OUR BOYS WITH THE COLORS

S.-Sgt. Leo Haverkamp Writes Of Activity

The inconsistency of our officials is refreshing. Less than 48 hours after a curfew is clamped on nite spots—to impress us with the urgent need of getting more rest and devoting more energy to the war effort—the war department discloses its plan to release almost a quarter of a million men a month as soon as the European phase of the conflict is over—implying that victory is within sight. As if to emphasize the point, military men, as quoted by Marquis Childs, believe Germany will fold up in the early summer.

Then comes the announcement that draft boards are going to comb through their deferred lists for qualified men between 30 and 34. Won't some people please make up their minds!

Through more than three years of war we've bungled along wasting the wee hours and nobody seemed very much concerned. Now when indications encourage us to start being peace conscious we're told to become more war conscious. We're not kicking about the curfew, only asking why it was not instituted three years ago.

For that matter, why weren't some other things done? Since the very beginning we've heard talk, much of it from official quarters, about "work or fight," but strikes are still being called. We've heard about war economies too, and the waste goes on. This hasn't been a "total war." Not by a long shot. Like all the rest, it's been hell for some people and a golden opportunity for others.

The trouble is that so much of the confusion, abuse and extravagance has been hidden under the cloak of time necessity, and was tolerated by a public whose one concern was to get the war over regardless of cost. People were too busy to object to pet projects squeezed through on war budgets. In some cases they were too prosperous to mind the extra cost. In others, such as strikes in war plants, they were too short sighted to realize that they had to pay the final expense. Every time the labor racketeers scored another victory there was a corresponding increase in the cost of war equipment. Uncle Sam paid for all those expensive strikes.

It is interesting to guess at the trend of the labor racketeer influence after the war. In the first place we wonder how many manufacturers will knuckle under after official coercion is eliminated. Next there's the problem of how many will see their way clear to meet the racketeer's demands and still sell their products at a profit. Selling to a price conscious public is different from selling to a free spending government. And then there's an element of business men who flatly refuse to let the labor bosses push them around. We are especially mindful of one who before the war asked a group of strikers, "Do you men have enough laid aside to live on the rest of your lives? Well, I have."

If those factors will play a part in our post war economy it means that labor will have to step back a few paces. Which doesn't necessarily mean working men will be hurt. If they boot out the labor czar and save the fat racketeering tribute formerly dished out, they can still finish the week with a better net wage than they used to have.

Besides that labor will probably have to step back a few paces to keep in line with the rest of the population. Common sense tells us we cannot continue at the present economic pace. Millions of highly paid technical jobs will play out as soon as the demand for war equipment ends. In most cases the persons getting new jobs will have to accept lower pay. In many more, for instance girls and wives, they will not return to work at all. Likewise, the majority of service men will have to accept lower pay when they get out. Even a private, as low as his pay seems compared with some of the fabulous wages of industry, doesn't do badly compared with pre-war standards. His $50 plus rations and quarters and clothing and medical care is equivalent to a pre-war salary of 100 or 125. But suppose he is married and receives an allotment for each dependent. The average GI did not do as well in civilian life and he's not likely to do as well when he returns to it.

Then think of the higher paid army man. A top kick with several hitches in the service receives more than $250 a month plus clothing and medical care. A captain's pay with foxies and allowances can come to more than $500 per month. None of these figures include the additional pay for overseas service, furling time or any other special allowances.

Some people, having had the opportunity to become accustomed to money like that, will have an awful time getting back to normal. Some others, youngsters who knew nothing but war time prosperity, (Continued on page 6)

Sgt. Anthony Luke Wins Bronze Star And Citation

Technical Sergeant Anthony Luke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Luke has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service, the parents learned this week.

