NUMBER 29

A little story, both amusing and grim, has been getting attention lately in the nation's press, apparently because it seems to have a bearing on the process by which the Great Society is being established.

It's entitled "The Hogs of Horseshoe Bend," and the thought well deserves to be passed on. So the column gladly presents it here, because it is worth reading and also because it presents a convenient opportunity of doing this job the easy way — by using someone else's work. Confidentially, you'd be surprised how often columnists quote others just to avoid doing a job themselves. But regardless of motives, here it is:

Years ago, in a great horseshoe bend in the Okmulgee River, there lived a drove of wild hogs. Where they came from no one knows, but they survived the floods, fires, freezes, droughts, and hunters. The greatest compliment a man could pay to a dog was to say that he had fought the hogs of Horseshoe Bend and returned alive.

Finally, a one galled man came by the country store on the river road and asked the whereabouts of these wild hogs. He drove a one-horse wagon, had an axe, some quilts, a lantern, some corn, and a single barrel shotgun. He was a slender, slow-moving patient man — he chewed his tobacco deliberately and spat very seldom.

Several months later he came back to the same store and asked for help to bring out the wild hogs. He stated he had them all in a pen over in the swamp. Bewildered farmers, dubious hunters, and store keepers all gathered in the heart of Horseshoe Bend to view the captive hogs.

"It was very simple," said the one-galled man. "First, I put out some corn. For three weeks, they would not eat it. Some of the young ones grabbed an ear and ran off into the thicket. Soon they were all eating it. Then I commenced building a pen around the corn a little higher each day. When I noticed they were all waiting for me to bring corn and had stopped grubbing for nuts, and acorns and roots, I built the trap door. Naturally they raised a ruckus when they saw they were trapped, but I can pen any animal on the face of the earth if I just get them to depend on me for a free handout."

Another modern classic on the same subject is the true story about seagulls that discovered the easy life when a fleet of fishing boats started unloading in a harbor near them. They had been accustomed before to hustling for their meals over the surface of the ocean, but suddenly found plenty to eat in the unloading area. It was wonderful. No more hunting, just help themselves to what was being provided.

But then disaster struck. The boats quit that area and the gulls suddenly lost their handouts. It was a matter of going back to work or starving. Well, the tragedy is that they apparently had become too dependent. They knew nothing but the easy life and were helpless when the time came again for them to work for a living. So, they starved.

Whether or not we like to admit it, those are stories of the Great Society among hogs and gulls. They accepted the easy life not knowing that they were paying a high price in freedom and self reliance. It makes us wonder what will happen in our country if and when the handouts have to come to an end. Will people, like the hogs, discover they have become captives of an all powerful government? Or will they be like the gulls, devoid of the initiative to keep going?

To continue quoting, here's one from a current Warner and Swasey ad. "People don't want socialism (and its inevitable child, communism); they just want what causes it. You'd think this generation had invented some new formula for security and ease without work — Federal Aid. But the Federal government has no money it doesn't first take from you. And the more it takes from the workers to give to the chiselers, the closer both of them come to poverty. When the two meet, as they must, that is socialism. And it has been said, communism is simply socialism in a hurry. "But — our standard of (Continued on page 8)

W. H. Endres, 78, Resident 65 Years, Dies Suddenly

Werner H. Endres, 78, a resident of the community for 65 years, died suddenly in the yard of his home about 6 o'clock last Thursday of an apparent heart attack. He had a heart condition for several years.

Funeral services were held at 8 a.m. Saturday in Sacred Heart Church with a nephew, Father Eugene Luke of Subiaco, Ark., as celebrant of the Requiem Mass and Father Andrew Wewer delivering the funeral sermon. Assisting were Fathers Alcuin Kubis and Paul Hoedebeck.

Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery under direction of Nick Miller Funeral Home with Abbot Michael Lensing of Subiaco officiating at graveside rites. Pallbearers were six grandsons: Sam, Mike, Ricky, John Paul and Carl Endres and Chris Kupper.

Preceding the funeral, rosary was recited three times, at 4, 8 and 8:30 o'clock Monday in the chapel of Miller Funeral Home.

