5-Area Telephone Annual Meeting Set February 1

Five Area Telephone Cooperative, Inc., will hold its annual membership meeting on Saturday, February 1, at the cooperative building in Muleshoe. Registration will be 9-10 a.m., and the meeting is scheduled to begin promptly at 10 a.m.

A drawing will be held for many prizes donated by area merchants and industry suppliers as well as some furnished by the cooperative. All members will receive a door prize, according to Hubert Kidd, manager. A meal prepared by Bigham's Smokehouse Bar-B-Que of Lubbock will be served at noon.

Kidd said voting for directors in Districts One and Three will be conducted. Don Seales and Eugene Shaw have been nominated from District One, Lariat. Seales is the present director, completing his first term and he is eligible for re-election.

Alvis Collins and L.G. Layman have been nominated from District Three, Fast Lazbuddie. Jack Angeley is presently the director from District Three, but is ineligible to run due to a limited tenure of four consecutive three year terms, or 12 years.

Also to be presented will be a proposed by-law change. It will be included with the regular business meeting.

Kidd commented, "We have put together a good program, and hope that you, as members of the cooperative, give your support by attending this year's annual meeting."

Muleshoe. Friday afternoon, during a meeting at the Muleshoe City Police Department, the new system was unveiled and demonstrated. Attending the meeting were Muleshoe City Police Chief Les Irvin and dispatchers Jackie Gutierrez, Lori Hanks, Laura White, Martina Valdez, Gayle Williams and Della Snell watched the system demonstrated. The system will be tied in with the emergency number at the police department.

John Smith demonstrated the system, and showed how the system could make a difference in "life or death" for many people in this area.

When the console is installed, the person with the system will carry or wear a small transmitter that has a range of up to 700 feet.

In the event of an emergency, the individual can activate the transmitter with just a touch.

For 30 seconds, a voice on the console says "Emergency-Emergency" and in the event of a false alarm, or accidentally setting off the system, the user has time to push the cancel button without the emergency telephone numbers being dialed.

At the end of the 30 seconds, the first of two pre-programmed telephone numbers will be dialed. The first number can be the number of a child, friend or anyone designated by the user. If there is no answer, the system automatically will dial the emergency number at the police department, which is 272-4200.

When the police dispatcher answers the phone at the time the 272-4200 number is dialed, the automatic voice will tell the dispatcher "Emergency at -- then spell out the address, name of the individual and telephone number.

The system will repeat the message three times.

At this time, the dispatcher will notify the officer or officers on duty and dispatch an ambulance. However, they will call the number given by the system.

If there is no answer, at that time, they will notify an officer and ambulance. If the individual answers, they will ask what type of emergency they have.

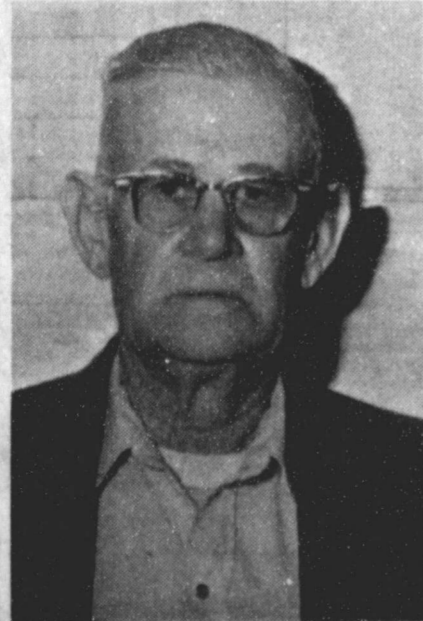

This will be because the system can be used, not only for medical emergencies, but in the event of prowlers or a fire, or any other type of emergency the user will have.

Also to be set up will be a card system in the police

Nursing Home Renovation Is Underway

"At last, construction has begun on the Nursing Home Project", said Jim Swanner, administrator at the Muleshoe Nursing Home. "The heating and air conditioning contractor began work Thursday morning. The general contractor will be moving onto the site on Monday, January 20."

