

The vindication of Otto Otepka is one of the most pleasing bits of news produced so far by the Nixon Administration. Otepka's appointment to the Subversive Activities Control Board is an expression of renewed faith in a patriotic and dedicated public servant and also a repudiation of former policy which punished the man for loyalty to our country.

Otepka had been chief of security evaluations for the Department of State and aroused the ire of that department by producing evidence of its sloppy security practices before a Senate subcommittee on Internal Security. For that he was fired in 1963 by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The case created a furor at the time and prompted Nixon last year to pledge fair play for Otepka. That promise was made good by appointment to a bigger job and higher pay than he had before.

The board on which he will serve has jurisdiction over all cases involving communist organization and individuals forwarded by the attorney general for opinions. It is just possible that Otepka will still be able to remove some pinks from sensitive government jobs.

Last week's newsletter from Congressman Graham Purcell denounces the Students for a Democratic Society as an organization that "has injected itself into destroying virtually every American institution, becoming a new and frightening factor in our national affairs." Purcell thinks it is long past time for us to shut down their operation wherever it appears.

It is gratifying to see our congressman's strong opinion on this subject, indicating that we can count on his support in any congressional action to put the SDS in its place. Though he did not bluntly say so, we can infer from his statement that he suspects the outfit to be in cahoots with communism.

Lots of others would be less cautious in accusing it. They think that SDS leaders are full fledged reds and the lesser members are mostly a mob of social rebels seeking expression for a defiant and sour attitude.

There's a reason why serious trouble develops where SDS gets a foothold. True to communist policy, its goal is turmoil rather than justice.

Also true to communist policy, SDS is clever in bringing up issues. It exploits conditions or rules that are open to criticism, makes mountains out of molehills and proceeds to organize mountainous opposition.

Expert training in red methods enables SDS to escalate a petty grievance into a campus revolt. The end result, as we've seen so often in the past year, is massive violence. Buildings being wrecked and burned, deserving students being kept out of class, wholesale violation of personal and property rights.

But it begins to appear that SDS has had its day. The overwhelming majority of students, the respectable ones, are saying that they have had a bellyful, and that they are squarely behind the college administrations in any effort to keep peace in the future. The prevailing attitude is fair warning to trouble makers not to continue the ruckus.

Meanwhile the situation is further improved by strong statements from some university presidents, particularly Father Hesburgh of Notre Dame and S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State College. Father Hesburgh took the national limelight from the odd balls the day he read his ultimatum. Campus rebels would be allowed fifteen minutes to change their minds, then expelled if they persisted, after which they would be regarded as trespassers if they remained, and prosecuted accordingly.

Spunky little Hayakawa got similar nationwide applause when he announced that he will lower the boom on campus rebels. More such official remarks elsewhere along with the remarks of the "students in white hats" stand as assurance that the worst is over for American education.

Still more encouragement comes from Attorney General Mitchell and HEW Secretary Finch. Mitchell has vowed a crackdown based on last year's law against agitators crossing state lines. Several of the trouble makers at the Democratic convention have been

Junior Stockmen Projects Going to Fat Stock Show

The annual Cooke County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Show, the banner event of the year for junior stockmen of the area, will be held Friday the 28th, in the livestock building of Cooke County Fair grounds. About 150 animals are expected.

The show is directed by County Agent Neil Tibbets, who will be assisted by separate judges for the three divisions. A member of the ag department of Tarleton State College will judge the sheep, starting at 4 p.m. John Holland, county agent of Clay County, will judge the hogs starting at 5 p.m. D. W. Lewter of Lubbock will judge the steers, starting at 7 p.m.

Judging will be on the classification basis. Every animal will be rated for a blue, red or white ribbon. After that the blue ribbon animals of each division will be judged competitively for champ and reserve champ titles.

Besides ribbons for all there will be cash for all. About $600, provided by the United Fund, is to be divided as first, second and third prize money plus bonus for the champ and reserve champ.

As in previous years the show will be followed by an auction, which will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday in the pony barn of the fair grounds.