Werner Endres was born on Nov. 3, 1887 in Doon, Iowa, and came to Muenster with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Endres, when he was 13 years old. He was married here on Nov. 24, 1910 to Miss Lida Luke. For three years they farmed about two miles northeast of town then moved to the place five miles northwest of town which was their home for 51 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Endres observed their golden wedding in 1960. They had quit working the farm about two years before but continued living there until January 1964 when they moved into their new home in Muenster.

Endres was a charter member of the Muenster Knights of Columbus and a member of the Third Order of St. Francis. For many years he was secretary of the Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

Survivors are his wife; four sons, Arthur, Gilbert, Paul and Urban of Muenster; three daughters, Mrs. Val Fuhrmann (Continued on page 8)

IN SERVICES HELD Saturday in Sacred Heart Church Rev. Frowin Schoech, O.S.B., at the foot of the altar, was ordained by Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese. Attending the bishop are Msgr. Thomas Weinzapfel and Msgr. Fred Mosman. (Don Randolph photo)

Rev. Frowin Schoech Becomes a Priest in First Ordination Here

At the first ordination service in the seventy six year history of Muenster's Sacred Heart Parish Father Frowin Schoech, O.S.B., became the fourteenth native priest of the community.

He is a member of the Benedictine Abbey of Subiaco, Ark., the former Eugene Schoech, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schoech. He selected the name Frowin when he became a member of the order.

The Most Rev. Thomas K. Gorman, bishop of the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese was celebrant of the ordination, which was held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

After ordination Father Alcuin, pastor, was host at a dinner honoring the new priest in the school lunch room. Guests were members of Father Frowin's family and the clergy and servers at the ceremony. Speakers on that occasion were Bishop Thomas Gorman and Msgr. Thomas Weinzapfel.

Bishop Gorman's assistants at the ordination were the Very Reverend Monsignors Thomas Weinzapfel and Fred Mosman of Dallas. Others participating were the Rt. Reverend Abbots Michael Lensing of Subiaco and Alfred Hoening of Corpus Christi; Reverend Fathers Richard Johnson and Joseph Weinzapfel of Dallas; Harry Fisher of Fort Worth; Andrew Wewer and Alcuin Kubis of Muenster; Paul Hoedebeck, Leo Koessler and Eugene Luke of Subiaco and Reverend Frater Guy Pels of Subiaco. The servers were seminarians from the Muenster, Lindsay and Windthorst parishes.

Also present in the sanctuary were Fathers Carl Vogel of Denison, John Walbe of Lindsay, Thomas Taaffe of Gainesville and Fintan Oldham of Subiaco.

On the following day, Sunday, June 5, Father Frowin celebrated his first Holy Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

Father Eugene Luke of Subiaco Abbey, also a native of the parish, delivered the sermon.

He said the occasion was another glorious one in the history of the parish, celebrating the fourteenth time that one of its natives received the sacrament of Holy Orders. And he made a special mention of the new priest's selection of a name, one that is honored and loved in this parish, a reference to Father Frowin Koerdts who served as the local pastor for many years.

BIRTHS

Jeffery Paul Sandmann, born Wednesday, June 1, is a little brother for Lisa. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sandmann of Lindsay. The grandparent are Messrs. and Mrs. William Sandmann and William Schmitt of Lindsay. When the newcomer checked in at Gainesville Hospital he weighed seven pounds 12 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Herr of Gainesville have announced the birth of a daughter, Jana Lee, Wednesday, June 1, 6:35 a.m. at Gainesville Hospital. Others welcoming her are four sisters and two brothers and grandparents, the Frank Herts and Albert Henscheids. Jana Lee was baptized Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Church by Father Thomas Taaffe. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pels were there as godparents for their niece.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herms of Lindsay are parents of a seven pound three ounce daughter born Saturday, June 4, 6:05 p.m. at Gainesville Hospital. She joins a family of five boys and two other girls and is welcomed also by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoening, Muenster, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Herms of Lindsay. Mrs. Anna Loerwald of Lindsay has another great-grandchild.

years. Father Eugene said that the parish now can take credit for fourteen priests, five brothers and 73 nuns in the service of God, which is far better than the average of the rest of the country. If the Muenster ratio applied nation wide we would have 280,000 priests and 1,500,000 nuns. Instead there are 49,000 priests and 250,000 nuns.