The citation accompanying the award reads in part:

"For meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy for the period September 1, 1943, to December 31, 1944, in Africa, Sicily, Italy, United Kingdom and France. Sgt. Luke, as cashier of the Division Finance Office, displayed outstanding capacities in the performance of his duties entailing the disbursement, collection and exchange of varied foreign currencies. In addition to the superior manner in which he discharged the duties of cashier, Sgt. Luke devoted long hours and technical skill to developing detailed conversion tables to facilitate interchange of currencies. The exceptional and meritorious services rendered by Sgt. Luke reflect great credit upon himself and the division which he serves."

Sgt. Luke was inducted in the army in February, 1942, and was sent to Camp Wolters for his basic training. From there he was transferred to the 82nd Airborne Division at Camp Claiborne, La., and was assigned to duties in the finance office. His outfit moved to Fort Bragg, N. C., for further training, then shipped overseas.

He has two brothers in the service: Staff Sgt. Wilmer Luke at Sheppard Field; and Harold Luke, ARM-3c, with the Navy somewhere in the Pacific.

Dr. Laake Meets With Fourth Degree K of C Assembly Here Sunday

Parish societies in charge of the function predict a gala affair and an invitation is extended to all to attend.

To Pick Up Scrap Paper Scrap paper will be picked up Saturday afternoon by Myra Boy Scouts. The usual procedure will be followed.

Mayor Asks Observance Of Good Friday

In a proclamation issued this week, Mayor J. M. Weinzapfel designated Good Friday, March 30, as a day of special reverence and called on all residents of Muenster to observe it fittingly by suspending business and attending church services.

The proclamation requests that all business houses close their doors between the hours of noon and 3 o'clock.

In the past Muenster has been very respectful in the observance of Good Friday and it is urged that this record be carried through again this year.

The Mayor pleads for complete cooperation—that all city business houses close their doors, that workmen lay down their tools, that activity on the streets be kept to a minimum.

PARISH OBSERVES HOLY WEEK WITH TRADITIONAL RITES

Traditional services, followed by the Church since the middle ages, and a schedule followed by this community since its early days are observing Holy Week in Sacred Heart Parish.

Good Friday services, mourning the death of Christ, begin with a sermon at 9:30 followed by veneration of the crucifix and mass of the presanctified. The Way of the Cross will be recited at 2:30, and the period between noon and this hour has been set aside as a period of meditation and silent prayer. At 8 in the evening will be held the last of the three tenebrae services.

The Holy Saturday schedule begins at 7 a. m. with the blessing of fire, paschal candle and Easter water, followed by a high mass and ends with solemn resurrection services at 7 p. m.

On Easter Sunday masses will be at 7, 9 and 11. That at 9 o'clock will be a high mass.

Much of the Holy Week observance is already past. The blessing of palms and a procession symbolizing Christ's entry into Jerusalem was held Sunday. High Mass and an all-day devotion commemorating institution of the Eucharist was held on Thursday.

35 MEMBERS ARE IN SOCIETY RECEPTION SERVICES SUNDAY

Impressive ceremonies Sunday afternoon at Sacred Heart church received 35 new members into Saint Ann's Society. This was one of the largest classes of candidates ever to assemble for admittance into the organization.

Pastor Father Thomas officiated at the rites while candidates, holding white candles, recited the prayers for the occasion. The pastor also delivered an interesting and instructive address to the assemblage which in addition to the candidates included a large number of members of the society.

Distribution of the official badge of the organization was made by Father Thomas assisted by Mrs. Ben Seyler, president, and Mrs. Carl Herr, vice president. Other officers of the society are Mrs. Lena Strenz, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Al Trubenbach, reporter.

The 35 members bring total membership of the society to 205. This group is one of the most active in the parish.

Memorial Rites Held Friday For Sgt. Felderhoff

Full Military Honors Accorded Soldier Fatally Wounded In Philippines

Memorial services with High Mass of Requiem were held at Sacred Heart church Friday morning, March 24, for Sgt. Lawrence Felderhoff, who died Feb. 10, of wound received in action on Luzon Island in the Philippines.

Rev. Thomas Buerler, pastor, officiated at the rites and delivered an inspiring and consoling sermon. Full military honors were accorded the deceased after the Mass by a detachment of soldiers from Camp Howze.