He added that the Nursing Home residents and staff alike are eagerly looking forward to the completion of the project.

According to the administrator, the new construction will consist of a new dining room for the residents of the Nursing Home; three new offices for the Nursing Home staff; new heating and refrigerated air conditioning; new hot water system; separate emergency generator and new electrical wiring for the building.

Swanner said construction and renovation will cost nearly $500,000 for the total project.

"This will bring the Nursing Home up to present requirements of the Texas Department of Health," concluded Swanner.

Tax Assessor Says New Voter Cards Mailed Wednesday

"New Yellow voter registration cards were mailed Wednesday, January 15, 1986," said Kathleen Hayes, Bailey County Tax Assessor.

"These will replace the current blue cards. If you are currently registered to vote and do not receive a new card, it may be because your mailing address has changed as the Post Office cannot forward voter registration cards.

"Please come by my office at the courthouse if there has been any kind of change in address or name," she concluded.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:
Today's papers and TV brought back memories of the past. The death of Ricky Nelson made me recall seeing his mother and father in a program in Amarillo, Texas, before they were married. To me, they were great and raised good children.

The airport from which Ricky left for Texas, Guntersville, Alabama, was named after my ancestors, I think. I have been told that the Gunters were so good to the Cherokee Indians that one chief gave a daughter to them. My grandmother Gunter, part-Cherokee, reared 14 great children. Several attended college. One aunt received her doctorate while teaching in Fort Worth.

The Cotton Bown Parade had a group from the Masonic Hella Temple in Dallas. In 1919 my father received the highest Masonic award in Texas at the Hella Temple. He received a gold Masonic ring with a beautiful diamond set in it.

The Cotton Bowl game made me recall the first two years at A & M when it was a military school. Enrollment was about 3000. There were no females nor Blacks. Our rooms and campus were spotless. All students had to be neatly dressed. One of my instructors told his class that Prairie View State College, an all-Black college, was as clean as our college.

Texas A & M and Auburn today had many good Black players. Bo Jackson from Auburn, lived up to his rating as a Heisman Trophy winner. A & M's Black quarterback did a fantastic job, as well as many other Aggie players. Once, many years ago, A & M played Michigan State in San Antonio. They would not let a Black player participate. I expressed my opinion about this. I was taught to respect all people, assuming they earned respect, regardless of "race, creed or color", else my parents would have "spanked" me.

I have been a teacher and coach starting out at the age of 19 when I had to drop out of A & M because I ran out of money. As a coach I would not permit what I see today, "show-offs" and poor sportsmanship. Today, I saw much of what I would call "show-offs" such as slamming a football down after making a touchdown. Once when my team was playing for the county championship, my first team was not adhering to my rules. Luckily, my substitutes did not let me down. We won the championship of Bailey County in softball.

If today's parents implied rules upon their children as my parents used, this would be a better world. I feel that the Nelsons did a good job in rearing their family.

MARGARET KIMBROUGH

Angels Of Mercy of West Plains Medical Center

You know, some people are born energetic. One of those people is Margaret Kimbrough. Margaret has been around Muleshoe for years: Nineteen and a half to be exact. At age seventeen, she went to work for Dr. Charles Finley, an Oral Surgeon in Lubbock. She continued to work for Dr. Finley for seven years until she met and married Lee Kimbrough, a farmer from this area. Like most energetic, self-motivated people, Margaret fell into the role of farm wife very easily.