That figures to one priest for about every 4000 persons of whom about 1000 are Catholic — obviously a big load for the priests.

Father Eugene then encouraged greater interest in the lay apostolate which is recommended by the Ecumenical Council as a way for laymen to assist priests in carrying out the work of God. The job ahead is enormous and frightening. It will need the combined work and prayers of both clergy and laity.

Father Frowin's assistants at the First Mass were Father Alcuin as high priest, Frater Malachy McNeerney and Father Leo Koessler of Subiaco as deacon and subdeacon, Fraters Guy Pels and Xavier Kleiss of Subiaco as first and second master of ceremonies, and Father Eugene Luke delivering the sermon.

In the procession preceding the Mass the new priest's sister, Karolyn Schoech was the spiritual bride carrying the chalice used in the Mass and also recited a poem "The Beautiful Hands of a Priest" while the procession paused briefly at the door of the church. Gina Felderhoff carried the paten. Sandra Reiter carried the grapes and wheat sheaves symbolic of the divine sacrifice.

Three lily carriers, representing as many years after the priest's profession, were Kenny Walterscheid, Kathy Kuta and James Barry. And twelve lily carriers representing that number of years in the seminary were Ricky Guthrie, Mark Kuta, Darell Walterscheid, Paul Reiter, Lloyd Reiter, Danny Walterscheid, Linda Miller, Kim Reiter, Marlene Pagel, Shirlene Pagel, Laurie Walterscheid and Stacie Walterscheid.

Mass servers were Dale Felderhoff, Teddy Yosten, Greg and Harry Kneupper, Glenn Schoech and Allen Spaeth.

Ushers for both the ordination and the first Mass were Jerry Kneupper, Wayne Reiter, Everett Spaeth and Davy Spaeth.

After the Mass more than 500 persons gathered in the Sacred Heart lunch room for a community dinner prepared and served by the local court of Catholic Daughters and for the reception for the new priest. Meanwhile Father Frowin's chalice and vestments were on display upstairs in the parish hall.

In his short remarks there Father Frowin thanked his (Continued on page 8)

Harvest Is Fine; Good Weather And Good Yields

One of the best harvest seasons in this community's history is in full swing. With good weather prevailing, combines are busy all over gathering a good yield of good quality grain.

The season so far has been the kind that farmers hope for — when the crop is there and the weather permits them to bring it in. There have been times when yield was equally good but much of it was lost in persistent rain.

This time the job is already near the end. Reports are that wheat harvesting is about 70 per cent finished around Muenster and even farther advanced farther south. A few farmers near Era have finished the wheat but are still working on oats.

On all sides they are far enough along so farmers can give definite figures of crops in some fields and fair estimates in others. Those figures are ranging from 15 to 45 bushels per acre and general average is estimated at 25 to 30. All of that is further improved by a good price of $1.70 per bushel.

Oats seems to be equally good — estimated at about 60 bushels per acre and worth about 70 cents a bushel.

If the present dry breezy weather continues there will be little grain left in the community a week from now.

Light Voting in Muenster Boxes Favors Martin

The election day turnout in Muenster Saturday was one of the poorest ever for the community but what little voting there was favored the winners of the state and county races.

Crawford Martin was winner over Franklin Spears for the Democratic nominee for attorney general by the statewide count of 362,624 to 285,922. He led 77 to 14 in the two Muenster boxes and 945 to 396 in the county.

Martin, a conservative and strong leader in the first primary, survived a campaign by labor-liberal forces to take advantage of the expected light vote by mustering a good turnout for Spears. But labor-liberal people apparently also failed to go to the polls.

The only other race on the local ballot ended in a win for Dr. James Atchison in the county and in Muenster. He bested Bob Smith 51 to 40 here and 691 to 635 in the county for the non-paying office of County Democratic Chairman.

