City Sales Tax Starts Monday

Effective next Monday, July 1, sales made in the City of Muenster will be subject to a 1 per cent local sales tax. It is the tax which was approved by a vote of 203 to 24 in a special election on February 3.

The effect is to increase the sales tax here from 2 to 3 percent, the state to continue receiving its 2 per cent tax and the city to receive the 1 per cent less a collection fee deducted by the state comptroller.

That, according to Mayor Earl Fisher is the method which applies at this time. It is the method specified in the law permitting cities to adopt a local sales tax. However current deliberations by the state legislature may bring on some changes in procedure, also changes in the amount of money to be received by the city.

Rev. Alcuin To Transfer

A change of pastors for Muenster's Sacred Heart Church will become effective on Sunday, July 7. That is the date on which Father Alcuin's successor will make his first appearance before the parish.

Father Benedict, assistant, revealed that information this week and also stated that the new pastor is a member of the Benedictine order. He said, however that he is not free to tell the successor's name or Father Alcuin's next assignment.

News of pastoral changes took the parish by surprise last Sunday when Father Alcuin Kubis conveyed his farewell message in the church bulletin. No hint of his leaving had been mentioned before.

He pointed out that he had served as pastor here almost eight years to the day, having arrived on June 20, 1960, and that he enjoyed every minute of the time. He also stated that he was leaving the parish debt free, which he accomplished through the co-operation of the people.

In appreciation of his services arrangements have been made to give him all of next Sunday's collection as a farewell gift.

Save Old Newspapers

Juniors of Muenster Public School wish to remind local residents that the class is still in the scrap paper pickup business and ask that those who have papers, magazines, etc., to discard please save them during the summer. The next pickup is planned for August 10. Those who find it inconvenient to save their papers until then may call 759-2523, Jan Wilde, or 759-4123, Debbie Cain, for special pickup.

Library Holiday

Muenster Public Library will be closed all day Thursday, July 4, for the holiday.

Instructors for Swim Classes To Meet Tuesday

Instructors who will teach in this year's Red Cross swimming classes will receive their special instructions next week Tuesday at 9 a.m.

That is the time when they will get their names on the roster and receive briefing on the technique of conducting their classes.

All boys and girls of the area who are willing and able are invited to come and help teach the beginners. They do not need special ratings so long as they have the ability. To compensate for the help the city council has agreed to give each instructor a free pass to the pool for two weeks.

The swimming course is generally the same as it has been for the past several seasons. It is under supervision of the county Red Cross chapter in cooperation with the city of Muenster, and it will be directed by someone with a Red Cross rating of water safety instructor. City Manager Steve Moser said the appointment had not been made up to Wednesday.

Eligibility of pupils remains the same as in former years. A child must have completed the first year of school and must have an application blank signed by a parent to indicate permission and by the family doctor to indicate physical fitness. The application form can be found elsewhere in this paper and other forms are available at the Medical Center and the Enterprise.

State Entry at National Jaycee Convention

Jaycee Park Project Gets National Award

National recognition has come to the Muenster Jaycees for their park improvement project.

At the national convention in Phoenix, Ariz., last week they received first place award in Division 1, which includes towns under 5,000 population. After being chosen for that honor, the Muenster project was entered in the sweepstakes competition with winners of the four other divisions.

Ted Henscheid, Muenster Jaycee president, said Cheyenne was chosen as the sweepstakes winner and no one was named for second place. However convention talk indicated that Muenster was Cheyenne's main contender for the top honor.

The national award plaque follows two other big prizes the local club received for its project. At the state convention they received a division award and also the top award of the state. Then they entered their project in competition with winners in all the states, and were judged the best in US for towns under 5,000.

The prize winning project is the city park improvement and

Hospital Census Sets New Records In May and June

Muenster Memorial Hospital had the highest sustained census of its history during the month of May, and may be on the way toward improving that figure this month.

David Bright, administrator, said Tuesday that the average number of patients through the last month was 21. The average census for June up to this time is 22. Both figures represent a sharp increase over April when the average was 15.5. Actual daily count in May ranged from a low of 14 to a high of 25. In June the count ranged from 14 to 31.

The count of 31 occurred on June 17 and matches the previous high on Feb. 4, 1965, the hospital's first anniversary. For a short period on the 17th the count was up to 33, which is explained by dismissals after the last admittance.