Following a traumatic incident in her personnel life late in 1981, Margaret felt compelled to further her education by taking a Nurses Aide Course which Mattie Hicks RN, then Director of Nurses at WPMC, was offering at the hospital. Her reason for returning to school: To be able to help people in need and to learn to recognize that need. Following completion of the Nurses Aide Course, a position became available for Margaret in the operating room. If ever you must have surgery, the person to have at the table as a Scrub Nurse is Margaret Kimbrough. Her attention to detail and her working knowledge of what the physicians need before they even ask for it is uncanny. According to Margaret, "Knowing what the doctors want before they know themselves is just part of the job." In a way she is right. A Scrub Nurse is an extension of the Surgeon and Assisting Physician. She could be called the surgeons' extra pair of hands. She has to watch the operative site closely so that she knows, at all times, "where" the surgeon is during the procedure so that she can pass the correct suture and instruments to him at the right time. It is a demanding and stressful position but Margaret fills it well. More truth than joke around the hospital is the question and answer: "Well, Margaret, the case last night was over at 7:00 PM. What time did you go home?" "Oh, I left about midnight after I scrubbed down OR and got it ready to do in case we got called in again during the night." That is the kind of dedication we must have in a critical area such as the OR. If she had a motto it would be: You are not done until the work is ALL finished. In 1984, Margaret returned to school at South Plains College in Levelland and graduated in 1985 as a Vocational Nurse. She is back in the OR now as a Licensed

Vocational Nurse. When you ask Margaret what she would like to be remembered for, she will tell you. "Two things: As the best OR Scrub Nurse this town has ever seen and as the Mimi of little Kolby Trent, the sweetest little boy I know!" Margaret is a special lady. She is an Angel of Mercy. TFU Ends Meet With Discussions On Farm Problem

The Texas Farmers Union 82nd Annual Convention came to a close Saturday evening following three days of intense deliberation on farm issues, including addresses from Governor Mark White and Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower concerning delinquent FmHA loans, issues involving the 1985 Farm Bill, and the need for expansion of foreign trade.

Governor Mark White received applause from TFU members when he criticized the Reagan administration's foreign trade policy, saying foreigners were receiving favorable treatment over Americans.

"America and its government ought to treat its farmers as well as we treat foreign governments," White said. "Let's look out for America first."

Hightower echoed the criticism of the farm policy by estimating 20 percent of the family producers will be prevented from obtaining financing in 1986 according to the provisions in the new farm bill.

The Commissioner also warned farmers and ranchers with delinquent FmHA loans of a "Notice of Intent to Take Adverse Action" form to be sent to 7,000 borrowers in Texas within the next few weeks.

"FmHA is proposing to give its delinquent borrowers five options-four of which are awful and the fifth one merely bad, but at least gives producers a fighting chance."

Farmers and ranchers were advised by Hightower to check all seven servicing actions on the form, forcing the FmHA to consider all options before foreclosure, such as reamortization, consolidation of loans, deferral of payments and restructuring of debt.

Congressman Kika de la Garza, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, called the 1985 Farm Bill compromise the "art of the impossible", saying it provides a financial safety net for struggling farmers. "The legislation was not all things to all commodity groups and various agricultural interests, but now that it is law, producers must strive to make the bill work for the family farmer," de la Garza said.

Diet, fitness and fat just don't seem to go together. Yet nutritionists and medical authorities agree that some fat is a necessary part of a balanced diet.

The question is...how much fat is too much?

Many health organizations recommend that we should get about 30% of our calories from fat. So, if you require 2,000 calories to maintain your weight, about 600 of those calories should come from fat. About 10% of that fat can come from saturated fat sources.

Saturated fats come from meat fat, chicken and turkey skin, whole milk, hard cheese, cream and butter, plus certain vegetable oils including palm oil, coconut oil, and hydrogenated shortening.

Here are some suggestions for ways to keep your fat consumption below the 30% mark:

1. Bake, broil, steam, boil, poach, or stir fry with little or no added fat.
2. Trim any visible fat from beef, veal, pork, and lamb. Remove the skin from turkey and chicken.
3. Refrigerate gravies, stews, and soups, then skim off the hardened fat.
4. Drain the fat from cooked foods.
5. Select low fat dairy products, such as skim or low fat milk, low fat cheeses, low fat cottage cheese, and low fat yogurt.
6. Read the labels on processed foods to determine their fat content.