The auction traditionally brings high prices for all the animals plus handsome premiums for some of them. Every participating 4-H or FFA boy is invited to take advantage of that opportunity. However, no one is required to sell. Boys who wish can take their animals back home.

A final event relative to the stock show is a special meeting on cutability next Wednesday night, 7:30 p.m. at the Gainesville Livestock Auction. Some of the show animals will be processed in a Gainesville plant and carcasses will be graded on cutability by a USDA grader. He and a man from the Livestock Market news service will present cutability reports on the show animals at the meeting.

Students are also in charge of costuming, scenery and makeup.

Myra School Occupied In Jr. Elite Expansion

With business on a steady boom for several months, the Muenster plant of IBJ Corporation has been threatening to bust out at the seams and that is in the process of happening this week.

The cutting department of Jr. Elite dress factory is being moved to make room for expansion of the sewing department.

Equipment is being moved to the vacated Myra school building, which has about four times as much space as the cutting department used here. Mrs. Ola Roberg, manager here and at Myra, said the new operation will probably become the cutting plant for the entire IBJ Corporation. That involves taking over the work that was done here and at Dallas and by a contract cutter. The cutting crew of five, which moved with the equipment, is expected to expand to about twelve.

Meanwhile about a third of Muenster's Jr. Elite space is now available for expansion,

FFA Project Show Postponed by Rain

The project show for Muenster members of Future Farmers of America which was originally scheduled for last Monday is being held this Thursday. Rain caused the change of date. Chapter Adviser Edgar Dyer said the school's stock pens were pools of water, and barnyards were too muddy for loading the animals.

The date is the only change of plans he said. Animals were to arrive about 11 and judging was to begin at 1 o'clock.

Lloyd Smith, vocational ag teacher of Valley View is the judge, and the animals will be classified by blue, red and white ribbons rather than judged competitively.

About fifteen animals of the show are destined for entry the next day in the Cooke County Fat Stock Show at Gainesville.

GUEST EDITORIAL

"Today, America seems to be very self-conscious. Every institution, every industry, every policy, every public figure is subject to harsh, critical scrutiny. There is great power for good in conscientious criticism, in legitimate social concern, and in honestly-expressed dissatisfaction. Our country has always thrived on discussion and open disagreement. "All of us deserve to be 'weighed in the balance' and taken to task now and then. It sharpens our responsiveness to the public good and strengthens our democracy. "Though there is much that is wrong with America today, there probably has been no time in all recorded history when so many people lived so well as they do right now in this country. "When they attack our institutions, the zealots must be careful, lest they destroy the good with the bad. There is cause for concern when discussion and disagreement give way to disorder and disobedience. There is cause for concern when dissent becomes an end in itself — a 'way of life' for many with no plan but disruption and no purpose but destruction. There is cause for concern when critical attacks are motivated by selfish desires for personal popularity, or political power, or publicity. "Dissent not based on facts is deceit. "The dynamic force that makes this country 'go' is like a mighty engine—powerful, but not fool-proof. Like any such mechanism, under adverse conditions it can literally 'tear itself apart' from within. "Our American engine is built to close tolerances. It cannot long tolerate either excessive permissiveness or undue restrictiveness. If not properly lubricated, a high-speed engine such as ours can overheat and destroy itself. Excessive, irresponsible critical abuse can contaminate the lubrication. It's the old story of 'sand in the gears.' "In essence, what this country needs is criticism of a more positive, constructive, responsible nature. I realize, however, that these are relative terms. Personally, I think that to criticize and demonstrate with neither the facts nor a better solution, is irresponsible. The dissenter, himself, may have a different view of his actions. "This much, however, I do know: It is easier to challenge than to change; it is easier to be contemptuous than constructive; it is easier to be critical than creative; it is easier to be against something than to know what to be for." —Roger M. Kyes, Executive Vice President, General Motors Corporation, addressing the 125th annual banquet of the Buffalo (New York) Chamber of Commerce.