The previous high census average was 19.4 in January '67. The lowest was 6.5 in June '64 when Muenster had no resident doctor.

Because of the increased activity the management has specified organizational duties and responsibilities of its top staff members. To a great extent the titles just given reflect the work that was already being done by the persons concerned.

The assignments announced this week by Mr. Bright are as follows. Mrs. J. D. Caplinger, business manager; Mrs. Otto Walterscheid, director of nursing services; Charles Ashford, director of technical services; Mrs. A. J. Luttmer, dietary supervisor. A recent addition to the staff is Miss Inge Kieninger in the dietary department. She is back home after working recently in White Settlement Hospital, Fort Worth.

Lindsay Is Ready For Homecoming

Lindsay community and St. Peter's Parish are extending a general invitation to their tenth annual homecoming celebration Sunday.

The event, traditionally the "big party" of the year at Lindsay will begin with dinner in the school cafeteria at 11 a.m. and serving will continue until 2 p.m.

Attractions at Lindsay Park will include games, eats, drinks, rides for the children, an auction sale and an opportunity for reuniting with family and friends.

beautification project, with Herman Grewing as chairman. Their undertaking includes building ten picnic tables, clearing brush, filling a ditch and creating a new grassed picnic area, repairing tennis courts, moving oil storage tanks and extending the driveway and making a new park entrance.

Henscheid described it as a big job involving lots of free time and effort from the members and a good project for state and national competition, but is could not have made the grade without detailed and attractive presentation.

For that phase of the competition Muenster Jaycees are grateful to Toby Baird, state vice president, for expert advice and assistance.

The record book tells the complete story of club projects for the year. Besides the park improvement job it lists details of Little League park improvement, set up city trash barrels, set up traffic signs, raise funds for hospital equipment, sponsor the Little League, and provide trash service for the city.

More recognition for the Jaycee project came at the regional visitation held in Gainesville Monday night. Charles Denison, state director, presented an award to Herman Grewing for his work as chairman of the nationally recognized project.

Muenster members attending the national convention and bringing home the trophy were Ted Henscheid, Herman Grewing and Willie Fisher. Also there was Joe Galloway of Wichita Falls, former president of the Muenster club.

3 Days of Rain Measures 1.30 in.

With grain harvesting almost finished, except in small areas that were still boggy from previous heavy rainfall, this community was pleased with 1.30 inches of rain scattered over the first three days of this week. The little damage caused to remaining grain was offset many times by the benefit to pastures and growing crops.

Readings on the local rain gauge Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were .18, .87 and .25. Totals now are 5.20 for June and 27.53 for the year.

Catholic League Books Convention In Corpus Christi

Convention time is just around the corner for the 67 year old, 23,000 membership organization known in Texas as the Catholic State League and the Catholic Life Insurance Union.

Corpus Christi will be the scene of the three day session which begins with registration on Friday, July 19 and continues through the 21st. The convention is headquartered at the Sheraton Marina Hotel, with all sessions taking place in the Exposition Hall on Shoreline Blvd.

This annual gathering is jointly sponsored by: Orange Grove Branch, Robstown Branch and Violet-Corpus Christi Branch.

Highlights of this year's convention include a joint session of C.S.L. and C.L.I.U. under the leadership of Mr. Andrew Roewe, Jr., President, and Mr. Edward Dausin, Grand President. A free Fish Fry, sponsored by the fraternal insurance union at Corpus Christi Abbey, will precede the moon light cruise on SHOW BOAT in the Bay of Corpus Christi. Refreshments and dancing will be available aboard ship.

Committee meetings, workshops and general assemblies will occupy most of Saturday's activities. An Awards Dance (Western) for Youth will conclude the day's schedule.

Masses for deceased and living members will be said in the Corpus Christi Cathedral both Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday's agenda climaxes the convention with election of officers for both the Catholic State League and Catholic Life Insurance Union.

MODERN PATROL CARS of the Texas Department of Public Safety will be cruising Texas highways in full force over the long July 4th weekend. Trained and experienced officers of the DPS will render assistance, promote a safe and smooth flow of traffic and enforce the law.

Lots of people were amazed during the weekend when their mail included Circular E of the Employers' Tax Guide incorporating the new 10 per cent surcharge on individual income tax withholding rates. That law was passed only a few days ago, and in those few days the government printing office produced and mailed millions of copies of this 48 page book crammed with tax tables and small print.

