

MRS. GRANDI THRILLED WITH UNITED STATES

BY BESS FURMAN
(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(P)—Signora Grandi, prettily turning the old adage, "when in Rome do as the Romans," proved how quickly she had learned American customs by reacting on her third day here, a press interview.

But she did what is seldom enough done in such conversations—she gave some news.

"Next year my son will come to America," she said. "He will come and see it, for I think that to look at this industrial country will have a good effect on his character."

Signora Grandi laughed happily as she explained that her transatlantic telephone call to her son, Franco, and daughter, Simonetta, had prompted this decision.

She is a home-lover. Donna Grandi talked enthusiastically of her plans for her son.

The Grandis previously had planned to add to Franco's education by sending him to America at the age of twelve. But his mother caught a tempo in the air that she wanted her son to sense in his formative years.

Will Go Shopping
"In New York, I shall go shopping," she went on. "I shall buy much children's literature, and the toys I promised them by telephone. For my little girl, Simonetta, who has blonde hair and blue eyes, I will buy dresses."

Answering the inevitable question about "impressions of America," Signora Grandi gave word-pictures that later will interest a small boy and girl in Italy—Mrs. Hoover, very charming, very interesting; Woodley, colonial home of the Stimsons—a white house in the middle of a great and silent grounds.

Washington—Oh, I like you very pretty city which my friend Mrs. Stimson so kindly showed me—and I have yet to see those great buildings of New York!

In the intimate after-dinner hour at the White House, when the men go to the president's study for their cigars and the women chat in groups in the red room, her talk was still of her children.

It was a subject that transcended any difficulties she might be having with the English language.

OVERSTREET'S CAREER AS BANK ROBBER IS AT END AFTER 9 YEARS

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—(P)—James Overstreet, whose 9-year career as a bank robber appears destined to end in the Macomb county circuit court, told detectives today that most of the 19 members of the gang which he organized in St. Louis in 1922 are either dead or in prison.

Overstreet and his friend, James McCoy, will be taken today to Mt. Clemens to plead guilty to a charge of robbing the First National Bank there of $14,000 last Sept. 16.

Sitting in police headquarters awaiting his transfer to Mt. Clemens, Overstreet told officers how he organized the gang in the Missouri city and embarked on a career of robbery which netted them $150,000. He indicated he preferred to plead guilty to bank robbery in Michigan to facing extradition to other states which want him on similar charges.

Overstreet told how he and his gang robbed 10 Illinois banks in 1924 and how an attempt to rob a mail train at Salem, Ill., with six other men met with failure and the capture of some of the gang.

"It was a tip-off," he explained. Overstreet's bank robbing career was interrupted in 1924 when he was sentenced to 25 years in the Oklahoma state prison for his part in the robbery of a bank at Shawnee, Okla., in which $20,000 was taken. After serving five years in the Oklahoma prison, Overstreet escaped, resumed his activities and finally joined forces with McCoy who was paroled from the same prison last May.

Conspiracy Angle Of Pantages Trial Causes Delay Today

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—(P)—The question of whether defense counsel may introduce witnesses to testify concerning an alleged conspiracy to "frame" Alexander Pantages, on a charge of attacking Eunice Pringle, young dancer, temporarily halted taking of testimony in the theatre magnate's second trial.

Superior Judge Clair Tappaan took the matter under advisement. Defense attorneys said they had several witnesses by whose testimony they hoped to prove that Nicholas Dunsay, Miss Pringle's dramatic director and friend, had part in a conspiracy against the theatre man.

Whether the testimony will be admitted involves a legal question that has not been decided by the California courts. The district attorney's defense had created not less than a week's suspension that a conspiracy existed before the alleged crime.

IRA MCKEE IS CONVICTED AND SENTENCED TO DEATH

LAMAR, Tex., Nov. 19.—(P)—Ira McKee, 32, convicted in June, 1929, for the alleged slaying of W. F. Billingsley, a Sparenberg merchant, was given a death sentence today. Judge Gordon B. McGuire fixed his date of execution at Jan. 31, 1932. It was the first death penalty ever administered in a Dawson county court.

BIG GUNS TO PLAY MINOR ROLE IN WAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(P)—"Big Guns!" scoffed Elmer A. Sperry, Jr. "They'll play a minor role in military tactics of the future. The flying bomb is the thing."

Sperry, who at 38 has the enthusiasm of a stripling, explained today how the robot pilot, developed by his famous father with the admiring son helping, will revolutionize warfare if the world is ever afflicted with another war.

Meanwhile, it is being devoted to peacetime uses. The Eastern Air Transport today officially sets it to work flying air liners between New York and the south.

"A flying bomb of aerial torpedo," Sperry declared, "is the cheapest way to deliver a ton of explosive to an objective. A gun is the most expensive."

"Say you want to destroy an ammunition depot 500 miles away. A big gun couldn't do it, but an aerial torpedo could. You'd simply fix a cheap plane with a robot pilot and some other gadgets and load it with explosive. Then one dark night, it would take off by itself, with another plane following, controlling it by radio."

"When the flying bomb reached the depot, down it would plunge, blowing everything off the map. Then the human pilot could fly back and sit down to breakfast."

The robot pilot, an essential feature of such a bomb, was developed through the years by the elder Sperry who died in 1924. Perfected with the aid of his son, it is in principle very much like another Sperry automatic pilot, called by mariners "Iron Mike," which keeps heavy steamship ploughing a true course for days through the sea.

TOO MUCH LAND USED FOR FARMING, ASSERTS FARM BOARD CHAIRMAN

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(P)—Chairman James C. Stone of the Federal Farm Board expressed belief today there was too much land in agricultural use.

A participant in the land utilization conference called by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, the Farm Board head said land-planning "must include provisions for reducing the total area of land in farms, or else for shifting some of it to less productive use, as from crops to pastures."

Utilization of waste lands and conservation of soil was the keynote of the conference, with representatives from land grant colleges and universities, farm mortgage and insurance companies, conservation and forestry leaders and agriculturists attending.

The trend of the conference's discussions was to solve the land ills of the future.

Chairman Stone said it would be an "almost impossible task" to develop a land-planning program even in the next ten years.

Such a program, Stone said, has become one of the major precepts of Farm Board activities.

Unsteady Throne Of GOP Chairmanship Is Quaking Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(P)—The unsteady throne of the republican party chairmanship again is quaking under its unwilling occupant, Senator Fess of Ohio.

House republican anti-prohibitionists are leading a new assault on the holder of the thankless job. They are demanding Fess' resignation because he recently states he would use his influence "to prevent the party from committing a fatal blunder in asking for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment."

Even before the wets got into action a movement had started looking to installation of a new chairman at the forthcoming December meeting of the national committee. However, this movement was not anti-Fess. It was led by some who believed now was the time to reorganize rather than next June.

Now the uprising by the House led by Representative Britten of Illinois, is believed to have settled the issue. Fess' friends do not believe he will quit under fire.

Representative Schafer of Wisconsin and Laguardia of New York joined Britten in issuing caustic statements.

Death Penalty Will Be Asked By State In Trial Of Miner

MT. STEPLING, Ky., Nov. 19.—(P)—The commonwealth plans to seek the death penalty in the case of William Burnett, Harlan county coal miner on trial here on a charge of slaying Jesse Pace, Harlan deputy sheriff.

The jury was selected and 14 witnesses heard at day and night sessions yesterday, leaving only six prosecution witnesses to be heard today. One of these was heard yesterday but the state decided to recall him.

Burnett is charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Deputy Pace at Everts, Harlan county, April 17. Pace was slain when he and other deputies went to Everts to arrest several men on charges of banding and confederating. Eleven other men are to be tried here on murder charges arising from a gun battle at Everts a month later in which four men were killed.

Aged Widow Is Held On Murder Charges In Deaths Of Two

PERKIN, Ill., Nov. 19.—(P)—Mrs. Alice Mason, 50 year old widow of Delavan, Illinois, was held today on charges that she killed her husband, John, a year ago and her daughter, Mildred, 12, last August, with poison.

State's Attorney Louis Dunkelberg, who said she signed a statement last night admitting the slayings, announced the case would be presented to the county grand jury immediately after it convenes today.