DIFFERING DEFINITIONS

A reader of The Sunday Oklahoman recently won a $5 prize for the best letter of the week published in that paper's "The People Speak." But, later in the week, another reader sent in quite an interesting comeback. The first reader's letter said in part: "Poverty is no grass on the yard, no pavement on the street, no sidewalks, a solid week of rain and a leaky roof. "Poverty is kids that can't keep up in school and hate it because the other kids tease them and the teachers ignore them. "Poverty is getting a 25-pound turkey in a food basket when you've got an old rusted-out cook stove, no roasting pan, (and) a half dozen cracked dishes ... "Poverty is a privy." The second reader, an Oklahoma farmer from the town of Finley, wrote: "Poverty is using a part of a welfare check for beer ... rather than for material to repair that leaky roof ... "Poverty is the production of offspring with little consideration as to their future food, clothing, shelter, and education. "Poverty is standing around a county surplus commodity warehouse for a handout rather than raising a garden and producing food. "Poverty is whining to the welfare office for an increase in the check rather than looking for odd jobs to supplement the check. "Poverty is using one's disabilities as an excuse for becoming a burden on society ... "Poverty is far more a matter of the human spirit than of material possessions." This second letter didn't win a $5 prize, but as an expression of the other side of the poverty situation in America, we think it deserves to be considered. —New Orleans Independent

3481 Died in '68 In Texas Traffic

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported today that motor vehicle traffic deaths reached an all-time high of 3,481 in 1968, an increase of three per cent over the 3,367 deaths recorded in 1967. The previous high was 3,406 deaths in 1966.

However, Speir said, due to an increase of eight per cent in the total number of miles traveled on Texas streets and highway, the death rate per hundred million miles was reduced to 5.5 deaths, compared to 5.8 in 1967.

On the rural highways of the state where the DPS has primary jurisdiction, he added, traffic fatalities rose only one half of one percent, increasing to 2,146 from 2,136 in 1967. The rural traffic death rate dropped from 6.1 deaths per hundred million miles in 1967 to 5.7 deaths in 1968.

Traffic deaths statewide during November and December 1968 totaled 355 and 369 respectively, exceeding previous highs of 305 in November 1966 and 363 in December 1965.

"In order to point up the tremendous losses suffered in America through traffic tragedy, our Statistical Services Bureau figures that from 1900 through 1968, a total of 1,721,754 persons have died in traffic accidents in the United States, compared with a total of 1,161,007 American deaths in all the United States wars from 1775 through 1968," Speir said.

"Further, the economic loss in traffic accidents in Texas in 1968, estimated at $836,802,000, would buy 10,000 homes at $20,000 each, 10,000 refrigerators at $400 each, 10,000 electric ranges at $350 each, 10,000 television sets at $500 each, 10,000 dishwashers at $300 each; 10,000 automobiles at $3,000 each; 10,000 central air conditioning units at $1,400 each; and furnish the head of each of the 10,000 households with a bank account of $57,730."

CONSIDERING VIEWS

Students will be included on a committee to name a new president of the University of Iowa, "in recognition of their role in the university community and ability to assume the responsibility involved."

Said Carl Varner, president of the university student body, "The next president is going to have to live with groups like the Students for a Democratic Society, and therefore their views should be considered."

How about a Mafia representative in the committee too?

Garden Club Has Plant, Seed Swap

Muenster Civic League and Garden Club members held their annual plant and seed exchange at their March meeting when Mrs. Dan Luke and Mrs. Victor Hartman were co-hostesses in the Luke home. It was an afternoon meeting beginning at 1:30.

Mrs. Pat Stelzer presided for a brief business session and, with Mrs. Ernest Jaska, described planting they have done on the Public School grounds near the new buildings. A tour of the school grounds and the hospital grounds was postponed on account of a sudden shower.

Mrs. Oscar Detten read an article on attracting song birds into gardens and gave a recipe for "winter pie" for birds. To attract birds in summer it is necessary to provide food and drinking water during the winter, she emphasized.

As members arrived they were served attractive refreshment plates by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. John Yosten. Centerpiece for the dining room table was made by Mrs. Luke using Bird of Paradise blossoms with Eucalyptus foliage. A St. Patrick's Day theme was noted in refreshments and miniature shamrocks were plate favors.

After adjournment the group made a tour of Mrs. Luke's new home florist shop.