Hints for Homemakers

Don't Buy An Earth Station Dish Until You Know The Facts

Warning: Many homeowners who own earth satellite dishes for TV reception are getting scrambled signals these days from two sources: their dish antennas and the people who sold them the dishes in the first place.

Before signing a contract, homeowners should know the facts about earth satellite dishes and what programming they can — and can't — get for free.

Many of the people who sell home terminals are telling their customers they can get everything on cable TV for free—programming other people have to pay for. The pitch to home earth terminal buyers is that they can get "something for nothing."

Another sales pitch: The dealers tell their customers that scrambling of cable signals will never happen or that Congress will prohibit it. They also may mention a cheap little "black box" that the customer will be able to buy to descramble the signals—if scrambling does occur—to continue to get the programming for free.

None of that's true, say industry experts. Buyers of earth stations should know that scrambling of signals is on the way in the near future. Before you buy an earth station, you should be aware of the facts: You will still be able to get some of the programming you want—but in many cases, you'll have to pay for it, just like any cable TV subscriber.

Some programs, like those put out by ABC, NBC and CBS, are not legally receivable off the satellite now. When they're scrambled you probably won't be able to pay to get them.

Sandra Hill, Johnson Exchange Marriage Vows

Sandra Hill became the bride of Dale Johnson Saturday, Dec. 28, 1985, in the archway in the home of her cousin, Edith Reed, in Sudan. James Withrow of Sudan read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Connie Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, all of Sudan.

The archway was decorated with greenery and red bows with Christmas Decorations completing the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the room as the "Wedding March" was played.

The bride chose a formal length gown of silk organza over satin. The gown, scattered with appliques of lace and pearls, featured long sleeves, a Queen Anne neckline with a stand-up collar of ruffles and the lace covered bodice was embellished with pearls.

Her chapel length train, edged in lace, fell from the waistline. The lace-edged veil of illusion fell to the floor from a white Juliet caplet.

She carried a white giant poinsettia outlined with greenery and red carnations.

Marie Withrow and Judy Wiseman served as bridesmaids and wore dresses of red and white.

Randy Wiseman, and Dean Johnson, brother of the groom, served as groomsmen.

A reception was held following the ceremony, with Kayla Durham of Lubbock, niece of the bride, and Jennifer Johnson, cousin of the groom, of Tulia passing out red and green rice bags.

The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom that was used on the 62 wedding anniversary cake of the bride's grandparents, J.P. Hill and the late Pearl Hill.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hill and Keith of Roswell, N.M., brother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Durham and family of Lubbock, sister of the bride; Mrs. Hazel Johnson, grandmother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Don Jennings of Amarillo, Charlie Daniel of Tulia and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Hubbard of Amarillo, aunts and cousins of the groom.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday, Dec. 27 in the home of the groom's parents. Christmas theme was used in the decorations.

Muleshoe Young Homemakers

Muleshoe Young Homemakers held their first meeting of the new year on Tuesday, Jan. 14 at the Muleshoe High School. Members answered roll call by stating their favorite craft.

Kay Graves gave a program on quilt making. She gave a brief history of quilts and stated that the first quilted articles documented were worn under suits of armour. There were several quilts on display and Mrs. Graves discussed the correct ways to store quilts. Next month members will be learning lap quilting on Feb. 13 and 18, during craft nights.

The door prize was won this month by Pam Hancock. Jan. 15 Pam Hancock helped Mrs. Camp at the library with story hour. Rose Crosswhite provided the favors.

Glenda Powell gave the treasurer's report. Pam Thomason reported Muleshoe Young Homemakers will be sponsoring skating on Feb. 14. The club members voted to have a booth at the Sweetheart Festival on Feb. 1.

A $50.00 donation was sent to the MADD organization of Lubbock. They were to have presented the December program, but were cancelled due to inclement weather.

Hostesses, Linda Cogliandro and De Anna Rasco served iced tea, cream cheese cake and cookies to those present.