Dunkelberg quoted Mrs. Mason as charging that the poison was given her by Dr. B. M. Bartinger. He expressed doubt, however, if the physician took a part in the alleged crime.

The announcement of Mrs. Mason's confession was made several hours after the coroner's jury ordered her held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering her daughter.

The widow was arrested early yesterday after Dr. Willard D. McNally, Chicago toxicologist, reported to Coroner A. E. Allen he had found sufficient poison in the girl's viscera to kill several persons. She died August 9th, ostensibly from pertussis.

Not many days later, Harold, Mrs. Mason's 18 year old son, became ill. He is now recovering. Mrs. Mason carried $1,000 insurance on Mildred, her husband and Harold, officials said.

Warning by Party Leaders Unheeded By Demo Candidates

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 19.—(P)—The warning of party leaders that democrats of the 14th congressional district should unite to support one of the six democratic candidates for the seat of the late Harry M. Wurzbach, if they hoped to defeat the lone republican claimant, today apparently had met with no results.

Joseph Byrnes, chairman of the democratic congressional committee, called on Carl Wright Johnson of San Antonio and Richard Kieberg of Corpus Christi, regarded as the two strongest democratic candidates, to decide which of them was stronger and for one to withdraw.

Johnson's campaign headquarters issued a statement today declaring that "the schism in the democratic ranks was brought about by Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, who brought out Kieberg for congress several days after the election had been announced. Upon Mr. Miller and Mr. Kieberg lies any responsibility for any split in the ranks which might jeopardize the chances of a democrat being elected."

Johnson himself asserted he would "be in Washington in time to vote for John Garner as speaker of the House."

Ohio Man Suicides Early Today After Slaying Man, Woman

DENISON, O., Nov. 19.—(P)—Thomas Wheeler, 34, shot and killed himself early today not long after slaying Mrs. Blanch Scheidegger, 34, who had spurned his attentions, and her husband, Russell C. Scheidegger, 35.

Wheeler's body was found lying beside his automobile in which he had eluded posses of two counties for nearly three hours after the Scheideggers were shot down on a downtown street.

Beside the body were two guns he had used—a .22 caliber revolver with which Scheidegger had been felled and a shotgun which had been fired at Mrs. Scheidegger.

The Scheidegger's 12 year old son, Russell, Jr., who was walking home with them from a motion picture show, said Wheeler drove up beside them. Jumped out and shot Mrs. Scheidegger.

"As she fell, her husband sprang toward Wheeler and shouted "say you," only to be instantly killed with another shot—this time from the revolver. Mrs. Eugene Rennieker, a neighbor, was slightly wounded by scattering shot.

Wheeler raced away toward Cadiz, 25 miles away, but was turned back near there by a sheriff's posse. He escaped and headed back to Denison but found all roads there heavily guarded. Facing capture, he stopped his machine near the city, got out and shot himself in the heart with the shotgun, according to Coroner J. F. Lewis.

Ill feeling between the two men had existed since Wheeler roomed with the Scheideggers some time ago, police were told by the boy and Charles Copeland, 20, brother of the dead woman.

"Peeping Tom" Shot Early Today When Trapped by Device

SHELDON, Ill., Nov. 19.—(P)—An electrical device set to catch "Peeping Tom" who had been bothering Clayton Jones, movie theatre owner, and his 24 year old wife resulted in the shooting early today of Russell Hickey, a railroad brakeman. Hickey was expected to die.

Outside the bedroom window of his house, Jones had placed a bonnet which, when stepped on, caused a flashlight to shine in the face of the person outside the window.

Early this morning the light flared up, Mrs. Jones screamed; Jones grabbed his rifle and ran outside where he caught Hickey. He told the police he shot Hickey when the brakeman broke loose and began to run. Hickey is married and has four children.

Jones was not held.

Bank Commissioners Favor Liberalizing Federal Reserve Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(P)—Bank commissioners in a majority of the states have informed Senator Vandenberg they approve liberalization of the federal reserve act.

The proposals submitted were: To admit to redemption certain bonds and warrants of states, counties and cities, and other tax districts, and to create under proper safeguards a temporary emergency redemption privilege covering any sound assets in a solvent bank.

Bank commissioners voted yes in 25 states while six approved with reservations. Four voted yes on part of the proposal and no on the other part. New Jersey, California and Minnesota rejected the plan and ten states were either noncommittal or did not reply.

PORKERS WORK OVERTIME FOR HOUSTON GAME

By The Associated Press.
If hard work means anything, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks will defeat the Rice Owls Saturday in their Southwest Conference battle at Houston.

They spent hours yesterday perfecting defensive tactics to halt the Owls' powerful running attack. Evidently Arkansas plans to feature a strong defense and play for a few offensive breaks. The Razorbacks have yet to break into the conference win column. Shortage of reserves will be their only handicap against Rice.

Like Arkansas, Rice is prepared for a hard tussle. The Owls snapped into a routine practice yesterday if they meant it. They worked on their running attack and also mapped out a defense to stop the plunging of Homer Ledbetter, the high scoring Arkansas fullback.

Coach Schmidt and his Texas Christian Frogs leave tomorrow for Waco to play Baylor Saturday. A stiff session was given the Christians yesterday with Coach Schmidt stressing precision in the running attack. At Waco, the Bears whipped through practice with a lot of fighting spirit.

The Texas Longhorns after a hard workout yesterday, left today for Shreveport to play Centenary College tomorrow.

BIRTH ANNIVERSARY OF JAMES A. GARFIELD IS OBSERVED IN OHIO

HIRAM, O., Nov. 19.—(P)—Ohio broadcast to the nation today a memorial to one of the state's most distinguished sons.

It was the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of James Abram Garfield, twentieth president of the United States.

Speakers here and in Cleveland recalled the tragic days in 1881 through which the nation waited for word from the bedside of the President in Elberton, N. J., where he lay mortally wounded from an assassin's bullet.

Happier days of the President's life also were brought to mind—when as a boy he waded in the streams around his birthplace in Orange township, Cuyahoga county, and of hard work to help his widowed mother.

The days in Hiram were some of the most important in his life. He came here at 20 to attend the Western Reserve Electric Institute, as Hiram College was then known and six years later he was president of the institution.

High spots in the memorial services, attended by the President's Thomas Wheeler, Garfield, president of Williams College, in eulogy to his distinguished father, services at the Garfield memorial church near the birthplace, and the placing of a boulder on the 4-acre plot marking the birthplace.

Bank Loot Plans Of Five Abandoned And Bankers Car Taken

RINGLING, Okla., Nov. 19.—(P)—Five uninvited guests who welcomed W. W. Woodworth, president of the First National Bank, and Mrs. Woodworth when they returned home last night, and announced they would rob the bank with Woodworth's help, changed their minds and departed with the banker's car and a square meal.

The men, all masked, armed, wearing rubber gloves and talking light-heartedly, asked the bankers wife to prepare supper for them and announced they had come to stay all night.

As they sat down to the meal, the men told Woodworth they would accompany him to the bank this morning and rob it.

When they were ready to retire, one of the men suggested two of the group go downtown and "get the night watchman." The group, two went to town but returned with word that the night watchman had found them first and had shot at them.

Another conference was held. The men decided not to carry out their original plans. They asked the banker for the keys to his car.

Bidding their hosts adieu, the five stepped into Woodworth's automobile and disappeared.

Officers were searching for them today.

Word Awaited From Allred In Oil Suit Attachments, Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 19.—(P)—The old game of "button, button, who's got the button?" was not half as complicated, Sheriff Hal Hood of Dallas county decided today, as finding out who has the stock of the Magnolia Petroleum Company and the Shell Union Oil Company.

Sheriff Hood received writs of attachment yesterday from the district court at Austin, in connection with Gustav suits Attorney General James V. Allred has filed against 15 oil companies, seeking to attach stock up to the value of $1,021,500 each of the Magnolia Petroleum Company and the Shell Union Oil Corporation.

Persistent efforts today had producer certain information and figures for the sheriff, but no success in making the writs of attachment effective. He learned that the Standard Oil Company of New York holds all of 1,850,000 shares of stock of the Magnolia Petroleum Company excepting 13 shares. Each director of the Magnolia Company holds one each of those shares.

W. H. Francis, chief counsel of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, explained that although it is a Texas Corporation, it is a Standard of New York subsidiary and the stock certificates naturally are held by the owners, not by the company offices here.