Do you think that the job was actually done in so little time? Or do you think, like many others, that the printers had most or all of the work done before the law was passed? If so, do you also think that the bureaucrats were rather presumptuous in printing the book before Congress approved it? Still another question: How many millions of dollars would have been goofed off if Congress had declined to approve?

Strictly speaking, the book was sent out before the law was officially passed. A statement on the front, says the new rates "will become effective 15 days after the President signs the Revenue and Expenditure Control Act of 1968." Obviously LBJ had not signed before the mailing.

It's easy to understand why Congress and the entire nation is worked up over gun control legislation. Crime involving the use of firearms has long been a national disgrace, which was emphasized lately by the murder of two nationally prominent persons. And the feeling is intensified by memory of President Kennedy's assassination just a few years ago. By way of emphasizing the point, news media this week revealed that the weekend gun toll in the nation was 189.

There's no doubt that something needs to be done. But what? Congressmen deserve our sympathy as they wrestle with the problem.

At this time it seems that many are favoring a system of gun registration whereby the government will acquire a complete record of all gun owners. Such information presumably would be a starting point for taking the weapons away from undesirable characters — or could help in finding the guilty person after a crime involving a gun.

Unfortunately, however, that method seems to leave one big problem unsolved. What assurance does it offer that criminals would comply. The most likely result would be a very complete record of guns in the possession of law abiding citizens but a very poor record of the guns with which society is most concerned. Actually this way looks like only a gesture to appease the public rather than a real solution.

The worst feature about registration is that it can possibly be a step toward confiscation — the result of which is to deprive the good guys but fail utterly in depriving the bad guys. Furthermore it would violate a constitutional right to keep arms for one's own protection. Really it doesn't seem practical or just to impose on millions of good people in order to achieve partial control over thousands of bad people, especially when the worst of the bad ones will evade the control anyway.

The real solution is to go after the bad guys and prosecute them to the limit of laws we already have on the books. First step in that direction is to eliminate several court edicts of recent years which have given absurd protection to criminals.

For instance, a commentator just a few days ago pointed out that Senator Kennedy's murderer may possibly be acquitted because the arresting officer asked a question before advising him of his right to counsel.

Another absurdity favoring criminals is the supreme court decision of a few weeks ago stating that capital punishment cannot be imposed by a jury from which a person was dismissed because he opposed the death penalty.

The principal reason for crime in this country is the fact that criminals so often escape justice. The only way to combat it is to enforce laws to the limit and convince criminals that they will have to pay the price.

In defense of gun control, some people have been quoting the record of other countries with few guns and few killings. Records also show that those countries do not pamper criminals. Potential

TRAIL OF A SPY

Harold "Kim" Philby, the Britisher who betrayed both his own country and the United States as a spy for the Soviet Union is the subject of three or four books this year. Indeed, he has written one himself which an American publisher obligingly rushed into print. It may be that Philby ultimately will eclipse the former champion Soviet spy, Richard Sorge, who operated for his Moscow masters in Tokyo.

It will be recalled that Sorge's record seemed so incredible that American officials as highly placed as an assistant secretary of war refused to believe, and the detailed report prepared by General Charles Willoughby, chief of General MacArthur's intelligence section, was suppressed. Today, official Washington's response to the Philby Case is one of agonized silence.

The reader will better understand the spy business by having a look at the case of a "sleeper" spy who lived in this country for many years before being called upon by Moscow to do an important and exciting job.

In February, 1961, it was reported in the press that a man named M. Cohen was being held for trial in London. He was, it appeared, the final link in a network which was collecting nuclear submarine secrets which the United States was sharing with the British Navy. Needless to say, the data was being forwarded to Moscow.

In the United States, M. Cohen had been known as Peter J. Kroger. He attended the James Monroe School in New York City in the 20's. He was at New York University in 1929-30. He attended the University of Mississippi from 1931 to 1935, and from September 1935 to January 1936 was at the University of Illinois.

