

To stay or not to stay in Vietnam, that is the question which seems to get bigger every day. Lots of people who used to be hawks are beginning to worry about defeat or perhaps a negotiated settlement that would serve the communist purpose, which would eventually become equivalent to our defeat.

Ever since the war started most Americans have supported the government's policy. They agreed that the Cong uprising is a well known method of red aggression and the real issue was whether South Vietnam would be gobbled up by North Vietnam. They thought it was proper to help South Vietnam resist enslavement by their red neighbors of the north.

However, their helpful spirit has been jolted by many disappointments as they saw a worthy cause backed by miserably inadequate efforts. It is highly doubtful that American public opinion would have been so favorable to Administration policy if people had known several years ago what they know now.

They had no idea of the handicaps that would be imposed on our fighting men by their own government. They did not suspect that our bombers would be forbidden to hit air fields, missile sites, ports, and various other significant military targets. They did not know that certain areas would have to be respected as sanctuary for the enemy's hit and run raiders. They did not know that the enemy would be permitted to choose the method of fighting, forcing GIs to wage a man to man jungle war. They did not know that the enemy would be allowed to bring in huge stocks of supplies.

Americans felt from the start that their country could and would win in a short time. And their confidence remained firm as the war dragged on. They endured disappointments in hopes that the enemy would appreciate our obviously reluctant half effort and agree to negotiations, but they never had doubts of an honorable settlement or America's ability to win.

However, attitudes are changing now. The war's progress in recent weeks prompts many to wonder whether we can win, and if so, whether the outcome of peace negotiation will be worth the cost.

Apparently our country has come to the crossroads. The time has come for the big decision. Should we quit the pussy foot effort and go all out for victory? Or should we give up the war as a lost cause and quit wasting men and materials?

The first question, of course, should be referred to our military men. Considering the enormous build-up of enemy power allowed by our leniency, our chances are not what they used to be, so expert opinion of the situation becomes more important than ever.

Cuba's Loss Is Muenster's Gain

For the second time since Muenster's hospital was opened four years ago, this community profits by the loss of a communist country.

Dr. Alfredo Antonetti, who opened his office in Muenster Medical Center Monday, has much in common with Dr. B. F. Hejduk, who died of carbon monoxide poisoning on May 30 last year. Both left their homelands because of communism. Both were surgeons of exceptional skill and knowledge. Dr. Hejduk came from Czechoslovakia, Dr. Antonetti from Cuba.

Dr. Antonetti is a native of Cuba and a graduate of the University of Havana, where he received his medical degree and continued special training and studies in chest surgery. He is a member of a famous Cuban medical family. His father was instructor of surgery in the University of Havana for many years. His brother also a doctor, now practices in Houston.

The three of them built the Antonetti Clinic and Hospital in Havana, opening it in 1955 with 120 beds, seven operating rooms and a large medical staff.

In December 1961 the Castro government confiscated the hospital and asked the brothers to remain as staff members. Both declined and secured permission to leave the country the next year. Their father, who was teaching, remained at the University until his retirement last year. He has since moved to Miami.

Losing the hospital and their homes was a heartbreaking experience. It represented not only values of about $2 million but the family's achievements in the field of medicine. However they preferred to leave all and make a fresh start rather than live under com-

W. J. Walterscheid Gets Electronics Diploma at A&M

Wilmer J. Walterscheid of Muenster is one of 22 students graduated Thursday from Texas A&M University's Institute of Electronic Science.

Walterscheid, son of Mrs. Alfons Walterscheid and a graduate of Muenster High School, has completed the institute's 18-month course which emphasizes solid-state electronics.

IES graduates qualify for technical positions in nuclear, missile and space industries, as well as in computer, communications and geoscience fields.

The institute, part of Texas A&M's Texas Engineering Extension Service, was organized in 1963 to help offset a growing shortage of trained personnel throughout the electronics industry.

Attending the graduation were Mrs. Alfons Walterscheid and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Walterscheid. Wilmer accompanied them home for a two-week vacation.

TB Schick Tests Set for 2 Grades

A routine spot check by the North Texas Tuberculosis Association in its search for TB cases has been scheduled for next Monday morning in both of the local schools.