The sheriff said he was not successful in obtaining information concerning the Shell Union Oil Corporation, a subsidiary of the Shell Petroleum Company.

Sheriff Hood planned to make return on the writs to the Travis county district clerk at Austin tonight, forwarding to the Attorney General's Department the information he received about the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Although the writs of attachment directed the sheriff to levy on any property of the two concerns in Dallas, an accompanying letter from an assistant Attorney General suggested the levy be made only on shares of stock.

Gold Tide Flowing Strongly Once More To American Shores

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—(P)—Texas' Attorney General, complaining of anti-trust law violations by 15 oil corporations and seeking to banish them from the state, has another move up his sleeve in his effort, to attach stock of the Magnolia Petroleum Company and the Shell Petroleum Corporation.

Claiming the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Shell Union Oil Corporation, foreign corporations, owned the stock of Magnolia and Shell Texas Companies, respectively, he issued writs of attachment and sent them to the sheriff of Dallas county for service.

The allegation was that the parent companies were using the subsidiaries as a means of evading the corporation laws of Texas and to escape liabilities under the tax law.

After the sheriff failed to find any stock, he was to return the writs for further instruction.

James V. Allred, Attorney General, was directing his office man-neuvers from an unknown hiding place, having departed for an unannounced destination soon after filing the big suit asking eviction and penalties aggregating $17,850,000.

Everett L. Looney, assistant attorney general, said the state had plenty of ammunition in reserve and it would take another shot soon.

"We have other avenues of getting to that stock, but we shall not announce them in advance," he said.

The sparring over attachment of stock was seen as a minor preliminary of the warmly contested litigation that is to ensue over the 33 year old Attorney General's campaign to break what he termed "a nation-wide conspiracy to control and dominate the business of marketing gasoline and petroleum products."

"Some of the nation's select legal talent was expected to appear in the court room fight against Allred and his corps of assistants when the case comes to trial, probably early next year. It has been placed on the docket for setting January 4 in Travis county district court.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—(P)—Dallas county officials awaited word from the office of Attorney General James Allred today as to the next move in attaching stock of some of the oil companies named as defendants in the ouster suit, brought by the state for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws.

County officials reported to state officials they had been unsuccessful in the first step to attach stock of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, alleged to be owned by the Standard Oil Company of New York, and the Shell Union Oil Corporation.

Writs were issued at Austin yesterday providing for attaching up to $1,021,500 from each company. County officials were told at offices of the oil companies that there was no stock here.

Gold Tide Flowing Strongly Once More To American Shores

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(P)—An ebbing tide of gold, greatest ever experienced, has turned and is flowing strongly once more to the American shore.

Within six weeks after Great Britain's abandonment of the gold standard this country lost $70,000,000 of gold, a bulletin of the Federal Reserve Board revealed today. The publication described it as "the largest movement of the metal during a similar period in any country at any time."

Yet the process ended quickly and a Commerce Department source asserted return of the gold was well under way. This reaction has occurred after every outward gold movement in recent years, leaving the United States with a bigger store each time.

The Commerce authority said withdrawal was caused by European apprehensions, partly over a misunderstanding of the proposed national credit corporation. The movement was labelled a "raid on the dollar."
At the peak of the outward movement, said the Reserve Board, the American gold stock was still $4,300,000,000 and gold in excess of legal requirements was more abundant than when the movement began.

PRODUCTION TAX ON LIQUORS IN MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—(P)—Production tax on alcoholic beverages increased 300 per cent on production of the president today on native drinks, such as ente, mescal and aguardiente, valued from 18 to 20 per quart to 45 and 60 per quart. Whisky was fixed at 75 per quart.

Barring an Ugly Word

EDITORS attending the American Newspaper Publishers Association convention in Los Angeles the other day solemnly resolved that henceforth and forever the word "depression" in connection with economic conditions would be barred from the columns of their papers. Their idea was that the word itself has a depressing influence, and moreover that it has been used to excess during the past year and a half.

There isn't any doubt that constant discussion of depressed business and industrial conditions has had a bad influence upon the people all over the country. Almost unconsciously we have been trained to blame "the depression" for everything that annoys us, and to utilize it as an excuse for whatever failures we may register. Newspapers, perhaps, have encouraged the "depression complex" by their news reports of distressing events and their editorial discussions of economic problems, because they have unintentionally directed the thoughts of their readers along channels of pessimism rather than of optimism.

The simple expedient, however, of exchanging the dark glasses for rose-tinted lenses is not going to effect a complete and speedy cure. It seems to us that one of the reasons for the protracted period of economic distress was the refusal of national leaders two years ago to recognize the situation as serious and to warn the people to regard it so when the major difficulties were first appearing. They attempted to laugh away a situation that was increasing in its seriousness every day. They spoke of disturbed economic conditions as "psychological" rather than real. The result was that a great many were given a false sense of security and were deluded into believing that the lull in business and industry was only temporary, to be overcome quickly by a return of extravagant prosperity.

The newspapers as a rule are now following a policy of what appears to us to be sound common sense. They are giving the people information as to economic conditions having a direct bearing upon their welfare, and are withholding distressing news that does not involve their interests. They are discussing depression honestly and frankly, in the belief that the people now understand its meaning and are able intelligently to attack the problems it presents from day to day. Barring the word "depression" from the columns of the paper is not in harmony with the traditions of the newspaper profession, to any greater extent than barring crime news, or any similarly distressing news, is traditionally ethical. A newspaper is not a Pollyanna product. It is a mirror in which the world and its activity is reflected from day to day, and the faithfulness with which it reflects the events of the day is the measure of its service to its people.

Soviet Marriage

MARRIAGE under the soviet regulations in Russia has been simplified and in some respects has been improved, as compared with the customs prevailing in this country, but all the romance has been eliminated from it. The Associated Press recently distributed a copyrighted story relating some of the more interesting phases of the marriage laws now in effect in Russia, but it is not thought that any Americans will rush over there in order to take advantage of the equality of the sexes or any other improvements effected by the soviet in its revision of the legal aspects of marriage.

Equality of the sexes is probably the most important part of the soviet marriage scheme. It gives husband and wife equal property and social rights, compels one to support the other in cases of unemployment or illness, permits them to live together or apart and under any name or names each may choose. Marriage, moreover, is one of the few excuses for taking a vacation from work, although honeymoons are barred as wasteful.

Childbirth is rewarded by monetary gifts from the state, and for each child an extra ration card is issued so that the family may buy extra food. Hospitalization is provided free, and nurseries are provided for the use of mothers whose employment is outside the home. Incidentally, she gets a four months vacation for each childbirth. Parents are permitted to raise their own children, but must exercise care not to give them any kind of religious training. The state maintains a first mortgage upon each child, and the parents are merely the agents of the state.

Communism, as preached in this country, cries "Down with the government!" But communism as practiced in Russia makes the state the head of everything, the owner of everything, the one supreme power that controls everything from childbirth to the rationing of foodstuffs and clothing and the religious convictions, if any, of the people who support it.

This Chinese "War."

THE CAUSE of all the trouble in Manchuria, where Chinese and Japanese and Russian troops are in a three-cornered conflict and where large groups of Chinese people themselves are sympathizing with invading forces, is not made very clear in the voluminous press dispatches emanating from the war zone each day. Perhaps few of us would understand if the major details of underlying causes were explained for us. Suffice it to say that the whole difficulty has its origin in the desire of Japan to seize and utilize something that China possesses, and the purpose of Russia to take advantage of a disturbed condition to extend its own sphere of commercial and industrial activity. China is fighting a defensive battle, but as is usually the case, is not entirely blameless because the Chinese attitude toward Japan has always been one of antagonism and countless provocations have been suffered by Japan in its contacts with the government and people of the celestial empire.

As dull and uninteresting as the war news seems to be, however, the situation is regarded by the nations of the world as extremely serious. So serious, in fact, that the League of Nations has made a desperate effort to mediate the quarrel and stop the conflict, and so serious that the United States, heretofore holding itself aloof from "foreign entanglements," has definitely taken part in the international efforts to restore peace. Conditions throughout the world are such that a war originating in the interior of China, and having its foundation in a quarrel that few of us can understand, might easily spread all over the world; and that is to be avoided at all costs.