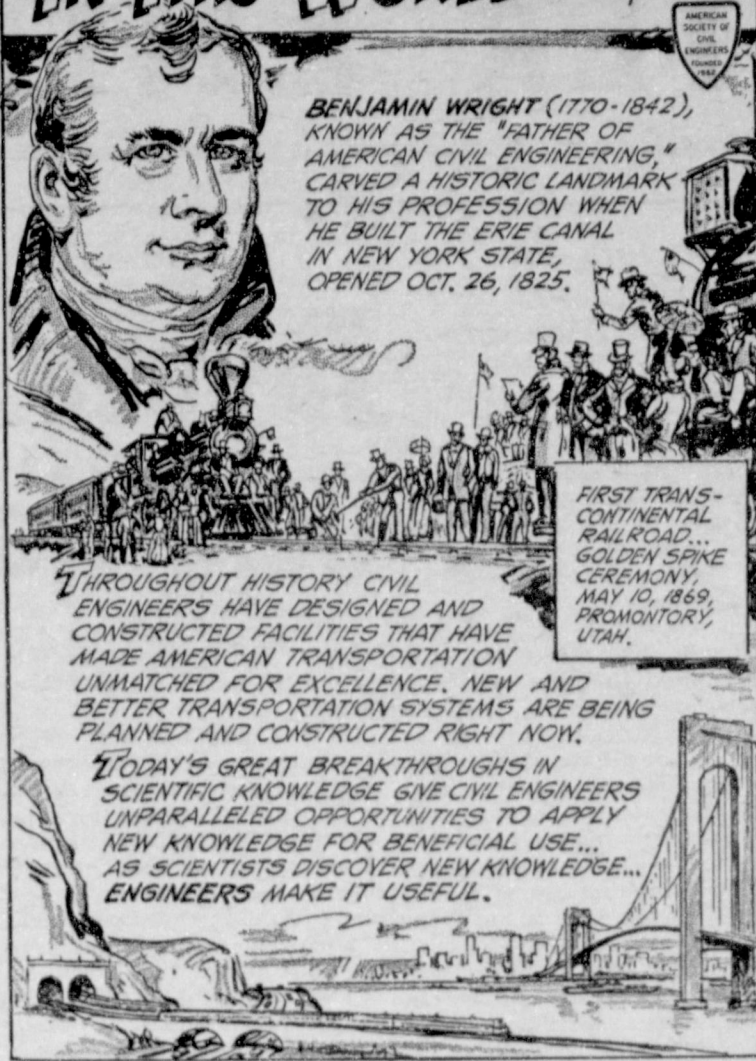

In 1937, Kroger joined the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, which served the Communists in Spain. He was back in New York City at the World's Fair in 1939, then worked for Amtorg, the Soviet trade agency, in 1942. From July 1942 to November 1945, he was in the US Army. From 1946 to 1948, Kroger studied at Columbia Teacher's College, and was employed as a teacher by the New York City Board of Education from 1947 to 1950.

M. Cohen and his wife showed up in England with forged New Zealand passports. How much subtle Communist poison do you suppose Kroger excreted along his academic trail before his masters changed his identity and moved him into his key role?

TRUTH IN GOVERNMENT AID

Having wrestled mightily, and to great fanfare, with the problems of "Truth in Packaging," and "Truth in Labeling," it would be a great service if the Congress would take half an hour to inform the public on "Truth in Government Aid." Perhaps it could authorize a memorandum to be enclosed with all Federal Government benefit checks, income tax forms, census reports and all other mailings to taxpayers, which would read something

U. S. SHOULD SET DEADLINE

It's rather hard to imagine that the North Vietnamese really want peace or just how the Paris peace talks could produce anything more than frustration for this nation. While U. S. negotiators continue to hold out hope that something solid will evolve from Paris, the North Vietnamese continue to infiltrate South Vietnam and military supplies and reinforcements. Recently the Defense Department reported the second largest casualty list since the start of the conflict. The Paris talks should not be allowed to drag on indefinitely serving only the propaganda purpose of the Reds. The United States should set a deadline and continue to negotiate in earnest until that date; giving the Commies every chance to prove their good faith interests in peace. After the deadline date, the United States should proceed to mine the Port of Haiphong thereby stopping the flow of war supplies from other nations of the world; a thing which should have been done years ago. Then the war effort could be pursued as it should have been conducted over these past years — in a manner aimed at winning. What other answer could there be?

