NUMBER 42

Lots of Texans think those three federal judges should have their heads examined for ruling that the state's loyalty oath is unconstitutional. In fairness, however, we should not be too harsh in our judgment. The three were only following a precedent established by the Supreme Court last January and by a federal court in Colorado last April. Had the verdict been otherwise it would have been reversed anyway when taken to the Supreme court.

The case in question concerned a part time instructor at El Centro Junior College in Dallas. He lost his job because he refused to take the loyalty oath, which requires an applying teacher to state whether he holds membership in subversive groups, including the communist party. He claimed that the school violated his right to freedom of speech, belief, conscience and association.

The three judges sided with him, and stated that the Texas oath erred in equating association or membership with non-allegiance. "While such membership may furnish basis for future inquiry into an applicant's present or past activities, it does not in itself constitute a threat to the state."

The judges have a point there. Refusing to take the loyalty oath is not conclusive evidence that a person is communist and advocates the overthrow of our government. It is not sufficient offense to deprive anyone of life, liberty or citizenship. However, most of Texas, and of the nation, believe firmly that such refusal is more than sufficient reason to deprive one of a job with the state or the federal government. To our way of thinking, a person who can not or will not establish his loyalty beyond the shadow of a doubt, a person who does not state his loyalty proudly, does not deserve to be on the public payroll.

The idea of our government hiring a man who devotes his ability and energy to the enemy is as absurd as a business firm hiring one who recommends the competitor's product over his own. Loyalty should be the "sine qua non", the quality that must be present before any other is considered — in business life or in government.

Actually, that's how it is in business. But government, with its over abundance of twisted thinking do-gooders, takes the attitude that a person's right to a public job is sacred. If there is a doubt about his loyalty he must be given the benefit of the doubt. The fact that he can do a great deal of harm in his position is immaterial.

As a teacher such a person can do harm in a special way. He spreads his subversive ideas as free speech, but those who hear him are not free to refute him. They lack the knowledge and skill, and probably are aware that disagreement would bring on a failing grade.

A teacher, of all people, should be loyal beyond the shadow of a doubt. If he can't say proudly that he is a good American and that he can be trusted to teach the American way, he has no right to teach an American child.

Though the federal judges' decision is offensive in principle, it does not make much difference in practice. Subversives were not kept out anyway. Very few had any scruples about taking the loyalty oath. However the decree has one frustrating effect. Formerly reds could be prosecuted for swearing falsely. Now they can't be charged even when found guilty of spreading their poison in American classrooms.

The idea of sending American observers to South Vietnam to watch last Sunday's election was a dandy, but it was prompted by the wrong motive, so its real value is in danger of being overlooked. Our people went looking for faults and are returning practically empty handed. Had they gone looking for solid citizenship and healthy concern for good government they'd have found lots of inspiration.

Reports say over 80 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls despite a campaign of murder and terror by the VC to frighten them away. We Americans ought to hang our heads in shame for the puny 50 per cent vote we normally get out.

Prizes Given in Muenster Library Reading Program

Activity connected with Muenster Public Library's summer reading program ended Tuesday with presentation of awards to the boy and girl who read the greatest number of books during the three-month program and to runner-up readers.

Mrs. Joe Luke, librarian, and Mrs. Steve Moster, her secretary, handed out ball point pens to students in their classrooms at the two local schools.

Way out front as champion reader is Timothy Sicking who completed 311 books during the three-month period. A winner last year, he topped his own record this year. Tim is the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sicking, a student in Sister Anna's third grade at Sacred Heart School.

Next high and winner among the girls is Mary Hess with 150 books. Barbie Hess is runner-up with 130 books. Both are students in Sister Florentine's fifth grade at Sacred Heart. Their parents are Messrs. and Mmes. Gary Hess and Ray Hess.

Runner-up among the boys is Robert Hennigan a second grader in Mrs. Josephine English's room at Muenster Public School. He read 63 books. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennigan Jr. are the parents.