Newspaper readers are reminded, in this connection, that it is no insignificant service that is being performed for them by the American press. The most skillful war correspondents are being rushed to the war zone. Tremendous news gathering organizations are being set up all over China. Reporters are riding with the troops of all the warring nations, and are utilizing military telegraph lines for the sending of their stories to the bureau centers, from which the daily dispatches are literally sent around the world. The cost of all this news gathering is tremendous, as may readily be seen from the fact that a charge of from 18 to 30 cents per word is made for the transmission of reports from the war zone. It is only because such emergencies have been foreseen and provision has been made for them in previous reserve funds that the newsgathering associations are able to perform the task now confronting them without placing extraordinary hardships upon the newspapers who are their clients or association members. The newspaper reader, whether interested in the daily reports from China or not, should appreciate the service that is being rendered at such heavy cost in their behalf.

Abolishing Mexico's Navy

A RECENT dispatch from Mexico City indicates that the Mexican government is considering abandoning its navy entirely. The present fleet, composed of an assortment of cruisers and old gunboats, is expensive to maintain, and its officers, in the past, have not been free from a tendency to mix in the revolutions which have disturbed the country so greatly.

But it would hardly be correct to say that abandonment of the navy would represent a step toward disarmament. After all, Mexico has very little need for a navy, and the Mexican government is simply recognizing the fact. The great grey fleets of Uncle Sam, odious as a patriotic Mexican occasionally finds them, are, in a very real sense, Mexico's ocean defense. No major power will ever be permitted to attack Mexico as long as those fleets exist. Why should Mexico bother to maintain a small and inefficient navy of her own?

TEXAS AND TEXANS

By WILL H. MAYES

Farm Warehousing

The greatest need on Texas farms is facilities for holding products on the farms until they can be sold to advantage. Farmers of a half century ago had granaries for their wheat and oats, cribs for their corn, smokehouses for their meats, sheds for their cotton, barn lofts for their hay, cellars for fruits and vegetables. When prices were too low they held for higher prices, which are always certain to come time for building than now. Building material and labor are low. Most farmers have time in which to build, and almost any one can do the work required to construct such buildings as are needed for farm storage. The advance in wheat and other grains since the harvest of last spring has been sufficient to pay all the cost of permanent granaries on any wheat farm in the country. Farmers must learn to conserve what they make and must quit giving it away to the first bidder.

There was never a better time for building than now. Building material and labor are low. Most farmers have time in which to build, and almost any one can do the work required to construct such buildings as are needed for farm storage. The advance in wheat and other grains since the harvest of last spring has been sufficient to pay all the cost of permanent granaries on any wheat farm in the country. Farmers must learn to conserve what they make and must quit giving it away to the first bidder.

Favor Waterways

The Corpus Christi Intra-coastal Canal meeting enthusiastically favored the early completion of the intra-coastal project and also the improvement of the Trinity, Brazos and Guadalupe rivers as a Federal undertaking. Without recommending particular plans or ways, the canal association urged that a careful study be made of the various Texas waterways projects as a means to aid in rehabilitation and stabilization of economic conditions.

United States engineers at the meeting stated that the intra-coastal canal from near New Orleans to Galveston might be completed late in 1933 and that, if all goes well, work would begin on the Galveston-Corpus Christi section next summer. This section is now being surveyed.

Wearing Out Roads

Heavy trucks operated for private profit are wearing out Texas highways faster than they can be built, although Texas is spending $50,000,000 a year for road building and maintenance. A California visitor to Texas recently told me that the highway from Dallas through Austin is the worst stretch of road he had traveled in making a 3,500 mile trip, that the waves in the road are so deep and so numerous that one has to go 15 miles to make 10 miles of progress, and that his car was damaged more by road use between Dallas and San Antonio than on all the rest of the 3,500 miles. Trucks have become a menace not only to the roads, but to those who use them. The Railroad Commission is justified in making the most rigorous actions governing trucks possible to be made under the state laws.

Injunction Limitations

The Court of Civil Appeals at Waco has held that a court has no authority to restrain by injunction peace officers from arresting violators of the law, thus setting aside legislative provisions contrary to the plain provisions of the Constitution. This opinion was given in a case where a district court had enjoined officers from arresting parties charged with violating recently enacted truck highway laws.

Tax Payment Division

To get advantage of the extension of payment of one-half of the State and county taxes until June 30, 1932, without penalty or interest it is necessary to pay one-half of such tax prior to November 30, 1931. If the first half is not paid on or before November 30, the full amount becomes delinquent February 1, 1932, and then calls for a 10 per cent penalty and 6 per cent interest.

Expensive Noise Making

Firing sunrise and sunset guns at 300 Army posts in the United States costs taxpayers $265,000 annually, and firing salutes to visiting civilian and military dignitaries costs an additional $65,000 a year. The amount is small in the huge Army appropriations, but doubtless, it could be used to better purpose or saved.

Asking Budget Cuts

Citizens of Cameron county think cost of county government should be reduced from $290,000 to $190,000 a year, several hundred having signed a petition for such a reduction. Among the things asked is to terminate delinquent tax collection contract and consolidate 57 tax assessing and collecting agencies.

Publishes Fee Costs

State Senator Purl produces figures to show that it costs nearly $6,000 to convict a criminal on a felony charge in Texas. Austin papers have been publishing the costs of trying criminal cases in the district courts of Travis county. Newspapers can render great service in creating sentiment against the Texas fee system by publishing the items of fee expenses in court trials. The Texas legislature could, if it would, reduce court expenses at least one-half, but to do so would have to ignore strong lobbies of officials and lawyers who are fattening at public expense.

Teachers Appear Prosperous

It is announced that more than 6,000 Texas teachers are expected at the State Teachers Association meeting at Amarillo the last week in November. At an average cost of $50.00 each for traveling, hotel and convention expenses, the neat sum of $300,000 will be turned loose by the teachers.

Harper Lad's Luck

A Dallas banker, who was attracted favorably to the interest of Harvey Stevens, Jr. of Harper, in fine cattle, on hunting trips of the banker to the Stevens ranch, has

"staked" the lad with ten of the finest thoroughbred cows ever seen in that section as a nucleus for a herd of beef cattle. Another instance showing that it pays to show interest in what one is doing. The Harper boy had little idea that such a boon would ever come to him.

Prosperity Pointers

The $2,000,000 power project on the Guadalupe between Seguin and Gonzales is nearing completion. Two large dams, near Gonzales, have been completed and the third, near Seguin, is in the final stages.

A farmer, near Eagle Lake, will plant 200 acres in radishes under contract with a marketing company and others will likely plant additional acreage in the locality. Poultry plants at San Angelo are employing 250 to 300 persons in preparing turkeys for shipment. The capacity of the plants is about 5,500 turkeys daily.

Banks recently closed at Corpus Christi and McAllen announce plans commensurate for early reorganization.

Two San Antonio banks have had such an increase in business this fall that they have had to enlarge their banking quarters.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce says the West Texas cotton yield for 1931 will be twice that of 1930, and that, even at the low prices, farmers are paying their debts. More than $400,000 of drought relief loans have been repaid.

Nearly 6,000 head of Texas cattle were sold at Fort Worth the first week in November to be shipped to feeders in Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

A Tyler packing plant is handling 100 head of beefs daily and distributing the products by trucks to 50 East Texas counties. Tyler is raising funds to erect a $200,000 hospital in the down-town section.

Jasper has opened an air port on former golf course property, the work of preparing the grounds being done by volunteer subscriptions and labor. Work will soon begin on a $150,000 postoffice building at Plainview.

A $100,000 plant is being erected at Texon to remove sulphur from gas produced in Reagan county fields.

McCulloch county farm women have been called for next Saturday at Brady to formulate plans for raising money by private subscriptions for the continuation of the services of the county home demonstration agent.

A meeting of a citizens committee a few days ago decided to raise a sufficient fund to maintain the services of the county agent during 1932.

Both of these services were discontinued effective January 1st by an order of the local commissioners court passed during their regular session this month.

Ever since the commissioners court about three months ago announced its intention to abandon the service of these two agents and the county library, considerable sentiment has prevailed among the citizenship throughout the county on this subject. Early in September a county-wide mass meeting, attended by approximately 300 farm men and women met with the commissioners court requesting them to reconsider this move.