Mrs. Martin Kralicke, community representative of the association, said this week that Schick tests will be given in the first and seventh grades, including children who tested as slight positives before. The injections and the readings will be conducted by the TB Association's special nurse who makes the tests throughout its eleven county area.

Mrs. Kralicke was especially concerned with those of past positive readings. Since chest X-rays did not confirm the tests, it appears that some other condition was responsible. Despite the generally accepted rule "once a positive, always a positive," the TB nurse, who is serving this county for the first time, wishes to have a look at reactions. Hence parents whose children were positive before are reminded that the permission slips they received were not sent by mistake. The Association wants to take another reading.

Over 400 Visitors See Open House And Science Fair

About 400 visitors were at the Muenster Public School Tuesday night for the open house and science fair observing Public School Week. Superintendent L. B. Bruns said 337 registered in the guest book and many were seen with guest ribbons, hence they probably did not sign.

The gymnasium was filled with displays of entries in the national science fair competition. First and second place winners will be entered in the county contest next week, and winners there will advance farther.

Other exhibits, in their respective classrooms, showed work in all the other departments and modern teaching aids.

Another feature for Public School Week is an organ recital by Gareld Payne Friday night in the auditorium. He will use a new Wuritzer organ furnished by Brooks Mays Music Co. of Dallas. Some numbers of the concert are on the program, others will be chosen from slips dropped by the people into a request box.

Winners of first, second and third place in each division of the science fair were listed as follows:

Grade 1: Lisa Reiter, Kathy Davidson, Pat Walterscheid.

14 SHH Students Take Membership In Honor Society

Fourteen students of Sacred Heart High School — seven seniors and seven juniors — Tuesday participated in ceremonies inducting them into the Sades Sapiantiae Chapter of the National Honor Society. Sister Gerarda is local adviser.

To earn membership in the society a student must maintain an overall average of at least 85 per cent.

Sister Roberta, principal, was master of ceremonies lighting the Candle of Knowledge. From it followed lighting the candles of Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service. Members lighted their candles from the Candle of Knowledge.

Pledges were recited in the presence of Father Alcuin Kubis, pastor, the high school faculty, the members' parents, and the student body.

A tea in the student lounge followed for parents, faculty and members.

Admittance into the National Honor Society was determined by the high school faculty based on the students' scholarship, character, leadership and service.

Charter members are Joan Fetsch, J. D. Luttmr, Beverly Koelzer, Cynthia Bindel, Kaye Klement, Mary Jane Swirczynski, Margaret Kralicke, Stan Endres, Donna Stoffels, Joyce Schmitt, Tom Hess, Robert Miller, Jeanne Vogel and Linda Rohmer.

For the ceremony, initiates topped their school uniforms with gold mini-capes with a blue National Honor Society insignia.

Several members had attended a convention for area National Honor Societies at Nolan High School in Fort Worth the previous Saturday. Theme of the meeting was "Today's Youth—Tomorrow's Leader."

Reservations for "Lark" Taken now By Senior Class

Sacred Heart High seniors are conducting an advance ticket sale for their class play, "The Lark," which they will stage Friday, March 15, and Sunday, March 17. They may have a third performance on Tuesday, March 19.

All tickets are one dollar and reservations are being taken by telephone. Numbers to call are 759-4443 and 4214.

The play, story of Joan of Arc, will be presented in Sacred Heart Grade School Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

While the smaller auditorium is conducive to greater enjoyment of the play, in that acoustics are better, and the audience will feel they are actually in the courtroom as Joan is on trial, seating capacity is limited. Persons with reservations will be seated first.

In case two performances fail to accommodate ticket holders, a third showing will be held.

Milk Plant Plans New Product and More Capacity

A big increase in capacity of the Muenster Milk Products Plant is currently under way. Manager Larry Yosten said that the maximum of 300,000 pounds a day is being upped to a half million pounds.

Principal factor in the increase is a change to a different kind of cheese, which apparently will become the plant's principal product. It will be known as stirred curd and its principal use will be as a base in making various processed cheeses, such as American, pimento, etc. Most of it will be sold to Kraft.

Yosten explained that the new product is curd separated from the whey but not pressed and molded into the finished cheese. The curd will be drained and packed in drums of 500 pounds for shipment to the processing plants. Making the curd and packaging in the drums takes about three hours.