Others with a high reading record are Gloria Hess, 95 books; Mary Hoedebeck 91, Sherrie Knabe 85, Janice Fisher 82, Monica Hartman 69, Brenda Voth and Marilyn Otto 76, Clara Mae Knabe 65. Sixteen youngsters read more than 40 books.

A total of 128 children received certificates for reading the required number of books during the summer. This program is sponsored by Texas State Library.

During the reading period May 15 to August 15 library staffers checked out 7,788 books during 16 open hours a week.

Gets BA Degree

Veronica Mary Hess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hess, is listed as a candidate for Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Texas at the end of the 1967 summer session.

Hornet, Knight Game Here Friday Rates as Toss-up

A real struggle is in prospect on the Muenster High field Friday night when Glenn Richardson's Hornets take on the Knights of Lindsay.

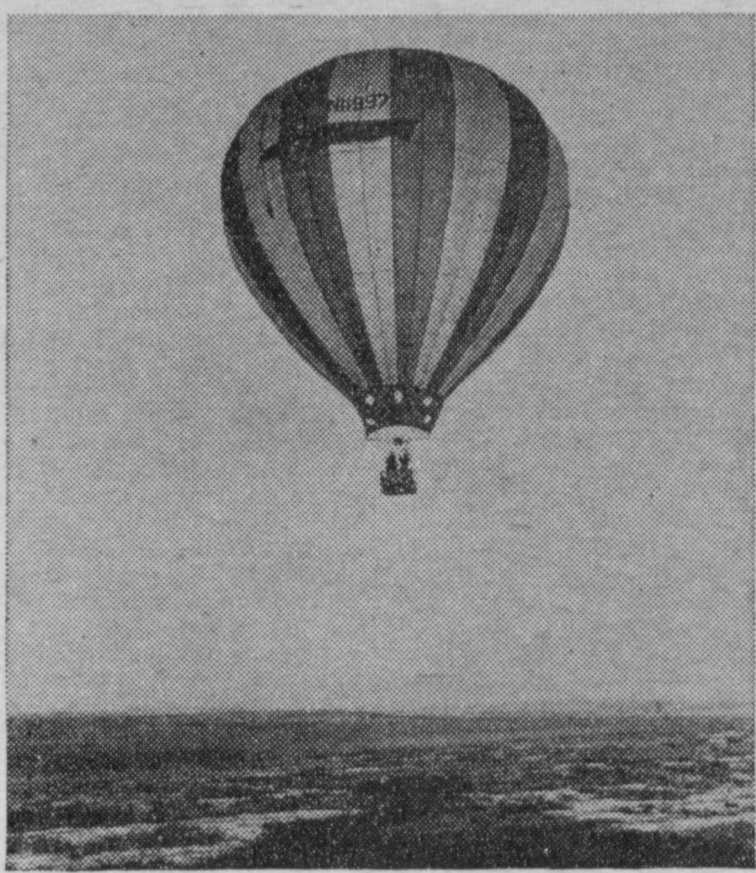

The game will be at 7:30. Richardson said this week that he has lots of respect for the Lindsay boys after seeing them in scrimmage with Sacred Heart. That contest was closer than the scoring indicated and pointed to the Knights as possible title contenders in their 8-man district.

On the other hand Muenster's scrimmage at Prosper last week was a disappointment. The Hornets came away from there with a list of faults that need urgent attention, both offensively and defensively. This week's practice, as much as rainy weather permits, is concentrating on those needs. It is also returning Bobby Bruns to the quarterback job after more than a week of favoring the cracked rib he sustained in the first scrimmage. Other injuries are bruises and muscle strains which should be mostly worked out in time for the game.

In experience the teams will probably be about evenly matched. Lindsay has more seniors, Muenster more juniors, and the lineup will be about equal in freshman and sophomore strength. However, Muenster has more experience in its reserves. Muenster's total roster has 28. Lindsay's has 23, including 9 freshmen.

A person all wrapped up in himself is no gift to anyone.

Muenster Center Licks All Stars, Ends .758 Season

Softballers of The Center closed their '67 season Saturday night with a snappy 9-4 victory over a group of Gainesville all stars selected from the Cooke County softball league.