Upon the request of the commissioners court that meeting a citizens committee was appointed which has conferred with the court since then. Among other suggestions, this committee proposed to the commissioners that they place the county expenditures upon a carefully worked out budget basis to effect such economies which have not been observed in the past in the expenditures of this county. They also proposed that the court put back into the general fund, out of which the money for these services is provided, several thousand dollars which during the past few years have either been transferred out of the general fund or spent for county purposes not under the scope of general fund expenditures.

With thousands of lambs and cattle in the feed lots of local farmers and ranchmen, most of which are being fed under the direction of the county agent, local producers of livestock consider it a serious set-back to the economic balance of this county should the services of the county agent be abandoned at this time. The farm women, too, realize their loss in the discontinuation of their demonstration agent, since more than half a million cans of meals, vegetables and fruits were preserved through the county-wide canning movement sponsored by the 14 women's home demonstration clubs this year, which assures the success of the live at home program among the rural people of this county.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The schooner yacht Westward was nine days overdue at Lisbon, Portugal, today, causing deep concern to relatives of the socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McAlpin Pyle of New York, who are aboard.

The yacht sailed from Gloucester, Mass., July 18. It left Saint-Malo, France, for Lisbon October 30. The Navy Department has asked all craft in the North Atlantic to be on the lookout for the yacht.

Trucks Blamed for Loss of Patronage By Rail Officials

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—(AP)—L. C. Bouchard of Dallas, general freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific railroad in North Texas, contended today that railroads of this section should not be subjected to the competition of motor trucks. He claimed that although both trucks and railroads were under regulation of the state railroad commission, there was not enough business to enable both to survive.

His objection was voiced before Pat M. Neff, state railroad commissioner, in connection with the hearing of applications made by 85 truck operators for common carrier permits under the new truck law. Truck operators had applied for authority to do business within a radius of 230 miles of Dallas.

Bouchard told of a decrease in business over the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana, claiming that revenues for October, 1931, at Dallas alone were $60,000 less than in the corresponding month of last year. He said the 1931 revenues were about 30 per cent less than those of the same period in 1930.

He blamed the slump in revenues to truck competition principally but was unable to give the exact percentage of loss he believed was caused by trucks.

WORTHAM FARMER FOUND GUILTY MURDER, MEXIA, Texas, Nov. 19.—(AP)—W. C. Butler, Wortham farmer, was convicted today on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Oscar Harrison, and sentenced to 12 years imprisonment. Harrison, a tenant on the Butler farm, was slain in August, 1930. Butler claimed he shot in self-defense.

State Organized Into 14 Districts By Optometrists

The Texas Optometric Association has recently divided the state into fourteen districts for the purpose of organizing a group in each district. Brownwood is in the fourteenth district and the organization of this district was held at Coleman recently. At the Coleman meeting, Brownwood, San Angelo, Abilene and Coleman were represented. Dr. Mollie Armstrong and Frank Hayes represented Brownwood. Dr. Arch Harbour of Coleman was named chairman of this district.

The fourteenth district includes Brownwood, Coleman, San Angelo, Abilene, Brady and other towns. Meetings will be held each month. The December meeting will be held at Abilene, the January meeting at San Angelo and the February meeting at Brownwood.

The purpose of the groups shall be to thoroughly study everything of value for the preservation, conservation and protection of human vision. The study and research work is under the direction of the Post Graduate Eye Institute of Chicago. The course of study will be directed at the monthly meetings.

Howard Payne Is Granted Statewide Support Of Church

AUSTIN, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the conviction of Bert Smith on a charge of aiding in the embezzlement of $6,801 from the Stinnett State Bank. Smith, indicted in Hutchinson county, was tried in Potter county and sentenced to three years.

He was alleged in the indictment to have been an accomplice of R. A. Franks, an agent of the bank, and J. W. Adams in the alleged embezzlement. The appeals court held the evidence was insufficient to support the allegation that Smith "advised, commanded and encouraged" Franks and Adams, the opinion stating that should the allegation have been believed true by the state, Smith should have been indicted as a principal and not as an accomplice.

Conviction of W. E. Burnett in Dallas county on a charge of robbery with firearms was affirmed. He was sentenced to 99 years. The opinion of affirmation decried the lack of a bill of exceptions and a statement of facts in the case due to the severity of the penalty. The indictment alleged Burnett robbed W. F. Miller of $8,000 in cash and "insufficiently probably cause" for $2,000 in bonds.

Search of his automobile for liquor by the court as grounds for reversing and remanding the conviction of P. M. Brashear of Brazoria county on a charge of transporting liquor. Brashear's car was searched by a deputy sheriff without a search warrant. The deputy testified he searched the automobile "on suspicion." The opinion said a suspicion was not sufficient cause to search without a warrant.

NEW MOON MAP IS USED IN STUDYING FACE OF MR. MOON

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The sides of the moon's face, now distorted to human sight by the satellite's curvature, are being "lifted" just a little into better view by a new kind of moon map.

Man sees fully only a small part of the middle of the moon's face, that part directly in line with his eye. Everywhere toward the edges of the moon, he is really looking down the constantly steepening sides of a hill, because the moon is a globe.

This moon map, described to the National Academy of Sciences at Yale University today by Dr. F. E. Wright and Dr. F. G. Pease of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, is equivalent to taking an airplane on the moon and flying a short distance toward the edges to get a look straight downward to see what the lunar topography looks like if directly underneath.

This seemingly impossible trick is feasible because of the moon's nodding motion, scientifically called its libration. Very slowly, with a motion requiring years for each shake of his head, the moon turns his face toward the earth each year. Ordinarily it would take about one lifetime of watching to see all these moon faces. But a new device set up on top of Mount Wilson, Calif., alongside the 100-inch telescope reduces this "lifetime" to a few hours.

A photograph of the moon's face is projected like a movie "still" on a screen which is a round, white, ball, about half the size of an automobile hood. This ball represents a miniature, artificial moon.

By use of some unique devices the photograph can be varied to produce exactly the same views on this moon screen as would come from flying about the moon to look straight down from angles a few degrees to one side of the center.

ADVENTURE ENDED FOR MISSING ENGLISH GIRL WHO SAILS FOR HOME

WELLESLEY, Mass., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Rosemary Pamela Gilding's adventure is ended.

The homesick young English girl who disappeared from the home of Professor Hamilton C. Mac Dougal Saturday was due to sail from New York today to join her father, a London banker, Professor and Mrs. Mac Dougal, who accompanied the girl to New York, planned to secure passage for her on the S. S. American Trader.

She was located yesterday at Springfield where she sought work to earn her passage money home. Lonely, anxious to see her parents, but afraid to ask them for passage money because she didn't want to "embarrass" them, she left the Mac Dougal home, where she had been a house guest for 14 weeks, to seek work in a strange American city.

A few days at the Clinton hotel, a day in a Springfield rooming house and a round of the employment agencies in Springfield was the sum total of her adventure.

She was located through an employment agency with which she had placed her name.

"I guess my adventure is over," was her reply to the kindly policemen, who awaited her at her rooming house yesterday.

"My folks haven't much money," she said, "and I didn't want to embarrass them by writing for passage money home."

Want to See Signora

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Italians of Washington looked forward eagerly today to a break in formal functions which would permit them a glimpse of Signora Grandi.

A reception for the Italian-American society at the Italian embassy was wedged into the late afternoon schedule—after a luncheon with Secretary Mellon and before a state dinner at the White House.

It had to be brief, they all knew, and some were openly worried lest preparations for the evening function would keep away Signora Grandi, symbol of the social brilliance of their home-land.

And indeed, Signora Grandi had scheduled a great amount of activity. First, it was moving day. Her luggage was leaving Secretary Stinson's home for a transfer to the Mayflower hotel.

Then there was that very important matter of the trans-Atlantic telephone call to her two children—three thousand miles away—yesterday to be tried again today. Signora Grandi sent a cable to Italy that she would talk to them at about 10 a. m. which is 4 p. m. in Rome.

The White House state dinner tonight for seventy-five persons will be, of course, the most elaborate of all the Grandi functions. Its importance will call forth the famed gold service—its gleaming beauty repeated in a plateau of mirrors down the center, each one bordered by a railing of gold.