After the rites of the Church the flag draped catafalque, representing his remains, was moved to the lawn northwest of the church for the military services. Serving as catafalque bearers were four veterans of the present war, recently returned from overseas and on furlough here: S.-Sgt. Earl Lehnertz, S.-Sgt. Joe Hess, Sgt. Elmer Fette and Pvt. Valette Fuhrmann.

Sgt. Bill Gray was in charge of the military rites. Eight soldiers composed the firing squad, two were on flag detail and one served as bugler, sounding taps at the conclusion of the services.

After the United States flag was removed from the catafalque it was presented by Sgt. Gray to the deceased's mother, Mrs. John Felderhoff.

A large number of relatives and friends filled the church to capacity to pay final tribute to a young man who was esteemed and loved by all who knew him.

Lawrence was born in Muenster on Aug. 8, 1919, and attended Sacred Heart school. He farmed with his father until he was called to serve in the army on Feb. 3, 1942. He took basic training with an infantry division at Camp Wolters and went overseas in June of the same year, and into action in December.

First stationed in Hawaii, he moved with his division to Guadalcanal, to other islands of the Solomon group, Munda, Arundel, New Georgia, New Caledonia, other points in the Pacific war zone, and participated in the invasion of the Philippines.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Felderhoff; five brothers, Sgt. Frank Felderhoff, with an engineer's battalion in France; Pvt. Alphonse Felderhoff, paratrooper, now in England; Vincent Felderhoff, who recently received a medical discharge from the 36th Infantry division after 18 months overseas service and is now in Muenster; Leo Felderhoff, who was scheduled to leave for the army last Wednesday, but who was given additional time at home on account of his brother's death; and Henry Felderhoff, Muenster; six sisters, Mrs. Aubrey Jennings, whose husband is with the army in Germany; and Misses Emma, Philomene, Agnes, Celine and Anselma Felderhoff, and one nephew, John Jennings, all of Muenster.

Mayor J. M. Weinzapfel and Aldermen H. G. Stelzer, Andy Hofbauer and J. A. Fisher are candidates for re-election.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C. March 23—Among bills passed by the House of Representatives this week was one extending selective service, and another making annual appropriations to the Department of Agriculture.

Selective Service was extended until July, 1946, unless sooner terminated by Presidential proclamation or by an act of Congress. The draft extension bill as presented to the House was not subject to amendment. There is one provision of the draft law in particular with which some of us have been greatly displeased. Under selective service, deferments are subtracted, and state quotas fixed on the number of remaining eligibles. This has required numerically greater contributions from states having the fewest deferments.

The Agriculture appropriation bill has grown into a voluminous document. More than 1800 pages of testimony were presented to the House. Although the bill as passed by the House reduces the budget estimate 141 million dollars it still appropriates the enormous sum of 975 million dollars to run the Department of Agriculture for the next fiscal year.

Some 30 Baptist churches in the City of Washington are now engaged in evangelistic campaigns. On Sunday night Baptist Members were especially invited to hear Major William C. Taggart, Chaplain, at the Luther Rice Memorial Baptist Church. Congressmen Beckworth, Summers, and I attended the service, and it was my pleasure to have Chaplain Taggart as a luncheon guest in the Capitol on Monday, following his delivery of the invocation on the opening of the Senate.

Incidentally, Bill Taggart calls Wichita Falls home, and was pastor of a small church there when he entered the Army Chaplain Corps. Taggart served in Java, and credits the Lost Battalion with saving the lives of himself and others who escaped Java to Australia. He ministered to the famous 19th Bombardment Squadron in the early days of the war. He has been decorated for bravery, and at one time saved a 75-vehicle convoy from falling into Japanese hands. He is best known as author of the book, "My Fighting Congregation."