On Honor Roll

Subiaco Academy's honor roll for the fourth quarter lists Norbert Fuhrmann, Eddie and Don Schad and David Stoffels of Lindsay and J. D. Luttmel of Muenster.

The semi-annual collection for the Muenster cemetery will be held next Sunday, Mrs. Tony Gremminger, co-chairman of the Garden Club's cemetery committee announced this week.

Members of the Garden Club will be at the doors of Sacred Heart Church to accept donations after all the services next Sunday.

The other semi-annual collection is held on All Saints Day. Money received in the two collections is used for mowing grass, trimming and replacing shrubbery and watering the cemetery.

The jubilarian, 90, will be in religious ceremonies Saturday, June 11, at the motherhouse, Mt. St. Francis, where she is a resident.

Mrs. Yosten and Janice went by train. The rest went with Ray Swirczynski by car. The Joe Swirczynskis will extend their visit as guests of their daughters and families, the Clarence Erpeldings and Alex Knaufs.

Plans Complete For Homecoming On Father's Day

Plans for Muenster's sixth annual homecoming celebration on June 19 are gaining momentum as 28 working committees are organizing various details of the day.

Festivities will include dinner at noon, picnic in the afternoon with carnival attractions and kiddie rides, reunioning of old timers, and dancing at night.

The many committees are headed by Father Alcuin Kubis, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish, and three general chairmen, Dan Haverkamp, Ed Schneider and Sylvan Walterscheid.

Since everyone is invited, even urged to attend, no special invitation is needed. However a committee mailed out invitations to former members and friends of the parish and city.

Firemen Finish Special Training

Muenster firemen have just completed a five weeks class of special training under Paul Williams, instructor of the firemen's training school of A&M University.

Williams spent the past five weeks in this area conducting the special courses in each of five towns: Muenster, Saint Jo, Nocona, Bowie and Henrietta. Muenster's classes were all on Mondays.

The next scheduled drill for the Muenster firemen will be Thursday, June 23, 6 p.m.

GOVERNMENT BANKRUPTCY

Nearly all governments throughout history have repudiated their financial obligations, although we do not know of any that have been honest enough to formally declare it is bankrupt.

Most of the nations of Europe, except Finland, in effect repudiated their World War I debt. If the creditor nations, including the United States, were to press for payment of those obligations, it is presumed the debtor nations would either formally repudiate them or would pay them with inflated currency. Little Finland earned the admiration of most of the world through continuing to pay its debts in the face of great tribulation.

The United States government repudiated its obligation to redeem in gold the currency held by its citizens, although it still is redeeming in gold the currency held by foreign nations.

The usual means a government uses to repudiate its debts is to increase the amount of currency in circulation and through expended credit — that is, through inflation. In Germany when inflation became runaway, the currency was virtually valueless, and holders of bonds considered they were not worth redeeming in the worthless currency. The United States inflation has not yet become runaway, but it is paying off its matured bonds with less valuable currency than it borrowed when the bonds were issued.

As long as the national government has unlimited taxing power, it can continue its irresponsible spending. But when buyers including banks, refuse to purchase bonds and when a large number of people refuse or are unable to pay their taxes, then the likelihood is that the printing press money will start rolling out in great quantities in the galloping inflation. That is when the "day of reckoning" will occur.

Paying off government obligations with less valuable currency has the same effect as a private individual or corporation paying off its debt on a percentage basis through a bankruptcy proceedings. But governments seldom formally admit bankruptcy.

GOLD AT POLAND SPRING

We suspect that many Maine taxpayers are somewhat less enthusiastic when they contemplate the amount withheld from their wages each week which goes to support the Federal Government. We also suspect that some of them were amazed and perhaps disturbed when they read last week that the new Women's Job Corps Center at Poland Spring has an authorized payroll of $1,020,645 a year with 54 of the 129 staff members earning salaries in excess of $150 a week.

It is understood that the purpose of the Center is to take underprivileged girls and, after a period of training and education, transform them in to something or other; just what, remains to be seen. The Center, of course, is one of the means by which the Great Society is being made manifest throughout the land.