Cheddar cheese, the present local product, is consumed as a finished cheese and also used as a base in making processed cheeses. It is molded into 40 pound blocks and time of manufacture is 6½ to 7 hours plus 24 hours in a press.

Changing to the new product requires a few changes of plant design, which are under way now. Those changes plus additions of equipment are expected to be ready in about 30 days.

A former freezer vault used by the old FMA Store, was converted to a starter room and a separator room. And partitions were removed to convert five small rooms into one larger storage vault. Additional equipment are principally a drainage vat and cream separators.

Expansion of the plant's capacity is one of the developments growing out of last year's merger of several milk producing associations to create Milk Products, Inc., which operates in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas. The former North Texas Producers Association served approximately the north half of Texas. The larger organization with its much larger volume has more surplus milk, and the Muenster plant is being enlarged to help convert the larger surplus into milk products.

Stirred curd will become the principal local milk product, but not the only one. The plant will continue making condensed milk, powdered milk and cheddar cheese. At the same time it will sharply increase its production of cream, which is an important by-product of the other processes. Cream is salvaged from whey in cheese making. Also it is first taken out of whole milk to provide the skim milk used in making condensed and powdered milk.

The larger operation is expected to boost the plant's personnel by about ten percent. Yosten said the payroll now 35, will probably be upped to 40.

UTOPIA, COURTESY A.D.A.

Workers of the world, retire! You have nothing to lose but the privilege of paying taxes!

This might well be the slogan for the new drive by the Americans for Democratic Action for something extra special in the way of hand-outs for all. All who don't want to work, that is.

The ADA is now plunking for an across-the-board $80 a week handout, tax-free, as a "guaranteed wage" to all comers. The only requirement would be that the beneficiary have a family of four, which is no problem at all for those who don't have to take time out to go to office or factory.

Those who argue that $80 a week is not much of an income in these inflationary times might be reminded that this is tax-free, which is something else again. Have you looked lately to see how much of your pay-check you don't get? Further, there's no money wasted on transportation getting to and from work. Nor is money needed for food consumed on the job. And of course a person who doesn't work doesn't need work clothes or tools. Nor does he have to pay dues to any union, unless, that welfare union they've been talking about comes into being. But if a union of professional welfare "clients" comes to life you may be sure that the $80 a week will soon double, with time and a half for overtime not worked plus fringe benefits too numerous to mention. This can be even bigger than Walter Reuther's union, and more potent, because maybe there won't be any workers left to join the UAW.

About now you're asking where all the money is going to come from for all these ADA goodies. Well, as our President once said, it's simply a matter of taking from the haves and giving it to the have-nots. That suggests to us that he may start the kitty by putting in a few million, then grab a billion or so from the Rockfellers, a few hundred million from the Kennedys, and then go right down the line taking from all the lesser tycoons, including the ADA membership. Obviously these types won't mind because they're liberal and interested in uplifting the poor and downtrodden.

The now-rich types won't have a thing to worry about. When their millions are shared, they can always count on $80 a week. Without working for it.

No less a person than Hubert Humphrey is a founding father of ADA. The future has to be secure.

WORK TO EAT

What is probably the most sensible idea to come out of Washington in a good many years is the one made by a congressman ... that able-bodied men on relief rolls be required to do some work in exchange for their checks. One possibility mentioned was picking up debris along public roads. Many similar types of work could be considered. This suggestion is probably quite appealing to most of the present generation of reliefers who have been brought up in the belief that the government owes every man a living, but those of us who can remember the depression days of the 1930's are made to wonder how why and when the idea of performing some service in return for government support was dropped.

COURT COMPUTERS

Chief Justice Earl Warren's longtime wish for a computer center for the Federal Court system has been granted.

Congress has authorized the center. It will be most useful if computer technology and research can speed the handling of cases. There is a worry, however. Every computer depends on human minds to give it data on which to work.

So, if computers are to help with decisions of the present Supreme Court, the thought that Chief Justice Warren or Associate Justice William O. Douglas might be the "programmer" should send chills up and down the national spine.

Pardon us while we shiver.