Speaking of religion, the 23 members of the Texas Delegation, 21 Representatives and two Senators, have various religious faiths. Seven are Baptists, seven Methodists, three belong to the Christian Church, two are Presbyterians, one Catholic, and one Universalist.

In Capitol cloakrooms one frequently hears debates on what should be done with leading war criminals. This week's statement of a famous English cleric that Hitler should be hanged without trial has provoked some discussion. That Hitler should be hanged seems to be a matter on which most agree. The nature and extent of the trial which should be afforded him is a matter of debate. Personally, I favor a method attributed to the Chinese in a particular case. A morning newspaper said "San Lung will be tried for treason at 1 o'clock; the execution will be at two."

On Hirohito there is more disagreement. Under Secretary of State Grew, ex-Ambassador to Japan, reported on his return to Washington that Hirohito was opposed to the war and tried to prevent it. Some point out that to the Japanese Hirohito is a god and the head of their religion, and would, therefore, be worth more to us alive on a hollow throne than martyred on a scaffold. We hope time will quickly settle these problems for us.

One of the oldest defense institutions in America, and one about which little is generally known, is the Coast Guard. The United States Coast Guard Academy, maintained at New London, Connecticut, is very similar to the Army's West Point and the Navy's Annapolis, except that admission is on the basis of competitive examination. In peace-time the Coast Guard has such duties as the international ice patrol, the weather patrol, enforcement of maritime laws such as preventing smuggling, rescues at sea, etc. Graduates of the Academy are given degrees of Bachelor of Science, and are usually commissioned as Ensigns with the same rank and pay as Ensigns in the Navy and Second Lieutenants in the Army.

My secretary, Zeno Phillips, has been on active service with the Seabees for more than two years. In his absence Mrs. Ruth Pool, whose husband, Lt. Col. S. M. Pool, Jr., is on duty with the Army Air Forces in Italy, has been acting as Congressional secretary. She and three other young ladies now do the clerical work in this office. While I am at home for Easter she will write this column from notes which I will leave or will send her. Having at one time been news editor of a small daily paper, she ought to be able to "pinch hit" in my absence.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

"Oh, pull me down my window shades" — the paraphrase of an old ballad — might well be the theme song in thousands of American homes this winter. For that's what many, many homemakers will be doing to save on winter's fuel. During the past holiday season I had occasion to visit several homes and the conversation invariably got around to the topic of fuel conservation. There were several "heated" discussions on the real value of cloth window shades as insulators. I found that cloth window shades can be a fuel saver of no small magnitude. It all stems from the fact that approximately thirty percent of all heat lost from the average dwelling escapes through the window panes. And investigations conducted by a reliable, impartial testing laboratory proved that by proper drawing of your shades, more than one-third of this precious heat can be saved.

Actually as much as ten percent can be shaved off the average family's fuel bill by simply remembering to pull the window shades whenever light from the windows is not needed. This means drawing the shades right down to the sills in all unused rooms, throughout the house at night and when the family is away from home, and drawing the shades half way in rooms that are in daily use.

And when selecting window shades be sure they measure up to these standards: they should be made of closely-woven fabric that will hang straight and resist cracking, warping, and tearing. It is also essential that the shade fit the window properly and that it run up and down smoothly on the roller. The roller, in turn, should be 1 1/2 inch to 1 3/4 inches in diameter to insure efficient operation. If your shades have these qualities they will not only add to the attractiveness of the room, but will do a good job of insulating your windows.

SIGHT & SOUND IN EDUCATION & TRAINING

By Alexander F. Victor
 Nationally Known Author of "More Learning in Less Time" Visual Education

"MORE LEARNING IN LESS TIME"
DAVENPORT, IOWA—Out of the tragedy of war there is emerging into full bloom a dual instrument that is destined to become a tremendous force for the advancement of education and vocational and scientific training. This instrument which is comprised of the 16 millimeter motion picture projector and sound films, has been of inestimable value in our prosecution of the war.

The American educational system—a $2,000,000,000 a year enterprise—has made considerable use of this medium for imparting knowledge, but something akin to a revolution in teaching techniques appears to be in the making as a result of its successful application in war.