They played errorless ball, apparently eager to live down a miserable performance — their worst of the season — three nights earlier, when their boners were conservatively counted at 8.

The win was their 22nd in a season of 29 games, and closes out their season with a .758 standing. Also on their record is champ of the county softball tourney and share in a 3 way tie for runner-up in the county league's regular season.

Muenster started its scoring in the third inning when it brought in 3 on two walks, an error and a sacrifice. Next inning iced the game away as Muenster counted 5 tallies on 3 hits, 2 walks and an error. The All Stars got started in the fifth with 2 runs and added 2 in the seventh.

Alvin Hartman pitched for Muenster, giving up 7 hits and 1 walk and striking out 1. Three hurlers for the All Stars had a combined record of 6 strikeouts while allowing 5 walks and 6 hits.

Center hitters were Leonard Reiter, 2 singles; Adam Wolf, Willie Walterscheid and Roy Reiter, each a double.

Others playing were Tom Flusche, Joe Felderhoff, Tommy Herr, Carl Walterscheid, Charlie Cash and Alvin Hartman.

BIRTHS

Proudly announcing an eight pound two and a half ounce son are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fleeman. The little boy is a brother for Cindy. Others welcoming him are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fleitman, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. General Fleeman of Hinkley, Ohio. There are two great-grandmothers, Mrs. Ben Bengfort of Lindsay and Mrs. Joe Fleitman. The newcomer arrived Saturday, Sept. 2, 6:40 a.m. at Gainesville Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Augie Knabe have announced the birth of their second daughter Gina Sue at Muenster Hospital, Wednesday, Aug. 31, 11:12 p.m. The five pound 13 1/2 ounce girl is a sister for Gwen Ellen. She's a granddaughter for the M. B. Reeds of Saint Jo and the Albert A. Knabes.

Knights Plan Two Events Observing Patron's Feast Day

Knights of Columbus of Muenster will observe the feast of their patron with two events, Mass and communion followed by Brunch on October 8, and a dinner-dance on October 14. The occasion is Columbus Day, October 12. Plans for both events were discussed at the KC meeting Wednesday night.

The program on Sunday, Oct. 8, for members and ladies, begins with Mass and group communion in Sacred Heart Church at 12 o'clock. Brunch and a Columbus Day program will follow in the parish hall. Visitors from neighboring councils and from Dallas are invited. Officers ask members to leave word with Grand Knight Hoedebeck or J. A. Klement if they intend to be there — to help assure adequate preparation.

After the program all will be welcome at the K of C hall. Another event planned is a Second and Third Degree initiation on Saturday, Nov. 25. That's Thanksgiving weekend, which officers consider more convenient to most members than a Sunday.

Carnegie Course Promoted for Hospital Benefit

Another opportunity to attend a Dale Carnegie course in Muenster becomes available just a few weeks after the first course was completed.

Mrs. Richard Grewing announced Monday that Muenster Jaycees and the Muenster Hospital Auxiliary are cooperating in arranging a free pilot session Wednesday of next week, September 13, in the Muenster High School Library to introduce the famous training in human relationship to interested persons. Tigers Will Open Grid Season With Game at Saint Jo

Tom Williams and his Sacred Heart Tigers are ready for their season opener Friday night with the Panthers at Saint Jo.

Even though the Panthers are rated as tough as ever, and they have lived up to their rating in practice scrimmages with Whitesboro and S&S, Tiger spirits are high. Williams says they will go to Saint Jo with full confidence of their ability to win.

At the same time the Tigers and their coach are aware that they can take nothing for granted. They'll need a big effort every minute to do the job.

Tigers, too, are starting the season with a good rating. Practice tussles with Gainesville B and Lindsay indicated that they can move the ball over the ground and through the air, and they have been particularly sharp on defense.

Physically the two teams seem to be about equally hurt. The word reaching Williams says that one Panther is injured. The same applies to Sacred Heart. Ben Fleitman has an arm fracture that will keep him out of the game about a month.