But, like any government agency, it has to function with a multiplicity of officials. As would be expected, the top dog at the Center is the director who receives the modest salary of $18,018. Below him, picked somewhat at random, officials with quite impressive sounding titles and also quite impressive salaries: Operations Director at $15,510; Director of Administration at the same figure; Director of Living, at $16,016; Plans and Evaluations Director at $14,896; Assistant Director of Residence at $13,000; Supervisor Center Support at $12,896; Curricula Development Coordinator at $11,400. The list goes on and on.

No less knowledgeable person than Sargeant Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, has stated that the cost per year of training a Job Corps enrollee is the impressive amount of $9,000. The latest figures available give the cost of a year at such colleges as Harvard, Dartmouth, Smith or Wellesley as approximately $2,600. The girls who will be trained at Poland Spring will certainly receive an expensive if not worthwhile education, but perhaps the lowly taxpayer will wonder if it is possible to continue this war on poverty at the same time one is being carried on in Vietnam.

Poland Spring is certainly proving to be a gold mine and the Center is producing a spate of officials. What else it will accomplish remains to be seen. If a private business were operated in that fashion it would soon be in the hands of a receiver.

THE CUPBOARD IS BARE

The follies of foreign aid in combination with the cheese-paring "economies" of Secretary of Defense McNamara have rarely been exposed so completely as through the need to recover arms given to allied nations in order to overcome shortages in Viet Nam. The Johnson administration has had to ask Greece to return a volume of surplus American ammunition granted to the Greek military under the mutual security aid program.

The recovered material, including a large stock of napalm bombs, was stated to Ten percent of U.S. drowning victims normally are under five years of age, while 14 percent are 54 or older.

WHAT DOES FREEDOM MEAN?

Coercion of any kind is repugnant to Americans. Our unalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness means as much to the individual today as they did two centuries ago. Therefore, it is not surprising that a recent public opinion poll, conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, New Jersey, on the right-to-work issue came up with some answers that indicate hard sledding for compulsory unionism.

By more than a 4.5 to 1 margin, the American people believe that Congress should keep section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. By a 2.5 to 1 ratio — including support from 35 per cent of union members — the American people prefer that Congress should pass a law making all union membership voluntary, rather than compulsory.

By better than 2 to 1 ratio, the American people reject the union's "free rider" argument, believing that even though a worker may benefit from the union, he should be allowed to decide for himself whether or not to join. By better than 3 to 1 ratio, the American people believe that companies should not be permitted to discharge workers who refuse to join the union. A like ratio believe that states should be allowed to decide the right-to-work issue themselves. By almost a 2 to 1 ratio, the American people favor an open shop (voluntary unionism) rather than a union shop (compulsory unionism). The right to work is in excess of Greek defense requirements as specified in North Atlantic Treaty Organization plans. As these plans were certainly known to the administration all along, why did it overstock the Greek armed forces in the first place?

If the Greeks were oversupplied, how many other nations have been swamped with more American war material than they conceivably could use? And why such a Lady Bountiful policy toward countries which are not at war when the United States is at war in Viet Nam and our forces there haven't the weapons they need?

DOWN THE LADDER

As America descends the ladder to welfare statism, it gradually becomes more unpopular to question the costs of any program under consideration. Both the national Congress and State Legislatures appear to disregard the taxpayer's earning ability when considering legislation which moves us another rung downward.

News releases from members of the national Congressional delegation usually contain glowing descriptions of one or more federal projects which will spend tremendous sums of money. Seldom do we see any mention of anticipated tax revenue requirements or deficit spending required to finance all this Utopia.

Medical care for the aged, War on Poverty programs, foreign aid for any pip squeak ruler who throws rocks at our embassies, subsidies accompanied by political allocation of the right to produce for agricultural producers or any other segment of industry in financial difficulty, jobs for those who riot and destroy property, increased payments for longer periods from unemployment compensation, and others, are all promoted under the excuse of guaranteeing individual prosperity in a peaceful world.

In spite of the sugar coating politicians try to put on their activities, the fact indicates their actions are, for example, inflating our dollar so rapidly that elderly citizens' Increased Social Security benefits will give them little increased purchasing power.