DOLLARS GOING ABOARD

It's only a fraction of the dollar drain, but upward of $13 million a month is mailed to Social Security beneficiaries living in foreign countries. There are 180,000 of them, with Italy recording the highest number, 36,000. The pensioners find that the dollar buys more abroad than in the U.S. Still, if that $13 million a month were being spent in this country the economy might be a mite more stable.

ANARCHY NO SOLUTION

In a recent poll conducted on the Harvard campus, it was discovered that 25 per cent of the senior students who responded said that they intend to leave the country or go to jail rather than serve in the armed forces. About 60 per cent stated that they would make a determined effort to avoid military service.

If the doctrine that the individual should defend his country only in those wars he approved of and obey only those laws he liked should ever become widespread, the future of an orderly society protecting individual rights and freedoms would be dim indeed.

POVERTY AND RIOTS

Poverty is often given as the reason for much of the violence in our cities, and government leaders recommend spending billions of tax dollars to provide jobs. This supposed connection between poverty and riots is seldom questioned, but Evangelist Billy Graham flatly rejects the claim that poverty is the cause of present civil disturbances. He points out "there was no such rioting, looting or killing of police officers in depression days when people were much poorer."

To many, there is far more involved in the present breakdown of law and order than the restlessness born of poverty. Respect for the law lies in the character of our people rather than in their affluence. A law-abiding society is built on character, and character cannot be created or bought at will with tax dollars. On the contrary, freewheeling government spending and inflation are character wreckers.

Born Feb. 29. They Celebrated in '68

February 29 can make a big difference in one's life... especially if it's one's birthday. And two Muenster natives can tell you how it feels to have a real birthday just every four years. For them it was their first real birthdays since 1964.

A birthday in Leap Year presents other problems, like whether to observe it on February 28 or March 1 in the other years.

Mrs. Henry Yosten, born Feb. 29, celebrated her tenth birthday at two events. A family gathering in her home in the afternoon featured a decorated cake made by her mother.

er, other refreshments and a shower of gifts. Guests included her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiesman.

In the evening a group of friends stopped by for the birthday honoree and her husband and took them to dinner at The Center. There were eight in the group.

Miss Carol Pels was away from home this year for the first time on her Feb. 29 birthday. It was her fifth. She works in Dallas for an insurance company and came home to spend the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Ed Pels and family. They were together for a birthday dinner Sunday.

When it isn't Leap Year Mrs. Yosten observes her birthday on Feb. 28 and Carol has hers on March 1.

Lindsay has two Leap Year babies born in 1964 who celebrated for the first time on Feb. 29 this year. They are Linda Sandmann, 4 year old daughter of the Clem Sandmanns, and Donna Schroeder, four year old daughter of the Henry Schroeders.

An old-timer is a person who can remember sitting through many a dull evening without television.

Families Gather To Honor Nuns on Short Visit Here

Three Muenster families had get-togethers with supper in their homes Saturday while their nun-daughters were visitors in the evening and overnight.

The group was from Little Rock, Ark., had attended a conference in Dallas—a meeting of Texas Association for Improvement of Reading—Friday and Saturday.

Sister Olivia was with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Yosten. Others of the family from out of town at home were Miss Gloria Yosten, stewardess for American Airlines who jetted in from San Francisco, Calif., Saturday and returned Monday, and Cyril Yosten of Dallas who spent the week-end.

Other guests for supper included Mrs. Frank Yosten, the John Fleitmans and Joe Mages. Other relatives joining them later for visiting with Sister Olivia were the Larry Yostens, Henry Yostens and Al Yostens.

Gloria told the group about a European tour she has planned for May when she gets a month's vacation.

Sister Lucille was with her parents and family, the George Bayers. Also at home for the weekend were a son Cletus Bayer of Arlington and a daughter, Miss Ruth Bayer of NTSU, Denton.

Sister Jacinta spent the time with her parents and family, the Alfons Reiters. Joining them from out of town were Miss Gloria Reiter of Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hess and sons of Lindsay. The Jerry Reiters and son attended from Muenster.

While in Dallas Sister Jacinta spent Friday overnight with her sister and brother-in-law, the Don Reeds at their home.

Others in the group from Little Rock were Sister Henrietta, former teacher at Sacred Heart who spent overnight at the convent, and Mrs. Kay Giles and Miss Joan Heyburn who were guests of friends, the Eddie Schmitt family.