Where will your fertilizer be ... come summer?

Will it be where the plants need it most? Probably not, if you apply conventional fertilizer this spring. Come summer, the critical supply may be left "high and dry."
 During the heat of summer, roots are most active down in the deeper zones where the moisture supply is more abundant. Trouble is, that may not be where the food is.
 Phosphate, for example, loses much of its effectiveness by becoming locked up through fixation in the soil.
 But UNIPELS contain two forms of phosphorus (as well as potash and two forms of nitrogen) for continuous plant feeding throughout the growing season.
 A unique "phospho-nitric" process makes the phosphate in UNIPELS 100% available, yet makes it resist fixation regardless of how it is applied!
 Come summer, the phosphorus and other nutrients in UNIPELS are down in the rich moisture zone actually stimulating root growth and proliferation for greater nutrient intake.
 Make sure your fertilizer is where the plants need it most this summer — plowdown UNIPELS this spring. Visit us soon.

FATHER ELIAS KOPPERT

Fr. Elias Koppert Conducts Tridium For Third Order

Father Elias Koppert, Franciscan Provincial from Chicago, was back this year to conduct the annual tridium for members of the Third Order of St. Francis, Sacred Heart Parish.

The three days of prayer and conferences opened with a Sunday afternoon service at 3 o'clock. Mass, with conferences, was held on Monday and Tuesday mornings at 8:30, there was an evening conference at 7:30 Monday and the closing was Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

Father Elias themed his conferences on "Conscience," "Use of the Word of God — Scripture in Everyday Life," "Christ, the Focal Point of Our Spirituality," "Bringing Things Up to Date," and "Forgiveness and Acts of Charity." Average attendance at the conferences was between 35 and 40. A social hour was held after the final meeting and refreshment hostesses served coffee and cake.

Wilfred Bindel Is New President of St. Joseph Society

Election of officers was the principal business of the parish St. Joseph's Society on St. Joseph's Day, feast day of their patron.

Members elected Wilfred Bindel as their new president to succeed Dan Luke. Joe Hoenig is the new vice president succeeding Wilfred Bindel, and Robert Knabe Sr. is new secretary succeeding Earl Walterscheid, Gerald Hess was re-elected treasurer.

Some 40 members attended the meeting after evening Mass.

Father Andrew met with the men. After adjournment there was social hour and refreshments.

In keeping with a tradition almost as old as Muenster itself, special services were held on March 19 to honor St. Joseph, and all students had a holiday from classes.

Early day pioneers pledged to observe the day in a special way in honor of St. Joseph, patron of builders, as a plea to protect their church and community from destructive storms after two churches had been demolished by tornadoes. There have been no serious storm losses since.

The interracial home visit was sponsored by Joe Walter of Gainesville.

Attending with the students were Father Benedict Buergler and Sisters Roberta, Richard and Theresina.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Recent rain has been causing a delay in grass planting in the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District. Along with this wet weather will be a big crop of weeds in the new grass plantings. Without controlling the weeds, they could keep the grass from spreading as it should.

There are several methods of weed control. Bermudagrass planting can be cultivated as any crop until it has covered the rows or if broadcast a spike tooth harrow can be used to help control the weeds.

Herbicides are becoming more popular each year. They can be used a number of ways. One way of applying is as a pre-emerge, that is apply it before the grass and weeds start to come up. For this method to work satisfactorily the ground should be smooth and free of any clods. Enough water should be used to put out about 40 to 50 gallons of mixture per acre. After the pre-emerge herbicide is applied the ground should not be disturbed. This method should not be used on any grass that has been planted by seed.

Spraying can be used after the weeds have come up. This is the most popular method and can be used on grasses that were seeded or sodded and on old grass plantings. If spraying is to be used in a newly seeded grass, the grass seedlings should have about four to six leaves before spraying.

Many of the weeds take from two to four times more water to produce a pound of dry matter than it does for the perennial grasses to produce the same amount of more desirable forage, states Arlin Naegeli, SCS Technician at Muenster. Anyone interested in carrying out a weed control program can contact the Soil Conservation Service Office for more details.