It is only a matter of time after victory when every school in the nation will have one or a whole battery of these projectors, depending on the number of students, to aid teaching staffs in their task of educating the millions of pupils. Our educators will have access to an almost limitless variety of sound motion pictures from public and private libraries to aid them in instructing all classes from the kindergarten on up through the grade and high schools and colleges.

With the aid of projector and film, teachers will find their tasks made infinitely easier and more productive and their students will learn faster and retain more of the essential details of their subjects.

The United States Navy is so impressed with this mode of training that it has printed a manual entitled "More Learning in Less Time" for the guidance of its training staff. Through the use of projectors and especially made sound motion pictures to meet specific needs, the Navy has saved up to 30 per cent and more in the time of training its personnel.

School Daze

MUENSTER PUBLIC SCHOOL

Everyone is hard at work—the home stretch is at hand. For most of the students these last weeks mean a chance to finish in a blaze of glory. A few must give that added push to make the finish line. Most of the classes are ahead of their schedule, but the Ancient History and Biology classes have quite a bit to cover yet.

The whole school was sorry to lose Bobby Fernander who moved to Gainesville last week. Besides being an excellent student, he was so much fun, all are going to miss him. Bobby convinced us that a pun is certainly the lowest form of humor, yet nobody could help laughing. And what will the singing period be like without him!

It is again time for the Honor Roll. The coveted positions on it serve as a beacon toward which the students have worked six weeks. It is definitely a goal. This is a reminder to parents that the following are on:

Your Home

When you're a week-end guest you notice a lot of little things that make your visit a memorable and pleasant one. It's those little "extra touches" that make you remember your hostess as charming and gracious.

I'm sure you'll find, as I did, that for providing that "extra touch" perfumed sachets in the new tuck away packages are wonderful in their appealing fragrance. By the use of one of the lovely floral fragrances, in the drawers of the dressing table, among the linens and guest towels, the guest room will present a delightful "perfume ensemble."

Among your own personal things, too, tuck aways, delicately perfumed to suit your taste and personality, add a distinctive touch of femininity so essential to gracious living.

My hostess showed me the colorfully decorated little packets with gay flowers matching the fragrances of the sachet—rose, carnation, gardenia, and lilac. They're so attractive that she used the tuck aways as place cards at the luncheon, choosing fragrances that blended perfectly with the center piece of flowers. It was such a lovely effect that the guests are still talking about it.

When tuck aways are slipped into gifts, even an inexpensive one carries an expensive air. And imagine my very pleasant surprise when I discovered my hostess had tucked away several of these dainty sachets in my luggage!

I am told they are available at drug, department and syndicate stores and gift shops. I know I am going to look for some at the first opportunity.

FEED AND MILK PRODUCTION

Texas dairymen have been asked to produce two per cent more milk this year than in 1944. Since proper feeding and care make up the only road to reaching this goal, Albert Brient, county agent, urges dairymen to plan early and thoroughly not only their 1945 operations but their feeding program as well.

In planning, Brient suggests that they consider these points:

- (1) Keep good producing cows and sell low producers while beef prices are favorable.
- (2) Have only as many cows as can be fed and milked properly.
- (3) Balance the herd with the feed supply; where feed must be bought try and obtain a supply at harvest times.
- (4) Own the best bred bull of your breed which can be found.

In the feed picture Brient sees prospects for a shortage of roughage. This means producing more good roughage at home. Pastures, which must be used to the fullest this year, will furnish more feed if the grass is allowed a good start before being grazed. Mowing weeds will give the grass a chance to grow and also keep it from going to seed, thereby lengthening the grazing period.

Pasture should be cross fenced to establish rotate grazing and milk cows given first chance at each pasture. Sudan planted in rows should be included in the crops plans at the rate of one acre per cow. Cattle grazing along the rows trample less grass than when it is in drills. Should sudan make more growth than can be grazed it should be cut for hay before heading out.

