the one that will apply, but it is reasonably close and gives a good idea of what the tax will be. It provides each person with a fairly reliable figure of what he will pay for the convenience, comfort, saving and any other benefits he derives from having a hospital here.

Another point worth noting here, for what comfort individuals of the area can derive therefrom: Less than half of the valuations in the district are assessed against individuals. The rest are assessed against oil companies, the railroads, utilities, etc. It means that if the hospital district is approved the individuals of this district will have to pay less than half of the tax.

A switch, says an old railroad, has put many a delinquent on the right track