Guess And Crosby Face Murder Trial In Ardmore Court

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Echoes of the fatal shooting of two Mexican college students here last June 7 will be heard tomorrow when W. E. Guess and Cecil Crosby, former deputy sheriffs, face joint trial for the slaying of Manuel Garcia Gomez, members of an old and wealthy Mexican family.

Guess, who accepted responsibility for actually firing the fatal shot, already has been acquitted of charges of murder in the death of Emilio Cortez Rubio, kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico. Crosby is scheduled to face separate trial for the death of Cortez Rubio.

The former deputies have maintained that the students precipitated the shooting by displaying guns when the officers sought to question them beside their parked car. At his trial in June, Guess testified he fired in fear for his life.

International interest was aroused by the killings. State departments of both Mexico and the United States sent representatives to Ardmore to endeavor to learn the true facts in the case.

Counterfeit in 1862
The first counterfeit "greenback" in the United States was one imitating the ten dollar bill of 1862. It was circulated in the same year.

Debits Reduced

The secretary of the budget control committee stated that great progress had been made in the last three years in reducing our debts to the Whitney Trust Company. Whereas the convention owed that company one million dollars three years ago, the obligation has been brought down to $600,000. And the other work of the convention has been kept up. During this time Baylor University has been endowed and debts met and many of the other institutions have reduced their debts. He also stated that 47% of all monies sent to the Dallas office had been spent on mission work.

Baylor College was voted the privilege to wage a campaign for endowment and debt-paying. The organization for the campaign was set up and the work is to begin in the early part of the coming year.

Concessions to College
The friends of Howard Payne College will be pleased to know that a very definite place was given the college in the convention program.

"1. The convention endorsed the work of the local board of trustees in so changing the charter of Howard Payne College that we may have thirty-six members on the board instead of eighteen and these new members were appointed from different sections of the state, thus extending Howard Payne's territory, making it statewide.

"2. The finance committee recommended that the convention pay

BODY OF LITTLE GIRL IS FOUND IN DALLAS AUTO

DALLAS, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The body of Ruth Hall Langston, 6, was found under a blanket in the rear seat of a tourist's automobile today. Corner E. John Baldwin returned a verdict of death by accidental suffocation. The child was en route from El Paso to Dixon, Ky., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Langston. She had crawled under the blanket with her brother, Walter, 4, to sleep.

STANDARD MILK ORDINANCE IN BROWNWOOD IS NOW IN EFFECT

The Standard Milk Ordinance as adopted by the city council last May is now in effect. The council accepted the report of Dr. W. R. Sanderson, city milk inspector, of grades given dairies in the county as graded by Sanderson and Dr. M. Pierson, state milk supervisor, of Austin. The report shows there are 24 Grade A dairies, two grade B dairies, one grade C dairy and 26 grade D dairies. There were a total of 53 dairies graded.

Dr. Sanderson in his report said the list of dairies graded includes all dairies that have made formal application for inspection and grading and a few dairies that did not make application. All those selling and delivering milk in Brownwood and in any quantity who have not applied for and received inspection and grade will have to accept grade D and label products accordingly, Dr. Sanderson stated.

These grades are effective as announced if the bacterial count corresponds to the grades. It may be necessary for some to accept lower grades on bacterial counts unless measures now in practice are adhered to, he said. These grades are not permanently fixed, and if a dairy makes the necessary improvements, it may be again inspected and the grade will be raised. Likewise, if a dairy lowers its present standards, the grade will be lowered.

Labeling Required.
It will be necessary under Section 4 of the ordinance for all milk sold in the city of Brownwood to be labeled according to grade. Section 3 provides that all who deliver milk shall have their permit numbers on their delivery vehicles in a conspicuous place in letters not less than three inches high. The same section applies to restaurants, cafes, soda fountains and other establishments selling or serving milk in any other manner than the original, unopened package. These places must display a card furnished by the milk inspector showing the grade of milk and whether "raw" or "pasteurized."

Improvements Made.
New barns constructed, 19; barns painted or white washed, 23; concrete floors built in barns, 22; barns screened against chickens, 9; new milk rooms constructed, 22; milk rooms painted, screened, repaired and cold water facilities installed, 10, which is in addition to the 22 new barns constructed. Other improvements, such as cleaning up premises and other sanitary work are: Removal of manure piles, etc.

MOVE AGAINST VIOLATORS OF TRAFFIC LAWS

The Brownwood city council in meeting Tuesday night endorsed a plea for strict observance of traffic laws and instructed the city police to enforce the ordinance with an extensive program for rigid enforcement of traffic laws in the City of Brownwood.

Other matters before the body include: Trading and selling pieces of city property, passing to second reading an industrial gas franchise, instructions regarding city funds in the Citizens National Bank, improvement of Brown streets in the Masonic Temple block and report on the Standard Milk Ordinance.

The matter of traffic violations were brought to the attention of the city council by Dr. Mollie Armstrong and Mrs. C. C. Worsham, committee from the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dr. Armstrong, spokeswoman of the committee, cited several traffic law violations which members of the club have observed and discussed at club meetings. Among these were: Automobiles with only one headlight, failure to bring car to complete stop before turn to the right on red lights, failure to stop at stop signs, and others.

"I believe driving an automobile with only one light is against the state laws and against all other laws. If there are not enough policemen on the force, the club recommends hiring more or else having service clubs members to assist temporarily in taking shifts as traffic officers and making the public traffic law conscious," she said.

Aldermen agreed with the committee and the club and promised the support and backing of the council in enforcing the laws.

Twenty-Millionth Turkey Due to Be Given Henry Ford

BRADY, Texas, Nov. 18.—(Sp.)—Not to be outdone by Henry Ford, the Heart of Texas section will present the twenty-millionth turkey, a 40-pound live tom, to the personal representative of the Dearborn automobile manufacturer when his twenty-millionth Ford will arrive at Brady next Friday on its transcontinental tour, according to an announcement by Brady Chamber of Commerce officials.

Moving pictures will be made of the presentation ceremony on the Brady plaza, in commemoration of the turkey industry of this section, which produces more Thanksgiving and Christmas birds than any other similar section in the United States.

A beautiful etched, colored plaque containing a reproduction of the twenty-millionth Heart of Texas turkey, will be formally presented to the Ford officials at a banquet Friday evening. This trophy will become a part of the permanent exhibit in the Ford museum at Greenfield village.

Approximately 200 carloads of dressed turkeys are marketed each year in the Heart of Texas counties at an aggregate value of nearly one million dollars.

Quarters of a forest ranger at Mammoth Springs, Wyo., are surrounded by a fence made of elk antlers.

City Milk Inspector W. R. Sanderson made a report on dairy grading in accordance with the Standard Milk ordinance. He said dairymen have cooperated in the work of grading and that everything is now in readiness for enforcement of the ordinance which requires that all milk be labeled according to grade. The council accepted Dr. Sanderson's report.

Says Traffic Laws Will Be Enforced

Traffic laws are to be enforced in Brownwood and violators caught will be arrested and fined, declared Assistant Chief of Police Norman Jack today, following move by the city council Tuesday night for strict observance of traffic laws.

"We have the backing of the city council now and traffic law violators are warned to observe the red lights, stop signs and in other ways obey the traffic laws," Mr. Jack said.

People who do not come to a complete stop and shift gears at the red lights when they intend to turn to the right will be arrested the same as if they had run a red light. Fines will be assessed for failure to observe the stop signs and double parking will not be allowed, he continued.

Mr. Jack said he thought it fair to the public to give them warning through the newspapers that right enforcement is to be carried out and from now on those who disobey traffic signals and laws do it at their own risk.

CHRISTIAN CHURCHES 14 COUNTIES REPRESENTED AT COLEMAN MEETING

Representatives of the Christian churches in fourteen counties of Central Texas met at Coleman Tuesday in a One-Day Missionary Convention. This is in accordance with a plan carried out annually by the United Christian Missionary Society of Indianapolis, headquarters of the Christian churches.

The team consisted of Mrs. Ora L. Sheppard, director; Dr. Huegel, missionary to Mexico; Dr. Jewell Matthews, pastor of the First Christian church of Temple, and Mrs. Merta McMassters, state secretary of the Women's Work of the Christian churches of Texas, with office in Fort Worth. Sessions were at 10:00 a. m., 1:30 and banquet program at 6:30.