Brient says that good hay, allowing a minimum of one ton per cow, will ease lots of feeding pains, but silage still is necessary. Three tons per cow is the least amount to plant, but six tons would give a reserve in case of pasture failure. An average of one ton of concentrates, 500 pounds of which should be a protein concentrate, will be needed for the years feed supply. Cows should be fed concentrate according to production, meaning good milkers will get more than poor ones.

IT'S MUNITIONS

It's Munitions Or More Lives, Says Byrnes

Mobilization Director Spins New Parable to Point Up Urgent Need

By CHARLES T. LUCKY, Enterprise-Herald Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—War Mobilization Director James H. Byrnes wants U. S. troops to have all the munitions they need and more to spare. He believes lives will be saved if they get them. That's behind this big new parable Mr. Byrnes turns parable-maker to tell his story.

When a house catches fire, he says, you pour water on it with every bit of pressure in the hose.

in itself may help to avoid property damage or deaths by fire.

You have to make allowances for son when he's off to college.

Most housewives know that all juice from canned vegetables and fruits should be saved and served. Juice from a can of vegetables may be drained into a saucepan and cooked down quickly with seasoning before the vegetables are added to heat. In this way, the juice makes a sauce for the vegetables. Juice from canned fruit may be served with the fruit or in pudding sauces or fruit beverages.

Your Health

Austin, Texas.—A good old-fashioned spring house cleaning in every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer who said in Austin today. "From a practical standpoint the old adage that 'Cleanliness is next to Godliness' is still well worth emphasizing."

A general clean-up program of state-wide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include surface cleaning, drainage, the graveling of streets and alleys, the cleaning of all parks and playgrounds and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

"The destruction of mosquito breeding places and fire hazards, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be," said Dr. Cox, "of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards. Good community house-keeping and ordinary sanitary measures require the prompt removal of all waste matter in and around yards and homes in order to abate the danger of disease.

"Such a clean-up program will also eliminate fire hazards, which

Potato Picking Parson

MARS HILL, ME.—Big down-east spuds spurred Rev. V. P. Musk, above, pastor of three rural churches near here, to beat all the Methodist ministers in New England, city or country, in laying his money on the (potato) barrel-head for the denomination's current "Crusade for Christ" relief and reconstruction fund.

While following the digger to help out Aroostook County's labor shortage, Pastor Musk told his fellow potato-picker-uppers about their $700 share in the $25,000,000 post-war fund. Someone said: "Let's all give 1¢ for each barrel."

The first $110 came this way from young pickers. This inspired the farmers. Bishop Hartman of Boston reports them not only first in his Area to raise their quota, but more than twice as generous as he asked.

This Means He's A Veteran

When you see this gold-plated lapel button—the dexter eagle within a circle, wings extending beyond the circle's edge—remember, the Disabled American Veterans points out, that the wearer is an honorably discharged veteran of World War II, and maybe disabled. To familiarize the public with the discharge button that plea has been issued by the DAV, chartered by Congress and recognized by government as one of the organizations to which veterans can apply for free information in filing claims. Vivian D. Corby, National DAV Adjutant, in announcing the program, said: "When you see that gold-plated plastic discharge button it means the wearer has seen service in World War II. He may even be disabled as a result of his service and deserves every consideration possible."

Who's Who in Lindsay High

Looking over the alphabetical arrangement of the seniors, we meet at the top of the list our most popular senior—Frances Bengfort. She is a petite 5 feet 2, with blond hair, brown eyes, smooth dark complexion, beautiful dimples and a million dollar smile.

Frances has been doing excellent work in the 4-H Club for the past four years. Last year she was president; this year she was chosen from our group to run for Gold Star Girl. Although she didn't win, she received honorable mention. In recognition of this, she was invited to the dinner sponsored by the Rotary Club; on this occasion she was one of the speakers. We know Frances will be successful and we do wish her luck.