Already we have forty members of the house banking committee recommending a federal law prohibiting the use of silver coins as collateral security for loans. We must assume this means money with intrinsic value is not to be considered as money.

Nationally, we seem to be on a spending spree. No one is supposed to be required or want to work. Government jobs are being manufactured by the millions. The government can, for a time, spend us into fake prosperity but the inflationary spiral brought on by such spending will inevitably destroy citizens' confidence as the value of money decreases at an ever increasing speed.

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM

Someone is falling down on the job of teaching the economic principles upon which our country is built, and upon which our freedom rests.

Not long ago a questionnaire was circulated among the junior and senior classes of a North Carolina high school. One of the questions asked: "Which of the following do you think should be government-owned or operated? — Railroads — Banks — Steel Companies — None?" And only 34 of the students said they felt None should be government-owned!

Another question asked, "Do you agree that the fairest economic system takes from each according to his ability and gives to each according to his needs?" Half of the students answered Yes!

And this is the key feature of the Communist economic theory! Half of this group accept the basic communist theory, and a third approve government ownership of key industries.

Do we dare question our youngsters, and learn how deep this theory has been woven into their thinking? And what are we doing to teach them the Free Enterprise system, the one that has made America the bulwark of Democracy and freedom?

It may be later than we think.

No one objects to how much you say if you say it in a few words.

Swim Classes At Muenster Pool Start June 20

Swimming classes at the Muenster pool will be held during the two weeks from Monday June 20 through Saturday July 2, Carl King, pool manager announced this week.

The course will consist of six hours of instruction over the two-week period and, for the first time in the local program, the students will be permitted to pick the day and hour they prefer.

To begin, students will not all report early the first day for registration and assignment to class. Instead they will report the first day of the class they select.

King explained that there will be six classes, at 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30 on Monday — Wednesday — Friday and at the same hours on Tuesday — Thursday — Saturday. The student picks the class he prefers and reports to its first session. If a few classes happen to be crowded students may have to transfer, King said. However he expects most of the students to find places in the classes they prefer.

Each class will be divided into groups according to the students' abilities and each group will have its own instructor.

Before classes start King welcomes all local youngsters who are qualified as instructors to join his staff. They may get on the list by seeing King any day at the pool.

As in previous years the swimming class is sponsored by Red Cross and is conducted according to Red Cross regulations. Students who complete it will receive Red Cross certificates and pins.

First of those regulations is that a student must have completed the first grade of school to be accepted into the class. After that age anyone is welcome, including adults.

Next regulation is that everyone must have a slip signed by a doctor indicating that he or she is physically able to take the course. In addition children must have a parent's signature indicating permission to attend.

Application forms for the swimming classes are available at the Enterprise and at the offices of both local doctors.

Garden Club Meet To Feature Films

Miss Candy Fette And Gene Riggs Say Vows at Mass

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Riggs are on their honeymoon trip to Hawaii after their marriage Monday afternoon in Sacred Heart Church.

The bride is the former Miss Candace Fette, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Steve Fette and foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Walterscheid. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Medders.

Father Alcuin Kubis, celebrated the Nuptial High Mass and performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends from a wide area.

The bride wore a princess gown of imported textured silk pea, the bodice and elbow-length sleeves flowered with seed pearls and crystals. The flower motif also adorned the skirt front at the split hemline and ornamented the full-length detachable train. A pearl headpiece held her full-length veil.

She carried a yellow-throated white orchid and stephanotis on her prayerbook, a gift from the groom, and a pearl rosary belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joe Swingle. And she wore a ring belonging to her late mother. Hank Walterscheid gave her in marriage.

Wedding Attendants

Miss Debbie Fette was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Cathy Medders, bridegroom's sister, Miss Charlotte Swingle of Houston, bride's cousin, and Miss Margie Fuhrmann were bridesmaids. Misses Mary and Sara Medders, groom's sisters, were junior bridesmaids and Donna Sue Murphee, groom's cousin, of New Orleans, and Barbara Walterscheid, bride's sister, were flower girls. They all wore identical dresses of lemon yellow linen with Empire waistlines, ruffled sleeves and long A-line skirts. They wore open-crown yellow picture hats and carried white daisies, except the flower girls who carried white baskets of yellow rose petals.