The craft night this month will be decorating Valentine cookies, held on Jan. 28 at 7 p.m. at the school.

Friendship Club

The Muleshoe Friendship Club met in the home of Kathryn Cole Thursday, Jan. 9. Ms. Cole, president, called the meeting to order. The opening prayer was given by Jewell Griffiths.

Eight members answered roll call. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Sammie Ethridge, secretary. A treasurer's report was given by Jewell Griffiths, treasurer.

Oline Watts presented the program on the early life of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Slate, who moved to Sudan in September of 1919, and how they helped in the growth of that town.

Refreshments of sandwiches home made cookies, hot spiced apple juice and coffee was served to the following members: Gladys Darsey, Oline Watts, Lois Witherspoon, Adelyn Swafford, Jewell Griffiths, Sammie Ethridge, Maud Young and the hostess, Kathryn Cole.

You can look back to 1985, but we prefer to look forward to 1986.

Library News

by Anne Camp

A Storyhour was held Wednesday at the library with 42 in attendance. In honor of the Sesquicentennial year, the children were given the Wild-horse-Roundup posters they have been working on each time they have come to storyhour. There were seven who had a perfect attendance record: Keven Autry; T.J. Hutto; Christopher Huggins; Amy Marricle; Kellie Morris; Tyson Purdy; and Brandon Thomason—these were given a coloring book and a "Books are Best Friends" book-bag.

Pam Hancock of the Young Homemakers brought two fun activities—"What makes a happy family" and "building a snowman" with the children participating. This was Cartoon day with two delightful Disney films shown. The young Homemakers served the children a treat as they left.

The mothers of the children voted to have a "Read-to-Me" program for the second half of the year—so the lists were given to keep the names of the books that are read to the child, and to be returned each time they come to the library. At the last session those children having the most books read to them will be honored. For those who were absent Wed...the lists may be picked up anytime, as well as the child's poster.

"Reading aloud to a child is a joyous experience for both child and parent—as it awakens children's imaginations, improves their language skills, and opens new worlds to them."

The library has had donations of Texas books given since the campaign started of "READ A TEXAS BOOK A MONTH" —give a Texas book sometime during the Sesquicentennial year! Mrs. Floyd Davis donated eight very good Texas books in memory of her husband Floyd Davis, by such authors as J. Frank Dobie; Ben K. Green and Dee Brown. We hope to have more during this special year, to build a fine collection.

The sessions will begin February 10th through April 28th, on consecutive Monday nights of each week from 6:30 PM to 8:00 PM. Cost of the course is just $25 with a $15 refund after completion of the entire course. It is inexpensive and research based, no quacks, no gimmicks, but unique. You will be participating in a 25 county pilot program and contributing to an Extension service research on nutrition and fitness.

By joining the program you will: 1) learn the secret of permanent weight control; 2) experience the success of accomplishing weekly goals and challenges; 3) develop your own personal exercise prescription; 4) improve your self concept; and 5) control weight without giving up your favorite recipes, snacking, and eating out.

Twenty-five persons will be enrolled in the program and the deadline for registration is February 1st. If you are interested, or have any questions, please call the Extension office at 272-4583.

Ruby Jackson from the Department of Public Safety in Lubbock will be guest speaker. A PTA spokeswoman said "We invite all parents and interested citizens to attend. A babysitter will be provided, and refreshments will be served."

Billie Downing has announced that Muleshoe graduating classes, 1950-59 will hold a planning session for a reunion at 7 p.m. on Thursday January 23, in K-Bob's Steak House.

Any former member of those classes is encouraged to attend and help make plans for a reunion scheduled for Saturday, July 5.

"Local members of these ten classes are urged to attend this planning session," said Mrs. Downing. "Your help and input will be sincerely appreciated."