The six returned to Little Rock Sunday after early Mass. They were traveling by car.

It isn't often that the nuns get to be with their families and this was a special occasion calling for family gatherings.

Also at the Dallas reading conference Friday and Saturday were five of Sacred Heart School's elementary staff, Sisters Gabriel, Alberta, Anna and Florentine and Miss Dorothy Bengfort.

Judging other people often prevents us from appraising ourselves.

Lee Toothaker Is Birthday Honoree

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Toothaker returned Monday from a three-day visit with relatives and Sunday Mr. Toothaker shared birthday honors with his brother-in-law, Mark Lansford, at Clifton. The two have celebrated together for the past 40 years. Mr. and Mrs. Lansford were hosts in their home for the birthday dinner.

On the way Friday Mr. and Mrs. Toothaker visited overnight in Fort Worth with their son and family, the Wallace Lee Toothakers. On the way home Monday they stopped for visits with Mrs. Toothaker's other sister and husband the Hugh Tims at Crowley and her aunt Mrs. Willie Reynolds at Weatherford.

Birthday Honors Fete John Rohmer

John Rohmer was twice honored in observance of his birthday. He was 82 Saturday.

First celebration was a supper party Saturday at the home of his son and family, the Tony Rohmers. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Rohmer went to Irving where their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Morton Wright and young sons Michael, James and Carl entertained with a birthday dinner. Miss Ida Rohmer of Fort Worth joined her parents in her sister's home for the day.

Help Asked Here In US Search for Defective Heaters

The nationwide search to locate and identify 8,000 gas heaters that may leak carbon monoxide has reached Muenster.

Steve Mosler, city fire marshal, revealed this week that he and A. J. Phillips, Lone Star Gas Co. representative, have been asked by the State Board of Insurance to help in the search. Nationally the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has taken charge.

Mosler pointed out that the defective heaters are all identified as "gas-fired baseboard through-the-wall" type. About 6,000 were sold by Sears Roebuck, the others by Samuel Stamping and Enameling Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn., which is now out of business.

The defective Sears heaters, mostly sold between September, 1962, and December, 1966, are identified as Homart Model, numbers 133.72561 or 133.725611; 133.72562 or 133.725621; 133.72565 or 133.725651; 133.72566 or 133.725661. The plate showing these numbers is located on top of the burner box.

The defective Samuel heaters carry the brand name Suburban on the outside of the heater grill and one of the following model numbers. BB-10-2N, BB-10-3N, BB-10-4N, BB-10-2LP, BB-10-3LP, BB-10-4LP, BB-15-2N, BB-15-3N, BB-15-4N, BB-15-2LP, BB-15-3LP, BB-15-4LP.

Some confusion concerning the latter group of numbers results from use of identical numbers by another manufacturer. Anyone who finds one of the listed numbers on his heater is urged to contact Mosler or Phillips.

Over 25 Million Benefit from REA Finance Program

More than 25 million people living in rural America now receive the benefits of electric and telephone service through systems financed by the Rural Electrification Administration in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Norman M. Clapp, REA Administrator, says in his annual report to Congress.

He reports that the activities of REA in the last year made it possible to score continued and substantial progress in expanding and improving electric and telephone service in the rural areas of the Nation. "With it has come further expanding collateral benefits, both social and economic, to the entire Nation, its life and its economy," he says.

To fully evaluate the significance of the progress made in the single year of 1967, he says, "it needs to be examined against the background of the new approaches and emphasis which have been necessary in the 1960's to fit the changing character of rural America. It is significant too in relation to a growing national awareness that economic development of rural America and expanding employment opportunities there help prevent further aggravation of the congestion and social problems of the Nation's urban communities."

Mr. Clapp declares that "both electric and telephone service are vital utilities which are crucial to the living standards and economic productivity of the people served. Now in the decade of the 1960's, the broad potential of rural electrification and rural telephony for the diversified economic development of rural America is emerging. With it comes a necessary recognition of its vital role in developing the rural-urban growth balance which the future welfare of our Nation will require as its population moves toward 300 million."