Our 2nd in line is another very attractive young lady. If you ever come to Lindsay High School and meet a girl, not so tall, having wavy black hair, and sparkling brown eyes, you may be sure it's Lucille Beznar. Everyone admires Lucille, not only for her personality, but for her ability to be high on the Honor Roll; she is almost sure to be Valedictorian of her class. Lucille has been doing outstanding work in every way; therefore, she has been chosen as the best-all-round student of her class. Her school record shows perfect attendance for all four years of high school. What a record! Lucille's ability, determination, and perseverance spell success for her. More about our Seniors next week.

YOUTHFUL AMBITION BECOMES REALITY FOR AL SWIRCZYNSKI

A youthful ambition has turned, for Al Swirczynski, into a worthwhile and profitable occupation. Today he is connected with Electric Appliance company in Dallas, and due to his ability and past experience, heads the engineering of air conditioning for that company.

The climb to his present job wasn't easy. It involved lots of labor and study. Al, a native of this city, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swirczynski, has a hankering for a knowledge of electricity ever since he can remember. His first chance to "get at it" came back in 1927, when he joined J. M. Luke in an electric shop here as an apprentice. It was his first actual contact for working on his "hobby."

Two years later he went to Dallas where he took a course in electric refrigerator service and returned to the county as a serviceman for refrigerators in this area. In 1931 a position was open with a Dallas produce company on refrigeration of dairy products. He applied and got the job. It took him over Texas and Louisiana. In 1933 he was transferred to Fort Worth and was assigned to West Texas.

When air conditioning was introduced he took a position with an air conditioning dealer in 1935 and this gave him a more open road to the career of which he dreamed. He studied the various types of air conditioning including stationary air conditioning, railroad and air-ways, motor bus and soda fountain refrigeration.

To complete his degree in engineering he needed two years of stationary engineering experience which he returned to Muenster for and took at the FMA cheese plant.

He was then recommended to North American Aviation to work in connection with the consulting engineers. Within two months he was in charge of four 650-ton air conditioning machines, and eight months later was placed in complete charge of the power plant under the chief engineer, who, two months later gave him complete charge of air conditioning equipment and its controls. This plant is the second largest in the state. He was there for two years, supervising 32 men, and left only recently when a new opportunity presented itself.

Air conditioning is the thing, he says, and in the post war era it will be available more widely for civilian use.

MISS LUTKENHAUS IS SHOWER PARTY HONOREE

Miss Lorene Lutkenhaus, bride elect of Henry Sandmann of Lindsay, was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the parish hall on the afternoon of Thursday, March 22. Mrs. Gus Lutkenhaus was hostess.

Games were enjoyed with prizes going to the following: Mrs. Ben Sandmann, Mrs. Darrell McCool, Mrs. Andrew Schoech, Mrs. Buddy Reiter and Miss Rose Sicking, who in turn presented them to the honoree.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Joe Hoenig and Bill Kathman, to 40 guests from Muenster and Lindsay. The wedding will take place here on Wednesday, April 4, at 9 a.m.

will have an even harder time re-adjusting themselves. Think of the young pilot, for instance. His pay, if he was married, may have been about $400. When he gets out will he be able to start at the bottom for 100 or 125?

The thought of such problems, along with a realization of our tremendous national debt, makes us wonder what kind of an economic system we will have in the future. Unless money is fairly cheap it is hard to imagine how we will ever be able to work ourselves out of the national debt. On the other hand millions of people will be cheated if the value of money is permitted to go down. Savings accounts, stocks, bonds, and other investments are worth only their face value, and if that face value, in cash, will not purchase as much as when the investment was made, the investor is the loser.

These economic problems, when studied carefully, get so involved they make a person dizzy. The only way to see ourselves through the confusion is to get back to fundamentals and realize that regardless of how the figures are jammed up there are only two essentials after all—to produce the things our country needs and to distribute them to the people who need them. As long as we do that we'll be okay, although, naturally, we'd prefer to do it without red tape entanglements.