FIRMNESS IN CHICAGO

Since the University of Chicago is deservedly one of the most prestigious of American academic institutions, the example it has set in dealing with a student sit-in is likely to have wide influence among harried campus administrators. When more than 60 Negro students seized the university's administration building, imprisoned the staff working there, and cut off all outgoing telephone calls, they were quickly met with an ultimatum informing the trespassing students they would be suspended if they did not vacate the building by 5 p.m. and expelled if they did not leave by 6 p.m. The students with drew before the first deadline.

It is probably too much to expect that the epidemic of lawless trespass that has been afflicting campuses the country over will be ended by any one or even a few cases of successful administration resistance. But the example set by the University of Chicago and the similar strategy used a few days earlier at Roosevelt University in Chicago — and at the University of Denver — show that universities are not without defenses.

The right to attend a university is a privilege. Those who abuse that privilege by striking at the freedom of the university have no just cause for complaint if their misconduct leads to actual or threatened expulsion from the community whose rules they refuse to accept.

like this:

"It is essential that all taxpayers understand the aid programs which the Federal Government has undertaken. So that there may be no misconceptions, we are here outlining the basic programs and their meanings:

"Federal Aid: This term is perhaps the most misunderstood of all Federal programs. Federal Aid actually means "free" Federal Aid does not cost your government anything. The only cost is to you. Federal Aid means that the Congress has authorized the executive Branch to take money from you and give it, free to someone else.

"Social Security: Under this program, the Congress authorizes the Executive Branch to compel those of you who are employed to pay benefits to those now receiving them. The program presumes that future Congresses will eventually compel persons who work to pay you benefits.

"Guaranteed Annual Income: Under this proposed program, the Congress will be asked to authorize the Executive Branch to take income earned by those who work, and give it to persons who do not work. The program will be sufficiently broad to provide benefits for those who cannot work, as well as those who prefer not work.

"Under these programs it is possible for our citizenry to enjoy the rewards of planning that would have seemed impossible a generation ago. This planning has made old-fashioned concepts of hard work and thrift outmoded. It costs the cooperative citizen nothing to participate in these programs, since the Federal Government takes money only from those uncooperative citizens who persist in working and saving, and gives it to those who are willing to refrain from these practices."

WHO PUT THE FRINGE IN MRS. MURPHY'S CHOWDER

When she sees price increases all down the supermarket shelf, does she realize that all she is doing is paying for the increase Mr. Murphy's union boastfully got him last summer?
 Now if Mr. Murphy and his co-workers had been willing to produce more, to pay for his increase, there would have been no need for a price rise — the Murphys and every American would be better off. But too many union leaders concentrate on more money, and refuse to accept their responsibilities for more production to earn it.

So since wages and fringe benefits and pensions and paid vacations (and taxes) can only be paid out of the money which production brings in, prices have to go up.

So Mrs. Murphy's chowder cost her (and you) more, and the fringe benefits didn't benefit anyone after all.

Nurses Aid Class Planned to Start Here on July 8

At their June meeting Thursday night members of Muenster Hospital Auxiliary heard plans for a nurses' aid class to start July 8. Hospital Administrator David Bright said the class will be taught by Mrs. David Walterscheid, registered nurse, and women interested in taking the course are asked to notify him or

Mrs. Walterscheid as soon as possible.

Members discussed their annual benefit bake sale and set it for July 19 and 20.

It was announced that the gift shop in the hospital is well stocked now, not only with baby items but also with other gifts including toilet articles.

The group voted to change meeting time from 8 to 8:30 p.m. through October.

Mrs. Jerry Walterscheid and her committee have made dozens of pillow corsages which are presented to women patients, and have a new supply of mechanical pencils for men patients. These are favors from the Auxiliary.

The organization had a letter from Dr. J. W. Truitt Jr. of Gainesville commending members on their current project — a dental unit for the hospital. This equipment has been used several times since its recent purchase.

New officers assumed duties at this meeting. Mrs. Ervin Hamric, president, presided. She also won the door prize.

The most valuable part of your tank is gone when you have it pumped!

This is important! When someone calls at your home with a truck and tells you that your tank is almost full, that is correct. It has to be full to be filtering properly, and the most harmful thing you could do would be to have it pumped, for pumping destroys the most valuable part of your tank. Pumping doesn't clean your lines or eliminate odors and you pay an enormous price for the harm done.