Bridegroom's attendants were Ernest Medders, proxy for the groom's brother Pvt. John Riggs of Fort Bliss, El Paso, and Donald and Richard Lynskey of Chattanooga, Tenn., Jack Pierce, Surgoinville, Tenn., groomsmen.

Junior groomsmen were Frank Medders and Stephen Fette, brothers of the couple.

Ushers were the groom's cousins, Jim Smiddy of Cleveland, Tenn., Charles and Jack Smiddy of Knoxville, Tenn., and Bill Brewer of Matawan, N. J.

Ring bearers were the bride's twin brothers, Nick and Neil Walterscheid.

The church was abloom with daisies on the altars. Fifteen-foot candelabra with white tapers twined with daisies and smilax flanked the main altar and identical smaller candelabra were in the sanctuary.

The main aisle of the church was covered with a bridal carpet and pews were marked with six-foot-tall candlesticks holding lighted white candles wrapped in smilax and daisies.

Sacred Heart men's choir sang the Mass with Anthony Luke at the organ. He also was at the console to accompany Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, aunt of the bride, soloist. She sang "Ave Maria" before Mass and "Mother at Your Feet" after the service when the newly married couple went to the Blessed Virgin's shrine and the bride presented the traditional bouquet on the altar.

A white canopy covered the outside walk of the church from the front doors to the street.

Wedding Festivities

Cocktail hour, wedding reception and banquet buffet, catered by the Sheraton of Dallas, were held in Colonial Acres Coliseum. More than 500 guests were present. They were registered by Miss Becky Swingle, cousin of the bride from Houston, and Miss Debbie Schilling.

Decorations were as beautiful and elaborate as they were for the famed formal opening of the show barn. Hundreds of white and yellow daisies adorned the building, tables and buffet boards and filled baskets that hung in graduated lengths from the ceiling.

A silver champagne fountain flowed the entire evening.

The bride's table was covered with white slipper satin and appointments were in silver. Other tables were covered with yellow cloths. The wedding cake was an elaborate eight-tier creation. After Gene and Candy cut the cake they slipped away on their honeymoon while guests danced to music of Phil Neighbors and his orchestra, currently at the Shamrock in Houston. Jesse Lopez and his band played during the cocktail hour.

For traveling Mrs. Riggs wore a beige and rust linen jacket dress with beige accessories.

They jetted from Dallas to San Francisco and left from there by boat for Hawaii. When they return July 2 they will live on the ranch. He is farm manager of Colonial Acres.

Among wedding guests were the couple's grandmothers, Mrs. Joe Smiddy, Mrs. John Fette and Mrs. Joe Swingle. They had orchid corsages as did Mmes. Medders and Walterscheid.

Susan Bean, Bride Of David Yosten At Nuptial Mass

Miss Mary Susan Bean and David Leonard Yosten were married in Sacred Heart Church Saturday in a double ring ceremony at Nuptial Mass, 4 p.m. Father Andrew Wewer officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bean of El Reno, Okla. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Yosten of Muenster.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of white silk organza styled with a natural waistline, long tapered sleeves and portrait neckline. The full skirt fell into a chapel train. Embroidered organza flowers, seed pearls and bugle beads enhanced the bodice and train. A coronet of lace embroidered with seed pearls and beads held her waist length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white rose buds arranged on a white missal with lilies of the valley and streamers. Worked into the bouquet was the bride's grandmother's blue crystal rosary, a family heirloom. She was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. William J. Bean III of Temple who escorted her up the aisle. When they reached the front pew, the bride paused to kiss her father who is a semi-invalid.

Miss Claudia Endres of Dallas was maid of honor and bride's other attendants were Mrs. Truman Wolf of Dallas, Miss Patsy Hartman and the groom's sister, Miss Suzy Yosten. They wore identical white on pink floor length dresses of bonded lace with Empire bodices and A-line skirts.

A band of shocking pink satin accented the waistline and formed a bow at back from which extended a free-swinging full length panel. Pink satin bows formed the headpieces and all three carried colonial bouquets of pink rose buds.