About fifteen members of the First Christian church of Brownwood drove over Tuesday morning and stayed through the whole day. It was said by those in attendance to be the most profitable meeting of its kind of any they have attended.

The two chief speakers, Dr. Huegel and Mrs. Sheppard, will be on the program at the First Christian church in Brownwood tonight. This will be at the regular Church Night supper which has been made a reception service to welcome the new members who united with the church just immediately before and during the revival which has recently closed.

ROBBERS LOOT DRUG STORE ON COGGIN AVENUE

Robbers made a clean up at the Coggin Avenue Drug Company on Tuesday night, taking more than $800 in money and merchandise. R. D. Chinn and F. W. Gresham, proprietors, came to their place of business this morning to find the locks on the front door broken and their shelves stripped of merchandise.

Entrance to the store by the thieves was gained through the front door. The door lock was broken and an extra padlock which fastened a chain through the doors was also broken.

Entire Shelves Cleaned.
Many entire shelves were cleaned of merchandise and various articles were gathered from here and there about the store. The robbers took only staple merchandise that most drug stores handle. The owners and city police are working on the theory that the goods were taken to be sold at drug stores elsewhere.

About $3.00 in change was taken from the cash register and the stamp machine with about $12.00 in it was taken by the robbers. A number of wrist watches and wrist bands were taken from a display table.

Merchandise taken included hair brushes, tooth brushes, combs, face powder and cream, rouge, lipstick, several cartons of cigarettes, shaving soap and cream, etc. Also staple brands of merchandise were taken.

Hauled Off in Truck.
The merchandise was loaded in a truck or automobile that the robbers parked either in front or at the side of the store. Several articles were dropped on the floor and in front of the store as the robbers carried the merchandise out of the store. No definite clues have been revealed but city police are working on the case.

Advertising Pays

This article appeared in the "Trade News," date of November 14th, a national magazine published at St Louis:

Business Losses Minimized By Use Of Advertising

N. Y. Expert Gives Figures to Support Statement.

That business losses can be minimized by the proper use of advertising during times of depression was shown by J. H. Apple, treasurer of the Advertising Federation of America, in an address recently delivered before the Association of Commerce.

Apple quoted statistics compiled from the 1929 and 1931 financial statements of 97 representative companies. During 1930, he said, the companies increased their advertising by 63 percent while the profits of the group decreased 23 percent.

At the present time, according to Apple, the group that increased its advertising is showing a 2 percent more profit than last year while the profits of the group that decreased its advertising have fallen 23 percent below last year's figures.

A well planned advertising schedule to be used regularly in this newspaper will not only minimize Losses during dull periods but will increase your profits.

LAW RULING EXPLAINED ASSISTANT ATTY. GENERAL

The ately owned tract, being the total amount of land in a single county which such person owns, leases, or has any other title to, including a right of possession or control. Under the provision, a farmer is entitled to plant to cotton in 1932 land on which cotton was planted in 1931, but the total acreage planted to cotton in 1932 in a single county must not exceed thirty per cent of the total area in cultivation in planted crops in 1931 in that county.

No Row Evason
The opinion does hold that a person may not evade the meaning of the law by planting his entire acreage in cotton in 1932 by having only thirty per cent of the total rows of cotton in 1932 as were planted in 1931. In other words that the total acreage planted to cotton is the determinant, and not the spacing of the rows. Under this interpretation, a farmer who owns or has leased a hundred acres of land which was in cultivation in planted crops in 1931 may plant to cotton in 1932 thirty acres of that same land, even if it were all planted to cotton in 1931. He would not, however, be complying with the law, if he planted in 1932 the entire one hundred acres to cotton, but reduces the total number of rows to thirty per cent of the total number of rows planted to cotton in 1931.

Attention is called to the fact that the unit for determining the per cent of planting is not each farm while a person owns or has leased, or other interest of title to, but the total amount of acreage which he owns, has leased, or has any other title to, including a right of possession, in each single county. In other words the total amount of acreage in each county is the unit upon which the per cent of planting allowed is based.

The number of inquiries which this Department and the Department of Agriculture are receiving indicates that the above rulings have not been clearly understood, and a clarification will be appreciated.

TURKEY CROP IS BUSINESS AID, COLEMAN

COLEMAN, Texas, Nov. 14—(Sp)—The turkey market has been a boon to business in Coleman. The past several days it seems that depression has been routed. The market opened at 12 cents and in a few days advanced to 15. Yesterday it advanced to 17 cents. Produce men could not estimate how many will be shipped before this Thanksgiving market closes, but storage vaults at ice houses have been filled. The birds this year are heavier and of finer quality than last year.

At one poultry house more than 200 pickers have been employed and paid more than $150 per day. Yet pickers are said to be scarce and it has been necessary to work nights. They are paid 5 cents per head for picking and a good picker can turn out about 100 per day. Killers are paid slightly more than pickers.

Pickers Making Money
Pickers are not confined to any particular class or ages, men, women and children make up the list. The money received is circulated in business channels. One merchant said that Saturday, November 7, he had one of the best days he has had this year and that another good day was that following the closing of stores in observance of Armistice day.

This in spite of the fact that County Farm Agent C. V. Robinson had advised raisers not to sell their turkeys unless they had proper weight to command highest prices. Many, no doubt heeded his advice and have held their birds for the Christmas market. The farm agent recently published a fattening ration for turkeys and birds that will be offered from Coleman county for Christmas will be the finest ever sent from the county.

Now there is a movement on foot, fostered by the farm and home demonstration agents, to have a large number of birds next year. They believe that farmers and farm women, with less cotton to cultivate, can give turkey flocks more care and attention and greatly increase the annual revenues coming into the county from the one source.

LYRIC TO GIVE BENEFIT SHOW

Joining in the observance of National Motion Picture Week, in which shows will give benefit performances in towns all over the United States to aid in unemployment relief, the Lyric Theater of Brownwood will give a show next Saturday night, November 21, Manager J. The show will begin at 11 o'clock Saturday night and the admission price will be 25 cents. Every cent received for admission to this performance will go to the Employment Bureau for Relief, nothing whatever to be retained by the management for the operating expenses of the show.

The picture for this hour will be the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" film, featuring William Haines.

WIVES OF COLEMAN COUNTY FARMERS DO MUCH FOOD CANNING

COLEMAN, Texas, Nov. 18—(Sp)—Coleman county farmers and their wives will have plenty to do next year when the cotton acreage reduction law increases the amount of time they will have to devote to other avocations, is the belief of C. V. Robinson, farm agent, and Miss Gertrude Brent, home demonstration agent.

Reports being made to the two agents are reflecting phenomenal successes women and men are making with poultry and livestock. Mrs. Chas. Abbey of the Indian Creek club has had remarkable success with her flock of chickens. From January 1 to October 28 she gathered 993 dozen eggs. She had 108 hens to start with but culled them to 60, and now has 75 pullets for next year. She has put up 750 containers of food for winter and cultivates a garden twelve months in the year. She had a complete canning exhibit at the recent Coleman county fair.

Mrs. Ray Jameson, pantry demonstrator for the Indian Creek club has 200 containers of food representing 15 varieties for her family of two this winter. She also has a year round garden. The cost of her pantry, Miss Brent says, has been estimated and its value is $81.60. She and her six cooperators have 1,136 containers of food for winter.

Mrs. Cecil Curry, pantry demonstrator for the Liberty club, has 660 containers of food for family of five. She with her co-operators have 416 containers.

Mrs. H. O. Norris, president of the Liberty club, makes an interesting report on her dairy work. From her three cows she has produced and sold 125 pounds of cream and 44 pounds of butter. She has also sold 145 dozen eggs from 90 hens—an average of over 19 per hen. She has 299 hens and pullets for next year.

Mrs. Gene Tunney Presents Former Champion With Son

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—A son was born today to Mrs. Gene Tunney, wife of the former heavyweight champion, who before her marriage was Miss Polly Lauder of Greenwich, Conn.

The baby boy was born at 9 a. m. in the Sloane Hospital at Columbia University's medical center. Mother and son were reported "doing nicely."