Tips From

Muenster Hatchery

Bag worms and tent worms are very busy this week. Better check your trees today. We have a newcomer in our midst. Guess he really got his start last year but was mostly ignored. It's the Bermuda Mite, and he is playing havoc with some of our most beautiful bermuda lawns. If your lawn shows dry, dead patches, or weeds and wild grasses are taking over, you have them. Your lawn takes on the appearance of being mowed with a dull mower.

If you love trees you will be enthused about the new Agriform Plant Pills. They furnish correct nutrition for TWO years. They cost a lot less than regular tree fertilizer and are easy to use, good for shrubs, potted plants and flowers. Better get some today. —Clive.

Time for a Change, FB Members Told

It is time to change agriculture from a subsidy-oriented to a profit-oriented business, Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said in his annual address to the 49th annual meeting of the Federation.

The head of the nation's largest general farm organization with a membership of more than 1,700,000 families in 49 states and Puerto Rico, said that government farm control, direct payment and price support programs are being used to hold farm prices down and to force farmers to accept payments in lieu of the full market price.

Approximately 20 percent of net farm income," he reported, "now comes from direct subsidy payments from the federal treasury and cotton farmers get almost half of their total crop returns from this source."

"American agriculture has been rapidly converted by the Great Society planners and politicians to a subsidy-oriented business. It is time for a change. Farmers want their industry profit-oriented," he said.

The national farm leader said that there is good reason to believe that with proper transitional protection against dumping of government-held commodity stocks and other temporary hazards, government farm programs could be terminated "quite rapidly with market gains rather than losses accruing to farmers."

Shuman termed "ridiculous" statements by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and others that the 1967 surplus grain production and farm price disaster is a sample of what would happen with a no control-free market operation in agriculture.

"The wheat and feed grain production binge of 1967 was not a product of the free market, but must be charged to the mistakes of the Administration in promoting an extensive "feed the hungry world" campaign coupled with rosy price predictions."

Maps Published On Two of Texas Travel Trails

AUSTIN — Governor John Connally today announced the publication of detailed folders for two of the Statewide systems of Texas Travel Trails.

The folders, published by the Texas Highway Department, will serve as guides and detail numerous points of interest along the Texas Mountain Trail in far West Texas, and the Texas Forest Trail in deep East Texas.

The folders will lead travelers through picturesque landscapes, by historic sites and to colorful cities and towns on the two official State trails.

Connally announced the new Statewide system of trails last January. Each county erected Travel Trail signs along the 10 official trail routes.

The Mountain Trail folder guides travelers through the tallest region of Texas, where 90 peaks thrust above a mile high. The route goes past the nation's newest national park, to be developed in the Guadalupe Mountains, and to Davis Mountain State Park.

Those following the Mountain Trail will visit Big Bend National Park, the scenic El Camino del Rio from Big Bend to Presidio, and through the cities of Van Horn, Fort Davis, Marfa, Alpine and El Paso. The Texas Forest Trail explores a 790-mile loop through the vast Piney Woods region. It goes through four national forests and past scores of federal, State and county recreational areas.

Other spots of interest include the East Texas oil field, the State's only Indian reservation, the Big Thicket and such popular water sport areas as Lake O' the Pines, Caddo Lake and Sam Rayburn Reservoir.

Travel Trail literature is available from the Texas Highway Department tourist bureaus and district offices, and at chambers of commerce along the Travel Trail routes.

Individual folders for the remaining eight Travel Trails will be released during the next few weeks as soon as printing is completed.

killers there are more afraid of the consequence.

Besides existing laws there are some proposals which could help solve the crime problem. Congressman Purcell suggests that every order for a weapon ought to be referred to the person's local law enforcement personnel. If they can't recommend him the purchase should be denied. Another proposal is mandatory 10 to 20 years imprisonment for use of a gun while committing any crime, regardless of how little penalty he is assessed for the crime itself.

Briefly stated, the problem in this country concerns people rather than guns. To almost the same extent it concerns a legal laxity toward the people who use their guns for crime. We don't need gun legislation nearly as much as an all out effort to control the wrong kind of people. Such an effort can rightfully include a nation wide campaign to take as many guns as possible from known criminals, but even more so it should include strict justice in prosecuting crime.

On the other hand it seems both futile and unfair to adopt anti crime measures which would achieve unnecessary control over good people while failing to achieve the desired control over bad people.

Perhaps your clear conscience is nothing more than a poor memory.