Little Misses Kelly and Dana Bean of Temple, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore floor length dresses of white organza over pink taffeta.

John Yosten, brother of the groom, was best man and Truman Wolf, Bobby Pels of Weatherford, Okla., and Clyde Walterscheid were groomsmen. Harold Flusche and Ricky Stewart ushered.

Mrs. Leo Lawson was vocal soloist, Anthony Luke organist, and the men's choir sang the Mass. After the service the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

Wedding reception and buffet were held in the Parish Hall where Miss Jeannine Hofbauer of Dallas and Mrs. Jack Bosler of El Reno registered guests. Wedding dance was in the VFW Hall.

After their honeymoon trip the newlyweds will be at home in Muenster for the summer in the Needham apartment. He will be working for Trumpton Oil Co. until the fall term opens at Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla., where he is majoring in pharmacy. The bride was graduated from Sacred Heart High School in El Reno and attended the University of Dallas. For her wedding trip she wore a yellow linen outfit with white accessories.

When Mrs. Jack Biffle got through writing 6 eight times in succession Monday, she paused to look at the figures. They were right. She was working at Muenster Livestock Auction. The date was 6-6-66. The price of the animal she was listing sold for $66.66. It will be another century before that many sixes can be written in a date.

How much do you have to spend for a good calendar
watch?

Wrong.

This Caravelle® watch is only $14.95.
But the calendar part is as accurate as the calendar in a $1000 chronometer.
And the watch part?
You can't get anything as good at twice the price.
Unless it's another Caravelle.
Caravelles cost $10.95 to $29.95. And you know what watches are usually like at that price. Cheap.
But there's nothing cheap inside a Caravelle. Only precision parts tooled to very tight tolerances.
Only a jeweled-lever movement. Where every jewel is a working jewel.
And every Caravelle carries a guarantee in writing. From Bulova.
You probably shouldn't give a low-priced watch
Unless it's a Caravelle from Bulova.

Unlawful

"It is against the law for a train to enter the city limits unless preceded by a man on horseback."

This quaint law, once on the books of the nation's largest city, is long since outdated and repealed. But there are many other regulations and restrictions governing railroads today equally out of date, equally geared to an era long past. The result is slower progress, stifled competition, and unjust discrimination which deny to the public the full benefits of a dynamic railroad service. America needs a transport policy as modern as America itself. Congress can provide it.

living is still high? Taxes haven't been made confiscatory? When governments spend more than they take in, the sure result is inflation. And inflation is the cruelest tax of all — it destroys everything everybody has."

Long ago President Lincoln said all of that in just a few words: "You can't help people by doing for them what they can and should do for themselves."

No doubt you noticed that the big news Tuesday was the story of that guy blasting the negro James Meredith with a charge of bird shot. It was a cowardly stunt. No doubt about that. And it caused a terrific howl all over the nation — most likely some of it due to hasty reports that Meredith had been killed. But, honestly, wasn't it really just another civil rights incident blown out of proportion?

One of the obvious and significant facts about it was the use of birdshot — a clear indication that the motive was no more serious than to inflict pain. Apparently the assailant would have been just as satisfied to slug Meredith in the face with his fist, but did not have the opportunity.

So, was he really guilty of a crime, as so much of the nation wide howl seemed to imply? Or was it rather a case of civil disobedience? You'll recall that many acts of lawlessness in civil rights affairs have been excused as civil disobedience—on grounds that some people claimed the right to disregard certain laws. They did not like some things, so they did something about them regardless of law. The assailant in this case may have applied the same kind of thinking.

Without excusing a cowardly attack, let's at least be realistic enough to admit that this may be just a case of civil disobedience on the other side of the racial issue. The people who dreamed up that miserable excuse for lawlessness had better think what their idea can lead to.

"When I was first married, I was very happy. I'd come from a hard day in the fields; my little dog would race around barking and my wife would bring me my slippers. Now, after all these years, everything's changed. When I come home, my dog brings my slippers, and my wife barks at me!"

"I don't know what you're complaining about," said the counselor. "You're still getting the same service."