In that respect Sacred Heart will probably be at a disadvantage. It has few capable replacements. On the other hand Saint Jo has a big roster and will have considerably less trouble with substitutions. Kickoff time will be 8 o'clock on the Panther field.

Another Game for Tigers

A game with Gainesville B is the eighth on the improving football schedule of Sacred Heart School. It will be played the third or fourth week of October, which are open on the Tiger schedule. That makes the fourth contest — two games and two scrimmages — added by Williams since he became the Tiger coach. With the job he inherited a 6-game schedule.

Tiger Pep Rally Planned For Friday

The first pep rally of the year at Sacred Heart is booked for Friday afternoon as players and students build up steam for the game at Saint Jo. It will consist of practice on yells and introduction of Co-captains and team members by Coach Tom Williams.

Cheer leaders for the season are Laurie Trubenbach, Donna Stoffels, Kaye Klement, Beverly Koelzer, Connie Endres and Donna Endres.

In event of rain the affair will be held in the Parish Hall.

morning, .44 on Tuesday, .17 on Wednesday and .85 on Thursday — a total of 1.68 inches, and fair prospects for more.

Furthermore, the showers were 100 per cent useful. Humidity has been high all along and the rain fell mostly in drizzles. There has been no loss by run off or evaporation.

The moisture comes at a fine time for area farmers. Those who were early with fall planting are assured of early sprouting and good prospects for winter grazing. Others will have a good seed bed waiting for their planting. Stockmen, too, are getting a break. The moisture will give new life to pastures, which have been suffering through most of the summer.

The rain follows an August total measure of only 1.18 inch and leaves the year's total reading near normal. The measure now is 20.60 inches. The average year's rainfall is about 30 inches.

Several Families Change Residences

Three families moved from Muenster to new locations the past week, others have changed city addresses and a new family moved here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Muller and daughters Debbie and Vickie are located at Bedford. He's attending a training school preparatory to going to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl King and two children are Gainesville residents now. Both are teaching school. And the Henry Hackers and four children have moved to Rosston. They have a mobile home.

In city moves, Mr. and Mrs. John Yosten are occupying the former Selby house, corner Oak and First. Since moving from Commerce they had been living with her parents, the Victor Hartmans until the place was available. It was last occupied by the Robert Fleitmans who moved to De Soto, Tex. And Mrs. John Schilling and her sister Mrs. F. J. Wilder moved from the Fisher house on Main Street to the former home of the late Mrs. Lena Streng. The property belongs to Raymond Zimmerer now.

Miss Dorothy Hartman and her mother, Mrs. John Hartman, have moved from the country to their new city home on North Pecan and the Leonard Hartman family has moved to the Hartman farm.

New residents here are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walls and baby moving from Nocona. He works for Grewing Brothers and they occupy one of Joe Trachta's houses in the north part of town.

Karen Endres Gets Master's Degree

Miss Karen Endres was among graduates of the University of South Carolina in Columbia in the summer commencement receiving a Master of Arts degree in English.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Endres, Karen is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and the University of Dallas where she received her Bachelor degree.

She will leave Muenster this weekend for Athens, Ga., where she will teach English in the University of Georgia.

Campaign Going For Sacred Heart Student Council

Campaigning for offices in the Sacred Heart High student council is under way and will continue until the election, which will be held this week Friday at an assembly in the auditorium.

Until then candidates are doing their politicking. At the assembly they will close their races with final campaign speeches.

The candidates, all approved by the faculty screening committee are: for president, Stan Endres and Linda Rohmer; for vice-president, Mike Endres and Kenny Schmitz; for secretary, Connie Endres and Dianne Sicking; for treasurer, Nancy Endres, Donna Rohmer and Peggy Endres.

Class officers will be elected next week Friday. Since school regulation does not permit a student to be an officer in both council and class, candidates for the latter cannot be determined until the council officers are elected.

2 Men Named on TP&L Ag Program

John Hendrick of Irving has been named to the newly-created position of supervisor of agricultural development for Texas Power & Light Company. T. L. Austin, Jr., TP&L president, announced today.