In citing advances made during the last seven years in both the rural electric and telephone programs, Mr. Clapp says, "these measures of progress must also be evaluated against the rapidly growing need for these vital utility services in rural America." He says this was particularly true in the telephone program where the needs of growth have increased faster than available REA loan resources. "Despite increased loan levels each year, 1963-67, inclusive, a record $252 million backlog of unsatisfied loan applications was carried into fiscal year 1968."

In the rural electrification program, he continues, it is anticipated that the rural electric systems presently financed by REA will require $8 billion of new capital in the next 15 years to meet growth needs at annual rates increasing to as much as $700 million per year, compared to the 1967 level of $353 million.

He reports it is also expected that the rural telephone systems presently financed by REA will require $3 billion of new capital in the next 15 years with annual requirements as high as $225 million, almost double the amount of REA loans available in 1967.

"The present facts and future expectations have produced a growing concern over the urgent need for developing a practical source of financing from the private money market to supplement available REA loan funds," he says. "In both programs this need is urgent. In the rural telephone program it is both urgent and immediate."

No assessment shall be made against abutting property or real and true owner thereof for costs in excess of the benefits to such property in exchanged value thereof by means of such improvements. The amount of such assessment shall constitute a first and prior lien upon all such properties and a personal liability of the true and real owner; thereof, whether correctly named or not, and shall be payable as follows:
 Thirty days after completion and acceptance of said improvements, thereafter six (6%) percent interest will be charged on all delinquent accounts.
 SECTION 6. The construction and installation of the improvements herein ordered in each street unit or portion of street herein designated and described shall be separate and independent of the construction and installation of such improvements in each and every other street unit or portion of street. The assessments to be levied for improvements in each such street unit shall be separate and distinct from the assessments to be levied in every other street unit; and in making and levying assessments against property for the improvements in one unit or portion of streets, no matter if concurrent or circumstance in connection with any other unit or portion of street shall be considered, all as fully and to the same extent as if separate contracts were executed and separate proceedings had with reference to each such street unit or portion of street. And this assessment shall apply whenever such improvements are made as ordered by the City Council, whether the same be for curbs and gutters or the paving of said street or streets or portions thereof. It shall be the same whether the liens are directly taken by the contractor or whether the liens are assigned to the City and that the holder of said liens shall be the person, persons or firms entitled to said liens as security for the improvements done, and the liens shall be fixed by the filing of this Ordinance with the County Clerk of Cooke County, Texas. Upon payment in full, releases may be executed by Mayor and City Secretary of the City of Muenster, removing such liens from record, at the expense of the person or persons against whom such liens are made. All unpaid liens shall bear interest as allowed by law and no liens are authorized to be released without the full and final payment of the amounts due by the abutting property and the true and legal owner thereof.

 SECTION 7. The City Secretary is hereby directed to cause to be prepared a Notice of enactment of this Ordinance and to file said Notice with the County Clerk of Cooke County, Texas, among the deed, liens or deed of Trust records of said County, and also to cause Notice to be given to the citizens of the city as prescribed by law.
 SECTION 8. The fact that the streets and portions thereof to be improved as herein provided for are in bad and dangerous condition and should be improved without delay and the further fact that such type of work must be done during the proper and correct weather, creates an emergency and imperative public necessity for immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety and general welfare, and therefore, the rule requiring more than one reading of the Ordinance before passage is hereby suspended; and this Ordinance shall be passed and take effect as an emergency measure and be in full force from and after its passage by the City Council as provided by law, and it is so ordained.

40 Hours Adoration Ends Tuesday with Solemn Ceremonies

Forty Hours Adoration in Sacred Heart Parish closed Tuesday night with a solemn service including a procession of clergy and attendants through Sacred Heart Church.

Father Joseph Weinzapfel of Dallas carried the Blessed Sacrament and gave Benediction. Others in the procession included little girls in white dresses with veils and crowns carrying long-stemmed red carnations, altar boys in red and white carrying lights, the clergy in black and white — 12 of them — and two monsignori in purple, making it as colorful as it was solemn.

The church held a capacity crowd and the entire congregation joined in the litany of the saints, in singing hymns and concluding with the Te Deum.

Novena devotions preceded the closing ceremonies of Forty Hours Adoration which began Sunday.