Outgoing committee chairwomen were Linda Lee, public relations; Billie Downing, membership; Marjorie Merritt, special events; Kathryn Taylor, budget and finance; Margie Goforth, agriculture; Donna Noriega, business development; Lela Copley, commercial growth and Nelda Merriott, service and cultural development.

department for all users. On the card will be the person's name, address, telephone number, the exact directions to the home, especially for rural users, and any other pertinent information, such as medications taken for listed medical problems, and perhaps even "Next of Kin" who can be notified.

The city police dispatchers are already receiving training on operating the emergency system from the radio room of the police department and will be further instructed, according to Chief Irvin.

It is expected that the system will be affordable for almost everyone. It will cost $20 per month rental; $500 cash to immediately purchase the system for $47.15 per month for a year to own the machine.

Systems are being installed in Muleshoe at this time, and one advantage will be that even rural persons can obtain the emergency system for their homes.

The system will work even if the user is unable to talk or reach a telephone -- the emergency system will do their talking for them.

Sincerity is a great virtue, rarely exhibited and seldom appreciated.

Farmers Asked To Attend Meet On '86 Records

Bailey County Extension Service will be sponsoring a seminar on Thursday, January 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Bailey County Civic Center, according to Spencer Tanksley, County Extension Agent. He said the program will cover information on financial record keeping and planning for area producers and other interested persons.

Some of the items to be explained are: balance sheets, income statements, cash flow statements, cash flow budget or projection and uses of each and selecting a record-keeping system. A session will also be held on crop budgets which will explain the concept of budgeting, uses of enterprise budgets, and a discussion of 1986 budgets.

Tanksley added that the instructor has prepared an "example farm" which might be typical of the Bailey County area which will show an income statement for 1985, a balance sheet as of December 31, 1985 (especially ratios), and a cash flow projection for 1986. This will enable seminar participants to see how they might put this record-keeping information to work for them.

This program has been especially prepared for the Bailey County area needs by Extension economist, Dr. Jackie Smith of Lubbock," concluded Tanksley, "who will be the instructor. The public is invited and there will be no charge."

Water Measurement Underway

High Plains Water District personnel are heading out into the field to determine what effects this past year's irrigation pumpage had on the water levels in the Ogallala aquifer.

District staff members will be making their annual depth-to-water level measurements in the District's network of more than 950 water-level observation wells. This measurement determines the distance from the land surface to the water table.

Wells in the observation well network are located at a density of approximately one well per square mile. The wells, which are privately owned, will be tagged with the well number and the water-level measurement as readings are completed.

The Water District's staff will use the information gathered through this measuring effort to update water table elevation maps and maps showing the saturated thickness of the Ogallala aquifer. This data will also be used in updating the Water District's Hydrologic Atlases.

In Bailey County, Obbie Goolsby will be making the readings in a total of 74 wells. If you see a Water District vehicle in your neighborhood and would like further information, Goolsby will be happy to answer any questions you might have.

Neonatal Intensive Care Unit Used At WPMC

By: Trina Wilson, RN
Director of Nurses
West Plains Medical Center
Commitment to quality/care is the credo of West Plains Medical Center. An example of this commitment is the recent purchase of an Ohio Neonatal Intensive Care Unit.

The need for an additional Neonatal Intensive Care Unit was identified in 1985 by Marilyn Hamill, Respiratory therapist, Dee King OB/LVN and Diana Gonzales OB/LVN. For some years now, West Plains Medical Center has had only one Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, which was utilized, not only in the delivery room, for normal deliveries, but also on the operating room for C-section births.

Now, instead of utilizing an isolette from the nursery during simultaneous deliveries, West Plains Medical Center now has the capability of using radiant warmers for two babies being born at the same time.

The new Neonatal Intensive care unit provides a controlled source of radiant heat and illumination over a large procedure table. The concept of radiant heat has long been utilized to warm each baby's temperature following delivery. The heat source within this unit is highly efficient in that it "cones down" the heat compared to sources which allow the heat to "scatter" between the heat source and the procedure table. The fast heat-up time and the relative insensitivity of this unit to drafts makes the use of this unit all the more important when a mother walks into the hospital, right then, to deliver.