In addition, Charles Fry has been named to succeed Jim Dickey as livestock specialist for TP&L. Fry has been superintendent of cattle operations for the Company in Malakoff since 1959.

In his new position, Hendrick will supervise field personnel such as agricultural consultants and will work closely with district managers to develop new programs to aid in agricultural development.

Hendrick joined TP&L in 1961 as a farm service advisor in the Company's Central Division, headquartered in Irving. He became farm service supervisor in the Central Division in 1964, and was named agricultural consultant for the Central Division in 1965.

Fry joined TP&L in 1954 as a farm service advisor in the Company's Paris district. In his new position, he will work throughout TP&L's 52-county service area on programs designed to increase farm income from livestock operations.

Both Hendrick and Fry will be headquartered at the Company's Dallas office.

Medicaid Program To Help 350,000 Needy of Texas

State and hospital officials are confident the far-reaching new Medicaid program will begin functioning as scheduled on September 1.

Program will bring medical and hospital benefits to 350,000 needy Texans. It is authorized by the same federal law which provides medicare to old folks.

Texas Department of Public Welfare, which will administer Medicaid, estimates benefits during the first year of operation will total $125,000,000. Federal funds will match a $26,700,000 state outlay on a four-to-one basis.

Points to remember:

Eligible for benefits are Texans on public welfare assistance rolls — old age assistance, aid to blind, families with dependent children and the totally and permanently disabled, or those eligible for such assistance who are patients at state mental and tuberculosis hospitals. (Coverage is automatic for the latter, with no application as such required.)

Services include in-patient and out-patient hospital care, diagnostic work such as laboratory fees and x-ray costs, doctor bills and nursing home charges.

Bills will be paid through a "fiscal intermediary". Welfare Department will contract with Blue Cross-Blue Shield to handle doctors' bills (on strict basis of prevailing charges). Hospitals will be paid actual costs as shown by audit. Blue Cross-Blue Shield will be reimbursed by the state and will receive an additional service fee.

Eligible welfare enrollees will receive identification cards from the Department of Public Welfare. Cards can be presented to insure care as limited by details of the federal act (Title 19).

A LIBERAL SPEAKS

More than sixty years ago, a man who came to be known as a leading liberal in the United States expressed himself as follows before the Boston Central Labor Union:

"The employee should strive to make the earnings of any business as large as possible.

There can be no greater mistake for the workingman than to restrict the output of the individual. You must make the total earnings of the business in which you are engaged the largest possible. By earnings in this connection I mean the aggregate fund available for paying workmen, inventors, and managers. Make this aggregate large and there will be plenty for all among whom it is to be divided.

"The most potent factor in securing large profits is the avoidance of waste, and the greatest source of waste in the industrial world is unused, underdeveloped, or misdirected human effort. To the correction of that evil, trade unions should direct their attention.

"Any restriction upon the output of the individual reduces the fund of profits available for distribution, besides demoralizing the man who is so restricted.

"It follows also that differences in efficiency between different individuals must be recognized and rewarded, and that those who can work faster and better than the others must not be retarded by the less efficient. The industrial superiority of America is largely due to the absence of restriction upon individual effort — to the encouragement of the individual by giving him the fruits of his efforts.

"A limitation on the production of the individual is pure waste. The business is merely rendered less profitable, and the man whose production is restricted is injured also. Nor does the restriction of output make more work for others. The amount of work to be done is, in a country like ours, in no sense fixed — for the amount of goods or services men buy is not fixed. The amount bought is, as a rule, limited only by the ability to buy.

"If you waste human effort you make the products cost more. If you raise prices without increasing incomes you have simply limited the amount that will be bought. You have merely given people less for their money."

Those are the words of the late Mr. Justice Louis D. Brandeis.

We commend them, particularly, to Mr. Walter Reuther, who is demanding a guaranteed annual wage for his automobile worker union members.

Ad in newspaper: Notice — large Brahma bull has wandered into my pasture, whipped my little bull, torn down miles of fence, made a nuisance of himself in general with my young Black Angus heifers, also put me up a tree, kicked my leopard dog's eye out.