Clergy attending with local pastors, Fathers Alcuin, Andrew and Benedict, besides Father Weinzapfel were Rt. Rev. Msgr. Robert Forletti of Sherman and Very Rev. Msgr. Fred Mosman of Dallas, Fathers James Boyles of Denison, Leo O'Connor and Antonio of Sherman, John Hugh and Rodney Kissinger of Montserrat Retreat House, Lake Dallas, John Duesman of Cleburne, Augustine Merkle of Corsicana and Aloys Fuhrmann of Lindsay.

During the business session the month's honor roll requirement was listed by Mrs. Joe Hoenig, chairman, and members voted a contribution to the National Home's Health and Happiness Fund.

It was announced that the April meeting will feature annual election of officers. Those elected assume office in July.

Nineteen members attended the meeting in the VFW Post Home and welcomed Mrs. Henry Yosten as a new member.

Mmes Virgil Henscheid and C. M. Walterscheid, refreshment hostesses, served a cold buffet after adjournment and Mrs. Joe Hoenig won the door prize.

Tax Bill on 'Gas' $23 Million a Day

Americans are paying federal and state motor fuel taxes at a rate of $22.9 million a day in 1968.

This is an increase of 83 per cent over the daily collections of $12.5 million in 1958, when the combined state and federal gasoline tax rate averaged 8.91 cents a gallon.

In January, 1968, the average rate was 10.72 cents a gallon — the equivalent of a 47 per cent sales tax on the retail price of regular-grade gasoline.

Total fuel tax collections in 1968 are expected to reach nearly $8.4 billion — an average of $953,105 an hour and $15,885 a minute.

Two Volley Teams Capture Trophies

Two of Muenster's volleyball teams came home with trophies from the tournament sponsored last week by Fellowship Christian Athletic Clubs of Gainesville. Sacred Heart Alumni men won the championship and Center men won the consolation.

Alumni got their start on a forfeit then won in succession from the Junior College, Prestolite of Lindsay and the Marauders of Lindsay.

Center lost its opener to O'Neal of Nocona then beat FCA of Gainesville and Sacred Heart Hi Rockets.

Women's teams of the Alumni, Sacred Heart High and the Center failed to reach the finals.

The Alumni's two teams are playing at Nocona's Jaycee tournament this week. Both won openers and got in the champ bracket.

1969 Cars Will Have Head Rests

WASHINGTON — Head rests will be required on all passenger cars built after next Dec. 31 under a federal auto safety standard announced recently to prevent whiplash neck injuries in rear-end collisions.

Highway Administrator Lowell K. Birdwell said "the need for protective head restraints is strikingly apparent in that about 4 million rear-end crashes occur in the United States each year... and a substantial number of these crashes produce 'whiplash' neck injuries..."

The National Safety Council says about one-fourth of all car crashes involve rear-end collisions.

The new standard will require head rests on the seat of the driver and the right front passenger. The restraints can either be part of the seat or an attached cushion.

Confetti - - -

Maybe we can still win. Maybe not. If we can, one fact is obvious. We'll have to rule out all restraints. Ports must be blockaded. Every available military and industrial target must be blasted. We must admit as we did in past wars that the enemy's potential must be destroyed at the source. We must abandon the absurd idea of just stopping red aggression in the south and think instead of defeating the enemy in the north. To stop short of that goal is to leave conditions as they were, presenting the kind of frustrating situation we now have in Korea.

It's clearer now than ever, since recent incidents in Korea, that our original goal in Vietnam is not sufficient. Just helping South Vietnam kick out the reds would result in negotiations with an unreasonable foe and lead to years of frustrating police duty. To attain that kind of victory isn't worth the price. Unless we intend to do better than that we ought to get out as soon as possible.

North Vietnam itself has suggested a goal which we and the South Vietnamese ought to consider. Ho insists on uniting the two parts of the country — under red leadership, of course. Well, why not agree on the unification idea? — under South Vietnam leadership. Why not fight to win and then stick with the old time custom of warfare? — winner take all?

If that is adopted as our objective, and we think we can attain it, we still have good reasons for staying in the war. But to stay with short odds or in hopes of reaching a reasonable settlement with an undefeated enemy isn't worth the price.

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Walter were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Walter and sons Rod and Matthew. It was Matthew's first visit to Muenster. He was two months old Sunday.