Mrs. Tunney is the daughter of a socially prominent Connecticut family. She and the former champion were married in Italy following Tunney's retirement from the ring in 1926.

The retirement of Tunney, July 31, 1928, caused considerable upheaval in the prize-fighting world because he still was the undefeated heavyweight champion of the world.

Finally, however, plans were worked out for an elimination tournament to establish the successor to his title.

Mr. and Mrs. Tunney came back to the United States after their honeymoon and then set out again on a four months' tour of the near east, Russia and Europe, from which they returned this summer.

Jim Robinson, serving three years from Clay county for violating the prohibition law, was given a furlough of sixty days for another Mexican who escaped.

Indian Creek Club Appoints Date for Achievement Day

November 25th has been named by the Indian Creek home demonstration club as the date for its Achievement Day program. A short program will be given at the club house and the members will then visit the homes of the club demonstrators, it is announced.

Officers were recently elected by the Indian Creek club as follows: Miss Maggie Grady, president; Mrs. Ernest Olson, vice president; Mrs. T. H. Herring, secretary-treasurer and librarian; Mrs. B. C. Cox, council representative, and Miss Lillian McBride, reporter.

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 17—(AP)—A truck load of smuggled liquor was seized by deputies to the sheriff last night on the highway north of Laredo. The officers pursued the truck for several miles. It ran off the road and crashed into a tree. A Mexican giving the name of Rosendo Medina, riding in the truck, was arrested. Officers were searching for another Mexican who escaped.

FARMERS IN BRADY SECTION REALIZE $130,000 ON 1931 THANKSGIVING TURKEY SALES

BRADY, Texas, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Farmers in the Brady territory have increased their bank accounts by approximately $130,000 during the past week when between 35 and 40 carloads of Thanksgiving birds were marketed at the four turkey dressing plants here.

Opening at 12 cents on November 5, the local market advanced to 14 cents by November 7 and then climbed to 18 cents, at which the bulk of the birds were bought. All of these 75,000 to 80,000 pounds of Thanksgiving meat are being shipped to eastern markets in refrigerated cars in time for distribution to the nation's turkey day festive boards.

While the November turkey market closed Saturday, local dressing plants have been in full swing during the first days of this week slaughtering the last few carloads of turkeys bought during the closing market. Several hundred turkey pickers earned several thousand dollars in wages during the 10-day marketing season.

The outstanding feature of this year's November market was the great percentage of choice turkeys, which constituted about 90 per cent of the entire crop sold so far. Less than 10 per cent were number twos. This is an increase of 15 per cent over last year when 76 per cent of the birds were dressed as number ones.

Better feeding, sanitation, and disease prevention methods have contributed to the improvement in quality and weight. Local producers estimate this year's birds are from three to four pounds heavier than in previous years. These three factors have also considerably reduced the mortality rate among the young poulters this spring with the result that a larger number of healthier birds got off to a good start in the early summer.

The revenue derived from the sale of turkey crop belongs to the housewives in most instances. Very few of the flocks are mortgaged. The money is spent for household necessities and for numerous items of the family wardrobe.

The Christmas turkey market will open some time between December 1 and 5, when the remainder of the flocks will be sold. It is estimated that the local turkey shipments from Brady will aggregate between 60 and 65 carloads, or 1,200,000 pounds of dressed meat, sufficient to supply an entire population the size of the city of Chicago with a holiday meal.

20 MILLIONTH FORD TO BE SEEN IN BROWNWOOD AT 2 O'CLOCK FRIDAY

The twenty-millionth Ford car, symbolic of one man's contribution to world history and the development of American industry, will visit Brownwood Friday, November 20th, enroute from Detroit on a trans-continental tour.

Assembled in the presence of Henry and Edsel Ford, the twenty-millionth Ford left the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge plant in Dearborn, Michigan, on April 14th.

Following the brief ceremonies at the final assembly line, and with Henry Ford at the wheel, the car was driven to Mr. Ford's home several miles away where its meeting with the first Ford produced in 1893, was recorded for future generations in motion pictures.

Now expected to arrive in Brownwood at about 2:00 o'clock p. m., the twenty-millionth Ford will be met at the city limits and escorted to the Wetherby Motor Company, where it will be placed on exhibition for 45 minutes before resuming its tour.

Its tour of the country completed, the twenty-millionth Ford will be returned to Greenfield Village for preservation near the first Ford—the "gasoline buggy" in which Henry Ford astounded his neighbors and demoralized horse traffic when he chugged noisily through Detroit's cobble streets at the dizzy speed of nearly 20 miles an hour.

The first Ford—built in 1893 and one of the first three automobiles the world had ever seen—odd, indeed by comparison with its 1931 descendant, was mounted on bicycle wheels and its wheezing little two cylinder engine coughed four horsepower. Its gasoline tank held all of three gallons and its uncomfortable seat accommodated three people. In order to drive it, Mr. Ford was given a verbal permit by the mayor, thus becoming, it would seem, the world's first licensed chauffeur.

Such was the precursor of the long line of Fords that have since revolutionized the automotive industry, made the automobile a commonplace within the reach of almost every family and tremendously aided the development of good roads systems.

In December, 1915, more than 1,000,000 Fords had been produced. Thereafter as a result of Ford manufacturing methods and processes now recognized as standards of efficiency and economy for industry the world over, the total production reached 2,000,000 in June, 1917; 5,000,000 in May, 1921; 10,000,000 in June, 1924, and 15,000,000 in May, 1927.

McDonald Returns From Tour Of Six Southern States

AUSTIN, Nov. 18.—(AP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, returned today from a visit to six cotton growing states, where he advocated cotton acreage reduction.

He said he found farmers, merchants and investors holding large amounts of cotton and hoping the cotton states would adopt uniform laws directing curtailment of the 1932 crop.

He said that while some of the states were strongly in favor of a plan to prohibit cotton planting next year they were sending delegations to the Jackson, Mississippi, conference, November 23rd, hoping to work out a uniform reduction plan.

He said South Carolina and Louisiana were for the prohibition plan, while Arkansas and Mississippi favored Texas' idea of 30 per cent acreage to 30 per cent as California, Oklahoma, Alabama and North Carolina acted.

ALDERMEN ROBERTS AND HOOD FOUGHT REDUCING VALUATION OF HOTEL

Alderman Kay Roberts and Wm. Hood made a statement today saying they were not only not in favor of lowering the city tax valuation on Hotel Brownwood from $300,000 to $200,000 as done by the city council in a called session Monday afternoon, but bitterly fought the act in the meeting.

The taxable valuation was lowered Monday afternoon after the council had heard a report from the board of equalization and appraisals, Ernest Weedon, J. J. Timmins and E. M. Boon. Judge Franklin Canaday, general manager of Southern National Hotels, owners of Hotel Brownwood, also met with the council.

Voted Against Action

Alderman Roberts said today he and Alderman Hood opposed the action of lowering the valuation and that they voted against it. Aldermen Claude Weedon and T. Carlson voted for lowering the valuation and Mayor O. W. McDonald also voted to lower the valuation, breaking the tie vote, Roberts stated.

Members of the equalization and appraisals board reported to the council that they could not recommend lowering the valuation, as it was set at $300,000 when the board was in session several weeks ago, Aldermen Roberts and Hood declared.

"We do not believe it fair to other hotels and other businesses to lower the taxable valuation on some property and not lower it on others. We do not think it right to take full taxes from the widows and children and let an institution worth several thousand dollars get by with a forty cents on the dollar rendition."

Want Stand Known

"For that is what the taxable valuation on Hotel Brownwood was lowered to—forty cents on the dollar. Although the action has already been taken and the valuation lowered, we did not approve of it and fought the move in open meeting and want the people of Brownwood to know our stand on the matter," Roberts and Hood stated.

Both Aldermen said they were in favor of lowering the valuation of the Citizens National Bank to $100,000, which was done at the same meeting.

The other two Aldermen and Mayor McDonald said they based their action of lowering the taxable valuation on the fact that when the new hotel was first planned city officials had intimated that the institution would be given consideration for the hotel few years.

"The hotel is worth a great deal to the city. It is not making much money at present and we believe it the city's duty, in view of the hotel's great value to the city, to lower the tax at least for this year," they stated in discussing the matter Tuesday night before regular council meeting was called to order.