If the owner doesn't get this critter by next weekend, the general public is invited to a Bar-B-Que.

ONE ACRE IN THREE

It probably will come as no surprise to most people to learn that Big Brother in Washington is a big land baron. What may surprise many is the amount of land the Federal government owns. The total is in the neighborhood of 770 million acres, and that is quite a spread. It even dwarfs the LBJ ranch down Texas way.

There's an interesting story in how America's public lands grew, so that today one acre in every three in the United States is Federal-owned. When the Republic was founded seven of the original States ceded to the central government immense tracts of land, 233.4 million acres in all, lying westward to the Mississippi River. After that, through treaty and purchase, the United States acquired a billion acres of public domain. Alaska provided a lot of this public domain acreage that at one time or another totalled nearly two billion acres.

Much of this land was sold for revenue in the early years and then a great deal was released for settlement and development by pioneers. Millions of acres went as land grants to railroads, the military and the various States. Nearly 1.2 billion acres thus passed to private or State use, leaving the 770 million acres mentioned earlier. At the moment, for example, the Federal government owns over half the land in four states: Nevada, Utah, Idaho and Oregon and almost all the land in the State of Alaska.

Some of this acreage is reserved for special purposes: National Forest and Parks, wildlife refuges, military installations, etc. But more than half of the 770 million acres is "public domain," which is a strange twilight zone. These "vacant and unappropriated" lands have never been dedicated to a specific, permanent use.

Since 1964 a Public Land Law Review Commission, established by Congress, has been studying the problem of public lands and it will make its report to the President and the Congress by December 31, 1968. When this is done we hope that there will be a recommendation that most of this land will be returned to the States — with proper safeguards, of course.

Some people who have interested themselves in this matter suggest that much of the land might be offered for sale, with the unsold acreage given to the States at no charge. However the matter is resolved, it should release an army of federal jobholders for productive employment elsewhere, and that, we think would be an asset.

Nation's Pipelines Carry 500 Million Gallons Every Day

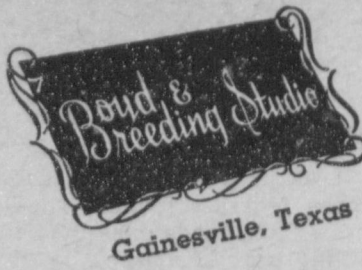

The nation's 213,000 miles of liquid petroleum pipelines transport more than 500 million gallons of crude oil and refined products every day.

Oil Facts, a publication of the American Petroleum Institute, says this amount of fuel would fill the cargo tanks of 63,000 tank trucks. Parked bumper to bumper, they would form a line 400 miles long. If all of this fuel were gasoline, it could fill the tanks of 25 million automobiles.

With more than 100 years of experience behind them, oil pipelines have achieved remarkable records in efficiency, economy and safety, according to Oil Facts. No system for moving freight has a better safety record than oil pipelines. Accidents involving these lines are so rare that they accounted for only three one-thousandths of one per cent of the accidental deaths recorded in the United States in the past decade.

Oil pipelines adhere strictly to a series of safety codes and standards, and spend more than $70 million a year on maintenance. They also supported federal legislation enacted in 1965, giving the Interstate Commerce Commission authority to set safety standards for oil pipelines.

Mrs. Ada Mitchell Is Honored on Her 91st Anniversary

A party to celebrate her 91st birthday honored Mrs. Ada Mitchell at 6:30 p.m. on August 26 at Golden Years Rest Home where she is a resident. Her children, joined by grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, helped her celebrate.

The 91 year-old honoree entertained guests by playing the piano and french horn. These are her favorite hobbies along with crocheting rugs which she gives to relatives and friends.

Mrs. Mitchell is well known here and in the surrounding area. She and her husband, the late Tom Mitchell, settled on a ranch in the Hardy community where they reared their family of four daughters and three sons.

Mrs. Mitchell rode horseback, side saddle, in the Nocona Centennial Parade a few years ago. Her only complaint was that she was given an old, slow horse to ride. She asked for one with a little more life next time.