A central control console contains all electrical circuits and controls used to operate the radiant heaters and fluorescent lights in the unit. The control console varies the heat output around a set point in accordance with the infant's needs. The infant's skin temperature is monitored with a highly sensitive thermistor probe attached to the infant's abdomen.

The large adjustable table has a mattress with a conductive rubber mattress cover. The unit has built in capability to slide an x-ray cassette (film) under the unit thereby being able to take x-rays of the infant with-out moving the infant. This is extremely important when nursing and medical personnel are dealing with a critically ill infant.

The importance of the addition of a Neonatal Intensive Care Unit to West Plains Medical Center can be more easily understood when you realize that in 1985, a total of one-hundred and two babies were born at West Plains Medical Center.

School Nurse

Awareness

Highlighted

Governor Mark White has signed a proclamation designating January 20-24 as School Nurse Awareness Week, and the Muleshoe ISD recognizes two "outstanding registered nurses as full time members of their staff."

Mrs. Betty Jo Davis has been with Muleshoe ISD for 19 years and is based at Neal B. Dillman Elementary. Mrs. Janie Moynihan joined the staff last September and is based at DeShazo Elementary. Both nurses provide services to the entire school district, explained H. John Fuller, superintendent.

He added, "The professional registered nurse is recognized as a health specialist in the educational setting. It is understood that a mentally, emotionally and physically healthy child is better capable of taking advantage of quality education. "The school nurse strengthens the educational process by administering the health program which is focused on the promotion of healthy lifestyles, the provision of specialized health services to meet the needs of individual students, and the prevention of illness or injury."

Two Schools Receive Energy Gold Stars

Energy management efforts by the principals of two Muleshoe schools have earned them gold stars from Governor Mark White.

Wayland Ethridge, principal at Muleshoe High school, and Milton Oyler, retired principal of Neal B. Dillman Elementary, are among 159 administrators in the state recognized Governor's Gold Star School Project Program sponsored by White's office and the Public Utility Commission.

White said the principals recognized by the program have significantly reduced operating costs in their schools through managing energy consumption. As a result of these administrators' efforts, he said, 24 school districts in the state have been able to save well more than $2 million.

"That is money that can be used for a wide variety of educational purposes," the governor added.

According to Governor White, the principals just used common sense to cut costs for their schools.

"Working with district maintenance staff, these principals reduced lighting where it was not needed and timed heating and air conditioning systems to operate only when the schools were occupied" he said.

Principals throughout the state submitted school energy consumption figures to the Energy Resource Center for Texas Schools, which is operated by the PUC. These figures were compared with the average school energy used by region of the state, and each school's energy cost savings were computed.

The energy management programs in the two Muleshoe schools resulted in a savings of almost $22,000.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, awards certificates signed by Governor Mark White and Peggy Rosson, Commissioner of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, were presented to the President of the Board, Julie Cage, Wayland Ethridge and Barbara Finney accepted similar certificates (also signed by the governor) as representatives of Muleshoe High School and Dillman Elementary.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK
By Edward Thorlund

The outlook for declining interest rates makes long-term investing attractive now, for those seeking to lock in higher interest rates. The big income tax-free funds like Nuveen are still paying around nine percent, which is less of an interest rate decline than some long-term investments have experienced in recent months. Ginnie Maes, which could fetch 12 1/2 of even 13 percent interest a year ago--and they're guaranteed by the U.S. Government--are down to 11 or 11 1/2 percent or so. Treasuries for intermediate periods are paying about 11 percent. Some few funds are paying as much as twelve percent, but not many. One can get only about seven percent from money market accounts at brokerage houses and even less at banks. CD's offer a little more but there's often a penalty for early withdrawals.

If interest rates continue to decline--and the expectation is that the Fed will lower its rate to banks in mid-January--this may be a good time to lock in high interest rates in one kind of paper or another.