Birthday cake and punch were served to guests and residents of the home by daughters Mrs. Jack Hogan of Hardy and Mrs. Edna Orrell of Nocona.

Super Stadium

Ninth Wonder Of The World?

A huge, domed, all-weather sports stadium, larger than the Houston Astrodome, is on the drawing boards. It would be by far the largest clear-span wood structure ever built. Designed to keep fans out of wind and rain, it also shelters their cars.

It's 840 feet across, 198 feet wider than the Houston Astros' indoor stadium, until now hailed as the "Eighth Wonder of the World." Ceiling would soar 250 feet from floor—48 feet higher than the Astrodome, which would fit inside the new stadium.

Standard wood products, including laminated rib framework and plywood walls, would make this super-stadium dome far less costly to build than any other form of construction, says William R. Reed, Reed's Tacoma, Wash., architectural firm. Harris & Reed, designed the structure for Weyerhaeuser Company. Incidentally, the all-wood dome meets the 1-hour fire rating, the most stringent fire code in the nation.

Four-level parking area, three under cover, lets sports fans drive to same level as their seating section, park and walk short distance to seats.

Members of the press would walk through hollow-arch framework to press box hung from center of ceiling. Maintenance crews would use the same passageways to replace lighting and maintain ventilating equipment, also concealed in the wooden ribs. The result is a clean, uncluttered ceiling with no need for scaffolding for maintenance crews.

Actual playing field and most of the seats would be below ground level, snuggled inside the building's poured-concrete foundation shell. Surface material is of prefinished aluminum overlaid plywood panels. The multi-use stadium would seat 50,000 for baseball, 5,000 more as a football arena. Engineering and cost studies for the Weyerhaeuser colossus were done by consulting engineers for 110-story twin towers of New York's Port Authority's World Trade Center. The firm, Worthington, Skilling, Helle & Jackson, says the proposed wood structure would withstand snow loads of 25 pounds per square foot and 110-mile-an-hour winds.

DPS Chief Advises Care in Selecting Motorcycle Helmet

AUSTIN —The Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., reported today that prospective headgear standards for motorcycle operators and passengers have been established. The DPS is currently testing headgear and issuing approval certificates to helmets meeting the prescribed standards. The Department was delegated the responsibility of establishing standards by the last Legislature. Enforcement of the law becomes the duty of all police agencies. Effective January 1, 1968, all motorcycle operators and passengers will be required to wear approved protective headgear whenever riding a motorcycle. The law provides that any person convicted of riding a motorcycle without protective headgear may be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50. Garrison cautioned parents and youngsters against rushing out and buying one of the cheaper helmets appearing on the market at the present time until it is certain that the helmet will receive safety approval. "These purchasers are looking for an opportunity to both comply with the law and to save money," Garrison said. "But many of these helmets may fail to meet the minimum standards and will not provide for the safety of the wearer. These will have to be discarded and new helmets purchased. "The Department will have a list of approved helmets available about October 1. This list will be furnished to all police agencies, to headgear wholesalers and retailers, and to news agencies. The list will be updated as needed to include any headgear which is granted approval.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The present and the future concerns everyone, especially the farmer. He must manage his farm not only to make a living this year, but also to secure a living in future years. Parallel terraces can insure these parallel goals.

Progress is essential for survival in the business world. The farming business is no exception. The farmer must advance with new techniques to survive. Parallel terraces are new techniques in this area and they have been proven to be progressive in the farming operation. Gradient type terraces have protected the land for many years, but now we must progress and think not only of protection, but include convenient and time saving techniques in our conservation practices. Today it is not just a matter of what will work, but rather what will work and be convenient at the same time. Parallel terraces fit the order.

Soil Conservation Service Technicians will be glad to assist you in the design and installation of a parallel terrace system on your farm. The Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors also recommend parallel terraces.

name, for the second time, made big liars of the Cong. Reds claim they are supporting the South Vietnamese right to self determination. The people's overwhelming vote in spite of severe difficulty showed that the reds definitely are not wanted there. People here also can learn from the election. It leaves no doubt that we're on the right side in the fighting.
